A Curtain Lecture

READ IT

We have received a Large Assortment of Pretty Curtains that Wear Well.

Pretty curtains and good wearing qualities do not always go together. In fact, many Curtains that look nice won't stand more than a washing or two, edges pull out and nets break, and sometimes you find that they cannot be made to hang straight.

The Lace Curtains We Sell

are not that kind. They hang straight; they don't stretch crooked; they don't break in the net; the edges don't pull out until after considerable use. They come in a wide range of pretty patterns, so that you will be sure to find some to please you and after you commence using them you will be still better satisfied, because they wear so well, although you paid only what you would have to pay for curtains that you knew nothing of.

Our "One Price" aud "Your Money Back" policies are a guarantee of good faith.

BOOSTS PORT ANGELES

DELIGHTFUL CITY BENEATH THE OLYMPICS' SHADOWS

Wilhelm's Story of Attractions as Summer Resort Makes Good Advertising for Angeles and Lakes.

Wilhelm's Coast for April devotes four pages to Port Angeles, giving a brief review of progress and prospects, illustrated with photos of Lake Sutherland, Mt. Angeles, etc. We give a few extracts:

"The Olympic peninsula is a world of wealth and opportunity, containing the last remaining forests of a great state, untouched and undefiled by the destroying machinery or operations of the lumberman. It has been rightly said, 'The Olympic peninsula is the last stand of immense forest, of any consequence left at the present time.'

"The great wealth of the country surrounding Port Angeles lies in its timber, which as yet almost in its entirety is standing in its virgin state. Railroads are being surveyed and built to give the city an outlet by both Olympia and Hoquiam and a new era of growth and progress is assured. It looks very much as if the Harriman lines under the guise of building a railroad from Olympia to Port Angeles for the timber of the Peninsula were really building to get a seaport for their transcontinental traffic. This is a large, natural and safe port, almost upon the Pacific ocean, and many believe it is only a question of time until these advantages will be seized upon and utilized.

"The industries of Port Angeles embrace lumber and shingle mills, brewery, bottling works, Craig fish products factory, salmon and clam cannery, sash and door factory, sandstone quarry, and a creamery which makes from 2,000 to 3,000 pounds of butter per week, the operators of which have a plant at Dungeness making a ton of butter daily, and another at Forks, in the western part of the county. The soil is a rich loam and very productive in the valleys and low lands. In the country back from Dungeness one of the finest farming sections in the state is found.

"The schools, churches and social conditions are of a high order. There are two newspapers, two banks and two hotels. Among recent improvements is a magnificent blue stone building, two story with basement, 50x110, built by Thos. T. Aldwell, costing $20,000.

"Port Angeles is a delightful city and, builded as it is, virtually beneath the shadows of the Olympics arising on the south, offers the widest range for occupation in both business and pleasure. The winter's cold is tempered by the sea breezes coming off the warm waters of the Japan current; the summer's heat is chilled by the cool winds wafted from the snow-covered mountains a few miles away. The water supply is brought down from the melting snows of the Olympics and is ever pure and cool.

"This place is the port of travelers and tourists who seek the beauties and pleasures of that favorite summer resort—Lake Crescent and adjacent lakes. These lakes are worthy of especial mention. Here the very best fishing to be had in fresh waters in Western Washington can be found. All kinds of hunting can be indulged. As one tramps over the trail, in many cases along-side a field of snow, pretty blooming flowers can be found shedding their fragrance upon the light, pure, mountain air, delighting the senses with their charms.

"The scenery of the Olympics is equal to that of any other part of the world in rugged picturesqueness and individuality. The clear, deep lakes of pure, crystal waters which nestle in the bosom of many a valley, hold in their surroundings a spirit of majesty and a soul of glory

TO THE SCHOOL DIRECTORS

Appeal by Superintendent for Better Understanding of Work and Teachers.

Teachers institutes are held for the purpose of strengthening and enthusing the teacher for his work. If the institute proves a help to the teacher, is it not reasonable that it will be helpful to parents; to those preparing themselves for teachers; to the boys and girls of our schools, from whose ranks our future teachers will be drawn, and especially to boards of directors, whose sacred duty it is to select teachers for our children.

As director you have taken an obligation to promote the interests of education, and faithfully perform the duties of school director. Is there any way in which you can better promote the interests of education than by attending the teachers institute? You'll gain many points there that will be of material assistance to you throughout the year. Take this opportunity to get acquainted with the teachers of your county, 'twill be a help to you in the discharge of your duties, and especially your most important duty of selecting a teacher for your own or neighbors' children.

Directors and parents, we want especially to have you with us at the institute. Let us work together to make our schools better and our teachers more efficient than ever before, remembering that the better schools we have, the less need for prisons.

The City Council.

The street car franchise asked for by Zbinden, Kennedy and Ballin was read, but received no further consideration. The streets asked for are First, Third, Eighth and Francis.

Bid of James Gibson, present city engineer, was accepted and contract ordered for another year. Matter of line work left open.

Petition for zig-zag and bridge on Albert between 4th and 6th streets, referred to street committee.

Bills allowed: Word $45, seven meters $74.55, supplies $23.30, warrant register $18.00.

Work Commences at Cannery.

Operations commenced again this week at Gorman Bros.' salmon cannery, a force of Chinese and Japs having arrived to make cans for the season's pack. This being the second year of the cycle, a fairly good run is expected. The contract with the Chinese calls for 20,000 cases, but it is thought the pack will be nearer 30,000 cases.

CAMPED AT THE HOH

Continuous Rain on Coast No Obstacle to Work on Survey.

Chas. Mock, who is at Hoh, packing for the railroad surveying crews, writes that that region is the most desolate country he was ever in. He says, "I neve saw so much rain in all my life, a constant downpour all the time. But business keeps on a steady gait just the same. People are all more or less web-footed down here anyway, so you see they are used to rain. The woods are full of surveyors and cruisers. Our camp is situated at the mouth of the Hoh where it empties into the ocean, a long ways south of the Clallam line. The continuous roar of the ocean as it echoes against the hills sounds like distant thunder. There is some fine timber in different parts of this country, but the timber between the ocean and East Clallam is something wonderful—spruce twelve feet on the stump are a common occurrence. We are working south to Grays Harbor, and I will keep you posted on progress of the work."

For a Cleaner City.

The Civic Club will hold a Cleaning Day the last Saturday of this month. All the boys and girls are asked to assist; those working from 9 to 12:30 can get picnic dinner in the park and enjoy the afternoon.

Gov. Folk has signed the bill passed by the recent session of the Missouri legislature prohibiting railway telegraph operators handling train orders from working more than eight hours in one day At day stations where but one operator is employed he may work twelve hours.

GOVERNMENT SERVICE FIRST

Postal Employes Must Not Be Members of Militia.

Washington, April 17.—That the duty of postoffice clerks and carriers who are members of militia companies is paramount to that of their military services at critical times is the decision of First Assistant Postmaster General Hitchcock regarding the employes of the postoffice now on strike duty at Lorain, Ohio, with a company of the Ohio national guard. The postmaster at Lorrain accordingly has been notified to have Capt. A. F. Gove and Sergeant Phinney either return to work immediately or resign their positions.

Mr. Hitchcock said that it repeatedly had been decided by the law officers of the government that prompt distribution and delivery of mail can not be interfered with for any reason whatever. The postoffice department maintains that none of its employes should belong to the national guard for this reason.

Court Closes Railroad Depot

Church Ferry, N. D., April 16.—Judge Cowan, of Devils Lake, directs that the station of the Great Northern railroad here be closed for a year because a drayman used it for storing beer, thus violating the state prohibition law. The drayman was fined $250 and sentenced to ninety days in jail. The costs were taxed against the Great Northern.

Two Cent Fares in Michigan

Lansing, Mich., April 16.—The two cent railroad fare bill recently passed by the senate has been passed by the house with only one dissenting vote.

CALLED TO WASHINGTON

Idaho District Attorney Summoned in Connection With Fraud Cases.

Boise, Idaho, April 17.—United States District Attorny Bulck has left for Washington, called there by the department of justice. It is understood he has been summoned in connection with the timber fraud cases and particularly the reported indictment of Senator Borah, formerly attorney for the Barber Lumber Company. The object of his going is not made nown, but it is the belief that this matter will be gone over fully there.

A copy of the testimony before the grand jury was taken for the attorney general. It is the belief here that no official announcement of the indictment will be made until the department has gone over the evidence, and this implies another conclusion, that should the evidence prove insufficient to warrant the action taken, the indictment will be dropped at once.

THAW JURY DIVIDED

SEVEN FOR CONVICTION, FIVE FOR ACQUITTAL.

Jerome Announces That He Will Again Put Defendant on Trial, Probably in October—Serious Division Among Attorneys for Defense.

New York, April 13.—Harry Thaw must make his fight for freedom anew.

After forty-seven hours of deliberation—which was rife with bitter quarrels and personal recriminations and almost led to blows—the jury yesterday afternoon confessed their inability to agree upon a verdict and were discharged by the court.

They stood seven for conviction and five for acquittal.

District Attorney Jerome immediately afterwards announced that he would put the defendant on trial again probably next October, and meanwhile he would oppose his admission to bail or a change of venue.

Simultaneously it became noised about the courthouse that the bitter animosity which has exiteds among counsel for Thaw all through the trial had been fanned into open warfare by dissatisfaction over the result, and that all of the lawyers with the exception of Dan O'Reilly were out of the case. The Thaws themselves lent color to this by their open disapproval of the conduct of the trial.

Followed by Chaos

In bief, chaos ensued. Frank statements were issued by the various lawyers in critical vein. Thaw was permitted to be hurried back to the Tombs, where he remained alone after brief visits from his wife and family, and the imposing array of counsel melted away and were lost in the vast crowd that surged about the criminal coruts building.

The end came with such dramatic suddenness that the disagreement was recorded in the minutes, the jury discharged—unkempt, disgruntled and split in factions—and the prisoner landed back in his cell before an intelligent realization of what had happened had come to any one.

And the tragedy of it all—the deep pathos, the heart-wringing agony—dawned only on the minds of the onlookers when they saw the frail, wan wife of the defendant stagger from the prison pen, blinded by her tears, and fall into the arms of Dan O'Reilly, as she sobbed a farewell to her husband.

Evelyn a Pitiful Figure

Thaw took it well, his mother, his sisters and his brothers bore up under the disappointment and returned to the Hotel Lorraine after speaking briefly with him.

She alone seemed to be the victim She alone showed the tragic effects of the long weeks of hope and fear, endured now for naught and cast into the limbo of mistrials.

In the rapid changing scenes of the trial she was always the central figure around which the drama moved. On the final scene on which the curtain descended she was again the embodiment of all the tragedy of the tremendous Thaw-White affair.

And now, with the case giving way to those of other murderers of less note, she continues, as she will do to the end, to be the lasting pitiful figure on which the eyes of all will center—the little child of the world, penniless amid wealth, homeless amid all the refinements of a sumptuous hotel, friendless, save for the one being in all the world upon whom her affections center, who, while despair knaws at her heart, must remain locked up in the dull gray prison, his life still trembling in the balance.

Stanford White, a New York architect, was shot by Harry K. Thaw on the night of June 25, in the Madison Square Gardens. Thaw was immediately arrested and taken to the Tombs. Following a grand jury indictment for murder he was again remanded to the Tombs, where he has been ever since that night.

