VOL 12, NO 44 PORT ANGELES, CLALLAM COUNTY, WASH., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1902. PRICE FIVE CENTS

SWANEY DENIES THE REPORT.

MANAGER OF PACIFIC STEEL CO. EXPOSES THE FRAUD.

The Alleged New Tacoma Company Has No Interest in or Option on Any Property of the Pocific Steel Co. Nor Will It Get Any—Carrigan Elected Treasurer and Director.

Be it known Port Angeles expects to be the permanent location of the Pacific Steel corporation as soon as the experiments now being conducted at Irondale and the plans of the company are fully matured. We are therefore much interested in the work now being done at the Irondale plant, which can almost be said to have passed the experimental stage, and hasten to correct the impression sent out from Tacoma to the effect that the company had been absorbed and was to be removed to the City of Desting The wish was father of the thought and the child of the fertile brain of the enterprising advertising correspondent of the Tacoma and San Francisco papers is summarily killed by the following from no less a person than the Vice-President and General Manager of the company Mr. H. H. Swaney, who was interviewed Tuesday and said:

"I was much surprised on my return from British Columbia to see by the Tacoma papers and certain Associated Press dispatches sent out from that city to San Francisco and elsewhere that a new company recently formed at Tacoma had calmly appropriated to itself the plant of the Pacific Steel Company, as well as the Iron properties on exada island and Barclay sound owned or controlled by myself and associates.

"All these newspaper articles, in so far as they relate to the plant of the Pacific Steel Company and the iron properties I have mentioned, are absolutely without foundation. The Tacoma company not only has no interest in our various properties or options upon them, but it has not even entered into any negotiations for them. Nor will any such negotiations be opened up.

"The statement that the Irondale furnace would be removed to Tacoma is as absolutely without foundation in fact as the rest of the Tacoma newspaper story. The Irondale furnace was purchased by the Pacific Steel Company only after I had spent several years and a large amount of money in the examination and development of the iron properties I have mentioned. A considerable amount of money was also spent in the repair of the Irondale furnace, and it is now being successfully operated. There is no intention to cease its operation or to attempt its removal.

"I believe we have purchased, leased or have under option all the known deposits of iron ore in the Pacific Northwest suitable for steel making and capable of being economically worked by reason of the nature of the ores or their accessibility from tide water. It is now the intention of myself and my associates to go ahead with our development work on these iron properties and to carry on extensive experiments with the Irondale furnace until we have demonstrated by actual results what blending of the various ores will produce the highest grades of iron and steel. When that is done it will be time enough to consider an enlargement of our business.

"In the mean while all such stories as have appeared in the Tacoma newspapers may be regarded as wholly without foundation. I dislike to discuss my business affairs in the newspapers, but the [illegible] made of the name of our company and the properties owned or controlled by us in connection with this iron enterprise, prompts me to make this statement.

"A sample of the character of the assertion made by these newspapers, I will state that, seeing Senator Foster's name connected with the Tacoma enterprise, and knowing that he had been watching with interest the development of our business at Irondale, I wired him in regard to the matter, and promptly received an answer to the effect that he knew absolutely nothing about the Tacoma concern and was not connected with it in any way. The rest of the Tacoma newspaper talk relating to the Pacific Steel Company is of like unreliable quality."

It was also found necessary that the principal office of the company should be near the operating plant, and it was decided to remove this office from New York to Seattle.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

State of Washington
County of Clallam } ss.

I hereby certify that the above is a true and correct statement of the financial condition of the of City Port Angeles, Washington, at the close of the fiscal year ending December 31st, 1901. to the best of my knowledge and belief.

SEAL J. A. SMITH, City Clerk,

Dated this 10th day of January, A. D, 1902.

Quillayute.

Mrs. Lamoreux has closed her way house at Sappho and removed to new homestead.

Dan Wilson, the millman, is again doing business, after a severe illness.

Logging camps are getting numerous and the two mills in the valley are putting out considerable lumber. Getting ready for the railroad, guess.

