OBNOXIOUS ROAD LAW

CASH POLL TAX MUST BE PAID OR BECOME A LIEN ON PROPERTY

Districts that Have Been Economical Will Have to Help Pay the Debts of the Spendthrifts—Every Feature of the Law Has Been Overwhelmingly Denounced Where the People Have Voted Upon It—Appointees Take Office January First Next.

The state legislature just adjourned is responsible for the following acts which affect the laws which apply to local conditions and are therefore of special local interest.

Probably the most important, albeit the most disastrous for the smaller counties in the state, is the passage of the road law, which was declared unconstitutional two years ago because of the provision making it optional to adopt. This is house bill 105 which the commissioners wired to Olympia to our representatives asking them to do all they could to secure its passage, and provides for the payment of $2. cash poll tax by all males residing out-side of cities over 21 and under 50 years of age; said collections to be paid into district road and bridge funds in which same are collected. Road supervisors under the present elective system, are done away with and the commissioners are empowered to divide the county into not to exceed four districts, and to "appoint" a supervisor in each district at not to exceed $4. per day; whose duties it will be to patrol the various roads and eat up the funds that should be used to repair same. They will meet with the board and the county surveyor at the regular April meeting and outline the improvements to be made. All funds shall be expended under the direction of the board. All funds of the OLD districts are to be placed into the NEW district funds, and other funds will be derived for an assessment of 4 mills for general road and bridge funds and 10 mills for district road funds. It may be expected the commissioners will lose no time in making the change as the law practically gives that body power to build a very powerful machine.

Another bill of local interest is the Act providing that "Any person who shall conduct, maintain or operate either as owner, proprietor, lessee, employe or agent, any nickel-in the-slot machine, or other device of like character, wherein there enters an element of chance, whether the same be played or operated for money, checks, credits or any other representative of value, or for any property or thing of value whatever, shall be punished upon conviction by a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $100," in default of payment to be imprisoned.

The gambling bill provides that "any persons who shall conduct, carry on, open, or cause to be opened, either as owner, proprietor, employe or assistant, or in any manner whatever, whether for hire or not, any game of faro, monte, roulette, rouge et noir, lansquenette, rondo, vingt-un (or 21), poker, draw-poker, brag, bluff, thaw, tan, or any banking or other game played with cards, dice, or any other device, or any slot machine, or other gambling device, whether the same be played or operated for money, checks, credit, or any other representative or thing of value, in any house, room, shop, or other building whatsoever, boat, booth, garden or other place, where persons resort for the purpose of playing, dealing or operating any such game, machine or device, shall be guilty of a felony, and upon conviction thereof shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary, for not less than one nor more than three years."

The game law was amended making it a misdemeanor to take or kill moose, elk, caribou or antelope before the 1st of September 1908, and names the closed season as follows:

Deer—Dec. 1 to Sept. 1.

Grouse, pheasant, partridge, prairie chicken, sage hen, ptarigan—Jan. 1 to Sept. 1, and the number is limited to ten a day at any time.

Ducks—March 1, to Sept. 1.

Quail—Jan. 1, to Sept 15.

Imported Pheasant or Quail—Until Sept. 1906

Sale of any game at any time is prohibited and hotel or restaurant keepers having same in their possession for sale shall be equally guilty with the seller.

H. B. 286 gives mayors of cities of the 3d class power to appoint the marshal, street commissioner, engineer and pound master, and such police officers as necessary. All appointments to be confirmed by council.

H. B. 145 as amended provides that when FIFTY per cent. of the electors of any county shall petition for the submission of the question as to whether intoxicating liquors shall be sold in the county a special election shall be held, and if any section votes against such sale no license shall be issued.

H. B 397 amends the tax laws limiting assessments as follows: Indebtedness fund, 5 mills; current expense, 8 mills; road tax, 5 mills; bridge tax 3 mills.

As a substitute for House Bill No. 30, and other bills, the committee on appropriations submitted a measure which was adopted carrying an appropriation of $13,500 "for a wagon road in Jefferson, Clallam and Chehalis counties, beginning at the city of Montesano, in Chehalis county, running thence west to Aberdeen, thence to Hoquiam, thence northerly to Humptulips, and the Quinault post office, continuing northerly to Bogachiel and on to Forks, thence northeasterly over the county road to Pysht, thence easterly to a connection with the county road leading westerly from Port Angeles.

