Off Eddie's Hook

by Fownden Flore

By exercising good judgment when voting this Tuesday, School District 21 can get its levy and afford it too. If there is one thing we cannot afford, it is to neglect the development of our young people in the formative years.

Education costs more and requires more but it is worth more. In the permissive society of today more and more responsibility is being thrown on the schools. Parents don't stay home in the evenings making popcorn and pouring cider.

So, who knows where the children are? More and more it will have to be our educational institutions. More and more children, too, will require an increasing variety of subjects and development of new skills for jobs and positions we haven't yet heard of.

Examine the ballot carefully. Figure out what you can postpone in order to finance the educational system. Take a critical look at the contentions of supporters of this and that proposed initiative, referendum or amendment.

If you haven't got a book, go down to your party headquarters and get what you need. Get ready now to scrap all measures that call for unnecessary expense and take the saving to bring your children's educational facilities up to par.

And when you "save" a child, you may be saving our country in the days to come. There never was a time when our future and that of the world depended so much on efficiency in business, industry and government. And, the way we work it now, the skill of the individual is sharpened in the schools.

Parents are too busy or at best uninformed, and the apprenticeship system has gone down the drain. Schools however are increasing the variety of training techniques that are needed to produce the nation of tomorrow.

Don't let barber shop philosophers sacrifice your children to the unemployment rolls. No child need go uncared for now. If he is a whiz kid, there is room for him in roles of leadership—if he is mechanically inclined there is a training course for him and if he is slow to learn, there is a way to speed him up.

And on top of all this, the student of today can learn that most important of all skills—how to occupy his leisure time. He can learn to while away the idle hours at such diversions as a community players' group, a hometown symphony, a chorus, or instead of running around breaking windows, he can develop a taste for such things as tennis and golf.

For, after all, a civilization is judged by how it spends it leisure

Honestly, now—isn't each of us still strong enough to raise it off a chair and our legs nimble enough to carry us out to the car and our hands steady enough to make a cross in a considered square. After all, somebody fought for your right to vote right!

CAMPFIRE GIRLS HOPE "POP'S" HEART WILL WARM THEIR BUILDING

Mrs. "Tiny" Arndt is still looking for men to join the Pop's Heart Society of fathers, uncles and grandfathers, brothers and the boy next door to lend a hand to the restoration of the Campfire clubhouse to current maintenance.

One doesn't need to have a girl in Campfire, according to Mrs. Arndt. All that is required is a warm heart for the welfare of growing girls who will one day be the mothers, teachers, office workers and home makers.

"Anybody can do something," she said, this week commenting on the recent father-daughter dinners in the Elks club. "Ordinary maintenance is in a state of neglect, but nothing is wrong that can't be fixed. Anyway, there are a lot of big, little, tall and short girls who will be thrilled at anything even the lowliest wood butcher can do."

Turner Gives Views On Second District Status and Future

Wallace Turner

The Clallam County Republican Club heard Wallace Turner, candidate for Congress in the Second District, speak for his candidacy Friday, October 25 at the Women's Literary Clubhouse.

Turner discussed the issues in the camapign and contrasted his stand on issues compared to Congressman Meeds.

He criticized Meed's posture on the vocational training bill and his absence when important bills were considered in congress.

On the issue of inflation, Turner claimed it had adversely affected those on low or fixed incomes. He stated less spending and better means to control the inflationary spiral were needed to correct this problem.

Jerry Hendricks, project engineer for the Port of Port Angeles, spoke on the coming school levy. He said that Port Angeles Schools, to be competitive with the rest of the state, needed this money to have a better, more efficient school system. "It is wrong to vote down the levy as the school children are the ones who suffer."

Dr. Quast spoke regarding the dinner on October 28 at the Olympic Hotel, Seattle, honoring Governor Evans and Art Fletcher, candidate for Lt. Governor. Sen. Edward Brooks, Massachusetts, is the featured speaker. Quast reminded club members of the welcome on November 4 for the crew of the Coast Guard Winona returning from duty in Vietnam.