Louis Hahn has removed to the Higgins place all his stock, having the place under lease.

Sylvester Gaydeski, who has been real sick is considerable better, but for a time considerable apprehension was felt.

Fred Albright is holding down a homestead on the Dickie.

COUNTY NEWS.

Clallam Bay Record.

A consignment of ten tons of freight for the railroad survey party is now being shipped here from Tacoma and Seattle.

Mrs. Peter Buchholz and son arrived here from Seattle last Monday and has gone out to visit her mother and sister at Tyee, Mrs. K. Kraus and Mrs. Joseph Lemm.

The railroad surveying party are now camped at Lincoln Sands' ranch on Dickie lake or near to it. They are moveing along with the survey as fast as the weather will permit. It is slow work as a gang of men have to slash a clear path in advance of the survevors. The survey is being very carefully and substantially made. The line surveyed is on the east side of Dickie lake and will come down the Hoko river to Clallam Bay. An easy grade has been found all the way, about twenty feet to the mile, and the route chosen presents no difficulty whatever for railroad construction. It is the shortest and most inexpensive route to the straits from the Quillayute river.

Port Crescent.

Miss Nettie Tuttle went up sound Saturday to be gone two or three months

Ten or eleven more men came down on the Gertrude Saturday to work in the logging camp here.

"During the winter of 1898 I was so lame in my joints, in fact all over my body, that I could hardly hobble around, when I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. COMMERCIAL CLUB DOINGS.

GETTING IN TOUCH WITH PROSPECTIVE SETTLERS.

Will Try to Find a Buyer For the Cannery Recently Acquired By the First National Bank of Seattle—Fifty-One Members Now on Roll.

The Commercial Club met in regular session Friday evening, with President Griggs in the chair. The attendance was good. The minutes of the former meeting were read and approved.

The committee of constitution and by-laws was granted one week further to report.

The committee on membership reported 51 members and the committee was asked to continue the work.

Mr. Cameron was appointed to address a communication to the First National Bank of Seattle and ascertain the lowest figures at which the National Packing Co.'s plant at this place could be purchased.

The secretary read a communication from John Jox, Latona, Wash., who is one of a party of Wisconsin people wanting to settle in Clallam county and asking about the opportunities here for farming and stock raising, and what homestead land was available. Also a letter from J. C. Storm of Anacortes, as to cedar lands in this county with a view of putting in a shingle mill. Both enquiries were answered at length.

On motion of Mr. Aldwell it was decided that it was the sense of the club that advertising be done through the medium of the local newspapers instead of pamphlets.

Club adjourned to Monday evening to hear report of committee on constitution and by-laws.

COMMONER SAYINGS.

America representation at the coronation of King Edward offers an inviting subject to composers of comic opera.

After Prince Henry returns home it would be embarrassing if President Kruger should happen to come over for a brief visit.

The administration organs continue to take tearful interests in the efforts of certain gentlemen to "reorganize" the democratic party.

When the honor of the nation was "saved" in 1896 the republican party promised that it would inact a financial law that would be a safeguard against further "agitation." The party is still patching up the law.

Why not push the constitutional amendment providing for the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people? It is more important than the ship subsidy bill and will meet with no opposition from the democrats.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know it.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

Smallpox.

Two very mild casos of this lothsome disease has developed during the week and the patients were promptly isolated. Let the public take warning and respect the disease, be it Smallpox or Philippine Itch. Both these parties are said to have ridiculed the idea of the disease being genuine Smallpox. We print the facts that our neighbors up sound may have no excuse for exaggeration.

SOME FACTS ABOUT VACCINATION.

The following taken from "American Medicine" of Jan, 18, 1902, a standard medical journal, and from the U. S. Marine Hospital Health reports will be found to give the present status of the theory of vaccination. I commend it to the careful study of the public and will furnish more later.