The trial began January 23. Both sides have fought obstinately The feature of the proceedings was the confession of Evelyn Thaw, in a remarkable manner, of an assault by White. Thaw was adjudged sane by a lunacy commission of three memters April 4.

PRICE OF JUTE BAGS FIXED AT NINE CENTS

Olympia, April 16.—The price of jute grain bags manufactured at the penitentiary has been fixed by the state board of control at 9 cents as compared with 6 cents last year. The advance, it is explained, is due solely to the increased price of jute, some grades running as high as $30 per bale.

Texas Legislature Reconvened

Austin, Texas, April 16.—The Texas legislature adjourned Friday after a four months session and was reconvened in extraordinary session at once by Gov. Campbell. The governor during the session just ended has repeatedly demanded that the legislators pass stringen' anti-corporation tax laws, also certain legislation demanded by the Democratic platform. At the time of adjournment many of these laws had not been enacted.

A. O. U. W. AT ABERDEEN

Grand Lodge Addressed By Supreme Master Workman.

Aberdeen, April 12.—The special feature of the opening meeting of the A. O. U. W. convention, now in session here, was the address of Supreme Master Workman Narvis, who is at the head of the order in the United States.

At thei afternoon session of the convention, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Grand Master Workman, L. M. Sims, Kalama; grand foreman, A. M. Baldwin, Spokane; grand overseer, M. E. Lucas, Aberdeen; grand recorder, J. H. Hemer, Seattle; grand receiver, J. H. Rabbitt, Tacoma.

The thirteenth annual convention of the Degree of Honor is also in session here with most of the state officers and 200 delegates in attendance.

New Members to Get Flat Rate

Aberdeen, April 13.—Yesterday marked the close of the most successful state convention held by the grand lodges of the A. O. U. W. and Degree of Honor.

The principal topic of discussion in the Workmen's convention was the proposed flat rate assessment. The matter was thonroughly argued for two days, a decision being reached shortly before adjournment. This was that the present schedule should remain in effect, but that a flat rate should also be adopted which new members could take if they preferred, the use of either rate being optional with all members.

Degree of Honor Officers

Aberdeen, April 12.—The Degree of Honor election resulted as follows: Past grand chief of honor, Mrs. A. E. Clark, of Bellingham; grand chief of honor, Mrs. Jennie Wiscombe, of Spokane; grand lady of honor, Mrs. Elizabeth Richardson, of Olympia; grand chief of ceremonnies, Mrs. Annie L. Linn of Aberdeen; grand recorder, Mrs. Cora Kenoyer, of Chehalis; grand receiver, Emma P. Chadwick, of Colfax; grand usher, Daisy Wiley, of North Yakima; grand inside watch, Martha Vanhouten, of Bellingham; grand outside watch, Louise King, of Everett.

MEXICAN CITIES LEVELED BY SERIES OF SHOCKS

Chilpancingo, Mexico, April 16.—This city has been completely destroyed by an earthquake. The known dead number eleven and the badly injured twentyseven. The greatest panic prevails and people are fleeing to the open country. The earth continues to rock at intervals and many minor shocks are completing the work of destruction begun by the first earthquake. Word has reached here that the town of Chilapa, to the northeastward, has also been destroyed. The population of Chilpancingo is 7,418, and that of Chilapa is 15,000. It is also feared that Tixtla has been destroyed.

All communication with the west coast has been cut off since the movement of the first big shock and it is not known to what extent that region suffered Both the volcanoes of Colima and Jorulio are in this region. The earthquake, it is feared may cause these mountains to become more active and to destroy much property and many lives.

Reports Not Fully Credited.

Mexico City, April 16.—The federal telegraph office here has informed the Associated Press that the earthquake has interfered with the working of the wires in all parts of the republic south of a line drawn from Acupulco on the west coast to Tampico on the Gulf coast From messages received at the telegraph office it appears that the entire south half of the republic, including the lower country and the Mesaba belt, felt the shock.

The National Bank of Mexico has received a telegram saying that 500 lives were lost at the destruction of Chilapa and Chilpancingo. In government circles the report is not credited. It is admitted that both cities were leveled to the ground, but it is not thought that the death list will even approximate 500 owing to the fact that the houses were built to resist earthquake shocks. Both cities are so isolated that it is impossible to obtain accurate and rapid intelligence of the disaster.

Two Million Acres for University

Victoria, April 16.—The bill to set aside 2,000,000 acres of land for endowing a provincial university has passed through committee. H. E. Young, minister of education, would not consent to any reduction in the acreage, as he said he wanted an ample endowment. The government consented to allow the royalties from timber or coal in connection with any lands so set apart for the univervsity endownment to be transferred to the general fund revenues of the province. By a new amendment to the land act the government has raised the royalty on timber cut in the province from 50 cents to 75 cents a thousand.

Washington to Play Utah Football

Salt Lake, April 13.—The athletic board of the University of Utah has accepted the proposition of Washington university to play three games of football, the first to be at Seattle this fall, the second at Salt Lake next fall, and the third at Seattle in 1909.

Holds Indictments Good

Chicago, Apirl 13.—The federal court here has decided that the indictments against the Standard Oil Company are good and the case must go the jury on its merits.

PEACE CONFERENCE

President Roosevelt Sends Letter and Secretary Root Makes Speech—Andrew Carnegie and W. T. Stead Also Among the Speakers.

New York, Apri 116.—The peace congress, which is filling Carnegie Hall as it was never filled before, suffered a series of shocks on the opening day, though the weight of argument in the summing up was all for peace and the blotting out of war.

In the first place, the peace letter which President Roosevelt sent to the congress was not as peaceful as many of the delegates would have liked. The president was for peace, but he remembered his "big stick" and the Philippine policy of expansion and declared for justice first.

Then Elihu Root put a cold blanket on the hopes of many of the most ardent peacemakers by telling them that it was folly to hope for disarmament as a result of the coming congress at The Hague. He declared that an educated international public opinion alone would bring about peace and that this education would take time.

Long before the meeting began the vast hall was crowded. Great crowds of men and women stood outside the hall unable to enter. Andrew Carnegie, president of the congress, was in the chair. The chief interest was in the letter from President Roosevelt, in which he defined his attitude toward the peace movement.

For Righteousness First.

President Roosevelt, while admitting that he believed that considerable progress could be made toward peace by the nations, declared emphatically that justice and righteousness were more imporatnt than the preservation of peace. The letter was read by Edward Ely. It was greeted with applause.

Addresses were also made by Mayor McClellan Secretary Root, Gov. Hughes and Mr. Carnegie.

Secretary Root was the chief speaker of the day. After referring to the difficulties in the way of formulating an argeement that could be accepted by all the powers, he said:

"Nevertheless, the effort can be made; it may fail in this conference as it failed in the first, but if it fails one more step will have been taken toward ultimate success. Long continued and persistent effort is always necessary to bring mankind into conformity with great ideals.

"The government of the United States has considered that the second The Hague conference might well agree in putting some limitation upon the use of force for the collection of ordinary contract debts due by one government to the citizens of another.

Need of Arbitration.

"What we need for the further development of arbitration is the substitution of judiccal action for diplomatic action, the substitution of a judicial sense of responsibility for the diplomatic sense of responsibility. We need for arbitration not distinguished men concerned in all the international questions of the day, but judgs who will be interested in only the question appearing on the record before them.

"Plainly, this end is to be obtained by the establishment of a court of permanent judges who will have no other occupation and no other interest but the exercise o the judicial faculty under the sanction of that high sense of responsibility which has made the court of justice in the civilized nations of the world the exponent of all that is best and noblest in modern civiliaztion."

Gov. Hughes made an address full of hope for the cause of peace.

Carnegie Suggests League for Peace

Mr. Carnegie, the next speaker, in expatiating on his suggestion for a league of peace said:

"Recently six nations—Germany, Britain, France, Russia, Japan and our own country—combined their forces in China under command of a German general for a specific purpose, which was successfully accomplished. We urge this plan as the speediest and easiest means of attaining international peace. Nevertheless, the overwhelming force must be in reserve, each nation agreeing, when necessary, to exert force to keep peace and to contribute its agreed strength upon quota, just as the six powers did in China.

"Before resorting to force it would be well to begin by proclaiming nonintercourse with the offending nations. Force should always be the last resort, but it should be the last."

Mr. Carnegie thought that Emperor William had it now in his power to put such a scheme into operation if he would undertake the task.

Stead on Disarmament.

William T. Stead, the English peace advocate, who insisted on talking from the balcony back of the speakers' stand in order that the galleries might hear him, said:

"I don't come here representing any government. I never represented any government in my life, and I hope I never will. My position is one of much greater freedom.

"I stand as an Englishman ready to join hands with Americans to make the next Hague congress an even more memorable event than the first one, which owes its success to the way in which the United States and Great Britain stood as brothers, true and tried.

"That word disarmamnt should never have been spoken at a peace conference. I hate the word as the devil hates holy water. The minute you speak of it people think you are going to interfere and leave them at the mercy of their enemies.

"No government will propose to disarm at The Hague. I would not disarm one soldier. The cure is to prevent the reckless increase of armaments."

RAILROAD MEN AGREE TO SEVERAL REFORMERS

Olympia Wash., April 15.—In conference here with the state railroad commission, representatives of the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and O. R. & N. agreed to regulations the commission will make regarding better station facilities, providing for the bulletining of trains, etc., but opposed the other regulations as to extending the time for passage on first class tickets and as to mileage books. Indications are that the commission will insist upon these regulations also and that it will be up to the courts to enforce them if held to be lawful regulations.

Some of the visiting Oregon and Montana commissioners were interested spectators at the session. These commissioners were on their way to Portland, where they will attend the interstate commerce commission meeting, beginning today.

One of the most important results of the conference was the absolute argeement between the railroads and the commission that the roads will keep up a daily record of cars, showing in detail just what cars are furnished, and monthly a correct and detailed summary of this list will be filed with the commission. This list will show absolutely if there is any discrimination between shippers practiced by any of the roads.

Points All Agreed On

The regulations agreed to by the railroad representatives are the interchangeable two and one-half cents a mile mileage books, prompt redemption of unused tickets, that all delayed trains be bulletined at all stations at intervals and all regular trains be also listed on a public bulletin, that stations be supplied with water, heat, light, seats and toilet facilities and be kept clean before the time of arrival of trains.

The railroads all opposed a rule providing that all first class tickets should be good for sixty days. They claimed this would throw down the bars and would allow conductors to permit tickets to be used over and over again on short runs and would also allow people to travel on tickets which conductors had failed to take up.

As a general proposition the commission is well pleased over the conference, as the matters conceded are considered to be of great benefit to the traveling public, and the commission hopes to make its other rules effective over the objection of the roads.

Ordered to Raise Tariff

Washington, April 16.—In an opinion by the interstate commerce commission, the principle was laid down that a railroad company cannot arbitrarily determine that a particular establishment shall compete in certain markets with other localities, and that other similar establishments on its line shall not so compete, particularly where the discrimination is not justified by operating conditions. The defendants in the case of the Texas Cement Plaster Company against the St. Louis & San Francicso Railroad Company were ordered to adjust their tariffs accordingly and to pay the complainant reparation in the amount of excess charges and interest.

Inspection Law Void

Olympia, April 17.—The law providing for the appointment by county commissioners of county horticultural inspectors is void because in violation of section 5, article 11, of the state constitution, which requires that all county officers be elected. This is the unanimous decision of the state supreme court in the suit brought in the name of the state by B. V. Egbert against County Auditor Fred Blumberg, of Skagit county, to collect salary a s assistant county horticultural inspector.

