OCCIDENTAL MELANGE

BOOM IN ARIZONA BUILDING STONE.

Arizona has a boom in building stone.

Grain is looking well all over California.

The weather last week in Arizona was the coldest for fifteen years.

An organized band of cattle thieves has been discovered in Southern Arizona.

See, the Tonto Basin (A. T.) wife murderer, has made his escape into Mexico.

The bodies of two horse thieves have been found hanging to a tree near Calabesas, north of Nogales.

The papers are ready at Phœnix, A. T., for the transfer of the Big Bonanza mine to a Boston syndicate for $900,000.

The streams in and about Elko and Battle Mountain, Nev., have been furnished with 50,000 Vermont brook trout.

A Chinese interpreter, Ah Tie, has been arrested at Sacramento and charged with forging City Attorney Hart's name.

There is no improvement in the salmon outlook. Packers are generally inclined to take a gloomy view of the situation.

It has been discovered that more than half the prisoners in the Idaho penitentiary are insane to a greater or less extent.

The planting of lobster eggs in Monterey Bay has proved to be successful. The young lobsters are making their appearance.

An application for a receiver for the Phœnix (A. T.) Electric Light Company has been denied by Chief-Justice Gooding of Arizona.

Kid, the Apache, has incurred the enmity of his race, and there is a chance that the United States government will capture the outlaw.

Last winter's blow has proven a blessing to the orange groves in Southern California. They are much cleaner and brighter than before.

The Adams has seized the steamer Jennie and the schooners Lottie and Kodiac for killing otter in Behring Sea. The vessels were sent to Sitka.

Feeble and diseased Mexicans are calling on Saint Teresa Urrea at Nogales, and claim to have been greatly relieved through her miraculous healing power.

Twelve Washoe and Piute Indians left Carson the other night for San Francisco to take part in Carver's border drama. They were gorgeously painted before their departure.

The Governor of California wants more facts in regard to the complaints of business being clogged for the want of extra deputies, and has asked the Boards of Supervisors for them.

The wife of Mr. Hanley, formerly a member of the Nevada Legislature and well known all over the Coast, killed herself at Salt Lake by taking poison. Insanity was the cause.

Tempe, A. T., is much exercised over the mysterious murder of Ed Radcliffe, whose body was found on the floor of a dancing hall. The Coroner's jury said that Radclife's death was from natural causes, and the body was buried, but the citizens were suspicious. They had the body exhumed, and an examination showed Radcliffe had received wounds in the head, which had produced death.

John Thomas, once a wealthy farmer of Ada county, Idaho, has informed the Assessor that he should hereafter refuse to pay taxes on his ranch. Every winter for the past four or five years Boise river has played great pranks with Mr. Thomas' land, and now he has but twenty acres left from a whole half section.

Surveyor-General Byars has been notified that the Commissioner of the general land office has made an apportionment of $4,700 out of the reserve fund for surveying the public lands in Oregon. The original $20,000 has all been expended, and contracts are being entered into for using up the extra apportionment.

E. A. Korn, chief engineer, and T. C. Fitzgerald, assistant engineer of the steamer Ellwood, running between Portland and Salem, have been arrested on the charge of loading a safety valve so as to increase the pressure on the boiler to thirty pounds above what is allowed by the inspector's certificate. This was done on the occasion of a race between the Ellwood and the steamer Hogue. The prisoners waived examination, and gave bonds for their appearance to answer to the charge. The penalty is a fine of $500 and not more than five years' imprisonment.

At Portland the suit of James Fisk vs. D. V. B. Henarie of San Francisco, to recover $60,000 as commission on the alleged sale of The Dalles military wagon-road grant of 60,000 acres, was dismissed in the State Court the other day, Fisk receiving $5,000 and the parties paying their own costs. The case has been in the courts for several years, and has gone through the State, Circuit and Supreme Courts, the Federal Courts and United States Supreme Court, which reversed the Federal Courts and sent the case back to the State Court. The settlement is virtually an abandonment of the case, as the amount received by Fisk will not cover his expenses.

PURELY PERSONAL.

Prof. Swift thinks that his new comet was 8,000,000 years getting here.

Chief-Justice Fuller has accepted an invitation to deliver the annual address this fall before the Law Academy of Philadelphia.

Jay Gould carries in his pure a 10-cent piece which he declares was at one time all that stood between him and a deadbroke condition.

The Japanese Minister to Washington wears in his turban a magnificent opal almost as big as a pigeon's egg, set in a frame of sparkling diamonds.

Jules Simon, one of the clearest-headed statesmen in Europe, thus views the situation over there: "Peace, barring accidents. But accidents happen so easily."

M. Lavisse, the newly-elected member of the French Academy, is a writer on historical subjects and the first out-and-out Republican yet raised to the honor of membership in the academy.

Lieutenant Cavendish, nephew of the Duke of Devonshire, will have a lovely bride in Lady Evelyn, the eldest daughter of the Marquis of Lansdowne, to whom he will be married on July 25.

The educational exhibit from Wisconsin at the World's Fair, it is estimated, will require 6,000 square feet of space, and application for that amount has been made.

South Dakota will be creditably represented at the exposition, having now $22,000 in sight with which to prepare its exhibit. The money has been raised by subscription.

St. John is still in front of the Prohibition party, but does not seem to make as much progress with it as if he had it on a street car which had a habit of running off the tracks.

Governor Foraker's youngest son has been christened Arthur St. Clair after the first Governor of Ohio. Governor St. Clair was a gallant but bluff old soldier of the Revolution.

Kate Field believes that the moral and temperate saloon system advocated by Rev. Dr. Rainsford would be a great improvement upon the hard-drinking bar trade as now countenanced.