F. S. LEWIS, City Health Officer.

The creed of Chicago Health Dept.:

We, the undernamed, hereby publicly profess our firm belief, based upon positive knowledge, gained through years of personal experience and study of small pox and vaccination,

1. That true vaccination — repeated till it no longer takes—always prevents smallpox. Nothing else does.

2. That true vacination—that is, vaccination properly done on a clean arm with pure lymph and kept perfectly clean and unbroken afterward—neverdid and never will make a serious sore.

3. That such a vaccination leaves a characterless scar, unlike that from any other cause, which is recognizable during life and is the only conclusive evidence of a successful vaccination.

4. That no untoward results ever follow such vaccination; on the other hand thousands of lives are annually sacrificed through its neglect—a neglect begotten of want of knowledge.

A supplement to the creed follows:

"Not one of the 346 cases discovered in Chicago within the last three years was found to have been xaccinated as defined in the creed. *

"The rule is — repeat vaccinatination until the susceptibilty to vaccine is exhausted. When this is done it is impossible to contract smallpox."

Not one of the hundreds of nurses thus protected have ever contracted the disease.

In addition the statistics of elevenEng lish cities, including London, from 1881 to 1893 are given by the journal which show among vaccidated children the per cent of death was only 1 and 6-10, while among the unvaccinated it was 32 6 10.

Extract from U. S. Health Reports:

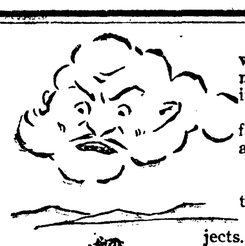
Dr. Bizzozoziro says: "Germany alone stands in fulfilling in a great measurethe demands of Hygiene, having in consequence of the calamitous smallpox epidemic of 1870-1 enacted the law of 1874, which makes vaccination obligatory in the first year of life, and again the tenth year. What was the prefult? With a population of 50,000,000 having in 1871 lost 143,000 lives by smallpox, she found by her law of 1874 the mortality diminished so rapidly that today the disease numbers only 116 victims a year. These cases moreove occur almost exclusively on her frontier. * * In 1870-1 during the Franco-German war, the two peoples interpenetrated each other, the German having its civil population vaccinated optionally, but its army completely, while the French were vaccinated perfunctorily. Both were attacked by smalpox. The French army number 32,000 deaths by it, while the German army had only 278, and in the same tent breathing the same air, the French wounded were heavily visited by the disease, while the Germans had not a single case.'

THE INJUNCTION ABUSE.

Conservatives Are Beginning to Realize Some of Its Dangers.

Jefferson foresaw and forewarned his countrymen of the perils to free government from the encroachment of the federal judiciary. Appointed for life, they are beyond the reach of the people. But some state judges are walking in the same footsteps and are issuing injunctions that, like those of the federal judges, are an outrageous abuse of power. These state judges are elective and if they are allowed to continue beyond their present terms it is the fault of the people who re-elect them. In time the federal judiciary can be transformed even with a president subservient to the trusts appointing those the trusts may dictate, for their confirmation to office has to pass the scrutiny of the senate. It behooves therefore all who believe that this unwarranted and unconstitutional way of punishing citizens, without law, should be made impossible to see that friends of justice only are elected to legislative offices.

The conservative newspapers of the country are beginning to discover that government by injunction is a crying evil, for the Springfield Republican says: "The stoutest defenders of the injunction process as used against striking workmen must admit that it is being rapidly pushed to extremes. From the very nature of the case this is a result to be expected. The power which the courts are using is very elastic and not clearly defined. A review of the past 30 years would reveal the fact that it has grown amazingly, not through legislation by the people, but through the reasoning and the decisions of the courts themselves. There are hundreds of judges in this country, working under the codes of 45 different states and the nation itself, and each of them may extend the injunction process to suit himself, subject only to the restraining power of a higher court of appeal. As labor conflicts have continued the tendency to make the injunctions more and more sweeping has become very marked in all parts of the country. A little extension of the theory of judicial contempt at one time makes it easy to effect another extension at a later time, so that things have reached a serious pass in this summer of 1901."