Russia Fears Finns

St. Petersburg, April 16.—The Russian authorities are arranging for a strict blockade of Finland now that the season of navigation is approaching in order to prevent importation of arms by Finnsih or Russian revolutionists. Russia has instituted negotiations with Sweden and other powers for permission to use Aland island as a military and naval base.

Fairbanks to Speak at Seattle

New York, April 16.—The general secretary of the Society of United Christian Endeavor, William Shaw, announces that Vice President Fairbanks will address the 23d international Christian Endeavor convention which will be in session in Seattle July 10 to 15. His subject will be "Our Country—Its Problems and Possibilities."

Millers for Tariff Revision

Chicago, April 16.—Tariff revision along the lines of reciprocity with Canada and the countries of South America was favorably dicsussed at the convention of the Millers' National Federation in session here.

Spring Humors

Impure or effete matters accumulated in the blood during the winter cause in the spring such disfiguring and painful troubles as boils, pimples, and other eruptions, also weakness, loss of appetite, that tired feeling.

The best medicine to take is Hood's Sarsaparilla, which thoroughly cleanses the blood, and effects permanent cures by giving healthy functional activity to the stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels and skin.

Sarsatabs are Hood's Sarsaparilla in chocolated tablet form. They have identically the same curative properties as the liquid form, besides accuracy of dose, convenience, economy, no loss by evaporation, breakage, or leakage. $1, of druggists or promptly of us by mail. C. I. Hood Co., Lowell, Mass.

Mrs. L. Bickford, Gossville, N. H., says: "Every spring I was completely prostrated, run down, from dyspepsia and that tired feeling. But I have found Hood's Sarsaparilla helps me from the first dose, completely restores good health and strength."

Oyster Shortcake.

Sift two cups of pastry flour with four level teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one-quarter teaspoonful of salt. Rub in one-quarter cup of butter and mix with nearly one cup of milk. Add the last cautiously in order not to have the dough too soft to handle. Divide in halves and put each half on the floured molding board. Pat one to fit a round pan. Spread one part with soft butter, lay the other half on and bake until well browned. Tear the two portions apart, lay on a platter and pour one quart of creamed oysters over.

Hospitality that Greets the Stranger on a Southern Farm.

Ever hang your horse up at the gate of the average small farmer's house about an hour before noon or sundown and get his promise of "a meal's victuals" and a night's rest? If not you've missed a great experience. You are taken out to the back porch, where a big tin basin sits on a long, low shelf. There is cool water a-plenty, with yellow soap and clean, rough towels. You and the master of the house compose yourselves in big splint-bottom rocking chairs, light your pipes and watch your "critter" rolling in the stable lot, while a small black person waits for him to get through, holding two bundles of sweet-smelling fodder to give him afterward.

Soon a swarm of colored children with an assortment of cur dog comes trooping into the yard. "Hi, dere, Cindy!" "Sick 'em, Tige!" And away go the chickens, with the dogs and pickaninnies after them. There is a vast clatter and uproar of clucks and screams, and, presently, somewhere under the house you catch the sound of chokes and squawks which signify assassination.

At last, after inhaling many grateful odors, you are summoned to the living room and there, assembled without ostentation, are the fried relics of your feathered friends, great cuts of savory home-made bacon, heaps of fresh eggs, cooked on both sides, hot biscuits and cornbread, honey, yellow milk, steaming coffee and slabs of butter, with the perfume of the clover rich upon it. So you feast!

Any industrious and patient and determined man can build for himself just such a home in almost any Southern neighborhood. There is no room in that region for the incendiary agitator—for the man who preaches discontent and expects to thrive on social chaos. But the honest toiler, equipped with the very smallest glimme rof intelligence and thrift, can build a competence for himself and bestow upon his family heath, happiness and civilization. Take it or leave it.—Washington Post.

REPENTED OF HIS BARGAIN.

A certain young man of literary tastes has two somewhat incongruous yet almost equally expensive fads—a fondness for dogs of illustrious pedigree and a love for first editions of celebrated books. One day he invited a friend to his house to see two of his latest acquisitions. One of them was an imported bull-terrier, and the other was a rare copy of a work by a celebrated Boston author. He exhibited the dog first.

"Isn't he a beauty!" he exclaimed. "He's the finest specimen of that breed that was ever brought to this town, and I got him for about half what he is worth. Yes, he's perfectly harmless, and as gentle as he can be. Now I'll show you something in the book line that you don't see every day. Cost me a good round sum of money, too."

They went into the library, and the first thing that caught his eye was the mangled wreck of his cherished volume lying on the table. He summoned his colored valet.

"Sam," he said, wrathfully, "what has happened to this book? I wouldn't have had it ruined for a hundred dollars!"

"Hit wuz de dawg, suh," answered Sam. "You lef' 'im in hyuh when yo' went away, suh, an' he done chawed it all up. Ve'r sorry, suh."

The following advertisement appeared among the small "ads" in a local paper the next day:

"Wanted — To Exchange — A full-blooded imported bull-terrier dog, of the finest breed, for a copy of the first edition of 'The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table.'"

CHANCE FOR MOSLEM GIRLS.

Educational Advantages Offered in Turkey Signs of an Awakening.

In Turkey there are 1,500 schools in which girls receive education. There are forty secondary schools having 3,000 girls on their rolls. The learning of koran is compulsory and arithmetic, geography and elementary science are taught. Teaching has now become a respectable profession and young women, after passing the normal examinations, elect to become tutoresses in distant parts of the empire.

Those who are in a position to prosecute their studies to the highest standard learn the French, English and German languages, which they speak fluently. In Constantinople young women go up for the medical profession and there are more than 300 nurses at the present day. Female education is not an innovation among the Mohammedans of the present day.

Arab and Moorish women in their palmy days, when their European sisters were steeped in ignorance, would deliver sermons and would profess in colleges and schools. The present deplorable position of the Mohammedan females is due to the general degradation of the nation. An awakening is now taking place in some parts of the Mohammedan world and the day may possibly dawn again when the stain of ignorance may be wiped off from the Mohammedan women of this country with the help of government.—Calcutta Country and People.

To Live Long.

Do you care to round out a full century of life?

Then hearken to the precepts of Dr. J. B. S. King, as submitted to the Natural Health Club of Chicago:

"The first thirty-three years of a man's life is for growth," Dr. King asserts. "The next thirty-three-year period is for work, and man's remaining years are for the enjoyment of the fruits of labor.

"Stoutness at 40 is as much a sign of old age as gray hair. When it is noticed the diet should be cut down one-third.

"The ideal old age is to be lean, spare and active.

"For paleness eat lean meat and spinach.

"To make gray brain matter, eat eggs, beans and oats.

"For sound sleep, eat onions and garlic.

"For a pure brain stimulant, drink coffee.

"After exhausting mental labor, eat yolk of eggs.

"After exhausting physical labor drink infused tea.

"Oats for children and Indian corn for adults form almost perfect food. Meat is the only food for a severe effort. Too much meat, however, causes bad temper. The nearest approach to a perfect brain stimulant is coffee.

"For a sudden strong effort or severe trial eat meat.

"For a long-continued effort or endurance eat cereals."

The Marion (Ohio) Star says a four-year-old oyster is best for eating purposes. But how are we going to induce an oyster to tell its age?

"THE MARRYING SQUIRE."

Justice Geo. E. Law, of Brazil, Ind., Has Married 1,400 Couples.

Justice Geo. E. Law, of Brazil, Ind., has fairly earned the title "The Marrying Squire," by which he is known far and wide, having already married some 1,400 couples. Ten years ago he was deputy county treasurer. "At that time," said Justice Law, "I was suffering from an annoying kidney trouble. My back ached, my rest was broken at night, and the passages of the kidney secretions were too frequent and contained sediment. Three boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills cured me in 1897, and for the past nine years I have been free from kidney complaint and backache."

Home-Made Cough Candy.

A simple home-made cough candy, which an old-fashioned house-mother offers, is as follows: Soak a gill of whole flaxseed in half a pint of boiling water. In another dish put a cupful of broken bits of slippery elm, and cover this also with boiling water. Let them stand for two hours, then strain them both through a muslin bag into a saucepan containing a pound and a half of granualted sugar. Extract all the liquor you can, stir the sugar until it is melted, then allow it to boil until it turns to candy. After the syrup has cooked ten minutes, before it candies, add the juice of two lemons. When it candies pour it immediately on greased papers.

A British sailor who coughed when silence was ordered was dropped several grades. A cough-drop, so to speak.

The British navy has a destroyer of a torpedo boat destroyer. Now we want a destroyer of a destroyer of a torpedo boat destroyer.

Orange Marmalade.

Do not peel the oranges, but slice two dozen of them and take out the seeds. Slice and seed two large unpeeled lemons. Do this work with a sharp knife, as the slices must be very thin. Save all the juice and measure it, adding enough water to make three quarts of liquid. Put fruit and liquid into a stone crock, cover and set in the cellar all night. In the morning turn into a preserving kettle and bring slowly to a gentle boil. Simmer until the fruit-rind is very tender. Now allow a pound of sugar for each pint of liquid and add this to the fruit. Boil again until the rind looks clear and is very tender. Take from the fire and when cool turn into jelly glasses.

Corn Puree.

Drain the liquor from a can of corn, chop the corn very fine, add to it a quart of salted water and simmer at the side of the range for an hour. Rub through a colander, return to the fire, add a teaspoonful of sugar and when this melts stir in a tablespoonful of butter rubbed to a paste with a tablespoonful of flour. Stir until smooth, then add slowly to a pint of scalding milk into which a pinch of baking soda has been stirred. When near the boiling point remove from the fire and pour gradually, beating all the time, upon two well-whipped eggs. Season and serve immediately.

"They that go down to the sea in ships, that do business in great waters," are relatively safer than those who travel and work on American railroads. In 1905, according to the Interstate Commerce Commission, 3,898 persons were killed and 76,524 injured in railroad accidents in the United States; the figures for 1906 are not yet compiled. Of the killed 3,361 were employes of the railroads and 66,833 of the injured were employes. There is a painful impression that the casualties of 1906 will exhibit still larger totals. Sea travel on the Transatlantic steamships is less harzardous than making the passage of Broadway at 23d street in New York. Indeed, one is more likely to be struck by lightning in bed at home than to lose one's life as a passenger by one of the old reliable lines.

Indoor life, with the numerous artificial and unwholesome conditions which it imposes, is a powerful factor in lowering the vitality, diminishing the power to resist disease and in maintaining a continual contact with conditions productive of disease. Monkeys and most other wild animals deteriorate rapidly in captivity because of the deprivation of the fresh air and sunshine to which they are naturally adapted. Civilized women are almost compelled to live sedentary lives. This fact accounts in large degree for the almost universal invalidism among them.

A Case of Spring Catarrh.

Mrs. N. P. Lawler, 423½ N. Broadway, Pittsburg, Kas., writes: "Last spring I caught a severe cold, which developed into a serious case of catarrh. I felt weak and sick, and could neither eat nor sleep well.

