THE IMPERIAL MANDATE

Of the Courts and of the Elements Removes

A GOVERNMENTAL OBSTRUCTION,

Which Deals a Serious, if Not Fatal, Blow to One of Port Angeles Principal Industries—The Extreme High Tide Provoked Into Fury By the Severe Storm Prevailing Last Sunday Washes the Wharf and Warehouse on the Spit, Belonging to the Dry Creek Mill Company, to Sea.

The storm prevailing along the northwest coast, in fact, extending to the California coast, was, without exception, the severest ever experienced at this port since the establishment of the signal service station here. At least this is the unerring indication of the observations compiled in Signal Service Officer Wm. Bell's office.

Sunday evening the storm which was sweeping, in all its demonical fury, along the straits, developed 48 miles, and the barometer fell to a point, Mr. Bell affirms, never before reached during his experience as observer at this station, in fact, not since the establishment of the bureau here. This, together with the exceedingly high tides, which lashed and dashed upon the shores with tremendous force, caused not a little damage to wharves and other water frontage structures, which obstructed and attempted to dispute the supremacy of the lordly wave.

While the damage to wharves and other frontage structures will aggregate a considerable loss, the individual loss, with the exception of that resulting from the washing away of the wharf and warehouse of the Dry Creek Mill Company, is [illegible] mate localit[illegible]

It seems, however, that not only the elements but the United States courts, have united in dealing a crushing deathblow to one of Port Angeles' principal industries, as the following decision, handed down by United States District Judge Hanford, and which appeared in the Post-Intelligencer of last Sunday, will indicate:

"In the ejectment suit of the United States against the Port Angeles Mill and Lumber Company, Judge Hanford, yesterday afternoon, handed down a decision in favor of the government, which will probably have the effect of closing down the mill company's big lumber and shingle mills near Port Angeles.

"The mill company has its mills where wharfage facilities are not good, and had built a tramway three miles long out across 400 feet of the sand spit in the harbor to deep water and had built a small wharf there. The spit is a government lighthouse reserve, and after a little time the company was asked to remove its improvements and the suit in ejectment was brought. At the trial yesterday the mill company admitted that the tramway was over the reserve, but set up that the land was tide land and that the title was vested in the State and not in the United States. But a motion to dismiss the complaint on that ground was denied.

"The jury found that the United States was the owner of the land and entitled to immediate possession. The damages by the unlawful detainer were fixed, however, at but $19, instead of $380, the jury finding that a rent of $10 a month would be unreasonable. One of the mill company's officers said that the mills would close down, as the land could not be rented. The mills, he said, had cost $60,000, and had a capacity of 30,000 feet of lumber and 100,000 shingles a day."

While the righteousness and supreme justice of the decision cannot be reasonably denied nor successfully controverted from a legal point of view, the truth nevertheless, remains unimpaired, that the decision has dealt a crushing blow to an industry that was struggling to cast aside its swaddling clothes and to array itself in the garments of vigorous, healthful and promising young manhood.

The company which recently leased this valuable property, had in process many needful and valuable improvement, which not only would increase the capacity of the mills, but provide steady employment to a larger force of men than ever before employed.

The recent adverse decision of the United States court, which denies this company its natural water outlet, will have a serious, if not disastrous, effect upon its future plans, and may cause the indefinite closing down of its mills.

Now that the government's right to eject all trespassers from the lighthouse reserve is established beyond any reasonable doubt, the question naturally arises as to what course the mill company will have to persue to provide water front facilities for its lumber output. This cannot be done without an expenditure of at least $2,000 and maybe $5,000.

The most available and practicable point for the construction of a wharf to deep water is on the Church claim. The value the owners place on these privileges is not known, but it is believed that that the right-of-way and wharf site could be secured for a reasonable consideration.

Mr. Geo. W. Loggie, the resident manager, seriously deplores the turn of affairs, and intimates that his company does not feel justified in making as large an expenditure at the present time. And unless some plan can be devised whereby the general public will contribute to the improvement, there is very strong likelihood that there will be a cessation of operations in that direction.