Kirner Stresses Wide Experience as Reasons To Vote For Him

During a qualification speech to the Chamber of Commerce Monday, John Kirner of Sequim cited his experiences as a logger and road builder as among the more important reasons why he should be elected county commissioner in the First District on the Democrat ticket.

Beyond this he stressed his life long residence in the county. He referred to himself as a self-employed logger and a University of Washington graduate with a Bachelor of Business Administration degree.

During World War Two, Kirner took time out to serve as a seaman in the Army Transport service in Alaskan waters.

In his avocations he has stuck pretty close to civic affairs and serves on the Sequim school board. In this direction he has been an avid worker with the Boy Scouts and in the sponsoring of children's activities in general and in the improvement of facilities for school sports.

Kirner will continue in office his efforts as a private citizen to keep water clean, protect waterfronts and keep margins of rivers for the people. He will pay particular attention to the matter of keeping rubbish and waste disposal facilities in step with the population expansion in the county's East end.

Kirner particularly stresses the point that with his experience to back him, county employees will have the advantage of understanding supervision.

GOVERNOR EVANS attempted in the last two sessions of the legislature to get legislative approval of regressive unfair tax proposals.

One of his proposals is a sock-the-poor 3½ percent flat so called income tax. Another Evans demand was for the legislature to bypass the county assessors and raise property taxes on homes, farms, etc. by 50 percent in one sudden jump.

Representative Charles Savage helped to stop this oppressive tax increase in the 1965 legislature. Savage is also fighting the Evans proposal to abolish an injured workers' right to a jury trial on industrial insurance appeals.

So now Governor Evans shows that he wants a RUBBER-STAMP legislature which would pass his regressive taxes and any anti-labor laws he might wish to suggest.

Mr. Evans is now spending at least part of his time, for which he is paid $32,500.00 to work as governor, in writing letters to the voters of the 24th District, telling them who to elect as state representative.

NOW IS THE TIME to show Mr. Evans that you don't wish to RUBBER-STAMP his oppressive tax proposals, his anti-labor suggestions nor his percentage reduction of school support.

IT IS TIME to show Mr. Evans that the people of the district resent his interference in selection of a state representative.

IT IS TIME to show Mr. Evans that the people of the District want an experienced state representative who is free to represent the best interests of the people of the 24th District instead of being a RUBBER-STAMP for him.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION 17

Proposed Constitutional Amendment

*Ballot Title as issued by the Attorney General.

PROVIDING FOR STATE BUILDING AUTHORITY

Shall Article VIII of the State Constitution be amended by adding a new section authorizing creation by the legislature of a state building authority to construct buildings and improvements for lease to state agencies or departments for up to seventy-five years, and to finance such construction through issuance of bonds or other evidences of indebtedness to be paid from the authority's revenues which would not be subject to the constitutional debt limitation?

Vote cast by members of the 1967 Legislature on final passage:
SENATE: (49 members) Yeas, 46; Nays, 2; Absent or not voting, 1.
HOUSE: (99 members) Yeas, 92; Nays, 3; Absent or not voting, 4.

Explanatory comment issued by the Attorney General as required by law

The Law as it now exists:

The construction of buildings and other improvements for the various state agencies is from time to time financed through the issuance by the state of general obligation, limited obligation, or revenue bonds. Under the present constitution no law authorizing the state to contract debt in excess of the state constitutional debt limit through the issuance of general obligation bonds can take effect until it shall have been submitted to and approved by the people at a general election. The state supreme court has held this requirement of voter approval to be applicable to bonds which are issued to finance the construction of buildings for lease to state agencies when the rental payments are to be financed from state general fund appropriations.

