CLUMP IS CAPTURED

By Sheriff Moseley, of Ada County, Idaho.

DEPUTIES BURNSIDE AND CHAMBERS

En Route to Boise City for the Prisoner—The City Clerk Submits His Quarterly Report Which Shows a Favorable Condition of City Finances—Port Angeles Traffic & Transfer Co. Want Damages From the City for the loss of a Valuable Horse.

Sheriff Dyke received a telegram last Wednesday from D. H. Moseley, sheriff of Ada county, Idaho, of which Boise City is the county seat, informing him that Defaulter M. J. Clump had been captured and was confined in the county jail, awaiting instructions from the authorities of this county.

Sheriff Dyke immediately wired Sheriff Moseley to the effect that he had dispatched Deputies Burnside and Ben Chambers for the prisoner. Deputy Burnside, who was on the way to Steilacoom with an inmate for the asylum, was wired instructions, and Deputy Chambers left yesterday morning with the papers and will meet Deputy Burnside in Olympia. They will get requisition papers from Gov. McGraw possibly in time to leave for Boise City this evening.

Sheriff Dyke stated that they had had a pretty definite idea of Clump's whereabouts for some time past. They were quite positive that he was some where in Eastern Washington, and had sent a description and a photograph of him to the sheriffs of all of the counties in Eastern Washington and in Idaho, and had been exerting the utmost diligence to effect his capture and finally their efforts have been crowned with success. The report of Clump having been in Honolulu, they never gave any credence, as they had reasons to believe that it was circulated solely for the purpose of misleading them as to his actual whereabouts.

THE CITY COUNCIL.

The Clerk's Quarterly Report Speaks Volumns for Our City Fathers.

At the regular meeting of the city council last Wednesday Mayor Mallette, and councilmen Harding, Stewart, Graybill and Munro were present.

The cemetery committee recommended increasing the contract price for clearing land in the city cemetery from $80 to $120, on motion, which prevailed, it was ordered that the contractors be allowed the additional amount.

City Clerk Wagner submitted his quarterly report ending July 9, 1895. The total receipts for the quarter were $1,968.06. The expenditures for the same period were $1,458.61.

Justice Carusi submitted a communication in reference to the costs in the case of City vs. M. J. O'Brien, which the city disallowed for the reason that the costs should have been taxed against the complaining witness. Mr. Carusi maintains that the costs were properly taxed against the city. The matter will be taken up for consideration at the next regular meeting.

The following communication was read and laid over for one week:

To the Honorable Mayor and City Council of the City of Port Angeles:

GENTS—Having the misfortune to lose a very valuable horse on the fourth of July last, caused by a stick laying in the street, I ask your honorable body to reemburse me for the same, as I consider the city responsible for the accident, in allowing rubbish to lay in the graded streets, particularly in a most public highway, namely, Front street. Full cash value of horse, $150.

Respectfuly yours,
JOHN DYKE, President,
Port Angeles Traffic and Transfer Co.

The city marshal was authorized to purchase sufficient lumber for a dog pound.

The price of lots in the city cemetery will be established at the next meeting of the council. Adjourned.

VALUABLE TREATISE.

Injurious Insects and Fungus Diseases Infesting Fruit Trees—Solutions.

It is at this season of the year, when fruit trees and bushes should be making rapid growth and developing buds for next year's crops of fruit, that the various aphides, leaf-eating caterpillers and fungus diseases, commit their depredations in the orchards, and the orchardist should keep a vigilant eye upon his trees if he would have them free from these destructive pests.

Among leaf-eating insects infesting many orchards in this section the tent caterpillars are the most numerous, and cause much damage if permitted to complete their growth, which happens about the middle of June, when they are seen fully two inches in length, and the appearance of the leaves show how voraciously they feed.

They consist of two species, the appletree tent and the forest tent caterpillars. The latter kind has been known to migrate to fruit trees from adjacent woods, greatly injuring the trees by stripping them of their foliage.

The remedy in this case is to place bandages, smeared with axel grease, around the trunks to prevent them from climbing into the branches.