Since this community has, in the past, demonstrated itself to be such a generous, open-handed bonus-giver, it might again display its magnanimity in that direction, and with assurance, too, of receiving substantial returns, by raising a bonus for the encouragement of legitimate industry.

It is sincerely to be hoped, however, that the [illegible] huge obstacle [illegible] industrial development of Port Angeles and Clallam county, will ultimately be overcome, and that activity rather than inaction will mark its future.

And to accomplish a solution so devoutly wished should receive the substantial encouragement of all patriotic citizens.

THE SEVEREST STORM

Ever Experienced in the Northern Pacific—Terrible Experience of Vessels.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11.—The steamer Farrallon arrived from Port Angeles today and reports a very rough experience during the recent storm which she encountered on the 8th. Several of her sailors were injured and one passenger was killed. Early on Saturday morning a heavy sea broke on deck and as it heaved over the bulwarks one of the steerage passengers, named Frank Heyman, came out from the companionway to the deck. The mountain of water caught him with full force and washed him against the combing of the hatch, and then dashed him against the pilot house. His skull was crushed and he was injured severely internally. That evening he died. The next morning he was dropped into the sea. Heyman was a German and boarded the vessel at Tacoma.

ASTORIA, Dec. 11.—The Spreckels tug Fearless, of San Francisco, is in port, having brought the Norwegian ship, Breidablik through one of the worst storms that ever raged on the Pacific coast. The Fearless came into port with her decks sprung and leaking badly. Her compass cover was blown away by the terrific force of the wind and every thing movable on deck was washed over board. Sunday afternoon they were running before the wind, when a heavy sea came over her stern, burying the tug so that only the pilot house was out of the water. After the tug righted itself she was hove round to the sea and ahead under a slow bell. Another monster sea went over her bows, and striking the forward house, smashed the dead lights and sprung the heavy steel walls so that the water closet frame two inches from the wall was torn from its fastenings. The Breidablik was nowhere in sight at this time, having parted company with her for the second time on the night previous. The first time they let go the ship was on Friday, when the hawser had to be cut from the top of the tug's house, it being impossible to remain on deck. The ship was picked up early Monday morning off the mouth of the river and towed in by the Fearless. The big vessel was listing badly to the starboard, and several times Captain Arneson gave up all hope of saving his ship.

PORTLAND, Dec. 11.—Last night the steamship Oregon, from San Francisco, arrived safely in port after the narrowest escape from shipwreck the vessel has ever experienced during her long career on the Pacific coast. Thursday morning she left San Francisco with only about 150 tons all told, and was drawing only nine feet forward and sixteen feet aft. As the vessel is in the freight service no passengers were carried.

British Ship Scottish Dales Disabled.

The British ship Scottish Dales encountered a terrific storm off Fort Canby last Sunday and was quite seriously disabled. After the storm was over she drifted into the strait, and was hailed by the steamer Bertha, and towed to Townsend.

The Scottish Dales is 2,000 tons, ten years old and owned by W. H. Rees & Co., Liverpool. She has lost her upper and lower topsails, foretop gallant mast, and foretop masthead, and mizzen lower and upper topsails. She will be repaired on the Sound and will then proceed to Portland. One able seaman had his arm broken by a piece of falling rigging, and Captain McCarthy has some severe bruises also. He asserts that his crew are totally unfit for sea duty. directly dependent on him. In the event of his death would he leave his family provided for? Yes, providentially, the almost infinite wisdom of the brain that had conceived an organization founded on the broad and humane principles of the A. O. U. W., provided a beneficiary or insurance of $2,000, which, in the event of the death of a member, goes to his family. And this beneficiary is easily within the reach of any man commanding an ordinary income, and demonstrates very clearly why the A. O. U. W. flourishes and grows in membership.

The features of the anniversary were addresses, a literary and musical program and a tempting luncheon which was followed with dancing and cards.