The bill provides for the appointment of a highway commissioner who is to apportion the amounts to be expended in each county interested, whereupon the commissioners of each county are to order a route surveyed where necessary. The bill has a string to it whereby the route selected and the plans of construction must be deemed feasible by the highway commissioner and the county must appropriate one-half as much as its apportionment to help in the construction of the road.

Besides being instrumental in securing the passage of the last mentioned bill and the road bill, Mr. Palmer secured an amendment to the general appropriation bill, which allows $3,000 for the establishment of a trout hatchery on Lake Crescent. The details are left to the fish commissioner.

So Sweet and Pleasing in Taste!

Mr. C. Peterson, 622 Lake St., Topeka speaking of Ballard's Horehound Syrup, says: "It has never failed to give entire satisfaction, and of all cough remedies, it is my favorite, and I must confess to my many friends that it will do, and has done, what is claimed for it—speedily cure a cough or cold; and it is so sweet and pleasing in taste." 25c. 50 and $1 00 bottle at C.E. There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

COUNCIL ROUTINE.

The city council met in regular session Wednesday with Mayor Lewis and all members present. Only routine business was transacted.

A petition from Ole Martinsen et al., setting forth that a dangerous landslide is threatened on south side of gulch at Albert street unless water is turned down 7th street, as originally ordered by council. Referred to street committee. Road to cannery was ordered repaired at a cost of $7.

The city attorney reported in matter of city's liability for the care of city poor, giving it as his opinion that the city is not liable for the care of city poor; and recommending that if council concludes to take his view it should notify the commissioners at once that after July 1st they will have to take care of those now on city rolls. The recommendation was ordered carried out.

The attorney also reported that a "house of ill-fame" had again been established in the city after a lapse of many years and he deemed it his duty to notify the council. He had already notified the owner of the premises of the lease made in contravention of law, but had as yet no word as to any action being taken. He passed the question up to the council to order the marshal to investigate and if found correct to close the establishment.

Mr Hallahan thought the report a very odd one. He had lived in the city for many years and he had never known of any such house to exist. He now has no knowledge of any such house.

The council was evidently of the mind that it should take no initiatory steps of investigation and the matter was dropped

The Merchants' Wharf Co. submitted plans and specifications for the proposed wharf at Oak street. The same being approved by the city engineer and the council having examined same, the plans were approved by that body.

The following bills were allowed:

R. A. McLaughlin, supplies	$ 13 55
H. S. Mitchell, wood, light plant	111 20
A. L. Johnson, livery	3 00
St. Com. and men, since work	48 55
New bills:
Lauridsen, oil	7 95
W. H. Clegg, work on light plant	1 0
Mrs Goenffe, city poor	5 00
Mrs. Miller, T. E Evans, poor	12 00
C. C. Lotlick, care Reynolds	20 00

Mr. Hoare asked for further relief for Mr. Pollock and was directed to present his case to the commissioners, as that body was the proper one to whom to submit such cases.

TAX TITLES ARE NULLIFIED

FURTHER LITIGATION IN CASES OF LAND TAX SALES.

Court Gives Decision Holding that the Original Owners Still Have Rights to the Lands Deeded to the County.

TACOMA, March 14.—(Special,) Judge Huston of the superior court, today gave a decision in the important suit brought by the original owners against County Treasurer Reed, in the matter of his selling the property that has reverted to the county through the nonpayment of taxes. The suit involves a large amount of property which was put up at auction at the tax sales last August, but upon which there were no bidders. The state law governing the tax sales provides that such property shall revert to the county, which is presumed to be a bidder upon such to the amount of the taxes and the accumulated interest. After the official closing of the tax sales August 30 last it was found that a considerable amount of city property and also much rural property had not been bid upon and was accordingly turned over to the county.

Since that time speculators have bought up this property. A number of persons who owned this property protested to Mr. Reed that he had no right to sell it, and suit was brought against him. Judge Huston, in his decision, orders the county treasurer to cancel the tax sales of the character mentioned and turn the property over to the original owners, upon payment by them of the taxes and interest. It is held that those who have paid money into the treasury for this county property, and who now have their holdings swept out of their hands, are left without recourse, except in so far as they can push their claims in the courts against County Treasurer Reed and his bondsmen. It is estimated that the money so paid in will reach between $25,000 and $30,000. This money, which has come in since the tax sales closed August last, has been distributed, some of it going to the state, some to the county roads and to other funds.

