The North Olympic Library System (NOLS) invites you to meet award-winning author and illustrator Angela Dominguez on Tuesday, October 20 at 12pm through Zoom for a conversation about her career. Dominguez is the author and illustrator of the Stella Díaz series and has illustrated several picture books, including Mango, Abuela and Me, and María Had a Little Llama. Her book, Stella Díaz Has Something to Say, will be one of NOLS' 2020-21 Battle of the Books selections. Although her presentation will be tailored to fourth graders, the program is open to everyone. Registration is required; Zoom information will be sent out upon registration. Dominguez may have time for questions at the end of her presentation. If you have questions for the author, please send them to dearlibrary@nols.org.

About Angela Dominguez

Angela Dominguez was born in Mexico City, grew up in Texas and now resides on the East Coast. She is an author and illustrator of several books for children and a two-time recipient of Pura Belpré Illustration Honor. Her middle grade novel, Stella Díaz Has Something to Say is the first book in a series of three. When Angela is not in her studio, she teaches art at the Academy of Art University. You can find out more about her at angeladominguezbooks.com.