COUNTY TREASURER'S BOND.

Treasurer-Elect Dorsey Petitions Commissioners to Reduce His Official Bond.

County Treasurer-Elect A. B. Dorsey has petitioned the board of county commissioners to reduce the amount of his official bond, which has been fixed at $60,000 to $30,000.

As one of the principal reasons that his official bond be reduced, Mr. Dorsey sets forth the fact that the responsibility is not as great now as when his predecessor assumed the duties of the office. Then there were about $44,000 in the treasury. With the beginning of Mr. Dorsey's term of office, there will be very little, if any, money in the treasury, consequently a smaller bond would adequately protect the county for the interest involved.

A contra petition was also presented to the board by Mr. William Ritchie and others, praying that the board not grant the request of Mr. Dorsey by reducing the amount of the latter's official bond, as it no more than fully protects [illegible] Fort Angeles, covering a [illegible] of two acres of land in Greenhill cemetery, was returned to the donor, for the reason that the general government had granted and dedicated to the use of the city a public cemetery in the [illegible] reservation.

The matter of the government cemetery site was laid over until the incoming administration assumed municipal duties. The city clerk stated that he would have to write all the records showing the authority of the present official to receive the land, and as there had been so many changes, it would be a voluminous task, and one which could be greatly simplified by waiting until the newly elected officials took their seats.

The N. R. Smith electric lighting water power proposition was laid over for one week, for the reason the city engineer had not been able to measure the water. The council adjourned.

A. O. U. W. ANNIVERSARY.

The Second Year's Existence of This Society Finds It Flourishing.

Last Friday evening the A. O. U. W., of this city celebrated the second milestone of its existence. The growth of this lodge has been remarkable, the membership numbering 51. Whether or not its advancement would have been more marked during the past two years, had the times have been more favorable from a commercial and industrial point of view, is a question over which many persons honestly differ. During a period of financial depression as extreme as that of the past few years has proved, the considerate, thoughtful man provides for an emergency. And the uncertainties of the immediate past have been of that intense nature that a man either in business, professional, mechanical or other pursuits of life could not with any degree of assurance, rely upon the resources at command for a substantial livelihood for himself as well as those dependent upon him. These were the serious problems of life confronting him. What was his alternative. He must not only rigidly economize in his business but the uncertainty of life presents to him a graver responsibility if others are [illegible] as they deem proper in the premises.

Contest Case Withdrawn.

Several weeks ago Mr. O. J. Austin, Republican candidate for county assessor instituted proceedings in the Superior court against his successful competitor, Mr. Jno. Cook, the Populist candidate, contesting his right to the office on the grounds of fraudulent voting in several of the precincts. Cook's majority over Austin was only 2.

After mature consideration, however, of the matter, Mr. Austin has finally decided not to contest, and through his attorney has withdrawn the complaint.

Fined for Illegal Voting.

The trial of W. H. H. Grant and Edward Kline, arrested on the charge of illegal voting at an election in Road District No. 7, was heard before Judge Carusi last Wednesday afternoon.

The defendants pleaded not guilty and retained Jno. Trumbull, of Townsend, and Louis Williams, of this city, as their attorneys. D. W. Bryan represented the state. After the evidence had been submitted, and the jury had received the charge, they retired to the jury-room, and soon returned with a verdict of "guilty" in the case of W. H. H. Grant, and one of "not guilty" in the case of Edward Kline, as there was no evidence introduced that the latter had voted elsewhere.

The judge fixed the fine of W. H. H. Grant at $50 and costs.

It is understood that his attorneys will appeal from the decision of the justice's court.

WHAT THE OUTSIDE WORLD

Thinks of "Fake" Railroad Schemes—Comments From the Press.