Good legal talent declares that Mr. Reed cannot now take the money the original owners will pay into the treasury to wipe off the delinquent taxes on this county land and turn it over to the speculators whose titles are today nullified by the court. Still the county will have received double delinquent tax payment on the land. Instead of clearing up the matter the decision only opens a path for extensive litigation. It is said here that the treasurers in some other counties of the state have been accepting payment on property which has reverted to the county in the same way, and the decision of Judge Huston today will establish a precedent for the handling of such cases.

THE total appropriations of the late legislature aggregate three and a quarter million dollars. One does not have to be advised that everything at Olympia was one-sided, or the politics of that side.

THE delinquent tax list for the year 1896 will be advertised this week in the Courier, where it will be placed as political patronage, the commissioners failing to comply with the law by calling for bids for the publication of this work. There will be about 1,200 descriptions. A list of property deeded to the county for the taxes of 1895 and prior years will be advertised by the treasurer in the same paper. This, too, will be placed without bids, the late legislature having passed a bill with an emergency clause giving the treasurer the right to place it where he pleases at any price. Thus is the path of the opposition press made more burdensome.

THE RECORD.

Measure it from any standpoint or by any standard you will and the eighth legislature, the labors of which came to an end early last Friday morning, was the worst the State of Washington ever had. It cost more and did less; it broke pledges, squandered more of the people's money, and its subserviency to a corrupt and hired lobby was more flagrant than has ever been in the history of the state.

The legislature was bound by the most recently adopted platforms of both the Democratic and Republican parties of the state to do certain well defined things, among which were:

To pass a railroad commission bill.

To pass an anti-free-pass bill, as directed by the state constitution.

To pass an adequate taxation law for the purpose of preventing the tax dodging so largely practiced by the big corporations doing business in the state, including the railroad, the express, the telegraph, the telephone, the Pullman car, the insurance and the refrigerator companies.

The legislature not only failed to pass laws providing for the fulfillment of these pledges, but it voted down the bills that were offered for that purpose.

The state constitution and the federal statutes command that the legislature apportion the state into congressional districts, but a caucus of the Republican members of the two houses voted not to do so, for the sole reason, as expressed by those speaking at the caucus, that would not provide for at least one Democratic congressman.

The state constitution provides that it shall be unlawful for trusts to exist or do business in the state, yet the legislature defeated an anti-trust bill.

In extenuation for the sins of omission and commission, by the legislature, it has been stated that a bill was passed making it a felony to maintain a gambling house, but the legislature followed this up with a refusal to pass a law making a felon of a peace officer who willfully refused to enforce the law.

It has also been urged by some of those of Western Washington that the railroad legislation demanded was not of general interest throughout the state. It is contended that the relief provided by the proposed railroad commission would benefit only Eastern Washington. For the sake of argument, it may be conceded that the state as a whole owes nothing to Eastern Washington; that the privileges of those of that section are confined to paying taxes and that the sole purpose of the commission plank was to induce the farmers to vote the Republican ticket and to send Ankeny senators and representatives to Olympia. However, no one will contend that even such an argument can be applied to any of the other motives in which the legislature betrayed the people of the state. It does not apply to the Warburton tax-commission bill, which was offered for the purpose of compelling the large profit-making corporations to bear their proportions of the burdens of taxation. Governor McBride gave figures to show that railroad property to the value of $200,000,000 was escaping taxation. An average tax on this amount of property would be $7,000,000 per annum. Besides the railroads, the Governor showed that the telegraph, telephone, cold storage, Pullman, and the various insurance and express companies were escaping without anything like adequate taxation. The Governor's contention was admitted to be true by everyone who spoke upon the subject, yet the Warburton tax-commission bill and the Hopp bill for the taxation of express companies were defeated in the senate by almost a party vote, and the farmers and individual tax-payers of the state will continue to dig up $7,000,000 to $10,000,000 annually more than they should.

But the sins of the eighth legislature were not confined to those of commission. The state's money was traded for support for the Republican machine in a most shameful manner. This fact is born out by the appropriation of more than $850,000 more than the anticipated resources of the state. The salaries of nearly all the state officers, whose compensation is not fixed by the constitution, were raised on an average of about 20 per cent. and many institutions got more money than was asked for.

Nor did the extravagance terminate here. The contingent expenses of the legislative session were greater than ever before, notwithstanding that the work accomplished was less. The vigorous opposition of the Democratic minority prevented any expensive junketing trips, and there were no costly investigations or impeachment trials, yet the cost to the state of the recent session was nearly 25 per cent. greater than that of two years ago, and 45 per cent. greater than that of the fusion legislature of 1897, which still holds the state record for economy, notwithstanding that to it was charged up the expensive Coblentz investigation at the state penitentiary, and notwithstanding the further fact that it did more business, passed more laws, defeated more bills and held longer sessions than any other legislature in the state, since the first one, which was in session for five months.

