Hunters Prepare For Opening Of Season Sunday

The season on deer and upland birds opens in Western Washington Sunday, and will remain open until the evening of October 28.

Hunting is illegal within the Olympic National Park, but the park service is cooperating in allowing access across park lands to and from hunting areas.

Bear are predators in this district. The season is open all year and no limit is set on the number of bear that may be killed.

Many local hunters are leaving here today and tomorrow to be on location in the deer hunting areas. Favorite deer hunting places in the county are in the upper Dungeness river valley, Blyn peninsula, Calawah valley, Soleduck burn and upper Soleduck valley, lower Bogachiel valley, Piedmont district north of Lake Crescent, Pysht and Twin river districts and the Hoko river valley.

Bird hunters, who may not start shooting until 8 a.m. Sunday, will be numerous in the Dungeness valley and other parts of the east end of the county, and at Dry creek. Bird hunting ends at 5 p.m. each day.

Recent large plantings of Chinese pheasants have stimulated the bird hunters. The season on all upland birds found in this area is the same as the deer season except that on grouse, which ends on the evening of October 14.

New state game department pamphlets containing hunting information may be obtained at all sporting goods stores. They should be studied for rules and regulations as to bag limits, deer tags, punch cards and licenses.

PARK REGULATIONS

No special permits are necessary to cross Olympic National Park areas to reach hunting areas, but hunters may use them only with their guns broken down. Game taken in areas outside the park may be returned over the route. Dogs must be kept on leash or confined to cars while traversing the routes. No special park service tags are needed on game during transport across park lands.

Supt. Fred J. Overly announces the following roads and trails open to hunter access through the Olympic National Park to areas outside the park:

Highway 101 through the Lake Crescent area;

Soleduck road from 101 to and across the Fibreboard bridge. The park service advises the use of the above road rather than the one listed below because of the heavy log traffic on the latter. (The road and bridge were built by Fibreboard to give access to timber).

Fibreboard road from northwest park boundary on the Soleduck river to and across the Fibreboard bridge;

Park boundary near East Beach on East Beach-Joyce road to park boundary on Joyce road near Piedmont;

Junction Lyre river and East Beach-Joyce roads to park boundary west of Lyre river bridge near Crescent camp;

Park boundary on Heart 'o the Hills road to park boundary on the Little river road;

Park boundary on north fork Quinault road to forest service Canoe creek logging road and to park boundary on that road;

That portion of the trail, traversing the park in sections 13 and 24, T30N, R10W, which starts at highway 101 west of the Soleduck road and leads to the ridge between Mount Muller and Pyramid peak;

The Bogachiel river trail from its entrance to the park to the west boundary to the Snider-Jackson trail near the confluence of the Bogachiel river and Tumwater creek and the Snider-Jackson trail from that junction of the park boundary immediately south of the Bogachiel river.

"The access roads and trails within the Olympic National Park are being opened to hunters so they may reach the open hunting area, and the park service will appreciate their cooperation in obeying the rules set down," Superintendent Overly said.

National and state forest officials and the park service point out that fire danger still exists in the forests, and ask that hunters be careful while traveling the wooded areas and in building camp fires.

5 Men Fined $250 Each For Shining Deer

Five deer shiners apprehended late Tuesday and early Wednesday morning in the Pysht area each were fined $250 and $2.50 court costs in Judge Fred Filion's justice court Wednesday.

State Game Protector Robert Leslie first apprehended three Clallam Bay men, Robert F. Hooker, Ray Grenman and Frank J. Mersereau, just before midnight Tuesday. He charged them with hunting big game by the aid of artificial light.

Returning to the west end after midnight, Leslie discovered Everett Daman, route three, and Charles H. Cabe, 612 West Third, in the same area using lights to hunt deer. Judge Filion also ordered confiscation of a 25.-20 caliber rifle in Daman's possession.

Rain Won't Stop Bus Paper Drive

Fire Chief Clay Wolverton says tomorrow's paper drive for residences east of Laurel street will take place regardless of the weather. The drive will start at 1 o'clock, and Wolverton asks any volunteers willing to help man the trucks to be at the bus shed by that time.

Newspapers and magazines should be bundled separately and placed on curbs by 1 o'clock. Twine is available at the firehall for anyone needing it to tie up their bundles.

Langlie Willing To Step Aside From Campaign For Candidate of Similar Mind

By Leroy Hittle

OLYMPIA—(AP)—Governor Langlie today reiterated that he will run for reelection or support some one who will carry on his program.

"I don't have any idea that it is necessary that I carry on the program," he said. "I don't feel there is any indispensable person in the state government.

"Certainly it is my desire that if some qualified candidate on the republican ticket has got a better chance to get the support of the public, he certainly will get my support too."

He said he felt that his administration has straightened out several serious situations in the administration of state government and he was not going "to let the democrats come in and make another mess."

When asked when he will decide whether he will run or support someone else, he said:

"I think pretty largely the people decide these issues and I'm perfectly willing that they do. We'll have to wait for the time when public sentiment is crystallized and we know what their sentiments are."

