THE TIME LIMIT EXTENDED.

Giving Excursionists Thirty Days to Visit the Fair and the Coast—Dante's Inferno—Some of the Startling Features of This Veritable Den of Horrors.

The best news of the week in connection with the coming Exposition has been the extension of the time limit of excursion tickets from the East to thirty days. This means that those who come to California to see the Midwinter Exposition will have a month in which to visit other parts of the state besides those contiguous to San Francisco, and that the benefits to be derived by the entire Pacific Coast will be correspondingly multiplied. And just here there ought to be word said about the number of visitors that may reasonably be expectd to come out of the frozen East to hibernate in the country:

"Where the leaf never fades in the still blooming bowers,
And the bee banquets on through a whole year of flowers."

Those who have already arrived at San Francisco as the advance guard of the grand army of Midwinter continent-crossers, say that the influx of visitors will exceed the most sanguine expectations of the friends of the Exposition. Eastern railway managers are constantly sending the Department of Publicity and Promotion for advertising matter in connection with the fair. Their patrons are hungry for information on the subject. Some of them are so hungry that more than one of the great trunk lines have deemed it necessary to prepare vast quantities of matter, based on the material furnished by the department, with which to satisfy the popular demands. All this means that thousands of people in the East are going to take advantage of cheap rates, and the special [illegible]ctions of the exposition [illegible] an excuse for making a long-promised trip to the "land of sunshine, fruit and flowers."

Meanwhile the list of attractions continue to grow, and there will be lively times during the next three weeks getting all the concessions in readiness for the opening day. There is one feature of the contemplated attractions, however, for which no elaborate building has been erected, and yet it is one in which a widespread interest centers, and that is the grand athletic tournament. This tournament is to cover the entire term of the exposition. The contests will not be on each succeeding day's program but there will be several events each week and every Saturday will be largely devoted to this feature. There will be games of Lacross between British Columbia and American teams; there will be Polo matches between swell society riders; there will be foot-ball games between college and university teams: there will be races and all sorts of contests on the Cinder path and last, though by no means least, a series of base-ball games in which the entire Pacific Coast is invited to take part.

With a view to facilitating arrangements for the last mentioned feature in this connection Col. T, P. Robinson, of San Francisco, has been selected to arrange the games on the diamond field, and in order to have the largest number of clubs participate, that gentlemen desires the addresses of every uniform base-ball club not only in the state of California, but in all of the states of the Pacific Coast. These addresses should be sent to him at room 32, second floor, Mills Building, San Francisco, and, based upon the number of addresses of intending participants which may be received, there will be arranged such a base-ball tournament as has never before been seen anywhere in the world.

In the long list of other attractions it is difficult to select one that is worthy of more special mention than the rest, but perhaps the latest added features may be the most interesting.

The very latest and the most startling of all the suggestions that have been forthcoming in the form of concessional features of the fair is that which is to represent "Dante's Inferno," and which has already begun to be spoken of about town as "Hell on earth." This concession is to be located on a very prominent part of the exposition grounds, and the character of the entrance to the building containing the exhibit is one that will attract inevitable attention. A great dragon's head, fifteen feet in height, with bat-like wings protruding from either side, seems to crouch against the ground and gain a welcome to the passing crowd. The bird-like wings, and entire front in fact, are gilded to look like burnished gold, and, when the sun is reflected from it, it presents as brilliant an interior as one can easily imagine. Out of the center of the lower part of this figure-head, so to speak, projecting a long red tongue of the dragon, and on to this, those who care to venture in must step and walk between the teeth of the dragon's lower jaw into the very body of the beast.

The interior arrangements of these "Infernal Regions" is rendered remarkably affective by the highly covered statactites which hung from the walls and which seem to extend for miles, almost, away in the distance. This perspective is produced by means of mirrors. There are mirrors on every hand, and never before has there been a better utilization of the looking glass for illusionary purposes. Hidden lights are made use of to add to the effects of the scene and intricicies of pass[illegible]ge are also brought into play. In one large grotto a stage is e[illegible]cted, and half a dozen skeletons dancing [illegible]esquely in the foreground are so [illegible] by mirrors that their number s[illegible] "legion." At another point a[illegible]eral tortuous avenues, [illegible]es upon a clever const[illegible] above and below and with lights so arranged that there really seems to be no top or bottom to the place, and hence the name of the "bottomless pit cave," produced in the same way and quite as interesting. As the visitor to this remarkable place progresses from point to point, he rises to a higher elevation, and, by traversing an almost imperceptible grade, he finally finds himself on the shore of a great lake, into which pours a fall of lava, and it is here perhaps that he gets the best idea of this representation of the "Infernal Region" The effect is produced, of course, by colored lights playing upon the decorations of the structure, and by divers and sundry devices for the enchancing of these effects. There is much that is grotesque about the dancing skeletons in the cave referred to, and there is considerable that is uncanny in every part of this arrangement, but there is nothing that is disgusting or terrifying though there is much to amuse. When people turn to go out, after having seen the show, they find themselves confronted by numerous passages which seem to lead everywhere, for when you start to follow one you run plump against a mirror, and the result is that before you find the way out you are fully convinced that this particular type of "Hell" is a decidedly jolly place to be in.

THE HIGHEST AWARD.

Royal Baking Powder Has all the Honors - In Strength and Value 20 Per Cent. Above its Nearest Competitor.

The Royal Baking Powder has the enviable record of having received the highest award for articles of its class—greatest strength, purest ingredients, most perfectly combined—wherever exhibited in competion with others. In the exhibitions of former years, at the Centennial, at Paris, Vienna and at the various state and industrial fairs, when it had been exhibited, judges had invariable awarded the Royal Baking Powder the highest honors.

At the recent World's Fair the examinations for the baking powder awards were made by the experts of the chemical division of the Agricultural Department at Washingion. The official report of the tests of the baking powders which were made by this department for the specific purpose of ascertaining which was the best; and which has been made public, shows the leavening strength of the Royal to be 160 cubic inches of carbonic gass per ounce of powder. Of the cream of tartar baking powders exhibited at the Fair, the next highest in strength thus tested contains but 133 cubic inches of leavening gas. The other powders gave an average of 111. The Royal, therefore, was found of 20 per cent. greater leavening strength than its nearest competitor, and 44 per cent, above the average of all the other tests. Its superiority in other respects, however, in the quality of food it makes as to fineness, delicacy and wholesomeness, could not be measured by figures.

