Council Takes Further Steps and Calls for Bids. Other Council Notes.

At Wednesday's council meeting all members were present except Messrs. Gutenberg and Clegg.

The following letter regarding the supposed military reservation at head of bay was read:

War Dept. Military Secretary's Office,
Washington, June 16, 1904.
Dr. F. S. Lewis, Mayor,
Port Angeles.

Sir: Referring to the petition of the citizens of your city, dated 24th February, for the restoration to the public domain of the lands now withheld from sale pending location of fortification site within the city limits, the secretary of war desires me to inform you that on examination of the papers on file it does not appear that the lands in question constitute a military reservation or are in any way under the control of the war dept. It appears that on June 19, 1862, President Lincoln reserved an area of 3900 acres (including the supposed military reservation) for Lighthouse, military, naval, revenue, and other public purposes," but that on March 10, 1863, he revoked "the reservation" made by said order "in respect to the uses mentioned" therein, "except in regard to and so much of said lands as may be needed for lighthouse purposes," and confirmed the reservation as "one for a townsite under the provisions of an act of congress," approved March 3, 1862, providing "for increasing the revenue by reservation and townsites on public lands." * * * The lands are therefore held in reserve for townsite purposes, and the war dept. has no jurisdiction over them.

Your petition, together with the papers in the case, have this day been referred to the secretary of interior for such action as may be deemed proper by that dept.

Very respectfully,
W. P. Hall,
Brig. Gen. Asst. Adjt. Gen.

A communication was read from chairman Fourth of July executive committee inviting Mayor and council to act in conjunction with said committee as a reception committee, and ordered filed.

On motion of Mr. Grubb the street committee was authorized to erect a band stand on corner of Front and Laurel streets, provided Filion Mill Co. would furnish lumber.

Mr. Ferguson again asked that he be given current expense fund warrant for electric warrant which he could not cash. Mayor favored the proposal, but the matter was laid over.

Mr. Brumfield submitted the following resolution which was adopted:

Whereas, it appearing that heretofore, on May 6, 1893, the council of this city passed an ordinance, to-wit: Ord. 127½, the same being "an ordinance specifying and adopting a plan or system of electric lighting works for said city and declaring the estimated cost of purchase and construction thereof, and also proposing to incur an indebtedness and issue the negotiable bonds of said city to pay therefor, which said ordinance and the special election held pursuant thereto authorized the issue of the negotiable bonds of said city to the amount of $65,000, and

Whereas, ths total amount issued was $29,000,

Therefore resolved, that this city negotiate its bonds to the amount of $14,000 pursuant to the authority and for the purposes aforesaid, and the proper officers of said city are hereby authorized and directed to take the necessary action to carry out this resolution.

Upon motion of Mr. Brumfield the clerk was directed to make a call for bids for purchase of above bonds.

In matter of claim of Freeman and Rich — $468.00 — for construction of new power house, clerk was directed to notify them to present receipted bills for material and labor in construction work.

BIG DEAL PENDING

Conewango and Allegheny Lumber Co.s Negotiating for Large Timber

Attorney R. C. Wilson of Seattle has been in the city a few days and on Thursday filed for the above-named lumber companies a large batch of affidavits of original owners relative to their relations and touching the titles to a large area of timber lands in the vicinity of Beaver and in the Solduck country.

Negotiations have been pending for some time to secure this timber in blocks and it is thought the deeds will pass to the big lumber companies very shortly. The companies already own considerable timber land in this district, and as large tracts adjoining under one management are of increased value the additional holdings are very much sought after.

COMING TO THE SOUND

Harriman Must Have Share of the Northwestern Trade.

In view of the persistent reports that the Union Pacific or Harriman interests are surely going to build to the sound, and the further report that these interests are behind the P. A. E. bond deal, the following from the Seattle Star will be of interest. The reasons given here apply with increased force to the importance of this port:

Railroad men who know E. H. Harriman best say he is not one to leave a desirable and valuable field open to his competitors any longer than is necessary. He is quick at perceiving just where he can strengthen his position and is not backward in making the necessary moves. For this reason they are ready to believe that the recent flurry in Seattle tide lands is due to his plan to gain terminal grounds in Seattle before starting work on his new line from Portland to Puget Sound.