Effect of Senate Joint Resolution No. 17 if approved into Law:

The proposed amendment would authorize the legislature to create a state agency called the state building authority. If authorized by the legislature, this agency could contract with other state agencies to construct buildings and improvements for their use on a lease basis at a reasonable rental rate for a term not to exceed 75 years. In addition, if authorized by the legislature, the building authority could finance such construction by borrowing funds solely on its own credit through the issuance of bonds or other evidences of indebtedness to be secured by pledges of the authority's income or by mortgages of its leaseholds. In the event the authority utilizes this method of incurring indebtness, the bonds or other evidences of indebtedness would not be subject to the constitutional debt limitation and could, therefore, be issued without a vote of the people.

Approval of this proposed amendment will validate the provisions of chapter 162, Laws of 1967, which creates a state building authority.

Turner Takes Line Incumbents' Actions Louder than Words

It well could be that the residents of the Pacific Northwest will, in the final weeks of the general election campaign, come away with an idea where the two candidates for Congress in the Second District stand on the major issues of the day, according to a release this week from Republican candidate Wally Turner's headquarters.

Congressman Lloyd Meeds this week came out in press announcements to express the hope the campaign could be based on issues he said, and at the same time, let it be known that in all of his talks throughout the campaign he has given his audiences every chance to quiz him on where he stands on Vietnam, law and order, civil rights, gun control, inflation, log exports and even such state issues as taxation and welfare.

Turner explains that at his every appearance he has briefly recounted such vital statistics concrening himself as his age, his education, his experience and his family. He also has outlined the major issues as he has discovered them to be in their impact on residents of the district. Then he has thrown the meetings open to questions from the audience and in his answers he has unequivocably set forth his stand.

Turner contends in recent speeches that Meeds is not committing himself on issues, but inasmuch as he has voted the administration line on almost every bill that has come before the House during the four years he has been in Washington, D. C., it may be safe to assume his views on the issues closely correspond to those of the administration, Turner states.

"That means that, after four years of vacillation in Vietnam the answer still is far from clear. Law and order are breaking down and civil rights still have a long road to travel and the cost of living sky high.

The colonel is a 1946 graduate of Leavenworth, Washington High School. His wife, Gisela, lives on Route 1, Port Townsend.

SJR 3 WILL HIT A LOW BLOW TO PROPERTY OWNERS?

Calling the measure "the greatest threat yet to all proeprty owners in the State of Washington," J. W. Wheeler, chairman of the statewide 40-Mill Tax Limit Committee, cited the proposed Constitutional Amendment, SJR-23 as an "opening of the dikes" to constantly increasing excess levies on property.

As explained by Mr. Wheeler at a recent meeting of property owners, the SJR-23 measure would offer over 1,500 taxing districts in the state the opportunity for four excess (above the 40-mill constitutional limit) levies every two years.

"If that," said Mr. Wheeler, "is 'protecting' your 40-mill limit law, I'd hate to see how they'd go about busting it wide open."

What are these "taxing districts?" A partial listing includes:

Thirty-nine counties, 267 cities and towns, 333 School districts, 30 public utility distrcts, 353 fire districts, 151 water districts, 77 port districts, each, if SJR-23 passes, given four "free kicks" at the 40-mill tax limit every two years.

The Law as it now exists:

Under the present constitution any vacancy in the legislature or any partisan county elective office is to be filled by appointment by the board of county commissioners of the county in which the vacancy occurs. Although the constitution does not prescribe any qualifications for appointment of a person to fill a vacancy in a partisan elective county office, it expressly provides that to be eligible for appointment to fill a vacancy in the legislature a person must be (1) from the same legislative district; (2) from the same political party as the legislator whose office has been vacated; and (3) one of the three persons nominated by the county central committee of that party.

