THE DEMOCRAT-LEADER.

VOL. 5. NO. 5. PORT ANGELES, CLALLAM COUNTY, WASHINGTON, JUNE 22, 1894. 8 PAGES.---PRICE FIVE CENTS

Returns from California.

Among the passengers on the steamer Puebla, which passed here Saturday en route for Seattle, was our old townsman Geo. H. Scott, who has spent the winter at San Francisco, where the great exposition received his attention since the formal opening in January. As a correspondent for northern and eastern papers he sent out many valuable descriptive articles of the Sunset city. Mr. Scott is now representative agent and traveliug correspondent of The American Patriot, a recently established publication in San Fraucisco, devoted to American institutions and good citizenship.

TO ENJOIN THE AUDITOR

From Issuing Warrants in Payment of the Salary of

THE DEPUTY COUNTY CLERK.

Destructive Fire at Dry Creek—The People's Party Elects Delegates to the County Convention Which Meets To-morrow—Lady Members of the Minerva Literary Society Entertain.

A suit has been commenced in this county by Henry Nelson, a taxpayer, and a member of the Taxpayers' union, asking the court to enjoin the county auditor from issuing a warrant for the payment of the salary of the county clerk's deputy. The plaintiff contends that the act authorizing the county commissioners to permit the employment of deputies is unconstitutional. The plaintiff seeks to establish the point that the constitution provides that the salaries of officers of counties of the same population throughout the state shall be uniform, while the act permitting the employment of deputies gives the commissioners discretionary powers in the employment of deputies not contemplated by the constitution.

FIRE AT DRY CREEK.

The Dry House and 600,000 Shingles Destroyed—Will Re-Built at Once.

Last Saturday afternoon the Dry Creek dry house with 600,000 shingle was totally destroyed by fire. The fire originated from defective pipes. The structure is connected with a system of pipes through which steam is forced for the purpose of preserving the shingles.

Receiver Malony estimate the loss at $1,000, and says while he sincerely regrets the loss, it will result advantageously in the end, as the structure ill-served the purpose for which it was built, its rude, imperfect construction being inadequate to the demand, and a veritable fire-trap, threatening the destruction of the entire plant of the company.

Work on a new dry house, of modern plan, will be begun as soon as the necessary lumber can be procured, and it will be prosecuted to completion as rapidly as possible.

LADY MEMBERS ENTERTAIN.

Unique Entertainment at the Minerva Hall Last Monday Evening.

The lady members of the Minerva Literary Society entertained their gentlemen friends last Monday evening with a unique entertainment. The leading feature of the program was the representation in some peculiarity of dress of the production of some noted author.

Eighteen of the lady members participated in this unique and novel representation.

Forty minutes were given the gentlemen to guess the literary production which each lady represented. For the purpose of stimulating friendly rivalry among the learned gentlemen members, two prizes were offered to the one guessing the greater, the other the least number of representations. The first was won by Mr. H. E. Lutz, and the second by Mr. W. J. Dick.

A delicious luncheon was served in the old council chamber, after partaking of which, the women responded with quotations from that inexhaustible subject, man. This was followed with the nomination of candidates whom were to be voted for the exalted position of the "handsomest man." Eloquent, impassioned and pathetic pleas were made in the interest of each her respective candidate as he was successively placed in nomination. Miss Rose Pitts placed in nomination Rev. Jonas Bushell; Mrs. Harry Lutz, Mr. R. A. Grimes; Mrs. Edna Lewis, Mr. Frank Mackintosh, and Miss Esworthy, Mr. H. B. Willson. The vote resulted in the Rev. Jonas Bushell receiving the greater number of votes cast, and the reverend gentleman was declared duly elected. The following are respectively the representations:

The Society "B. e Book," Mrs. Ballou.
Twelith Night, Mrs. H. B. Willson.
Stepping Heavenward, Mrs. Bell.
Letters from Spain, Mrs. Bushell.
Bittersweet, Mrs. Troy.
Oliver Twist, Mrs. Meagher.
A Bow of Orange Ribbon, Miss Cook.
Pickwick Papers, Mrs. Mattie Taylor.
The Lady or the Tiger, Mrs. H. Lutz.
The Complete Angler, Miss Esworthy.
The Newcomes, Mrs. Lewis.
Crabbe's Tales, Mrs. Davis.
Moss Side, Mrs. Louis R. Flowers.
Ivanhoe, Mrs. A. N. Taylor.
Sweet Bells Out of Tune, Miss Pitts,
Money King, Miss Luella Hall.
Woman in White, Mrs. Jenkins.
Middlemarch, Mrs. A. M. Johnston.

DELEGATES ELECTED.

The People's Party Elect Delegates to the County Convention.

The People's Party primaries were held throughout the county last Saturday to elect delegates to the county convention which convenes next Saturday (to-morrow), in this city, to elect delegates to the state convention which meets at North Yakima on Thursday, the 28th inst., to nominate a state ticket. The nomination of a county ticket will be made later on. The following delegates were elected from the various wards of the city:

First Ward—L. P. Crawford, L. W. Nichols, J. R. McDonald.

Second—Chas. A. Foss, Geo. Haines, W. Clark.

Third—W. Clegg, F. Foss, Clarence McLaughlin.

Fourth—James McCutchen, —— Koch, T. J. Carter.

Fifth—D. G. Munro, —— Hall, Geo. Wunderlich.

Sixth—J. H. Ristine, H. Walby, B. W. Johnson.

The Starr on the Seattle-Angeles Route.

The steamer Geo. E. Starr will soon resume service on the Seattle-Angeles route. She underwent her annual inspection in Seattle last Wednesday. She was then temporarily placed in service on the Port Townsend mail route, to relieve the Idaho, while the latter has a new crank pin put in. As soon as these repairs will have been made to the Idaho, the Starr will be placed on the Angeles run.

Reserve Lot Patents.

Under a Democratic administration business moves with alacrity in every department, partioularly is this true in the department of the interior. Last Saturday about 100 patents for reservation lots were received from Washington at the land office in Seattle.

DRAMATIC ANNOUNCEMENTS.

The Port Angeles Dramatic Club's Future Engagements.

This (Friday) evening the Port Angeles Dramatic Club produces the military drama, "From Sumter to Appomatox," for the benefit of the Fourth of July fund.

The cast is greatly strengthened with new talent, and will no doubt evidence unmistakeable improvement.

Next Tuesday the club will fill an engagement at Townsend, producing the military drama under the auspices of the Woman's Relief Corps, of that city.

On the 30th inst. the "Irish Justice," and the "Elephant Act," will be produced at the opera house in this city.

"Nevada" is billed for the 3rd of next month, and "Muldoon's Picnic" for the afternoon and evening of the Fourth.

THE LYCEUM LEAGUE.

Installation of Officers and a Literary Program.

The Lyceum League of America held a public installation of its officers who were elected to serve during the ensuing semi-annual period in the Congregational church last Tuesday evening.

The address of welcome by the president, Mr. A. S. McCormick, was able, thoughtful and suggestive.

The installation of officers followed. The members elected to administer the affairs of the society the ensuing term were:

President, A. S. McCormick; Vice-President, Wm. Butt; Recording Secretary, C. W. Fields; Corresponding Secretary, W. E. Graham; Treasurer, Ollie Waechter.

The newly elected officers made a few pointed remarks, declared anew their faith in the society, allegiance to its principles and devotion to its purposes and aims.

The following excellent program was produced:

Recitation.....Jessie Elliott
Instrumental Music.....
.....Roy and Ray McClinton
Recitation.....Theresa Graham
Solo.....Wm Butt
Oration.....C W Fields
Song.....By the Club
Recitation.....Winnie Souder
Declamation.....W E Graham
Recitation.....Blanch Souder
Song.....By the Club

Refreshments followed, after which an hour was spent in social intercourse, games and singing.

The School Board Meets.

The school board met last Wednesday evening with Dr. McGeorge and Wm. Graham present and A. C. Hatfield absent.

The board was to have engaged teachers for the next school year, but the absence of Mr. Hatfield caused the postponement of such action until the next meeting of the board.

A petition with forty signatures was submitted. The nature of this document was a request that the board reduce the salaries paid the teachers to be as follows: The superintendent, $75; principal, $60; teachers, $30.

Of the forty petitioners twelve only have had children in attendance at the public schools of the city. The petition was filed for future action.

State Senator.

All the political parties in this county should insist on getting a Clallam county man nominated for state senator for the district of Clallam and Jefferson. The latter county has heretofore secured this privilege and will claim it again unless Clallam insists on her rights and downs all attempts to beat this side of the district out of the privilege of naming the next state senator.—Clallam Record.

Decided Improvement.

Those who have been privileged to witness the rehearsals of the military drama "From Sumter to Appomatox" speak in highest terms of the decided improvement the players have made in the realistic personation of the characters, and the earnestness and enthusiasm with which each assumes his respective role.

IN HOLIDAY ATTIRE.

Sparks of Patriotism From the Municipality.