The Port Townsend Queen "joshes' Port Angeles about her railroad. It says: "This office is informed that Dick Brown has received the contract from the Port Angeles and Everett railroad company to furnish piles for bridging the Sound, from Oak Bay to Everett, a distance of some thirty miles. As the greater part of the distance the piles will have to be spliced, it will be seen that Mr. Brown has quite a considerable contract on hand. As there will be no necessity for steamers and other vessels coming up the Straits further than Angeles, when the railroad is completed, no draw-bridge will be put it the structure across the Sound. Work on the railroad will begin soon after the completion of Nicaragua canal and Seattle ditch."

***

THE DEMOCRAT-LEADER last week published a statement from C. A. Barnes, one of the promoters of the Port Angeles and Everett railroad scheme, in which Mr. Barnes plainly says that the who thing was a "fake" and never had any solid backing whatever. A good many people had this impression long ago, that it was simply a "real estate boom scheme." This sort of business will give Port Angeles the worst black eye that any town ever got in this state. The people have been humbugged so much with "railroads" built on paper that it will be a very long time indeed before they will have anything more to [illegible] Record.

DESIRABLE IMMIGRATION.

That Washington is the objective point of a desirable class of immigrants, who will, as soon as circumstances permit, seek homes and fortunes in this far-away land, is a fact confirmed by the the constantly recurring inquiries, pouring in from over all the east.

The latest inquiry comes from a desirable element of immigration, the sturdy, thrifty, industrious Hollander. who, dissatisfied with his surroundings at the East, and with his home in Holland, desires to emigrate to this favored region, where the inducements offered are so tempting and substantial, the possibilities for the creation of homes and the acquisition of wealth so abundant and unlimited. These sturdy Dutchman are wistfully looking toward the land of the "evergreen" as a future home.

They will come from Michigan and other states and far-away Holland, and number 50,000 souls anxious to make a change for the better, and, if convinced that this land possesses the desired climatic and natural conditions, will no doubt remove thither to build homes and to subdue the virgin resources of this glorious commonwealth.

Mr. R. E. Workman, who represents this Dutch colonizing syndicate, has been in Seattle for several month last past, collecting data, also an exhibit of farm products which will first be shipped to Kalamazoo, Mich., for an exhibit, then to New York and from there to Groningen in the Netherlands. This exhibit will comprise many of the favorite products raised in Holland, and magnificent specimens they will be, too, in size and quality, having matured to a degree of growth and perfection, that will be a revelation to the average Hollander.

Mr. Workman has already bonded a tract of 18,000 acres of land on Whidby island and negotiations are pending for a large tract at Ocosta, in Chehalis county. He soon leaves for the East and Holland, to report the results of his personal investigations and observations.

The exhibits will be sent from King, Whatcom, Island, Chehalis and Thurston counties and will be comprised of all kinds of cereals, fruits and vegetables.

The magnitude of this movement cannot be fully comprehended. If successful, as it doubtless will be, it means an additional population of a very desirable class of society.

It is, indeed, unfortunate, that what seems to have been one of the "golden opportunities" appearing so rarely in the history of a new country, was not embraced by the chamber of commerce of this city. This people are altogether too deeply absorbed with internal strifes and conflicts and with redressing supposed personal grievances, to devote any time to the material development of the natural resources of Clallam.

No other county of the state possesses the wealth of varied natural resources that does Clallam.

Its magnificent timber, vast area of agricultural land, inexhaustible banks of food fish, matchless waterway and incomparable climate, recommend it to the intending settler as nature's ideal commonwealth.

Now why is it that the chamber of commerce permits this opportunity to slip by? Is it not the primary object of this organization to labor for the material advancement, the substantial growth of the town and the legitimate development of its resources? Certainly. Then why does it so signally fail to accomplish the purpose for which it was created?

It is not too late, however, for the chamber of commerce to take the matter in hand, as Mr. Werkman will remain for two months in Kalamazoo, Mich.

The incidental expense would be very slight, as the farmers of Clallam would undoubtedly gratuitously contribute a most creditable exhibit. Then the matter of free transportation could easily be arranged with some one of the transcontinental systems.

Here is an opportunity. Will the chamber of commerce embrace it?

ABOUT RAILROADS.

