FINDS REST IN DEATH

John G. Luck an Old Resident of This County

TRIES TO CUT HIS WIFE'S THROAT.

Driven Insane By Her Apparent Indifference—A Letter Addressed to Her In Endearing Tones Is Thought to Be the Cause of the Rash Act.

About two weeks ago an associated press dispatch from Los Angeles, California, announced the attempted wife murder and suicide of John Luck.

The many friends of John G. Luck, and these number all who knew him, feared at the time that it was their old time friend who had committed the insane deed, as the despatches referred to the fact that Luck's father was a wealthy citizen of Nashville, Tennessee.

Yet, when last heard from John G. Luck was in Denver, living happily with his newly wedded wife, and prospering, it was hoped that there might be a mistake in their conjectures.

John W. Troy, with whom Luck was once a partner at Dungeness in the abstract business, at once wrote to Rev. J. M. Baxter, from whom sufficient information was obtained to positively identify the victim of the Los Angeles tragedy with the genial John Luck so well known in this section of the country.

John G. Luck came to Washington from Nashville, Tennessee, where his father is a wealthy merchant, during the early days of the "boom" and located first in Port Townsend and afterwards at Dungeness where he was employed in 1889 by Church and Lipsett. He was employed in 1889 and 1890 as a clerk in the auditor's office at Dungeness, under the late Hon. Smith Troy, and while there formed with John W. Troy the firm of Troy & Luck, Abstracters of Titles, who commenced the first set of abstracts ever written up in Clallam county. In 1890 Luck's father became interested in San Diego, California, and John Luck sold his interest in the abstract business to John D. Hickok for the purpose of joining his father there. Luck made friends with everyone he met. He was a genial, good-hearted southern gentleman, who was possessed with much ability. While his father was wealthy and often offered to assist him in a pecuniary way, he prefered to "hoe his own row," and in this he was remarkable successful, as he was well to do at the time of his death, though but 33 years of age. With an integrity and honesty of purpose never questioned, it seemed that the world had much of its best offerings in store for him; and it is matter of pride to his friends that the Los Angeles papers speak in the highest terms in his praise.

Mrs. Luck was a Miss Lillian Jones, of Modesto, California. Luck met her in San Diego in 1891, and it was a case of love at first sight. They were married in Los Angeles in September, 1891. From there they went to Denver, where Luck was employed with a receiver of a loan and trust company, until last May when they returned to California, Luck securing a position in a store at Los Angeles.

Mrs. Luck is described as a very beautiful woman, who is vivacious and fond of having a good time, while Luck was of a quiet, industrious disposition. It is claimed also by Luck's friends, that his wife was not true to him and had many admirers and, perhaps, lovers amongst her gentlemen acquaintances. Anyhow their married life for the last year was unhappy, and Luck who, it is said, loved her to madness, brooded a great deal over the knowledge that they were gradually growing apart. They had finally agreed to live separately for a time at least, and Luck had removed his trunk from the Johnson hotel, where they were boarding, and registered at another hotel. But after two days of separation, Luck, apparantly almost insane, returned to his wife to seek a reconciliation. His wife, who was in bed ill and just having breakfast, received him with a smile and the nurse who was serving breakfast thought that everything would be forgiven and forgotten. A torn and bloody letter of a very loving nature addressed to "My dear Lillian" from a gentleman in San Francisco, it is thought, was discovered by Luck, who, becoming insane, at once grabbed a razor from the dresser and attempted to cut his wife's throat, and, in fact, thought he had succeeded. He then cut his own throat with the razor and jumped out the window to the sidewalk, twenty-five feet below. He died about eighteen hours afterwards.

Advices from Los Angeles are to the effect that Mrs. Luck will recover.

Mrs. Luck says her husband had never uttered a harsh or unkind word to her, and that had he not become insane he would never have committed the awful deed.

Farmers' Institute.