For purpose of comparison, it might be stated that the cost the state of the last five legislatures was, in round numbers, as follows: 1895, $66,000; 1897, $55,000; 1899, $61,000; 1901, $64,000; 1903, $80,000.

This disgraceful record is entirely chargeable to the Republicans, as never was a state served more faithfully than was this commonwealth for the last 60 days by the Democratic minority under the splendid leaderships of Senators Tolman and Graves, and Representatives Cameron, Quinn, MacKenzie and Maloney.

This minority voted almost solidly for the fulfillment of every pledge made to the people, and it was only by a union of the solid Democratic vote with the Republican minority that the gambling, the local option and other decent laws were enacted.

The St. Louis and Port Angeles Investment company, which filed articles of incorporation last Saturday at noon, and which has started out with a capitalization of $150,000 with the avowed intention of building a large three-story brick hotel at Third and Francis streets from brick manufactured here, have added to their original plans and first declarations and now propose that in addition to the big hotel, they will have erected a large brick flat and a new opera house.

The scheme of course if carried to a successful issue is to boom the East End of the city with a view to establishing the business of the city on the east hill, a gigantic task from present view points.

The St. Louis and Port Angeles company has large property holdings in the vicinity of the new proposed buildings, and if their plans materialize it will greatly enhance in value.

It is also the purpose of the company to improve Francis street to the water front and put in a wharf at the foot of the street.

The incorporators named are Geo. B. Reid and H. A. Lingenbrink, of St. Louis; C. P. Brown, of this city. Other St. Louis people interested are A. A. Bausch, Edward Westen, Henry Holbern, W. T. Benson, and others.

It is given out that dirt will be broken Tuesday for the hotel building.

A FAMOUS PHYSICIAN.

Sir Morell MacKenzie was physician to half the crowned heads of Europe. A man so in demand by royalty must have possessed no little skill and, in fact, it is admitted by the doctors, great and small, that for treatment of nose and throat diseases his equal has not appeared.

His particular "Method" pursued in the treatment of catarrh was to induce a normal condition of health in the general system while destroying the disease centers in the nose and throat. It is these centers, which, discharging poisonous mucus, infect the surrounding membranes, the Eustachian Tubes leading to the ears, the Bronchial tubes, the lungs, and gradually, by absorption by the blood, the whole system.

It is necessary first to destroy the germs of disease by persevering application of a powerful antiseptic. Then, the application of a soothing remedy to deal the raw surfaces and pus producing sores is of prime importance.

In every case of catarrh, there is more or less mucus dropping into the throat behind the palate and thence into the stomach. There, the lining membranes are attacked and an inflammation identical with the catarrh in the head is set up. Hence, while local treatment is progressing, internal medication is indicated to neutralize and eliminate this poisonous virus which has entered the system.

Serious Accident.

The first accident on the Port Angeles Pacific railroad took place just this side the mill yesterday morning when Mr. C. Dale, a young man recently from Seattle was caught between the bank and the flatcar by a landslide and badly crushed. He had not been at work two minutes when while passing between the bank and a flatcar which is being used to haul gravel the bank gave way and pinned him to the side of the car badly straining his body. The man was brought down on the train and from the train to the Merchants Hotel on a stretcher where he is now under the doctor's care. It is believed his spinal column is fractured as his lower extremities are totally helpless from paralysis It is thought he will recover but will probably never again be able to do heavy work

WHARF COMPLETE

Locomotive is Now Hauling Gravel From the Vicinity of the Mill For Ballasting.

Work on the Port Angeles Pacific was resumed this week with a short shift, the snow at the further end of the line being yet too deep to permit clearing and grading. At the end, however, the snow is all gone and a crew of men are at work ballasting and perfecting the completed roadway.

The wharf has been completed and the locomotive is now at work hauling gravel for ballasting. A new switch has been put in at the wharf and another just above the brewery.

About twenty men came down from Seattle this week to begin work on the road and at the new logging camp, one of these getting seriously hurt yesterday.

The weather has been grand all week, and Manager Clark says he cannot understand why the snow stays so long with such weather. As soon as possible a larger crew than ever will be put to work clearing and grading.

The locomotive, while built more for passenger than for switching purposes, is a great help and as soon as the snow leaves the far end will greatly facilitate work.

The mill has been closed for a few days because of having run out of logs and the snow having prevented the loggers from working. All work will be resumed next week.