E. Burd Grubb, American Minister to Spain, has arranged the American Commission to assist the Spanish Commission having in charge the Columbian celebration that is to be held in Spain. A large space is reserved for American exhibits.

Messenger Stoddard of the Massachusetts State House does not exactly own the building; but, as he has been in service in the place for fifty-two years, he feels that he has an extra claim upon it. The old gentleman is 77 years old.

Mr. Gladstone is the only surviving member of the Peel administration. He served as Under Secretary of State for the colonies in 1835. No American statesman now living was in active public life when Mr. Gladstone had already taken a prominent position in affairs.

THE CHICAGO EXPOSITION.

The Progress of Ship-Building From the Earliest Times Up to the Present to be Shown.

Tourist agents in London have contracted to bring large parties to this country next summer to visit the Chicago World's Fair.

The progress of ship-building from earliest times up to the present will be shown by a very extensive exhibit, which will be made by Laird Bros., the big English ship-building firm at Birkenhead. The firm's exhibit of like character at the recent English naval exhibition attracted a great deal of attention.

The United States patent office will exhibit at the World's Fair as complete a collection as possible of the models of all the important American patented inventions, with a view of showing the great advance in the several arts, which is due in no small degree to the encouragement and protection afforded by the patent system.

Miss Cassatt and Mrs. McMonnies, both American artists now at work in Paris, have been commissioned by Mrs. Potter Palmer to do the greater part of the decorating work on the interior of the woman's building at the World's Fair. Both women by their work have won favorable recognition in Paris art circles.

From California is to be exhibited at the World's Fair one of the famed huge redwood trees or sequoia gigantea. The one selected is 300 feet high and more than thirty feet in diameter at the base. A specially constructed train will be necessary to carry the monster across the continent. It is the intention to hollow the base into booths, in which will be sold California wines, fruits and curiosities made of polished redwood.

A number of the far-famed Kerry cows are to be taken from Ireland to Chicago at the time of the World's Fair for the purpose of presenting to the admiring gaze of visitors the spectacle of real Irish milkmaids and buttermakers—pretty ones, of course—pursuing their vocation. At the Irish industrial village, too, which will be one of the interesting features of the fair, will be seen native Donegal peasant girls spinning wool in genuine Irish cottages and dyeing it in the historic potato pot on a real bog-peat fire.

Thirty years ago there was not a school in all the Southern States for colored people, and of the 4,000,000 slaves set at liberty only seven and one-half in each thousand could read. To-day not less than 2,250,000 colored people in the Southern States can read.

Naples has a Froebel Institute, managed by Mme. Schwabe and Mlle. Baermann. It is twenty years in existence, and began with two children. It has now twenty-nine classes and 1,000 pupils. All do not come under the head of free students, as many are from well to-do families.—Jewish Messenger.

CONGRESSIONAL MATTERS.

Dolph Secures the Passage of His Bill to Increase the Limit of Cost of the Portland Public Building.

By direction of the President Adjutant-General Kelton is retired from active service. Major L. C. Overman, who was recently tried at Cleveland for irregularity in his accounts, has resigned. The resignation is accepted, and goes into effect September 20.

Senator Allen of the State of Washington has received from the Secretary of the Treasury for transmission to a woman in his State a magnificent gold medal, engraved around the face with the words: "In testimony of heroic deeds in saving life from the perils of the sea," and on the face of the shield with the words: "To Mrs. Martha White, for heroic deeds in rescuing three men from drowning." Mrs. White saved the lives of three sailors of the wrecked ship Ferndale at Long Beach last winter.

Senator Dolph is receiving a large number of telegrams concerning the report of the engineers for the plans for bridges across the Willamette. It will require several days to obtain a copy of the report and proceedings from the War Department and have it printed, and on account of its voluminousness it cannot be conveniently examined until that is done. He believes the chief of engineers and Secretary of War will sign the report. Action, however, will be postponed until the people and city authorities of Portland can be heard and the matter thoroughly examined and all presented to the Secretary. All communications received so far favor the location of a bridge at Burnside street.

Senator Dolph has secured the passage of his bill to increase the limit of cost for the site and public building at Portland to $1,000,000. His amenndment to the sundry civil bill provided a little increase, which has been reported favorably by the Senate Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, and is now before the Committee on Appropriations. In view of the certain opposition to the amendment in the House the committee hesitates about incorporating the amendment in the bill. Senator Dolph has been assured that, if a similar amendment introduced by Senator Manderson for a public building at Omaha received favorable report, his bill will also. The Senator says the circumstances will be more favorable at the next session of Congress for the passage of the public-building bill.

The census office has issued a bulletin on the population of the United States by color, sex and nativity. During the decade from 1880 to 1890 males increased from 25,518,820 to 32,067,880 or 25.67 per cent.; females from 24,636,963 to 30,554,370 or 24.02 per cent. Of the total population 53,372,703 are native born or 22.76 per cent., as against the increase for the decade ended 1880 of 31.78 per cent. The increase of foreign born was 2,569,604 or 38.47 per cent., as against 49.99 per cent. in the previous decade. According to the census there are in the country 7,638,360 colored persons, meaning persons of African descent, Chinese, Japanese and civilized Indians. There has been an increase in the white race during the past decade of 26.68 per cent. and in the colored race of 13.11 per cent. In the previous decade whites increased 29.22 per cent. and colored apparently 35.90. As explained in previous bulletins, however, that increase was to a certain extent fictitious, particularly as regards the colored population of the South.

RACE HATRED IN EUROPE.

Neighbors Whose Dislike for Each Other Is Constantly Manifested.

We know of few circumstances in modern Europe more disheartening than the depth of the distaste felt by its different races for one another. Their growth in civilization, which certainly goes on, though it is very slow, seems only to deepen their dislike, which, again, is increased by their propinquity. These Germans and Czechs of Bohemia cannot tolerate each other, though they are not only intermixed but know that, whatever happens, they must remain intermixed to the end of time.