On Tuesday and Wednesday, September 3 and 4, a convention of horticultural delegates will meet in Tacoma, under the name of the "Farmers' Institute." Besides the delegates the entire faculty of the agricultural college at Pullman will be in attendance. Dr. Stanley, president of the Clallam County Horticultural Society is endeavoring to have the college faculty pay Angeles a visit for the purpose of delivering a series of lectures.

Greenberg-Frank.

The following article clipped from the San Francisco Chronicle of August 13, explains the absence of the genial proprietor of the U. S. Clothing House, of this city:

Miss Estelle Frank, who resides with her father at 2313 California street, San Francisco, Cal., was married at 6 o'clock on the evening of the 12th., to Charles Greenberg, of New Whatcom, Wash. The ceremony took place in the parlors adjoining the banquet hall of the Delmonico restaurant, and was witnessed by about eighty friends of the contracting parties. The rooms were handsomely decorated, and the couple stood under a floral canopy while the Rev. Dr. Jacob Nieto read the service of the Jewish church. The procession was led by little Miss Mable Arendt, a niece of the bride, who carried the ring on a satin cushion; she was dressed in white dotted Swiss, trimmed with valenciennes lace, and was followed by Leon Rosenkine and Miss Jeanette Greenauer, carrying baskets of flowers; then came the bridesmaids, Miss Carrie Frank, Miss Alice Voorsanger and Miss Lena Lanzet, accompanied by the groomsmen A. Greenberg, A. Hoffman and I. Haekman. The maid of honor was Miss Maude Frank, a sister of the bride. The bride was accompanied by her father and sister, Mrs. A. Rosenshine. The groom and his best man, Mitchell L. Frank, met the party at the floral canopy. The bride wore a duchess gown of ivory satin, demi-train; the skirt was plain and furnished with heavy cord, the corsage was decollen, with chiffon draperies and trimmed with duchess lace and pearls, festooned with orange blossoms; the veil fell into the train, and diamond ornaments were worn. She carried bride's roses.

Among the numerous persons who have been cured of rheumatism by Chamberlain's Pain Balm, mention should be made of Mrs. Emily Thorne, of Toledo, Wash., who says: "I have never been able to procure any medicene that would relieve me of rheumatism like Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I have also used it for lame back with great success. It is the best liniment I have ever used, and I take pleasure in recommending it to my friends." For sale by J. C. Hansen, Druggist.

NEWS OF THE COUNTY.

Gleanings From the Press of Western Clallam.

Beaver Leader.]

Settlers on the Bogachiel and Calawa rivers are agitating the opening of a county road from Forks northeast and intersecting the Beaver & Port Angeles road at or near Mr. F. F. Sawyer's place. They claim that the road would save some twelve or fifteen miles in making an overland trip to the county seat. The distance from the B. & P. A. road to Forks is estimated at twelve miles. The road is sure to be opened before long as it is essential to the prosperity of the lower part of the valley.

The crop of wheat in these parts is exceptionally promising this season.

Mrs. W. W. Overly went out to the Sound last week to remain awhile.

Mrs. John Gordon visited Tuesday with Mrs. J. J. Kintz and Miss Harriet Cox.

Judge Ford is building a forty-foot addition to his barn to hold his oats this year.

The house of Neils Neilson was burned on the 6th inst. His large slashing was fired and all precautions were taken to prevent the fire reaching it. Yet the united efforts of three neighbors were unable to save it.

J. S. Anderson, of Forks, is getting his hop house in readiness for hop picking.

Mr. Peterson, of Forks, says that his wife is getting along as well as could be expected. Mrs. Peterson is in Seattle undergoing medical treatment.

H. J. Collins, of the Dickey, has gone to consult an oculist about his eyes, which are affected with a cateract which completely covers one and part of the other.

The Lapush Indians have gone to the hop fields.

East Clallam Record.]

Joseph Dillon has purchased Fred Knott's interested in the logging camp at Twin rivers, and is now one of the members of that firm.

