VISIT OF SEN. FOSTER

Here for Purpose of Meeting Citizens and Ascertaining Our Needs.

Senator A. G. Foster with his secretary, Thos. Sammons, arrived in the city Thursday, on the revenue cutter Grant, as the guest of Capt. Tozier, and after a general conference with a large number of our citizens left during the afternoon for the lakes in company with President G. M. Lauridsen, of the Commercial club and Deputy Collector Aldwell. Returning yesterday evening the senator boarded the steamer and left for up sound on his way to the Quinault Indian reservation, where he goes in the interest of the Point Granville light-house and life-saving station.

The senator is making a tour of the Sound, Straits, Grays Harbor and Columbia river cities to get acquainted with the needs of the districts and to meet the prominent people who can show him their needs. Major Millis, who has official charge of rivers and harbors fortifications work, accompanys him.

Here, where we have been so bountifully endowed by nature, we want no appropriations for harbor or rivers, but we do want an efficient fog-signal on Ediz Hook spit point; we want a post office, customs house and all-round Federal building. We want a trout hatchery at Lakes Crescent and Sutherland, and we want fortifications at Porcupine hill, the natural Gibraltar defense of the Straits.

All these things were outlined to the Senator by representative men of the Commercial club, and the gentleman recognizing that we are entitled to some of the good things being passed around will do what he can to get us what is wanted. Possibly of these the fog station will be the grst forthcoming, and if the Senator uses his influence with the authorities a trout hatchery for the lakes will follow. The other things must of necessity come slow.

L. T. Haynes has again taken position behind the counter with G. M. Lauridsen where he will be glad to see all his old friends and do business with them.

The young ladies' Guild will give a dance in the opera house Tuesday evening, September 13. Admission 25c.

On Tuesday the 6th inst. Mr. E. Hammon, of Dungeness, and Miss Laura Dale Millison, of Orting, were united in wedlock by the Rev. James Cheal, in the drawing room of the Commercial hotel.

QUARRY PEOPLE INDUSTRIOUS

Preliminary Work Rapidly Going Ahead — More Machinery

As announced exclusively in THE DEMOCRAT-LEADER the steamer Rapid Transit brought Saturday several carloads of heavy machinery for the Port Angeles Stone Co. This machinery is now stored in the warehouse of the City Dock where it will remain until permission can be had to use the P.A.P. railroad to transport it to the quarry lands or until it is known definitely that this means is not available, when other and heroic measures will have to be adopted. The machinery consists of several pieces that weigh four to six tons each. The freight steamer Rapid Transit arrived again yesterday bringing three immense coils of cable. Other material will arrive on the regular boats, the extra heavy stuff being now all here.

Meanwhile the company will be busy. They have a large piece of trestle completed at the quarries and are now awaiting a large order of big timbers from the Filion mill which have been delayed through a breakdown this week.

Expert Hamilton who arrived here last week has gone over the lands in detail, blasting, etc., and reports an inexhaustible supply of the prettiest of blue sandstone, that will command a ready market, being as good as any in the world and far better than any in this state. He reiterates the statements of members of the company that the quarry is an assured success.

The company is now putting in a hydraulic ram to pump water from Frazier creek to the top of the hill where the stone will be opened. They will also be in need of power very shortly and are negotiating with the Water company for 50 horse power to operate their dynamos.

The works, Mr. Barnett says, will be run continuously night as well as day when ready for business, and we will have all we can do. The main thing now is to get started, and we trust nothing will be put in our way to block progress.

FRANCHISE ADOPTED

Council Again Acts Quickly With Hope of Benefiting the City

The city council met in regular session Wednesday night with all members present except Mr Brumfield. Further than the passage of wharf grant to the Craig Fish Products Company little business of importance was transacted.

The council decided to meet in special session Thursday for purpose of fixing levy.

On motion of Mr. Hallahan ordinance granting privileges to Craig Fish Products Co., (as amended by committee of whole) was taken up for consideration, and read a second time. Upon motion of Mr. Grubb it was read to final passage, by unanimous vote.

The ordinance provides for wharf privileges at foot of F st for a period of ten years, city reserving all rights on Railroad avenue for railroad purposes; construction work to begin within six months upon plans first to be approved by the city engineer and to be completed within nine months from date of passage.

Matter of failure of J. D. McQueen to furnish wood on contract came up. Mr. McQueen, who was present at request of council, stated that his contract contemplated cash warrants, whereas he had to discount. No action was taken and the gentleman agreed to furnish wood until other arrangements are made.

The city clerk was granted three days leave of absence.

Mr. Hallahan called up matter of danger incurred by reason of any defective light wireing, and suggested that some ordinance or order be adopted to regulate and control the wireing of buildings. Referred to the light committee.