He said the issues for the gubernatorial office in next year's election will be "effective administration of the people's business, services that the government should properly render, the moral integrity of individuals in government, effective organization of government, and certainly the cost of government."

REORGANIZATION

In connection with the issue of reorganization, he disclosed plans for setting up a little Hoover commission in Washington. He said he plans to select a chairman and let him select his own statewide committee to study ways and means of streamlining state government.

He reemphasized his stand that government should be kept closer to the people on a state and local basis. The same thought, he continued, ran through numerous discussions at the governor's conference in Tennessee last week.

He returned from the conference yesterday and immediately went to work on what he termed "a little problem" in the state fisheries department. He said he studied the situation yesterday and would have a statement on his findings next week. The statement, Langlie said, will cover the question of Robert Schoettler's position as director.

Meat Packers Aim To Defeat Quotas

WASHINGTON—(AP)— The office of price stabilization today released photographs of a headquarters bulletin from the National Independent Meat Packers Association calling for the defeat of meat slaughter quotas as a possible means of wiping out price control.

Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle said the document was evidence, from within the industry, that "the fight against slaughter controls is a fight against the price control itself"

The bulletin, dated Oct. 2, was from the NIMPA office in Washington and addressed to association members. It was signed by Wilbur La Roe Jr., general counsel. One of the addressees forwarded it to DiSalle.

The one-page bulletin to the 750 NIMPA members said:

"There is a chance of beating price control by defeating the administration's attempt to restore the quota power to OPS. Mr. DiSalle has said that the price control on meat will not work without the quota power.

"This makes it terribly important to do everything we reasonably can to defeat quotas, if we want to put an end to price control."

CRIPPS RETURNS HOME

LONDON — (AP) — Sir Stafford Cripps—the "Mr. Austerity" of postwar Britain—came home today after 11 months of medical treatment in Switzerland.

He was apparently cured of the spinal and stomach ailments which at one time threatened his life.

He told reporters his homecoming has nothing to do with the general election.

The 62-year-old former chancellor of the exchequer said he would not know for another 12 months whether he would be able to reenter politics.

Congress May Look Into Whole Internal Revenue Service As More Shakedowns Hinted

By B. L. Livingstone

WASHINGTON— (AP) —An explosive double-barrelled probe of the nation's tax collection service loomed today as the house continued an investigation and the senate indicated it may launch one of its own.

In the house, a ways and means subcommittee looked further into the sideline activities of James P. Finnegan, former St. Louis collector of internal revenue who quit under fire last April.

Finnegan denied yesterday he was ever in the insurance business, and may get a chance to testify further. He previously acknowledged receiving $2,250 from firms or persons in tax difficulties, but said these were legal fees for outside work.

In the senate, Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) called for a full-scale investigation by the senate's special investigating subcommittee of all major revenue offices in the country.

His demand was touched off when Senator Moody (D-Mich.) said there were reports of "serious irregularities" in the Detroit Bureau.

WANTS STATE ACTION

Ferguson said irregularities have been uncovered in San Francisco, Boston, New York and now Detroit. The senate should act, he said. He said allowing officials to resign or be replaced by others is no satisfactory cure, and will not satisfy the public. Federal tax collectors have a great opportunity for "shakedown, favors and political influence," Ferguson said.

Moody told the senate irregularities were discovered about a month ago and had been partially checked by a subcommittee he heads. He said this group, probing transactions in steel, learned that "finder's fees" were paid two special intelligence agents of the revenue bureau.

He said morale in the Detroit intelligence unit was poor and that Henry F. Sunball, chief of the unit, was partly to blame. He said a report indicated Sunball, among other things, bought a $219.95 home freezer for $129.78.

In Detroit, Sunball denied that he had benefited by using influence of his office. He said he merely ordered the freezer, asked what he owed, and paid what he was told the unit cost.

Red Defenses Crumble Before 100,000 UN GI's

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea —(AP)—Chinese frontline defenses appeared to be crumbling in the west today before an offensive of 100,000 United Nations troops.

Battered reds retreated northward in some sectors. Some hills were completely abandoned after days of bitter fighting. Elsewhere only die-hard rear guards delayed UN troops.

Soldiers of nine United Nations moved forward cautiously for limited gains.

Red Denfenses (oflIow 10 pt.) jim

Late in the day reds lashed back with counterattacks in efforts to recapture some abandoned hills.

Elsewhere:

1. The air over northwest Korea flamed with three jet battles involving 220 planes. t was the greatest number of jets ever reported in action on one day. The fifth air force reported one red jet shot down, two damaged. It said all allied jets returned from the first two battles, but didn't say how they fared in the third.

2. Allied troops lashed forward on each side of Heartbreak ridge in a revival of warfare in the mountainous east. UN infantrymen advanced 1,000 yards to the west of the ridge while a tank patrol shot up reds on the east.

3. Reds were silent on Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's invitation to pick a new site in no-man's-land to renew disrupted cease fire talks. Red Korean political officers were quoted as saying there would be no negotiated truce in Korea in the near future.