It is these high qualities, known and appreciated by the women of the country for so many years, that have caused the sales of the Royal Baking Rowder, as shown by statistics, to exceed the sales of all other baking powders combined.

The Mystery Cleared.

News reached here Tuesday, says the Beaver Leader, of the finding of the body of Wallace Darling who mysteriously disaspeared from the vicinity of Forks about two years ago. Being almost blind, he was supposed to have missed the trail and got lost in the woods. Searching parties were formed and everything done to discover his whereabouts. No trace of him could be found, however, and after diligent search, the settlers were forced to admit their inability to solve the mystery of his fate. The sad secret was seemingly locked to human eyes. It was then believed he had fallen into the river and was drowned, and in course of time the accident was forgotten.

Last Sunday, while out on a bear hunt, Lem Whittier, of Forks, came upon a skeleton lying upon the banks of Indian creek. On looking around he discovered a coat and hat hanging on a limb and beneath them a jar of butter and some groceries appearing to have been carefully put away. From the facts the conclusion now is that Mr. Darling after taking off his hat and coat and hanging them up deliberately went down to the creek and committed suicide.

Not since the Schleising murder mystery has anything so tragic occured to mar our peaceful community.

Shuwahites are enjoying a series of pleasant parties.

John Jacobson and Ed. Lamoreux began slashing, Tuesday, on Miss Sullivan's ranch.

Miss Minnie Smith, of Quillayute, returned home yesterday, after a four day's visit with friends in Beaver.

There will be a dance at the residence of W. R. Hoole on Thursday evening, Dec. 14, to which all are invited.

We understand that Dan Pullen has won his land case against the government which has been pending in the Supreme court for the past year.

Mr. Irving Garland, one of the prominent upper Solduck ranchers, was in Beaver Sunday. Mr. Garland tells us that everything in his neighborhood is moving along briskly.

The Bear Creek String Band was recently organized. The membership is composed of local musicians of considerable ability who are able to "do" anything in this line. The orchestra is now open to engagements. Parties desiring their services, address Secretary Bear Creek String Band, care of the Leader.

Upper Bear Creek Items.

UPPER BEAR CREEK, Dec. 4—We have been having plenty of snow the past two weeks, but the warm rains have come back again and the snow has disappeared.

Mr. Cable passed up Bear creek to-day en route to Pysht.

We see that our friend Mr. Dimmel is able to be on the road again. He made a trip to Pysht Saturday and has gone back again to-day.

According to one of our settlers it would seem that the landing charges at Pysht are on the rise. He had a package come from Seattle, weighing 4 pounds, the boat charges were 35 cents. It cost him 40 cents to get it landed at Pysht—more than the freight charges from Seattle.

Mr. Oliver Laurenson, Bear creek neighbor, is making lots of improvements since he came down from Pysht in the way of slashing and fixing up his house.

Mr. George Miller informs us that he will move his family in on his Bear creek claim in the spring. Come on George, we will be glad to see you.

An Enjoyable Time.

BOSTON, Dec. 2.—On Thanksgiving evening, Nov. 30th, Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Balch entertained a large number of friends at their residence in Boston. The former part of the evening was occupied by dancing, after which refreshments were served. Dancing, card playing, instrumental and vocal music were resumed until the small hours of morning when the guests returned to their respective homes, well satisfied with the success of the evening.

PORT ANGELES LAND RECEIPTS.

The Proceeds of the Sale May be Expended in the City.

WASHINGTON CITY, Dec. 11.—[Special.]—Mayor Norman R. Smith, mayor of Port Angeles, has been making a much longer stay here in Washington City than he originally intended. He was taken ill here early last month, and for more than a fortnight was confined to his bed. He feels now that he has recovered his health and will push the matter which brought him here. He is now endeavoring to secure the indorsement of the secretary of the treasury to a measure which will in due time be presented to congress, providing that the money derived from the sale of lots and acres in the Port Angeles government townsite reservation, which it is hoped will soon be opened to the public, shall be appropriated for certain Federal improvements in that city. In this way it is hoped to keep the money which the residents of Port Angeles and the settlers on the reservation will pay for the land to the government—a sum variously estimated from $17,000 to 20,000—right at home, instead of sending it here to be absorbed among the government revenues and to the creation of temporarily excessive poverty in that city. The secretary of the treasury regrets his inability to comply with Mr. Smith's wishes, for such a recommendation to congress would be wholly unprecedented. He has promised, however, that when the bill shall be brought before congress and referred to his department for information, it shall be given the most careful attention which the importance of the matter deserves. Senator Squire will undoubtedly introduce the bill in the senate, while Mr. Wilson will watch over its fortunes in the house. It is believed that the bill will readily pass both houses, since it is not a direct appropriation, but simply provides for the expenditure by the government of money which the citizens of Port Angeles are to furnish. It is also greatly desired by the promoters of this measure that it should become a law before the time appointed for the sale of the townsite property, since the knowledge that the government proposed to make these improvements there would undoubtedly greatly enchance the value of the land to be sold and then create a larger fund for the Federal work.

Out in a Blizzard.

Mr. J. P. Blaize, an extensive real estate dealer in Des Moines, Iowa, narrowly escaped one of the severest attacks of phenmonia while in the northern part of that state during a recent blizzard, says the Saturday Review. Mr. Blaize had occasion to drive several miles during the storm and was so thoroughly chilled that he was unable to get warm, and inside of an hour after his return ha was threatened with a severe case of pneumonia or lung fever. Mr Blaize sent to the nearest drug store and got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy of which he had often heard, and took a number of large doses.. He says the effect was wonderful and in a short time he was breathing quite easily. He kept on taking the medicine and the next day he was able to came to Des Moines. OF INTEREST TO SQUATTERS.

Avoid Mistakes and You Will Thereby Escape Delay.

Word has been sent us by Register O'Toole, of the Seattle land office, that for some reason proofs are not forwarded to his office as rapidly as they should. He says that up to Tuesday of last week not to exceed 1,200 had reached his office and many of these had to be suspended for errors that are purely clerical.

As an illustration of the many errors committed, either by the officers taking the testimony or by the party proving up himself, he gives the following:

TESTIMONY OF CLAIMANT.

John James claiming, by virtue of settlement, a preference right to purchase lot 10, block 20, and also claiming a preference right to purchase lot 11, block 20, by reason of having made improvements upon the same, in the townsite of Port Angeles, Washington, under the acts of Congress approved March 3, 1891, 36 Stat., 879, and of August 5, 1892, 27 Stat., 369, testifies as follows:

QUES. 3 (1) When did you erect your dwelling upon lot 11, block 20, and when did you establish an actual residence thereon? (2) Has your residence upon said lot been continuous? Ans.