About two years ago it was announced that the stocks of the Oregon Short Line and the O. R. & N. were to be increased, in order to build big Oriental liners to run in conjunction with those lines. The matter was brought up before the stockholders at their annual meeting and practically decided. Since that time there have been frequent announcements that the Harriman interests were going to increase their marine strength.

Mr. Harriman has been framing up to make this move for some time, and when the merger was dissolved, his chance to begin work came. Mr. Harriman was quick to accept the chance. He will not leave a single point of vantage open to his competitors and will invade their territory as quick as men can build new lines.

Meanwhile, his opponents in the game of railroad checkers have been busy in attempting to hold as much of their territory as possible. Harriman has a certain advantage over his opponents in a water grade over the mountains. This is pointed out as one of the chief reasons why his competitors fear his entrance into the Puget Sound territory.

The United States government does not seem to be particularly anxious about sinking much money at the mouth of the Columbia river, which fills up as fast as dredges can clean it out. The expense of keeping a channel through the Columbia bar is too great for private capital and Portland must be contented; while Harriman must seek another ocean outlet for his lines.

CONSTIPATION

A SOFT WORD TURNETH AWAY WRATH

[Original.]

"It is a good many years ago," said a white haired, wrinkled faced man, "that I was an overseer on a southern plantation. The overseer of slaves has so often been pictured as a monster, especially in the character of Legree in 'Uncle Tom's Cabin,' that I have seldom admitted that I ever held such a position. The truth is, I was born and brought up in the south under the system of slavery, and to me it was a matter of course. The planter for whom I worked was as kindly a man as ever lived. Our method of punishment I think now and thought then was faulty, but we must remember that in those days flogging was common in the schools and in many families where parents whipped their children.

"One day a strong, lusty negro became insubordinate and refused to work. I ordered him flogged. After his punishment he said to me, 'I'll get even with you for this,' and the look he gave me at the same time convinced me that he would be as good as his word. Many overseers would have had him flogged again and again and then been ready to shoot him at the slightest provocation. On the contrary, I treated him more kindly than ever, though not letting him see that I attached any importance to words uttered under great humiliation.

"Pete—that was the negro's name—tried at various times to kill me, though indirectly. One night I found on turning down my bedclothes a poisonous snake between the sheets. It had doubtless been placed at the foot of the bed, but had not remained there. I suspected Pete of the work, and the next morning, coming upon him suddenly, he was unable to conceal his feelings at seeing me, knowing that his plan had failed. At another time he placed a huge stone over my door so that the door's opening would dislodge the stone. I was struck on the shoulder, which was dislocated, and I was laid up for weeks. Several other attempts were made to kill me in some such fashion, but none of them could I trace to Pete, though I felt fairly sure he had laid the traps. At last I grew so wary that I was always on the watch, and it would have been very difficult for him to catch me. However, after I had discovered a train of gunpowder laid under my bed I told Pete that I understood his purpose and upon another attempt would reveal his doings to his master, have him arrested, and I did not think it would take any court long to send him to prison for a good many years to come. I admit this long suffering was not usual to the overseers of the south. The truth is that when I had seen Pete flogged it occurred to me that if I were in his place I should probably seek revenge. Yet no revenge was open to the slave that would not react on him.

"Meanwhile Pete, who was married, had a son born to him, a bright, woolly headed little pickaninny, who wound himself about Pete's revengeful heart. The child made a great change in his father in his relations to all save me. Though I didn't catch Pete in any overt acts toward me after this son's coming, I felt that he hated me more than ever. Besides, his master remarked to me that Pete had shown signs of sulkiness and insubordination toward him.

"Then the master was taken ill and died. When his estate was settled it was found to be insolvent. Most of the negroes were sold at auction, Pete and his wife and child among the number. When it was announced that he and his family were liable to separation Pete became the most desperate looking man I ever saw. He brooded till it seemed as if he would lose his reason. When the sale came on, the auctioneer, failing to get a bid for the three in one lot, began the sale of Pete individually, intending to follow with his wife and child, together if possible, if not, separately.