In the case of a vacancy in a joint legislative district (encompassing two or more counties) the appointment is to be made by the joint action of the several boards of county commissioners from a list of three nominees (having the same qualifications stated above) submitted by the appropriate state central committee. The constitution presently provides that in the event the boards of county commissioners cannot, within 60 days, agree upon the appointment to fill a vacancy in a joint legislative district, the governor, within 30 days, shall fill the vacancy from the list of nominees However, no similar authority to resolve such an impasse is vested in the governor in the case of legislative vacancies in districts lying wholly in a single county, or in the case of partisan elective county offices, and our supreme court has held the legislature may not under the existing constitution vest such authority in the governor.

Effect of Senate Joint Resolution No. 24 if approved into Law:

The proposed amendment would first make the qualifications necessary for appointment to fill a vacancy in the legislature applicable, as well, to vacancies in partisan county elective offices. Thus, under the amendment, in order to be eligible to fill a vacancy in such a county office a person would have to be (1) a resident of the same county or county commissioner district as the officer whose office has been vacated; (2) a member of the same political party as the officer he succeeds; and (3) one of three persons nominated to fill the vacancy by the county central committee of that political party.

In addition, the amendment would provide that if the county commissioners cannot agree upon the appointment of a person to fill a partisan county elective office or a legislative office within 60 days, the governor shall, within 30 days, thereafter, fill the vacancy by appointing a person from the list of nominees.

Many Organizations Favor Passage of Referendum 17

Referendum 17 on the November 5 ballot will help to meet the most pressing need in the statewide fight against water pollution according to Mrs. Mortimer H. Thomas, President of the League of Women Voters of Washington.

Mrs. Thomas is Co-chairman with Wheeler Grey of the Washington Committee for Clean Waters organized to support the referendum. "At the present time many local communities are unable to solve their pollution problems because construction costs are too much for their financial resources," Mrs. Thomas said.

Referendum 17 is a $25,000,000 bond issue to provide state matching money to augment federal grants in assisting local communities to clean-up their surrounding waters.

There will be no additional property taxes, Mrs. Thomas said. The bonds will be retired from Washington State sales taxes already being paid.

Mrs. Thomas said there is no organized opposition to Referendum 17 and it is endorsed by the major organizations representing farmers, labor and business.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION 5

Proposed Constitutional Amendment

*Ballot Title as issued by the Attorney General.

INVESTMENT OF PUBLIC PENSION FUNDS

Shall the Constitution of the state of Washington be amended by adding a new article and section permitting the moneys of any public pension or retirement fund to be invested in such manner as may be authorized by law?

Vote cast by members of the 1967 Legislature on final passage:
SENATE: (49 members) Yeas, 40; Nays, 8; Absent or not voting, 1.
HOUSE: (99 members) Yeas, 86; Nays, 1; Absent or not voting, 12.

Explanatory comment issued by the Attorney General as required by law

The Law as it now exists:

Under the present constitutional provisions relating to the investment or other use of public funds, there is some uncertainty as to the type of investments which the legislature may authorize the various public employees retirement boards to make when investing pension and retirement funds.

Effect of Senate Joint Resolution No. 5 if approved into Law:

The proposed constitutional amendment would remove this uncertainty by expressly permitting the investment of public pension and retirement funds in such manner as is authorized by appropriate legislative enactment.

WATER POLLUTION CONTROL FACILITIES BONDS

AN ACT providing for the issuance and sale of state general obligation bonds in an amount not exceeding $25,000,000 to finance grants by the pollution control commission to public bodies, in conjunction with federal grants authorized pursuant to the federal water pollution control act, for the purpose of aiding in the construction and improvement of water pollution control facilities; providing for payment of the bonds from unpledged retail sales tax revenue or other means authorized by the legislature; and appropriating $9,000,000 to the pollution control commission for the above described purposes during the present biennium.

Vote cast by members of the 1967 Legislature on final passage:
SENATE: (49 members) Yeas, 39; Nays, 0; Absent or not voting, 10.
HOUSE: (99 members) Yeas, 93; Nays, 3; Absent or not voting, 3.