It can be seen by the above that claimant starts out by stating that settlement was made on lot 10, block 20, and improvements made on lot 11, block 20—, and in question 3—evidently through an oversight, he is asked to state "when he erected his dwelling upon lot 11, block 20—" and not noticing that the number of the lot upon which his dwelling is located is wrongtully stated in the last question quoted he unconsciously replies to the question and thus contradicts his own statement. Mr. O'Toole says errors of this kind are very annoying and suggests that the claimant should carefully read his testimony before signing it.

The Register and Receiver urge that all proofs be in their office by Dec. 24th. They positively state that it will be impossible to pass upon those that do not reach them by that time.

Claimants should govern themselves accordingly.

A Nasty Year.

Beaver Leader.]

It looks as though the opening of the Port Angeles bank would come late enough to be a Christmas present if it comes at all. It will soon be six months since the bank closed its doors and the depositors have not as yet seen a cent of their money. Under the five per cent. per month arrangement nearly one-third of their money would have been paid. It has been a nasty year and we may as well put a black mark on it and open the new year as cheerfully and hopefully as we can. If the Port Angeles bank can give the people a start in this line, so much the better.

WILY BARNSTORMERS

TRICKS WHICH ARE PLAYED BY IMPECUNIOUS THESPIANS.

Some of the Methods They Use to Take the Gullible Landlord Into Camp—Timely Arrival of the Comedian's Friend—The Trunk Trick.

Any one who knows the look of the "barnstormer" can tell him at a glance. It is the fine days that bring him out. Little is seen of him on wet and rainy days, but give Old Sol just half a chance and you wonder at the array of immaculate linen, cigarettes and Prince Alberts exhibited by these fly by night stars, whose ways of securing an existence are as ingenious as they are manifold. The men, with but few exceptions, are barbers or waiters who do not work at their trade, as they are either too light for heavy work or too heavy for light work. The ladies are as a rule the possessors of good homes, which they desert to follow their cherished calling.

A company of Keystone talent leaves Philadelphia to play the state of New Jersey. Their stock in trade consists of a $25 bank roll and several bundles—not trunks—of wardrobe. Of course they are in possession of their ability, which is not appreciated by New Jersey natives, and after making several stands, pursued by angry hotel keepers, they go ashore on the rocks, and with one accord all noses point toward the Quaker City. The ladies have little trouble in securing transportation, as they are experienced in the art of telling the conductors a story calculated to soften a heart of steel. They ride, and before reaching the Delaware river have "touched" the accommodating ticket puncher for 3 cents each with which to pay their ferry fare.

Not so with the men, as they care not for varnish covered cars, but prefer riding in what is known to the professionals as a side door sleeper, but which the railroad calls a box car. The comedian has secured possession of his valise, which he has expressed to his destination. On reaching home he redeems it from the express company and hies himself to some theatrical hotel, where he secures room and board for a week, at the end of which time he is unable to pay and informs the hotel man that he is expecting to sign with Manager So-and-so and will settle in a day or two. After hearing this song for four weeks the landlord takes charge of his grip and advises him to find other quarters.

Happy thought! His friend, Tom Blower, has arrived in the city, and as Tom is dressed—in their language—out of sight, our comedian hunts him up, and after a short confab with him Tom can be seen walking in the direction of the hotel lately occupied by Comedy. Reaching there, he calls at the desk for our comedian and is informed by the proprietor that he is not in, whereupon Tom becomes agitated, and in a confidential tone tells the hotel man that he desires to engage Comedy to work the rest of that week, as his comedian has been taken ill. "Why!" he exclaims, "I must get him at any price, as he is the only man in the city acquainted with the lines and the finest comedy exponent in the country." Comedy now strolls in, and Toms falls upon his chest with joy and engages him, in tones to be overheard by the landlord, to complete the week with him at a salary of $50. The landlord is happy and already hears the jingle of the simoleons due him.

Tom here informs our friend that he must report for dress rehearsal at once, whereupon the landlord is told that his wardrobe is in the grip, which is handed him instanter. He and his friend Tom depart arm in arm. But they never come back.

Several years ago a company stranded near Philadelphia, and all but the leading man returned to New York, he remaining with headquarters at the hotel in which he was stopping, expecting, as he told the country landlord, a money order from his wife. At the end of three weeks no money order had made its appearance, and the Thespian's trunk was taken into the storeroom as security by the hotel man. The day following this move a young lady alighted from the train and registered at the hotel, and in a very short time became acquainted with the leading man. She wanted to buy a trunk. He would sell her one and stated to the innkeeper that he had a chance to sell his trunk and gave him the impression that the proceeds of the sale should apply on his board bill.

The trunk was removed to the actor's room, where the contents were taken out of it and wrapped in a paper, after which the lady was called in to examine the "keister." She was in love with the style and make of it and paid the actor $10 in cash for the same. The bundles were lowered out of the window by the actor and expressed to Philadelphia. The lady paid her bill at the hotel, amounting to $1, and that afternoon left for this city in company with the leading man, who was none other than her husband, and in whose pocket quietly reposed the baggage check for his trunk, which the day before had been the property of the confiding hotel keeper, and who, to this day, had never received a cent from the proceeds of that sale.

A common practice followed by these catch-as-catch-can managers is to give the country hotel keeper an order for the amount of his bill, payable at the box office in the town to be next played, to which place they agree to pay his railroad fare. They reach the town in the early hours of the morning, and the traveling hotel man is put to bed with the company's manager, who lies awake until he is assured that his companion and creditor is sound asleep, when he arises and in a few moments is in possession of the order he has given on the box office, having extracted it from the clothes of the unsuspecting sleeper, who, when he discovers his loss, has nothing left to do but to return home a much wiser man.—Philadelphia Times.