When Binning "Did the Elegant"

By W. BERT FOSTER

...Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure...

It was a fierce play. But there sat Binning, with a beautiful smile on his face and applauding harder than the ushers.

I turned upon him when the curtain went down and said crossly, "Did you ever see such rot?"

"Is it? I didn't notice," he replied, still smiling. "Fact was I was thinking of the first time I ever came to this old ranch. And, oddly enough, I sat in this very seat. My goodness, how time does fly!" he added, with the air of a man discovering a heretofore unknown fact.

"Tempus certainly fugits," I remarked, settling back to hear. "But go on with the tale."

"Ah, and it is a tale—a tale of woe," he returned. "It happened a good bit ago, too; not long after I came down here to the city, believing in my greenness that I could cut a swath in law that would lay over anything I could do in the plow making line.

"Dad got me a chance with a good firm and then paid no further attention to me—financial attention, I mean. I was as lonely as a strange cat at first. But after a few months one of the boys in the office introduced me to a rather nice family up town.

"There were three girls in the family, and as I had hardly spoken to a girl since leaving home this introduction seemed a godsend to me. But I've wondered since if my fellow clerk did not introduce me simply to make his own escape from matrimonial toils the easier. As my visits increased his decreased.

"It came to me finally that I could not continue to accept the hospitality they showed me without in some way returning it. I couldn't invite one of the girls out without taking the mother along, and in that case it would have been equal to a declaration of love in the eyes of the family. Germans are mighty careful that way.

"So it was up to me to treat everybody alike. And I was determined to do the elegant. I invited the bunch, daughters and mamma and papa, to go to the theater; bought six seats right in this very row.

"It pretty nearly cleaned me out. Six dollars was two-thirds of a week's salary, and after mentally figuring it up I decided that I would excuse myself after the show and let my guests go home alone. I could not afford even another round of car fares.

"Well, we rustled into our seats like a flock of pigeons, papa at one end and myself here on the aisle. After the first two or three numbers on the programme the waiters got extremely busy. To tell you the truth, I had not taken into consideration the fact that liquid refreshments were served, but I figured that I could stand one round for the crowd, even if I had to walk from the office to my lodgings several evenings to pay for it.

"So I suggested a drink to the girl next to me. She took me up with positively frightful alacrity and passed on the proposition to the others. I turned to beckon the waiter, intending to order six of those foaming glasses in an offhand manner, bound to impress the observer with the fact that I was the real thing.

"'Oh, Mr. Binning,' said the daughter next to me, 'I think I'll take a lemonade!'

"'And so will I, Mr. Binning,' said the second sister. The third and mamma followed suit. Whew! In those few seconds my collar wilted.

"Even the old man, evidently considering that I would be offended if he ordered beer, asked for something in the line of mixed poison that I knew plaguey well he'd never tasted. Then the waiter, with increasing affability, looked at me.

"It's a terrible thing to be a coward, Jack. I wanted to blurt out, 'Not with my money!' But I didn't dare, so I ordered the same mysterious drink that the old man had spoken for and saw the waiter hurry away with a feeling that he might as well bring the house officer back with him when he returned with the refreshments.

"Those six drinks would amount to $1.80, and I had just 75 cents in my pocket.

"All the impossible means of getting out of the entanglement raced through my mind. I couldn't even see what was going on upon the stage. The falling of the curtain and a burst of applause roused me.

"That waiter would be back soon. But there would be rather a long wait between the last and the next act. I must get away where I could think. My guests were chattering about the show, and I broke in on them.

"'Do you know what I've done?' I said to them with an air of candor. 'I've forgotten my keys, and my landlady locks up at 11 o'clock sharp.

"'While this wait is on I'll run over to the house and get them—it's luckily only a few blocks away. She's a peppery tempered old lady, and if I should ring her up late she might put me out in the morning.'

"'That is too bad, Mr. Binning,' says mamma. Her heart was opened. 'We can put you up overnight.'

"I had a dozen reasons why I could not accept the hospitality offered. And all the time I feared that waiter would heave in sight with his tray of fancy drinks!

"I grabbed my hat. I dared not take my overcoat. 'I'll be back before the next turn,' I declared and rushed up the aisle.

"As I left my seat the stage manager came from behind the scenes and signaled the orchestra leader to stop. 'If Dr. Harrity is in the audience,' I heard him say, 'there is a telegram at the box office for him.'

"As I got into the corridor I saw a tall man in a tall hat make a break for the corridor too. I accepted a return check, but I didn't believe I should have any use for it, for where I was to find the balance of that $1.80 I did not know.

