The opera house was a scene of unusual activity and commotion last Tuesday evening, the occasion of which was the coming together of citizens in convention for the purpose of nominating a municipal ticket.

The meeting was, indeed, a representative one, the primary object of all in attendance being, it is sincerely to be hoped, unselfishly and solely to nominate only men believed to be honest and capable, to administer the municipal affairs during the incoming year.

The meeting was called to order, and W. C. Ellsworth was unanimously called to the chair, and A. Judson Adams was selected as secretary.

The meeting was characteristically harmonious—it being a business-men's meeting, there was practically a unanimity of purpose—that of nominating men of strict business integrity and ability for the elective offices in the municipality, and, as the the outgoing administration had made a good, clean record, one rigidly economical and thoroughly business-like, there appeared no good, substantial reason why it should not again be entrusted with the affairs of the city. And from the subsequent action of the meeting there was certainly no opposition developed.

Nominations were declared in order A candidate for mayor was the first to be nominated.

The name of Chas. E. Mallette, the present incumbent, was placed in nomination. There being no opposition, he was declared the nominee of the convention for mayor by acclamation.

For clerk there was no opposition developed to the candidacy of Thad Wagner, the present efficient clerk, he received the unanimous vote of the convention and was declared the nominee for clerk.

For attorney the nomination was thrust on W. L. Marquardt, who, after persistent urging, reluctantly accepted the honor so obtrusively forced upon him.

H. Morris Fisher unanimously received the nomination for treasurer.

For health officer, Dr. W. W. McGeorge and John Bell were placed in nomination. Mr. Bell politely but positively withdrew from the contest. Dr. McGeorge was unanimously nominated.

For Councilman-at-large, P. W. Gallup was the unanimous choice of the convention.

If harmony and unanimity of action is the precursor of success, a most signal and complete victory will attend the Citizens' Ticket which is wholesomely representative of rugged conservatism and puritanical economy.

If any candidate enters the contest with the belief firmly lodged in his throbbing and patriotic heart, "that to the victors belong the spoils," he'll suffer painful disappointment, not that the practice is a lost art buried with the princely administrations of days of yore, as, no doubt, the practice would still be amongst many as popular as ever, but for the simple reason there will be no spoils to divide, owing to the fact that former employes of the city, to indulge princely habits, exhausted the resources of the city, and the period of reconstruction is necessarily slow.

Mayor.....S. L. Myers
Councilman-at-large.....D. O'Brien
Treasurer..... .....J. D. Kreuger
Clerk.....C. A. Bork
Health Officer.. .....Dr. G. W. Vail

COUNCILMEN:

Fourth Ward.....E. Durmel
Fifth Ward.....D. G. Munro
Sixth Ward.....J. C. Davis

The People's party of Port Angeles held strictly a party convention last Monday evening, and nominated a ticket, while not entirely from the ranks of the party, comprising the faithful, true and tried adherents, who in the past have courageously fought the battles, and who honestly and sincerely believe in the principles of the party, nevertheless it is representative of the better, more conservative element of citizenship, in whom, should they succeed to the administration of the city's affairs during the incoming year, confidence might safely be reposed for the return of honest and faithful public service.

The convention was called at 8 p. m. and Dr. Vail was unanimously elected chairman, and C. A. Bork secretary of the convention.

The credentials of the following delegates were examined, and they were found to be entitled to seats:

First Ward—P. F. Kiernan, Dr. G. W. Vail and Geo. Fend.

Second Ward—C. L. Brandt and C. J. Linn.

Third Ward—G. V. Smith. P. Mathews and C. A. Bork.

Fourth Ward—E. Durmel, J. D. Yarnell and Wm. Koch.

Fifth Ward—M. H. Miller, A. H. Gould and John Hitch.

Sixth Ward—A. Davis, M. Lyons and D. O'Brien.

The convention lost no time in reaching the important business before it—that of nominating a municipal ticket, the discharge of which is briefly told in the foregoing table.

And now let the battle begin.

GRAND COMMONWEALTH

An Eloquent and Glowing Tribute Paid to

THE STATE OF WASHINGTON.

Albert Whyte Delivers an Excellent Address at the Immigration Convention in St. Paul on the State of Washington—Death of a Respected Citizen.