Notice is hereby given that at ten o'clock on the 1st day of January, 1894, the public sale of lots in the unsold portion of the townsite of Port Angeles, washington, will be begun at the court house therein and continued from day to day until all the lots and parcels in said townsite that are subject to sale at public outcry shall have been sold or offered for sale. Port Angeles is situated upon the straits of San Juan De Fuca, Clallam county, in the north-western portion of the state of washington, and was reserved as a government townsite in 1863 by order of President Lincoln. The sale of the unsold portion of said townsite was provided for by act of Congress of March 3d, 1891, 26 stat, 879, and August 5, 1893, 27 stat. 360, and said portion comprises thirty-one hundred and forty seven and 31-100 acres surveyed into 7008 urban and suburban lots and parcels. The majority of the urban lots are fifty by one hundred-forty feet in size, while the suburban lots contain an average of eight and one half acres. The foregoing to be accompanied by proof of the publication required. Notice is futher given that the aforesaid proof must be made in time to be forwarded to, and passed upon by the local officers at Seattle prior to the day of public sale. JINGOISM AND SOPHISTRY.

The position of the Republican party on the Hawiian question is one of jingoism, sophistry and misrepresentation. But this is not strange. The Republican party has had no argument to advance for its position on any question now for a score of years or more. It has only maintained its position as a political party by appealing to the prejudices of the people and by misrepresenting its opponents. Since James G. Blaine appropriated to himsef all the "Americanism" of the country, jingoism and blusten has characterized the actions of every Republican diplomat In Chili, in Samoa and in Hawaii the United States representatives of the Harrison administration acted parts that were undignified, unjust and in violation of the laws of nations. And they called it "Americanism!" Mr. Harrison and his jingo agents would not have dared act with any of the great powers as they acted with little Hawaii. What a cowardly substitute for real American honor!

The question of the morality of the Queen of Hawaii and the pureness of her government has nothing to do with the United States. Every mention of it as concerning the policy of this country is mere sophistry. It gave Mr. Stevens no more right to connive at the overthrow of her government, than the representatives of the powers of Europe have to-day to tell Emma Goldman that if she will read a proclamation from the portico of the Capitol building at Washington proclaiming herself Queen of the United States, that she will be recognized as such.

Never satisfied without they are misrepresenting someone, the Republicans vigorously assert that President Cleveland proposes to use American arms to maintain Queen Lillioukalani on the throne.

The public utterances of Mr. Cleveland do not warrant any such position. The president has not said anything further than to dwell upon the wrong done Hawaiians by this country and to say that the wrong should be righted. How righted, he has not said further than that he will treat the matter more fully in a special message to Congress. In fact, President Cleveland's warm supporter, Senator Gray, of Deleware, said in the Senate that the policy of the administration was one of non-interference. Ambassador Bayard, than whom no man stands closer to the President, confirmed this in a recent interview.

SOMEWHAT AMBIGUOUS.

Mr. John F. Plummer stated, when in this city, this week, positively that he did not make a proposition to the citizens of this city to build the Angeles-Everett railroad, but that the proposition came to him from the Port Angeles board of trade, and that he promised his co-operation, which he claims he has given. Now, the people of this city have thought differently from this. They have always considered the railroad proposition as Plummer's, and they had a right to think so. The first intimation that the public had of the scheme was outlined in a letter to M. J. Carrigan, secretary of the board of trade, bearing date at New York City, February 18, 1893, wherein he outlined the proposition that he had authorized Mr. C. A. Barnes to make to the people of this city and county. The definiteness of this proposition was substatiated by telegrams from Mr. Plummer to Mr. Barnes in answer to a letter requesting that doubting Thomases be set at rest. Mr. Plummer telegraphed:

NEW YORK, March 20, '93.

C. A. BARNES:

Your letter of 7th received. Yes, say to the people of Port Angeles, positively, if bonus is raised railroad will be built as soon as possible.

JOHN F. PLUMMER.

This, indeed, seemed like a proposition from Mr. Plummer.

There is a good deal of the ambiguous about John F. Plummer.

WHENEVER the whimsical, egotistical, illogical Post-Intelligencer lays an egg, the Tribune-Times cackles. These poor old drones, with the assistance of that assistant Republican paper, the New York Sun, have discovered that the Wilson bill is not a Democratic measure at all. Will the Post-Intelligencer or its puny satellite please inform the good people why it is that tariff reformers and free traders everywhere are supporting the Wilson bill while the protectionists, only, are fighting it?

SINCE a doubt seems to exist as to whether or not the ballots cast last week at the city election were correctly counted as the voter intended they should be, a recount, with this object conscientiously in view, would be desirable. Every citizen, no matter what his views as to who should fill the office of mayor, who desires that right should be done, would like to see the candidate who received the majority of the votes declared elected.

NUMEROUS complaints are heard on the streets in regard to to the poor sidewalk along First street and leading up to the court house. This sidewalk is used more by strangers than any other walk in town, and our city fathers would do well to look into the matter. A good impression goes a long way toward the progress of a city.

OF all positions assumed on the income tax, that of the Post-Intelligencer, that it will finally fall on the poorer classes to pay, is most absurd. If true, why does the opposition come from the wealthy?

IN formulating the new tariff bill, Mr. Wilson has adhered closely to the old Democratic motto. "once on the full list always on the free list."

THE Post-Intelligencer's Washington City correspondent's case of chronic despepsia does not worry the Port Angeles squatters.

THE sale of the Port Angeles reservation will not be postponed and there is a fair prospect, too, that those who have been imposed upon by the appraisement will get substantial relief.

The Clerk Ordered to Issue Certificates

TO THE CITY OFFICERS ELECTED.

The Hon. John F. Plummer Addresses the Council—Colonel Coolican Wants His Wharf Franchise—If It is Granted the Colonel Will Build a Large Dock for Ocean Steamers.

On Saturday last the council met pursuant to adjournment. There were present Councilmen Krueger, Reid, Rose, Beam, Carver and Ristine. In the absence of Mayor Smith, it was moved and carried that Councilman Krueger act as mayor pro tem.

Moved by Carver and seconded by Ristine that the city council proceed to canvass the official returns. Moved as an amendment by Beam seconded by Rose, that the council shall also examine into the manner the ballots cast at said election were counted. The amendment prevailed.

Moved by Ristine, seconded by Carver, that in counting said ballots all those marked in the center columnbe thrown out of such count. Moved, as an amendment, by Beam, seconded by Rose, that only upon the advice of city attorney should such ballots be thrown out. The amendment was lost, and the original motion prevailed. The count was then taken on the First, Second and Third wards respectively, after which the council adjourned until 6 p. m. of the same day.

The council convened promptly at six o'clock and proceeded to count the ballots of the Fourth, Fifth and Sixth wards. The following is their finding on Saturday for mayor:

The re-count did not effect the result on any of the other officers except to reduce majorities.