When a woman is nervous her imagination gives fantastic and threatening shapes to the most familiar objects. By day she starts in fear at every sudden or unfamiliar sound. By night the furniture of her room takes on affrighting forms of ghost or goblin. You can't reason with the nerves. Neither logic nor love can quiet them. They must be nourished and then the outcry of the nerves will cease as naturally as a hungry child ceases to cry when fed.

For nervous women there is no better tonic and nervine than Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures the diseases which produce nervousness in women, irregularity, debilitating drains, inflammation, ulceration and female weakness. It tranquilizes the nerves, encourages the appetite, and induces refreshing sleep.

"When I began taking your medicine I was not able to stand on my feet ten minutes at a time," writes Mrs. Attie Borradaile, of 113 Spring Street, Nashville, Tenn. "Had falling of uterus, and kidney and liver disease, and was so weak and nervous I could not keep still. Would take nervous spells and almost die at times. I had several different doctors attending, but they could not do me any good. The last one I had said I would never get up again. Told him that I was taking your 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and he said, 'Might just as well take that much water each day.' But I thought I would give the medicine a fair trial. Before I had finished the first two bottles I was able to get outside the house and walk around the yard. I kept on taking the medicines and they cured me."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure biliousness.

IN THE PHILIPPINES.

Even the Semblance of Freedom Has Been Abandoned.

The Republican party has brought us to a pretty pass in the Philippines. On July 4 they set up a sham civil government in all but three provinces and within a month are obliged to withdraw even this semblance of freedom from nearly all over the island and give the military full swing again. The Chaffee reforms and proposed consolidation of troops at three points in the islands are obliged to be abandoned. The reduction of the army there by one-half, which was announced with a great flourish, is also now found to be impracticable and will be impossible until an indefinite time in the future. Thus the expense that this country is paying to hold the islands is likely to be prolonged indefinitely, which in round figures amounts to the enormous sum of $100,000,000 a year. The profit on the trade we are now doing will not pay one-tenth of 1 per cent on the $20,000,000 we paid Spain to quitclaim the islands to us, let alone the vast amount being yearly added.

Then we have the future of the republic at stake, of which the St. Louis Republic says: "It will repay Americans to contemplate the changed attitude of their country as bearing upon their own and their children's safety and liberty. We are on dangerous ground in a most dangerous frame of national thought. We are abandoning a creed that preserved our own rights and respected the rights of others. The final abandonment of this creed means more of calamity to us than ever to those weaker than us whom we may conquer, despoil and forcibly govern. This is due to the fact that we are destroying the foundation of the fabric of free government and that it is we ourselves who will be crushed by the collapse of the splendid structure."

A Story About the Duke.

The Duke of Cornwall is devotedly loved in loyal Bermuda, where as a growing boy he once passed a happy winter, relates The Youth's Companion. One of his favorite comrades there was a little girl whose great-grandfather had fought side by side with Wolfe upon the Plains of Abraham. She used to push her little rocking chair close beside that of the prince and laboriously time her small rockers with those of his larger chair.

"We rock together, Prince Georgie," she used to chatter, "always together," thrusting difference of rank into that limbo reserved for sophisticated adults

Another favorite of the prince was young American girl who discovered him in the admiral's hallway one day tugging at his gloves.

"I hate to wear them," he admitted as he looked at her bare hands, "only I promised grandmother that I would."

A letter from Queen Victoria gave the royal boy much pleasure, but on being asked if he would sell it for £2 he eagerly accepted the offer, whereupon he answered the letter with commendable promptness, urging his "dear grandmother please to write again."

The death of his older brother some years later and the recent death of the queen materially changed the career of the youth to whom the American girl said "you, and he said you to me." On his return from the tour of the British colonies he will receive the honored title of Prince of Wales, with its pregnant motto, "Ich dien" ("I serve").

A mistake frequently made is in attempting to churn too much. Never have the churn more than half full, says a Michigan Farmer in National Stockman. Cream will swell anyway, and it is not wise to put so much in the churn that time will be wasted in bringing the butter. Separation results from concussion, and a small quantity of cream will reach that point sooner than a churn full.

