VOL. 6. NO. 4. PORT ANGELES, CLALLAM COUNTY, WASHINGTON, MAY 24, 1895. PRICE FIVE CENTS

TO PLANT FRUIT TREES.

The Organization of a Fruit-Growers' Association.

UNDER SERIOUS CONSIDERATION.

A Conservative Estimate of the Vacant Government Land in Clallam County Gives 625 Claims of 160 Acres Each—These Vacant Lands Are Situated Mostly South and Southwest of Clallam Bay.

A move is on foot to organize a fruit-growers association in this place.

Its object, as set forth by Sec. 3, Art. 1, of its plan of organization, is to establish and maintain an industry which will give profitable employment to labor and remuneration to capital.

The company will incorporate as soon as ten parties have signed the articles of agreement. The membership will be limited to one hundred.

They expect to make a specialty of prunes and small fruits, and will commence preparing the land for fall planting as soon as a permanent organization can be effected.

They have had some very liberal offers of lands made to them, among which are the following. One party agrees to sell 80 acres or less at $10 per acre and furnish the nursery stock at 10 cents a tree and ask nothing therefor until the net profits of the orchard would be sufficient to pay for the same.

Another party offers to donate ten acres to the company and make a warranty deed to the same as soon as the land is properly cleared and planted to trees. These lands are near good roads but are farther from town then the company wish to locate their orchard.

There are hundreds of acres of fertile lands adjacent to the boundaries of this city that are not now and never have been of any intrinsic value to their owners. These lands contain untold slumbering wealth and only need the proper means of cultivation in right kinds of crops to be made to give up the same to their possessors. They have been held long enough to speculative values awaiting the boom "that may never return."

There are hundreds of men in Port Angeles whose wealth producing power is also slumbering. Now it seems that any means tending to combine these two elements of wealth—lands and labor—is worthy of commendation, and should receive all the encouragement it is possible to give. For further particulars see Dr. Stanley or A. M. Johnson.

PRUNE CULTURE.

The following taken from the Second Biennial Report of the State Board of Horticulture of the State of Washington, shows what has been done in other parts of the state in the cultivation of this fruit:

"Prune growing has been carried on within the State of Washington during a sufficient number of years to determine its succes as a staple fruit for profitable culture. The soil and atmospheric requirements for producing prunnes of the finest quality and size naturally exist in various parts of the state.

The dried fruit crop of 1894 was 1,400,000 pounds, of which 1,200,000 pounds were prunes. During the year 1883 there were imported into the United States 26,414,112 pounds of prunes, which, according to the report of the U. S. department of agriculture, was valued at $1,162,318. The prune crop of this state was sold, practically as soon as it was gathered and cured."

VACANT PUBLIC LAND.

An Estimate of the Unoccupied Government Land in Clallam County.

The Tribune-Times recently stated that the question of how much vacant government land there is in Clallam county had been considerably discussed and the conclusion seems to be that there is not much that amount to anything. It is true that there is not much near Port Angeles, but the west end of Clallam county has a great deal of government land open to settlers. It is covered with timber, and anybody looking for a soft snap in taking a claim and thinking he is getting land ready for plowing will be disappointed. The country is not built that way. It costs labor and time, if not cash, to get every acre ready for cultivation, and men anxious to settle upon the government land of Clallam county ought to understand this fact. There is a great deal of land now vacant, which, when cleared of its timber and brush, is good farming land, and will produce anything raised in the state.

The vacant government land of the county is mostly to be found to the south and southwest of Clallam bay. About all of it may be said to be covered with timber and although it is difficult to properly estimate the proportion of vacant land that is fit for cultivation it will be safe in saying that there are one hundred thousand acres vacant which may be classed as farming land covered with timber. This would yield about 625 claims of approximately 160 acres each, comprised in a territory about 30x60 miles in size.—Record.

"Hard Times" Social at Dungeness.