A HUNDRED DOLLARS APPROPRIATED

For the Improvement of Front and Second Streets—Manager Williams Employs an Expert Engineer to Estimate Amount of Work Done During Month of May on the Electric Lighting Pipe Line.

At the council last Wednesday evening the mayor and all of the members were present, excepting M. McGill and J. E. Beam.

A petition with numerous signatures was presented, the purpose of which was a request for an appropriation of $100 from the general fund to expend on Front and Second streets. The approaching national holiday, and the appropriate observance of the same, painfully suggests the fact that these thoroughfares should at least be made presentable. The appropriation was allowed.

A committee comprising Rev. Jonas Bushell, Jno. M. Baxter and A. H. Nottage, representing temperance societies of the city, petitioned the council for the free use of the city electric lights in the opera house on Friday evening, June 29th, 1894, at which time these organizations will give a free literary and temperance entertainment. The council granted the request.

C. W. Sinnott, secretary of the Port Angeles Fire Department, informed the council of the election of Joseph Pearson, on the 18th inst., as chief, vice C. F. Merritt, resigned. The report was filed and the election of Mr. Pearson approved.

To the Honorable Mayor and Municipal Council of the City of Port Angeles:

GENTLEMEN:—In regard to the estimate for May on the electric light power pipe line, it is essential to say that you take some action in the matter at once, as it is very important that I should pay my men and bills by the 1st of July, and I hope you will look at this from a business point of view.

I also would ask you to have your engineer furnish me with sizes, degrees of angle of elbows and prints for same for Little river end of pipe line.

Very Respectfully,
W. C. WILLIAMS.

Referred to the finance committee.

The estimate of T. A. Pope, civil engineer, employed by W. C. Williams, manager, to survey work performed during month of May, on the electric lighting pipe line, was submitted. From Mr. Pope's calculations the work performed amounts to $2,400.49. The estimate was referred to the finance committee.

The renewal of the liquor license bond of James Fitzgerald was authorized and approved.

A permit was granted W. S. Morrisey to remove his dwelling from Front street extension to Peabody and Front streets.

Ordinance No. 215, repealing Ordinance No. 213, an ordinance regulating the sale of vinuous liquors and the juices manufactured from the grape, was passed to its first reading.

The committee appointed at the previous meeting of the council, to see W. C. Williams, manager, and ascertain from him, what the difference in cost would be for the construction of a square flume instead of a round flume, between Little river and Frazier creek reported verbally to the effect that the special committee had seen Mr. Williams and that he had informed the committee that a square flume would cost more than a round flume. The report of Councilman Graybill was accepted. and the committee discharged. W. C. Williams, Manager, was present in the council chamber when the foregoing report was made by Councilman Graybill, and did not controvert the same.

The street commissioner was instructed to repair the walk up Tumwater hill.

After allowing certain approved claims the council adjourned.

COUNTY NEWS.

Interesting Paragraphs Gathered From the County Press.

East Clallam Record.]

R. R. Johnson has commenced getting his lot cleared on Frontier street and will have a store building erected 20 by 30 feet. The location is between Schneider's hotel and Lutz's store.

Francis Mulligan lately changed his pre-emption into a homestead and as Mr. Mulligan has been on the claim since 1890 he can count all time on the land and prove up as a five-year homesteader. Several other settlers are talking of following his example and saving the price of the land.

Ben Krohn, Stewart Brown and one or two others of this vicinity intend going out sealing next month up the Alaskan coast toward the Bering sea. They are making the trip both for pleasure and profit and may astonish the natives on their return by wearing diamonds and sealskins.

Louis Carratt, who has been holding a claim on the Hoko river for the past three years has relinquished and sold his improvements to Amund Orset. Carratt's contest over forty acres of the claim with J. H. Marlette has been disposed of by both parties relinquishing rights to the land in dispute.

W. A. Stevens met with an accident last Friday while going out on horse back to his claim. The horse stumbled and fell carrying Mr. Stevens underneath and bruising one of his limbs. No bones were broken but he had to be carried back to the hotel and has been laid up since.

A. C. Cook, Nicholas and Frank J. arrived here last week from Norway, Michigan, to settle upon claims if suitable locations can be found.

[Beaver Leader.]

The recent storm injured the hop crop somewhat, at Forks, but there is ample time yet for a good crop. The storm also caused the farmers to rebuild some fences and straighten hop poles.

One of the government survey steamers was anchored at La Push three or four days. Several of the officers were ashore.

John Iverson, supervisor of road distkict, No. 34, has been at work with a force of men on the Bear creek road, widening out and grading the road and putting railings on the bridges. Mr. Iverson now has a road second to none in the valley.

C. E. Brenton, of Tyee, passed through Beaver Thursday with a cart load of goods which he brought from Clallam. Mr. Brenton had on about 400 pounds and he says he came over the road without any serious mishaps.

The La Push Indians were out sealing again and made a fine catch.

The schooner Teaser was in with a load of merchandise for the Washington Fur Company and F. T. Balch.

The wind storm at La Push last Friday was the severest we have had for some time. It did some damage to the small fruit and left a few spruces and hemlocks lying in the road.

We understand that George Lamb, our west end commissioner, has ordered work commenced on the Burlingame road between the falls and East Clallam. He will widen out the road at places and plank the sink holes. This is a commendable move on the part of Mr. Lamb. He has also ordered the opening of the Quillayute-Angeles road in Mr. Sawyers's district, No. 27, and it is expected that we will be able to go to Angeles overland in the course of a month.

W. C. T. U. ITEMS

BY MRS. C. B. MANFIELD.

The regular meetings of this Union will be held on the first and third Fridays of each month at 2 p. m., and on the second and fourth Friday evenings at 8 o'clock. The gentlemen members are requested to attend the evening meetings. All are cordially invited to all meetings of the union.

The W. C. T. U. pledge: "I hereby solemnly promise, God helping me, to abstain from all distilled, fermented and malt liquors, including wine, beer and cider, and to employ all proper means to discourage the use of and traffic of the same."

For God, and home and native land.

The temperance sermon which was to have been delivered in the M. E. Church Sunday evening, June 17th, was postponed until June 24th. Everybody come and bring your friends.

The regular afternoon meeting of this Union will be held at the home of Mrs. Stephen Raymond, June 29th, at 2 o'clock, p. m.

Young ladies. don't you remember that this union carried a motion some time ago to admit you into its ranks for fifty cents dues per month? This is just a few cents more than the per capita tax which we pay to the state union, and which is used toward carrying on the work in the state. You cannot deny that there is a great need of temperance work in our state and right here in the city. We cannot see into the bleeding hearts of wives and mothers; but we can see the tears fall and hear the anguished groan when a son, father, husband or brother is drawn into these dens of iniquity which stand with open doors to receive them, and where they are soon transformed from the kind and noble man to a fiend, and sent home to loved ones, who, many times, would rather see them dead before them than in this condition. Now girls let us ask you to come and lend a helping hand in this work of reform; but you say, "my father does not drink." Perhaps not, but some one's brother drinks, so let us reach out and do our best to save the boys from this terrible curse.

There is but one god in the lower quarters of any city to-day, and that is alcohol. His word is law, his mandate is supreme. In Chicago not long ago, a brute who has made money enough selling liquor to purchase a fine house and lot, beat and kicked a child to death because it presumed to play in the street before his door. The dastardly crime was committed in broad daylight and the perpetrator is well known. If he had murdered some one as brutal as himself instead of an innocent, unoffending child, he would not have remained at liberty long to boast of his awful deed. Not a week passes that some poor, broken-down man, "bums" the aristocratic barkeeper calls them, is not beaten into insensibility or murdered outright by the men whose business it is to make respectable men drunkards. Men in the more disreputable resorts become so familiar with crime that life is cheap in their sight, and it is rare sport to knock about a poor, friendless, defenseless being, who has insulted their dignity by begging for a drink after spending their last nickle at his bar, and other poor victims who have a few dimes left will stand by and applaud the blows of the brute who has worse than robbed him of his money. And why do they applaud? Is not the barkeeper their god? Has he not in those black bottles behind the bar, the liquid for which they will sacrifice everything that they possess?

To such a state will the poison of alcohol bring those who at one time boasted of a love of truth and sobriety, who practiced the christian virtues, who learned to lisp the prayer at a mother's knee.

Are You Insured?

If not, now is the time to provide yourself and family with a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy as an insurance against any serious results from an attack of bowel complaint during the summer months. It is almost certain to be needed and should be procured at once. No other remedy can take its place or do its work. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by J. C. Hansen.

Boils, abscesses, tumors, and even cancers, are a result of a natural effort of the system to expel the poisons which the liver and kidneys have failed to remove. Ayer's Sarsaparilla stimulates all the organs to a proper performance of their functions.

Ayer's Pills are invaluable for the cure of Headache, Constipation, Stomach and Liver troubles, and all derangements of the digestive and assimilative organs. These pills are sugar-coated, safe and pleasant to take, always reliable, and retain their virtues in any climate.

They Want Names.