Explanatory comment issued by the Attorney General as required by law

The Law as it now exists:

Under present law governmental facilities for controlling water pollution are financed by local public bodies and state agencies with whatever funds are available for that purpose.

At its 1967 session, the legislature enacted legislation providing for the issuance of state general obligation bonds, the proceeds of which would be used to finance construction of water pollution control facilities. Under the state constitution, a law authorizing the state to contract a debt through the issuance of such bonds cannot take effect until it shall, at a general election, have been submitted and approved by the people.

Effect of Referendum Bill No. 17 if approved into Law:

If approved, the law will authorize the sale of state general obligation bonds in an amount up to $25,000,000. The proceeds from the sale of the bonds shall be administered by the Water Pollution Control Commission, an agency of the state. The commission is authorized to make and administer grants of such funds to municipal or public corporations, to counties and to state agencies, in conjunction with federal grants authorized pursuant to the federal water pollution control act. The act also appropriates $9,000,000 from the bond proceeds to the commission for the above-described purposes during the current biennium.

The act provides for the payment of the bonds from a portion of the proceeds of the retail sales tax and such other sources as may be authorized by the legislature, and in addition provides that the bonds shall pledge the full faith and credit of the state for payment of the principal and interest thereon when due.

BONDS FOR OUTDOOR RECREATION

AN ACT authorizing the issuance and sale of state general obligation bonds in an amount not exceeding $40,000,000 to finance the acquisition and development of outdoor recreation areas and facilities. The act directs the Interagency Committee for Outdoor Recreation to allocate half of the money so raised to state agencies for such acquisition and development as the legislature may direct and the other half to local public bodies for acquisition and development of outdoor recreation areas and facilities within their jurisdictions. Payment of the bonds will come from unpledged retail sales tax revenues or other means authorized by the legislature.

Vote cast by members of the 1967 Legislature on final passage:
HOUSE: (99 members) Yeas, 92; Nays, 2; Absent or not voting, 5.
SENATE: (49 members) Yeas, 47; Nays, 1; Absent or not voting, 1.

Explanatory comment issued by the Attorney General as required by law

The Law as it now exists:

Under existing law the acquisition and development of outdoor recreation areas and facilities is financed by various state agencies and local public bodies with whatever funds are made available for that purpose. State and local outdoor recreation budgets are presently supplemented by state funds derived from two measures approved by the voters in 1964: Initiative 215, which provides about one-half million dollars a year from unrefunded motor vehicle fuel taxes paid by purchasers of fuel used in boats, and Referendum 11, which authorized the sale of $10 million in bonds between 1964 and January 1, 1970. The Interagency Committee for Outdoor Recreation, an agency composed of state officials and members of the public appointed by the Governor, administers these supplemental funds, allocating one-half to state agencies and one-half to counties, cities, and other local public bodies on the basis of an approved statewide outdoor recreation and open space plan.

Under the state constitution, a law authorizing the state to contract debt through the issuance of general obligation bonds cannot take effect until it shall, at a general election, have been submitted to and approved by the people.

Effect of Referendum Bill No. 18 if approved into Law:

If approved, the act will authorize the sale of general obligation bonds in an amount up to $40 million for the acquisition and development of outdoor recreation areas and facilities in this state. The money will be allocated half to state agencies and half to local public bodies, and will be administered by the Interagency Committee for Outdoor Recreation.

The act provides for payment of the bonds from a portion of the proceeds of the retail sales tax and such other sources as may be authorized by the legislature, and in addition provides that the bonds shall pledge the full faith and credit of the state for payment of the principal and interest thereon when due.

STATE BUILDING PROJECTS: BOND ISSUE

AN ACT authorizing the issuance and sale of state general obligation bonds in an amount not exceeding $63,059,000; appropriating the proceeds to finance various building projects for the Department of General Administration, the Department of Institutions, and certain state institutions of higher education; and providing for payment of the bonds from unpledged retail sales tax revenues or such other means authorized by the legislature.