The citizens of Port Townsend have again united in a commendable effort to secure transcontinental railway facilities.

The courage, even heroism of this people is truly admirable and worthy emulation.

Time and [illegible] the efforts to secure railway advantages met with crushing defeat. Yet these disappointments have not soured the nature nor crushed the spirit of the Townsendite. Undaunted he rises and casts to the winds the shattered fragments of defeat, and with abiding faith and renewed courage buckles on the armour to battle again for the achievement of the commercial enterprise.

Strictly speaking the effort there for a railroad has not been entirely in vain, as that ambitious town boasts 25 miles of standard-gauge railway, stocked, equipped and in operation.

This intregal part of what was intended to be a feeder of some transcontinental system, is the property of the Oregon Improvement Company and stands as an evidence of good faith on the part of that company, to redeem its agreement with the citizens of Townsend to give them transcontinental connections within a period of two years in lieu of a $350,000 subsidy. The company, however, never earned the subsidy, although it made a substantial showing, as the financial crisis overwhelmed it and forced its affairs into the hands of a receiver long before the time-limit had expired, and the subsidy reverted to the subscribers after the time-limit elapsed. Since then the company has not evidenced any desire to resume construction work.

The railway project evidences princely liberality on the part of Townsend citizens.

Eligible and valuable waterfrontage terminal grounds, a land subsidy which will include about one-half of the property there and a large cash subscription, will represent the tempting inducement offered to the company giving that city transcontinental connections.

The Townsend people are united, are determined and are severely in earnest, and will accord a legitimate proposition the most liberal encouragement, but adventurers, schemers and "fakers" need not apply, if they have any regard for their physical well-being.

Would it not be an act of wisdom of business prudence, for the property owners of Port Angeles to organize and adopt the liberal policy already inaugurated by Townsend?

This as another opportunity for the chamber of commerce to distinguish itself. Raise a substantial subsidy. Then endeavor to induce some one who can fully demonstrate the ability to build the railroad, to accept it. The time for active, earnest co-operation is at hand. Take advantage of it.

PASSING OF THE TELEGRAPH.

It is a source of deep regret that the management of the Seattle Telegraph found it necessary to suspend the issuance of the excellent journal, because an inadequate and limited field, would not permit nor justify the publication of two morning newspapers of the character of the Post-Intelligencer and of the Telegraph.

The Telegraph under the vigorous management of Mr. Collins and his able associates steadily advanced to the enviable position as a daily journal, where it commanded the distinction of an able, representative and impartial dispenser of news. Its editorials were able, vigorous and fearless, its news and telegraphic service comprehensive and reliable. As a business proposition, however, it had never proved a financial success, but a constant drain on the resources of its owners. The strain finally became too great, and the publishers to save themselves from further loss, accepted a liberal offer from the publishers of the Post-Intelligencer for the purchase of the plant, and this marks the passing of a heroic attempt to maintain a representative state Democratic newspaper, and the monopoly of the Seattle morning field by the Post-Intelligencer. An incident in real life unfortunate to the former and of decided advantage to the latter.

Interesting Lecture.

The lecture delivered in the opera house last Tuesday evening by Mrs. Laura E. Peters, on Woman's Suffrage, was attentively listened to by a large, intelligent audience, and proved an interesting and highly entertaining treatise on that subject. Mrs. Peters has received many compliments for her really able address.

After the lecture, petitions addressed to the incoming state legislature, praying for equal suffrage were circulated and numerously signed.

BRAND THE CLAIM AS FALSE.

World's Fair Officials Expose a Pretender to an Award.

CHICAGO, ILL.,——One of the odd results of the World's Fair is the claim now made to awards by some who were not even exhibitors. Officials of the Exposition have not as yet taken any final action in the matter, believing the quick wit of the people will detect the spurious claim. But in the case of the New York baking powder, that has been widely advertising an award, the attention of the Chief of Awards for Agriculture has been directed. He brands the claim of this pretender as false, declaring "Neither the records of thie department, nor the official catalogue of the World's Columbian Exposition, show that this New York Company was an exhibitor; consequently it could not receive an award at the World's Fair.