The Russell Art Publishing Co., of 928 Arch street, Philadelphia, desire the names and address of a few people in every town who are interested in works of art, and to secure them they offer to send free, "Cupid Guides the Boat," a superbly executed water color picture, size, 10x13 inches, suitable for framing, and sixteen other pictures about same size, in colors, to any one sending them at once the names and address of ten persons (admirers of fine pictures) together with six two-cent stamps to cover expense of mailing, etc. The regular price of these pictures is $1.00, but they all can be secured free by any person forwarding the names and stamps promptly.

NOTE—The editor of this paper has already received copies of above pictures and considers them really "Gems of Art."

A Gentleman

Who formerly resided in Connecticut, but who now resides in Honolulu, writes: "For 20 years past, my wife and I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor, and we attribute to it the dark hair which she and I now have, while hundreds of our acquaintances, ten or a dozen years younger than we, are either gray-headed, white, or bald. When asked how our hair has retained its color and fullness, we reply, 'By the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor—nothing else.'"

"In 1868, my affianced was nearly bald, and the hair kept falling out every day. I induced her to use Ayer's Hair Vigor, and very soon, it not only checked any further loss of hair, but produced an entirely new growth, which has remained luxuriant and glossy to this day. I can recommend this preparation to all in need of a genuine hair-restorer. It is all that it is claimed to be."—Antonio Alarrun, Bastrop, Tex.

PATENTS

FOR INVENTIONS.

Equal with the interest of those having claims against the government is that of INVENTORS, who often lose the benefit of valuable inventions because of the incompetency or inattention of the attorneys employed to obtain their patents. Too much care cannot be exercised in employing competent and reliable solicitors to procure patents, for the value of a patent depends greatly, if not entirely, upon the care and skill of the attorney.

With the view of protecting inventors from worthless or careless attorneys, and of seeing that inventions are well protected by valid patents, we have retained counsel expert in patent practice, and therefore are prepared to Obtain Patents in the United States and all Foreign Countries, Conduct Interferences, Make Special Examinations, Prosecute Rejected Cases, Register Trade-Marks and Copyrights, Render Opinions as to Scope and Validity of Patents, Prosecute and Defend Infringement Suits, Etc., Etc.

If you have an invention on hand send a sketch or photograph thereof, together with a brief description of the important features, and you will be at once advised as to the best course to pursue. Models are seldom necessary. If others are infringing on your rights, or if you are charged with infringement by others, submit the matter to us for a reliable OPINION before acting on the matter.

No Good still continued to appear in the pool, with the bladder floating behind him, a comical sight, at which we often laughed. I have seen No Good chasing it round and round the pool for half an hour at a time, like a kitten chasing his tail, but we had foreseen the danger which this pastime suggested and had tied it in such a manner that he never got his teeth within a foot of it. We attached little importance to No Good and his mission. We knew that we would get out, and that it was all now a question of time, provided, of course, that we did not fall sick or meet with any unforeseen accident.

CHAPTER XXX.

One morning I was awakened by a loud noise of thumping and the swish swash of rushing water. I knew the significance of this. There was wild weather abroad, and we here, though far from the outer turmoil, were experiencing the effects. Jack was still asleep. I got up, fed the fire with fresh timber and sat on the edge of the pool contemplating the agitation of the dark water and listening to the strange and rather horrible noises which it made echoing in the long, high and winding cave behind me, the mouth of which opened upon this pool. All our seals were here in a row. No Good was among them, with his caudal, or crural, ornament hanging down gracefully behind him and occasionally whirled about by the water. "We are prisoners here now," I said to myself, "for it would be decidedly dangerous to attempt the tunnel with the water rushing through it at this rate."

After awhile Jack awoke, and when we had breakfasted and played with our friends we went again at our work. We had now three good, movable pieces of timber, which only needed to be cut smooth at each end so that one might stand on the top of another, to be ready for the escalading of Curry's Window. All that day the agitation of the water continued and grew momentarily more violent. Had we wished to do so it would have been utterly impossible for us to traverse the tunnel. In the afternoon the monotony was interrupted somewhat by the reappearance of No Good minus his appendage. The bladder was gone. That being so, we perceived how desirable it was that we should return to the big cavern as soon as possible. Our bladder might be picked up at any moment; consequently at any moment a search party might descend into the big cavern. What would they think if they did not find us there? They would never suspect the existence of this second cave, the avenue to which was at all times flooded. It was on that very evening that Mr. Watkins and his nephews picked up our letter. As it was certain death, however, in the present condition of the water to attempt the tunnel, we quietly worked on at the big beam and spent the day smoothing the ends of those pieces which we had separated. After a week or ten days the outer storm had evidently abated, but the agitation of the water was still too great to permit us to get through the tunnel. At last, one morning, when we awoke, we found that the agitation had almost subsided. This day we resolved to bring our logs through. We rolled one of them to the water's edge, and having made it fast with a cord gently pushed it into the water. We feared that it might sink, in which case we intended to partly buoy it up by turning our sheepskin into a bladder and fastening it to the log. The log, however, swam, and our next task was to cause it to sink just sufficiently to come on a level with the mouth of that submarine tunnel, so that we might draw it through into the great cavern. This task we accomplished by tying to it small stones as sinkers. To make a long story short, we succeeded that day in bringing all our short logs through and rolled them up upon the shore of the seals' pool in the great cavern, but it was a very laborious job.

About half that work was accomplished when we made an important discovery—viz, that a search party had been in the cave during the time that we were weather bound. In our provision cranny I found the hamper of sandwiches and the flask of brandy. I recognized at once Mr. Watkins' flask. We did not know till afterward that he and his men had been twice in the cave, once the day after the disappearance of No Good's appendage and a second time three days subsequently. Though we thought it quite possible that they might visit it again, we did not relax our exertions. Next day we rolled the logs to Curry's Window. Though we rolled them for greater convenience, we had taken care to make most of them light enough to be raised by our united strength and some light enough to be raised by one of us alone, the reason of which will be apparent presently. The sandwiches, some of ham and some of beef, were very welcome, though the bread was rather stale. The brandy, too, though neither of us cared in the least for strong drink, was in our present exhausted condition very welcome. In short, we ate, drank and were merry that night, and sang songs, too, making the echoes ring. We certainly did not drink too much brandy and water, at least I hope not. It was the near approach of liberty which made us so festive, though no doubt the strong drink, to which we were almost quite unaccustomed, somewhat contributed. Jack had not smoked since I joined him. He had about an inch of Limerick twist still left, which he often brought out and gazed at affectionately, but did not use. He said he was reserving it till some time when he might really need the stimulus of tobacco. I was a nonsmoker myself then. Would that I could say the same now! Indeed I have a wretched pipe in my mouth as I write these lines.

We rose next morning early and breakfasted in high spirits. This day we said that we would be free. We came to Curry's Window. There, on the highest of the bowlder stones, which we had already heaped there, we set up one of our big logs, making it quite firm about the base by the insertion and even the ramming home of seaweed. We had to be cautious, for if afterward our ladder might happen to topple over the fall would be fatal. Upon the top of this first log we put a second in such a manner that a man might step from the first to the second. This was effected by inserting seaweed behind the first log, causing it to stand out from the rocky incline to the distance of about three-quarters of a foot. The base of the second log touched the rock, but its top in a similar manner we caused to stand back by means of seaweed. In this way we proposed to make our ladder, or rather our stairs. When completed, we hoped to be able to step up to Curry's Window almost as easily as one might go up stairs in a house. The necessity of making the ends of these blocks quite smooth and level, to which I have already referred, can be now perceived. Each log had to rest evenly on the head of the one below it. When our stairs had reached a certain height, Jack went up, and I handed him the smaller blocks, which he proceeded to manipulate and adjust with seaweed in the manner which I have described. It was a little after 12 when our stairs were completed. Then, with a cheer which awoke a thousand rumbling echoes through the vast cavern and along the corridors, we hastened back to the seals' pool and joyfully broiled our last dinner there. Then we unloosed Scamp and had a final farewell to all the seals. Indeed I myself felt a sort of regret at parting with them, though my acquaintance with the gentle and affectionate creatures was so recent, but Jack fairly—well, it is no matter. In time we bade farewell to the seals, and putting up the few things we had to bring with us and the butt ends of our fishing rods, in order to steady us in our return along the face of the cliff, ascended the stairs, congratulating each other on the excellence of our handiwork, and together stood in Curry's Window contemplating the great sea, which at the moment was flashing in the sunlight. Jack's face was literally as bright as that sunlit sea. We made our way carefully along the little ledge. Indeed I may as well say that I went carefully, for Jack, who had now been for months stepping about among the bowlders of the cave, was as sure footed as a goat. In due time we came to that yawning cleft which ever since the days of old Curry, the smuggler, had repelled men from traversing this cliff. Jack sprang across without a moment's hesitation. It was a big leap indeed, but the leap back was not so appalling as the leap forward, for there was plenty of foothold on the Dhu-Cerrig side of the chasm. As we drew nigh to Melody's cabin that worthy, who had been released from jail, issued huge in the little bright doorway and behind him his young hopeful, that illustrious young scholar, Dannie. Big Melody, who, I thought, was devoid of all amiable human instincts, actually wept, and the illustrious Dannie ran off to the village, roaring like a little bull: "Master Jack is found! The two of them is found!" All the village people and a great many of the country people, who had been celebrating the eve of the great festival in the public house—Johnnie Melville's, if that is any matter—ran to meet us, so that it was at the head of a great procession that we reached the rectory. Needless to say that my father, though strongly averse to such practices, made no objection when Jack proposed to send to Johnnie Melville's for a barrel of porter. It was broached on the lawn under torchlight and then emptied. As every one was teasing us about our place of concealment, Jack announced that he would make a speech and tell them all together of our adventures. Accordingly, as soon as he had changed his clothes—those in which he had returned were mere rags—he mounted a chair on the lawn and told the whole story as shortly as he could. When he had finished, my father addressed the people and ended with a prayer, at which all the people, though perhaps in anything but a prayerful humor, reverently bared their heads. Most of them were Roman Catholics, but this was in the predisestablishment days, when the relations between Protestant clergymen and their Roman Catholic parishioners were less strained and strange than I have been informed they are now.

