Wednesday evening's session of the city council was an interesting and important one and every seat in the hall was filled with interested and anxious spectators.

The chief business of the evening was the consideration of a franchise asked for by the Port Angeles Pacific Railroad. It asked for the perpetual right to build and operate a standard guage railroad on the following streets:

First.—Beginning at a point in the center of Tumwater street at the North line of Front and running thence southerly along the center line of Tumwater to the most southerly limits of the city.

Second.—Beginning at a point on the East line of Tumwater creek waterway, at the intersection of the center line of First street extended, and running thence easterly along said center line of First street to the easterly line of Lincoln street.

Third.—Beginning at a point in the center of Third street at its intersection with the center line of Tumwater street and running thence westerly along the center line of Third street to its intersection with the most easterly line of the James Sampson forty-acre tract of land.

Paragraph 3 of Section 2 provides that the company shall have the road completed to a transcontinental connection on or before December 31, 1904; and paragraph 4 provides that it shall, immediately after the approval of the ordinance, commence the work of construction.

The ordinance and franchise committees both reported favorably and recommended the passage of the ordinance without amendment. In the regular order of business it came up and was read to its final passage and adoption without a dissenting vote.

A request from the local camp of Modern Woodmen for the use of the city hall Tuesday evening, December 16, wa granted.

A petition from residents of the First ward asking permission to construct, at their own expense, a three plank sidewalk on the south side of Caroline st., was referred to the street committee with power to act.

SOME EARLY HISTORY

N. P. NOW TO BUILD WHERE FIRST INTENDED.

The Best Side—The Natural Pacific Terminus of the Transcontinental Road—Barely Missed Development Thirty Years Ago.

The acquisition of the Port Townsend Southern Railway by the Northern Pacific marks another advance in the growth of the railway development of Puget Sound country. Connected with this latest move by the Northern Pacific there is a sentimental consideration that makes the purchase somewhat appropriate.

In an historical sense it is rather gratifying to the present managers of that corporation to know that they are now operating in the very region which their predecessors, more than thirty years ago, selected for the pioneer railway operations in the Puget Sound country.

It will be news to the great bulk of the population now in the State of Washington to be informed that when the Northern Pacific was planning to build a transcontinental line to the Northwest, an element in the directorate of the company was in favor of making Port Townsend the tide water terminus.

The line was to go down the Columbia River to Portland, thence up the Cowlitz, over the divide to Olympia and northward on the west side of the Sound to the Government Port of Entry at the mouth of the Straits. This determination, however, was never carried out, but instead it was decided to make Olympia the Sound terminus, and such conclusions were announced.

In fact, a syndicate of Northern Pacific directors who were operating as a land company, went so far as to purchase more than a section of land on deep water adjoining the corporate limits of the capital. The agent of the syndicate—a man named Thomas—and who had acquired title to the site for terminal grounds, placed the same in his own name.

Before the negotiations were fully completed, and while the title to the property remained in his name, he died in Olympia. Necessarily, considerable time would elapse before his estate could be probated and the title transferred to the principals in the purchase. Northern Pacific graders were then at work north of the Columbia, and no time was to be lost in securing a tide water location. The outcome was that this coterie of land speculators secured a tract on commencement Bay, platted the town of Tacoma made it the railway terminus and located the line about fourteen miles south of Olympia.

After recovering from their disappointment, the business interests of Olympia organized a local company to build a narrow gauge road from the city to a junction with the Northern Pacific at Tenino, for the construction of which the people of Thurston county voted bonds in the sum of $40,000.

The road was completed and operated for ten years or more, or until 1890, when it became the property of the Port Townsend Southern. The track was widened to one of standard gauge, as the part of a project to extend it to Port Townsend, and make it a part of a transcontinental system. In addition to rebuilding the Olympia end, about twenty miles were completed southward from Port Townsend. All work was then suspended, probably on account of the money stringency in the East.

During all of these intervening years, covering a period of a third of a century, there has come on the stage of action another generation of active men. When Henry Villard was planning to reach the great natural resources of the Olympic Peninsula, I. A. Nadeau, the new president of the enterprise that is to open up that portion of the state, was a mere boy. Similar comparisons may be made concerning the other men, who then had their eyes turned to the future great possibilities of the Puget Sound region, and those who are now transforming the great wilderness into wealth-producing agencies.