"A member of our club who had been cured of catarrh through the use of Peruna advised me to try it, and I did so at once. I expected help, but nothing like the wonderful change for the better I observed almost as soon as I started taking it. In three days I felt much better, and within two weeks I was in fine health. SKIN DISEASES
HUMORS IN THE BLOOD

When the blood is pure, fresh and healthy, the skin will be soft, smooth and free from blemishes, but when some acid humor takes root in the circulation its presence is manifested by a skin eruption or disease. These humors get into the blood, generally because of an inactive or sluggish condition of the members of the body whose duty it is to collect and carry off the waste and refuse matter of the system. This unhealthy matter is left to sour and ferment and soon the circulation becomes charged with the acid poison. The blood begins to throw off the humors and acids through the pores and glands of the skin, producing Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Psoriasis, Salt Rheum and skin eruptions of various kinds. Eczema appears, usually with a slight redness of the skin followed by pustules from which there flows a sticky fluid that dries and forms a crust, and the itching is intense. It is generally on the back, breast, face, arms and legs, though other parts of the body may be affected. In Tetter the skin dries, cracks and bleeds; the acid in the blood dries up the natural oils of the skin, which are intended to keep it soft and pliant, causing a dry, feverish condition and giving it a hard, leathery appearance. Acne makes its appearance on the face in the form of pimples and black heads, while Psoriasis comes in scaly patches on different parts of the body One of the worst forms of skin trouble is Salt Rheum; its favorite point of attack is the scalp, sometimes causing baldness. Poison Oak and Ivy are also disagreeable types of skin disease. The humor producing the trouble lies dormant in the blood through the Winter to break out and torment the sufferer with the return of Spring. The best treatment for all skin diseases is S. S. S. It neutralizes the acids and removes the humors so that the skin instead of being irritated and diseased, is nourished by a supply of fresh, healthy blood. External applications of salves, washes, lotions, etc., while they soothe the itching caused by skin affections, can never cure the trouble because they do not reach the blood. S. S. S. goes down into the circulation and forces out every particle of foreign matter and restores the blood to its normal, pure condition, thereby permanently curing every form of skin affection. Book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice desired sent free to all who write. S. S. S. is for sale at all first class drug stores

I suffered with Eczema for forty years and could find nothing to cure me until I tried S. S. S. I suffered intensely with the itching and burning; pustules would form from which there flowed a sticky fluid; crusts would come on the skin and when scratched off the skin was left as raw as a piece of beef. I suffered agony in the long years I was afflicted, but when I used S. S. S. I found a perfect cure. There has never been any return of the trouble.

CULTIVATE CIVIC PRIDE

"Why Not Make Angeles Beautiful?" Asks a Progressive Citizen.

Every newcomer admires the townsite, but no one admires the town. Every inhabitant enjoys the sea and the mountains, but few enjoy their own dooryards. Angeles is full of opportunities—unimproved.

Beauty and homelikeness are not to be found in treeless streets and unkept lawns. The poorest shack may be made neat and picturesque if nature is assisted. Whether the railroad comes in one year or five, we should see the town beautified in the meantime. Some have taken pains to improve their homes, but we see no reason why these citizens should be exceptional. Because the first growth fir and cedar of twenty years ago were dangerous and had to be removed is no reason for preserving their stumps and setting out no trees to take their place. By all means let us remove the rubbish and keep it removed, and then why not do a little landscape gardening, both on private homes and on the city streets?

Nothing erases first impressions, and unpainted homes, unkempt lawns, tumble down fences, ruinous sidewalks, dilapidated school houses, stumpy streets, wandering herds of cattle, make first impressions disasterous to the fair name of Angeles. Homeseekers would come and stay if they could see more attractive homes to live alougside of. With its marvelously beautiful setting and unequaled climate Angeles might easily become the garden city of the state—a Mecca for tourists and the pride of its citizens. Why not?

We intend to record in this column from time to time such improvements as are brought to our attention, including new buildings, painting, landscape gardening, setting out of hedges, shrubbery, shade trees, laying sidewalks, and beautifying or improving the streets of the city.

These tracts comprise about four hundred and fifty fine, sightly, large lots adjoining the government townsite, facing the City Park, and fronting upon the one hundred foot boulevard. The company has placed the property on the market and are rapidly disposing of it. Mr. Owens, the president, when here this week, stated that it would all be sold within the next sixty days, which would seem very probable in view of the extensive advertising in the way of large posters and folders they are putting out, and the fact that they are establishing agencies in Tacoma, Everett, and Bellingham, and will advertise largely in the papers of those cities.

For speculative purposes, buying as an investment in the belief of rapid growth of Angeles, there could be no better property. Lincoln Heights is destined to become one of the three best sections of the city. The soil is good, the additions are level, and when finally improved will make a beautiful park-like residence district. They are offering the lots on terms of $10 down and $5 per month.

He who can choke the sweet flowers of social love, and taint them with disease; or in the paradise of earthly bliss, where the plants of virtue flourish, spread the blight and mildew of desolation, hatred and distrust—who can crush his neighbor's fame to dust, and build on its ruins—who can write infamy on the brow of others, to prove his own purity, is neither man or beast, but a heartless fiend. Those who have seen their dearest interest tampered with; who know what it is to have the priceless gem of a good name sullied by the poisonous breath of cold, uppitying slander, these best can say, he has no heart. If the lightning's flash ever darts from heaven to strike the guilty down, it will blast the hope of murders such as these.

The grain bags manufactured at the State penitentiary will this season be sold at nine cents, a raise from six and a half cents, the price last year. The increase in cost of jute accounts for the raise.

The "Henderson"

Perfection at Every Point

The foundation of a perfect fitting gown is a properly fitted corset, therefore you should be correctly corseted before you have your new gown fitted. The corset that will give you the most stylish figure is the Henderson and with the style is combined comfort and durability. The new Fashion Form models are designed to give the graceful, rounded tapering waist effect that is so popular with good dressers at this time. Properly fitted with one of these corsets, you are not only comfortable, but may rest assured that your new gown will be fitted to a stylish figure. We carry a very complete line of these high grade corsets and cordially invite you to inspect them. It is a pleasure to show goods at our store.

The Knock-out Blow.

The blow which knocked out Corbett was a revelation to the prize fighters. From the earliest days of the ring the knock-out blow was aimed for the jaw, the temple or the jugular vein. Stomach punches were thrown in to worry and weary the fighter, but if a scientific man had told one of the old fighters that the most vulnerable spot was the region of the stomach, he'd have laughed at him for an ignoramus. Dr. Pierce is bringing home to the public a parallel fact; that the stomach is the most vulnerable organ out of the prize ring as well as in it. We protect our heads, throats, feet and lungs, but the stomach we are utterly indifferent to, until disease finds the solar plexus and knocks us out. Make your stomach sound and strong by the use of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and you protect yourself in your most vulnerable spot. "Golden Medical Discovery" cures "weak stomach," indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver, bad, thin and impure blood and other diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" has a specific curative effect upon all mucous surfaces and hence cures catarrh, no matter where located or what stage it may have reached. In Nasal Catarrh it is well to cleanse the passages with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy fluid while using the "Discovery" as a constitutional remedy. Why the "Golden Medical Discovery" cures catarrhal diseases, as of the stomach, bowels, bladder and other pelvic organs will be plain to you if you will read a booklet of extracts from the writings of eminent medical authorities, endorsing its ingredients and explaining their curative properties. It is mailed free on request. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. This booklet gives all the ingredients entering into Dr. Pierce's medicines from which it will be seen that they contain not a drop of alcohol, pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead.

Order to Show Cause

In Probate No. 322.

Order to show cause why the Administratrix' final report herein should not be by the Court approved and distribution of said estate made.

In the Superior Court of the State of Washington, for Clallam County.

Annie Thomas, administratrix with the will annexed of the estate of John Thomas, deceased, late of said Clallam county, having filed in this court her report of her final actions herein, and her petition setting forth that said estate is now in condition to be closed and distribution of the residue thereof be made to the heirs, legatees and persons entitled thereto and it appearing to the court that said petition sets forth facts sufficient to authorize an approval of said final report and a distribution of the residue of said estate.

It is therefore ordered by the court that all persons interested in the estate of the said John Thomas deceased, be and appear before the said Superior Court of the State of Washington for Clallam county, at the court room of said court, in the city of Port Angeles, on the 18th day of May, A. D. 1907, at the hour of ten (10) o'clock in the forenoon of said day, then and there to show cause, if any they have, why an order approving and confirming said final report of said administratrix and ordering and directing that a distribution should not be made of the residue of said estate among the heirs and legatees of said estate according to the showing and prayer of said report and petition and according to law. It is further ordered, by the court, that a copy of this order be published once a week for four consecutive weeks before said 25th day of May 1907, in the "Olympic Leader," a newspaper printed and published in Clallam county and of general circulation therein.

Done in open court this 19th day of April, 1907.

LESTER STILL, Judge.

State of Washington, county of Clallam, ss.: I, E. A. Fitzhenry, Clerk of the Superior Court of the State of Washington, for Clallam county, do here certify, that the above and foregoing instrument is a true, correct, and complete copy of an order of said court, to show cause why the final report of said administratrix be not approved and why distribution of said estate should not be made, made and entered in said court on the 18th day of May 1907.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set [SEAL] my hand and official seal of said court this 19th day of May 1907.

E. A. FITZ HENRY, Clerk
A. A. Richardson, Att'y.

OBITUARIES.

LEVI H. CAYS

Levi H. Cays, age 73, died at his home in Port Angeles, Saturday morning, Apr. 27, 1907. Most of his life had been spent in Dungeness. He was carried there for interment.

It is with sadness we see an old "landmark" disappear. It is to them we owe our gratitude for the development of this country. It is they who bore the hardships of earlier days.

"Uncle Levi," as he was commonly called, will be missed, for his home was always noted for free, old fashioned hospitality, where all were made welcome.

A large assembly of relatives, friends and neighbors assembled at the M. E. church, Tuesday, 1 o'clock, in Dungeness, when the funeral services were conducted by Rev. Edwards, pastor of the Congregational church, Port Angeles, assisted by Rev. Bell, Dungeness. Then the body was taken to the cemetery where he was laid beside his wife, Jane Foresman Cays.

He leaves five children, a number of grandchildren and a widow, who has been his companion for a little more than a year, who have the sympathy of his friends. COM.

DUDLEY FOWLER

Dudley Cooper Fowler, son of Mrs. Richard Fowler, was born in Lawrence, Kansas, Sept. 18, 1391, and died at the Medical Lake Institute, April 27, 1907, at the age of 15 yrs., 8 mo. and 9 days. Funeral services were held at the home in Angeles, Wednesday, Rev. Edwards officiating.

CARD OF THANKS.

To the ladies of the W. R. C. and other friends who assisted in the services, we wish to extend our heartfelt thanks. Mrs. R. Fowler.

RACHEL McFADDEN.

Rachel McFadden, daughter of William and Martha Scott, was born in Vermont on the 20th day of May, 1812, and died in Port Angeles, Washington, April 25, 1907, having attained unto the advanced age of ninety-four years, 11 months and 5 days. Deceased is survived by nine children, five sons and four daughters. Five of these children are residents of Port Angeles, as follows: Mrs. J. M. Martin, Mrs. Wearmouth, M. S., Geo. E. and S. S. McFadden

Mother McFadden has been a resident of Port Angeles during the past fifteen years. She has been permitted to live a life extending through nearly three generations; doubtless her rest is well earned and sweet.