MAJOR GAINS

Frontline dispatches from the western front reported these major gains Friday in the third day of the drive

1. The U. S. third division took a key hill in the center of the line—without firing a shot.

2. Just south of the third, the U. S. first cavalry division beat off a series of pre-dawn counterattacks, and captured three hills north of Yonchon in the daylight. At nightfall they were fighting counterattacking Chinese trying to recapture one of the hills.

3. The British commonwealth divisios made gains of up to a mile and a half in the sector reaching from Yonchon seven miles south to the 38th parallel. They fought off one red counterattack late in the day.

Woodworkers Reject No-Strike Pledge

DENVER—(AP)—The International Woodworkers of America (CIO) will not take a no strike pledge as asked by Economic Stabilizer Charles E. Wilson.

Five hundred delegates to the annual convention of the IWA voted against the pledge yesterday.

Delegates approved resolutions which:

Call for a timber management policy and federal regulations of all cutting on private timberlands.

Oppose "anti-labor injunction" provisions of the Taft-Tartley law.

Confirm an executive committee resolution to support Colorado in efforts for federal financing of efforts to combat spruce beetles.

Ferry Business 2/18 cc

SEATTLE — (AP) — Passengers decreased and automobile traffic increased on the state's Puget sound ferries last month, compared with a year ago. Both changes were slight, however, Manager Floyd McDowell reported today.

September passengers totaled 395,687, compared with 397,278 in September of 1950. The automobile total was 150,212, compared with 145,555 a year ago.

Passenger traffic in June, July and August was up 11 per cent from the 1950 summer months.

Top Atom Official Says U.S. Can Cancel Enemy Numerical Superiority With Atomics

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Gordon Dean, top U. S. atomic official, said today the United States has atomic weapons which can "cancel out" on the battlefield "any numerical advantage" of an enemy and that it need not hesitate or fear to use them.

Without indicating whether he had the Korean war specifically in mind, Dean said of the use of a tactical atomic weapon:

"I think that when a situation arises where in our carefully considered judgment the use of any kind of a weapon is justified, we are now at the place where we should give serious consideration to the use of an atomic weapon, provided it can be used effectively from the military standpoint and that it is no more destructive than is necessary to meet the particular situation in question."

The atomic energy commission chairman presented this bold new picture of American atomic power in an address prepared for a Founder's Day gathering at the University of Southern California.

In it he cast aside his previous official taciturnity and gave broad hints of the progress in atomic weapons.

Among other things, he said:

"We are entering an era where our power to wage warfare with atomic devices is so great, even in comparison with the recent past, that our fundamental concepts of what atomic warfare is and what it might mean to us must undergo revolutionary change. . . .

"In the past most of us have thought of atomic warfare in terms of intercontinental bombers striking at the great cities and industrial hearts of an enemy nation . . . This concept of atomic warfare, while still true, is now no longer the whole truth.

"It is but one kind of atomic warfare, and there is now a new, quite different kind, . . . much more promising as a means of halting aggressors without the risk of destroying large parts of the world in the process.

"Because of our great technological strides, we are now entering an era when the quantities of atomic weapons available to use will be so great, and the types so varied, that we may utilize them in many different ways heretofore not possible."

This country is now at the point, he continued, where it is "able to bring to bear on the aggressor himself—at the place of his aggression—the fruits of our technological capabilities, and to meet the invading force in the field with a firepower that should cancel out any numerical advantage he might enjoy."

SHOULDN'T HESITATE

In saying the U. S. should not hesitate to use these tactical weapons, Dean declared the communists' whole atomic program may be designed to "cancel out this weapon (the atomic bomb) as a means of warfare" and thus permit them to utilize their manpower superiority in a "master plan to achieve world domination."

U. S. possession of tactical atomic weapons, he said, "provides a real hope for peace . . . insofar as those who might be contemplating aggression understand the full import of what I am trying to say."

Dean didn't think there was danger an enemy—he did not name Russia—would make atomic attacks on U. S. cities if tactical atomic weapons were used by the U. S. on a battlefield. He said:

"I think there would be no more chance of that than there is now, for I think our potential adversary fully appreciates our capability for strategic retaliation. It is this capability that he has feared all along, and it is this capability which, in my judgment, has prevented world war III."

RFC Quizzers Back To Boyle After GOP Boss Testimony

WASHINGTON— (AP) —Senate investigators today wound up their investigation of the relations between republican national chairman Guy George Gabrielson and the reconstruction finance corporation (RFC).

Then they reopened their related inquiry into the affairs of Gabrielson's democratic counterpart, William M. Boyle, Jr.

Turney Gratz, former RFC official and at one time Boyle's No. 1 lieutenant at democratic national headquarters, was called for testimony at noon PST before the senate investigations committee.

Senators wanted to know why he was on Boyle's personal payroll in 1948 and 1949 while holding an RFC post. Gratz has told reporters Boyle paid him for after-office hours accounting jobs.