Those who fairly won their honors at the Fair seem disposed to treat this fraud as any other fraud should be treated. The Price Baking Powder Company, of Chicago, having received the highest award, say they are convinced of their claims, and those of all other holders of rightful honors, will be fully vindicated by the public.

The World's Tribute to Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder

Highest Honors Awarded by the World's Columbian Exposition, Chicago, 1893

World's Fair HIGHEST MEDAL awarded to Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder

The highest award was given on every claim, comprising superiority in leavening power, keeping properties, purity and excellence. This verdict has been given by the best jury ever assembled for such a purpose, backed by the recommendation of the Chief Chemist of the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., who made an elaborate examination and test of all the baking powders. This is pre-eminently the highest authority on such matters in America.

This verdict conclusively settles the question and proves that Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is superior in every way to any other brand.

NOTE.—The Chief Chemist rejected the Alum baking powders, stating to the World's Fair jury that he considered them unwholesome.

Evidence Insufficient.

Alex Goden, a young man who has wandered over the town, and entered several dwelling in a strange, absent-minded, aimless way, was brought before Judge McClinton last Saturday on the charge of insanity. After an examination the judge dismissed the case on account of the evidence being insufficient.

The judge, however, warned the friends of the indiscreet young man to keep a watchful eye on his mysterious movements, which are, strangely enough, confined to the hours of night, as some one would resist his entering their premises in a manner not conducive to health or to his physical well-being.

He stood grave chances of being shot in unlawfully prowling around the premises of others at such unreasonable hours. The young man is undoubtedly unbalanced, mentally, and his friends have decided to send him away for medical treatment.

Mrs. W. B. Meek, who resides at Camptonville, Cal., says her daughter was for several years troubled at times with severe cramps in the stomach, and would be in such agony that it was necessary to call a physician. Having read about Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy she concluded to try it. She found that it always gave prompt relief. It was seldom necessary to give the second dose. It has not only saved us worry and time," she says, "but also doctor bills. It is my opinion that every family should have a bottle of this remedy in the house." For sale by J. C. Hansen, druggist.

Land Decisions.

Register Hoke Smith has just sent to the local land offices throughout the state of Washington, important land decisions of which the following are the most important:

Second—A settler may purchase and use the improvements of a prior occupant of the land, but acquires no rights as a settler except by his own acts of settlement.

Third—Acts of settlement upon unsurveyed land must be of such a character, and so open and notorious that the public, generally, may have notice of the settler's claim.

Fourth—Acts of settlement cannot be done by an agent or employe, but must be performed by the individual himself.

Fifth—A pre-emption filing that it subsequent changed to a homestead entry exhausts the pre-emptive right.

Sixth—A desert land declaration may be executed before the judge of a county court.

Seventh—The act of August 18, 1894, validating soldier's additional homestead certificates in the hands of bona fide purchasers, cannot be invoked to defeat rights which accrued prior to its passage.

Minervans Elect Officers.

At the regular meeting of the Minerva Literary Society last Monday evening the quarterly election of officers for the ensuing term occurred with the following result:

President.....L. R. Cole
Vice-President..... Mrs. H. E. Lutz
Secretary.....Mrs. Edna Lewis
Treasurer.....Miss Ruth Cook
Marshal.....Dr. W. T. Strother

The members decided to have a banquet on New Year's eve, which will occur on the regular meeting night of the society—Monday, and be confined strictly to the members of the society.

Committees have been appointed on program and refreshment, each of which will be comprised of three members.

It will be remembered that the banquet given by this society on the eve of last New Year, was not only a decided social success, but one of the most delightful and enjoyable society gathering ever held in the city. The members look forward in eager anticipation of untold pleasures at the coming banquet.

The question of Equal Suffrage was debated by Messrs. R. A. Grimes, Ed. Hatch, Jonas Bushell and F. Mackintosh.