The Spaniards and Portuguese are lodged side by side in the same peninsula, under circumstances which would make fusion enormously advantageous to both, Spain gaining her natural capital and trading river, and Portugal gaining the force to keep and to utilize her colonies. Yet the keenest observers report that fusion is impossible, because Spaniards despise Portuguese and Portuguese at once dread and detest Spaniards. The Germans and Slavs in the east of Europe can hardly be compelled to keep the peace of Europe, while the German loathing for a Dane is as intense, and, we may add, as unintelligible, as the loathing of a Dutchman for the Germans. The Italians and the French, though their frontiers touch, despise each other heartily, and when, as in Marseilles, they are forced into industrial competition, they can hardly keep from blows.

The Slavs and the Greeks living in the same Turkish provinces, though they have the bond of a common servitude, confess to a repulsion they cannot conquer; and the Poles and the Germans of Prussia, subjects of the same crown and invested with the same rights, regard one another, age after age, with the same angry suspicion. If the distaste were dying away, we might say, as so many say about Ireland, that it was produced by historic causes only, but we see no evidence that it is dying away.

On the contrary, it appears to deepen as the superincumbent pressure becomes less, until, in a free and enlightened city like Berlin, there is a positive danger lest, if authority were paralyzed for a few days, the "educated" German population would spring at the throats of all Hebrews and bid all Poles depart. And all this while the difference between the races is often less than the difference between the families or individuals of the same race, and is manifested in action mainly as a difference in temperament and ideals.—London Spectator.

Electrical Eels.

These creatures are well known as among the curiosities of the streams of tropical South America. A more particular account of them, by an English naturalist who had much experience of their nature and habits, will be of interest.

They are of all sizes, from a foot to six feet in length, and are frequently caught on lines which are set for other fishes. They are sometimes eaten, but not often, though their flesh is said to be good.

Horses as well as men, on coming in contact with them in the water, are not unfrequently thrown down by the shock. They are called by the inhabitants "treme-treme." In rainy weather those who fish in these rivers often receive a shock, which is communicated along the moisture upon the rod and line, when one of them happens to seize the hook.

I saw one in a state of captivity. It was about six feet long, and was so tame that it would allow any one to put his hand upon it, and would even slide for its whole length through the fingers. If it was irritated in the smallest degree, however, by no matter how slight a pinch, it instantly communicated a smart shock.—Youth's Companion.

How Do You Wear Out Shoes?

The nature of a person can be told by the way he or she wears the soles of his or her shoes. A sole and heel that are badly worn on the outsides toward the rear corners indicate a very passionate person, who is generally enthusiastic and believes in performing his duties very rapidly. Such persons proceed up the ladder of fame by jumps, filling the highest positions of the profession which they follow. Not working for money, they only care for glory, which want is never satisfied. Such men were Alexander the Great, Grant, Bonaparte and others.

An even worn sole indicates an even going person, who climbs up the ladder of fame very slowly, accumulating a fortune as he climbs. Such men become our millionaires, but are seldom noted for their valorous deeds. A sole of which the toe end is badly worn often indicates a crook or other criminal. A sole worn on the inside indicates a person with very little ambition. Such a person is contented whatever his lot in life may be, and he cares very little for the outside world. —Toronto Mail.

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT,
BENJAMIN HARRISON,
OF INDIANA.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT:
WHITELAW REID,
OF NEW YORK

Call for Republican County Convention.

A delegate convention of the Republican party of Clallam county is hereby called, by order of the Republican Central Committee, to meet in the opera house of the city of Port Angeles, on at 10 o'clock a. m., of said day for the purpose of electing three delegates and three alternates to the Republican state convention to be held in the city of Olympia on the 10th day of Aug., A. D 1892, and also to place in nomination a Republican county ticket to be voted for at the next general election to be held on Tuesday, the 8th day of November next, as follows:

One Representative, one Superior Judge, one County Clerk, one County Auditor, one Sheriff, one County Prosecuting Attorney, one Treasurer, one Assessor, one County Surveyor, one County Superintendent of Schools, one Coroner and three County Commissioners, and also to select County Republican Central Committee for the ensuing two years, and to transact any and all other business as may come before said county convention.

The basis for the election of delegates to said county convention is one delegate at large for each voting precinct in said county, with the exception of the precincts of Blynn, East Dickey, East Clallam, Carver, Geraghty, Belleview, Soleduck, Dungeness, Coleville and La Push which are given two delegates at large to each of said precincts, and the further representation of one vote for every 20 votes, or a fraction of 10 or more, cast for Jno. L. Wilson for congress, at the last general election held in November, 1890. Upon such a basis of representation the whole number of delegates in such convention allowed will be sixty-eight, and each precinct will be entitled to delegates as follows:

Port Angeles No. 1, 5; Port Angeles No. 2, 4; Geraghty 2, Carver 2, Dungeness 4, Sequim 3, Port Crescent 4, Gettysburg 2, Edgewood 3, Blynn 2, Beaver 3, Pysht 2, Clallam Bay 2, Neah Bay 1, Forks 1, Quillayute 2, Shuwah 1, Eden 1, Rena 1, Lost Mt. 1, Belleview 2, Coleville 2, Fairholm 1, McDonald 1, Soleduck 2, East Clallam 2, Osett 1, Norman 1, La Push 2, East Dickey 2, Kennel (Pt. Angeles No. 3) 5. Total, 68.