GUNDERSON HEARD

Final witness in the Gabrielson inquiry was Harvey J. Gunderson, a former RFC director who was boomed for the presidency of the New York stock exchange by the GOP chairman last year.

Gunderson testified that he rejected Gabrielson's help "until I left the RFC."

Vigorously denying anything improper in his contacts with the RFC, Gabrielson testified yesterday that he tried to get the stock exchange presidency for Gunderson last year after President Truman failed to reappoint Gunderson to the RFC board of directors.

The GOP chairman swore the fact he heads a firm which borrowed $18,500,000 from the RFC had nothing to do with his intercessions for Gunderson, who did not get the job.

Senator Nixon (R-Calif... told Gabrielson "The implication is that . . . it was an act of impropriety" if at any time thereafter "Gunderson was in postion to do anything for the company."

Gunderson's office diary, introduced in evidence, lists 19 telephone talks and personal meetings with Gabrielson. Gabrielson testified these contacts probably all dealt with the $18,500,000 RFC loans to Carthage-Hydrocol, Inc., which the GOP chairman heads.

Doctor Won't Sign Ticket; Goes to Jail

SEATTLE (AP) — A Cle Elum physician who is president of the Kittitas County Medical Society spent nearly three hours in jail yesterday because he refused to sign a traffic ticket given him by a Seattle policeman.

The short-time resident of the city's concrete and iron hostelry was Dr. Walter E. Nawrocki, 45. Police patrolman R. B. Ammerman and F. B. Pope cited the doctor for going through a red light at a downtown intersection.

"I didn't do it," said the outraged medico. "The light was green."

Ammerman and Pope were adamant. So was Dr. Nawrocki. He wouldn't sign the ticket because he felt it was an "admission of guilt."

The doctor was assured his signature was required by law and was merely his contract to appear in court.

The doctor was adamant. So were the cops. They took him to the jukey and he stayed there from 1:25 p.m. until 4 p.m. when he was released on his personal recognizance in order of Traffic Judge Roy Devlef.

He still faces court decision on the ticket and whether he will have to pay the impound fee on his automobile.

BATTLE FOR BASTOGNE AGAIN Belgian, Dutch and Luxembourg troops and tanks advance during a training exercise in and around Bastogne, Belgium, where American forces wrote a valiant chapter in World War II history during the Battle of the Bulge. The bullet-riddled sign is a holdover from that battle. Western Europe has been the scene of many such maneuvers in recent weeks, with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's "Exercise Combine," beginning Oct. 3 in West Germany, slated to be the largest. There, 150,000 American and NATO ground, air and sea forces will engage in week-long war games.

People Buy More Pork, Poultry, Fish

CHICAGO—(AP)— The hike in beef prices has turned the eyes of many housewives to pork, poultry and fish.

That was brought out today in an Associated Press survey of major cities across the nation.

The survey also raised—but did not answer—the question of whether the long climb in general prices had left consumers with a lowered resistance.

The survey indicated there was little complaining in the first few days of trade under the new beef ceilings.

Butchers in Washington, D.C., for instance, reported very little grumbling and few comments of any kind from customers. One meat cutter there philosophized:

"High prices undoubtedly have had a numbing effect."

One of the biggest chains in New York City noted increased price resistance only in the poorer neighborhoods.

"When people want beef they will pay the price until it gets too high, and then they will sacrifice on other grocery items to buy beef," said an Indianapolis butcher.

Supplies of beef in retail outlets in the 12 large cities that were checked ranged from scarce to ample.

But there is plenty of other main-dish food on hand. The decline in the supply of beef coincides with the start of the fall season of plenty in pork.

Washington, D.C., reported a heavy run on poultry, fish and pork.

There were similar trends in some other communities.

A woman buying for a family of five in Seattle, Wash., scanned the price lists and said:

"Little by little we are being driven to a pork diet."

SCALPERS SELL TAX BLANKS

ROME—(AP) — Income tax report blanks sold for 500 lire (75 cents) on the black market today and the rate was climbing.

The normal price is 25 lire. The blanks are put on sale by the state in the nation's tobacco shops. When the government issued a recent call to file tax reports, scalpers moved in and bought up all available stacks of blanks.

TAXI 'COURTESY STRIKE'

PARIS —(AP)— Some 11,000 Paris taxi drivers began a "courtesy strike" today. The aim is to follow minutely so many traffic regulations that traffic will become snarled.

The taximen are protesting a police rule that they must undergo regular health examinations to keep their licenses. They protested with a one-day strike Sept. 20.

No unusual jam developed by noon. Parisians expected the big traffic snarls tonight when the homeward rush to the suburbs begins.

The "Morro Castle" burned off the New Jersey coast Sept. 8, 1934 with a loss of 134 lives.

Small Furs Add Dash to Costume

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Fun fashions in fur are fine and they add a flip to any wardrobe. But they should be inexpensive. If they're done in rabbit, they are. And the smaller they are, the less they can cost.

A little shrug jacket in chinchilla rabbit, the king of rabbit furs, is (left) mostly sleeves. Designed by Furbelows, it's dashing over a short white evening dress. Or, it can go over a suit or coat in place of a stole or even see service as the ultimate in luxurious bed jackets.