CHAPTER XXXI.

JOHN FREEMAN CONCLUDES HIS STORY.

My story is nearly ended. Next day Ned and Mr. Watkins and myself descended into the "Devil's Parlor." We took with us a rock drill, blasting powder, a fuse and a portmanteau. The reader will probably guess our purpose. It was to break open the tomb of old Curry and appropriate his treasures. I may have had some fear of the ghost, but not enough to prevent me from rifling his tomb. We bored, charged and blasted into fragments the big stone which debarred entrance to the little nook where his ashes lay, thereby destroying, as I have been since told, what was perhaps an important archæological relic. The fragments, however, are no doubt there still, waiting for the Royal Irish academy or some other learned body to appropriate them. Rushing back as soon as the explosion was over, we discovered by the light of our candles behind the place where the slab stood a broken earthen pot and a great quantity of ashes and charred bones. Mingled with these we only found certain metal work—a few of gold, but the greater part of silver and bronze—all much defaced and injured seemingly by the action of fire, but on each side of the heap of bones, ashes and metal work we found two smaller vases unbroken and filled each of them to brim with many rings of gold. There was a third broken, but evidently charged in the same manner, for the rings lay about in a heap mingled with sherds. This crock was placed opposite the pot containing the ashes. The rock behind the latter pot had been planed or chiseled to a flat surface, and upon this were certain marks, but nothing in the nature of writing. All the gold and metal work we tumbled into the portmanteau, locked it and conveyed it to the entrance. My seals were not in evidence this day. Before leaving the cave on Christmas eve I had released Scamp and given him a final kiss. How long my seals continued to haunt the cave I cannot tell. They forgot me, I dare say, sooner than I could forget them. Though it is now 40 years since the occurrences which I have described, I believe I would rather shoot a man than a seal. I sold most of my treasure trove in Dublin in the ensuing February. After giving Ned a present out of the proceeds, I had exactly £1,155 15s. over, which I straightway banked. I never finished my college course. In the following summer, yielding to the solicitations of a maternal uncle, I sailed for Australia. I am now a sheep farmer in the county of New Yorkshire, Victoria, and though I cannot say that I have cattle on a thousand hills I have many thousands of sheep on plains. My dear brother Ned joined me in the succeeding summer. He was doing well as a sheepmaster, but tired of the life. He is now a journalist in western Australia, and so far as I can judge, for the paper which he both owns and edits comes to me regularly, writes very well indeed. From certain signs and tokens I believe that the poetry which adorns it is his own. Little Charley, though he threatened at one time to join the Church of Rome, is now, I am glad to say, a low church clergyman and rector of the parish of Hugriminton in the shire of Essex and maintains manfully in those parts the sound doctrine of salvation by faith only. With regard to the apparition, I have to add the following: Some of the more interesting metal work I showed to a college chum, who told me that he had a friend, who was well up in antiquities, who would be able to tell us all about them. His friend's name was Hennessy. I forget his Christian name. [A distinguished Gaelic scholar, translator of "The Annals of Locke Ce" and of the annals of Ulster: died a few years ago.] He is a gentleman who, I understand, has since distinguished himself in that department of scholarship and now occupies a position of trust under the government. Mr. Hennessy assigned the metal work to some century which I forget. He said, I remember, that its characteristics were more Scandinavian than Irish, and that their partial defacement was due to the fact that they had been cast upon the funeral pyre of the person in whose tomb they were found. As I had told Mr. Hennessy nothing about how and where I found them, I was greatly struck by his penetration. Afterward I told him the whole story of my immurement in the cavern, with the leading facts of which he was generally acquainted, for it was a common theme of conversation at the time, and a pretty full account had appeared not long before in the Saunders News Letter. When I came to describe the personal appearance and dress of the ghost, he was greatly surprised and interested and told me that the dress was that of an antique Irish warrior. He took from a drawer a certain Irish manuscript and read out for me, translating as he went along, three or four passages, in which the appearance of the costume of ancient Irish warriors was described, and which quite supported his view. He said that the metal which I have described as being like gold, but brighter, was an amalgam of tin and copper, a species of bronze, the secret of whose manufacture has since been lost, and that the eyes in the ghost's brooch, which looked like glass, but were not so bright as glass, were probably of that substance which in Ireland is called "Kerry diamond." He was very much impressed by the whole of my story about the ghost, and so far from treating it lightly was very serious indeed and said many times that it was marvelous—and marvelous indeed it was, be the explanation what it may. When I spoke of Curry's Window, he stopped me and asked whether I was sure that the fisherman had pronounced the word as I had pronounced it. "A great deal," he said, "in investigating antiquities and the significance of names depends on the exact pronunciation." I said that he had not, and that it was for convenience's sake I had pronounced it so; that the fisherman had pronounced it something like Coerer. He seemed greatly pleased and interested in this. He told me then that this was the name of the sea god of the southern and western Irish in the pre-Christian ages, and that in the still extant literature there was a large variety of stories relating to this being. After the introduction and spread of Christianity in the country the pagan deities began to be regarded as evil beings, usually as pisats, or great water serpents. This seems probable and will help to explain the singular story told to Mr. Watkins by one of the islanders, which story, as my editor informs me, he has taken from the correspondence of that gentleman and intends to publish along with my narrative.

NOT DISCOURAGING.

No one can rightly charge the Democratic party with responsibility for the actions of the present congress. No sensible man will try to. The five or six renegades who have made genuine tariff reform impossible at this time have been thoroughly and effectually repudiated by the Democratic press, the Democratic speakers, and, more than all, by every Democratic convention which has been held this year.

The Republican and Independent press have been far out done by the Democracy in rebuking these men. Today it would be impossible for Senator Brice to control an Ohio convention. In fact, in the recent fight for congressman in the 3rd Ohio district the Brice and the anti-Brice men measured strength and Brice was turned down overwhelmingly. The result was Democratic success at the polls, showing that the voters of that district fully realize that the Democratic party was yet right on the tariff question.

The people are not fools. They understand that the refusal of congress to give relief from tariff burdens is the first step of that party in causing the continuation of the hard times, and that a few men who were elected on Democratic platforms but who proved to be Republicans, are responsible for it.

Democrats have cause to fear the result; the final outcome will be all right. While it is not probable that the Democrats will have as large a majority as they now have in congress next term, it is pretty certain that they will have a good working majority and that the protection Democrats, if there can be such a thing, will be eliminated entirely.

There is nothing to discourage Democrats in the outlook.

SHOULD the school board grant the request of those who petitioned them to reduce the salary of school teachers to $30 per month it would mean that the education of Port Angeles youth will be neglected. Good teachers cannot be had for $30 per month, and poor teachers should not be employed. We can better afford to get along with poor roads and poor streets than to neglect the public schools. The future of every youth of school age in Port Angeles largely depends upon his education. Times may be hard, but this a blow at education that cannot be tolerated. However, there is no cause for alarm as the board of directors have too good sense to comply with the request.

THE Sun and Times of Coupeville have been consolidated and will be run as the Island County Times. It will be independent in politics.

THE illustrious name of Chas. D. Ulmer appearing as one of the principal petitioners requesting that the school board reduce the salaries of teachers, to the rate paid Chinese pauper labor, is suggestive of the fact that Chas. D. is not friendly to the teacher, nor to the cause of education. Doubtless the old fraud wants to pose as a reformer, and this is the way he begins. No possible chance, you know, for a "rake off" in that direction.

THE women suffrage movement is fairly under way in New York state. Its followers are so numerous that it will of necessity occupy the serious attention of the state constitutional convention there. Nearly 250,000 citizens have petitioned the convention to provide for women suffrage. It is probable that it will separately submitted to the people.

THE retirement of Franklin K. Lane of the Tacoma News, from journalism in this state is a matter of regret. Mr. Lane was probably the ablest editor in the state of Washington.