It is recommended by the Central Committee that the members of the central committee for each of the above named precincts take steps to have this call made known and that the republicans of said precincts, and all those who will affiliate with us, meet at the usual voting precincts established by the county commissioners—on Saturday, the 23rd day of July, A. D. 1892, at any time most convenient, between the hours of one and eight o'clock p. m., to be designated by the members of the county central committee and made known and at such time elect delegates in number for each of said precincts as above named. In case of absence, sickness, or for any other cause, the precinct committeemen do not attend to said election of said delegate as above recommended, then in that event, the republicans of said precinct are urged to take concerted action as deemed best, and have the precinct represented in said county convention in numbers which they are entitled under this call.

THE people of Port Angeles were assisted in their commemoration of our national holiday by a boat load of Victorians numbering about twelve hundred. They arrived at Port Angeles at 10 o'clock on the morning of the Fourth on the commodious and elegant steamer Yosemite, and took their departure at the hour of nine in the evening.

THE people of the state of Washington are to be congratulated upon the mild and pleasant climate with which they have been blessed during the past few months, while in the states of the Mississippi valley and the western states, cyclones and storms and floods have been raging in all their fury, doing much damage to cities and farm improvements, and in many places totally destroying the growing crops.

UNDER the call of the Republican State Central Committee, the state convention of Republicans to nominate two congressmen, a full state ticket and presidential electors, will be held at the city of Olympia on Wednesday, August 10th, 1892. Clallam county is entitled to three delegates to the state convention.

The state committee recommends that each county convention elect alternates as well as delegates, so that each county may be represented only by its duly elected delegates, or alternates in case the delegate elect is unable to attend.

REPUBLICANS of Seattle are now booming the name of John R. Kinnear as nominee for governor at the coming state convention. Mr. Kinnear is well and favorably known all over the state, and if nominated for that position, he will no doubt secure the full measure of the support of his party.

REPORTS concerning the prospects of the grain crops in eastern Washington are most flattering. The acreage in that section of country is far in excess of that of any previous year, and if the farmers can but secure for their yield the prices they received last fall, the eastern portion of the state will witness an era of unexampled prosperity.

THE Tribune-Times has a stock cut of the Brownie variety which is run in its columns by the editor on every possible occasion, and sometimes when there is no occasion. The last person it was supposed to represent was Mr. Troy, of the Democrat. Why it was not used on Col. Coolican's return should be explained by Bro. Ulmer and an apology tendered the Col. for the oversight. This cut is now entitled to a pension for term of service and should be placed on the retired list by the Tribune, along with the collection of dilapidated "gang" roosters.

A NEW SECRETARY OF STATE.

The nomination of John W. Foster, of Indiana, as secretary of state to take the place of Mr. Blaine has been confirmed by the Senate.

Mr. Foster was born in Pike county, Indiana, March 2, 1836, and has held many high and important positions in the public service. In 1873, President Grant appointed him minister to Mexico, and was again appointed to the same position in 1880 by President Hayes. He was soon afterward appointed to the Russian post, but resigned in a short time after the appointment. He has also filled the position of minister to Spain under the appointment of President Arthur. Recently Mr. Foster has been in the employ of the State department, principally in the negotiations of reciprocity tre ties with foreign nations. He is a lawyer of ability, thoroughly versed in the principles of international law, having acted as counsel for foreign countries in several important cases before courts of arbitration. He is also a veteran of the late civil war and rose to the rank of colonel of an Indiana regiment. He is well qualified for the position to which he has been appointed and will no doubt serve the country acceptably.

STEWART'S FREE COINAGE BILL.

On July first, the Senate of the United States passed a free coinage silver bill. The bill provides that the owner of silver bullion, whether of domestic or foreign production, may deposit the same in any mint of the United States and have the same coined into standard silver dollars in accordance with the Act of 1878, free of charge.

The bill repeals the Sherman Act of July 14th, 1890, which provides for the purchase by the secretary of the treasury of 4,500,000 ounces of silver each month and the issue of treasury notes therefor.

The bill has been sent to the House, and the country may expect another lively fight upon this measure, in which will be employed all the parliamentary tactics that can be brought to bear by the free silver Democrats of that body to to force the House to a vote before the close of the present session. If the bill should take its course in the regular order of business upon the calendar, after the report of the coinage committee, it is highly improbable that it will be reached before the close of the first session of the Fifty-second Congress. But, goaded to desperation by their unsuccessful attempt to force a vote on the recent House bill, the free silver Democrats will use every means in their power to secure from the committee on rules a special order to bring the bill to a speedy vote.

LAKE WASHINGTON CANAL.

The Senate conferes on the river and harbor bill have refused to agree to the Senate amendments providing appropriations for the Lake Washington canal.

This is a defeat of the measure in the present Congress. But provision has been made in the bill for the appointment of another commission, four of whom are to be army officers, whose duty it shall be to examine and report upon the feasibility of the proposed opening of the canal.

The failure of the conference committee to agree upon this improvement is due no doubt to opposition to the measure from localities in the state which are envious of Seattle's prosperity and the immediate benefit she will derive from the completion of this work. Although the legislature of the state of Washington at its last session memorialized Congress to open this canal, which memorial received the support of the representatives of Pierce and Spokane counties, yet during the pendency of the bill in conference, strong petitions remonstrating against the opening of the canal were received from these counties as well as from other portions of the state. While no doubt Seattle would be greatly benefitted by the opening of this canal, this by no means proves that it would not be a great benefit to the commerce of the entire state of Washington.

Our Letter From Shuwah.

News items from Shuwah are "like hens' teeth, few and far between," with a decided emphasis on the few. We live by the river Solduck, having only an occasional fresh breath from the outside world, through the mail carriers and from the busy, energetic Quillayute. The latter is always booming something, either a plank road from Clallam Bay or a railroad from Gray's Harbor. Just at present it is the plank road, and the gentleman with whom we were speaking not long since seemed quite confident that before long Quillayute mail and travel would all come by way of the Dicky road from Clallam. Keep bravely on, Sister Quillayute; have your roads. We will get our bridges and in some way manage to connect them.