When butter granules appear, add a half pint of salt to three or four gallons of cream (more will do no harm) and continue the churning until the butter separates from the buttermilk, but no longer. Do not allow the butter to mass. Draw off the buttermilk and rinse the butter twice. Let the first water be not too cold, the last one very cold. When the rinsing is complete, the butter should still be in granules. Drain and salt in the churn. Place the cover in position and revolve (if a barrel churn) slowly about a dozen times. Remove the cover, cut butter apart with the ladle, return the cover to position and turn a few minutes very slowly, so the butter drops from end to end of the churn.

Hook the churn, draw the butter, remove to a butter bowl and press into shape, then pack or treat as desired. No further working will be necessary.

Co-operation In Silo Filling.

Let six to ten farmers promise to grow so many tons of corn, build a silo and agree to give some one man in the neighborhood the job of cutting it into proper lengths for the silo and putting the same into the silo in good shape at an agreed price per ton, says a Virginia farmer in Farm and Home.

In this section silage corn can be planted from April 1 to Aug. 1, so that a dozen or more can have their silos filled by one single outfit. Few farmers like to attack the silo single handed simply for the reason that the engine, cutter and elevator are high priced and make the silage quite expensive, but if they can get silage put into the silo for, say, 40 cents per ton, he delivering the corn to the cutter, every farmer in the land can have a silo, and, in fact, not one of them is justified in going without one. There are plenty of communities in which can be found ten farmers who would put up 100 to 300 tons of silage each if they could grow it and get it into the silo at less than $1.50 per ton.

Benefits of Silage.

Concerning the benefits of silage over fodder corn [illegible] J. McMillan at the farmers' institute, Ontario: The silo renders the corn more easily digested. It provides succulent food both summer and winter. It enables me to keep a greater quantity of cattle on the same number of acres, as there is no waste, the silage being eaten up clean. Animals are more healthy on silage than on dry food. Experiments made at the Wisconsin experiment station with ensilage and fodder corn upon milk cows show 3 per cent in favor of silage, as on one acre of each the silage gave 243 pounds more milk and 12 pounds more butter than the fodder corn. At New York experiment station two animals were fed with silage corn cut and shocked. Their voidings were kept and analyzed to see what amount of every hundred pounds of solids the foods contained would be kept by the animals. It was found that from silage they kept 69 pounds out of every 100 pounds and from the shocks only 62 pounds.

As to standard rations, in this matter I am a crank, said A. C. Welsh before the Minnesota Dairyman's association. No man is better able to determine the cow's rations than the man that handles her. Nevertheless from my own experience the following ration will keep the average dairy cow up to the limit of her ability: Twelve pounds of timothy or upland hay, three pounds of cornmeal, five pounds of ground oats, nine ounces of ground flax, eight pounds of alfalfa, ten pounds of corn fodder, eight pounds of mangels. This is more than is recommended as a standard ration, but if she gets it you get the return. It is well to bear in mind that the food capacity of a dairy cow is an important factor. Another important factor is salt. Have plenty of it where she can get at it when she wants it.

Kansas Dairy Cow Ration.

D. H. Otis of the Kansas experiment station in Kansas Farmer gives the following ration with millet roughage. In many parts of Kansas millet and prairie hay are grown on the same farm. When desired, these can be fed half and half, but as both are dry feeds it is well to furnish succulence by giving ten pounds of mangels per day per cow, these with eight to ten pounds of a grain mixture of five parts oats and three parts cottonseed meal. If oats are not available, four parts bran may be used in their stead.

Good Milk Foods.

Clover hay well cured, corn ensilage well made, oats cut in the dough stage millet cut when seed is beginning to form, bran, shorts and linseed meal, together with roots, such as mangels, carrots or potatoes, says Professor W. L. Carlyle—a judicious combination of some or all of these foods will give good results. We would prefer all of them to give variety and add palatability, which is a very important part of the feeding problem to solve. An effort should always be made, therefore, to have all feeding stuffs clean, sweet and wholesome.