Fourth of July Committee Meeting.

The various Fourth of July committees are urgently requested to meet at the cigar store of Thos. T. Aldwell, next Saturday (to-morrow) evening at 8 o'clock sharp, for the purpose of transacting any business of importance that may come before them.

The following are the committee:

Finance Com.—J A Wilson, Tom Aldwell, W Thompson, F S Mackintorh and E E Seevers.

Printing com.—C H Prescott, Ben Smith and J C Caie.

Horse Tournament—J C Caie, R A Grimes, C E Gilmur and W W Dedman.

Horse Racing—F P Fisher, Walter Dyke, A L Johnson, John Cunnea and H J McGregor.

Fireman's Racing—Frank Merritt, Joe Pierson and W J Dyke.

Decoration—W H Smythe, George Meagher, George Gale, Wm Banks and Horace White.

Regatta Committee—N R Smith, L R Cole, H S Carver and Geo E Fisher.

Parade Committe—A A Smith, D G Munro, Chas Raymond, Louis Williams, P W Gallup and John Coolidge.

Committee on Floats—Mesdames Lutz, Hoole, Lambert, Stewart, Herrick, Mallette, Bell, Haynes and Johnson.

Committee on Sports—Dave Crockett, Wm Hoole, M Geraghty, Wm Crockett.

Labor Committee—Dave O'Brien, C E Gilmur, W C Williams.

Messrs. Caie and Aldwell returned last Sunday evening from Victoria, whither they had gone for the purpose of perfecting arrangements for either the Islander or some other large steamer suitable to make excursion trips on the Fourth between that city and Port Angeles. They had several conferences with the general manager and the president of the transportation company which the Islander belongs to, and finally received a conditional promise from them to the effect that the Islander would perform the service if they could see their way clear to release her from her present route for the day.

While these gentlemen have no doubt in their minds that the Islander will make the excursion trips on the Fourth, they would have been much better satisfied had the company made a definite promise.

The committees on horse, fireman's and foot races respectively submitted reports to the executive committee as follows:

HORSE RACING.

1st. Race—Half mile. Free for all. Entrance fee $2.00.

First Prize.....	$ 20 00
Second Prize.....	10 00

2nd. Race—Entrance fees $2.50. Free for all Clallam county horses. One forth mile dash.

First Prize.....	$ 20 00
Second Prize.....	10 00

3rd. Race—Pony race. Three hundred yards dash. Entrance fee $1.00.

First Prize.....	$ 15 00
Second Prize.....	10 00
Third Prize.....	5 00

The fireman's committee reported that they expected the Port Townsend and Victoria hose teams and in the event of their coming the following prizes will be given:

1st. Race—Wet test.

First Prize.....	$ 75 00

2nd. Race—Speed race.

First Prize.....	50 00

3rd. Race—Coupling Contest.

First prize.....	10 00

The committee on sports will have charge of the Indian canoe races of which there will be two, one for the men and one for the Indian women.

The prize offered the first will be two dollars a paddle, the second, one dollar a paddle.

FOOT RACES.

1. Girls under 12 years, first prize $2, second, $1.
2. Boys under 12 years, first prize $2, second, $1.
3. Men's race, first prize, $5, second, $2.
4. Indian race, first prize, $3, second, $2.
5. Potatoe race, boys under 12, first prize, $, second $1.
6. Biscuit race, boys under 14, first prize, 2, second, $1.
7. Sack race, boys under 14, first prize $2, second $1.
8. Greasy pole, boys under 14, first prize $2, second $1.
9. Greasy pig, boys under 16, prize the pig.
10. Mush race, Indian boys, first prize $2, second $1.
11. Fat man's race, first prize $3.
12. Wheelbarrow race, first prize $2, second $1.
13. Canoe race, male, prize $2 per paddle.
14. Canoe race, women, prize $1 per paddle.

The Floats.

The committee of ladies on floats are earnestly endeavoring to make this one of the principal features of the celebration. The boat under the supervision of Mrs. Wm. Bell will be very attractive in arrangement and particularly interesting from the fact that it will contain the youth, the beauty and the musical talent of the city. The occupants will be a number of men and women with guitars and banjos who will play and sing national airs.

Satisfactory progress is also reported with the arrangement for the Victoria and the national floats.

Another feature will be thirteen young women on horseback to represent the thirteen original states. The Victoria float will be under the direction of Mrs. Chas. E. Mallette, the states, Mrs. L. D. Stewart; the boat, Mrs. Wm. Bell, and the young women on horseback Mrs. W. H. Lambert.

The Firemen's Contest.

Intelligence has been received that the Victoria team will enter the fireman's races on the Fourth.

The contests promise to be exciting, as the Victoria team is organized and disciplined, while the local team is industriously drilling, eager to win laurels in the world of races.

Chairmen of Fourth of July Committees.

The following chairmen of the Fourth of July committees have been appointed:

Finance—J A Wilson.
Printing—J C Caie.
Horse Tournament—R A Grimes.
Horse Races—Walter Dyke.
Fireman's Races—Frank Merritt.
Decoration—W H Smythe.
Regatta—N R Smith.
Parade—Louis Williams.
Sports—Wm R Hoole.
Labor—C E Gilmur.
Supervisor—G H Gale.
Music—Lou Smith, Jas Fitzgerald and J A Wilson.

Luscious Strawberries.

The strawberry crop this season promises to be very prolific, indeed. The wet spring gave the soil abundant moisture, and the plant is simply loaded with berries. And it is needless to add the strawberry grows to perfection in western Washington, and particularly is this true of Clallam.

Recently a strawberry was brought to the office of the DEMOCRAT-LEADER that measured quite eight inches in circumference, and the flavor was simply delicious. It was grown in the garden of Mr. H. E. Berry.

THE HIGHEST AWARD.

In Strength and Value 20 Per Cent. Above Its Nearest Competitor.

The Royal Baking Powder has the enviable record of having received the highest award for articles of its class—greatest strength, purest ingredients, most perfectly combined—wherever exhibited in competition with others. In the exhibitions of former years, at the Centennial at Paris, Vienna and at the various State and Industrial fairs, where it has been exhibited judges have invariably awarded the Royal Baking Powder the highest honors.

At the recent World's fair the examination for the baking powder awards were made by the experts of the chemical division of the Agricultural Department at Washington. The official report of the tests of the baking powders which were made by this department for the specific purpose of ascertaining which was the best, and which has been made public, shows the leavening strength of the Royal to be 160 cubic inches of carbonic gas per ounce of powder. Of the cream of tartar baking powders exhibited at the Fair, the next highest in strength thus tested contained but 133 cubic inches of leavening gas. The other powders gave an average of 111. The Royal, therefore, found of 20 per cent. greater leavening strength than its nearest competitor, and 44 per cent. above the average of all other tests Its superiority in other respects, however, in the quality of the food it makes as to fineness, delicacy and wholesomeness, could not be measured by figures.

It is these high qualities, known and appreciated by the women of the country for so many years, that have caused the sales of the Royal Baking Powder as shown by statistics, to exceed the sales of all other baking powders combined.

He Knew Its Worth.

Dr. M. J. Davis is a prominent physician of Lewis, Cass county, Iowa, and has been actively engaged in the practice of medicine at that place for the past thirty-five years. On the 26th of May while in Desmoines, en route to Chicago, he was suddenly taken with an attack of diarrhoea. Having sold Chamberlain's Colio, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for the past seventeen years, and knowing its reliability he procured a 25 cent bottle two doses of which completely cured him. The excitement and change of water and diet incident to traveling often produce a diarrhoea. Everyone should procure a bottle of this Remedy before leaving home. For sale by J. C. Hansen.

A Dairyman's Opinion.

There is nothing I have ever used for muscular rheumatism that gives me as much relief as Chamberlain's Pain Balm does. I have been using it for about two years—four bottles in all—as occasion required, and always keep a bottle of it in my home. I believe I know a good thing when I get hold of it, and Pain Balm is the best liniment I have ever met with. W. B. Denny, dairyman, New Lexington, Ohio. 50 cent bottles for sale by J. C. Hansen, the Fisher Pharmacy.

MAY BROOKYN'S SUPERSTITIONS.

The Actress Kept In Her Room What Seems to Be a List of Omens.

In Miss Brookyn's room were writings which attested her superstition. The name of a "test medium and psychometrist" of this city was on a card which she kept. In her handwriting was what appeared to be a list of omens. It began with an incomplete account of what the months had in store for her. This was as follows:

Feb.—Avoid O. S.
June—P. I.
Aug.—Good.
Nov.—

Below this was a statement of what the letters meant. This was as follows:

H—Good; deal freely.
E—Not so good in woman as man.
O—Very bad.
S—Unpleasant news from a distance; surprise.
A—Good; male or female.
P—Good.
L—Very good; male or female.
K—Good; new friend.
V—New friend; good; fair man.
Don't marry in '94; '98 good.
58 or 61. 8 Q. 5 S.
B—Is very good; deal freely.
W—Proposition; good for flirtation; never marry.
C—Good; male or female.
M—Better woman.
T—New friend; good.
G—Very good.
N—Not quite so good; be careful.