The bridge over the Solduck is going forward rapidly, the timber being nearly all ready to put in. Seemingly it will not be long before travelers to Forks can cross one river with dry feet. That is what we need—roads and bridges—to make a delightful place of the valleys west of the Olympics. Some fine farms with good crops on them are situated along the river, also fine timber, and having all natural advantages, as soon as it has communication with some good, growing place it will be a settlement of wealth and prosperity.

The Shuwah school was organized Monday morning, June 20th, for a three months' term. It will be taught by Miss Maxfield, of Quillayute.

How shall we spend our 4th? is the great question of the hour. There will be a grand celebration at La Push and probably a picnic at Quillayute and a dance at Beaver. We remember the time all the people in the valley gathered around one table on our national holiday. But "old times have changed" and this year there will be a number of tables required.

Messrs. Morse and Thompson, of Angeles and Dungeness, respectively, went through on their way to Quillayute. They were looking for a new road home as our county road from Pysht was not exactly as they expected to find it.

However, those who wish to find the country at its best should visit it now.

Wedding Bells.

Mr. Sam'l Woodcock, of Dungeness, was married to Miss Emma Young, of Eureka, Cal., at Trinity church in Seattle, Sunday, June 26th, Rev. Watson officiating. The happy couple arrived here yesterday and were tendered a serenade by the boys last night. This is the first time the BEACON has had an opportunity to extend congratulations to a newly married couple and it takes pleasure in assuring Mr. and Mrs. Woodcock of its best wishes for their happiness and prosperity.

We Are Here to Stay.

It is reported that the DUNGENESS BEACON is to be moved to Port Angeles.—Daily Tribune.

This is a contemptible lie manufactured for the purpose of injuring our subscription list, and the Tribune is fully aware of it. The Tribune may be assured that this paper will not be a fake, as was the Clallam Bay Republican which the Tribune established at Clallam and grandiloquently announced that it was there to stay; and it did stay—two weeks. This paper will not follow that example, but will stay right here in Dungeness, which we assure the Tribune is a very nice little town (we give the latter information because we are certain that the Tribune's representative did not see all of the town's fine points when he was here). Our subscription list will continue to grow in spite of the Tribune's misleading statements.

Press Notices.

The DUNGENESS BEACON has just commenced to shed its rays of light upon the newspaper world.—Tacoma Daily News.

Joe M. Ballinger, an experienced newspaper man, well and favorably known on the Sound, has established the BEACON, a republican paper, at Dungeness.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

The first number of the BEACON, a neat, new republican paper published at Dungeness, has been received. R. C. Wilson and Joe M. Ballinger are respectively the proprietor and managing editor.—Tacoma Sunday Herald.

The DUNGENESS BEACON is the latest addition to our exchange list. Dungeness is a small but growing settlement on the straits, and the BEACON has a call to keep order in the republican ranks in Clallam county.—Mason County Journal.

The first issue of the DUNGENESS BEACON came to hand Sunday. It is a six-column folio and quite neatly got up. R. C. Wilson is the proprietor and Joe M. Ballinger manager. It claims to be Republican in politics.—Port Angeles Daily Tribune.

The DUNGENESS BEACON, a six-column folio, has made its appearance with R. C. Wilson, Esq., as proprietor and Joe M. Ballinger as managing editor. The initial number was issued last Friday and is replete with news and champions Dungeness' progress with vigor.—Port Crescent Leader.

Vol. 1, No. 1, of DUNGENESS BEACON, published at Dungeness, Wash., with Joe M. Ballinger, editor, is at hand. The BEACON has a fine appearance in its make-up and we wish it success in its career. Dungeness will find the BEACON one of the best institutions within her borders when it comes to building up the town in material things.—San Juan Graphic.

Dungeness has a newspaper, and it is a very creditable issuance. The new paper made its appearance on Friday. It is a six-column, patent outside folio and is called the DUNGENESS BEACON. The local columns are well filled with newsy, spicy items. The editorial columns are vigorously and clearly edited, and proclaim the cause and the interest of the republican party. The editor and manager is Mr. Joe M. Ballinger, late of Port Angeles.—Port Angeles Democrat.

The bridge across Myers' creek on the county road, built by Burlingame was burned Wednesday. Some of the settlers in that vicinity were clearing and burning and the fire got beyond their control.

Work on the race track has been discontinued, for some reason, and there will be no celebration here on the Fourth. Quite a number of our citizens will take in the festivities at Angeles, and as a picnic is to be held in the grove here a number will stay at home and spend the day quietly.

Most of the residents of the old town of Dungeness are now on the move or preparing to emigrate to the new town. H. J. Lipsett moved his household goods and family yesterday and is now quartered in the new hotel building. The Mercantile Co. are moving to-day. Fred Ward will get here to-morrow. Geo. Hunt and family will arrive Tuesday. The church may be a little slow, but it will get here just the same.

The Mitchell Wagon takes the lead. For sale at Farmers' Mercantile Co.

The Mercantile Co. dedicated their new store building last night by giving a complimentary dance, which was attended by a large number of our people. Everyone who attended voted the evening a decidedly enjoyable one and expressions of gratitude to Mr. Church and the Company were heard on all sides. Supper was served at Cays' dining room at 12 o'clock. The most conspicuous feature of the ball was H. J.'s absence.

A Road to Texas Valley.