NEW GOSPEL OF GREED

It Ignores the Declaration and the Constitution.

DOOTRINE FRAUGHT WITH PERIL.

Under It the President Becomes a Dominant Force—There Is No Occasion For an Elastic Interpretation of the Constitution—Timely Action Needed to Avert a Crisis.

Stretching the constitution and deriding the Declaration of Independence are now the settled policy of the leaders of the Republican party. The scheme of imperialism evolved by them could not be carried through without doing so. The old Hamiltonian policy that was killed by Jefferson never dared to again show its head until President McKinley was elected. Many Republicans who revere the memory of their greatest apostle, Lincoln, are sad at heart as they see this new gospel of greed practiced in place of the equal rights to all, which is now a discarded theory of their party, and, as the Washington Times says, "It is impossible to avoid the conclusion that the great body of Republicans think more of their party and its ephemeral plans and purposes than they do of the organic law of the land. It may be said—nay, it is said—that there is partisan feeling on both sides. This doubtless is true. Many Democrats who know nothing of the fundamental principles involved oppose the administration's policy in a strictly party spirit. Still, the fact remains that in their present interpretation of the constitution the Democratic press and party leaders have been entirely consistent. They take the same position now that the party has always taken, and, what is even more important at this juncture, the Democracy of today takes the identical view of the great constitutional question now before the country that the Republicans themselves always took until it became necessary for them either to change or to condemn their own administration.

"The present attitude of the Republican party is not only absolutely new in our political history, but it is an attitude that is full of danger to the republic. If the constitution can be strained or stretched in one particular, so it can be in any other. There can be no exceptions. All of it is absolutely binding or none of it is. Every branch of the government is controlled and limited by it or no branch is. The question now before the country is not one of a strict or liberal interpretation of the constitution. The opponents of the administration's policy are not invoking the rule of strict or narrow interpretation. They concede to the federal government every power that is either expressly granted or fairly to be implied from what is so granted. But they object to any branch of the government exercising power anywhere outside and independent of the great charter from which every vestige of federal authority is derived.

"The doctrine that congress may govern the new possessions without regard to the constitution is fraught with infinite danger. If we should continue to expand, the time might easily come when congress, or perhaps the president alone, would be governing more people outside of the constitution than live under it. In such case the president would be the dominant force, and the danger of lodging such power in the hands of an ambitious man should be clear to the most ordinary intellect. It is not going too far to say that it might arm him with the means of subverting free government even within the limits of the present states. He could, at all events, make a strong effort in that direction, for his power in the outlying territories would enable him to command great resources in men and money. True, the intelligent and patriotic spirit of the American people might reassert itself in time to save the republic, but how much better it is to apply every safeguard in time and thus prevent approach of an actual crisis.

"Perhaps the strongest argument against this new doctrine is that there is nothing whatever in the present situation which gives even a colorable excuse for a departure from not only the time honored traditions of the republic, but from the plain letter and spirit of the constitution as well. Men talk as if the country were menaced by some grave danger from which it could only be saved by giving the constitution an elastic interpretation, and investing the president and congress with imperial powers, when in truth and fact it is the creation of these imperial powers that constitutes the only real danger in sight."

Steady, Mr. Babcock!

Representative Babcock persists that he hopes to see the tariff revised and will again introduce a bill in the next congress for that purpose, but he kills his proposed reform by starting out with the proviso that he "is an ultra Republican and protectionist and has not changed his lifelong views in the least." This explanation does not satisfy the American Protective Tariff league or the Home Market club, and they are denouncing Babcock in unmeasured terms as a traitor to protection. Babcock will find that the trusts and monopolies have such a hold on the Republican party that it will require much more heroic treatment to dislodge them than he proposes.

Not the Odd Kind.