Council then adjourned without taking any action in accordance with a motion made by Councilman Beam.

WEDNESDAY'S MEETING.

The city council met in regular session Wednesday evening, after a few remarks by the Hon. John F. Plummer, the election ball was started rolling by Councilman Carver moving that the minutes of the previous meeting be despensed with but for some unforseen reason a majority of the councilmen were very anxious that they should be read, and it was so ordered.

Councilman Carver then moved that the rules be suspended and council proceed with election returns. Councilman Rose thought that the electric light contract should be disposed of, and upon motion the contract was taken up and read by City Engineer FitzHenry. Mr. Gay, who was present in the interest of Mr. McGill, objected to the council accepting the contract as read, and after a few remarks by the city engineer and attorney, the contract was referred to the electric lighting committee.

While the council was awaiting the arrival of the ballots, which had been sent for, Colonel Coolican arose and asked for information in regard to his franchise, he reported that the Pacific Steamship Company had wrote the Board of Trade, complaining about the poor accommodations accorded them at Port Angeles. He said that when the Board of Trade persuaded the company to have their boats call here, it also promised them good landing accommodations, and if the council would grant him his franchise, he was in acondition to fulfill the promise of the Board of Trade. Councilman Krueger reported that the committee would report at the next meeting.

Councilman Carver's motion to proceed with the official count of the election returns prevailed, and after considerable discussion by Messrs. Gay and Wilson, who were present in the interest of Mr. McGill, and City Attorney G. V. Smith, the council again went through that laborous task, the result of which was a motion ordering the city clerk to issue certificates of election to the following successful candidates:

For Mayor.....Frank McGill
City Clerk.....C. K. Humphries
Treasurer.....E. E. Seevers
City Attorney.....F. O. Lamoreux
Marshal.....H. J. McGregor
Councilman-at-Large.....J. E. Beam

The council taking the returns of the officers of election.

After reading a few minor bills the council adjourned until Friday at which time they will take up the electric light contract.

Found Dead in Bead.

On Thursday evening the coroner received a telegram from Dungeness stating that D. D. Vail had been found dead in his bed. Mr. Vail was well known in this city, having been employed in the barber shop of Harvey Shelpman. He was also a frequent visitor to the local lodge of United Workman, to which order he belonged. He leaves a wife and a large family who are living on a ranch at Beaver and it will be some time before they hear of his death.

Later developments disclose the startling fact that deceased deliberately committed suicide, having taken a dose of laudanum. A letter was found addressed to his wife in which he assigns as the principal cause of him committing the rash act, his inability to support his family properly.

NOT HIS PROPOSITION.

Plummer Says the Railroad Scheme was not His but the Board of Trade's.

John F. Plummer whose mysterious movements have attracted a great deal of attention, especially from Angeles people, arrived in this city Wednesday afteanoon and departed yesterday morning.

Mr. Plummer was the guest of the board of trade during his short stay. Wednesday afternoon he addressed the board of trade at their rooms on Front street and in the evening he addressed the citizens in the council chamber.

Mr. Plummer stated that while he had no definite proposition to make at the present time, he thought he was justified in saying that he would have something definite to submit within a month, after the reservation matter is settled,

Mr. Plummer was positive in his assertion that the people of Port Angeles, acting through the board of trade, made him the famous Port Angeles-Everett railroad proposition and that it was not his proposition, but that he told them that he would work for them and with them in their endeavor to get Eastern capital interested in the scheme. He claims that he and Mr. Carrigan have been actively at work, and have met with a fair degree of success, considering the stringency of the money market.

Mr. Plummer promises his continued efforts to the citizens of Port Angeles.

How to Get Rich.

In hard times money is much more in demand than any other form of property. Prices of every kind of merchandise and of real estate of every description fall to an unprecedented extent owing to the panicky determination of so many people to turn their property into cash.

This leads inevitably to the result that great numbers of people believe that they will be better off to have all their resources in cash, says the Beayer Leader. The hoarding of money then begins and the consequent stagnation of all ordinary accommodations intensifies the desire of the people to turn everything they own into money.

We have just been through this experience the past summer. We have seen values of all kinds shrink to one-half or one-fourth their former standing. Money has commanded enormous rates of interest in the places where money is ordinarily most plentiful. People hvae been crazy to turn their property into cash.

Just now the change is coming. Money is piling up in the money centers. The banks of New York City have over several millions more than their required reserve under the national banking laws, This heaping up of surplus money will go on until it will begin seeking the old lines of investment. Good times will be here again.

Clallam county has suffered in the panic the same as all other new communities. In the depression of values of everything many still have confidence in the future. This is extremely foolish. In hard times it is the part of wisdom to acquire real estate where it can be done, as in Clallam county, under the liberal land laws of the United States. Those who secure title to government land now will lay the foundation for a certain fortune in the future. Clallam county offers more land to home seekers than any county in the state. Those who are wise will avail themselves of the opportunity to get title to a valuable claim.

Good times will come again and in good times the conditions are the reverse of what they are now. In good times the people who own real estate are masters of the situation. They dictate terms then as completely as the money owners do in times of panic.

Therefore it is a sign of prudence and foresight to acquire title to land now. The Quillayute has homesteads for thousands, to be had as the free gift of the National Government. In every old community the majority of the rich people became rich by getting land when it was cheap and holding to it until the rise in values made them rich.

Get a homestead in the Quillayute country, where soil and timber are of the best quality. Hold to the land after you get it and the rise in values in the next few years will make you rich.

A Bright Lad,

Ten years of age, but who declines to give his name to the public, makes this authorized, confidential statement to us:

"When I was one year old, my mamma died of consumption. The doctor said that I, too, would soon die, and all our neighbors thought that even if I did not die, I would never be able to walk, because I was so weak and puny. A gathering formed and broke under my arm. I hurt my finger and it gathered and threw out pieces of bone. If I hurt myself so as to break the skin, it was sure to become a running sore. I had to take lots of medicine, but nothing has done me so much good as Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It has made me well and strong."—T. D. M., Norcatur, Kans.

CURACOA, A QUEER ISLAND.

Dependent Upon Rain For the Water Supply—Some Odd Customs.

Curacoa is one of the queerest little islands of the Caribbean sea. It lies 60 miles north of Venezuela, is about 60 miles long and 12 or 14 wide, and it has a population of more than 50,000.

There is no means of procuring fresh water on the island except by saving rainwater in reservoirs. A number of wells have been bored under the supervision of the Dutch government, to which it belongs, but each ended in failure.