The St. Paul Daily Globe, in its issuance of the 21st inst,, publishes the following able address on the State of Washington, delivered by Albert Whyte at a meeting in that city of representatives from the states of the Northwest, who had gathered there for the purpose of maturing plans for advancing the material interests of this grand section of the country. Mr. Whyte said:

The State of Washington, known as the "Evergreen State," because of its extensive forests of evergreen trees, and also because of the mildness of climate, which allows the grass to remain green the year in that portion lying west of the Cascade mountains, is situated in the Northwest corner of the union. Its form is that of a broad parallelogram, with an ocean frontage of 245 miles, and a length from east to west of 360 miles. Washington has area of 69,994 square miles, about as large as Ohio and Indiana combined, or larger than all New England and the State of Delaware. It is not possible in the time allotted here to even mention all of the natural resources of the State of Washington, for they are vast and inexhaustible. She has more standing merchantable timber than the nine pine-bearing states of the South. A larger coal and iron area than the State of Pennsylvania. All the precious metals are found in her mountains. While there is no other inland sea to compare with Puget Sound. To summarize, Western Washington is composed of tide marsh lands, forests of timber and mountains of minerals, with ocean harbors of the world, while Eastern Washington is not only the great granary of the Pacific coast, being marvelously adapted for the raising of all the cereals, but it is to-day producing peaches equal to Delaware, watermelons equal to New Jersey, apples equal to New York, as good grapes and apricots as California, while pears, prunes, plums and the smaller fruits thrive as scarcely elsewhere.

In short both Eastern and Western Washington produce most prolifically all of the fruits, grains, grasses and vegetables known to the temperate zone, while the equable climate renders them exempt from frosts and storms. So varied and favored are the natural conditions existing in the State of Washington, that I cannot conceive of an immigrant coming from any part of the world and not find his condition improved if he be properly located.

From the abundance of wood, coal, iron, and other ores, stone for both building and lime, and other raw materials, the inducements for manufacturers are great, while the water power furnished by her rivers and streams is beyond computation, especially when we remember that the waters of the State of Washington are open the year round.

The wonderful increase in shipping on Puget Sound during the past ten years, not only to Alaska and South American, but to Japan and China, points to Washington as the gateway of commerce to and from the Orient.

I believe the best method to secure immigration for the Northwest, gentlemen of this convention, is by thorough organization at home, and a harmonious co-operation of both railroads and people. President Hill, of the Great Northern, in his speech here yesterday, said that while the people at first showed some interest in settling Western lands, they soon dropped out and ceased to take an interest, leaving the railroad to do it all. I wish to say nothing here that anyone can take any exception to. All honor to the giant nerve and brain that has brought such marvelous undertakings to a successful close without governmental grant or aid, but I feel that I would not be true to the people whose delegate I am unless I answered that they dropped out because they felt that the railroads were managed more for the aggrandizement of individuals than for the development of the country. They lost interest because so far as railroad land management was concerned, they believed that tool and pull were the passwords to official place and power rather than integrity and ability. But a new era has dawned, and while the people expect the railroads to take the initiative, because they are organizing and equally interested, they are anxious to do their share, as is evidenced by this large body of delegates, some of whom have, like myself, come nearly two thousand miles to attend this convention and who will return home at its close to report what has been accomplished.

I believe there should be in every county a committee composed of men who are thoroughly posted on the particular advantages of their own district, and who are more interested in the general welfare of the community than in securing a commission from the sale of a piece of real estate. It should be the business of that committee to receive the immigrant kindly and help him to secure the location best adapted to him. We have, unfortunately, railroad men whose highest aim is to sell a ticket and real estate men whose chief aim is to make a commission. From both of these this committee should protect the immigrant.

In order to make immigration a success we must make the immigrant successful. I believe now is the time for a concerted movement on the part of railroads and people to secure immigration to the Northwest. For the past three months I have been visiting the business men of the cities and farmers in the country thoroughout my state, urging them to organize for the bringing in and proper settlement of immigrants, and, gentlemen of the convention, this is the message I bring you, the people of the "Evergreen State" will put forward effort for effort, and put up dollar for dollar with the railroads, for the development of the State of Washington.

Death of Benjamin Franklin Seely.

The death of Benjamin Franklin Seely, which occurred at his home in this city last Tuesday, at 11:30 a. m., while not unexpected, is none the less keenly regretable, as it removes from this stage of action, a most highly respected citizen, a man or irreproachable character, true, steadfast and faithful in friendship, constant and straightforward in principle, he won the confidence and respect of all with whom he came in contact.

For a number of years past he has been a patient, uncomplaining sufferer from that dread disease, consumption, who, with Christian-like fortitude, seemed to realize that the vital tissues of life were slowly but surely wasting away from the ravages of that relentless malady, retaining throughout that sublime courage, patience and cheerfulness, which are the crowning virtues of a noble heroic character.