The hard times social given by the Epworth League on the 17th inst. at Dungeness was a success all through, the church being full of people, old and young, who went to have a good time. They were dressed in old and patched garments made from gunny sacks in a good many cases. Some of the women folk wore sack-cloth dresses, patched and fastened with wooden pins. Some had on sun-bonnets and aprons, and clothes that looked as though they might have done good service in the old days down on the farm. Some young ladies wore spectacles to add to their personal charms and to complete their odd attire, giving them the appearance of old maids and spinsters we read about, who have given up waiting for a beau and have resigned to cruel fate. The following program was rendered and keenly appreciated by all present:

Quartette.....
.Messrs. Seal, Temple, Hunt, ——
Solo.....Miss Fanny Robinson
Recitation.....
Duet.....Ethel and Mabel Hunt
Humorous Reading.....Mrs. Lipsett
Solo.....Miss Bessy Minor
Reading.....Mr. Hunt
Instrumental Duet.....
...Mark Minor and Clint Thompson
Select Reading.....Mrs. Robinson
Solo .....John Brown

A committee was then appointed to see that no one present was dressed in fine clothes, after which the banquet hall was prepared and all feasted on hard tack, cold beans and pickles, which were served on paper plates.

Th prizes were then awarded. Mr. Jno. Wilcox securing the gentleman's prize, a glass inkstand, and Miss Bessy Minor the lady's prize, a small vase.

Funeral of Major Powell.

The Rev. E. Davis, of St. Andrew's Episcopal church, returned from Neah Bay last Tuesday morning, whither he had gone in response to a summons to be present at the funeral of the late Major Powell, and conduct the funeral services.

The services were held Saturday morning at 10 o'clock and were very solemn and impressive.

The Indians had learned to love the Major and his estimable wife, and evidenced much feeling and gave expression to sincere sorrow and sympathy during the services. The remains were interred in the cemetery at the Bay. The bereaved wife and son accompanied Mr. Davis on the return steamer and continued their voyage to Seattle, where Mrs. Powell in future will reside with her son who is engaged in business there.

Mr. M. O. Gilpin returned from Seattle, yesterday.

HAWKS' CLAIM REJECTED

The City Attorney Submits An Opinion In

WHICH HE HOLDS THAT HAWKS

Has No Grounds Whatever For a Claim Against the City For Services as Consulting Engineer—A Boy Accidentally Shoots Himself—The Wound Will Prove Fatal—Distressing News From Oklahoma.

Mayor Mallette and Councilmen Harding, Stewart, Graybill and Shelton were present at the regular meeting of the city council last Wednesday evening.

The street commissioner was ordered to repair planks on Front and Lincoln streets.

Councilman Harding reported on the amendment to the dog ordinance, which the committee recommended to be amended as follows: Annual license for male dogs, $1; for female, $3. The report was accepted.

The matter of draining refuse water on Front and Oak streets was referred to the health committee.

The cemetery committee was authorized to employ men to clear out road entering cemetery and a portion of the cemetery for immediate use.

The following resolution, introduced by Councilman Graybill, was adopted:

WHEREAS, There was no statute in force nor clearly-defined provisions in charters of cities of the third class, defining the rights of municipal authorities with reference to the responsibility for necessary maintenance, repairs or renewals of sidewalks and providing for the placing of the costs therefor upon abutting owners, and

WHEREAS, The last legislature has made provisions in H. B. No. 508, relating to repairs and renewels of sidewalks, and the provisions of said law is to be enforced by proper ordinance. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That the ordinance committee be and is hereby authorized and instructed to draw, or have drawn, an ordinance for the enforcement of said law, and to report at the next regular meeting.

If reference to the Hawks matter City Attorney Willson stated to the council that he was of the opinion that the city did not owe Mr. Hawks anything. Mr. Hawks was to have received 2½ per cent. of the contract price allowed for constructing the electric lighting water power works as compensation for his services as consulting engineer; but as he had not rendered the city any services in such capacity he was not entitled to any compensation.

The report of the city attorney was accepted.

The clerk was instructed to notify Mr. Hawks, that his claim had been rejected by the city.

Mr. Crozier appealed to the city for assistance in bridging Fraser creek so as he could get lumber to his premises. The matter was referred to the street commissioner, with instruction to report at next regular meeting. Adjourned.

MORTALLY WOUNDED.

An 11-Year-Old Youth Accidentally Shoots Himself.