A curious statement regarding these borings is made by the inhabitants of the island. They say that in each and every case after a certain depth was reached the tools dropped out of sight, indicating that there is no solid foundation to the island. The borings were made in low places and through hills, and in about 30 different places, each with the same ultimate result. A few wells have been dug to a lesser depth and brackish, unpleasant tasting water is obtained from them, fit only for manufacturing purposes.

The approach of the rainy season is always an interesting time there. The water in the reservoir is low at this time, and the natives eagerly await the opportunity to gather a fresh supply. Clothing is never washed there in fresh water, but at all hours of the day the beach is alive with women beating the clothes with clubs on the rocks.

The houses are all built in the Dutch style, and are mostly of stone, with tile roofs. The streets are very narrow, in some places so narrow that it is possible to shake hands with the occupant of a room across the street simply by leaning out of the window.

There is a scarcity of young women in the island, but an overplenty of old and wrinkled dames. It is said the young women leave home as soon as they are of marriageable age and seek husbands in Caracas, Venezuela, or some other South American city. Yet there are some of the prettiest girls there a traveler ever set eyes upon. They are the daughters of Dutch fathers and Spanish mothers, and the mingling of the two bloods has produced a beautiful race, which is growing quite numerous there.

Three-quarters of the population is of African descent, or mixed African, Spanish, Dutch and Indian. A few Indians, said to be descendants of the Caribs, are still to be found on the island living in huts of straw.

Their sole business in these days seems to be the peddling of lottery tickets. Everybody invests in the lottery there, and as there are drawings each day the peddling of tickets forms quite a paying business.

Some of the Africans there are magnificently formed, especially those employed along the lagoon in loading and unloading steamers and ships. They are at home in the water and will dive under a steamer for a "real" or 10 cent piece.

Of le years they are forced to wear suits while sporting in the lagoon near the settlements, but as the lagoon extends in the center of the island several miles each way they may be seen every evening making their way in punts to a point beyond observation where they can enjoy themselves untrammeled by clothing.

The Maca pruen, or monkey plum, is the favorite fruit, and the parrot is the favorite bird. For $1 a young parrot that can talk in Spanish may be purchased, and a mocking bird can be had for 50 cents.

None of the liquor which obtains its name from the island is made there now. The Dutch have taken hold of the manufacture of the liquor and have transferred the business to Holland.—New York Herald.

Booth as Billposter.

One story of Booth's trip to the Sandwich Islands remains with me. He had gone there in 1854 in company with his comrade, Mr. David C. Anderson, en route to Australia, and they were to play in the Royal Hawaiian theater. They had hired a native to paste up the bills announcing the performance. This had to be done with a preparation named "poe-poe," made from a vegetable called "tara-tara," which is a favorite food in Honolulu, but the poor man was so hungry that yielding to temptation he incontinently ate up the paste, and to their surprise no bills appeared. When the reason was ascertained, they feared to trust another native, and it was therefore agreed that as Booth was the younger he should act as billposter, and it came to pass that every night after the performance Edwin went about the city with his play bills and bucket of paste and put up with his own hands the posters announcing what the company would play on the following night. And he assured me that he did this honestly and did not eat any of the paste!—William Bispham in Century.

Chewing Gum.

I asked a very famous physician the other day if it was injurious to chew gum—not that I do it—and he answered:

"Yes and no."

"And how?" I inquired.

"To chew gum for five or ten minutes after a meal is absolutely beneficial," said he, "especially for hasty eaters, who do not half masticate their food, because the action of the jaws causes the gastric juices to flow, and that is good. But so few people can use and not abuse it. They get the gum in their mouths and keep at it till they fairly dry up the saliva supply, bring on a headache and get generally nervous. This will cause indigestion."—New York Recorder.

Never In Time.

The late H. J. Byron had a horror of funerals, but was once prevailed upon to attend that of a fellow Bohemian. After waiting long at the cemetery entrance, he and his companions followed a funeral into the chapel, and when the service was half over, discovered that it was that of a stranger. Their friend's funeral had not come yet.

"Ah," said Byron, "just like poor Bill—never in time!"—London Million.

FARM AND GARDEN

POULTRY CONVENIENCES.

A Contrivance For Feeding Grain—Protecting the Food and Water.

A correspondent of the Farm Journal, who was losing much grain by rats and chipmunks, contrived an automatic poultry feeder for grain which prevents waste by mice, also by fouling, etc. He says:

When it was ready for use, I taught my flock to use it in one minute by placing a dish of corn on the platform when they had been fasting until 9 a. m., after calling the flock to me and scattering a slight quantity at my feet.

The end view shows dotted lines, which are to indicate the hopper arrangement inside. A board at the rear running lengthwise, on edge, conducts the grain to the trough. That on front side leaves a space of one inch at the bottom, the whole length of hopper to allow grain to pass through to the trough from which the fowls feed. The door in front is made to swing on easy hinges, and the platform is pivoted at B and balanced by weights on the arms at A, so that even a small fowl standing on the platform will open the door by means of the lever C and disclose the grain.

The legs are of old steel tires, bent to proper shape and bolted to bottom with quarter inch bolts. I have had one in use for three years, and would not be without it.

In the same journal attention is called to the fact that old wire and two hoops held apart by three sticks can be made to play an important part as a protector to the hen's feed or drink dish. The wire is fastened firmly to one hoop and then strung over the other and back all around, making a close, vertical fence through which the fowls put their heads. A barrel head cleated and nailed over the top hoop perfects the arrangement, keeping all dirt out of the top.

The Southern Wheat Crop.

In many sections of the south wheat is not a profitable market crop. Nevertheless, The Southern Cultivator advises, whenever it is possible to raise wheat at or below the market price, that farmers plant at least enough for home consumption. As a rule limestone regions suit it best and light, sandy lands least. The plant does not like an open soil, which is one reason why it is advisable not to plant wheat on a pea stubble or where a large amount of vegetable matter has been turned under, unless it has had time to thoroughly decompose. This crop requires the richest and most available food, nitrogen especially, also phosphate and potash.

If a crop of pea vines has been turned under in the first of September, the vines will be in good condition for a crop of wheat by the middle of October, and this is early enough to sow wheat anywhere in the region in which cotton grows. The early maturing seed of the red variety is best. In middle Georgia and corresponding latitudes the last of October is the best time for sowing. Another fact to be remembered is that wheat succeeds best in cold climates. Therefore high lands and northern and northeastern slopes should be selected for this crop.