BY GAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor

An at-home costume designed just for fun (right) by Harold Rubin turns out to be a practical fashion, too. A purple wrap-around skirt in rabbit fur is lined with turquoise wool jersey and worn over matching turquoise leotards. But the skirt can serve as a lap-robe for at-home lounging, as a robe in the car, as a knee-warmer at chilly spectator sports.

Hand Book Binding Still U.S. Craft

CHICAGO—(AP)—An age-old craft—hand book binding—is being kept alive in America.

Its sponsor is one of the largest printers of telephone directories, weekly and monthly magazines and catalogues in the country. The R. R. Donnelly and Sons Co., established the high quality bindery 30 years ago.

Harold W. Tribolet, who started as an apprentice in the shop in 1927, heads the enterprise. The company maintains the craftshop as a service to collectors of rare books, dealers and institutional librarians.

Tribolet's handful of craftsmen employ methods the book binding industry devised centuries ago. Priceless volumes are restored, documents are repaired, and treasured books are rebound in exquisite leathers. The men work in an old-world atmosphere. The tiny shop is quartered away from the hustle and bustle of the firm's mammoth printing industry.

Starting with craftsmen from England, the shop now has its own skilled American-trained workmen.

Here is how the shop goes about restoring books and documents.

In 1843, Joseph Williams, a man with the wanderlust, wrote about his experiences on a trip from Indiana to Oregon Territory. The small book now is a collector's piece. It is valued in the high-priced car class. Its condition showed the results of much handling and dampness.

BOOK RESTORED

Its owner sent it to Tribolet with instructions to restore and bind. The title page was torn; the leaves of the book were mildewed.

CRAFT that is centuries old goes into hand book binding.

First the pages were washed in a chemical bath. To make them crisp, they were dipped in a sizing solution. The title page is patched by meticulously tapering the edges of the tear and the paper patch. The patch is made of the same type of paper used in the original book. The finished page appears to be without flaw.

The new binding will be designed to comply with the spirit of the time the book was first published, Tribolet said.

State No Longer Pays Highest Welfare Grants

By Leroy Hittle

OLYMPIA—(AP)—Washington state no longer pays the highest welfare grants in the nation. It lost the lead which it shared with California within the past few months.

Oregon, for the first time in many months, now pays larger average welfare grants than Washington in three out of the five categories of public assistance.

As recently as last May Washington paid the highest average grants in the nation to persons receiving help through the aid to dependent children program and the disability assistance plan. It was second in aid to the blind, third in old age assistance and fourth in general assistance. It led Oregon in four of the five programs at that time.

In that same month, Oregon ranked second in disability, assistance and general assistance; fourth in aid to the blind, sixth in aid to dependent children and ninth in old age assistance.

In July—the latest tabulation issued by the federal security agency—Washington had dropped to ninth in ADC, third in disability assistance, fourth in old assistance, and fifth in general assistance. It remained second in aid to the blind.

Oregon, in July, went to first in disability assistance and held its same relative position in most of the other programs, putting it ahead of Washington in all programs except old age assistance and aid to the blind.

LOST LEAD JUNE 1

Washington dropped its leading position among the states when it cut grants in ADC, disability assistance and general assistance June 1 to keep expenditures within the amount of money available. Additional cuts were put into effect Sept. 1.

The July tabulation by the federal security agency showed these average payments for Oregon and Washington:

Old age assistance, $54.35, $61.95; ADC, $31.06, $29.44; aid to blind, $66.96, $73.50; disability assistance $65.90, $62.32; general assistance $58.93, $53.70.

Laugh Betrays Man to Police

FORT WAYNE, nd.—(AP)—A man was laughing so hard last night in a downtown movie that the woman in front of him turned around to look.

Then she ran out and called the police—she had recognized him as a man wanted in connection with the fatal shooting of his wife.

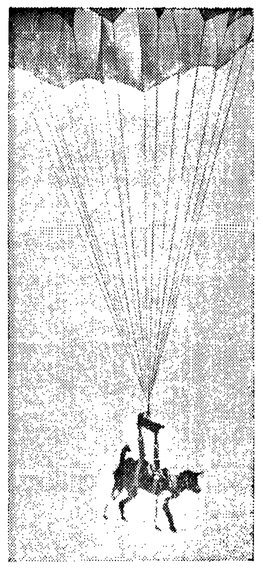
Police said they arrested Ralph Rogers, 26, of Fort Wayne, on a manslaughter charge. He disappeared last Saturday shortly before the body of his 30-year-old wife, Rachel was found in the basement of their home.

A three-state police net had failed to show a trace of him, until the woman called from the movie.

LOSES SLANDER CASE

CLEVELAND—(AP)— Paul D. Pirosko, a barber who sued for slander damages because he was called a "butcher," lost his case yesterday. It turned out Judge B. D. Nocola was once a butcher's apprentice.