Backing up civil government by bayonets is perhaps the best the Republicans can do in the Philippines, but it is not the kind of civil government that the United States has hitherto boasted of.

All Doctors have tried to cure CATARRH by the use of powders, acid gases, inhalers and drugs in paste form. Their powders dry up the mucuous membranes causing them to crack open and bleed. The powerful acids in the inhalers have entirely eaten away the same membranes that their makers have aimed to cure, while pastes and ointments cannot reach the disease. An old and experienced practitioner who has for many years made a close study and specialty of the treatment of CATARRH, has at last perfected a treatment which when faithfully used, not only relieves at once, but permanently cures CATARRH, by removing the cause stopping the discharges, and curing all inflammation. The difference in cost between an alum baking powder and the highest-class cream of tartar baking powder would not amount for a family's supply to one dollar a year.

Dr. Price's is the standard cream of tartar baking powder. It makes the food delicious and healthful.

NOTE.—You cannot, if you value good health, afford to use chea , low-grade, alum baking powders. They are apt to spoil the food; they do endanger the health. All physicians will tell you that alum in food is deleterious.

WEALTH IN SIGHT.

Former Port Angeles Boy Receives Good News From the East.

A special from Everett to the Seattle Times says:

Everett in the New York World's almanac was not credited with having a millionaire, but the year 1902 is expected to make one of L. L. Crosby, assistant cashier of the First National Bank, who has received tidings from the East that a three hundred million dollar estate in the very heart of Philadelphia will, after eight years' litigation, be settled during the year 1902.

The estate is the Philadelphia City Park, and local banks hold over one million dollars in accrued interest which is waiting for division among the fortunate heirs, of whom there are some two hundred aspirants.

During the War of the Revolution Col. Jacob Baker fought so valiantly for his new but robust country that after the British evacuation he was repaid for his bravery by a large land grant. This land, then little more than a wilderness, is today a magnificant park, the pride of Philadelphia. Col. Baker had three brothers, one being the great-grandfather of L. L. Crosby's mother and all the heirs springing from these three will receive an equal portion of this fabulous estate.

"My legal advisor informs me," said Mr. Crosby, "that the estate will undoubtedly be settled within this year as proper evidence has been presented to prove the identity of Col. Baker's three brothers. This has been the difficulty during the eight years of litigation. For the past five years I have heard from time to time from our attorneys, though at no time has the prospect of settlement been so bright."

Mr. rosby is a brother of Mrs. A. J. Cosser of this city, who will in the event of a settlement receive an equal share in the division with her numerous cousins.

In view of the fact that Smallpox is so prevelent in the east and central west and that in all probability the immigration to this state will be great this spring I would strangly advise that all persons in this county be vaccinated as early as possible for statistics abuntantly prove that in Universal Vaccination we have an almost absolutely preventive for this bothersome disease. I may further add that vaccination performed at my office will b free of all charge.

Port Angeles, Washington,

Want 'Dem Presents Back.

An extended session of the city council was held Wednesday but little business of real importance was transacted. All members except Lauridsen were present.

The city attorney reported on Lawrence resolutions referred to him as follows:

"As there is no ordinance of the city which prohibits adultery and as the city has no authority to pass such an ordinance it has no jurisdiction over that offence. I have therefore no recommendation to offer in regard to the Lawrence resolutions which were presented by Councilmen Hunt and Smith at your last regular meeting; but would suggest that the matter be called to the attention of the Prosecuting attorney and his deputies.

Mr. Hunt moved that the resolutions be returned to their respective authors. The motion carried, Councilmen Gould and Miller voting no.

Matter of safeguarding the public health came up and was discussed at length, being finally disposed of by a motion by Miller to refer matter to health committee and city attorney.

A petition was read from residents of east hill asking that line be extended and street lights placed Front and Albert streets, Albert and Georgiana, Georgiana and Eunice, Eunice and Caroline and Caroline and Francis. Referred to light committee.