A very much needed improvement and one that would be of vast benefit to a great number of settlers in the region known as the Texas Valley, as well as those along the line, is a road to the thriving settlement in Texas Valley, start at Dungeness and following the river on the east side, along the section line, as far as Grant's cedar belt; there bridging the river and continuing on the west side in a straight line to the objective point. This road can be built at a small cost, bridge and all, and would be of vast importance to this section of the county, as it would open up a rich region all along the route and give an outlet to the settlers in the Valley, which comprise no small number and are increasing every day. The settlers are very anxious for a road and have volunteered to assist in making the road without any compensation whatever, save the great benefit they would derive from it. The road would be on an easy grade all the way; in fact very little grading would be necessary, hence the small cost of the undertaking. Mr. H. J. Lipsett, who has been quietly working on this matter for some time with a view to getting the road opened at as early a date as possible, states that a survey has been made from the Texas Valley on the line of the proposed road nearly to the point on the river where a bridge would be necessary.

The advantages of such a road are manifold. Dungeness would be the trading point for that community, and that fact alone should interest everyone in this locality who has the welfare of our little city at heart and who wish to see it grow and prosper. None of the farmers in that section would care to drive over the hilly road to Angeles, a distance of 18 or 20 miles, in order to lay in supplies, when they could trade at a point only 8½ miles distant to which there is a good road.

It is understood that a petition for a post office in the Valley has been circulated and the people in that section are awaiting the advent of a road from this place to give them good mail service. The mail route could then be extended from Long Prairie to Texas Valley, and with a little effort Rena, Texas Valley, Sequim and Blynn could have a daily mail service, as it is only a question of a very short time when mail will be landed at our dock here every day.

Steps should be taken at once in the matter of building this road and the great benefit that would ensue would in a short time convince the most skeptical that money had not been wasted in the work. Good roads are needed in a county more than any other improvement, and the commissioners, who are certainly aware of that fact, would doubtless favor the building of the proposed road if the matter be properly brought to their attention. Let us have the road by all means.

The New School House.

Designs for a new school house in Dungeness were submitted to the board of directors last week and the one furnished by Mr. G. M. Hart, of this place, was chosen for use. Other designs from the Colony at Port Angeles, M. Drysdale, of Port Townsend, and two from Mr. Cummings, of the latter place, were presented.

The plan chosen calls for a building 36x48, two stories, with a school room and cloak rooms on each floor and a class room on the upper floor. Two stairways will furnish ample entrance to the upper floor and sufficient exit in case of fire. Mr. Hart is to be congratulated on his success.

The Entertainment at Sequim.

The Children's Day exercises, "The Pearl Gatherers," which were presented at the church here on Children's Day, June 12th, were repeated at the Sequim school house last Friday evening to a large and appreciative audience. The school house was crowded to the doors with the happy throng which comprised a majority of the residents of Sequim and a good-sized contingent of Dungeness people. The entertainment was given under the auspices of the M. E. church and the proceeds devoted to the increase of the benevolent fund. An ice cream supper was also given in connection, the proceeds of which were used for church purposes. All who attended were highly pleased with the evening's entertainment.

Supt. A. B. Dorsey's school at Sequim closes to-day. Mr. Dorsey will go at once to Angeles, where he will hold teachers' institute on July 11th. At the close of the institute he will visit schools in the western part of the county.

COUNTY NEWS.

The Clallam Bay extract works shut down last week, having exhausted the supply of hemlock bark.

The ball to be held at East Clallam on the Fourth of July will have a novel feature. A town lot will be given to the belle of the evening.

Pres. Troy, who is home from the law school at Ann Arbor for the summer vacation, has been selected as one of the speakers at the celebration at Angeles on the Fourth of July.

The city council of Port Angeles has decided not to appropriate funds for the celebration on the 4th. The committee's offer that the councilmen might wear badges on that day did not prove sufficiently alluring.

Every day or so the improvements of some squatter on the reservation at Angeles go up in smoke, but the good work of clearing the lots by fire goes on. A great cloud of smoke is constantly hanging over the city or drifting off to the east.

Sheriff Gould has received an invitation from Sheriff Price, of Tacoma, to attend the execution of a criminal in that city to-day. The invitation is printed in script with gold letters on a black card and a photograph of the condemned man adorns one corner of the card.

The county is indebted to the Port Angeles Fire Department for saving the court house and public records last Saturday. The department is well officered and the members work earnestly. The county as well as the city is to be congratulated on the possession of such a useful and efficient organization.

An Invitation From Sequim.

The following invitation is received by this office for publication just as we go to press:

The people of Sequim have just finished their large, commodious hall and extend an invitation to the people of Dungeness and the county in general to be present at their grand opening ball to be given July 4th.

They all Testify To the Efficacy of the World-Renowned Swift's Specific.

The old-time simple remedy from the Georgia swamps and fields has gone forth to the antipodes, astonishing the skeptical and confounding the theories of those who depend solely on the physician's skill. There is no blood taint which it does not immediately eradicate. Poisons outwardly absorbed or the result of vile diseases from within all yield to this potent but simple remedy. It is an unequaled tonic, builds up the old and feeble, cures all diseases arising from impure blood or weakened vitality. Send for a treatise. Examine the proof.

Analyzing Motion.

The method of analyzing motion by the chronophotograph, which has been so happily applied by M. Marey in the case of moving animals, such as horses running or birds and insects in flight, has been employed by M. G. Demeny to examine the movements of the lips in speaking. He has obtained results which show that the form of the mouth is quite definite for the different articulate sounds.

With these photographs combined in a zeotrope he has reproduced the movement of the lips by synthesis. An ordinary person finds it difficult to read the words by the animated pictures; but a deaf mute who has been accustomed to read from the lips of a speaker finds it easy to do so from photographs.—New York Telegram.

Yeast and Typhoid Fever.