The judge, declaring it took no little skill to be a butcher, refused to let a common pleas jury rule on the case. Priosko had sued John J. Georgy for $5,000.



"DOWN, RIP!"—Not "Geronimo," but "Arf, Arf," is the jump cry of "Ripcord," mascot of the Second Air Rescue Squadron in Okinawa. "Ripcord," seen as he braces his large legs just before landing, was trained to accompany buddies who 'chute to the aid of downed airmen.

Formal Dating Tips For Young Gallants

By Vivian Brown
AP Newsfeatures

It is easy to tell that school days are upon us—so many young men write asking the correct thing to do when escorting a girl to a party or formal dance.

Most of the young gentlemen are confused about their role when it comes to formal dating, and the majority do not own formal clothes. So, here are a few tips that might help the young gallants do an expert job of being gentlemen when called upon to escort that beauty queen to a formal party.

WHAT TO WEAR

A tuxedo is correct attire for a formal date. You can buy a good one for about $50 (or more) or borrow one or rent one for the evening at from about $7 to $10. One of the most popular types nowadays is a tropical-weight worsted in midnight blue for year-round wear and white for summer. The fabric's lightness assures you of comfort while dancing. You can brighten up your formal attire with a colorful cummerbund and matching bow-tie. You may wear a soft pleated formal shirt or a plain white broadcloth with French cuffs, from your bureau drawer. If you can't afford to invest in patent leather shoes, wear black calf with a plain toe.

If this is to be your first time in a tux, wear it around the house a couple of hours. This dress rehearsal will increase your poise and self-assurance.

ABOUT THAT CORSAGE . . .

You should supply a corsage for your date and it is always good taste to have it sent to the girl's home. It is particularly smart to call the girl's mother or her roommate or ask the girl herself what color and style of dress she plans to wear. After you know the color combinations, if you haven't ideas of your own, ask the florist's advice on what will go with the dress. African daisies, colonial bouquets make tasteful and unusual corsages. More conventional ones such as sweet peas, baby roses, carnation clusters and baby orchids always are top-drawer favorites. Any of these should fit your budget. For strapless gowns, a waist corsage is most appropriate, although, if it suits the girl's personality, a wrist corsage or tiara of tiny roses would be lovely. Remember, although every girl dreams about orchids, full-size orchids are usually for more mature women.

TRANSPORTATION PROBLEMS . .

It is best to plan your mode of travel in advance. If you depend on the family car or a borrowed one, make sure you have it sewed up, completely. Otherwise, you should be able to escort the girl from door to door in a taxi—not always easy on the exchequer. In case you are forced to take her in a bus or other public conveyance, tell her about it in advance — diplomatically, of course.

The lady always gets into the car first. You should hold the door, and help her with her gown, if it is a long, trailing one. You should get out first, and assist her out of the car.

BE A GENTLEMAN . . .

Arrange beforehand where to go after the dance is over. Discuss this with the girl to make sure her parents approve of the later hour. If the girl has a curfew, don't spoil the evening by arguing the point.

Both you and your date should make it a point to say hello to the chaperone. If there is a receiving line it is up to you to introduce your date.

DANCE DILEMMA . . .

If there is a dance program, it may be made out ahead of time, if you like. Custom demands that you have at least the first and last dance with your date. Unless cutting is ruled out for the affair, you have to say "yes" to a cut-in. You might as well be gracious about it.

If the orchestra plays a dance you can't do, it is better to explain and suggest "sitting this one out." It is your responsibility to see that your date always has someone to dance

U.S. Forest Income Hits All-time High

PORTLAND —(Special)— Receipts from 19 national forests of Oregon and Washington reached a new all-time high in the year ending June 30, according to figures just released by the U. S. forest service. A total of $26,244,053 was collected by the Pacific northwest region, almost 100 per cent greater than the previous year.

Forest service receipts for the entire country showed an increase of almost 70 per cent to another new high of $56,147,341.85. Northwest national forest receipts provided almost half of this income, exceeding that received by any other of the 10 forest regions in the United States and Alaska.

Sale of timber and other forest products produced the lion's share of income, with $25,855,244.33 credited to this cource.

Twenty-five per cent of the total receipts will be distributed to counties in proportion to the area of national forest land in each. The forest service is authorized to spend an additional 10 per cent of its income for construction and maintenance of roads and trails within national forests.

Trainer Claims Camels Smart Animals

AP Newsfeatures

CHICAGO—Jack Joyce disproves the general belief that the camel is an ornery, dumb animal.

He has educated four dromedaries to perform in a circus act. The camels present a military drill routine similar to those executed by highly trained horses. He says they are the first known to be thus trained.

Joyce and his trained camels are touring the country as part of the Shrine-Polack Brothers Circus. This circus is appearing in cities at sponsored benefits for the Shrine's 16 Crippled Children's hospitals.

Joyce, who is in the wild animal farm business at Thousand Oaks, Calif., got his camels in Australia. His 18 months of earnings for training horses in the Australian Wirth Circus were converted into 20 camels. He spotted the wild camels from the air, but had to go hundreds of miles overland to get them.