Planting Sugar Cane.

Sugar cane is planted either in the autumn or in the spring. If the planter has the time, he prefers to plant in the autumn. If the cane is not planted until spring, it is either piled in great mats and covered over lightly, or three or four rows are laid together and covered up with cane blades and a light layer of earth on top until time to plant it in the spring. There is no seed on sugar cane such as sorghum has. The stalk itself is laid down in the furrow and covered up. From each joint there will come up a single slender shoot, and around this shoot after awhile will appear 30 or 40 stalks of cane. Sugar cane in Louisiana lasts three years for one planting. The first year it is called plant cane. Then it comes up from the old roots two more years and is called first and second year's stubble or rattoons. In Cuba it lasts 10 years after it is planted.

The Potato Scab.

It has been definitely settled at the Vermont station that the potato scab is caused by a fungus growing on the potato tuber. The scab is found to be increased when scabby potatoes are used for seed; when barnyard manure is used from stock to which scabby potatoes have been fed; when the potatoes are planted on the same land year after year. The germs of the disease may be killed by soaking the seed potatoes for an hour and a half in a solution of one part of corrosive sublimate dissolved in a thousand parts of water.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.

She was a pretty Christian Scientist.
"There is nothing real," said she,
"Except the soul. My body is not real."
"And that's too bad," thought he.

"Pain is not real; this hammock is not real Wherein you think I sit."
Lo! as she spoke the hammock's fastenings broke
And threw her out of it.

Full hard she bumped her immaterial form.
Who could but sympathize?
He begged that she would let a heretic
Pretend to help her rise.

Then, oh, the scorn of her rejection was
A something wholly real!
And, oh, the limp with which she walked away
Proclaimed that she could feel!

What Is an Accident?

To the nonlegal mind the term "accident" would appear to be easily defined, but the late Lord Chief Justice Cockburn thought not, and on several occasions insurance companies have sought a definition in the courts of law. It has been decided that a sunstroke is not an accident, but that injury to the spine through lifting a heavy weight is one. Even if physical ailments contribute to an accident, it is covered by the policy.

The relatives of a man who, while bathing in shallow water, was seized with a fit and suffocated, sustained their claim, as did those of a man who, when similarly seized, fell under a train and was killed. Again, a person having fallen and dislocated his shoulder was put to bed and carefully nursed, but in less than a month he died of pneumonia. The connection between that complaint and a dislocated shoulder is not at once visible, but on the ground that the restlessness and susceptibility to cold produced by the accident led to the disease which killed him, the relatives were held to be entitled to the claim.

"The influence of intoxicating liquor," has been authoritatively defined as "influence which disturbs the balance of a man's mind or the intelligent exercise of his faculties," and injuries received while in that condition are not covered by an accident policy. Nor are those caused by running obvious risk, as crossing a railway, even at a proper place, without exercising due care to avoid passing trains.—Chambers' Journal.

A Luscious Sandwich.

There is served at the house restaurant—and for that matter at the senate restaurant—a dish that is fit for the interior of any man, high or low, rich or poor, old or young, whom the Lord has ever suffered to live and sin. It is composed of a couple of slices of tender beef, divinely roasted, inclosed between slices of bread, divinely browned, and over all is poured a half pint of the golden juice of the meat, vulgarly known as gravy, but whose right name is "ambrosia." This dish in its entirety is down on the bills as "hot roast beef sandwich." It had its birth in the once famed Astor House and is the favorite brain child of a cook upon whom one day descended an inspiration. For a long time it was distinguished upon the capitol cartes as "a la Astor House." It has become so much a favorite with the feeders in the big building, however, that its New York patronymic has been dropped.—Washington Post.

May I Have a Fit Here, Please?

Grocer Wessel of Twentieth street and Fourth avenue had a queer customer the other morning. A well dressed woman of middle age walked into his store, and addressing the grocer asked quietly:

"Please, may I have a fit here, sir?"

"Vot is dot?" asked the mystified Mr. Wessel.

"I would like to have a fit in your store," replied the woman, this time in a hurried, excited tone.

"Fit!" exclaimed the grocer. "We don't keep 'em, lady."

He had one in the store a half minute later, however, for his supposed customer fell to the floor in an epileptic convulsion. An ambulance was summoned, and she was taken to Bellevue hospital.—New York Sun.

Hair Drying Stoves.

In the hairdressing parlors of New York, where women pay 50 cents for a shampoo and 75 cents for a shampoo with whipped egg trimmings, the tresses are dried over a small sheet iron stove. The attendant mops the wig with a towel, and then wheels the tabled stove up to the customer's back, lets the hair hang down a tin spout, turns on the gas, gives her a fashion paper to read and goes off for 20 or 30 minutes to shampoo or curl another customer.

The Deadly Current.

Two horses attached to a vehicle were killed in Jersey City by coming in contact with the current from a trolley wire. It appears singular when it is stated that the accident occurred a quarter of a mile from the broken wire, the current having been conveyed along the track.—Exchange.

French dandies are now going about with a novel scarfpin under their chins. The ornament consists of a gayly plumaged singing bird connected by means of a tiny rubber pipe with a bulb in the wearer's pocket. Press the bulb, and the bird squeaks and waggles his head and tail.

The assayer who examined the aerolite that fell on the farm of Lawrence Freeman near Bath, S. D., on the afternoon of Aug. 29, 1892, reports that the principal minerals it contains are gold, silver, nickel and cobalt.

A light supper, a good night's sleep and a fine morning have often made a hero of the same man who by indigestion, a restless night and a rainy morning would have proved a coward.—Chesterfield.

Sir Boyle Roche said, "Single misfortunes never come alone, and the greatest of all possible misfortunes is generally followed by a much greater."

The talent of success is nothing more than doing what you can do well and doing well whatever you do without a thought of fame.

HOW LONG BEES LIVE.

This Is Important In an Apiary if Success Is Attained.