Mr. M. Albright, of this city, received a letter from his brother, Rev. F. M. Albright, who lives on the Dickey, last Saturday, in which the reverend gentleman conveys the sad intelligence of an accident which occurred near Albright postoffice on the 10th inst., in which Perly J. Jones, a boy 11 years of age, the victim, mortally shot himself with a Winchester rifle.

The rifle was accidentally discharged the bullet entering the boy's right breast, coming out under his left arm.

The wounded boy was taken to the home of Mr. Albright, where the wound was dressed, and he was made as comfortable as possible under the circumstances. The little sufferer was afterwards removed to the home of Dickey Smith living near by.

There is no possible hope of his recovery, as the wound is necessarily fatal, the vitals of life having been penetrated.

The writer requested his brother to convey the intelligence to the father of the dying boy, Mr. M. T. Jones, formerly of this city, who was supposed to have been up-Sound at the time of the accident. Fortunately, however, Mr. Jones was on his way to the Dickey when the letter was received, and undoubtedly reached the bedside of his son, ere it was too late.

The unfortunate is a manly little fellow, who distinguished himself several years ago as the hero of a signally courageous act. While his little sister was playing near the open fire-place, at their home on the Dickey, her clothes caught fire, and the little one was soon enveloped in flames. Her brother caught her by her arms and dragged her from the room to a spring near the house, and held her in the water until some one came to the rescue. The flames were extinguished, but not until the child had been so severely burned that she soon after died from the effects.

The family formerly lived in this city, and had a home on the reservation.

Ill-Starred Oklahomans.

A gentleman in the city recently received a letter from Mr. H. K. Bickford, of Kingfisher, Oklahoma, who is engaged there in the practice of the law, having formed a co-partnership with Mr. L. M. Lane, formerly of this city. Mr. Bickford, among other things, says that business is in a deplorable condition in Kingfisher. In the vicinity of that place many of the farmers will suffer a total failure of crops, and hundreds are on the verge of starvation, while all who possibly can are removing to other sections of the country. "Citizens of Port Angeles," he continues, "do not realize how favorably situated they are, when a comparison is drawn with other localities. They should rest content with their surroundings, as they easily could fare infinitely worse."

In his profession, Mr. Bickford says he has no reason to complain, but business is generally pretty thoroughly demoralized there.

NEWS OF THE COUNTY.

Gleanings From the Press of Western Clallam.

East Clallam Record.]

The sawmill started up last Monday.

There is talk of a logging camp to be started on the Pysht river.

The roof of John McMillans house caught fire from the stove-pipe early on Tuesday morning but was promptly extinguished by the efficient volenteer fire department of that end of town.

Township 31-12, which lies immediately south of town will be opened for entries soon. The survey has been accepted and notice will be given within a few days of the date of opening.

T. W. Lowe, of Bogachiel, was here Wednesday on his way to Seattle. He reported that there is a crew of settlers at work building a good trail from Bogachiel to the Hoh river, a distance of seven miles. About two and one-half miles of the trail is made. Another crew of settlers are at work building a trail from the Queets north, towards the Hoh, so that later on there will be an open road clear across Jefferson county, connecting with the Clallam county road to East Clallam.

Beaver Leader.]

Several cases of la grippe are reported from below.

Sam Irwin brought up a load of lumber from Forks for his barn, which he will build in Sappho.

No gold, silver, copper, lead or iron has ever been mined in this county, and but very little coal—none at all for market. There has been a little gold panned out of the sands of the Pacific beach, but not in paying quantities. What Clallam county must depend on for some time yet is her lumbering and farming industries and kindred enterprises.

New Shingle Mill.

Messrs. McIvor and Maxfield have leased the Norman R. Smith water power and shingle mill structure, and will leave for Seattle next Monday to purchase a shingle plant. They expect to have the machinery adjusted and in operation within thirty days.

The plant will be a single-block machine, with a daily capacity of 50,000. These gentlemen will undoubtedly succeed in the new venture, as they are practical and energetic, and are economical managers, very essential qualifications in any business.

Married.