Indian Agent Keenan and Dr. A. M. Poeh from Neah Bay were here on business last Friday.

Special Agent Atkisson of the U. S. Land Office, arrived here last Friday on a tour of investigation. He visited the Hoko river and then went out to Quillayute.

Sam Woodcock, Wm. Ward and Chas. Myers have bought the logging camp formerly owned by A. H. Gould at the mouth of the Lyle river, and intend to operate a logging camp at that place in the near future.

While at Townsend last week Mr. P. Buchholz was informed that a crew of men would be employed here in the course of a month or two getting out hemlock piles on Judge Ballingers land east of town. Mr. Buchholz has for some time been urging whalf owners and builders up sound to make use of the hemlock piles. They are superior to any other kind of timber for wharf purposes if cut at the season when the bark is hardest to remove.

Tug Rainier came here Tuesday after a boom of logs from Crawfords camp on the Hoko. A crew was at work yesterday getting the logs out of the river. The Rainier will take the logs to one of the up sound mill ports.

James Davidson's dwelling house on the west side was totally destroyed by fire on Wednesday of last week. Every thing in the house was lost also. Mr. Davidson went away that evening on the Garland and a little fire remained in his cook stove when he left the house. It is the only way the fire can be accounted for. The next day one of the neighbors went there and found a heap of ashes. There was no insurance.

The advantage of the hemlock pile is that it will resist the attacks of the teredo longer than any other timber on account of the strong tannic acid contained in the bark which the teredo has no liking for. It is useless, however, to expect any good results if piles are cut when bark peels off easily hence it is during the fall months only that the pile timber ought to be got out.

Around Clallam bay there is an abundance of this pile timber and if the experiment of getting out a raft of them this fall proves a success it will be another industry opened here, giving settlers employment and putting money in their pockets.

It is reported that an Everett man is coming here soon to look into the matter of getting out spruce bolts for barrel staves. It is proposed to ship the bolts from here to the factory at Everett there to be worked up into barrels.

The people here may be thankful that there are no disastrous forest fires in this locality such as are raging in other timbered parts of the state.

Reliability.

If there is one thing more than another that the purchaser can be deceived in it is in the purchase of a pair of shoes and on this account, when it has been proven by months of wear that they have obtained full value for the amount paid, that the purchaser usually patronizes the same house again. To build up a trade that can be depended upon summer and winter is the pride of most merchants, for by so doing he can go into the markets of the world and take advantage of all bargains, and when a firm, like S. J. Lutz & Co., of this city, give their customers the benefit of all such bargains, the results to all parties are sure to be that the purchaser will return and the dealer build up a trade that can not be shaken.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. OHIO DEMOCRATS.

All men are willing to admit that Senator Brice is an able man and a wary politician, yet the verdict of the rank and file of the Democratic party will be that the Ohio Democratic convention did not do well in setting true Democrats aside in order to gain the services of his skill in the approaching campaign.

The Democrats will not soon forget that Senator Brice was one of the few senators whose deception robbed the American people of the fruits of the tariff reform victory of 1892. They also understand that the action of the Ohio Democrats in bowing their necks to Mr. Brice necessitated the setting aside for good and all, in all probability, of Allen G. Thurman, and the Democratic party still loves the "Old Roman," as it does no other man living.

A great deal was hoped for from the Democratic party from Ohio, which, through "Larry" Neal and "Tom" Johnson, gave us the free trade platform and reform victory at the last presidential election.

The Ohio Democrats have not improved the situation by exchanging principles for apparent expediency—appearances are sometimes deceitful.

A GOOD SHOWING.

The expenses of Clallam county for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1895, were but little more than one-half of those for the preceding year. The following is taken from the last three annual exhibits of the county auditor.

WARRANTS ISSUED.