As these caterpillars are, strictly speaking, leaf-eaters, and chew their food, they can be destroyed by an application of London Purple or Paris Green solution upon the leaves, which poisons their food. The London Purple is considered the safest and best remedy for all species of caterpillars. While in the larval state they can easily be detected huddled together in their nests or tents. These can be crushed by the hand, or burned, contents and all, by using a torch fastened on a pole. The clusters of eggs, three to four hundred in number, are laid by a brown moth in July, and can be noticed after leaves have fallen, forming rings or bands compactly fastened to the small twigs.

The aphides belong to a different order of insects, possessing entirely different habits to the foregoing. Poison applied to the leaves will not kill them. It must come in close contact with their bodies, and suffocate them by filling their breathing pores. They live by suction and not by chewing their food. "Kerosene Emulsion" proves itself to be the best remedy for all of the aphis tribe, and when prepared according to Prof. Cook's formula, gives best results. When the soap is dissolved in the boiling water it is removed from the fire and the coal oil added. It is then churned ten to fifteen minutes, when it forms an emulsion, and is further diluted by adding fifteen pints of water for every pint of coal oil used.

The common green aphis propogates itself very rapidly during the warm summer season. The females hatched from eggs in the spring are capable of bringing forth eight or nine broods during the summer, without the intervention of males. The last brood in the fall consists of true males and females, which pair, and the eggs are again, and hatch the following spring, and another brood of females are ready to continue the race.

Under this system of propogation, the progeny increases to thousands and sometime millions under favorable conditions.

The wooly aphis belongs to the same order, being a different species, and where numerous forms a more dangerous pest than the green aphis. Their wooly covering protects them to a great extent, and if disturbed they seek shelter in the crevices of the bark, so that i often requires several sprayings to reach them. They are considered one of our worst insect pests.

They attack young shoots and growing limbs, absorbing juices from underneath the bark, and also work on the buds and sometimes the roots of a tree. West of the Cascades, however, the roots are not often infested by them, as the climate is

TEACHERS EMPLOYED.

The Board Ignores the Just Claims of Local Applicants.

The school board met last Wednesday evening for the purpose of employing teachers for the various departments of the public schools of the city for the ensuing year.

It had been anticipated that the new board would make some changes in the appointments of the old board, as as much had been implied at a former meeting in the adoption of a motion, the effect of which was that the new board would utterly ignore the action of the old, therefore, it declared all of the positions in the public schools vacant, and requested those who wished to be employed to put in an application.

Without attempting to question the infinite wisdom of the action of the board in the changes made, the fact does appeal to the unprejudiced onlooker, with much force, efficacy and righteousness, that in ignoring the just claims of the applicants who are citizens of the county, not only a rank injustice was done but an unwise precedent established.

It is very difficult, indeed, to discover the point, of such rare fineness does it appear to be, of discrimination, which influenced the directors to decide in favor of an outsider as against a home teacher. Where the home teacher possesses the same educational qualifications and practical experience that the foreign teacher does, there seems no good, substantial reason why the home teacher should not be shown the preference.

Among the list of eligibles submitted to the board by Prof. Tiffany were the names of young men and young women, citizens of the county, who are eminently qualified both by education and experience for the positions for which the board saw fit to employ outsiders.

The following names were taken from a preferred list of eligibles, which had been submitted to the board by Prof. Tiffany, which, upon motion, were elected as teachers of the public schools of the city for the ensuing year: Ed. Hatch, Thos. Edwards, Robt. Trumbull, of Townsend, Miss Rose Pitts, Miss Ida M. Wagner of Cheney, Wash., E. E. Goodman, Miss Ella L. Guptill.

A resolution was introduced, which, upon motion, was adopted, the effect of which was that the clerk be authorized to notify A. N. Taylor, Miss Mary Jane Love, Mrs Rose Johnston and Mrs. Linna Ballou, that the board will not consider their applications, until they will have cancelled the contract they now hold from the district.

The board adjourned to meet again next Saturday evening.