Vote cast by members of the 1967 Legislature on final passage:
SENATE: (49 members) Yeas, 41; Nays, 1; Absent or not voting, 7.
HOUSE: (99 members) Yeas, 76; Nays, 12; Absent or not voting, 11.

Explanatory comment issued by the Attorney General as required by law

The Law as it now exists:

The construction and improvement of buildings and other facilities for use by various state agencies is from time to time financed with the issuance by the state of general obligation bonds. The 1967 legislature passed an act authorizing the issuance of such bonds to finance various building projects for the Department of General Administration, the Department of Institutions, and certain state institutions of higher education. However, under the present state constitution, no law authorizing the state to contract debt through the issuance of general obligation bonds can take effect until it shall at a general election have been submitted to and approved by the people.

Effect of Referendum Bill No. 19 if approved into Law:

If approved, the act will authorize the sale of state general obligation bonds in an amount up to $63,059,000. Proceeds from the sale of these bonds will be used to finance buildings and facilities for the Department of General Administration, the Department of Institutions, the University of Washington, Washington State University, Western Washington State College, Central Washington State College, and the new Evergreen State College. A detailed list of these projects and the specific amounts appropriated for each project appears in the text of the act itself, as set forth on pages 43 and 44 of this pamphlet. The act provides for payment of the bonds from a portion of the proceeds of the retail sales tax and such other sources as may be authorized by the legislature, and in addition provides that the bonds shall pledge the full faith and credit of the state for payment of the principal and interest thereon when due.

Chamber of Commerce Favor New Entrance For Trucks from West

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce have recommended an alternate truck route for eastbound traffic over Lauridsen Boulevard and down Race when the Peabody Creek bridge is completed.

The decision was made following the hearing of opinions from Mayor Joseph Wolfe, Police Chief Harry Kochanek, truckers' representatives and a summary by chairman of the timber committee Syd Tozier.

The discussion took into account the necessity for improved egress from the bridge and improvement of West Boulevard to handle heavier traffic. It was noted the new route will solve problems incident to the present First street passing of the Washington School.

Although the proposed new route will pass Jefferson school it is a block away and on a level street that will require no "beefing up" like that which occurs climbing up First street past Washington school.

By establishing a 20-mile truck speed with faster turn arounds and absence of controversial features of the First street route, the noise level will be greatly reduced because of down grade coupled with the fact that the Jacobs brake will not be needed.

Return to the West would be made by way of Front street and out Tumwater regardless of the pending hearing of the First street LID proposal slated for November 26.

Trucker Association representatives at the Friday hearing stated they would prefer the Race Street-Boulevard route regardless of the outcome of the November hearing.

49½ hours in the life of Congressman Lloyd Meeds.

Sunday night at midnight Lloyd Meeds grabs a cup of coffee before boarding a 727 for Washington, D.C.

He reads. Sleeps a little.

Nine thirty Monday morning he arrives in the capitol. He answers his mail, and spends the rest of the day on the phone to other Congressmen building more support for his upcoming Dairy Bill.

Five thirty that same afternoon the House passes his bill.

Back to the airport and at eight forty-five Mr. Meeds boards another plane to return home. He arrives at Sea-Tac at one-thirty A.M.

Home.

Eight-thirty Tuesday morning Congressman Lloyd Meeds is back at work in the district.

That's a lot of plane riding.

That's a lot of work done, too.

And that's a lot of representation.

In fact, Congressman Lloyd Meeds has returned home from Washington, D.C., twenty-nine times during the past twenty months.

We can't say that he is in two places at the same time. It just seems that way.

Lloyd Meeds helps people. It's that simple.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION 23

Proposed Constitutional Amendment

*Ballot Title as issued by the Attorney General.