	1892-3	1893-4	1894-5
County fund	$15,919.85	$85,966.60	$16,171.13
Salary fund	19,679.90	18,832.57	16,707.09
Gen'l Road fund	28,516.25	17,633 89½	5,835.82
Bridge fund	18,325.01	7,030.32	1,400.98
Totals	$112,441.01	$80,063.29½	$40,115.02

The reduction, it will be noticed, for the last year is nearly one-half. It must also be taken into account that on account of reduction in the price of warrants, the county has had to pay a larger price than heretofore for much of the supplies and other expenses.

While this is a good showing, the next year should show a still further reduction.

IN "OLD KENTUCK."

The fight between the silver and gold Democrats in Kentucky has assumed a most peculiar aspect. Both sides made a fight to gain control of the state convention which was held at Louisville in June and the gold, men under the able leadership of Secretary Carlisle, won the platform, though the silver men succeeded in nominating Gen. P. Watt Hardin for governor. Senator J. C. S. Blackburn, who lead the silver forces in that convention, is a candidate for re-election as United States senator and his retirement has from the first been the main purpose of the administration forces, who were greatly elated over the defeat of the genial senator in the state convention; but the gold men have awakened at last to find themselves outwitted, as Senator Blackburn has enough votes already pledged amongst the Democratic legislative candidates to insure his re election, should the state go Democratic as usual. So it seems that the result of Secretary Carlisle's tour of "Old Kentuck" will have availed naught. The administration gets the platform and the silver men the state officers and United States senator.

GOVERNOR MCGRAW has appointed Hon. T. L. Stiles, ex-justice of our state supreme court, superior judge for Pierce county, vice Judge Pritchard resigned. Judge Stiles is an able lawyer and well qualified for the position to which he has been appointed, though he seems to have a Republican liking for corporations.

SOME people might think it strange that while the gold press of the country is very much employed making light of the Horr-Harvey free-silver debate, the free silver advocates are advertising the forthcoming book containing the arguments of both sides, but to free silver men there is nothing strange about it.

THERE has been a great battle waged in the camp of the Republicans of Pennsylvania between Senator Quay on the one hand and Dave Martin and Chris Magee on the other. As far as the people were concerned it was a case of "heads I win, tails you lose," the people lost, and Quay is yet boss.

A MYSTERIOUS FIRE.

The Saw-mill at Dry Creek Burned—Cause Unknown.

At about 6 o'clock Tuesday morning fire was discovered in the old Bradshaw lumber mill at Dry Creek, and in a very short time the last remanent of the famous Dry Creek mill was in ashes.

It is only a few months ago since the shingle plant of the mill was totally destroyed in the same mysterious manner.

The origin of the fire is supposed to be the work of a insenderian as great care had been excised by the receiver, Mr. Malony, during the recent forest fires.

The original cost of the mill was about $10,000 and was to be sold at public auction on the 31st of the month to satisfy a mortgage of $5,000 held by Henry Landes, of Port Townsend. No insurance.

"We had an epidemic of dysentery in this vicinity last summer," says Samuel S. Pollock, of Bricceland, Cal., "I was taken with it and suffered severely until some one called my attention to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I procured a bottle and felt better after the first dose. Before one-half of the bottle had been used I was well. I recommended it to my friends and their experience was the same. We all unite in saying it is the best. For sale by J. C. Hansen, Druggist.

Where large numbers of chickens are compelled to range in limited inclosures air-slacked lime should be used liberally. Scatter it late in the evening after all the chickens have gone to roost.

Don't wait till fowls are infested with vermin, but prevent such a calamity to your flock.

When planting young trees make the pits for the roots large. It is not proper to cramp the roots. Give them plenty of room, spread the roots out and pack the earth well on them.

Keep the ground around the rose bushes clean, and if they are done producing roses place a heaping shovelful of well-rotted manure around each one of them and chop it in.

Prof. Cook of the Michigan experiment station says nothing is better for ridding poultry of lice than the use of kerosene and sulphur. It should be rubbed under the wings, on the legs and about the breast of fowls after they go to roost.