The utmost precaution should be exercised in starting brush fires during the present and next month, as incalculable damage is likely to result should it get beyond your control.

Among the numerous persons who have been cured of rheumatism by Chamberlain's Pain Balm, mention should be made of Mrs. Emily Thorne, of Toledo, Wash., who says: "I have never been able to procure any medicene that would relieve me of rheumatism like Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I have also used it for lame back with great success. It is the best liniment I have ever used, and I take pleasure in recommending it to my friends." For sale by J. C. Hansen, Druggist.

A Pioneer's Recommendation.

Mr. J. W. Venable, of Downey, a pioneer of Los Angeles county, Cal., says: "Whenever I am troubled with a pain in the stomach or with diarrhoea I use Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I have used it for years, know it to be reliable remedy, and recommend it to every one." For sale by J. C. Hansen, Druggist.

THE SILVER DEBATE.

The great silver debate between William H. Harvey of Chicago, author of "Coin's Financial School," and Roswell G. Horr, editor of the New York Weekly Tribune, will begin in Chicago next Tuesday, the 16th inst.

Mr. Harvey will, of course, defend the theories and doctrines so cleverly enunciated in "Coin," while Mr. Horr will attack and endeavor to demonstrate the fallacy, the inconsistency and the utter unsoundness of the theories advanced by Mr. Harvey. The book will be dissected chapter by chapter, three hours being devoted to the discussion of each chapter. Both of the contestants are applying themselves very earnestly, thoroughly, systematically and devotedly in preparation for the great mental combat.

Mr. Horr, the single-standard advocate, has acquired an enviable national reputation as a public speaker of considerable force and ability. He is a master of wit, irony and sarcasm. These powerful weapons in debate he handles with a force, skill and effectiveness that confounds and overwhelms his opponent unless the latter is well-poised and has absolute command over himself. Mr. Horr's weakness lies in the fact that he displays an utter contempt for historical facts in his writing, unless they clearly coincide with his ideas; then he uses them with that consummate clearness, force and directness that convinces many and wins the admiration of all. These historical lapses and inaccuracies which occur in his writing so frequently as to seriously mar if not entirely destroy its influence and usefluness even with those who espouse the same political doctrines as he, may possibly prove a source of much humiliation to him if not the direct cause of his ignominious defeat, as Mr. Harvey, his opponent, will confine him closely to the truth, and the judges, Judge Blodgett and Judge Caldwell, are not only eminently but thoroughly familar with the subject under discussion, and will neither tolerate nor be deceived by the historical misstatements for which Mr. Horr, as the writer, is somewhat noted.

Mr. Harvey is by no means an indifferent speaker; cool, collected, deliberate, methodical; a remarkable degree of confidence; an equanimity of mind not easily ruffled, disturbed or confused; an immense fund of statistical information over which he has absolute command; a fine presence; a rich, full voice, equips the silver advocate with some of the most effective weapons of debate.

The question is one in which the American people are deeply concerned, and the one likely to be the overshadowing issue of the national campaign next year, consequently the debate in Chicago next week will be watched with breathless interest, as it really rises to the point of national significance.

A REPUBLICAN journal says free wool has demoralized the sheep business in the United States and attempts to defend the statement by referring to a flock of sheep which recently sold at a remarkably low figure in Pennsylvania for the reason of an inadequate market. The Wisconsin Farmer, however, takes direct issues upon the point with the Republican journal. And as the latter is non-partisan, and regarded an authority upon such questions, its opinion is, at least, worthy of consideration. It reports an advance of $1 a head in the selling price of sheep. The only stock in trade of the grand old calamity howler—artifice and deception—appears to be vanishing before the industrial and commercial wave of prosperity sweeping over the country.

THE ever resourceful if not reliable Republican journal finally has to admit that freer trade is not antagonistic to industrial prosperity; but it still stoutly maintains that the Democratic tariff has all to do with the prostration of the sheep business in certain localities of the country. And for that matter why not with the passing of the horse? Only to think of it! The general use of the bicycle occurs during a Democratic administration, and as a logical result the horse is rapidly going into disuse. At a recent auction sale of blooded horses in New York City, three-year-olds only brought $4 each. Is this not a condition for which the resourceful Republican journal can hold the Democratic party responsible?