It may be that during these years the Northern Pacific has had its eye steadily focused on this section of the country. It has continually been operating in that section of the state. With its Gray's Harbor branch from Olympia; with its coast line northward to Port Angeles—and now with its Port Townsend Southern line, from Port Townsend southward to Olympia, it seems to have pretty well belted the Olympic Mountains with a number of points on tide water where great business centers can be built.

Hoquiam, Port Angeles, Port Townsend and Olympia are admirably located to become commercial factors that must be considered in the future industrial growth of Western Washington.

Inasmuch as the northern transcontinental roads are now acting in harmony, the unquestioned purpose of the new move is to begin the active development of this rich section of the state while money may be easily obtained for legitimate enterprises. From this point of view, the volume of riches that are to be gathered from earnest efforts in that vast and virgin region can not be estimated. It is an empire within itself.

Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless this inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever, nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

NOW TO WORK.

The city council at Wednesday's council meeting passed the franchise ordinance drafted by the Port Angeles Pacific people without the slightest amendment. The company made its own conditions and from present indications they will carry them out to the letter.

The gentlemen in the city say they have unlimited backing and work will be rushed and the road pushed into the woods with all possible speed.

It would seem from railroad movements the gentlemen interested are perfectly safe in the move they have undertaken. Outside of the practical scheme of a logging railway the road can ultimately, if not very shortly, be utilized for passenger traffic to Gray's Harbor and the gentlemen who push the project to completion will be well repaid for their labors.

Whether urged on by the activity of the Southern lines which are doubtless seeking a Sound terminal or whether convinced that the west side of the sound is now ripe for development, there is now no doubt of the intention of the Northern Pacific to belt the Olympic peninsula and that in the very near future. As soon as the date for this work is set Port Angeles and the entire peninsula will experience a movement that will equal the fondest dream or expectation of the most sanguine believer in the ultimate future of the Gate City on the Straits of San Juan de Fuca.

SENATOR QUAY got the laugh on him in the Senate Tuesday. By mistake he sent to the clerk's desk to be read a telegram stating that the admission of Oklahoma as a state meant a solid Democratic delegation to congress and to the electoral college. Oklahoma will have to change her politics to secure justice.

THE DEMOCRAT-LEADER is so certain that the Republican majority will give no trust legislation that it would feel safe in agreeing to support Roosevelt for election should such a thing happen.

THE MACKENZIE TREATMENT

Dr. MacKenzie's English Catarrh Treatment is a home remedy for the treatment and cure of catarrh.

The "MacKenzie Method"

is the result of many years of experience of the greatest nose and throat specialist of the world—Sir Morell MacKenzie. Why use the old blood tonics, sarsaparillas, inhalers when you can permanently cure your catarrh by devoting but a few minutes each day to treating yourself at your home?

"MacKenzie Method."

This method has worked cures in cases of ten to thirty years standing. The method is simply this—the inflamed membranes of the nose and throat are treated with an antiseptic and healing oil until every passage in the head is restored to its normal state of health. At the same time the catarrhal poison which has been absorbed by the blood in its circulation through the membranes of the head is neutralized and eliminated from the system.

THIS IS THE ONLY CERTAIN METHOD TO TREAT CATARRH SUCCESSFULLY.

It is the only home treatment which recognizes the necessity of a double treatment—local and internal.

A Beggar's Assembly.

Hark! Hark! The dogs do bark,
The beggars are coming to town;
Some in rags, and some in tags,
But none in velvet gown.

Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Oscar Morse a motley crowd of beggars gathered in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mr. Morse. There were Weary Willies, organ grinders, halt and lame, blind, deaf, dumb and foolish, but happily none had lost any of their limbs nor their appreciation for an event so complete and successful. It was a surprise in truth and others besides Mr. Morse were surprised upon assembling that they knew not their "unfortunate" fellows, the masquerade was so complete.