Old strawberry beds, that is, those that produced a crop last spring, need not be given up to weeds. If the grass and weeds are pulled out and the rows cultivated, a better crop should be secured next year than was produced this season. It is by allowing weeds and grass to take possession that causes so many beds to be plowed under and new ones started. Give an application of fertilizer now and the plants will be in better condition for yielding another crop next spring.

PATENTS

FOR INVENTIONS.

Equal with the interest of those having claims against the government is that of INVENTORS, who often lose the benefit of valuable inventions because of the incompetency or inattention of the attorneys employed to obtain their patents. Too much care cannot be exercised in employing competent and reliable solicitors to procure patents, for the value of a patent depends greatly, if not entirely, upon the care and skill of the attorney.

With the view of protecting inventors from worthless or careless attorneys, and of seeing that inventions are well protected by valid patents, we have retained counsel expert in patent practice, and therefore are prepared to Obtain Patents in the United States and all Foreign Countries, Conduct Interferences, Make Special Examinations, Prosecute Rejected Cases, Register Trade-Marks and Copyrights, Render Opinions as to Scope and Validity of Patents, Prosecute and Defend Infringement Suits, Etc., Etc.

If you have an invention on hand send a sketch or photograph thereof, together with a brief description of the important features, and you will be at once advised as to the best course to pursue. Models are seldom necessary. If others are infringing on your rights, or if you are charged with infringement by others, submit the matter to us for a reliable OPINION before acting on the matter.

DUNGENESS ITEMS

John Thornton is visiting J. P. Anderson here.

Chlopec Bros., are here buying salmon for their Seattle business.

Plums are a full crop this year, and early varieties are being gathered.

The Dungeness Trading Company shipped a nice sow to Neah Bay this week.

The rain has stopped harvesting for a short time and great care should be taken to protect the oats from coloring.

Italian prune trees are well loaded with fruit as usual and in this section at least, they never fail in this respect.

Summer apples are a good crop and will soon be ready to harvest. The Early Harvest and Red Astrachan are the leading varieties.

A U. S. Survey steamer called here for mail etc., and proceeded to Washington harbor to survey Dr. Stanley's oyster beds.

A. Lingham has just erected a building on the Groveland place in which to secure his fine crop of garden seeds. He has fine specimens of apples from the trees in the old orchard as a result of the thorough spraying it received this summer.

J. B. Keny and Ed. Pilcher have a steam thresher at work. It is a J. I. Case, ironside agitator 24 inch cylinder and 42 inch seive. The engine is a Garr Scott ten horse power. The boys are having plenty of work which they are doing well.

The fishing crews of the National Packing Company that arrived here from Muckleteo seemes to have an effect on the salmon as very few were caught and the local fishermen has it all his own way now. Regular shipments are made from here to Seattle and Angeles every day. Seattle takes 1000 per day and Angeles all that can be caught. This industry is in its infancy and surely will be enlarged in the near future. We wonder why salmon is imported from Muckleteo for Clallam county and her salmon exported to Seattle. We would like see the National Packing Company make Dungeness their headquarters by taking the whole output, and there is a splendid chance to establish a cannery at the mouth of the Dungeness river. This being done, a heavy expense in getting the fish would be saved. Clallam county would also do well to try and get a dog fish oil factory established along the straits where plenty of fish can be easily caught.

Religiously Insane.

Mrs. Anna Steina Oberg, of Beaver, was brought to Angeles Tuesday morning by her husband, Erick Oberg for an examination before Judge McClinton, who after hearing the report of the examining board and the evidence, adjudged her insane and committed her to the asylum at Steilacoom.

"Laila."

The operetta "Laila" given last Friday evening at the opera house was a decided success.

Miss Fronie Raymond as "Laila" displayed fine dramatic talent and held the interest of the audience from the first solo to the end.