During the early springtime his strength had become so exhausted that he was compelled to remain in his bed, from which he never arose.

At last the end came, so peaceful, so calm, so gentle; no resistence appeared as the restful spirit winged its flight to the land, we are told, where angels dwell in a realm of perfect bliss.

Born at Academy Corners, Tioga County, Pennsylvania, 56 years ago, his boyhood and young manhood days were passed at the home of his birth. About fifteen years ago he removed to Minnesota, where he remained a number of years. In 1890 he removed with his family to Port Angeles, where he has lived uninterruptedly to the time of his death.

A wife and four children—three boys and one girl—survive to mourn the departure of a loving husband and an affectionate father, who, in the sad hour of bereavement, have the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community.

The funeral services will be held from the family residence to-day (Friday) at 10 a. m., to which the friends of the family are respectfully invited.

Mrs. S. A. Kell, of Pomona, Cal., had the bad luck to sprain her ankle. "I tried several liniments," she says, "but was not cured until I used Chamberlain's Pain Balm. That remedy cured me and I take pleasure in recommending it and testifying to its efficacy." This medicine is also of great value for rheumatism, lame back, pains in the chest, pleurisy and all deep-seated and muscular pains. For sale by J. C. Hansen, Druggist.

There is no better or cheaper Christmas present than a dozen of Thomas extra finish cabinet photos. Come early and avoid the rush.

CHARGED WITH LIBEL.

A Complaint Has Been Sworn Out Charging

A PROMINENT DUNGENESS CITIZEN

With Libellous Statements Against the Character of C. F. Seal, of That Place—Prominent Dungeness Citizen's Birthday Anniversary.

DUNGENESS, Nov. 27—[Special Correspondence]—As your readers are aware sometime in the early hours of the 6th inst., the Groveland hotel was burned to the ground, evidently the work of an incendiary. But where to lay the blame was the question. This, however, seemed to be no puzzle at all, as the charge in the complaint has it, to Alec Henderson, of this place, who, seemingly possessed of knowledge hidden from the rest of poor humanity, and utterly reckless of all consequence of his foolish language, as the complaint says, charged C. F. Seal, of the Dungeness Trading Co., with the work that an habituat of some penitentiary might be proud of. Apparantly making so little secret of his knowledge that in a very little while the report ran over the country. The sequel came this morning when complaint was served upon Henderson by C. F. Seal, giving him twenty days in which to file an answer, to the complaint. It is to be hoped that in view of the fact that a man's reputation is more or less in the hands of men, who, having little to lose themselves care little of others, if the charges in the complaint are proved when the case comes for trial, an exemplary example should be made. The complaint charges with false and malicious libel, and sets the damage at $5000.

A. U. Davis, Esq., of this place, completed his 70th birthday on the 27th, feeling better, as he declared, than he has for years. One would little imagine to see him walk so briskly about his business that he had attained the scriptural span. Much of his interest is gathered into his life of the past 40 or 50 years. Crossing the plains in the rush of '49 after the yellow metal, taking part in all the hardships incident to a miner's life. Traversing from end to end of the Northern California country in search of that for which men are daily selling their souls, and being largely successful in its pursuit. Going back to his eastern home, only to return and take up the less exciting pursuit of the agriculturist, living honestly, soberly and righteously among his fellows, sums up in brief the life of one of Clallam county's best citizens. The only wishes one hears are that the ripe old age to which he has attained may never be marred by trouble or sorrow, but that he may pass safely and quietly into the harbor like a well founded, though at times, storm tossed vessel. He celebrates in royal, old-fashioned style, not only his birthday, but thanksgiving day also. From far and near, wherever his children dwell have they come to the old home, making a glorious reunion of children and grand children. How the table groaned beneath its load of good things, and how the joy and laughter echoed from lip to lip and heart to heart. Here's to you father Davis and your good old spouse, and may your shadow never grow less and the milestones of life be many before we say good-bye.

The City Hotel, conducted by Mr. and Mrs. McKinney, is the only hotel in Dungeness, and as a guest remarked a few days ago, is as clean, tidy and comfortable as any hotel to be found in many a day's travel.

Thanksgiving day services were held in the M. E. church on Thursday evening. Special choral pieces were rendered by the choir, and the enjoyable services, were participated in by a large number of the people.

Mr. J. R. Mason, the leading insurance agent and adjuster of Port Townsend, surveyed and approximated the loss on the Cay's hotel. Mr. Mason is also a stockholder in the Groveland Improvement Co., and enjoys a trip to Dungeness. He was entertained while here by Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Seal.