She had drawn a rude circle, and there were dots in it as if a pencil point came down in many places. The supposition is that the letters were placed inside a circle, like the numbers on the face of a clock, and she then let the pencil held in her fingers drop wherever chance brought it. The letter on which it hit signified the outcome of whatever she might have been thinking of. In this manner doubtless she found whether the months were to be good or bad for her.

She had marked February as a month to avoid and with the letters "O S." According to the mystic dictionary, "O" meant that February was very bad for her and "S" that she would receive unpleasant news from a distance. Curiously she did get some news from New York lately, which is presumed to have been unpleasant, and February proved to be the month of her grievous exit from the world.

A spiritualistic doctor lingered around the Baldwin theater yesterday until he could tell Mr. Presbrey, manager of the Palmer company, that he had received knowledge of the reunion of the souls of Lovecraft and Miss Brookyn. The spiritualistic theory is that when her efforts to establish communication with her lover's spirit failed she felt the necessity of taking exactly the same terrestrial route that he had journeyed on. To employ any other poison than carbolic acid might serve to keep them parted forever, and so she submitted herself to the scorching liquid. She bought the deadly draft in Columbus, O., on Nov. 20 and treasured it until she felt impelled to put the bottle to her lips.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Surprise Party.

Miss Dora Fend was the recipient of an agreeable surprise from a few of her young friends last Saturday evening, in honor of her birthday.

The party met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Meagher, where Miss Fend is a guest of her sister, and spent a very pleasant evening.

Delicious refreshments were served during the evening.

Those present were: Mr and Mrs Jas Meagher, Misses Zoa Shields, Lila Whittier, Maggie Fend, Hattie Fend, Wilbur Crockett, Messrs J A Wilson, J I Kirschberg, W K Clark, Benton Embree, S A Hall and Will Fend.

Delightful Surprise.

Last Monday evening a number of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Shields' particular friends joined in a delightful surprise to this worthy couple.

The party was in honor of Mrs. Shield's birthday, and it is almost needless to add, the event was appropriately commemorated. Music, cards and refreshments were features oi the evening's pastime.

Those present were: Hon W R and Mrs Hoole, Mr and Mrs Robt Shields, Mr and Mrs Jno Fenn, Mr and Mrs Geo W Meagher, Mr and Mrs W R Dodge, Mr and Mrs L H Smith, Misses Zoa Shields, Julia Ferguson, Minnie Hoole, Messrs J A Wilson, Jas Haswell and Morris Fisher.

Travel is increasing to the lakes.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hoole are in Seattle this week.

Miss Mattie McGill has returned from Ellensburgh..

Now for the Fourth, then the outing season will begin.

The contractors are progressing quite rapidly with the construction of the ward school buildings.

The Rev. James Campbell will occupy the pulpit of the Congregational church, next Sunday, morning and evening.

The supply of native strawberries is increasing. Within a week it will be that plentiful, the price will be easily within the reach of all.

Townships 30 north, range 14 and 15 west, in Clallam county, will be opened at the Seattle land office on July 20 and August 10, respectively.

Mr. Chas. E. Mallette was in Victoria this week. Mr. Mallette says a great many Victorians express it as their intention to visit Angeles on the Fourth.

The People's party holds its county convention tomorrow (Saturday) for the purpose of electing delegates to the state convention which convenes at North Yakima on the 28th inst.

The members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union together with the Good Templars of this city will give a free entertainment in the opera house, on the evening of the 29th inst. Everybody is cordially invited to attend.

Quite a number of Port Angeles' citizens are in Alaska. The report from them as to the present or the future outlook, is anything but encouraging. It is the same old story so oft-repeated from the far-away north—the supply of labor is greater than the demand.

The flume which is being constructed at the east end on Ennes creek, by Mr. N. R. Smith, will soon be completed. Mr. Smith purposes to develop at least 75 horse power, which he will lease at an annual rental of $15 per horse power, for municipal and manufacturing purposes.

Garlick's Red Rose Potatoes.

Almost two years ago Mr. Garlick of Lost Mountain precinct, planted a few hills of the potato known as the California Red Rose, with the view of introducing it into this county if it proved to be a prolific bearer. His success was astonishing. He did not know but the "year" had something to do with it, so he tried it again last year. The result was even better than the first year. From his start of a few hills the year before he harvested about two tons last year, and had no trouble in disposing of nearly all he had to his neighbors at five cents per pound. He has placed a few sacks for sale with the Farmers' Mercantile Co., of Dungeness.

Notice for Publication.

United States Land Office,
Seattle, Wash., Feb. 9th, 1894.

Notice is hereby given that in compliance with the provisions of the Act of Congress of June 3, 1878, entitled, "An Act for the sale of timber lands in the states of California, Oregon, Nevada and Washington territory."

GEORGE E. MICHELL,

of Fairholm, county of Clallam, state of Washington has this day filed in this office his sworn statement No. 6425, for the purchase of the Lots 18, 23, 24, 25 and 26, of section No. 30, in township No. 30 n, range No. 9 west, and will offer proof to show that the land sought is more valuable for its timber or stone than for agricultural purposes and to establish his claim to said land before the Register and Receiver of this office at Seattle, washington, on Tuesday, the first day of May, 1894.

He names as witnesses: M. J. Carrigan, Iver Estensen and Horace White of Fairholm, wash., and William Dedman of Gettysburg, wash.

Any and all persons claiming adversely the above described lands are requested to file their claims in this office or or before said first day of May, 1894.

Heavily Insured Monarchs.

The crowned heads of Europe seem to take a great deal of stock in life insurance. It is announced that the king of Portugal has just taken out a $200,000 policy on his life, but that is an insignificant investment compared with those of some of the other potentates. The late Emperor Frederick of Germany was insured for $4,000,000. The queen regent of Spain has her life insured for a large amount in behalf of her two little daughters, following the example of her husband, whose death mulcted the various companies in which he was insured for $5,000,000.

King Leopold of Belgium's life is heavily insured, as is also that of Queen Victoria. The queen's husband, the late prince consort, was insured for close upon $5,000,000, the income of which has been enjoyed by his widow. About the only sovereign in Europe who is not insured is the czar of Russia, the companies regarding him as too unsafe a risk on account of the nihilists.—Boston Herald.

High Praise For the Landlord.

Two well dressed strangers came to the Virginia hotel four days ago and registered from Louisville. They left yesterday, leaving their bill of $17 unpaid, and the following note:

"Man's inability to successfully portray his thoughts, his mental powers being incapable to correctly define his meaning, is why I will not endeavor to burden you with an attempt at expressing my thanks for your treatment so gentlemanly, etc., during my stay. Extend to your menials also my thanks. May your shadow never grow less, and may continued prosperity shine in unclouded warm rays on your benevolent head."—Staunton (Va.) Dispatch.

The Khedive's Favor.

It is well to be on good terms with the khedive of Egypt. This young monarch has lately presented a beautiful bracelet to a young English woman who took his fancy, the value of which is beyond calculation. It is gold set with scarabei, and each stone is upward of 4,000 years old. Some of these belonged to high priests in the days of the pharaohs, and the inscriptions on them relate to magic. —Alexandria Letter.

Review of Seattle Market for the Past Week.

SEATTLE, June 21, 1894.

Exchanges at Seattle, Tacoma and Portland clearing houses to-day were:

	Clearances.	Balances.
Seattle	$ 85,704.04	$26,131.61
Tacoma	107,588.00	19,736.00
Portland	185,262.00	47,805 00

Very little change has taken place in the market quotations of the last week, as very few goods have been received since the floods with the exception of fruits from California. The stock in most of the wholesale houses is getting low, and it is not expected that any goods can be brought over the roads for a week yet. Nearly all dried and smoked meats have advanced slightly, and what little is left in the market is of inferior quality, many dealers being entirely out of this class of goods.

In the commission houses trade has been somewhat better for the last week, new fruits coming in from California in good condition. Peaches, pears, plums and apricots put in an appearance for the first time this week and sold well.

Native strawberries dropped as low as 75 cents per case during the week, but have today advanced to $1.

The Most Successful Gas Engine.

is run withoutan electric spark battery. Theory is all very well, but the every day experience of constant practical use is the best of its merit. The man who run ga launch and finds himself drifting with the tide and wind because the "spark" fails to ignite the charge of gas in his engine; the man who prints a daily paper and fails to get it off on time because the "spark" again fails; the man who has fruit that is injured for lack of irrigation because "spark" fails in his engine that runs the pump not only such parties but others who have trouble from like causes should bear in mind that the Hercules gas and Gasoline engine is free from such difficulties. The ignition is simple and sure. Send for catalogue. If you want second-hand engines of other makes at cheap rates we can supply you. We have a number taken in trade and cannot take any more until these are realized on. PALMER & REY TYPE FOUNDRY, Front and Alder streets, Portland, Oregon.