At the residence of the bride in Ozette, May 16, Mr. August Palmquist and Miss Annie H. Boe, both of Ozette, were united in marriage, Rev. R. W. Fletcher, officiating.

A very pleasant company of friends and relatives from Black Diamond, Quillayute and Ozette, met at the home of the bride's brother to enjoy the festivities and to participate in the occasion.

After the ceremony had been pronounced, which united the happy twain in one, the company, amid numerous marks of refinement and good taste, sat down to a bountiful repast, and at the close, after music and other sociable delights, all united in testimony that this was the happiest occasion of the season. The bride and groom as well as bridesmaid and groomsman were at their best, in happiest mood.

A Pleasant Party.

Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Quinn entertained a few friends last Saturday evening at their home on Front street. The evening was pleasantly spent with cards. Light refreshments were served. The guests were, Capt. and Mrs. Neilson, of the Brigantine Wrestler, Capt. and Mrs. Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Eacrett.

SUPERB HYPOCRISY.

At the close of the recent session of the state legislature the Populist members held a love feast in Tacoma, a mutual admiration carnival, at which each exceeded the other in self-laudation over the brilliant record, individually and collectively, achieved, over bold and valliant battles waged against corporations, monopolies and combines. Eloquence flowed as freely as water coursing the mountain-side, and vigorous and bitter and cutting and severe were the criticisms and the condemnation of the treachery of Republicans and Democrats to the cause of the masses. The oft-repeated story of the glorious achievements, the grand accomplishments, the self-sacrificing services of this loyal band of patriots in the heroic effort to relieve the burdens of their downtrodden countrymen was told over and over again with increasing fervor, until the gathering storm of enthusiasm swelled with Populistic fury in one grand accord into a final huzza in honor of these intreped champions of an oppressed people.

The Republican members were roasted to the queen's taste for disloyalty to the people and enduring devotion to corporation interests; the Democratic members were severely chastised for unfaithfulness to the cause of the struggling masses; and to the Populist members alone were sounded high praises for steadfast, unyielding devotion to the people; Republicans and Democrats were corporation tools; from these grinding monopolies they were recipients of favors; one speaker knew for a positive fact that many of the sin-dyed representatives of these plutocratic parties had received, accepted and used passes from railway corporations; grave charges, 'tis true, and the most indubitable evidence of corruption from a Populist point of view—but he was in possession of the facts and knew whereof he spoke. These and similar accusations were hurled with true Populistic recklessness at the blood-stained thresholds of the Republican and Democratic households. But the half had never been told.

It now transpires that these self-adulated saints, holier-than-thou-art public martyrs, were cunningly and artfully practicing on the misguided and unsuspecting public a refinement of inconsistency rarely encountered in the deceptive sphere of politics. Would you believe the greater number of these self-posed patriots were themselves recipients of railway passes, and used them, too? It's a fact. Of course, this little side issue was not mentioned—innate modesty fordid—at the "Tacoma love feast;" but the Tacoma Ledger, unsolicited, in the boundless breadth and depth of its generosity, contributes the omitted achievement, that the completness of an important epoch might not be impaired nor its brilliency dimmed in the slightest. And this temerous journal gives the names, too, of the sly Populist members who received, accepted and used railway passes. A moment's diversion, please. What a sad commentary. Behold the faithless representatives of the helpless, trusting victims of one of the most soulless, exacting and oppressive corporations—the railroad—of modern civilization, the favored guests, the honored, privileged company of that heartless corporation, against whom these unfaithful law-givers had solemnly vowed eternal warfare until every shred of injustice, every barrier to a righteous cause had been cleared away; behold them, reclining in soft, upholstered chairs, the favored sons of princely and luxurious surroundings. Were not these rare luxuries, these special privileges irresistible temptations; need the poor, trusting, unsuspicious followers know of the betrayal by their trusted but crafty leaders; possibly in an unguarded moment. nevertheless, these leaders yielded to temptation, betrayed their trusting followers, and like the weak and sinful they sought refuge in subterfuge, in artifice, in deception; they must cover their sin-stained tracks; loud and lusty protestations against corporations in general and railways in particular suggest the remedy; it is vigorously applied; they then turn their footsteps homeward and appear before their wronged constituents as innocent as the lamb, as faithful as the dog, as pure as the waters of Elysium.