Old Mr. Webster, at the age of 88 years, passed to that home from which no traveller ere returns. He was glad to go, life became a burden and a care to him. He will be remembered by many, having resided on the prairie a great number of years.

The Dungeness Trading Company will have a large and elegant line of Christmas and holiday good for their patrons [illegible] their shelves. They recently placed on [illegible] a splendid line of new winter goods in every department.

Miss Belle Brown passed through on the steamer Tuesday for Victoria, having visited her Sequim prairie home for a few days. Mrs. Brown, who has been in Victoria some weeks past will return home shortly.

Mr. Gibert was on Wednesday obliged to start for Discovery peninsula to repair a break in the telegraph line. He expects to eat turkey with the boys in Payne's logging camp on Eagle creek.

The great question that the children are now troubled with is: "Does Santa Claus come down the chimney or thro' a window," and the pro and cons are heard on every side.

The Dungeness Trading Co. have received and filled orders for Italian wheat from various parts of the state. It is without a doubt the most prolific wheat to grow.

The church fair is advertised for the 9th and 10th of December, and it promises to be the best in every respect that has ever been attempted in Dungeness.

Mrs. Stephen L. Hall, of Gettysburg, returned home on Tuesday after a few days very pleasantly spent with her friends Mrs. Shepard and Mrs. Seal.

By the way there is nothing the matter with the choir in the Methodist church, the special pieces rendered from time to time are highly appreciated.

Robert Robertson went up to visit his family on his Jefferson county ranch and incidently to eat thanksgiving turkey and the accompanying sauces.

The Thanksgiving supper given by the ladies on Tuesday evening was well patronized, the tables being crowded from 5 until 9 o'clock.

Stephen L. Hall, the well-known logger, returning from up-sound stopped off at Dungeness for a day, renewing old acquaintances.

Miss Belle Stockand, of Port Townsend, is a very welcome visitor this week at the home of her sister, Mrs. Semple.

Jack Wilcox has recently cured some hams, shoulder and bacon, which, if any thing, is superior to the Eastern product

Mrs. Clump completed her visit in Dungeness, and left for Chicago on Tuesday, via Tacoma and the N. P. R. R.

Mr. Gibert on Tuesday last took from the wires a cablegram from Liverpool for a gentleman in Dungeness.

J. B. Dick, Esq., made a flying trip to Port Townsend Tuesday, returning Wednesday.

THE indecent, in fact criminal libel of the character and reputation of Mr. C. F. Seal of Dungeness, by malicious and vicious individuals, cannot be too severely condemned. While the charges against a man who has always borne the high, irreproachable character of the gentleman in question, are too frivolous and ridiculous to arouse even passing notice amongst his friends, acquaintances and business associates, they are calculated to create a false impression abroad, even if they do not result in a permanent injury. There is nothing so sacred, so dear, as character. It is something you can neither purchase nor sell. Any man who will not guard and protect inviolate his character and reputation, is utterly devoid the highest attributes of manhood. And any man who in malice and without justification libels the character and the reputation of another man, is guilty of one of the most cowardly and reprehensible offenses.

A PROMINENT Republican politician of Ohio, declares that the Republican party does not care to come to California to hold the national convention. Pacific coast Republican journals, of course, question the truth of the gentleman's conclusions. While it must be admitted that it is not known whether the source from which the gentleman draws his information is reliable, or not, it is quite safe to venture that it is. No doubt San Francisco deserves recognition—but then politicians rarely consider trifles like that.

WHEN a man's political ambition is so insatiable that he oversteps party bounds and sacrifices party principles and party precepts to gratify this inordinate if not unholy desire, it is seriously to be doubted if he is worthy public confidence. If for no other reason than this a man forsakes his party and renounces allegience to its principles, there is little question that his conscience has that elasticity which permits of the betrayal of a public trust.

THE exceeding vigilance of the Republican press in keeping the general public informed as to the condition of the gold reserve, will only be surpassed, of course, by the alacrity with which the grand old party will provide a solution when it comes together in congress next December.

FAINT ECHOS continue resounding from El Paso sending back the not altogether startling intelligence that Corbett and Fitzsimmons will yet fight. That may be; but no body believes it—in fact it is to be seriously doubted if the principal actors in this to-be public exhibition of brutality, want to or intend to fight.