"Pete, having a bad reputation, did not attract bids and was about to be knocked down to a negro trader when I stepped in and began to bid for him. It was curious to note his expression when he saw what I was about. He apparently supposed that I was trying to buy him for the purpose of revenging myself upon him, and when he was knocked down to me gave me a look which meant plainly, 'Well, we shall see who lives longest.' But when I began to bid for his wife and child he was puzzled. He had evidently thought I had intended to separate them. I was obliged to bid high, but I secured the two, and then Pete gave me another look, this time of relief mingled with bewilderment.

"'Pete,' I said when the sale was over, 'I have leased a small plantation, and you and your wife and family are my first hands to stock it.'

"Not long after that the war came on, and I was obliged to leave my plantation to fight for—well, a system I didn't like. I placed everything in Pete's hands. The Yankees came down, and most of the hands left, but Pete and his wife and pickaninny stayed on. The fences were burned for campfires, but Pete rebuilt them. The outhouses were torn down, but Pete gathered the fragments and put them together again. Then came the end of the war, with the abolition of slavery. But Pete would have none of it. He worked for me till the day of his death under the old system and charged his wife and child not to leave me so long as I lived. The wife has gone to join him long ago, but the pickaninny—well, I educated the pickaninny, and he knows the value of freedom as his father never could have known it."

PETER THE GREAT BAY AND APPROACHES TO VLADIVOSTOK.

THE THEATER OF RUSSO-JAPANESE ACTIVITY.

The map shows the places which are likely to be the scenes of desperate land fighting in the near future. The Japanese plan appears to be to divide their forces at Ping Yang, detaching some troops to go to Vladivostok to act in connection with the navy in reducing that important point. The remainder of the Ping Yang division will fight its way toward the Yalu. It is hoped that by that time the Vladivostok contingent will be free to march toward Mukden, prior to attacking which town a junction will be effected with the second Ping Yang division and the army which will be making its way up from the Liau-Tong peninsula, starting from Pigeon bay. If Mukden should succumb to this combined attack the next objective will be Harbin.

It requires but a single glance at the chart to see that Vladivostok is not vulnerable from the sea, if her batteries are properly manned and equipped. However, the Japs appear to have set their hearts on taking the place, and it is possible that this consummation will result from a combined sea and land attack.

ROOSEVELT AND FAIRBANKS

Nominated Unanimously By Republicans at Chicago Convention

President Theodore Roosevelt of New York, and Senator Fairbanks of Indiana, were unanimously chosen as the Republican standard bearers for 1904, at the National Convention held in the city of Chicago this week. The only promised contest was between Senator Fairbanks and Representative Hitt of Illinois for the Vice-Presidency. The latter finally withdrew and the senator was named by Senator Dolliver and the nomination was made unanimous.

So little interest was taken in the proceeding outside the adoption of the platform that the remarks of two gentlemen seem very appropriate. Said Former Governor Frank S. Black of New York, who placed the president's name before the convention: "We ought to go right on today and nominate while everybody is here. I prefer to speak to full benches."

Senator Depew is quoted in this strain: "I feel quite as though I were at the seaside, with nothing to do but idle and look at the water."

Elmer Day cut quite a swell this week dashlng down Front street in his new horseless carriage.

The Bellingham, which carried the G. A. R. excursionists on Monday, got nearly to Dungeness before it was discovered that the mail had been forgotten, and there was nothing else to do but come back after it.

The People's Church, (Unitarian)—J. A. Baldridge, minister. Every Sunday at 11 a. m. in the McDonald hall, corner Front and Francis streets. Subject for next Sunday: "The Plant of Religion." All welcome.

LOVE

Often leads to poverty. No real woman ever sold her heart for the luxuries of life. But many a woman who has gladly faced poverty for the man she loved, may well doubt her wisdom when pain becomes the mate of poverty. If she were rich, she thinks, she could find a way of cure.