Miss Ethel Ferguson is entirely in her own sphere upon the stage. As the Mountain Child in the first scene she was excellent. She looked as well as she acted the Fairy Queen and crowned "Laila" with all the grace of a queen.

The fairies were charming. Their chorus was enough to tempt "Laila," while under the spell of their wands, to go to their grotto.

The mountain children were very true to nature. Their choruses were well given. Among these Miss Madge Haynes deserves special mention.

This operetta was only practiced a little more than a week and yet the program was superior to others studied for a much longer time. Mr. and Mrs. Ekengren deserve much credit for bringing our young people out so well and we hope they will continue to give such entertainments for our people.

"Laila" was decidedly the most creditable program of its kind given in this city since the "Chimes of Normandy."

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can by made by our Systematic Plan of Speculation originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well-known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States, who by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invest a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

One was a dream of the old, old days,
And one was a dream of the new.

One was a dream of a shady lane
That led to the pickeral pond,
Where the willows and rushes bowed themselves
To the brown old hills beyond.

And the people that peopled the old-time dream
Were pleasant and fair to see,
And the dreamer he walked with them again
As often of old walked he.

Oh, cool was the wind in the shady lane
That tangled his curly hair!
Oh, sweet was the music the robins made
To the springtime everywhere!

Was it the dew the dream had brought
From yonder midnight skys,
Or was it tears from the dear dead years
That lay in the dreamer's eyes?

The other dream ran fast and free,
As the moon benighly shed
Her golden grace on the smiling face
In the little trundle bed.

For 'twas a dream of time to come,
Of the glorious noon of day,
Of the summer that follows the careless spring
When the child is done with play.

And 'twas a dream of the busy world,
Where valorous deeds are done,
Of battles fought in the cause of right,
And of victories nobly won.

It breathed no breath of the dear old home
And the quiet joys of youth;
It gave no glimpse of the good old friends,
Or the old-time faith and truth.

But 'twas a dream of youthful hopes,
And fast and free it ran,
And it told to a little sleeping child
Of a boy become a man.

These were the dreams that came one night
To earth from yonder sky;
These were the dreams the dreamers dreamed,
My little boy and I.

And in our hearts my boy and I
Were glad that it was so;
He loved to dream of days to come,
And I of long ago.

So from our dreams my boy and I
Unwillingly awoke,
But neither of his precious dream
Unto the other spoke.

Yet of the love we bore, those dreams
Gave each his tender sign;
For there was triumph in his eyes
And there were tears in mine.

—Eugene Field.

The happiness and misery of men depend no less upon temper than on fortune.—Rochefoucauld.

We should live for the future, and yet should find our life in the fidelities of the present.—Beecher.

The excessive pleasure we find in talking of ourselves ought to make us apprehensive that we afford little to our auditors.—Rochefoucauld.

The impartiality of history is not that of the mirror, which merely reflects objects, but of the judge who sees, listens and decides. —Lamartine.

A party of African explorers have discovered flying mice in the Cameroons country. Thus is a new horror added for the new woman to combat. A chair would not be a coign of safety to femininity against a mouse with bat's wings.

Just as a man was writing his name on the register of a hotel not a thousand miles from Galesburg, Ill., a hugh bug appeared on the page. The man paused and remarked: "I have been bled by Knoxville fleas and bitten by Monmouth graybacks, but I'll be cussed if I was ever in a place before where the bed bugs looked over the register to find where your room is."

The quiet tenderness of Chaucer, where you almost seem to hear the hot tears falling, and the simple, choking words sobbed out.—Lowell.

A boy in Kansas was pulling a dog along the road by a rope. The boy called to his dog: "Come along, Pop, you onery cuss."

A bystander asked him why he called the dog Pop.

"For short," answered the boy.

"What's his full name?"

"Populist," answered the boy.

"Why call him Populist?" asked the stranger.

"Well, sir," the boy said, "because he is just like a Populist. He's the oneryist dog in Kansas. He ain't worth a durn only to sit on his tail and howl."