Funeral services from First M. E. Church, Monday, April 29, conducted by the Pastor, Rev. G. H. Simons.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to extend our heartfelt thanks to our friends and neighbors who so kindly helped during the sickness and death of our beloved wife and mother, and especially the W. R. C. and G. A. R. and the choir, also those who sent flowers.

"You look as if you'd just eaten a lemon somebody had handed you," observed the flat dweller to the suburban householder. "What's wrong?"

"Everything's wrong," replied the householder, gloomily. "Nothing's right. Society is rotten to its core; our youth is degenerate, our government is a farce, morality is dying, religion is dead, honor is an empty name, marriage is a failure, life is a hollow mockery. There's nothing to it."

"That so?" asked the flat dweller, cheerfully, as he handed his coat to a waiter. "How's the grub to-day?"

"Dead sea fruit and gall and bitterness."

"Bring me a pint bottle of hyssop, William, and see if you've got any funeral baked meats," said the flat dweller. "Never mind that order, though. On considerationfi you may make it the usual thing and hand me the bill of fare. What's the specific trouble?"

"My wife announced this morning that she is going to clean house early this year and have done with it," said the householder. "You know what that means."

"I suppose it means house cleaning."

"That's the size of it, exactly. It's liable to happen any time now. I'll go home some evening and find all the furniture out on the front porch, fall headlong over a bucket of paint in the hall and I'll know that it's begun. For the next two weeks I shall eat my dinner in various rooms of the house, beginning in the children's bedroom and winding up in the summer kitchen. I won't be able to sit down on anything without sticking to the varnish. I shall taste soapsuds in everything I eat and get fresh paint over all my clothes. In the morning I shall be aroused from slumber by the rhythmic whack of the carpet beater and the drafts from the open windows will give me the influenza. My wife will go about in a dusting cap and a wet gingham apron and my wearing apparel will be scattered around from the garret to the basement."

"It must be pretty bad."

"Must be pretty bad? You bet it is."

"I imagine it is."

"You imagine? Don't you know it is?"

"Well, not by actual personal experience," replied the flat dweller. "Only by hearing unfortunates like you tell about it."

"Do you mean to tell me that your folks don't clean house?"

"Certainly they don't."

"You mean to say that you are sensible enough to let things go in a sane, orderly way year in and year out without wrecking your happy home just because the leaves are budding?"

"I didn't say that," said the flat dweller.

"Then what in nation do you do?"

"Do?" echoed the flat dweller. "We move."—Chicago Daily News.

GOOD Short Stories

A newly elected squire in Wisconsin was much elated by his honors, but was not sure that he could carry them gracefully. So he haunted the court house for weeks that he might gather up crumbs of wisdom from the judicial table of the higher station. Finally he sat in judgment on his first case, and when the testimony was all in and the argument made, he said: "The court takes this case under advisement until next Wednesday morning, when it will render a verdict in favor of the defendant."

Mrs. Rachel Foster Avery, the noted woman suffrage leader, was talking in Philadelphia about divorce. "Ill temper is at the root of divorce," Mrs. Avery said. "Men and women are not so vicious as some people think. Impatience causes more divorces than immorality. When I was living in Pittsburg I called one day on a certain married woman. At dinner time my hostess rang for the maid. She said: 'Mary, is that Mr. Brown downstairs; I thought I heard him just now.' 'No'm,' Mary answered. 'That wuz the dawg what wuz growlin'.'"

Smith had come home later than usual, and had ready a good explanation, but his wife gave him no chance, and immediately began to tell him what she thought of him. He endured it patiently all evening, quietly read his paper, and went to bed. His wife was still talking. When he was almost asleep he could hear her still scolding him unmercifully. He finally dropped off to sleep, and awoke, after a couple of hours, only to hear his wife remark: "I hope all the married women don't have to put up with such conduct as this." "Annie," said Smith, "are you talking again or yet?"

To the author this decisive utterance by the no longer patient lawyer: "But really, sir, I must insist that you give me some definite idea as to when you will settle." The author consented to lower his eyes and to wave his pipe languidly. "Why, certainly, sir—though there seems to me to be a rather unnecessary commotion about this trifle," he drawled. "I will pay the bill as soon as I think of it after receiving the money which a publisher will pay me in case he accepts the novel which I will write and send him just as soon as I feel in an energetic mood after a really good idea for a plot has occurred to me!"

Mrs. Clews-Parsons, whose book on marriage has created so much excitement, said at a dinner in New York: "They who are happily married are shocked at the idea of trial marriages, but they who are unhappily linked together, and are yet too proud and sensitive to get a divorce, must see much in the idea that is of value. How many marriages would be dissolved if the dissolution could be accomplished without shame! How many married people feel toward each other like a husband I heard of the other day! He said to his wife at breakfast, crustily: 'I dreamed about you last night.' 'What did you dream?' she asked. 'I dreamed I caught a chap running away with you.' 'And what did you say to him?' she inquired listlessly. 'I asked him what he was running for.'"

Necessity usually knows a good thing when it sees it, even if it does fall down on a law examination.

CUBA IS PROSPERING.

Ships Fruit to This Country and Gets Growers from It.

It is said that the orange crop which was gathered in Cuba in January is the largest the island has known. Nearly 700,000 crates were shipped to the United States.

As for pineapples, the shipments from Cuba to this country grew from 341,657 crates in 1900 to 878,962 crates last year.

Cuban tomatoes, raised in large quantities near Guines, forty miles from Havana, were commanding $5 a crate in New York on New Year's day. About 400,000 crates have reached the United States this year.

Tomato raising is a new idea in Cuba and has not as yet been entered into very extensively, but growers are devoting more attention to tomatoes than ever before. They can be raised much more cheaply than any other vegetable grown on the island, and thirty-five acres can be set out at a cost of less than $100.

Buyers on the island pay 80 cents a crate and often $1, during the season. The duty is only 10 cents and the freight 35 cents. The heaviest shipments are made in March and early April, at a time which is not interfered with by the Florida vegetable.

Early in January the exports of onions began from Cuban ports, and these proved greatly in demand in New York, selling for $3.25 a crate. The stock is reported nice and clean, but exceptionally scarce.

Until recently conditions in Cuba have been unsettled, because the wealthy Spaniards who have been advancing the grower money were not putting any money out for fear there might be another insurrection when the American soldiers withdraw in June. But this situation has been relieved by American importers who have readly advanced what money was necessary.

The number of growers in Cuba has multplied over that of a year ago. More than six hundred citizens of the United States have acquired lands on the island and are settng out orange groves, sugar and pineapple plantations, tobacco fields and the like.

BOSTON WAITERS GROW RICH.

Neglected Woman Declares Husband Gets Generous Tips Every Week.

A veteran woman in petitioning for a divorce from her husband, who is a waiter, has caused some little stir by affirming that her spouse receives $26 per week in tips while he is at work.

The woman avers in her petition that her husband received $4 a week in one place, $15 in another one, and got $26 on the side. She further alleged that her husband had put away in a prominent bank the sum of $1,200, which she asks that he shall be enjoined from drawing out.

Investigation among the waiters of Boston reveals the fact that a good waiter might make as much as this in tips, or even more. It all depends upon where he is, who he is, what his disposition may be, and what sort of customers he may happen to wait upon.

For instance, if he happened to have a good station in some one of the big downtown restaurants he might make from $4 to $5 extra each day in fees. Of course, he would not make so much were he in the suburbs or in some of the cafes that are not patronized by the wealthy. Take the Whipple Hotels, for instance. The head waiter at one of them there says some of his waiters would make $26 or even more in fees during the winter season when the theaters were running full blast.—Boston Post.

FAMOUS BEAUTY FROWNS ON PHYSICAL CULTURE FAD

LA MILO.

La Milo, the most famous beauty in Europe, and who artists declare could have served as a model for Venus de Milo, declares that physical culture threatens to spoil feminine pulcritude.

"I don't recommend physical culture which develops muscle and makes one part of the body abnormal at the expense of the other," says La Milo. "A woman does not want to have great muscular limbs. She ought to go to the famous statues and study them. The poetic ideal of the sculptor represents the highest form of feminine beauty, and all a girl should desire in the matter of physical loveliness is to reach, as far as possible, the exquisite proportions of the graven gems which are sheltered in our sculpture galleries. Physical culture is against all canons of true art for women. It was never intended that a woman should emulate a man, whose glory lies in his strength."

AIR ALWAYS FULL OF DUST.

Particles Not Observed Because Too Small to Reflect Light.

"A most interesting study," a prominent government scientist recently remarked, "is that of what might be termed the foreign elements of the atmosphere. The earth's atmosphere contains an enormous quantity of dust, and it is everywhere, in the country as well as in the towns.

"The reason why we do not see it constantly is that the particles do not reflect enough light to make an impression on the retina. A ray of bright sunlight in a dark room reveals innumerable particles, and yet the millions we see are but a small proportion of the whole, being the larger particles.

"It is not at all difficult to collect these particles for the purposes of study. Probably the most successful way is that first used by Pasteur, who drew a stream of air through a tube containing nitrated cotton. The cotton was then dissolved by treating it with ether and the residue washed and dried. The particles may be measured by means of a fine micrometer, a late perfection of which enables measurements of as little as one-seventy-millionth of an inch to be made.

"How these particles are loosed in the air may be readily seen when it is remembered that all mechanical action has a tendency to reduce to a powder whatever substance is in fractional contact, even the waves beating upon the shore make a dust. Rain in falling collects considerable quantities of this dust and snow still larger amounts. This accounts for the 'red snow' sometimes heard of, the color being caused by mineral particles.

"Of the total weight of the atmospheric dust about 65 to 75 per cent is inorganic matter. This portion is absolutely harmless, but in the 25 to 35 per cent of organic matter are to be found germs of almost every kind, and particularly in cities is this percentage dangerous to humanity.

"In the inorganic portion have been found practically all mineral substances, including the metals sodium, calcium, magnesium, aluminum, nickel, cobalt and iron. Iron appears in much greater quantity than any other metal, much of that coming from planetary space. The rushing of meteorites through space causes a friction which gradually reduces them to powder containing much iron, some of which joins the earth's atmosphere."

Never Fenzed Her.

"Delia," began Mrs. Newliwed, timidly, "I don't suppose—er—that you would—er—object to my getting an alarm clock?"

"Not at all, ma'am," replied the sleepy cook; "them things never disturb me at all."—Philadelphia Press.

THE DOWN-AND-OUT CLUB.

THE Down-and-Out Club has its members in every city, town, village and hamlet of the country; you brush against them in the congested marketing places; you find them far from the haunts of men, drowning their lives in idleness, eating the bread of self-reproach, and drinking the leaves that are always found in the bottom of the chalice of pleasure.

Men come into membership in the club in a particular way; some very few, however, come to its entrance by the avenue of sickness and pain; some trudge along "Weariness street," others through "Laziness alley" and still others over the rough and rugged path of "Don't Care."

You have no difficulty in recognizing a Down-and-Outer wherever he may be. He has a hang-dog, dejected, beaten and buffeted appearance. He shows in his face that he has lost all hope and doesn't care whether school keeps or not. His handshake is weak and flabby, and as he replies to your questions he has a shifty look in his eye and a whine in his voice that declare in unmistakable language that he has taken his past master's degree in the club. His clothing is unkempt, soiled and frayed. He is listless, weary, sad and, above all, excessively tired of it all. Rarely is it that a man who comes into full membership in the Down-and-Out Club ever takes his papers of resignation from it. He knows he has been a fool to identify himself with it, yet he lacks the courage to say to his fellow clubmen, "I am going to get out."