TAXING DISTRICTS: EXCESS LEVY ELECTIONS

Shall the State Constitution be amended to permit taxing districts, if authorized by the legislature, to submit propositions for property tax levies exceeding the forty-mill limit to their voters up to 24 months before the levy date, thereby permitting two consecutive annual excess levies to be approved at one election; and authorizing submission of a second proposition in any twelve-month period only if it is substituted for the excess levy previously approved for that year?

Vote cast by members of the 1967 Legislature on final passage:
SENATE: (49 members) Yeas, 48; Nays, 0; Absent or not voting, 1.
HOUSE: (99 members) Yeas, 93; Nays, 0; Absent or not voting, 6.

Explanatory comment issued by the Attorney General as required by law

The Law as it now exists:

Amendment 17 of the state constitution (commonly referred to as the 40 mill limit provision) limits the aggregate of property tax levies by taxing districts to 40 mills on the dollar of assessed valuation, unless the voters of a taxing district, under certain specified conditions, have authorized levies in excess of the 40 mill limit. Except in the case of excess levies to pay principal and interest on general obligation bond issues, no proposition to levy a tax in excess of 40 mills may be submitted to the voters of the district more than 12 months before the proposed levy is to be made. Thus, the voters of a taxing district can only authorize a single one year excess levy for other than bond redemption purposes at any given election.

Effect of Senate Joint Resolution No. 23 if approved into Law:

The proposed amendment would permit taxing districts, if authorized by appropriate act of the legislature, to submit propositions for tax levies exceeding the 40 mill limit to their voters up to 24 months before the levy date, thereby permitting the submission of two consecutive annual excess levies for approval at one election.

No taxing district would be permitted to submit to the voters a proposition to authorize additional levies under the amendment for any year for which the voters have previously authorized an excess levy. However, under certain specified conditions, a taxing district could submit to the voters at any time a new proposition to be substituted for the excess levy authorization which had been previously approved for that year.

Men may pardon, but this divine Principle alone reforms the sinner. God is not separate from the wisdom He bestows. The talents He gives we must improve. Calling on Him to forgive our work badly done or left undone, implies the vain supposition that we have nothing to do but to ask pardon, and that afterwards we shall be free to repeat the offense."

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION 13

Proposed Constitutional Amendment

*Ballot Title as issued by the Attorney General.

AUTHORIZING COMPENSATION INCREASE DURING TERM

Shall the State Constitution be amended by adding a new article permitting the compensation of all elected and appointed state, county and municipal officers who do not fix their own compensation (including judges of courts of record and justice courts), to be increased during their terms of office to the end that such officials shall receive compensation for their services as provided by the law in effect at the time the services are being rendered?

Vote cast by members of the 1967 Legislature on final passage:
HOUSE: (99 members) Yeas, 89; Nays, 8; Absent or not voting, 2.
SENATE: (49 members) Yeas, 40; Nays, 6; Absent or not voting, 3.

Explanatory comment issued by the Attorney General as required by law

The Law as it now exists:

Under the constitution the compensation of elective and appointive state, county and municipal officers, including judges of courts of record and justice courts, is fixed by the state legislature or some officer or public body to whom the legislature has delegated such authority.

In the case of such officers who serve for a fixed term (which, depending upon the law governing the particular office, will be from four to as many as nine years in length) there are several provisions in the present constitution which prohibit increases in their compensation during their respective terms of office. These constitutional provisions apply to officers serving for staggered terms on multi-member boards, commissions and tribunals as well as to other officers serving fixed terms.

Effect of House Joint Resolution No. 13 if approved into Law:

The proposed constitutional amendment would add a new Article to the constitution which would provide that the compensation of those officers named above, who do not fix their own compensation, may be increased during their term of office to the end that such officers shall receive compensation for their services in accordance with the law in effect at the time the services are being rendered.

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION 1

Proposed Constitutional Amendment

*Ballot Title as issued by the Attorney General:

TAXATION BASED ON ACTUAL USE

Shall Article VII of the State Constitution be amended by adding a section authorizing the legislature to provide that farms, agricultural lands, standing timber and timberlands, and other open space lands used for recreation or enjoyment of their scenic or natural beauty, shall be valued for purposes of taxation on the basis of the use to which such property currently is being applied, rather than on the highest and best use?

