THE MAYOR'S MESSAGE.

It is Comprehensive of All Departments

OF THE MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT.

Quite a Number of Recommendations Are Made as to Reforms Which Should, in the Mayor's Judgment, be Inaugurated.

To the Common Council of the City of Port Angeles:

GENTLEMEN--Believing that we have been called here by a common interest, I wish to address you briefly on some of the matters that will likely come before us for our consideration. It is needless to go into the acts of former officers as to what they did or did not do. We have heard much of that, and will probably no more before our terms expire. The future of our city now commands our attention. With our present indebtedness so large in proportion to our resources, and the financial stringency everywhere prevalent we cannot expect to do very much to relieve the burden here. But, gentlemen, I believe none of you have any other interests, as I know I have none, other than that which is the best interest of the whole city and the welfare of the people who have chosen us, to guard and protect their interests during the present year. There are financial matters of importance that will claim our early and earnest attention, as well as numerous other questions that you will be called upon to decide. But there is no question or no interest more sacred, or that should receive more earnest and loyal support from each of us than the questions as to what is for the best interests and welfare of the people who have come here to make homes for themselves and their families, and have by their means, their labor and their privations, given whatever value there is to the property within the city. It is upon them that the future credit and prosperity of the commonwealth largely depends, and to make their interests first, is I believe, to best serve the interests of those who hold the indebtedness against the city, and lest I be misunderstood, I will say that we should care for the sick and relieve the poor and distressed, and pay the actual and necesary expenses of the city from the revenues thereof. Rather than let the needy suffer and beg the expenses from the charity of the people that the small amount may go to the bondholders for a debt that has been forced upon us by chicanery and fraud. It may be a just debt so far as present owners are concerned, but no one can truthfully say that the city has had value received and they can afford to wait a little.

CURRENT EXPENSES.

This is probably one of the first problems we shall have to grapple with, and as I stated in my address at the Opera house before election, that I was in favor of paying current expenses in cash, instead of warrants that were only worth twenty-five cents on the dollar and probly illegal at that, I wish to say that I am in favor of that plan now, believing that some legal provision can be found for such a course, and I think it comes with very bad grace for the warrant or bondholders to attempt to enjoin the city from using any portion of its current receipts to the payment of necessary and actual expenses in conducting and carrying on the city government on which the value of their securities so largely depend. Judge Hanford's decision on limit of mortgagee righss, as to railroads, seems to me to be good law for municipal corporations. He say: "From necessity therefore has arisen the practice of court of equity to apply the revenue coming to receivers in payment of lawful claims for wages, materials furnished and similar obligations created in the legitimate conduct of transportation business, and such practice cannot be regarded as a mere arbitary exercise of power by the courts, but is rather the application of legal rules founced upon necessity, and the assent of the mortgagees implied from the circumstances of their accepting as security for their investments, mortgages on this kind of property, and permitting the same to remain in the possession of and be operated on the credit system by the mortgagors, and on this same line I maintain that the law will bear us out in using enough of our current revenues to meet the legitimate and necessary expenses for the proper conduct of our city's business. I believe suits are before the courts in other places upon this question, and we will soon have those decisions to guide us here, and certainly I sign no warrants that are decided to be illegal and a fraud on their face.

INTEREST ON OUR BONDED DEBT.

This is something that ought to receive our early attention, and I shall be glad if some legal means could be found to pay it. At present, however, there are no funds in the treasury that can legally be used for that purpose, so I am informed.

OUR FLOATING INDEBTEDNESS.

I notice that Mayor Mallette in his address to the council one year ago advocated as the only way to place the city on a good basis was to raise our appraisement high enough to allow us to vote funding bonds to take up the whole of this indebtedness. This, in my judgment, would be a very unwise, unjust and unbusinesslike transaction. To raise our assessment higher in proportion to the value of our property than other portions of the county would be to levy just that much more tax on the people of this city to meet county and state taxes, as their assessment had been raised above an equal valuation, and I don't believe our people will allow this.

It is conceded by the best legal authority that the greater part of this large floating indebtedness is illegal, that it has been issued in violation of law beyond the limit allowed and that it cannot be legalized except by a vote of the people, and then only a portion of it and while I do not favor the repudiation of our past debts or the institution of suits looking to that end, I do not think we ought to consider for a moment the funding of this large indebtedness or any part of it at present. The city has not realized more than twenty-five cents on the dollar, yet it bears interest from eight to ten per cent on its face, so the parties holding it can afford to wait. If they do and it should become possible for us to pay it, we would feel more more like doing so than if they tried to push us now. All we can or ought to do is to stand in self defence, and see to it that the city is protected should suits be instituted. The supreme court has just decided that that portion known as street grade warrants and issued against the general fund are illegal.