It does not require much energy to get into the club. On the contrary, it is the lack of energy that lands the member within the precinct of the Down-and-Outers. But it does take courage, tremendous pluck and determined stick-to-itiveness for a man when once a member or on the verge of membership to get up and away from the noxious influence that, while stupefying, still attracts the men to membership in the club.—Utica Globe.

MAINTAINING GOOD ROADS.

THE amount of ignorance, or indifference, displayed in the neglect of new macadamized roads would scarcely be credible to a European, who has been accustomed to witness the watchful care with which the famous roads of Europe are maintained and the very first signs of wear corrected. Instead of keeping a gang of men employed in the constant, day-by-day, repair of weak spots, hollows and ruts, our authorities in many cases seem to think that it is sufficient to spread a few loads of top dressing over the whole surface of the road annually or biennially, as the case may be, and let it go at that. Under this method the solid portions of the road receive just as much care as those which have developed soft spots and shown the need of more extended repair. The top dressing serves no better purpose than to temporarily cover up the damage of the last season's travel, and in a few weeks' time the surface is about as badly, if not more, broken up than before. Matters go from worse to worse until there is a call for drastic remedies. In nine cases out of ten the drastic remedy consists in breaking up the entire surface, and practically rebuilding the road.

Now, it has been proved to a demonstration, not merely in Europe, but in certain sections of this country where the maintenance of roads is intelligently and conscientiously carried on, that if a macadamized road be properly built in the first instance, with firm foundation, adequate drainage, and an ample crown to shed the water from its surface; and if a small force of men answering to the section gang on a steam railroad, be kept constantly employed in repairing any incipient wear of the road, such a highway need never be rebuilt, but will be good for all time. That is the great lesson which needs to be enforced by the advocates of good roads.—Scientific American.

REBUILDING SAN FRANCISCO.

THE largest American city of the Pacific coast, so nearly obliterated in its physical features, has sufficiently restored itself to be a habitable place, and to carry on the business that is the chief asset. It is remarked that two San Franciscos are rising, one a city of shacks for temporary needs, and the other built of brick, stone and re-enforced concrete for permanent uses. Since May building permits to the value of $92,000,000 have been issued. All the busy streets have been cleared and three-fourths of the street car service is again in operation. Most of the noted business places have reopened at the old stands, and the San Franciscans hope to get back even the "local atmosphere" found alone in life at the Golden Gate.

No city whose trade is sound can be destroyed. In Chicago the great fire it but an item in local history, not a perceptible fact in the town as it exists to-day. Galveston, overwhelmed by a flood, is a greater and safer city than before. San Francisco is struggling out of its ruins without the slighest doubt that its destiny will be practically the same as if it had not been doubly ravaged. Yet calamity is too grim a visitor to be incurred if it can possibly be avoided. Fire has been called a beautifier, but it is frightfully costly. The year's conflagrations in the United States have caused a loss of over $300,000,000. It is an item that can be immensely cut down, as the experience of European cities proves. A good resolution for 1907 is to work in the direction of buildings that will not burn.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

THE BOMB IN ST. PETER'S.

ANARCHISM is always stupid, but when it gives vent to itself by stabbing a professor of zoology because he disapproves of murder, or by exploding a bomb in St. Peter's at Rome, it descends to depths of stupidity which should bring shame even into the ranks of anarchy itself.

Meaningless malice can make no progress, bombs and daggers or no bombs and daggers. Any fool can carry a tin box of gunpowder into a cathedral when no one is paying any attention to such a possibility and cause it to explode. But will that make the world start and shiver in terror? On the contrary, it will simply cause it to lay in a new supply of rat poison.

That no lives were lost through the present outrage is one great cause of congratulation. And that St. Peter's itself and its art treasures are unharmed is another. A third cause of congratulation it is to be hoped the world will have later—the prompt arrest and punishment of the scoundrels.—Chicago Record-Herald.

JOINING HANDS BY LETTER.

International Exchange for School Children Is a Success.

The German central office for the international exchange of correspondence between school children has just issued a report on the working of the institution. Since the opening of the movement in 1897 to the end of June, 1906, there have taken part in the international exchange of letters 454 German schools, of which 160 were girls' schools; 330 French, sixty-one girls; 174 American; sixty-nine English; thirty-five Austrian, six Belgium, three Swiss and one Australian school.

Some 20,000 young persons of all these nations have by these means come into friendly relations with each other, and by the interchange of thought learned something of each others' ways of life and thought. And if, adds the committee, the larger number of these have necessarily limited their epistolary exercises to the mere interchange of compliments and platitudes and then let the matter drop there has been an encouraging percentage who have persevered and cemented a real friendship with their correspondents, thus mutually interesting and aiding each other and doing a great deal to combat international prejudices. If such an end has been achieved by 1,000 of the 20,000 the result may be regarded as highly satisfactory.

A set of "rules" for the general guidance of the correspondents has been drawn up by Prof. Dr. R. Hartmann of Leipsic, president of the committee, one of which is the strong discouragement of any approbatory mention of drinking habits.

Handling a Tiger.

"In a cage near the room in which I lived while in Khiva," says Langdon Warner in the Century Magazine, "was a tiger from the Oxus swamps. He had taken a dislike to me, and every time I passed his cage he got up and paced angrily toward me, snarling.

"Into the cage of this beast, at the command of the prince, a Turkoman stepped, armed with a short stick as big round as his wrist. With this stick he struck the tiger's nose as he made for him, and then, with palms out and eyes fixed, he walked slowly up to the shrinking beast and stroked his face and flank.

"The tiger snarled and took the man's hand in his open mouth. I held my breath and looked for the bleeding stump to fall away. But keeping that hand perfectly still, with the other he tickled the tiger's jowl and scratched his ear, till with a yawn and a pleased snarl the big cat rolled over on his back to have his belly scratched.

"The man then sank to his knees, always keeping his hands in motion over the glossy fur, and with his foot drew toward him a collar attached to a chain. This he snapped round the beast's neck and, rising to his feet, laid hold of the chain and dragged the tiger out.

"This was only the second time that the cage had been entered. As soon as the tiger was outside he espied the watching party and started for them, but came up short on the collar. If he had chosen to use his weight and strength no four of them could have held his tether, but as it was, the Turkoman found little difficulty with him, and held him, snarling, while a camera was snapped."

SWIMMING APPARATUS.

Attached to the Shoulders and Operated by Propellers.

Because a person cannot swim is no excuse now for not venturing into deep water—if he uses the electric-propelling machine shown in the illustration. This machine does the work for him and can be used as a life-saving apparatus or an automatic swimming machine. The main body or case of the apparatus consists of a light aluminum box about 20 inches high, which is adapted to be carried on the back of the swimmer. In this box is a motor, which is used to drive the propeller, situated in the rear of the box. On each side of the apparatus are bags for keeping the apparatus and the swimmer afloat. The apparatus is made as light as possible, and every precaution taken to insure the perfect working of the motor under water.

SWIMMING MADE EASY.

Of course the swimmer, after the motor has started, can very readily steer any course he desires by means of the hands and arms. Attachments are also provided for regulating the speed through the water. A good distance can be covered, even by a novice, being regulated by the size of the fuel tank.

For Personal Use.

When President Lincoln issued the Emancipation Proclamation it excited at once a great deal of discussion in the army. On one occasion Henry Clay Trumbull, says his biographer, was going through the camp of the regiment of which he was chaplain, when he was hailed by a sergeant and some men who were arguing the subject.

"Chaplain," asked the sergeant, "do you think President Lincoln had any right to issue that proclamation?"

"I suppose he thought he had," replied Mr. Trumbull.

"Well, I suppose a soldier's got a right to hold his own opinions, hasn't he?"

"Oh, yes, certainly he has," answered the chaplain; "that is, if he'll take care and hold 'em, and not always be slinging them round carelessly before others."

Ice Cream Cures Hiccoughs.

Several years ago William J. Beck, a business man and local politician of Pottsville, Pa., was seized with an attack of hiccoughs. A newspaper account of his illness was read by some one in Burlington, Iowa, who wired Beck to make some ice cream without sugar or flavoring, and take a teaspoonful every few minutes. Beck was nearly dead when the message came. His family made the ice cream as directed, however, and gave it to him. It brought relief, and in a few days Beck recovered.—New York Tribune.

CANAL IN 8 YEARS

SECRETARY TAFT FIXES THIS LIMIT OF TIME.

Disappointed if It Should Take Longer, But Not Surprised if Work is Accomplished Sooner. Says Conditions on Isthmus are Satisfactory.

Cincinnati, Ohio, April 30.—"If the Panama canal is not completed within eight years I shall be greatly disappointed. If it is completed in less time than that I shall not be greatly surprised."

This statement, made last night by W. H. Taft, secretary of war, before the Business Men's Club of this city, was loudly applauded by the 1,500 members of the club gathered in the banquet hall.

Secretary Taft announced at the beginning that he would speak on the "Panama Canal," and particularly on the improvements and rapid progress in the work.

"It is only by a comparison of the conditions existing at the time of my two visits," said the secretary, "that I am able too give an adequate idea of the work that has been accomplished and of the present condition of the work. I would like in passing to pay a tribute of justice to the French people. What they did down there has never been properly appreciated by Americans. The great danger of work of this character under the auspices of the American people is that the work of construction will be undertaken before the work of preparation is completed. I do not think that the preparatory work of the last two years has been productive of anything but the most beneficial results.

"My visit this year was to settle the location of the locks, the completion of which will, in my opinion, mark the completion of the canal It is possible, however, that the finish of the work in the Culebra cut will be the end of our labors. In this cut there are yet to be excavated 52,000,000 cubic yards of earth, exclusive of the digging to be done on the approaches to the cut proper. In the nine miles of the cut there are now fifty-eight steam shovels at work, and they will take out on the average 1,000,000 cubic yards per month. This rate may be increased until we have ninety shovels at work, and then it will gradually decline until it will probably be somewhat below 700,000 cubic yards per month. The space in the cut narrows as it goes down.

Why Contract Was Not Let.

"We advertised for bids on the canal work and then declined them for the reason that we found it would be necessary for the contractors to have the help of capitalists and we should be compelled to allow the contractors 7 per cent interest on the money they would be compelled to borrow from the capitalists. As we could borrow money at 2 per cent, this 7 per cent proposition did not appeal greatly to us.

"To us in responsibility it is a great comfort to be able to introduce the army engineers upon the work. We have three of them there, and if one falls out the continuity of the work will be undisturbed. It is only fair to say of the army engineers that there will be no graft that they cannot suppress, and there will be not bad work that they cannot supervise.

"The record of the army is a guarantee that the work will be capably and honestly performed."

MAY BE DELAYED

But Milwaukee Road Will Not Abandon Line to Coast.

New York, May 1.—The Tribune says:

At a meeting of the directors of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul here the question of the company's Pacific coast extension was discussed. According to an interest identified with the road, the opinion was about unanimous that the work of carrying the Milwaukee's lines to Seattle should not be abandoned. One of the largest stockholders said, however, that the contsruction of the road would be delayed until a reduction in the cost of labor and material had been made. When recently seen the president of the Milwaukee company said chances favored the abandoning of the coast extension as a result of restrictive legislation.