And the name of Clallam's faultless and incorruptible representative appears among the list. Mr. Seevers using a FREE pass! No, no; it cannot be possible! This gentleman has ever stood a bold, fearless, steadfast champion of the masses against the soulless exactions of railway corporations. And he betray his party and compromise himself in the shocking and alarming extent of being the recipient of a FREE railway pass. Never. Of a Republican or of a Democrat this might be true. But inasfar as it applies to Mr. Seevers it is absolutely and unequivocally false.

A thoroughly abandoned Republican says: Why, how can you blame the Populists, even Mr. Seevers for simply embracing so rare an opportunity for pecuniary financial advantage. The acceptance and use of the free pass simply enabled them, and particularly Mr. Seevers, to save $37 (the amount allowed as mileage by the state) through the exercise of shrewd business foresight. The Republicans did it, so did the Democrats; and pray, why not the Populists? Oh, no, that would neither be right nor consistent as Populists are reformers you know.

And this is not the worst phase of the question. The statutes of the state make it a grave offense to accept a free pass.

And if it were true of any Populist member of the late state legislature, what would you say of him?

Simply, the finger of public scorn points to him as a superb hypocrite: a traitor to the cause of reform; a false and untrue supporter of the principles he professes to espouse.

THE most gigantic railway movement that will ever have transpired will be the consolidation of the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific railways which will be under the management of James J. Hill. Everything points with a degree of certainty to the fact that the consummation of this transaction has been quite positively if not finally completed. One of the principal and what will prove adverse results of the consolidation of these systems will undoubtedly be a material advance in traffic rates. The primary ob- of the consolidation is, it is authoritatively stated, to reduce operating expenses to the minimum, the effect of which would be to materially increase profits, a condition devoutly wished, as non-dividend paying stocks is exceedingly distasteful to the average stockholder. To attain the end sought a more eminently qualified man than James J. Hill scarcely could have been selected. The brilliant promise of extended Oriental trade would give the management of such superior railway service command over matchless facilities to not only accommodate but control the enormous trade anticipated.

THE Supreme Court has finally by a vote of five to four declared the income tax law unconstitutional in its entirety, and thereby a just and an equitable law is rendered inoperative. If it is a fact, and it undoubtedly is, that the constitution of the United States is so peculiarly constructed that it will not permit a tax to be levied on accumulated wealth for the support of the general government, that document cannot be amended too quickly to adequately meet the just demands of an advancing civilization.

ONE of Seattle's banking institutions, the Merchants' National, has suspended payment. The cause assigned for its embarrassment is inability to realize on its securities. The management states positively that the bank has abundant resources to liquidate all of its liabilities.

"The Soldier's Orphans," a comedy drama in two parts, will be produced at the opera house on the evening of Decoration Day, by a local company, under the management of Geo. T. Ulmer. The play, which will undoubtedly prove interesting, was composed by Mr. Ulmer. At the close of the play an entertainment will be given under the management of Mrs. Wm. Bell, a sash drill, comprising tableaux, recitations, etc., which will doubtless prove a delightful feature of the evening's pastime.

A Sad Death.

The sad death of Mrs. Lois Johnson at Santa Clara, California, on the 15th inst. of consumption, is reported. Mrs. Johnson is the widow of John Johnson, of this city, who was one of the three men drowned near Morse's creek last July, under such distressing circumstances. Mrs. Johnson never recovered from the shock of her husband's tragic death. She leaves behind her two children, a boy and a girl, 5 and 3½ years of age, who are with their grandmother, Mrs. J. W. Johnson, in California. The weary heart is resting now, resting with her husband, in "the land that is fairer than day." Many friends here will drop a tear to her memory.

From Los Angeles.

To the Editor: It was in remembrance of a promise to tell you some impressions of this place, made before leaving your city, that I sit down to write.

This is a city of between 70,000 or 80,000 inhabitants. If you could be taken up in a balloon and carried down here and placed on the corner of Spring and First streets or any corner within eight blocks of that spot, you would be made aware that this is no ordinary place, and I fully believe that you would almost lose your breath.