Timbers Ready.

The timbers for the new Merchants' Wharf are fast accumulating at Oak street and work will be begun driving piling early next week. Work will be rushed from then on.

It is refreshing that recent franchises secured are being utilized in the manner for which they were granted and a feeling of confidence in the future is again being restored.

Closes Tomorrow.

The voting contest closes tomorrow afternoon. At this writing there are only two candidates in the field, all others having withdrawn and the vote now stands, Miss Anna Grubb, 100; Miss Hazel Beaman, 285.

A Dastardly Crime.

Last Monday morning while Mrs. Ellsworth Morgan, nee Miss Kilmer, was lying down after breakfast to rest from the fatigue of a sprained ankle she was startled by the appearance of a tall masked man who demanded that she arise and give him some breakfast. She did as requested, and after the fiend had satisfied the inner man, he proceeded to satisfy his lust by criminally assaulting the young woman.

The Morgan home is in the woods this side of the Union shingle mill and as Mr. Morgan had gone to his work at the mill, no help was near. The man escaped and the young woman can give no clew to his identity.

As yet the authorities have made no arrests, though a suspicious party is under surveillance.

Once in a while some one who has traveled to the very edge of the danger line of stomach disease stops just in time to save his health. But the majority of people go across the line, and slight symptoms of indigestion grow to disease of the stomach, involving the other organs of digestion and nutrition.

The first symptom of indigestion should receive prompt attention. Indigestion and other forms of stomach "trouble" are perfectly and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It strengthens the whole body by enabling the perfect digestion and assimilation of food.

"I have been suffering for about eight years," writes Mrs. H. Pierce, of Milsprings, Ky. "Have had several doctors to treat me—some for female weakness and others for stomach trouble, but received no relief. When I wrote you for advice I was hardly able to work, and you advised me what to do. I began to take your medicine and the effects have been good. I was under the doctor's care every summer before this. I took nine bottles, five of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' four of 'Favorite Prescription,' also two vials of the 'Pellets.' Dr. Pierce's medicines will do all that you claim for them. Believe I would have been in my grave if I had not taken them."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach.

FREE. Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Conflagration.

The two story residence of Mr. Frank West, on Lincoln Heights, was totally destroyed by fire this morning at 6:30. Shortly after the family had eaten breakfast their attention was attracted to a crackling noise, and one of the girls investigated but found nothing wrong. The crackling continued and a second investigation revealed the roof ready to cave-in. It was early and the neighbors were not aware of the blaze until it was too late to save anything. No insurance.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

GUERDON of THE ROSE

By BALDWIN SEARS

Copyright, 1902, by the S. S. McClure Company

Helena sighed impatiently. "I'm sick of Europe. Let's go home, Aunt Caroline."

The elderly lady glanced up from her letter writing.

"Very well, dear," she said patiently. "But couldn't we wait a few days longer? Albert has written that Count Hugo is coming home in a week and"—

Helena curled her lip. "And as I have managed to avoid meeting him for a month I am now to wait here, in his own city, until he arrives? No. That is too much like sitting on his doorstep, thank you, aunt, and, besides, I don't care to meet anybody, prince or pauper. I—I'm tired of everything."

And with this rather vague statement the girl left the room abruptly.

Aunt Caroline looked at the bowl of red roses on the table and shook her head.

Ever since they had left Vienna a month ago the girl had been a changed creature. Even the languid interest which as a spoiled beauty she had shown to her various admirers had disappeared, and she had hurried from one place to another, calmly ignoring Count Hugo's efforts to meet her and quite unmoved by the splendid red roses which awaited her at each new stopping place.

In fact, the roses seemed to irritate her. She did not want to meet Count Hugo, and she wished that her Cousin Albert, who was an attache at the legation in Berlin, would not tell his friend the count every time Aunt Caroline wrote where they were going.

It was Albert who had first written and said that Count Hugo had seen the beautiful American, had found out who she was and had asked to be presented.

Helena wrote that she was very sorry; they were just starting for Paris. "Perhaps later," the letter added.

That evening the red roses had come, the count's card with them.

But, although Aunt Caroline was puzzled, although Albert swore at the perverseness of girls, although Helena assumed to be merely bored, there was a secret reason for her indifference to Count Hugo or to any one else who might have appeared at that time.

It had happened on the way over from Bremen. As the express drew up in the station at Hanover Helena leaned forward a little to look at the passengers who were waiting to come on board.