As soon as Mr. Morse recovered from the shock, each guest was given a slip upon which so write their guesses as to whom the others were. Dismal failures this proved. After unmasking the guests were favored with solos by Miss Wilcox, music by Mrs. Wiggins and select recitations by little Misses Appleton and Ritchie. Mr. Morse was then presented with a fine revolving office chair, a remembrance of the occasion. Before adjournment a most sumptuous supper was served by Mrs. Morse and Mrs. McNutt.

THE NEED OF THE HOUR.

For some time past the literary and educational circles in our town have been considering the advisability of having a lecture course in Port Angeles.

Reports have reached us from time to time of the gratifying success of such enterprises in neighboring towns, and of the excellent work done in these lecture courses by the professors of the state university, and by other specialists and speakers.

We have also heard of the beneficial results, not only financially, but more particularly in the uplifting and broadening of the moral and intellectual plane of the communities in which they were given.

Port Angeles is quite as public spirited and progressive as any of her sister cities, and it only required a slight impetus to place her in line. This impetus was furnished by the need of our public schools.

As everyone knows our school district has been laboring under great difficulties. We have been so heavily in debt that it has required a great effort, and not a little financiering on the part of those interested, to maintain our schools and bring them up to their present standard.

At this time, our schools will compare favorably with any in the state, and our professors are qualified to command recognition, or positions in any educational institution; but our schools and teachers are handicapped by the need of funds.

We have no labratory in our high school departments and our students are obliged to leave Port Angeles to obtain the instruction that they should be able to receive here, but cannot for lack of the necessary labratory accessories.

This is a great and crying need. It cannot fail to be a misfortune to a town to force our young people to go elsewhere to complete a high school course of study.

It not only takes just so much money out of our home circulation, but what is of much more importance, necessitates the removal of our boys and girls from parental care and supervision during a part of the most critical and formative period of their lives.

This condition of affairs coming to the knowledge of the Ladies' Clubs" of this city, it was felt that some concerted effort should be made to provide at least a portion of the necessary funds.

As a result each club appointed one or two delegates to meet with a delegate from the schools, who should be appointed by the school board, to form committee, to arrange for a course of lectures to be given for the benefit of the high schools.

This was done. And the committee take pleasure in announcing that we have been very successful in securing for our lecture course, men of unquestioned ability, and national fame as public speakers and specialists.

The lecture course will be opened on Monday night, Dec. 15th, by Rev. Wm. D. Simonds, this will be followed in the middle of January by Prof. Trevor C. incaid, who will be followed by such speakers as Prof. E. S. Meany and Prof. A. H. Yoeder of the state university.

One entertainment will consist of a musical, which will be given by artists of known ability, and will equal any to be found on the Pacific coast,

Port Angeles is always true to herself, and responds loyally to a call of duty for the betterment of her social or intellectual conditions. This being the case the committee takes pleasure in submitting the result of their efforts to the people of Port Angeles, satisfied that they will appreciate, the situation, and respond nobly to the call.

SOME CHRISTMAS GIFTS

By Elisa Armstrong

"WHEN you give a Christmas present there is everything in having it suitable," remarked Mrs. Wilder. "You agree with me in that, don't you, Tom?"

"M'hm," replied Mr. Wilder, who had been married 20 years. He did not for one instant detach his mind from his paper, as he gave this positive assurance.

"Yes, indeed; when I go selecting Christmas presents I put my whole mind upon it. No haphazard, indiscriminate present buying for me! I select something which is sure to please the recipient, because it is something which she really wants. Now, there is Laura; she is near-sighted, you know, and I bought her a lovely pair of opera glasses. She will be so pleased with them that she will send me something even more expensive in return."

"M'hm," replied Mr. Wilder, without looking up from his paper.

"I thought you would agree with me. Then there is Suzanne. I have sent her a lovely set of kitchen aprons, with pockets enough to delight the heart of any housekeeper. As for Effie, I have, after much thought, selected her a beautiful umbrella with a handle which will exactly suit her taste. I shall expect something very nice from both of them, if only in return for my thoughtfulness."

"I DON'T BELIEVE YOU HAVE HEARD A SINGLE WORD."