Vote cast by members of the 1967 Legislature on final passage:
HOUSE: (99 members) Yeas, 84; Nays 9; Absent or not voting, 6.
SENATE: (49 members) Yeas, 44; Nays, 0; Absent or not voting, 5.

Explanatory comment issued by the Attorney General as required by law

The Law as it now exists:

Under the present state constitution and pertinent legislative enactments, all real property is valued for purposes of taxation on the basis of its true and fair value in money, which is determined by the "highest and best use" to which the property could be applied, without regard to its present actual use. The term "highest and best use" is defined by a Department of Revenue regulation to mean the most profitable, likely use to which a property can be put.

Effect of House Joint Resolution No. 1 if approved into Law:

The proposed constitutional amendment would authorize the legislature to provide by law, subject to such conditions as it may enact, that certain real property shall be valued for taxation purposes in terms of its present actual use rather than its highest and best use. Types of property which would be eligible for such treatment are (a) farms, agricultural lands, standing timber and timber lands, and (b) other open space lands which are used for recreation or for enjoyment of their scenic or natural beauty.

A 1963 graduate of Port Angeles High School, the lieutenant received his B. A. degree in 1967 from Washington State University where he was commissioned through the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program. He is a member of Phi Sigma Kappa.

Proposed Constitutional Amendment

*Ballot Title as issued by the Attorney General.

AUTHORIZING STATE COURT OF APPEALS

Shall the State Constitution be amended to provide for establishment by the legislature of a state court of appeals with such jurisdiction as may be granted by statute or rules as authorized thereby; providing that the number, manner of election, compensation, term of office, removal and retirement of judges of such court shall be prescribed by statute; and providing that the administration and procedures of the court shall be prescribed by supreme court rules?

Vote cast by members of the 1967 Legislature on final passage:
SENATE: (49 members) Yeas, 47; Nays, 2; Absent or not voting, 0.
HOUSE: (99 members) Yeas, 88; Nays, 4; Absent or not voting, 7.

Explanatory comment issued by the Attorney General as required by law

The Law as it now exists:

Under the present state constitution, the state court system is comprised of a supreme court, together with superior courts in each county, justices of the peace, and such inferior courts as the legislature may provide. The superior courts are primarily trial courts of original jurisdiction, although they also have appellate jurisdiction to the extent provided by appropriate legislative enactment with respect to causes arising in justice courts and other inferior courts in their respective counties. The supreme court has original jurisdiction in certain cases involving state offices and mandatory appellate jurisdiction in all actions or proceedings except in certain cases where the amount in controversy does not exceed $200. In all of its appellate cases the supreme court is required to enter a written decision.

Effect of Senate Joint Resolution No. 6 if approved into Law:

The proposed amendment provides for establishment by the legislature of a new court of appeals. The new court's jurisdiction and extent of review power over superior courts is to be provided for by statute or by supreme court rule authorized thereby. The number, manner of election, compensation, term of office, removal and retirement of judges of the court of appeals are also to be prescribed by statute, while the administrative procedure of the court is to be prescribed by supreme court rule.

BEWARE

(Cash buyers and regular charge account users)

Initiative 245 will cost you money

Even if you don't use extended payment credit yourself you'll be paying higher prices if Initiative 245 passes.

Here's why:

Retailers will be forced to raise prices in proportion to a one-third cut in service charge revenue. This means that if you pay cash or pay within the no-service charge period you'll be paying higher prices to help provide credit for others,

We don't think that's fair . . . we are sure that you don't want to pay extra for somebody else's privileges.

Initiative 245 pretends to save money for credit buyers by reducing their service charges . . . but it is a boomerang. It will raise prices for everybody and it will restrict credit for the people who really need it.