"When I reached the sidewalk there was the man in the tall hat, with a policeman, shouting for a cab. There was one standing across the street, but the driver was missing. 'He's in some saloon along here,' I heard the policeman say. 'I'll look for him, doctor.'

"'Find him, or I'll take the cab myself. I've got to get to Forty-third street instantly!' the physician cried. 'I'd give $5 to get there in ten minutes!'

The cop disappeared and the doctor ran across the street to be near the cab when the driver appeared. And I was right by his side.

"Five dollars! Why, at the minute, Jack, I'd have committed highway robbery for that sum!

"'You jump in,' said I to the doctor. 'I'll get you there. What's the number?'

"He gave me a look which assured me he knew I was not the driver of the cab, but he told me the number. 'I'll give you $5 if you're there in ten minutes,' he said.

"I expected to hear the officer or the driver of the turnout yelling at me to stop. But the doctor wasn't in the cab any quicker than I was up on the high seat. And I woke that cab horse up.

"Inside of the ten minutes we stopped before the number Dr. Harrity gave me. He was out and up the steps ringing the bell in a flash. For a second I thought the promised $5 was getting away from me and I had made a criminal of myself for nothing.

"I leaped down just as the door of the house opened. A man let the doctor in, but I seized his coat tails before he could disappear.

"The doctor tried to jerk away, but I hung on. 'Johnson,' he shouted to the serving man, 'give this fool $5 and kick him out!' But I didn't wait to be kicked after getting my grip on the fiver.

"You can bet that I wasn't to be hired to drive that cab back to the theater. I took a car down the avenue and walked calmly into the lobby just as the orchestra began to play the introduction for the first number after the intermission.

"As I passed in there were the officer and an excited cabman jawing each other, with a curious crowd about them. Evidently cabby blamed the policeman for the disappearance of his rig.

"I slid into this seat, Jack, just as the curtain went up. There were the glasses on the shelf in front of my guests, and I saw the waiter, rather anxious by now, hovering about.

"'Oh, I forgot to pay for these drinks,' I remarked and passed over the fiver with an air which evidently impressed the old gentleman at the other end of the row with my financial stability.

"He looked vastly relieved, mamma smiled again benignly, the girls gabbled, and I—well, you can bet I never tried again to do the elegant on $9 per week."

MRS. CECELIA STOWE,
Orator, Entre Nous Club.

176 Warren Avenue,
CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 22, 1902.

For nearly four years I suffered from ovarian troubles. The doctor insisted on an operation as the only way to get well. I, however, strongly objected to an operation. My husband felt disheartened as well as I, for home with a sick woman is a disconsolate place at best. A friendly druggist advised him to get a bottle of Wine of Cardui for me to try, and he did so. I began to improve in a few days and my recovery was very rapid. Within eighteen weeks I was another being.

Mrs. Stowe's letter shows every woman how a home is saddened by female weaknes and how completely Wine of Cardui cures that sickness and brings health and happiness again. Do not go on suffering. Go to your druggist today and secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui.

ODD FELLOWS.

Some Suggestions For Inactive Lodges—Notes and Gossip.

Keep busy. The inactive lodge is not growing. The reason is the members are idle and listless. Let some active member take hold, bring some applications, organize a staff if there is none, and if there is call it together and drill every week if possible. Get up an entertainment of some kind. Invite your friends. Serve refreshments at small cost. Exchange visits with other lodges, and watch the result. My word for it, the lodge will increase in membership and interest. — Odd Fellows' Herald.

Alaska has two subordinate lodges, one Rebekah lodge and one encampment.

The library of the sovereign grand lodge in Baltimore contains 1,191 bound volumes.

During the past year 3,410 members were suspended for nonpayment of dues in the jurisdiction of New York.

The property of the Tennessee Odd Fellows' home is valued at $40,800. The home now has forty-one inmates.

The Odd Fellows of Tennessee gained over 6,000 members during the past year and now have a membership of about 20,000.

The Rebekah branch of the order is doing great work and adding largely to its ranks.

When a woman gives up it is because she has gone to the utmost limit of strength and endurance. It is a marvel how women will stagger on under the daily household burdens when the whole body is racked with pain.

For the nervous, run-down condition which so many women experience, as a result of overstrain in household cares, there is no medicine can equal Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It strengthens the weak stomach by curing diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition. It purifies the blood of poisons which cause rheumatism and other painful diseases. It nourishes the nerves, and builds up the body with sound, healthy flesh.

There is no alcohol in "Golden Medical Discovery" and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics.

Accept no substitute for the "Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for weakness, nervousness and debility.