$500 REWARD! FOR WOMEN

WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

The proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb, which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

"You have my heartfelt thanks for your kind advice to me," writes Mrs. Geo. Fletcher, of 106 Victoria Avenue, Galt, Ontario. "Was troubled with catarrh of uterus for over a year. The doctors said I would have to go through an operation, but I commenced to use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' also his 'Lotion Tablets' and 'Antiseptic and Healing Suppositories.' Now I am completely cured, after using six bottles of Dr. Pierce's medicines. I am glad to say his medicine has made me a new woman."

Weak and sick women are invited to consult Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., by letter, free.

Round t' Smith's.

'F I want t' know what's goin' on Ennywhere on earth,
'F I want t' know th' exact date
Of ennybody's birth,
'F I want t' know th' time o' day
Or when it's going t' rain
Or jest how long a man can live
With water on the brain,
I step round t' Smith's.

Round t' Smith's they set an' talk
An' smoke an' think an' chew,
Fer they air men of brains, you see,
With nothin' else to do.
So when I want t' know about
Th' clam tide or th' way
That Ira Comstock's new milk cows
Make butter out o' hay,
I step round t' Smith's.

Round t' Smith's they know it all,
An' jest a litle more.
No man can tell them ennything
That they didn't know before.
So when I want t' know my name
An' exactly what I'm worth
An' what my acts an' thougnts have been
Ever sence I came on earth,

Cost of War.

The cost of the Spanish and Philippine war to the United States since 1898 for seven years ending June 30, 1904, has been $1,000,000,000.

MODERN WOODMEN

Three new camps of Modern Woodmen have been organized in Maryland, and the order in western Maryland and the District of Columbia is growing at a rate of 2,000 members per year.

During the past month many new camps were instituted and over 5,000 certificates issued.

The Modern Woodmen camp at Elboran, Ill., has only lost one member by death since it was instituted, March 27, 1896.

Denver has the largest Modern Woodmen camp in the Colorado jurisdiction. It has over 600 members.

Such excellent work is being done in Iowa this year that it is predicted the jurisdiction will have 100,000 members by the time the head camp convenes at Milwaukee.

Convict Labor In Pennsylvania.

The people and officials of Washington county, Pa., are well pleased with the plan of working jail prisoners on the public roads, which has been in operation about two months and has proved its feasibility and advantages, says Good Roads Magazine. The prisoners are pleased with it also and welcome the days when they march to the stone quarries or the roads. They of course receive no pay for their work, but their fines are remitted, so that they only have to work out their time sentences. The work is done under contract with the township of South Strabane, which pays $2 a day for the services of the necessary guards, furnishes dinner to the prisoners and pays transportation charges if the work is more than two miles from the jail. It costs the township about 15 cents a perch for quarrying the stone, which is then crushed by a stone crusher and placed on the roads by the prisoners. This work is not in competition with free labor, but takes the place of the old method of working out the road tax by the farmers and with far better results, as the roads so built are permanently improved.

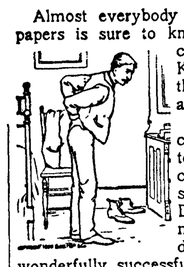
Employ Skillful Engineers.

It is of vital importance that object lessons in the form of good road building should be well taught. Model roads should have none but the most skillful engineers and the most conscientious contractors employed in building them. By making the improvement good and permanent taxpayers will soon become convinced of their desirability, and development is sure to follow. Should the model road, however, prove defective it would be a serious setback to the cause.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

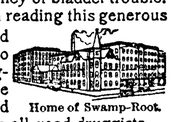
Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.



It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, kidney, bladder, uric acid troubles and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work, in private practice, among the helpless too poor to purchase relief and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty cent and dollar sizes are sold by all good druggists.



Home of Swamp-Root.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

THE DEMOCRAT LEADER is now better than ever prepared to do fine job printing; in fact it is the only office in the city that has a large press for large work and small presses for small jobs.