Planning Withdrawal from Cuba

Cincinnati, May 1.—That the United States government will withdraw from temporary control of Cuba a great deal earlier than had been supposed by many was manifested in an interview with Secretary Taft. Briefly referring to that country and his recent visit there, the secretary said that the Cuban settlement had proved so unexpectedly satisfactory and that Gov. Magoon had won so completely the confidence of all parties that he believes the United States can withdraw before September, 1908.

Big Suit for Back Taxes

Ottawa, Ills., May 1.—A suit to recover $5,000,000 back taxes has been filed in the circuit court of La Salle county against the Illinois Central railroad company by Attorney General Stead for the state.

The Ohio state fair has been denied a special reduced rate by the railroads because the legislature passed a two cent fare law.

SHUTS OUT BREWERS

Kansas Attorney General Takes Strong Measures for Prohibition.

Topeka, Kansas, May 1.—Attorney General F. S. Jackson, by securinga n injunction against nine foreign brewing concerns to prevent their owning property and operating saloons, and in obtaining an order for the appointment of receivers for the brewers' property, has taken the most effective measure that has ever been invoked to enforce the prohibitory law in Kansas. He intends to push his crusade to an active conclusion. In an interview he said:

"When the receiver is named he will proceed to locate and take under his control all property of the defendants found in the state and will thus be able to state every place where defendants are in any way carrying on business in Kansas. Any attepmt to conceal the sale of liquors will place the defendants and other participating agents any place in the state in contempt of the supreme court.

"The property will be sold and out of the proceeds the court will pay all costs and damages due the state If it is necessary to send the militia to enforce the order, the defendants will pay the bill. It will not be necessary to do this, however."

The brewers' properties in Kansas consist of warehouses and saloon fixtures, and are valued at many thousands of dollars.

It is expected the supreme court will at once appoint a receiver for each of the nine brewer es."

FORGERY IN ELECTION OF LIFE INSURANCE OFFICERS

New York, May 1.—The wholesale forgery scandall of the recent election of directors in the New York Life and the Mutual Life Insurance companies broke out with a vengeance yesterday when an agent of the New York Life company was arrested, charged with forgery, and one of the campaign managers of the International Policyholders' Committee, which contested the election, was locked up in the Tombs, charged with conspiracy.

Warrants were secured late in the afternoon for other campaign managers of the international committtee and a batch of warrants for other agents of the companies who are charged with forging ballots will be asked today.

The crimes are of such a serious nature that long prison sentences, as well as heavy fines, can be imposed on conviction.

The threshing out of these charges of forgery, conspiracy and other crimes in the criminal courts threatens to nullify the insurance election of last December, which cost the policy holders thousands of dollars and which resulted in prima facie victories for the administration tickets in both the Mutual Life and New York Life companies.

If the election should be declared null and void on account of these wholesale irregularities, the present directors, against whom charges of various degrees of graveness have been made, will continue in office until another election can be held.

Forgery in Third Degree

Jacob Frank, one of the oldest agents of the New York Life, was arrested yesterday charged with forgery in the third degree and later admitted to $1,000 bail. He is said to have confessed that he forged the names of between 150 and 160 policy holders to the ballots of the Perkins-McCall-Orr administration ticket.

Charles Stirrup, one of the campaign managers of the committee formed by Samuel Untermeyer was also arrested. Stirrup was one of the policy holders' committee watchers at the count of the New York Life vote. He was taken before Judge Sullivan and charged with conspiracy. His bail was placed at $2,500, which he was unable to furnish. He was locked up in the Tombs.

CANADIAN MINERS TO RETURN TO WORK

Fernie, B. C., April 27.—After a closed meeting lasting five hours, during which mine officials and district board officers talked earnestly to the men and exhorted them to return to work, the men finally decided that they would do so on the personal assurance of McKenzie King, deputy master of labor, that the work commission will be expedited as much as possible.

The work is to be carried on under the same terms and conditions of employment in existence when the strike began until an investigation has been made by the board of conciliation appointed under the industrial deputies investigation act as to the merits of the dispute.

NICARAGUA AND SALVADOR SIGN TREATY OF PEACE

San Salvador, April 27.—A treaty of peace between Salvador and Nicaragua has been signed by ministers representing each country at Amapala. The terms of the peace treaty are honorable to both countries. The terms proposed by Salvador were accepted and the demands made by President Zelaya, of Nicaragua for reparation for Salvador's part in the recent war between Nicaragua and Honduras that there be a free interchange of commodities between Nicaragua and Salvador were rejected.

ERROR IN TAX LAW

EASTERDAY BILL INVALIDATED BY QUEER MISTAKE.

Moneys and Credits Not Exempted from Taxation, Though Clear Intent of Legislature Was that This Should Be Done. Result Is Uncertain.

Olympia, May 1.—Moneys and credits are not exempt from taxation because a mistake was made in the title of the tax bill passed by the last legislature. The error was discovered by a Seattle attorney, who has called the attention of the tax commission to the matter. The title of the bill passed by the last legislature designed to exempt moneys and credits, form taxation, was "Amendnig an act entitled an act to amend section 3 of chapter LXXXIII of the laws of 1897," etc. Chapter LXXXIII of the laws of 1897 is a law prohibiting defacing or destroying mining claim monuments and has nothing whatever to do with taxation The section that was really intended to be amended was section 3 of chapter LXXI. Adding an X and two I's has ruined the bill, and Tax Commissioner Frost said yesterday that the act is absolutely of no effect and that moneys and credits must be assessed.

The bill as passed is chapter 48 of the session laws of 1907. The title as it appears in the session laws is identical with that in the bill as introduced by Senator Gunn—senate bill 52—which proves that it was not a case of jobbery or error on the part of the clerks of the session.

The bill was urged by J. H. Easterday, of the tax commission, and its passage was also favored by Commissioner Rockwell and rather opposed by Frost, who claims such a law would be unconstitutional. The bill was passed with an emergency clause and hurried to the governor to be signed before March 1, so as to apply on this year's assessments. The fact that the governor had not much time to compare the title of the bill and otherwise check up on it, probably is responsible for the mistake not being sooner discovered.

All moneys in banks, mortgages, warrants, tax certificates and the like were proposed to be exempt from taxation under this bill, and Mr. Easterday was expecting this would result in inducing large investments in this state and otherwise be of advantage to the general public.

Whether the assessors will assume the intent of the legislature and not assess moneys and credits remains to be seen. Such action was taken some years ago when the constitutional amendment to allow the $300 personal exemption was proposed. The exemption was allowed before the amendment had been submitted and adopted, and some such plan might be adopted now with respect to this matter, as the failure to quote the title correctly is clearly a clerical error.

Commissioners Easterday and Rockwell are both out of the city, so just what action the commission will direct the assessors to take is not known here.

GROUND BREAKING TO BE ON JUNE 1

Seattle, April 30.—Saturday, June 1, will be memorable in the history of Washington and Alaska as "Ground Breaking Day" of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition of 1909.

The executive committee of the exposition, at its regular weekly meeting yesterday afternoon, fixed the date of ground breaking. The occasion will be made one of important ceremonies. The governors and state officials of several states and the mayors of the surounding cities will be the guests of the city on that occasion The program will be announced in a few days.

RICH QUARTZ STRIKE SOUTH OF VALDEZ

Valdez, April 30.—A stampede is on to the new strike of gold quartz sixty miles down the sound. Every available launch and small boat has been chartered, bought or stolen by the stampeders. Samples of the ore brought from the ledge on the mainland west of here two months ago on assay showed $2,300 to the ton, and the discoverers are wild.

A Doubtful Compliment.

Although Mr. Hobbs was taken at his face value by his son and heir, there were times when the youthful William's admiring tributes embarrassed his parent in the family group.

"I had quite an encounter as I came home to-night," the valorous Mr. Hobbs announced at the tea table. "Two men, slightly intoxicated, were having a quarrel on the corner. As usual, there was no policeman in sight, and they were in a fair way to knock each other's brains out when I stepped between and separated them."

"Weren't you afraid, father?" asked Mrs. Hobbs in a quavering voice.

"No, indeed! Why should I be?" inquired Mr. Hobbs, inflating his chest.

"I guess there isn't anybody could knock any brains out of my father!" said Willy proudly.—Youth's Companion.

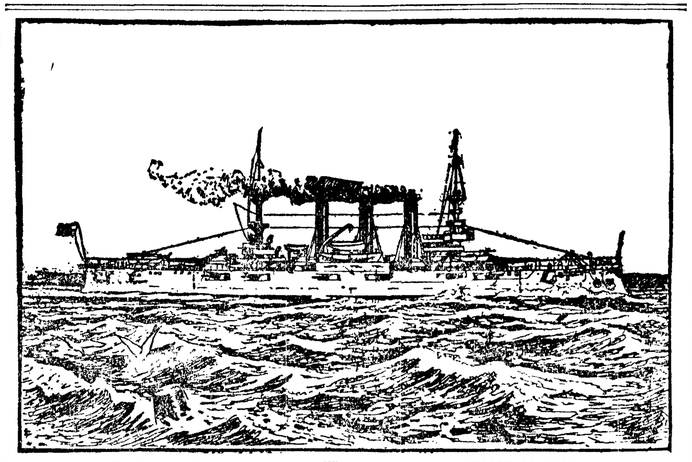
MONARCH OF THE SEA.

Battleship Vermont Is Able to Whip Any Ship Afloat.

The standardization trial of the battleship Vermont took place off Rockland over a measured mile. This was to test the screw revolutions at varying speeds, that is, to find out how many revolutions of the screws per minute were required to cover a mile in a given time.

Incased in ice from stem to stern, the new battleship came into Boston harbor from her trial trip and dropped anchor off the navy yard. She looked like a huge specter as she came up through the narrows, for with the exception of the funnels there was no part of the vessel that wasn't coated with ice and the bow and forward part of the battleship were burdened with tons of the frozen water that had been thrown up as the huge war vessel plowed through head seas at a 17.4-knot clip.

But the trial board is satisfied that the Vermont is the queen of the American navy, for they say that she behaved beautifully through it all. She was required to make eighteen knots but without forcing her she made 18.33 easily over the four-mile course. The boat will soon be ready for active service in the North Atlantic fleet.



BATTLESHIP VERMONT, PRIDE OF THE NAVY.

Naval Constructor Baxter who has had charge of the completion of the Vermont, said: "Here goes out a ship which demolishes all records of the world in naval construction. Not even Great Britain, the leading country in shipbuilding, has ever sent one of its battleships to sea witaout preliminary deep water trial. But I know enough about the condition of the vessel to say that she is ready to whip any other battleship in the world, of course, giving her a little practice with her guns."

Long-Lived Mathers.

At Jenkintown, Pa., Oct. 27, four members of one family whose ages aggregate 350 years gathered at a reunion, when Isaac Mather, the oldest of two brothers and two sisters, celebrated his 100th birthday. There were also present two sons and one daughter of the centenarian whose aggregate ages totalled 206 years. It is not believed that anywhere else in the United States will be found a family that can present a like showing.

The four persons whose ages totalled 350 years were: Isaac Mather, 100 years old; Mrs. Rebecca Michener, his sister, 87 years old; Miss Ann Mather, his sister, 79 years old, and Charles Mather, a brother, 84 years old.

The children whose ages totalled 206 years are: Miss Martha Mather, daughter, 75 years old; Israel Mather, son, 73 years old; Isaac Mather, son, 58 years old.