HAVE YOU TRIED DRUGS AND FAILED TO FIND A CURE FOR RHEUMATISM, LUMBAGO, SCIATICA,
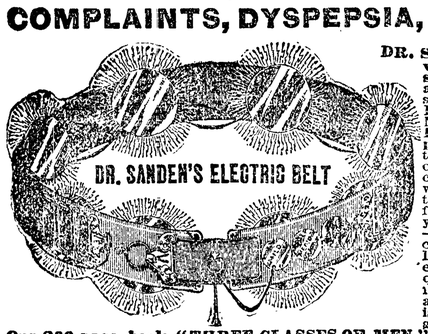
KIDNEY, LIVER and BLADDER
COMPLAINTS, DYSPEPSIA, LAME-BACK, &c.



DR. SANDEN'S ELECTRIC BELT with Electro Magnetic Suspensory will cure without medicine all of the above troubles. Those who suffer from Nervous Debility, Losses, Drains, Lost Manhood, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Poor Memory, all Female Complaints, and general Ill health, the effects of abuses, excesses, worry or exposure, will find relief and prompt cure in our marvelous invention, which requires but a trial to convince the most skeptical. In ignorance of effects you may have unduly drained your system of nerve force and vitality—which is electricity—and thus caused your weakness or lack of force. If you replace into your system the elements thus drained, which are required for vigorous strength, you will remove the cause and health, strength and vigor will follow at once. This is our plan and treatment, and we guarantee a cure or refund money.

Our 200 page book "THREE CLASSES OF MEN," sent sealed, free. Dr. Sanden's Electric Belt is no experiment, as we have restored thousands to robust health and vigor, after all other treatments failed, as can be shown by hundreds of cases throughout this and other States, who would gladly testify, and from many of whom we have strong letters bearing testimony to their recovery after using our Belt.

WE HAVE CURED THESE—WE CAN CURE YOU!

CENERAL DEBILITY CURED.

San Francisco, Cal., August 14, 1892.

Dr. A. T. Sanden, Dear Sir:—Before I used your belt I was troubled with lost vigor, vital weakness, and almost a complete loss of power. I would get up with a very tired feeling, bones aching, etc.; since using your belt I have had a new lease of life. I now enjoy life better than I have for ten years past. I have the utmost confidence in your treatment. You can publish this statement, also have others write or call on me. Truly yours, H. A. BOWEN, 26 and 28 Turk St.

RHEUMATISM AND LAMENESS CURED.

Portland, Oregon, April 18 1892.

Dr. A. T. Sanden, Dear Sir:—I got one of your belts two weeks ago for rheumatism, from which I suffered for several years. For the past six months I had not been able to work. Your belt has placed me in almost perfect health in the two weeks I have used it. I can walk comfortably, and feel like a new man generally. M. L. HUGHES, Proprietor International Hotel.

NERVOUS DEBILITY—LOSS OF VIGOR.

Tacoma, Wash., October 21, 1892.

Dr. A. T. Sanden, Dear Sir:—I have been using your Electric belt for general nervous debility, and to-day feel better than I have for five years. I have gained in vigor daily, and am strong in every part. Yours gratefully, CHAS. LUETTA.

LAME BACK AND RHEUMATISM.

Portland Oregon, September 26, 1892.

Dr. A. T. Sanden, Dear Sir:—Years of exposure and hard work, combined with the strain coming from the jar of an engine, gave me a severe case of lame back, from which I suffered for seven years. I was so bad that I could not bend my back. Was all doubled up with it. I bought one of your belts. It helped me in ide of two days, and I continued to wear it for four months, being perfectly cured. That was two years a o, and I am as well to-day as I ever was in my life. I know your belt well, and I kn w lots of people who have been cured by it. Many others need it, and if they would try it they would find it the same as I did—the best remedy in the world. I am located here permanently, and will be glad to talk with an one who wants to inquire about it. ROBERT BURREL, Engineer Hotel Portland.

LOST VITALITY AND STRENGTH.

Everett, Wash, June 18, 1892.

Dr. A. T. Sanden, Dear Sir:—Iam wearing your belt I have been greatly benefited. I feel my old energy fast returning, and after a month's use of the belt I find myself twice as vigorous as before. My memory is now nearly perfect, and each day shows me the best results. I can speak more strongly than before using the belt. Yours truly, FERDINAND SCHULTZ.

THE DR. SANDEN ELECTRIC BELT

is a complete galvanic battery, made into a belt so as to be easily worn day and night, and gives soothing, prolonged currents which are instantly felt. Unlike other electric belts, which cost $5.000. It has an Improved Electric Suspensory, [illegible] we warrant it to cure any of the above weaknesses, and to [illegible] Money Refunded. A BAY KNIGHT ON HOOFS.

He Saved His Master's Little Daughter From the Attacks of a Savage Cur.

The bay Jack is one of a dozen hunters which Mr. James B. Dill keeps in his stable at his home on Harrison street, Orange. His fad is breeding hunters. The other morning Mr. Dill was standing just inside the stable door talking to his groom and had Jack's bridle in his hand.

Suddenly he heard a scream and recognized the voice as that of his little daughter. Jack, the bay hunter, heard it, too, and he must have recognized it, for quicker than it takes to tell and before Mr. Dill realized what had happened, Jack had jerked the bridle from Mr. Dill's hand, backed out of the stable and was running across the stable yard. Mr. Dill followed, and what he saw was calculated to make him follow pretty rapidly. His little daughter was being attacked by a dog—a big, ugly, yellow cur that did not belong around the place. She had seen her father return from his ride and had started from the house to the stable to meet him, as was her custom. The strange dog had sprung at her. Its teeth were tearing her dress, and she was vainly struggling to release herself.

What Mr. Dill saw Jack, the bay hunter, saw, too, and he must have had the same appreciation of the little girl's danger that the father had. Running until he reached the little girl and the dog, he reared up on his hind legs and then brought his fore feet down with crushing force on the vicious cur. The dog released its hold on the girl's clothing and fell, but Jack had not finished his work. Turning just as the dog was about to rise again, he let fly his hind legs and gave the cur a kick that landed it in a heap against a stone fence full 10 feet away. Then Jack's work was done, and he waited for Mr. Dill to come up.

Mr. Dill found that his little daughter was not injured, though badly frightened. Then he went over and took a look at the dog. It was dead. Then he went over to his bay hunter, Jack, gave him an affectionate slap or two and placed his little daughter on Jack's back. The hunter seemed to appreciate the compliment and neighed with delight as he started for the stable, where Mr. Dill told the groom to give him "the best in the house and plenty of it."—New York World.

PAGES IN CONGRESS.

The Careers Before Them Are Not In All Cases Very Desirable.

There are lads now employed as pages in the house and senate who have undoubtedly embarked on careers which will revolve about the huge marble building on Capitol hill. Some one of them may live to step into the shoes of Captain Bassett, for instance, the aged and dignified assistant doorkeeper of the senate, who began his services in the upper chamber over 60 years ago and is apparently good for several years more. Some of them may become plain, ordinary, everyday doorkeepers of the house or senate.

There is one man watching a senate door these days who has occupied that one position for 14 years. For years before he began this work he was similarly employed in the house of representatives. The pay of a doorkeeper is not very large, and the distinction which attaches to the place is absolutely nil. The work is not arduous, however, and the man who fulfills it does not have to use either his hands or his brains to any extent—a fact which seems to have had weight with some of the doorkeepers.

If the parents of the lads who are now running about the capitol at the beck and nod of senators and representatives were to be guided by the experience of persons who have held these positions, they might display less anxiety to condemn their offspring to an undesirable future.—Cor. New York Times.

Good Business Women.

"It is very much easier to transact business with women than it was a score of years ago," said a lawyer who has much to do with the settling of estates. "Formerly I found it next to impossible to get women to understand even simple legal terms, and as for any technical phraseology I might just as well have talked Greek to them. But I had a client the other day that it was actually a pleasure to do business with. She was a woman in middle life, and one whom I would never have expected to find so intelligent on such subjects, but she entered into the argument, went through all of the intricacies, and followed me through the devious ways of a complicated real estate transaction in a fashion that not only delighted but amazed me.

"I note with the greatest pleasure a growing tendency in this direction. I could wish that I might live in the first half of the next century, for I fancy that society and the business world in general will be in a very much better state than it is at present. I believe the fathers of daughters will live long enough to see their girls reflecting quite as much credit on them by their business faculties as ever their sons did.

"It is all very well to talk about women in business and say disparaging things of them and indulge in all sorts of little vicious slaps and uncharitable remarks, but when one comes down to actual facts the business woman of today stands well up in the ranks. When there are taken into consideration the obstacles they have to contend with and their newness in this sort of work, this is not the least remarkable feature of the situation. The country is full of women who raise their families with great credit to themselves and meanwhile conduct various sorts of business with the very best of financial results. Comparatively little is said about it on account of a tendency in the minds of many men to discourage and belittle anything that looks like feminine competition in the business world. But all these men are wasting their time and strength. The movement is well started and is going on with a force as resistless as all of the other processes of evolution."—New York Ledger.