Yeast has been successfully tried as a remedy for typhoid fever by Drs. Embling, Lempriere, and Thomson, of the Alfred hospital, Melbourne. Thirty-seven cases were treated, ten being severe, the temperatures reaching 104 degs.; eight were moderate, the temperatures being 103 degs.; eleven were mild and eight were very mild, the temperatures reaching 102 degs. In every case the recovery took place without a relapse. There is a theory to the effect that relapses are due to re-infection from the intestine, and Dr. Thomson remarks in his report that yeast should destroy the bacilli in the intestinal tube, and so prevent re-infection.—London Tit-Bits.

How Birds Kill Snails.

Thrushes and other birds crush the shells of land snails and extract their juicy bodies, as do also raccoons and wood rats, but woodland birds will not eat naked snails, because the slime on them sticks to their beaks and spoils their feathers.—Washington Star.

The Wrong Prescription.

A Connecticut woman sent her little son to the drug store for paregoric and licorice, and the youngster somewhat startled the clerk by requesting a fifteen cent pair of garters and a necklace.—Pharmaceutical Era.

Ask your doctor what happens to cod-liver oil when it gets inside of you.

He will say it is shaken and broken up into tiny drops, becomes an emulsion; there are other changes, but this is the first.

He will tell you also that it is economy to take the oil broken up, as it is in Scott's Emulsion, rather than burden yourself with this work. You skip the taste too.

Let us send you an interesting book on CAREFUL LIVING; free.

"German Syrup"

My acquaintance with Boschee's German Syrup was made about fourteen years ago. I contracted a cold which resulted in a hoarseness and cough which disabled me from filling my pulpit for a number of Sabbaths. After trying a physician, without obtaining relief I saw the advertisement of your remedy and obtained a bottle. I received quick and permanent help. I never hesitate to tell my experience. Rev. W. H. Haggerty, Martinsville, N. J.

THE MILLION DOLLAR MANTLE.

A Priceless Garment That Has Enveloped the Forms of Hawaiian Kings.

A valuable collection of Hawaiian feather war cloaks and capes is on exhibition at the National museum. One of the cloaks, the largest in the collection, is of immense value. It is known as the "million dollar mantle." It once enveloped the kingly form of Kekuaskalian, one of the highest chiefs of the Sandwich islands, in whose reign it was completed nearly a hundred years after it was begun. Upon the death of Kekuaskalian, who fell in battle, it became the property of his enemy, King Kamehameha III, by whom it was presented to Captain J. H. Aulick, of the United States navy.

The foundation of this most remarkable cloak is a network of olona or "native hemp," and to it are attached by threads of the same material feathers of native birds found only in the Hawaiian islands. The entire body of the mantle is made up of small red and yellow feathers, the latter ones being obtained from the Oo or Uho (Moo nobilis), a bird extremely rare and possessing but one or two of these yellow feathers which are found under the wings. This bird is captured alive by means of the "lime trap," and when deprived of the precious feathers is set at liberty. Great prize is put on these feathers by the crown. They are used as money in buying and selling, and are accepted by the government in payment of taxes. The red feathers are obtained from the most abundant bird of the islands, the Drepanis coccinea.

In the "million dollar mantle" the feathers are placed so as to overlap, thus giving a smooth surface to the exterior of the cloak. The upper and lateral borders of the mantle are decorated with alternate tufts of red, yellow and black feathers, but only on the margin are the black feathers used, which are obtained from the Uho. In the center of the mantle is a large crescent shaped figure of yellow feathers, surrounded by a belt of red, which blends in the middle of the belt on either side with a succeeding stripe of red, the outer margins of which are divided by two wedge shaped processes of yellow.

From this last named figure on either side to the circumferences are alternate parallel stripes of yellow and red about six inches broad. The upper circumference of the cloak, where it fastens about the neck, is about twenty inches, the lower one being seven or seven and a half feet, thus forming a cloak capable of amply enveloping a very large person. The mantle is protected by a handsome case and its beauty advantageously displayed by a background of blue velvet.

There are two other capes in the collection, very much smaller, and two boas. The larger of the capes is little more than a collar, its upper and lower circumferences being but seventeen and sixty-six inches, respectively. The entire body is of yellow feathers, having but two small crescents of red in the center.

The remaining cape, virtually a red one, has only two small designs of yellow feathers and consequently is much less valuable.

The boas made from the feathers of the Uho are about two feet in length, and fasten about the neck with hempen cords.

The feather garments were at one time considered the greatest possessions of the crown, but the costumes of European and American manufacture have superseded them, and they are no longer manufactured on the islands.—Washington Post.

Letter Writing in America.

Americans are the greatest letter writing people on the globe. Of the fifty odd billion pieces of mail which are posted in the world every year nearly 3,000,000,000 go through the postoffices of the United States. We spend every year more than $52,000,000 for postage, and during the year 1891 American tongues licked the backs of $37,000,000 worth of sticky stamps.

The postage stamps sold every year the world over far surpasses in value the riches of Jay Gould or the Rothschilds, and the postage stamp industry of the world is one of the greatest factors in the machinery which moves the universe today. And yet postage stamps are of comparatively recent origin. It is barely fifty years ago since they were first used in England, and in 1817 congress first authorized their use in the United States.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Biggest Umbrella in the World.

It is said that the biggest umbrella in the world has been made for the use of a west African king. The umbrella, which can be closed in the usual manner, is twenty-one feet in diameter and is affixed to a polished mahogany staff of the same length. The canopy is made of India straw, and has a score of straw tassels and a border of crimson satin. On the top is a pine shaped straw ornament which terminates in a gilded cone. When in use the umbrella is fixed in the ground, and under its shelter the king is able to entertain thirty guests at dinner.—Dry Goods Chronicle.

The Phœnix of Arabia.

In olden times a bird called a "phœnix" was thought to live in the deserts of Arabia. His lease of life was said to be 500 years, at the end of which time he built a nest of spices and fanned it into a flame with his wings. The flame reduced the bird to ashes, out of which he sprung to live another 500 years. Richardson says that he had fifty orifices in his beak, through which he sung melodious airs.—St. Louis Republic.