"I want the whole world to know what Dr. Pierce's medicines have done for me." writes Mrs. Helen Hardgrove, of Bangs, Knox Co., O., "I had many of the ills of woman's life. My lungs and throat troubled me besides, and I had rheumatism. About a year ago I had to give up work I was so bad. I had heard so much about your medicine I thought I would try it. I took four bottles of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pellets,' and by the time I had taken half of the first bottle I began to gain, and kept on getting better. And now I have no more of my old ailments and am entirely cured of rheumatism, I feel like a new woman."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for cloth binding. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

IT NEEDS NO DEFENSE.

Judge Turner's record on the railroad question needs no defense in this state where he has lived 20 years. As a member of the constitutional convention he wrote into the state constitution those provisions giving to the legislature the power to regulate rates and fares and to create a railroad commission. He was the author of the section making it mandatory upon the legislature to pass legislation prohibiting public officials from riding on free transportation; of the section forbidding the consolidation of competing railway lines within the state; and of the section prohibiting railway "pooling."

Judge Turner drafted and worked for the railroad commission bill which was defeated in the legislature of 1897. When James J. Hill organized his Northern Secusities company, by which he proposed to merge the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern, Judge Turner wrote a strong letter to Governor Rogers advising him to institute suit on behalf of the state to dissolve the merger. He also presented a brief to Attorney-General Knox of President Roosevelt's cabinet, which was of great aid to that official in preparing his bill in equity against the merger.

Such in brief is the railroad record of George Turner. His career has been marked by splendid independence of corporate dictation—so marked indeed that every political honor which he has enjoyed has been won against the allied hosts of corporate bossism. His record is a guarantee that if elected governor no railroad boss will give him his orders. If he were a railroad henchman every railroad-owned sheet in the state would not be attacking and villifying him now.—Spokesman-Review (Rep.)

WE had heard that Mr. Mead did not impress one as a man in any way fitted to fill the dignified and responsible position of governor of this great Commonwealth. We have, in common with a large uumber of our citizens, been privileged to meet the gentleman and observe his calibre, and the reports are fully confirmed, namely, that Mr. Mead has no dignity and only the ability of a fourth rate lawyer. Add to these the further fact that his masters are the railroad bunch and one must be hidebound indeed to vote for him. Personally, Mr. Mead is a congenial gentleman, but we submit he is not in any way fitted for the governorship.

It is a great convenience to have at hand reliable remedies for use in cases of accident and for slight injuries and ailments. A good liniment and one that is fast becoming a favorite if not a household necessity is Chamberlain's Pain Balm. By applying it promptly to a cut, bruise or burn it allays the pain and causes the injury to heal in about one-third the time usually required, and as it is an antiseptic it prevents any danger of blood poisoning. When Pain Balm is kept at hand a sprain may be treated before inflammation sets in, insuring a quick recovery. For sale by W. J. Mathewson.

A GREAT DISTINCTION.

The Denver Times of the 26th ult., just to hand, gives the following glowing account of the latest achievement of Miss Inez Carusi, daughter of Judge S. P. Carusi of this city, who is well-known here, through an extended visit and harp recitals given here. The lady also showed marked ability in drilling local talent for two comedies of her own composition. The Times says:

If the opera which has just been written by Madame Inez Carusi is the success which it now gives every promise of being, the author will enjoy the distinction of being the first woman in America to accomplish this. The opera in full was tried out for the first time yesterday afternoon for the representattves of the press in the studio of Professor Gwilym Thomas in the Charles building. Madame Carusi played the entire composition through, accompanied on the violin by Harry Baker.

Every member of the score has been given careful study by the composer and it bids fair to create a sensation when it is given its initial production in this city in October. The opera is a travesty on "Richard the Lion Hearted," and while being above the ordinary light opera, it is not by any means heavy.

The first act is laid in England and the second and third in Palestine. To the finest detail Madame Carnsi has made the music that which is characterittic of the countries named,

Waiting For the Bugle.

We wait for the bugle; the night dews are cold;
The limbs of the soldiers feel jaded and old.
The field of our bivouac is windy and bare;
There is lead in our joints, there is frost in our hair,
The future is veiled and its fortunes unknown
As we lie with hushed breath till the bugle is blown.

At the sound of that bugle each comrade shall spring
Like an arrow released from the strain of the string.
The courage, the impulse, of youth shall come back
To banish the chill of the drear bivouac,
And sorrows and losses and cares fade away
When that life giving signal proclaims the new day.

Though the bivouac of age may put ice in our veins,
And no fiber of steel in our sinew remains;
Though the comrades of yesterday's march are not here,
And the sunslight seems pale and the branches are sere,
Though the sound of our cheering dies down to a moan,
We shall find our lost youth when the bugle is blown.

—Thomas Wentworth Higginson.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.