UNDOUBTEDLY the public acts of the President of the United States are sometimes deserving of criticism. But nothing will arouse more fierce indignation in the fair-minded citizen than to have the motives of the chief executive of the land impugned by a blatant demagogue, an unprincipled agitator, who betrays his trust and forsakes his party—then endeavors to justify his outrageous action.

THE cautious voter will discover the method employed by the individual who, purely and solely for personal reasons, and not for any glaring disqualification of a candidate, opposes his candidacy with an indecent and undignified attack, and be governed accordingly.

AND sometimes journals of the school of the Post-Intelligencer speak a Jeffersonian truth, as for example the following brief paragraph from its editorial columns will attest: "Of all forms of indebtedness warrants have always proved the most expensive."

THE local political Joseph is more than likely to add another color to his political coat of many colors. Only a few more political somersaults and he will contest the right to occupy the exaulted position Herr Most now enjoys in public estimation.

THE outgoing municipal administration has been one of the most economical and thoroughly business-like in the history of the municipality. If taxpayers endorse such an administration of public affairs, they will vote the citizens ticket.

ISMS should not influence any voter in casting his ballot for municipal officers next Tuesday. The integrity and competency of the candidate should be an absolute consideration.

REPRESENTATIVE BUSINESS MEN have for the greater part been nominated on the citizens' ticket. A vote for that ticket will insure an efficient and economicel administration of the city's affairs.

HAVE you ever observed what a conspicuous part the editorial "we" plays when ignorance and conceit, stupidity and confusion wields the pen?

THE citizens' ticket is comprised of representative business men who have been accorded public recognition for true worth and competency, whose election is only a question of majority.

"THE blizzard in the East," are familiar words at this season of the year. And yet what an utter stranger to the mild, peaceful climate of Puget Sound.

THE unanimity of action at the citizens' convention, very eloquently attested the universal choice of the ticket nominated.

NOT one good, substantial reason can be advanced against the election of the citizens' ticket.

Liberal Feeding.

The successful stock breeder and feeder is the liberal feeder, who feeds for immediate results and early maturity. He is not content for his stock to be holding its own; that is wasting feed and time. He provides liberal feed to develop the desired growth and improve the condition. Such stock, when well bred, will invariably pay a premium on the feed and care, while if the same amount of feed had been extended over another year less profit would result, as the feed of maintenance must be provided before any gain in fat or growth can result, and the younger the animal the more gain a given amount of feed. From an English exchange we learn:

"Mr. Alfred Smetham, consulting analytical chemist to the Royal Lancashire Agricultural Society, in a re-print of an article on the choice of feeding stuffs, points out the necessity of a liberal diet, if feeding of stock is to be made profitable.

"Every animal, whether growing or in milk, requires a certain well-ascertained quantity of food simply to keep it alive, and it would be possible so to regulate the feeding of, say a bullock, that it should neither gain nor lose in weight for a long period. During that time the very considerable quantity of food which it would have consumed, would be, from the economical beef-producing point of view, entirely wasted; and it does not require much consideration to understand that it is only when food in excess of the quantity required for bare subsistence is given, that a profitable return can be obtained. From this it may be said, without any fear of contradiction, that true economy in feeding lies in the shortening of fattening operations, or, in other words, that early maturity is the passport to success."

U. S. Inspector Sheldon and crew left here on Saturday to examine a township survey southwest of Crescent.

Fifty-one head of sheep were brought here from Forks, Wednesday, by Lesure for hipment up-Sound.

A schooner is expected to leave San Francisco this week, or next, for this port to load lumber, and the sawmill here will soon begin sawing again.

The logging camp at Gettysburg has stopped work for the winter. The last boom of logs for this year was sent away on Tuesday.

Township 30-11 will be opened for filing next Tuesday. It is south of Pysht and east of Beaver. Township 27, range 14, will be open the same day, it is in Jefferson county, adjoining the Quillayute township.

The tug Queen City took out a raft of Scott & Shaw's logs from the Sekiou river on Wednesday, containing about 600,000 feet. Heavy seas came up about the time the tug started and before it reached the shelter of this bay in the evening about half of the logs were lost. The tug had ten sections when she left the Sekiou, but five only remained on Thursday morning. About forty of the logs were strewn along the beach around the bay and men are now at work trying to recover them.

Beaver Leader:

Rev. John MacNeil, of Collins, made us a very pleasant call last week. Mr. Macneil is thinking some of instituting a Sunday school at Sappho. The people around here would gladly give him their support. His distance from here, however, makes it inconvenient for him to come down often.