There was no one very interesting—a lanky Englishman, a Cook's tourist party and the usual number of smart young officers.

Most of these hurried into the train at once. One who did not was a young man in the uniform of an imperial guardsman. He walked up and down slowly, looking at the people in the carriages.

THE TALL GUARDSMAN HAD RUSHED TO THE RESCUE.

Helena noticed him because he was so different from most Germans, who were all thickset and blonds. This man was rather slender and very dark and had an air of distinction.

The guardsman, too, had noticed the lovely face at the coach window, and he had dared once or twice to glance up at it as he walked to and fro.

He was evidently not going by that train, for as the guard blew his warning whistle and looked at him he smiled and shrugged his shoulders.

At that moment the door of the waiting room was flung open, and a stout peasant woman, staggering under a huge basket of vegetables and a baby, rushed out toward the train.

Just at the edge of the platform she stumbled and, catching at the baby with both hands, lost hold of the basket. In a moment cabbages, turnips, apples and smoked fish were everywhere.

The poor creature was too stunned to move at first. She looked from her scattered vegetables to the train. In a moment it would start. "Wait, wait!" she cried, motioning to the guard. "I must go."

Suddenly Helena gasped. The tall guardsman had rushed to the rescue. The girl scarcely breathed as she watched him, his long arms swooping down upon the fat red cabbages and shiny apples, the scabbard of his sword dragging upon the ground as he reached after the much scattered dried fish.

It was so surprising that before the observers had time to realize what was happening everything was back in the basket, the grateful peasant woman had been hurried into the train, the guard had blown his whistle, and they were starting.

Helena looked at the guardsman. He stood there on the platform disheveled, breathless, scarlet faced, realizing for the first time how ridiculous he had appeared, and then, turning, he met the soft black eyes upon him and blushed redder than ever.

Their owner glanced at her aunt. That lady was fast asleep with a newspaper over her face.

A red rose was fastened in Helena's dress. Still gazing at the soldier, she unfastened the flower, and then, leaning a little from the window, she smiled and tossed the rose to him.

As it fell with a soft thud the man dropped on one knee, caught it up and, baring his head, pressed the rose to his lips.

The next moment the train had carried her from him. Helena sank back, shaken with a strange weakness. For the first time she had felt something that she had always believed in, but until then had never known.

And she did not know who he was. She would never see him again.

That was why Count Hugo did not interest her, why red roses seemed an impertinence from one to whom they meant nothing, while to her they meant so much, and of course she could not explain.

For a month she had kept up the farce of being interested. Now she was going home, where she need not pretend any longer.

But even when they had telegraphed to Albert that they would sail from Bremen on the 15th the girl seemed dissatisfied.

Aunt Caroline would have thought that she was disappointed at not meeting Count Hugo had she not taken such pains to avoid him.

They got down to the pier half an hour before the steamer sailed, and as they stood on deck looking over the rail Albert exclaimed suddenly: "There's Count Hugo now. I forgot to tell you that he was going over on the same steamer."

Before Helena could stop him her cousin had rushed down stairs and out upon the pier.

It was too late then, of course, to do anything but accept the inevitable, but she had turned her back and was talking to Aunt Caroline when she heard Albert's step and his voice saying, "Helena, may I present Count Hugo?"

"Oh!" gasped Helena as she turned. All her stately composure was gone and in its place had come a strange trembling and bewilderment. "You!" she said.

The tall guardsman smiled happily as he stood before her, his cap in his hand. "Yes," he said. "And you at last. I thought that you meant never to let me thank you for that sweet rose."

"If I had only known," said Helena softly.

Growing Old.

When we have panted past life's middle space
And stand and breathe a moment from the race,
These graver thoughts the heaving breast annoy:
"Of all our fields how very few are green!
And, ah, what brakes, moors, quagmires lie between Tired age and childhood ramping wild with joy."

"I dreaded the change of life which was fast approaching. I noticed Wine of Cardui, and decided to try a bottle. I experienced some relief the first month, so I kept on taking it for three months and now I menstruate with no pain and I shall take it off and on now until I have passed the climax."

Female weakness, disordered menses, falling of the womb and ovarian troubles do not wear off. They follow a woman to the change of life. Do not wait but take Wine of Cardui now and avoid the trouble. Wine of Cardui never fails to benefit a suffering woman of any age. Wine of Cardui relieved Mrs. Webb when she was in danger. When you come to the change of life Mrs. Webb's letter will mean more to you than it does now. But you may now avoid the suffering she endured. Druggists sell $1 bottles of Wine of Cardui.