An Abbe's Retort.

Some of those terrible market women of Paris were "cheeking" the Abbe Maury good humoredly. "You speak like an angel, M. l'Abbe, but spite of it all you are a fool." "Quite right, mesdames," he replied, "but one does not die for that!"—Gentleman's Magazine.

Don't call the Chinese "Mongolians." It is better to reserve the latter name for the people who live north of China proper.

Catcher Flint's Wonderful Hands.

Charles Seymour, the newspaper man, used to tell a story about Catcher Flint. When the Chicago Ball club called on the president in Washington each member of course shook hands with the executive. When the president's hand was released by "Old Silver" the president was seen to quickly thrust it into the pocket of his coat. Then he felt about in his pocket a bit, took his hand out and looked at it with some surprise, remarking, "Oh, I beg pardon; I thought you had given me a handful of walnuts."—Chicago Post.

Three Small Trees.

Keampfer is quoted as describing a trio of trees he saw in a box 1½ inches broad, 4 inches long and 3 inches deep, for which the owner asked the traveler the modest sum of $500. The three denizens of the box were a bamboo, a monthly blooming plum tree and a blue leafed pine, all perfectly formed and seemingly enjoying their dwarfed existence.—St. Louis Republic.

Taking Her Down.

Mamma—Why, what for?

Little Dot—Susie Stuckup has a new doll 'at shuts its eyes an cries "Wah, wah!" I'm doin to betend the baby is a doll and let her hear him yell. Then I dess she'll stop puttin on airs.—Good News.

Horse Sense.

As regards color, gray horses live longest, roan horses nearly as long. Cream colored horses are deficient of staying power, especially in summer weather. Bays, on an average, are the best. Horses with black hoofs are stronger and tougher than others.—Rider and Driver.

Wanted the Needles.

A man customer in a Boston store would not purchase an electric belt because it did not have all those needles sticking out in every direction from it, such as pictured in the papers.—Pharmaceutical Era.

The earliest coinage that can be called American was ordered by the Virginia company, and was minted in the Bermudas in 1612. But then, and for long afterward, the standard currency of Virginia was tobacco.

Conch shells, when ground, enter into the manufacture of porcelain. The rose colored pearls of the pink conch are very valuable, and have a beautiful wavy sheen like that of watered silk.

An English clergyman whose advertisement has more than once appeared in a London paper nets a nice sum annually by the sale of a special breed of puppies.

THE BEST IN THE WORLD.

Senator Henry C. Nelson of New York writes:

"On the 27th of February, 1883, I was taken with a violent pain in the region of the kidneys. I suffered such agony that I could hardly stand up. As soon as possible I applied two ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS, one over each kidney, and lay down. In an hour, to my surprise and delight, the pain had vanished and I was well. I wore the plasters for a day or two as a precaution, and then removed them. I have been using ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS in my family for the last ten years, and have always found them the quickest and best external remedy for colds, strains and rheumatic affections. From my experience I believe they are the best plasters in the world."

A Neat Summing Up.—In the Dr. Briggs case it now looks as though they had a creed to disagree.

Now is the time to treat catarrh of long standing. Ely's Cream Balm reaches old and obstinate cases, where all other remedies fail. Do not neglect procuring a bottle, as in it lies the relief you seek.

Rev. H. H. Fairall, D. D., editor of the Iowa Methodist, says editorially: "We have tested the merits of Ely's Cream Balm, and believe that by a thorough course of treatment it will cure almost every case of catarrh. Ministers as a class are afflicted with head and throat troubles, and catarrh seems more prevalent than ever. We cannot recommend Ely's Cream Balm too highly."

Apply Balm into each nostril. It is quickly absorbed. Gives relief at once. Price, 50 cents at druggists' or by mail.

MANY SUCH.

A group of mechanics was seated in the engine-room when one said: "How was it Tom?" "I was caught up, slapped 'gainst the ceiling and whirled down to the floor. I lay there like one dead, and every muscle was sprained. I was cured in one day." What cured him?

ACROSS THE DEEP, TO THE FAR WEST,

On steamboats, cars and stage coaches, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is carried as the most important item in the materia medica of the traveling public. It deprives vitiated, brackish water of its hurtful properties and execrable flavor, counteracts the pernicious effects upon the stomach of bad or indigestible food, remedies cramps, heartburn and wind upon the stomach. It is a fine defense against malarial disorders, nullifies the effects of excessive heat, cold and damp, relieves sick headaches, and is an incomparable cure for costiveness and biliousness. The fatigue of travel often tells most disastrously upon invalids and convalescents, occasionally to such an extent as to jeopardize life. Persons in feeble health, apprehensive of bad effects from travel, will, if provided with the Bitters, be far less likely to have their fears realized.

A Small Mistake.—"That's an A 1 dog of yours," said a bystander. "I thought he was a K 9," said the owner.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer $100 for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Ward off disease by removing the cause of it. It's with the liver or the blood, nine times out of ten. A sluggish liver makes bad blood—and bad blood makes trouble. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes pure blood. It invigorates the liver and kidneys, rouses every organ into healthful action, and cleanses and renews the whole system. Through the blood it cures. For Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness, Scrofulous, Skin and Scalp Diseases—even Consumption (or Lung-scrofula) in its earlier stages, it's a certain remedy.

Nothing else is "just as good." Anything "just as good" could be sold just as this is. It's the only blood-purifier that's guaranteed to benefit or cure, in every case, or the money is refunded.

The catarrh that isn't cured costs $500. Not to you, but to the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. They promise to pay you the money, if you have an incurable case.

They don't believe that you have one.