We recently purchased the handsome Courier press—the best in the city—and have received direct' from the manufacturers in the East some handsome new type of mammoth size together with borders, rules, etc., and a handsome new furniture rack. We now have everything to do first-class work, and if we cannot now do satisfactory job work of any description it cannot be done in town, or this side of Seattle. MYSTERIES OF WEST COAST

Disappearances That Suggest Foul Play As a Probable Cause

Since the disappearance of the Ertle brothers and the cold-blooded murder of John Carnes—of whom we heard nothing despite the fact that a Pinkerton man eat up $600 of the county's money — created considerable of a stir, at the time, then interest died out without result, the following additional accounts of disappearances along the west coast may be of interest:

"Private information from Quinault," says a Hoquiam official, "is to the effect that all hopes of finding the missing mnn Richfield has been abandoned in that vicinity. This adds another chapter to the list of "missing" in the wilds of the Olympic peninsula, and Prosecutor Heath is anxious to get all the information possible, hoping to get sufficient to take action.

"Three years ago this summer a German was found dead on the trail leading from the Queets to the Hoh river with a bullet hole through his body from the back.

"A few months afterwards, on Dec. 23, 1901, Dan A. Rust, who was in the employ of the Olympio Oil company at Copalis, left that point to visit the supposed oil fields at LaPush. He was accompanied as far as the Clearwater by one of the most reliable timber cruisers of the country who is ready to give his testimony. He stayed over night at Capt. Hanks at the mouth of the Hoh. During the evening Mrs. Hank stated she desired some currency to send by mail to her husband, who with his schooner Surf Duck was at Port Angeles. Mr. Russ in the presence of one John Lester informed her he had $40 in currency and the exchange for gold coin was make; incidently considerable other money was exhibited by him.

"Next morning Lester offered to show him the way and the men left Hank's together. Lester claimed he accompanied Rust a few miles up the beach, then left him to continue his journey alone Rust was not seen again as far as is known.

"Other people have such suspicions of diabolical intentions on the part of a certain person who had induced them to go into the country named, that they have refused to enter the woods with him. Rumors say that other strangers who have gone into that country have never been seen again alive, and the disappearance of three different men in the neighborhood of Quinault lake last winter is yet fresh in the minds of the people."

Sued By His Doctor.

"A doctor here has sued me for $12.50 which I claimed was excessive for a case of cholera morbus," says R. White, of Coachella, Cal. "At the trial he praised his medical skill and medicine. I asked him if it was not Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy he used and had good reason to believe it was, and he would not say under oath that it was not." G. J. REYNOLDS COMMITS SUICIDE

Carried Out His Oft Repeated Threat to Jump Into the Well Friday

G. J. Reynolds, county charge, committed suicide yesterday noon by throwing himself into the well of C. C. Lollick on Ninth street who has been caring for hom for the past year, on contract with the county. Mr. Reynolds had just taken a cup of milk, all he would take for dinner, and had gone out to the well for his hat and cain. Shortly after he was missed and was found in the well, where he had repeatedly threatened to throw himself.

Coroner Willson was immediately notified and took charge of the remains.

G. J. Reynolds was not always without family or means. At one time he was worth $50,000. He lost his money and relatives before he came to Port Angeles ten years ago. Shortly after his arrival here he had an hemorrage on Front street from which he sustained partial paralysis. He has since had several hemorrages and many times threatened to take his life. He has been a city charge for past six years.

WIRELESS AT TATOOSH

Weather Bureau There Will Be Equipped With Instruments

According to reports a station of wireless telegraph for use in connection with the Weather Bureau will be installed on Tatoosh Island within a very short time. It is to be one of the chain of such stations at practically every important point on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, and it is the intention of the agricultural department to encourage the installment of wireless apparatus on American merchant vessels, so that they may be in almost constant touch with land.

The wireless system to be used will be one practically invented by government experts. Tests have been made of it and the results show that vessels 200 miles off shore can be easily reached and spoken by means of it.

AT ANGELES TOO

Later advices received from Washington are to the effect that Secretary Wilson has directed Chief Moore to add Wireless telegraphy to all stations reporting vessels. Port Angeles is specifically named as one of the port at which a station is be equipped.

CLALLAM BOY FINDS FORTUNE

Lovey Evans picked up a small box on First Avenue and Columbia street one day this week, put it in his pocket and went home home without examining its contents. Later he discovered that the box contained diamonds valued at over $1,000, and found they belonged to Mrs. Peter Mutty of Port Townsend, who had offered a reward of $400 for their return. Mr. Evans for some reason, however, only got $200 reward.