There is a high wind, heavy sea and high tide. Some swells flooded Front street and made lively times for about twenty minutes. Canoes and logs got slightly mixed. There has been some hard rains recently and the river is swollen, so the mail carrier had to come in a canoe. He says the river is full of salmon making up stream.

Will-le-ssa, a well-to-do Indian farmer, of Bogachiel, met with severe loss last week by fire. One of his children was sick and he was away to see a doctor. When he returned he found his Boston home and all his worldly possessions in ashes. He had just laid in his winter supply of of sugar, flour and clothing. There was no insurance. He thinks the fire was caused by a defective flue. Willle-ssa has a delate sick tum-tum.

C. J. Bark and son have got the Forks sawmill in running condition, which they rented of the firm of Anderson & Davis. The last rains have furnished plenty of water to try the new improvements, and find that they are a success.

At the Cannery.

Quite a number of Chinamen, who had been employed at the salmon cannery during the salmon season left last Sunday for Portland. The salmon packing season being over, the National Packing Company will now employ the remainder of its force of employes in manufacturing cans for next season's salmon pack, and in preserving and packing that delicious native bivalve, the clam. The management is confident that a receptive and a profitable market for canned clams can be established, and the purpose will be to labor with the same measure of energy and business sagacity to that end, that has characterized this signally successful industry since its establishment here. Extensive building improvements are also contemplated for next season's operations.

George Eliot's Moderness.

She standa alone in the extent to which she directed her appeal to the purely intellectual side of the reader, and the peculiar moderness, so to speak, of the method she employed in making it. Even in the earlier and simpler book—in "Scenes of Clerical Life," "Adam Bede," and "Silas Marner,"—where there might at first thought seem to be ground for qualifying such a statement, closer consideration, I think, will show it to be fully true. Of the latter books, "Felix Holt," "Middlemarch," Daniel Deronda," it is, of course, hardly less than a platitude.—From "The Point of Tiew" in the Christmas, December, Scribner's.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by ocal applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound of imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

DICTIONARY OF U. S. HISTORY.

United States History, less of a mystery
Now to the masses than ever before,
We have a great want supplied, all facts we've simplified,
And to all knowledge we've opened the door.

So simple the chronicle, gaze through a monocle,
But one eye's needed to gather the fact,
Our volume a peer is, and all that we hear is
The sounds of applause for our genius and tact.

All facts alphabetical, 'tis less enigmatical,
We acknowledge it came with the cleverest thought.
The best book of reference, we say it with deference,
No other book like it has ever been bought

The man who compiled it, who wrote out, and styled it,
In Historic Research has reached the extreme:
A professor of colleges, you'll agree that his knowledge is
By the great masses considered supreme.

We want men to sell it: no one can repel it;
At homes, schools and colleges sales can be made.
Just write for instructions, our small introductions,
There's more money in it than ever you have made.

AGENTS can make more sales with less talk and less walking with this book than with anything else they ever sold. It appeals to everybody. It is handsome, entertaining and useful. It is good for every member of the family—useful alike to schoolboy and grandpa. Write for circulars and terms to

BIG PROFITS ON SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but no where can they make so much within short time as by successful Speculation in Grain, Provisions and stocks.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can by made by our Systematic Plan of Speculation originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well-known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States, who by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invest a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on successful speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

Is the one that's never sung;

A picture that is fairer.
Than all that have a part
Among the masterpieces
In the ma[illegible]ble halls of art
Is the one that haunts the painter
In all the golden dreams,
And to the painter only
A real picture seems.

The noblest, grandest poem
Lies not in blue and gold.
Among the treasured volumes
That rosewood bookshelves hold;
But in bright, glowing visions
It comes to he poet's brain,
And when he tries to grasp it
He finds his effort vain.

A fairy hand from dreamland
Beckons here and there,
And when we strive to clasp it
It vanishes into air.
And thus our fair ideal
Floats away just before,
And we with longing spirits
Reach for it evermore.

The New York World.

The twice-a-week edition of the New York World has been converted into the Thrice-a-week. It furnishes three papers of six pages apiece, or eighteen pages every week at the old price of one dollar a year. This gives 156 papers a year for one dollar, and every paper has six pages eight columns wide or forty-eight columns in all. The Thrice-a-Week World is not only much larger than any weekly or semi-weekly newspaper, but it furnishes the news with much greater frequency and promptness. In fact it combines all the crisp, fresh qualities of a daily wite the attractive special features of a weekly. THE DEMOCRAT-LEADER and THE THRICE-A-WEEK WORLD will be mailed to any address at $2 a year.