THE farmer who will be fortunate enough as to have hay for sale this fall, will undoubtedly receive a good price for it, as the crop will not only be short in this state, but throughout the country as well. The report is to the effect that this year's crop will fall short some eighteen million tons of the crop of 1893. And the value of the crop of 1893 is given by the statistician of the Agricultural Department was $570,882,872, so the loss to the country in the deficiency of the crop this year will be considerable.

THERE are two things the people want. First—sound money. Then they want silver restored to general use with such safeguards placed around it that no civilized nation will question that it is sound money. You may mislead the people for a time, but ultimately their better sense will assert itself, then they will unite firmly and solidly for the success of such conditions, and woe to the man or men who oppose them.

cooler, and they do not appear to injure the fruit itself. The remedy is kerosene emulsion.

Another insect pest which causes much annoyance to fruit growers is the oyster shell bark louse that will often increase to such numbers as to completely cover trunk, branches and fruit. To keep trees healthy it is essential that such pests be exterminated from an orchard. The remedy for this pest, also the San Jose scale (another species of bark lice), is the lime sulphur and salt solution, applied in dormant season, when every portion of trunk and branch can be reached. If used in summer it should be applied as a wash to the trunk and main limbs. If trunks are washed with strong soap suds (soft soap preferred) early in June, when the young scales are hatching out, they will be destroyed. The eggs are laid in August beneath the scales, eighty or more small white eggs stored away beneath a single scale to remain over winter and hatch the following June, unless steps are taken to remove them.

Where trees have been neglected in this respect, whole orchards have been ruined in a few years, as it spreads very rapidly, once allowed a foothold.

An insect pest which is quite common in places is the cherry and pear tree slug, a repelling little insect being covered with a slimy substance and having twenty feet to travel on. They are the larva of a shining black saw-fly, nearly a quarter of an inch long, which appears once in early summer and again in late summer, depositing eggs on under side of leaves, from which the larva is hatched and matures a few weeks later. When matured they hibernate in the ground and emerge next time as saw-flies that lay the eggs.

The slugs feed on the cuticule of the leaves, consuming all but a network of the fibrous portion, and take their food both by suction and chewing. Either dry road dust or air-slacked lime scattered over them destroys them by suffocation; but where they cannot be reached in this manner, a solution of powdered hellebore and water is applied by a spray pump, and proves an effectual remedy.

Before leaving the insect pests it might be as well to mention the apple tree borers, of which there are several species, the round headed kind being the most injurious. The flat-headed kind are not so injurious but will attack a greater variety of trees, such as prune, plum, pear, cherry and some forest trees. The eggs are laid by a beetle in June and July, that punctures the bark a little above ground and places eggs which are hatched a couple of weeks later into the pupae, which soon begin to bore for a living.

Where trees are infested the borers should be probed for and removed while still found working on the sap-wood or before they become fully grown. They mature the third year, and it is the they seriously injure a tree by tunneling passages through the solid wood. Here is an instance at least where prevention is better than cure.

Lime, or some alkaline wash, should be applied to the trunks as these are repulsive to them, and the beetles are not apt to deposit eggs where these washes have been used.

We will now turn our attention to fungus diseases that are so prevalent throughout the western part of the state, and few orchards are entirely free from some fungus growth.

The apple scab is one of the commonest forms of fungus disease which attacks both leaves and fruit, causing the apples to become cracked and distorted (when they do not actually drop off) and almost worthless for market. The fungus remains on the old leaves and small twigs during winter, producing spores in the spring which propogates the disease, till it spreads over the young leaves and newly set fruit unless checked by spraying in season.

The pear scab is similar to the apple scab and requires similar treatment, which consists of a thorough spraying with the Bordeaux mixture, made as follows:

Unslacked lime, 4 pounds; bluestone, 4 pounds; water, 40 gallons.