Isaac Mather, the centenarian, lives on the old homestead, built on the original tract of land granted to his ancestors by William Penn, at Chelten Hills. In this region he is best known as the "Grand Old Man of Chelten Hills." He is a Quaker and attends services regularly on Sunday.

He attributes his long life to simple habits. Never in more than half a century has he retired later than 8 o'clock at night, and he is up with the sun in the morning. His brother, Charles, at 84, is still in active business.

Heroic Treatment.

In these days, when child study is a hobby, ridden long and hard, it is interesting to read of the nerve-training which fell to the lot of the Quaker authoress, Amelia Opie, in 1769 and after. The modern mother would shrink with horror from some of the methods used on the sensitive child, but in this case it resulted in splendid stuff. Mrs. Opie is quoted in a book on "Quaker Worthies."

I was a creature of fears, tears and screams. My first terror was of black beetles, then of frogs, skeletons, black men and madmen.

My mother made me take a beetle in my hand and hold it. As her word was law, I obeyed, but with awful shrinking. I gradually became accustomed to it, and was frequently told to take one up and put it out of harm's way. I soon overcame that terror.

I was made to hold frogs in my hands, and was taught to nurse a skeleton as I would a doll. I acquired the love of the African race by hearing of its wrongs, and I became an eager advocate of emancipation. Mother compelled me to listen to her kindly converse with two poor old lunatics, and I grew to pity them instead of fearing them.

Why Opals Are "Unlucky."

The world is full of superstition, and one of the worst is that the opal is "unlucky." This superstition arose when the "black death" swept Europe. At that time the opal was very unpopular, and some noticed that when a victim of the disease was dying the opal on the finger brightened and when he was dead it became dull. Of course, this took the popular fancy and at once opals became "unlucky," and have remained so ever since. Very likely they do not change at all on the fingers of a dying person, and the whole matter is like that question which once caused so much discussion in the scientific world, i. e., why is it that when you put a fish in a bowl of water the weight of the bowl is not increased? Many learned answers were given, but finally one duffer weighed a bowl of water with and without the fish in it, and thus settled the matter.—Kansas City Journal.

Old Story Retold.

Charles Francis Adams was escorting an English gentleman about Boston. They were reviewing the different objects of attraction, and finally came to Bunker Hill. They stood looking at the splendid monument, when Mr. Adams remarked:

"This is the place, sir, where Warren fell."

"Ah!" replied the Englishman, evidently not very familiar with American history. "Was he seriously hurt by his fall?"

Mr. Adams looked at his friend. "Hurt!" said he. "He was killed, sir."

"Ah, indeed!" the Englishman replied, still eyeing the monument and commencing to compute its height in his own mind. "Well, I should think he might have been—falling so far."—Harper's Weekly.

Chance for Him.

One afternoon the proprietor of an animal store said to his young clerk:

"Tom, I'm going upstairs to work on the books. If anyone comes in for a live animal let me know. You can attend to selling the stuffed animals yourself."

About half an hour later in came a gentleman with his son and asked Tom if he could show him a live monkey. To the customer's amazement the clerk ran to the foot of the stairs and yelled:

"Come down, come down, sir; you're wanted!"—Judge's Library.

It is a part of the love disease for a girl to worry more if her young man gets a splinter in his thumb than if father gets a telegraph pole in his arm.

UNCLE SAM'S BEST DETECTIVE.

William J. Burns is Credited with that Distinction.

William J. Burns, who is working up the evidence against the officials of San Francisco, is the best detective in the service of the United States government. His work for the secret service is one of the unwritten classics of the service. The rounding up of the biggest counterfeiting operators that have ever appeared in the country—the Philadelphia-Lancaster gang—was his case. He had many assistants, but he was at the head of the investigation. The Taylor-Bredell gang, as it was called, made $100 silver certificates that got by bank tellers and skilled clerks in subtreasuries as readily as the genuine notes. This gang, made up of wealthy men, manufactured counterfeit internal revenue stamps, by means of which they defrauded the government out of $260,000 in stamps.

As an outgrowth of that trial, Ellery P. Ingham, former United States attorney at Philadelphia, and his assistant, Harvey K. Newitt, were convicted of a charge of attempting bribery. The four counterfeiters were each sent to the penitentiary for twelve and one-half years. Burns later got these men for making counterfeit $20 notes out of $1 silver certificates while they were still confined in jail, the counterfeiters having, by the application of extraordinary ingenuity, managed to engrave a set of plates in jail.

Burns worked up the Oregon land fraud cases which led to the conviction of Senator Mitchell and others. On a number of occasions President Roosevelt has selected him for important duty.

CAPTAIN WINS THE CROSS.

Proves to His General That His Assertion Is True.

The Russian field marshal Paskievitch records the following incident: On one occasion he had ordered a well-sustained shell fire to be opened on a certain point which obstructed him in his operations and impatiently awaited the result. Seeing that his orders were not obeyed, Paskievitch set spurs to his horse and galloped toward the eminence on which the unlucky battery was stationed.

"Who is the fool in command here?" he asked.

"I am," answered an officer, stepping up to the general.

"Well, captain, how is it your shells have not got to work yet?"

"Because they are bad and won't explode, general."

"All bosh, I tell you, sir; you don't catch me with such silly stuff. This very evening you shall be tried by court martial."

The captain then took a shell out of the heap, lighting the fuse, and holding the smoking projectile in his hand he saluted his superior officer, saying: "See for yourself!" Paskievitch, without wincing, stood with folded arms awaiting to see whether the shell would burst or the fuse go out. When the match had gone out the captain threw the shell on the ground and the general, muttering to himself, "He is right," rushed off to the scene of action to take some other measures. The same evening, however, he sent the captain the cross of St. Vladimir.—London Telegraph.

Doing His Share.

"Do you contribute to the happiness and prosperity of others without expecting any selfish reward?" asked the sincere man.

"I should say so," answered the crusty citizen. "I have for years been making directors happy and prosperous by paying life insurance premiums."—Washington Star.

Just His Way.

"That was a sly trick. I'll bet Slyman was the author of it."

"Why, there isn't the slightest evidence to connect him with it."

"That's just why I'm sure he's at the bottom of it."—Philadelphia Press.

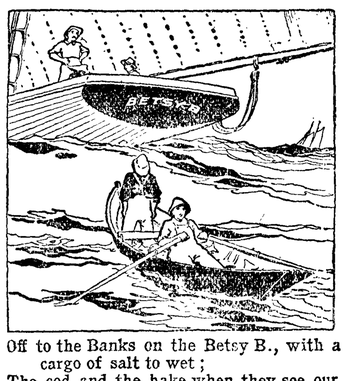
OUR PANNIKIN O' TEA.



Off to the Banks on the Betsy B., with a cargo of salt to wet;
The cod and the hake when they see our wake are glad that we're gone, you bet!
For there isn't a crew from Glo'ster-town that ladles them out of the sea,
Barrel on barrel and flake on flake like the crew of the Betsy B.
That's we!
And our cook sets up the tea.

With a dory full, away we pull, for it's aboard, men, all!
The cuddy smoke is away ahead as far as we can see,
And we know it means that cook is primed with a pannikin of tea.
That's he!
At the rail of the Betsy B.

Now all good fishers when you sail 'way off to the Banks so drear,
Be sure you have in your cuddy stores a plenty of wholesome cheer.
The CHASE & SANBORN kind's the best, as sure as sure can be,
And the skipper's wise who always buys that honest King of Tea.
You'll see
That brand on the Betsy B.

The advertising put out by the Pacific States Realty Co. will be the means of creating no little interest in Port Angeles among the people of Seattle and Tacoma and will keep the town's advantages before the incoming homeseekers. It should result in increased travel and consequently increased demand for business and other property.

Superintendent Risley's idea of getting out an institute program which should serve its purpose as a program and at the same time be a souvenir of the occasion proved to be a happy one. His selections of verse and prose are beautiful and appropriate. One has but to see the programs put out in other counties to appreciate his effort. Even in King county, where one would expect to find the best, they used a very indifferent program—in fact, considering finances and facilities, the worst of the lot.

The Independent Telephone Co. will reduce their rental for residence phones in Seguin to $1 per month, commencing May first.

Teachers' Institute a Success from Every Point of View.

The Teachers Institute opened on Monday with the usual compliment of teachers, and visitors, which has increased daily — the attendance on Thursday being the largest for years.

Miss Annette Trumbull made the address of welcome in her usual pleasing way. Mrs. Hazel O'Brien replied in a very happy manner. She spoke, among other things, of our harbor with our beautiful spit stretching out like a great arm to gather us within its embrace, and then added that from the number of unfamiliar faces present she feared that many of our sisters of last year had been gathered in by some other arm than the spit. Her talk on obstacles confronting the teacher in rural districts, showed much thought, much experience and much common sense. She not only showed the great needs, but also pointed out what might be a remedy for many of the evils of the present system.

Prof. Manard Lee Daggy's daily talks and readings have been up to his usual high standard, and the lecture given by him on Tuesday night was one of his best. His subject, The Gospel of the Commonplace, which he divided into three topics—Charity, Cheerfulness and Courtesy, was replete with common sense, eloquence, and flashes of humor. He carried his audience with him and was frequently interrupted by applause.

Dr. F. H. Swift of the State University, who has never attended here before, has favored the Institute with work of unusual interest. His lecture on Wednesday evening on The Teachers of the East, called out a big house. The doctor is a quiet, but fluent speaker—and the beauty of his thoughts and manner of expression held his audience spell-bound to the end.

The reception given on Monday night by the Civic Club was very enjoyable. The program, which was musical, was rendered by Mrs. Troy, Mr. Gasser, and Miss Elliott, and every number brought out a hearty encore. The program was followed by a contest in which Miss Blair proved the lucky winner of the prize —a handsome volume of poems. Light refreshments were served by the ladies of the club.

On Thursday afternoon, Director's Day, a number of directors were present from outside districts. The session presided over by Mr. Hansen proved very interesting. Many good points were brought out by Dr. Swift's talk on school-grounds. Among others, Mr. Burns spoke briefly, but to the point. Interesting work was done by Miss Trumbull in dramatization and nature study, and by Mrs. Maude Risley in primary calesthenic songs, their classes of little children, pupils from the Fourth Ward school, receiving high praise for the proficient work done.

Cultivate Civic Pride.

It was suggested to us, a few days ago, that an "improvement column" would make an interesting feature of the paper, and that it might also prove of no little benefit, in the way of creating an interest in the beautifying, not only of the home property itself, but of the surroundings as well. The idea is a good one, if properly carried out, but the object sought can only be attained by strict adherence to the motto, "Keeping everlastingly at it brings success."

The gentleman making the suggestion has, we believe, been a resident of Angeles about two years—not long enough to become indifferent to the conditions of a frontier town carved out of heavy timber, but sufficiently long to have acquired a full realization of the effort necessary to success, even a small measure of success. He has consented to inagurate and take charge of such an "improvement department," providing his identity be not divulged, his position in the community being such as to render that inadvisable.

It is evident that any one person, working alone, can not make such a department broad enough, in its scope, to include the entire town. It is therefore requested that all who are in sympathy with the objects, as outlined in his communication in another column, lend their assistance and encouragement to the work. Items may be phoned to this office, or letters written, and all will be published, no matter what the views of the individual writers may be. Letters must, of course, be signed by the writer's name as well as by a non-de-plume, if they do not wish their names printed.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.