WENT WLD

Camels in Australia? Joyce says they were imported there more than 100 years ago to transport wool. Some of them later went wild.

"I had no idea of training them," Joyce said. "I was going to sell them to zoos and keep a few for movie studio work."

Joyce furnished 10 camels which appeared in the 20th Century Fox movie, "David and Bathsheba."

His four trained camels, Tiny, Aussie, Sidney and Cooge work unattached by rope or rein. They obey commands with quick willingness.

Uncle Sam Will Woo Healthy, Single Women During The Next Few Months

By Dorothy Roe
Associated Press Women's Editor

If you are a healthy, unmarried woman between the ages of 18 and 35, you can expect some heavy wooing from Uncle Sam during the next few months.

You'll be bombarded by radio, television, billboards and the public prints—perhaps even by personal interview.

You'll be shown the blandishments of travel, adventure, romance, education and career training.

There will be no doubt left in your mind, the campaign managers hope, that Uncle Sam loves you, wants you and needs you.

The object of all this, of course, is to persuade you to put on a uniform.

The opening guns of an all-out recruitment drive will be fired throughout the country November 11 with the goal of enlisting 112,000 women in all branches of the armed services by July, 1952.

The present total of U.S. service women, including nurses, is 30,000.

It seems the current women's recruitment drive has been something of a flop. The girls have turned a cold and fishy eye on the best lures of military life. After all, they have had a wide choice of careers lately. Business and industry have been bidding frantically for their services. A good secretary these days can almost name her own salary and take her pick of jobs.

The burgeoning bureaus in Washington have had to send teams out through the country to lure typists and secretaries into government jobs. Business men have been tearing their hair and offering such things as daily cocktail parties and prospective husbands to reluctant stenos.

Now the girls are to get both barrels of the latest promotional blast, designed to convince them that they'll find the end of the rainbow in military service.

NEED ACUTE

There is no doubt that need for service women is acute. And the opportunities for specialized careers have been increased 100-fold. At the beginning of world war II, only four jobs were open to WACS: Secretaries, cooks, clerks and chauffeurs.

Today the services list 359 different jobs open to women, ranging all the way from radar and electronics to photography and automobile repair.

It is stressed that young women enlisting in any branch of the services, but especially in the women's air force, will have a high probability of overseas service.

Enlisted women and non-coms draw base pay ranging from $75 monthly private's pay for the first four months of service to $198.45 for a master sergeant. An enlistment bonus is paid in advance, ranging from $90 for a three-year-hitch to $360 for a six-year term. Additional bonuses are paid for foreign service.

And all this, the government is quick to point out, is gravy, since food, quarters, clothing, dental and medical care are all free.

Officers draw pay ranging from $213.75 for a second lieutenant to $456 for a lieutenant colonel, plus monthly subsistence and quarters allowances, and increases after certain terms of service.

BIGGEST DRIVE

Biggest enlistment drive is for the women's air force, which now has 8,000 women, wants 48,000. WAC enrollment is now 11,000, with a goal of 30,000. WAVES have 5,000, want 10,000. There are 5,273 army nurses, and 7,000 are needed. An additional 2,000 WAF nurses are wanted, to raise the total to 4,700. The navy has 3,399 nurses, wants as many more as it can get.

In addition, there is a big demand for enlistees in the army and air force WMSC (women's medical specialists corps), which includes dieticians and physical and occupational therapists.

So don't be surprised if a handsome young recruiting officer gives you the eye one of these fine days, and before you know it, you may find yourself in a uniform designed by Hattie Carnegie (for the WAC) or Mainbocher (for the WAVES).

Motorists Set Travel Record

OLYMPIA—(AP)— Motorists traveled over one billion miles on Washington's roads and highways during August, the state highways department reported today.

The figure was based on State Treasurer Tom Martin's report that gas tax collections on August sales totaled $4,557,343, a new record high for a single month.

In piling up the 1,018,449,690 miles the motorists consumed 66,896,646 gallons of gasoline.

The record collection was $110,311 greater than for August, 1950, the next highest month in the state's history.

So far this year each month's gas tax collections have shown an increase over the same months last year.

PRAISE COOPERATIOIN

BALLARAT—(AP)—Norman Makin, former Australian Ambassador to the U. S. said here that the greatest contribution that the British people could make to world peace would be to continue friendly relations with the Americans. The combination of the British Commonwealth and the U. S. is the strongest factor in preserving world peace, he said.

LUCK HOLDS FOR MULE

SALZBURG, Austria — (AP) — In Austria's "Alpine fortress" American and French troops recently held joint maneuvers, using mules as a method of transportation in the rugged mountains of the Tyrol.

One mule became a hero of the U. S. army. Attached to "K" company of the 350th infantry regiment, "Charlie" slipped and fell 500 feet over the edge of a ridge.

A small party of Americans and French made the hazardous descent to give "Charlie" a decent burial. They found the homely jackass uninjured, complacently munching grass with an expression that seemed to say: "Well, what kept you?"