Where very prevalent it is necessary to add bluestone when spraying in winter. A spraying with Bordeaux mixture is then given after blossoms fall, and again when fruit begins to reach size of walnuts to prevent scab. The same formula is used for mildew, leaf-blight, shot-hole fungus, etc., whenever these diseases appear.

By a little attention on the part of the fruit grower to these necessary and important details, the trees can be kept in a vigorous condition, bearing annual crops of choice fruit, which will amply reward him for all time and labor bestowed, and the time has arrived when diseased and cultess fruit finds but little sale.

Let us unite our efforts in this direction, studying the simple requirements of an orchard, adopting practical methods, and we shall surely secure good crops of superior fruit that will reflect credit upon our people, and prove, beyond all question, that Clallam county posseses rich possibilities in her soil and climatic conditions so favorable for the production of fruit. When orchards are established where the forest now stands, a reserve of wealth will flow from the soil, and the fruit industry will bring prosperity to all. A. LINGHAM.

"We had an epidemic of dysentery in this vicinity last summer," says Samuel S. Pollock, of Briceland, Cal., "I was taken with it and suffered severely until some one called my attention to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy. I procured a bottle and felt better after the first dose. Before one-half of the bottle had been used I was well. I recommended it to my friends and their experience was the same. "Are you attached to your husband?"
Asked the judge in a kindly way.
And she who sought a divorce replied:
"That's for your honor to say."

From their labor day by day;
But the coal man coins the dollars

But Jordon is a hard road to travel!
Oh, Jordon is a hard road to travel!
But grind the trouble with the gravel!
And we'll all sing a song
As we jog along,
With our lamps all burning and our faith still strong;
Till we strike green pastures with the "golden throng"—
Aut Jordon is a hard road to travel!

Of rhyme and measure neat.

The Drysdale cannery at Point Roberts, near Blaine, hauled in 20,000 of these delicious food fish with their nets last Sunday. That cannery has already put up 8000 cases.

The National Packing Co. anticipates an unusually large run of salmon this season, as they have equipped the plant with every facility not only to catch the fish but to preserve and can them as well. They have some of the largest deep water nets and boats and scows and in fact everything essential to the fully-equipped cannery.

Customs Inspector F. P. Fisher and Captain Mann of the steamer Evangel enjoyed a refreshing bath last Tuesday. While the Evangel was discharging freight at the cannery, the gentlemen in question thought they might enjoy a few spare moments profitably and pleasurably fishing for crabs. So they got an Indian canoe, and paddled out in pursuit of the doomed crabs. But the treacherous canoe. Well, the water was wet—so wet.

FOREST FIRE AT GETTYSBURG.

Destroys Valuable Timber, Bridges, Logging Ways, Buildings, Etc.

A huge forest fire has been raging in the vicinity of Gettysburg during the past week, and has destroyed much valuable timber, logging ways, bridges, etc.

A letter received from the scene of the fire yesterday morning by H. C. Miller, of this city, conveyed the intelligence that the fire is raging fiercely along the line of Hall & Bishop's logging railway. One of the principal bridges has been destroyed, and grave fears are entertained that the entire track would be destroyed before the fire is got under control. The engine was safely tracked at the beach, and some of the cattle and horses had to be taken to the lakes in order to get them out of the range of the fire.

H. Gould & Co.'s camp at the mouth of Lyre river has been totally destroyed. S. L. Hall's dwelling is threatened, and the family has removed to a place of safety. Unless the fire can be got under control millions of dollars of the finest timber in the state will be totally destroyed, together with thousands of dollar's worth of improvements.

Committed to the Asylum.

Sheriff Dyke was summoned to East Clallam last Monday, to take in custody a woman, Mrs. Augusta Miller, who has been suffering from mental aberration for over a year past. Her friends had deferred committing her to the asylum from time to time, hoping against hope that she would finally recover from her mental disorders. But she has gradually been growing worse, and undue excitement on the Fourth completely unbalanced her mind, so they finally reluctantly decided that it would be far better to place her under restraint and where she could receive proper medical treatment.

The unfortunate woman labors under the hallucination that some invisible spirit is attempting to do her bodily injury.