"M'hm," replied Mr. Wilder, as he turned a page.

"Yes, and then there is Helen. I thought a great deal over her present. As she is a settled old maid and lives alone, it was hard to find something sure to please her. Finally I thought of a cat and got her a lovely Angora; wasn't it thoughtful of me? Of course, she will never marry and a cat is almost as good as a man about the house—both of them are difficult to please about their eating and so hard to keep in the house at night."

"M'hm," replied Mr. Wilder, as he ran his eye up a column.

"Yes, and I sent them all out by a messenger boy an hour ago. Here he comes back with a lot of notes, full of gratitude, I know, because each gift was so suitable. O, Tom, listen!

"'Dear Maria: Thank you so much for the lovely opera glasses you so thoughtfully sent me. They will no doubt be exceedingly useful when we no longer live in a suburb which is inaccesible after ten p. m.

"'LAURA.'

"Well, that is merely an accident, and the rest of my presents are so suitable that—oh, Tom!"

"'Dear Aunt: It was lovely of you to send me those beautiful kitchen aprons. They are the admiration of every woman in the boarding house where I live.

"'SUZANNE.'

"Oh, dear, I quite forgot that she is boarding; but the rest—Tom!

"'Dear Maria: It was very kind of you to send me such a lovely umbrella. I shall no doubt find it extremely useful as a rainy day companion when I have sufficiently recovered from the rheumatism to venture out when there is a cloud in the sky.

"'EFFIE.'

"Oh, my goodness, but there is Helen left. Surely her present—listen:

"'My Dear Maria: I appreciate your kindness in sending me such a lovely cat, but as I am about to marry a widower with seven children I fear that I shall not very well know what to do with it. Yours, lovingly,

"'HELEN.'

"Oh, Tom, isn't it aw—look here, Tom Wilder, I don't believe you have heard a single word of what I have been saying!"

"M'hm," replied Mr. Wilder, without looking up from his paper.

STARTLED

By some sudden sound she drops the vase upon the floor. She is nervous and may be told that nervousness is a luxury which only a rich woman can afford to indulge in. Nervousness has cost many a woman her position. Sometimes when women run machinery the price of nervousness is mutilation,—a finger lost or perhaps the whole hand crushed.

Nervousness in women is commonly but a symptom of womanly disease. It is useless in such cases to "doctor" for the nerves alone. Cure the diseases which attack the delicate womanly organism and nervousness will be cured also.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong, sick women well. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It tranquilizes the nerves and induces refreshing sleep.

"In the fall of 1897, I was troubled with nervousness, headache, heart trouble and female weakness," writes Miss Blanch M. Bracey, of Sala, Oswego Co., N. Y. "Last summer I wrote you and you advised me to try your 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I did so and I began to improve rapidly. Continued taking the medicine, half a dozen each of 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery' for the space of five months, and in less than a year had regained my former health."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets clear the muddy complexion.

Those who heard Miss Jennie Manning Jordan at the Workmen's reception last Friday evening will not miss the entertainment to be given by her Saturday of next week for charitable purposes. She is indeed a monologist of rare ability and force of expression. Those who attend get double value for their money, and help a good cause at the same time.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood.

If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

THE PLANET EROS.

Harvard Professors Discover That It Is Probably Not More Than Twenty Miles in Diameter.

A special to the New York Journal and Advertiser from Cambridge, Mass., says: Profs. Pickering and Wendell, of the Harvard observatory, have just made some very important discoveries with regard to the new planet Eros. From the recent discoveries it is found that the Harvard observatory took photographs of this planet as early as 1893. These photographs, when compared with the ones that were taken the other night, made it possible to tell accurately the path, size and distance of the planet from the earth.

The astronomers have determined that the planet is probably not more than 20 miles in diameter, and at times comes nearer the earth than any other planet. It belongs to a group of planets that come between Mars and Jupiter, but Eros breaks away and often comes this side of Mars, thus being nearer the earth than any celestial body except the moon.

These observations will continue at the observatory until about the first of March, when it is intended to continue the observations from the station in South America, where it is believed the planet will be visible a month longer than in any other part of the world.