Such activity is not to be found this side of Chicago. Stores, streets and cars are crowded from early morning until late at night. Competition in every line of business is something approaching the marvelous. Rents are enormous and are in good demand all the time. Food, clothing and in fact, all the necessaries of life are cheap. People are swarming in here, and the troops of idle men is one of the dangers which threaten the city. Building large business blocks is going on at a wonderful speed, and the residences that are being built every month is at the rate of six a day. Everything is over done here at present. Even among the churches there is an activity which surprises a newcomer. While I write there are three Evangelists holding services in different churches, and more to come. Two corps of the Salvation army hold forth here and there are a large number of missions of various kinds all busy here.

Sometimes it is a question in my mind which of the two extremes is the best "too much competition, or utter stagnation." Under the first there is the danger of adulteration or dishonest transaction to cover up the wear and tear of the tremendous pressure, while in the second the necessary expenses must be met, or the concern goes to the wall. We have had altogether too much "stagnation" in our industries for some years, but if this is to produce inflamation of trade in spots I fear that the outcome will be something worse than stagnation. An engine will not do much damage standing still, but if that same engine gets running wild the damage to itself will be certain and very likely may be dangerous to other institutions that are near it. There is not any stagnation here, but I fear that the machine is very dangerously near running wild.

I have been told on good authority that very few of the merchants in this city are making their expenses. Is that prosperity? Many have failed in business in the last year, and many are running behind every day. I am told that some banks will not take deposits. High rates of interest are asked and given freely, but that does not indicate a healthy state of confidence, but the reverse.

The effect of the boom of recent years still in the air. But there are some things here that will always attract people. A climate that is undeniably superb. Paradise is to be found here. We have rain occasionally, but that is needed by the farmers and this year we have had more than ordinary and as a consequence the crops are better than they have been for years. The citrus crop is immense. We have have had strawberries for over a month and the season is not near its culmination. It is worth a great deal of trouble just to visit the ranches within eight or nine miles round this city. The oil industry is steadily on the increase. Some portions of the city are being spoiled for residences by the proximity of the hideous dericks and the stenches from the burning of refuse oil, but this is a evil which nothing can remedy so long as there is money in it.

A city like this with two trans-continental railsroad in it and nine other roads connected with it, is sure to have lots of bustle and noise. Now I must not make this letter too long or you will have to use your scissors on it, so I had rather cut it short than incur that.

Please send me the Democrat-Leader. Ever believe me

Yours truly,
J. M. Baxter.

"We take pleasure in recommending Chamberlain's Cough Remedy because it is praised by all who try it," says J. W. Cox & Son, druggists, Marshfield, Oregon. No one afflicted with a throat or lung trouble can use this remedy without praising it. It always gives prompt relief. It is especially valuable for colds as it relieves the lungs, makes breathing easier and aids expectoration. A cold will never result in pneumonia when this remedy is taken and reasonable care exercised. For sale by J. C. Hansen, Druggist.

PATENTS

FOR INVENTIONS.

Equal with the interest of those having claims against the government is that of INVENTORS, who often lose the benefit of valuable inventions because of the incompetency or inattention of the attorneys employed to obtain their patents. Too much care cannot be exercised in employing competent and reliable solicitors to procure patents, for the value of a patent depends greatly, if not entirely, upon the care and skill of the attorney.

With the view of protecting inventors from worthless or careless attorneys, and of seeing that inventions are well protected by valid patents, we have retained counsel expert in patent practice, and therefore are prepared to Obtain Patents in the United States and all Foreign Countries, Conduct Interferences, Make Special Examinations, Prosecute Rejected Cases, Register Trade-Marks and Copyrights, Render Opinions as to Scope and Validity of Patents, Prosecute and Defend Infringement Suits, Etc., Etc.

If you have an invention on hand send a sketch or photograph thereof, together with a brief description of the important features, and you will be at once advised as to the best course to pursue. Models are seldom necessary. If others are infringing on your rights, or if you are charged with infringement by others, submit the matter to us for a reliable OPINION before acting on the matter.