SERVIA'S STOCK TROUBLE.

In a Muddle Over Who Shall Rule, While Milan Poses as a Patriot.

The frugal Servians just now are torn by conflicting emotions. King Alexander and his erratic, disreputable father have managed between them to alienate what little love had been left in Servia for the Obrenovitsch dynasty, and if the Karageorgevitch pretenders were reasonably respectable and fairly disinterested they could obtain the throne without much difficulty. But Prince Arsene and Prince Peter are, in their way, not much to be preferred to ex-King Milan and his son. They are ambitious, autocratic, extravagant and heavily in debt, and their morals will not bear severe scrutiny.

They are surrounded by impecunious Russian nobles and loose people of both sexes, all of whom will have to be liberally provided for in the event of the Karageorgevitch restoration out of the national treasury, and, to crown their disadvantages in the eyes of the Servian farmers, they claim the retrocession to them of the enormous estates which were formerly the private property of their house, and which were confiscated to the state when the head of the Karageorgevitch family was assassinated and all his relatives were kicked out of the country.

On the whole, therefore, Arsene and Peter would be more expensive than Milan and Alexander. As the question is mainly one of money, the latter will in all probability remain in Belgrade, the establishment of a republic being entirely out of the question. Meanwhile Milan poses as a patriot. He pines for Paris and its supreme delights, which it is impossible to enjoy in semibarbarous Belgrade, but a stern sense of duty keeps him at his son's side. Privately he is haggling with the ministers as to the sum which shall be paid him to clear out. He has hinted that if his price be not paid he will have himself appointed generalissimo and inspector of the army and settle permanently in the country. The appalling prospect thus opened is likely materially to hasten a settlement.

HIS LAST JOKE.

The Danbury News Man Was a Philanthropist as Well as a Humorist.

The Danbury News man made fun almost everywhere and all the time to the end of his life. He was just as funny in his office and at home as he ever was in the funniest copy of his newspaper. It was quiet, unexpected, quaint, homelike funmaking on his part, with nothing strained or pedantic or pretentious—as natural and spontaneous as a sunbeam or the rippling of a hillside brook. Like sunshine, too, his jollity cheered, warmed, delighted every one and wounded none. Everybody was his friend, and he was everywhere beloved. He was the life and light of every gathering, but was never forward or obtrusive.

He was also a philanthropist. Every year he gave away a small fortune to the unfortunate and unhappy, to vagrants and the most notorious tramps and beats. Every tramp who drifted into Danbury wandered into Bailey's office eventually, and none ever failed to get a pecuniary lift there to help him on his thorny path in life.

One of the worst of professional bummers, accosting Bailey on the street not long ago, said, with the self assurance of a friend addressing another:

"Ten cents, Mr. Bailey, please. I want to get a drink with it."

"What do you say?" was the quick reply. "You mean to get a drink? Now, don't you try to deceive me. You intend to buy sandwiches with it."

The Danbury News man's last quip was unique and pungent. He had been ill of pneumonia, but rallied temporarily and visited his office one day about three weeks ago. An office employee greeted him as he came in, looking wan and feeble, with:

"Well, how are you today, Mr. Bailey?"

"Oh, I am very much better. I was able to get down town today in one hack."

Not many hours after he had passed away from the world which he had done so much to brighten and cheer.—Danbury Special.

She Considers It a Libel.

Kentucky editors cannot be too careful about what they print. The citizens of the blue grass commonwealth are touchy, and statements published with the most amiable intentions are likely to cause trouble. Here is the editor of the Mount Sterling Times, for example, who printed what he thought was a graceful obituary notice, winding up with the perfunctory statement that "the deceased had gone to a happier home." He is now the defendant in a libel suit brought by the widow, and when he goes home after seeing the paper to press he takes the middle of the street and carries his shotgun at full cock. The notice was gratis too.—Chicago Herald.

The Train Ran Five Miles Without Steam.

A marvelous race, up grade and down, in which momentum was the motive power, took place on the Consolidated road Saturday. Five miles below Stamford the cylinder head of the big engine, No. 247, blew out while the train was making express time. Instead of stopping and getting stalled, Engineer Scofield let the machine have its head and pulled into Stamford station on time, and not even the conductor knew that anything was the matter until the engineer called for another engine and No. 144 was put on and pulled the train to this city. The five miles were run without a pound of steam and solely on the momentum the train was under when the mishap took place.

Historic Brass Knocker.

Trifles light as air have interest sometimes, and apparently nothing is too trifling to feed American curiosity. A new brass knob has just been placed upon Mr. Gladstone's front door in Downing street. It replaced one which had done the state much service and had been grasped by the hands of a century of prime ministers, from Pitt upward. Hearing of this treasure trove, an enterprising and sympathetic antiquary purchased the discarded knocker for 5 shillings, and it is now upon its way to New York, accompanied by half a mile of attractive personal legend, for exhibition in the United States.—Huntly (England) Express.

Illuminated Lifebuoy.

Some trials have just been made at Kiel on board of the German war vessel Worth with an electrically lighted lifebuoy, the invention of Captain Melter. The buoy was thrown overboard when the vessel was proceeding at a speed of about 16 knots. For a space of about 12 seconds it was lost in the eddy currents caused by the twin screws of the vessel, but then reappeared. The new lifebuoy will be found useful at night, and the experiments resulted so successfully that it is probable that it will be adopted generally in the German navy.—Iron and Industries.

An Automatic Press Feeder.

An ingenious arrangement has been devised and put in operation by a London concern by which the automatic feeding of single sheets of paper to printing machines of the ordinary cylinder pattern, or two feeder, perfecting, lithographic or ruling machine is carried out in an entirely satisfactory manner—the apparatus, in a word, while of simple construction and management, is capable of automatically separating a single sheet of paper from the bulk and laying the sheet to exact register in the grippers of the machine. In the accomplishing of this effect two boards are affixed in the usual position on the sides of the machine, which sides also carry two vertical sliding frames surmounted by a crosshead, which supports a radial beam for the purpose of regulating the weight or pressure upon the paper, the apparatus being allowed sufficient play on the slides by means of antifriction pulleys. The motive power for carrying the sheet forward is taken by means of a chain drive from the shaft of the cylinder, thus insuring that no sheet is fed except in accord with the motion of the cylinder.

A Many Named Royalty.

The extra two characters "Ch'ung-hsi" containing the name which is to be given to that already greatly benamed personage, the empress dowager of China, in honor of H. I. M.'s sixtieth birthday anniversary next year, according to a Peking letter, have been ordered by edict to be presented to the imperial lady in the middle of the eighth moon of next Chinese year (September, 1894).

As it is, her majesty has already 7 names of 14 characters which ministers at court have to labor through whenever mentioning her majesty, but with next September one has to go painfully through the long list of Tze-hsi-Tuan-yu-K'ang-i-Chao-yu-Chuang-ch'eng-Shou-kung-Ch'ing-hsien-Ch'ung-hsi Huang T'ai-hou, or dowager empress, before a bystander could detect that her majesty is meant.—North China Herald.

An Angry Executioner.

Deibler, the French executioner, is said to be the angriest man in Paris. A prisoner in the Roquette jail, under sentence of death, committed suicide after M. de Paris had specially sharpened the knife for his No. 17 neck. Then the executioner is much disappointed because he has not received the ribbon of the Legion of Honor in common with all others who have distinguished themselves in the suppression of anarchists. He argues that he risks his life more than the man who drives the bomb wagon, who has been decorated.—Paris Letter.

A Late Fad of Royalty.

The latest fad among the ladies of the English royal family, including, it is said, the queen herself, is to beguile the winter hours by plaiting straw for the fabrication of hats to be presented to their sons and husbands at the approaching season. A well known hatter has just finished a handsome straw hat for Prince Henry of Battenberg, every inch of which was plaited by Princess Beatrice's own hands. It is said to be a remarkably delicate piece of workmanship.—London Letter.

Earth From Lafayette's Tomb.

In accordance with the request of a society called the "Daughters of the American Revolution," some pinches of earth have been taken from Lafayette's grave, in the Picpus cemetery, by order of the minister of the interior. A tree of liberty in commemoration of the American revolution is to be planted in San Francisco, and the earth is to be placed at its base.—Paris Cor. London

INFLUENZA,

Or La Grippe, though occasionally epidemic, is always more or less prevalent. The best remedy for this complaint is Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

"Last Spring, I was taken down with La Grippe. At times I was completely prostrated, and so difficult was my breathing that my breast seemed as if confined in an iron cage. I procured a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and no sooner had I began taking it than relief followed. I could not believe that the effect would be so rapid and the cure so complete. It is truly a wonderful medicine."—W. H. WILLIAMS, Crook City, S. D.

The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that the is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitution treatment. Hall's Catarrh cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation by building of the disease, and giving the patient strength up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that the offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address,