OK RADIO CURB PLAN

WASHINGTON—(AP)—As a precaution against atomic war, the house Thursday approved legislation authorizing the president to use, control or close any or all U.S. radio stations in the event of national emergency.

The idea is to prevent piloted aircraft or guided missiles from "homing" on a radio transmitting station. In supporting the bill before the commerce committee, defense department witnesses particularly mentioned the possibility of enemy atomic attack.

The house approved two amendments to the bill, which now goes back to the senate.

LOW BIDDERS ON CANAL JOB

The two firms entered a joint low bid of $237,439. Goodfellow Bros. of Wenatchee was the next lowest bidder with a figure of $238,011. Engineer's estimate for the work was $169,364.

Mrs. Alan A. Krull and Mrs. William D. Durdan, both of suburban Snyder, gave birth to the baby girls Wednesday. Mrs. Krull is the mother of twins.

"It's like having triplets," Mrs. Krull said last night.

Nazi SS Veterans Find Leader For Comeback Bid

By Daniel DeLuce

FRANKFURT, Germany— (AP) —A new career as political spellbinder may be dawning for Otto Skorzeny, the scarfaced Nazi whose exploits shook the allies in wartime.

Two hundred thousand former comrades of Skorzeny in the SS, Hitler's elite guard, are getting restive in West Germany over alleged wrongs.

Otto Skorzeny

They are brooding particularly over their failure to be awarded pensions like the government now says old officers of the army, navy and air force.

Most politicians at Bonn, the federal capital, still shun open contact with SS elements. The allies have bared them from the force of 100,000 German auxiliary troops who serve in "labor service units."

Many SS men are still serving prison terms in France and Germany for war crimes. The allied judgment at Nuenberg continues to stand: the SS was a criminal organization, but, strange as it may seem, Hitler's cabinet, general staff and brownshirt storm troopers were not.

So bitter complaints are growing in SS ranks. Otto Skorzeny is listening.

With the demeanor of Superman, dropping down from Mars, the 242-pound, 6-foot-four adventurer bounced out of a Swiss airliner at Stuttgart recently. Instead of a uniform, he had a double-breasted flannel suit from one of Madrid's best custom tailors.

Identified by his Spanish passport as stateless and a writer, Skorzeny kept mum on rumors that he had been hired by Generalissimo Franco to organize an elite armed force, the Blue Corps, from the flabby political bulk of the falange. Presumably, it would be instilled with oldtime SS efficiency.

With utmost discretion, Skorzeny said he had come to Germany to visit friends, and let it go at that. Police breathed easier. Searching through their files, they confirmed that Skorzeny was entitled to treatment as a respectable foreign tourist, because they didn't want him any more.

LAW WAS SATISFIED

This removed the tag, "wanted by the law," which had been pinned on him when he escaped from a Darmstadt internment camp in 1948 while awaiting a denazification trial.

Just a year before that, Skorzeny won acquittal of war crimes charges by the U. S. army. It had been claimed that the sabotage spearhead which he led in the Ardennes counter-offensive had killed American soldier prisoners.

But tough American investigators never got the time of day out of Skorzeny. In another case, the "Malmedy massacre," it was finally admitted that they extracted confessions from SS men with beatings, mock trials, and pretended executions. Skorzeny confessed nothing.

AN EASY KIDNAPPING

When Skorzeny decided to leave the barbed wire festness of Darmstadt, several conspirators dressed up in American uniforms and called for him. The German guards saluted. The prisoner climbed into a car and was driven away.

Acquaintances proudly argue that no SS veteran except Skorzeny is likely to capture public fancy in the future. He thus appears a logical choice to lead a "crusade" to whitewash the SS in general.

Self-Called Inventor Of Hamburger Dies

AKRON, O.—(AP)—Frank Menches, who said he invented the hamburger when pressed for sausage at a county fair 59 years ago, died yesterday at 86.

Menches said the 'burger was born when he ran out of pork sausages at a food stand at the Summit county, O. fair. When the crowd got hungry, he ordered his assistants to "grind some beef" and a great American dish took form.

The hamburger gots its name, Menches maintained, from an unknown customer at the Lorain county, O fair in 1892.

Sophomores Plan November Events

The sophomore class of Roosevelt high school plans three major events during November. On November 9, sophomore Armistice Day assembly will have as its theme, "Spirit of Old Glory Today."

On annual Sophomore night, November 12, the class members will be hosts to their parents, and will take them through their daily school schedule after a short program in assembly. A social hour will give parents an opportunity to meet the faculty.

The last event, new to sophomores and Roosevelt high, is Sophomore Sunday on November 11. On this day each sophomore will go to the church of his choice. Sophomores who do not have a church affiliation may attend church with a friend.

This year's class officers are Jim Cheatam, preisdent; Dale Petersen, vice-president; and Teddy Mattson, secretary-treasurer.

Assisting class officers in making the special events possible are members of the executive board (eight students who represent the sophomore class in student council) and their advisor, Sue Harding, assisted by Marge Collard. Miss Collard is new to the faculty this year and teaches both in English and commercial departments.