The age attained by honey bees is important in the management of an apiary. Bees are not a source of income to their owner when there is no work for them in the fields, yet they must eat. Therefore it is wisdom to rear bees so that they may be in their prime to gather the harvest. And the same applies to queens. If they have outlived their usefulness, and in the spring lay but few eggs, there will not be sufficient workers to store surplus honey. If the bees supersede their queen in the spring, the young queen will not be fertile and laying in time to rear bees to take advantage of the early honey flow. And what profit is there in a hive full of bees at the close of the season? They may not gather a cell of honey during their lifetime. In lieu of being producers they are consumers, according to a beekeeper in The Prairie Farmer, who says:

Queens have been known to live and do good work until 5 years of age, but this is an exception and not the rule. Producers who keep bees for the money that there is in them as a rule do not think that it is profitable to keep bees after three seasons' work and supersede them at the close of the third season, because old queens, like old hens, lay but few eggs. It is often disastrous to the honey crop to introduce young queens in the spring. They should be in the hive ready for business at an early day to insure a success of the season's work.

Drones' lives are of a summer's length, and they are found in the hives from May until November. They sometimes remain during the winter in queenless colonies and are not infrequently absent during the summer. The presence or absence depends on the present and prospective condition of the colony. If they are needed or likely to be needed, then they are present and make it known by their loud noise.

The worker bees never attain a great age. Those reared in autumn may live for eight or nine months, and if in queenless stocks, where little labor is performed, even longer, while those reared in spring will wear out in three months and when most busy will often die in from 30 to 45 days. None of these bees survives the year through, so there is a limit to the number which may exist in a colony.

The age to which bees attain is proved by the changing of a black queen for an Italian, or vice versa. For instance, if we take away a black queen about the middle of June and introduce an Italian queen in her place, we shall have Italian bees hatching 21 days thereafter, which date we are to mark on the hive as the time we are to count from, as there will be no black bees hatched after this. At the end of 40 days the black bees will be found to be very few in number, while at the end of the forty-fifth day not a black bee will be found in the colony.

If the colony is made queenless at 20 days after the Italian queen is introduced, then the length of life to the workers will be prolonged on account of their not laboring so hard, for queenless bees never have the energy shown by those who have their mother with them, and it is the amount of labor done which has to do with the length of life given to our pets. Again, if the change of queens is made during the fall months, we shall find plenty of black bees in the latter part of spring, although they soon disappear after the active labor of honey gathering comes on.

This length of life has much to do with spring dwindling, with preparation for winter, making new colonies, surplus crop of honey, etc., and therefore should be understood by all. It is impossible to secure a good crop of honey where the most of the bees are nearly worn out with age just as the harvest is commencing, and where bees become uneasy in winter and wear themselves out with worry spring dwindling is sure to occur. If all bees are old in the fall, empty hives will result the next spring, and a colony so divided that one part contains all old bees results in no profit from that part.

Saving Corn From Weevils.

An Arkansas correspondent of the Shreveport Times gives a simple plan for keeping weevils out of corn which he declares is effective. He builds log cribs with perfectly tight floors and the openings between the logs chinked and daubed with mud, so as to exclude light and air. The door should be made to fit tightly. The corn should be thrown in over the top after the crib is filled even with the door. After the crib is filled to within two or three feet of the top cover the corn with fodder or straw two, three or four feet deep.

The main object is to keep the corn in the crib as dark as possible, and to accomplish this it is well enough to close the gable ends. Weevil will not attack corn thus stored. The few weevils in field corn before it was gathered will do no damage worth mentioning after the corn is thus stored, and when winter comes they all die, and no more weevils will ever bother the crib if kept tight and dark. Remember the main thing is to keep the corn in the dark.

Notes For Southern Farmers.

The best sweet potato soil is a sandy loam.

Clay soil is too cold for the sweet potato, and mucky land produces too much roots and vine.

Professor Emery of the North Carolina station says that fodder stacked up exactly as hay is stacked, in pretty large stacks, will keep well in a moderate climate.

A North Carolina farmer says that the Silver Hull is the best buckwheat.

Choose for pecan culture, says a Mississippian, land where the hickory thrives. The richer the land the better, alluvial soil being best.

A Tennesseean says that if he were reduced to one rose for outdoor purposes he would select Estella Pradel for his state and south of it.

Married In the Middle of the Road.

A Muncie (Ind.) dispatch says: A social event that was to take place Thursday night in Hamilton township was declared off. John Dick and Miss Maggie Ford were to have been married. Wednesday the couple came to Muncie and got their license. On their way home they met Elder George Moore. In a bantering way they asked him to marry them, showing him their license. Almost before they knew it he had pronounced them husband and wife as they tarried in the middle of the road. A reception was given Thursday night to keep the wedding cake from spoiling.

A New Steel Process.

A new method of producing steel has been suggested to M. Jules Garnier by M. Moissan's diamond making experiments. He claims that it is successful. The steel is instantaneously made by placing a bar of iron and a stick of charcoal together in a parallel direction in an electrical firebrick furnace of a temperature of 1,000 degrees and subjecting them to a strong current. M. Jules Garnier expects that his discovery will revolutionize the steel industry.—Exchange.

PATENTS

FOR INVENTIONS.

Equal with the interest of those having claims against the government is that of INVENTORS, who often lose the benefit of valuable inventions because of the incompetency or inattention of the attorneys employed to obtain their patents. Too much care cannot be exercised in employing competent and reliable solicitors to procure patents, for the value of a patent depends greatly, if not entirely, upon the care and skill of the attorney.

With the view of protecting inventors from worthless or careless attorneys, and of seeing that inventions are well protected by valid patents, we have retained counsel expert in patent practice, and therefore are prepared to Obtain Patents in the United States and all Foreign Countries, Conduct Interferences, Make Special Examinations, Prosecute Rejected Cases, Register Trade-Marks and Copyrights, Render Opinions as to Scope and Validity of Patents, Prosecute and Defend Infringement Suits, Etc., Etc.

If you have an invention on hand send a sketch or photograph thereof, together with a brief description of the important features, and you will be at once advised as to the best course to pursue. Models are seldom necessary. If others are infringing on your rights, or if you are charged with infringement by others, submit the matter to us for a reliable OPINION before acting on the matter.

LAME BACK AND RHEUMATISM.

Portland Oregon, September 26, 1892.

Dr. A. T. Sanden, Dear Sir:—Years of exposure and hard work, combined with the strain coming from the jar of an engine, gave me a severe case of lame back, from which I suffered for seven years. I was so bad that I could not bend my back. Was all doubled up with it. I bought one of your belts. It helped me inside of two days, and I continued to wear it for four months, being perfectly cured. That was two years ago, and I am as well to-day as I ever was in my life. I know your belt well, and I know lots of people who have been cured by it. Many others need it, and if they would try it they would find it the same as I did—the best remedy in the world. I am located here permanently, and will be glad to talk with anyone who wants to inquire about it.