Her examination was conducted before Judge McClinton last Tuesday afternoon and the evidence being sufficient, she was adjudged insane and committed to the asylum at Steilacoom.

Deputy Sheriff Burnside left Wednesday morning for Steilacoom with the unfortunate woman.

One of the saddest phases of the case is the one that she leaves a husband and three small children, who undoubtedly have the sympathy of the community in their terrible affliction.

A. O. U. W. Officers.

Last Friday evening officers were elected for the ensuing quarter, by Port Angeles Lodge No. 59, A. O. U. W., as follows:

Henry Maguire.....P M W
James Young.....M W
D G Harvey.....Foreman
J E Thomas.....Overseer
C L Babcock.....Recorder
W E Barnside.....Financier
C E Gilmur.....Receiver
W W Gray.....Guide
A M Johnston.....Inside Watch
A L Johnson.....Outside Watch

Mr. R. T. Williams, of Victoria, Grand Recorder, A. O. U. W., of the British Columbia jurisdiction, was the guest of the lodge, and, in responding to an urgent request from the members for an address under the head of "the good of the order," said that he was more than gratified to witness the evident prosperity of the lodge. The speaker said, feelingly, he was interested in Port Angeles, and in the growth and advancement of the United Workmen. It was, indeed, a matter of astonishment as well as of keen satisfaction, to learn of the remarkable growth of the Port Angeles lodge since its organization. A membership of fifty-four within a period of three years, was a record most any society might well feel proud—and that, too, during a time of severe commercial and industrial prostration. The speaker urged the members to labor earnestly not only for the advancement of the society but that of the city as well, as the interests of either were inseparable and and closely interwoven.

Mr. Williams advised the society to organize a building and loan association. In British Columbia the society had proved a most useful auxiliary, in enabling the members of the subordinate lodges to build a home, without incurring greater liabilities than they could discharge. Agreeable to a request Mr. Williams promised to send pamphlets to the local lodge, which sets forth the plan, etc, of the association.

Hose Contest at Townssnd.

The victorious team which participated in the hose races at Townsend on the Fourth was comprised of Dungeness and Angeles boys.

The race was a wet test, the distance of which was 550 feet—300 feet to the hydrant and laying 250 feet of hose. The Dungeness-Angeles team made the run in 45 seconds. Those comprising the team were: Wm. Hall, Henry Cline, Mark Miner, Warrie Smith, Frank Law, Harry Lamoreux, James Dick, jr., Wm. Crockett, Allie Evans, Frank Smith, Nat. Hawkins and Chas Beam.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much fasth in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for the list of testimonials.

PATENTS

FOR INVENTIONS.

Equal with the interest of those having claims against the government is that of INVENTORS, who often lose the benefit of valuable inventions because of the incompetency or inattention of the attorneys employed to obtain their patents. Too much care cannot be exercised in employing competent and reliable solicitors to procure patents, for the value of a patent depends greatly, if not entirely, upon the care and skill of the attorney.

With the view of protecting inventors from worthless or careless attorneys, and of seeing that inventions are well protected by valid patents, we have retained counsel expert in patent practice, and therefore are prepared to Obtain Patents in the United States and all Foreign Countries, Conduct Interferences, Make Special Examinations, Prosecute Rejected Cases, Register Trade-Marks and Copyrights, Render Opinions as to Scope and Validity of Patents, Prosecute and Defend Infringement Suits, Etc., Etc.

FAIR JULY.

Won't you tell us of your plans,
Fair July?
Is it overcoats or fans,
Fair July?
Is it rain that floods and washes,
Or umbrellas and galoshes?
Must we "star" our mackintoshes
O July!
Come—we ask you altogether,
Fair July!
Can't we have the proper weather,
Fair July?
We're prepared for presperation,
And we'll find a compensation
In aquatic recreation,
O July!
Don't do funny tricks as June did,
Fair July!
Or our feelings will be wounded,
Fair July!
Better give us heat oppressing,
Though it bothers us in dressing,
Than to so and keep us guessing,
O July.