A Cheap Power.

And at the same time a reliable power are the points to be sought for in purchasing an engine. With steam power a constant watch on the engine is necessary to prevent accidents, and the expense for engineer is a serious item against economy. The gas or gasoline engine is by far the cheapest power, as it will run all day without attention or fear of accident, and the cost is about two cents per hour for fuel per horse-power. For intermittent power the economy of gas over steam is beyond comparison. While these points of superiority are without question, it is important in selecting an engine to get the best; the best in the long run is the cheapest. Do not fail to investigate the striking advantages of the Hercules Gas and Gasoline Engines. Send for catalogue. I you want second-hand engines of other makes at cheap rates we can supply you. We have a number taken in trade, and cannot take any more until they are realized on. PALMER & REY TYPE FOUNDRY, Front and Alder streets, Portland, Oregon.

Lady Somerset is as indefatigable worker as Miss Willard. During the last year she held 115 meetings, 27 conferences, traveled over 8000 miles and spoke in 20 counties to about 200,000 people.—Union Signal.

Archbishop Ireland, in a lecture in Philadelphia not long ago, argued in favor of united action on the part of Catholics to use their best endeavors in temperance movements. Then he believes there will be a decrease in the demand for hospitals, orphan asylums and alm houses. He says: "America demands temerance. The frequency with which Catholics are found in saloon business is deplored. Now days," continued he. "the man who is ashamed to beg and too lazy to work, run a saloon. It is an easy job for a man without much self respect."—Mukwonago (Wis.) Chief.

At Ann Arbor, Mich., the women have organized a crusade against the saloons. The W. C. T. U. and Reform Leagues are at the head of the movement. It is alleged that soon a number of prominent ladies will start gospel and devotional meetings in some of the principal grog shops. This will drive away the student trade and will eventually result in closing up the objectionable places. It is a fact that many students get their first start towards a drunkard's career right here in the Athens of the west. The saloon keepers laugh at the threatened crusade but say that if the ladies are in earnest the effect will not be beneficial to their business that they would rather face an army of men than a gang of praying women.—Detroit (Mich.) Tribune.

A notorious music hall in London has been compelled to close its doors by the action of the London county council which refused to grant a license for selling drinks in the auditorium. The united action of christian temperance workers brought about this result.—Union Signal.

All the crimes on earth do not destroy so many of the human race nor alleviate so much property as intemperance.—Lord Bacon.

A man in Michigan mortgaged his property to a saloonkeeper, drank up the proceeds and died in the county house of jim-jams.—Portwater [Mich.] News.

Low cunning and base lying are the every day results of alcholism.—Dr. Norman Kerr.

At the National W. C. T. U. convention in Cleveland, Ohio, last month as the women were wending their way to the music hall, Miss Willard remarked that "it was a part of the funeral procession of the liquor traffic that will never cease to move as long as a saloon exists."

PATENTS

FOR INVENTIONS.

Equal with the interest of those having claims against the government is that of INVENTORS, who often lose the benefit of valuable inventions because of the incompetency or inattention of the attorneys employed to obtain their patents. Too much care cannot be exercised in employing competent and reliable solicitors to procure patents, for the value of a patent depends greatly, if not entirely, upon the care and skill of the attorney.

With the view of protecting inventors from worthless or careless attorneys, and of seeing that inventions are well protected by valid patents, we have retained counsel expert in patent practice, and therefore are prepared to Obtain Patents in the United States and all Foreign Countries, Conduct Interferences, Make Special Examinations, Prosecute Rejected Cases, Register Trade-Marks and Copyrights, Render Opinions as to Scope and Validity of Patents, Prosecute and Defend Infringement Suits, Etc., Etc.

If you have an invention on hand send a sketch or photograph thereof, together with a brief description of the important features, and you will be at once advised as to the best course to pursue. Models are seldom necessary. If others are infringing on your rights, or if you are charged with infringement by others, submit the matter to us for a reliable OPINION before acting on the matter.