Marie Mona asked that she be permitted to continue salsoon business for unexpected term of license of T. Mona, under management of Julius Werth. Proffered bond was rejected and matter allowed to drift as council deemed it had no authority to make any change

Bond of R. R. Harding, police justice was approved.

Rev. Brann addressed council asking that city provide lights free of charge for a young men's reading and recreation room which he is about to open in the city. Referred to light committee.

D. B. Ripley was allowed privilege of paying billiard license quarterly.

The undertaking question was again discussed at length. The committee recommending that reconsideration be refused, even to the extent that past records be not read. Matter was reconsidered, however, unconsciously and left to the committee to make best arrangement possible in case of death.

A communication from Dr. Appleton to Mr. Smith was read to the effect that Mr. Bull would have to be supplied with a nurse to relieve Mrs. Bull. Mr. Smith was given power to act.

The marshal was ordered to clear alley in rear of Mrs. Harlows.

The surf having again changed course of Lincoln street creek at outlet, the street committee were asked to report.

City attorney was allowed clerical assistance to extent of $15 in lookiag up record for defence of suit of S. Mck. Kawks for services as expert engineer.

THE COS LETTUCES.

Crisp, Cool and Refreshing During the Summer Months.

The Cos or "celery" varieties of lettuce resist warm weather well and are highly esteemed for their crisp, brittle leaves and cool, refreshing flavor during the hot summer months.

The Paris White Cos is grown all over the world and is generally conceded to be the finest of all the Cos sorts.

The surface of the outer leaves is a little raised between the larger nerves,

PARIS WHITE COS LETTUCE.
[Plant twelve inches across.]

the surface of the inner leaves considerably folded. The heads are 8 to 12 inches high, rounded at the ends, firm and weigh from 12 to 24 ounces each. In quality this variety is hardly surpassed by any kind of lettuce. It is customary to tie the leaves together when the heads are forming, although when the plants are well grown this is not always necessary.

Other varieties closely resembling the above and which appear to be hardly distinct from it are the Trianon Cos and the Paris Self Folding Cos. The White Heart and Dwarf White Heart, if distinct varieties, differ but little from the Paris White Cos and are inferior to it.

The Paris Green Cos is a little deeper green than the Paris White and the plant not quite so large, but matures a few days earlier.

Balloon Cos has leafy plants and the heads not very firm even when tied.

Ground Cos is a dwarf variety, intermediate between Paris White and Asparagus Cos.

Asparagus Cos has little value as a garden esculent, although some people like the fleshy midribs, which are tender, juicy and peculiarly pleasing to the taste if gathered just before the blossom stalks show in the center of the plants.

Queer Joy, Funny Peace.

A few weeks ago all was joy and peace in the Philippines and the military was to be succeeded by the civil government. Aguinaldo was a willing prisoner of his good friend General MacArthur, the army was to go home, half of it immediately, and 1,000 school-teachers were to be sent in its place to teach the young Filipino the blessings of benevolent assimilation. In a twinkling of an eye all is changed; Aguinaldo gets grumpy, and whenever he signs his name adds the word "prisoner." Governor Taft and the commission are fired at when visiting one of the outlying towns and quickly retire to the more safe imperial quarters at Manila and withdraw the civil government from a number of provinces until the times are more ripe for such an experiment. But then it may only be the censor that is at fault in allowing us to get a glimpse of the real state of affairs. The expenditure at the rate of $100,000,000 a year still continues, for colonies come high if we must have them.

An Ancient Foe

To health and happiness is Scrofula—as ugly as ever since time immemorial.

It causes bunches in the neck, disfigures the skin, inflames the mucous membrane, wastes the muscles, weakens the bones, reduces the power of resistance to disease and the capacity for recovery, and develops into consumption.

"A bunch appeared on the left side of my neck. It caused great pain, was lanced, and became a running sore. I went into a general decline. I was persuaded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and when I had taken six bottles my neck was healed, and I have never had any trouble of the kind since." MRS. K. T. SNYDER, Troy, Ohio.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills will rid you of it, radically and permanently, as they have rid thousands.