ELECTRIC LIGHTS.

This is a matter that should be looked after at once. The city has issued its bonds to the amount of thirty thousand dollars for this plant, and the interest on this amount keeps ticking right along, and yet it has been handled in such a slip shod manner that not one cent of revenue has been derived from it. No one seems to know much about it. The manager's monthly statements have shown a wonderful evenness between receipts and expenditures. But if it has not been conducted properly I think the committee having it in charge are to blame and I think if properly managed that the plant ought to yield some revenue, and the service might be somewhat extended, and I would suggest some change in the system of management. The marshal or clerk should collect the rents and the city should buy its own supplies and pay the cash for them. It is sheer nonsense to attempt to run that business on promises that are only worth twenty-five cents on the dollar and turn the rents from lights over to pay interests on those promises.

STREET WORK.

In the present state of our finances I had thought we should not be able to do more in a general way than to keep in repair what we had, except on Pine and Tumwater hills, to which I will allude further on. But the very heavy rains and resulting floods of the past few days have presented a more serious problem for us to solve. The damage to Valley street cannot be repaired without an outlay of several hundred dollars, and we all know that the people on that street are utterly unable to meet that expense, neither is their money in the street fund to do it, and no one would undertake to do that work and accept city warrants, which all know te be illegal and practically worthless. Now what is to be done. Our sympathies go out to those people; none of us know when misfortune will overtake us, and my own opinion is that they should be assisted from the general revenue of the city. We have four or five thousand dollars lying idle in that fund and I would favor using a part of it to so far repair the damage that the people can get in and out from their homes with some degree of safety. But some of our loyal citizens threaten to enjoin us if we touch that fund for any other purpose than the payment of outstanding obligations as specified by law. And on what, I ask you, is law? Supposed to be founded on justice and equity. And is not necessity the parent of law? If we feel that we cannot act safely in the matter, let us call our people together and see what their judgment is. * * *

SANITARY DEPARTMENT.

Except the prevalence of scarlet fever there are but two sources I think in this department from which we may apprehend danger. One is from the introduction of contagious deseases through our shipping, and the other from an impure water supply, and probably more sickness is caused through the latter than all others combined, not only in this city, but in every city, in fact, everywhere. With the first named, I believe our health officer is fully aware, and is competent to look after, as to the latter I think it is a matter for this council to look into, and I suggest that a special committee of three, the health officer being one, be appointed to visit the source of our water supply at a point where it is introduced into the mains, and see what protection is provided for furnishing us with wholesome water. I was informed by a gentleman last summer, who visited that point, that the amount of rubbish and filth that had been allowed to collect there was conducive to anything but good health.

I would farther suggest that the franchise and the contract with the water company be looked up by this committee and find what guarantee, if any, the city may have for its protection in this direction, and while on this line it would be well to find out what our contract is with the water company for hydrant rentals. In these times of retrenchment why should the city be paying a thousand dollars a year for water unless to cut it off would make us liable to damages. At any rate nothing can be lost by a thorough investigation of the whole matter and if no legal question intervens, the prunning knife should be used as in other departments.

POLICE DEPARTMENT.

As to this department I have heard no complaints, other than that the services of the marshal might be dispensed with, or else be paid by subscriptions from the business men. I believe neither proposition would be good business policy. The safety of every person that walks the streets requirs a marshal on duty as well as the business man. If it pays to have a city organization it will pay to have it properly conducted, and to attempt to collect this or any other expense attached to the city government, off of our already over-burdened business men, would be unsatisfactory and a failure, as well as an injustice to them. It would not be business. All are benefited and all should pay. As to who the marshal shall be is for you to decide. In my own business affairs I never discharged a sober, efficient and worthy servant to employ one I did not know or had not employed, and what is good policy in one's own affairs ought to be for the city.

COMMITTEES.

I wish to call your special attention to this branch of our administration. For much of its success or failure depends on the interest taken by, and the diligence of, the various committees. Much of the dissatisfaction in the past has, I believe, been caused by neglect or lack of energy in this direction, and I hope that every man that accepts a place on any committee will make that business his own business, and use the same caution in any negotiations for the transaction of any business, that he would if the money to pay was coming from his own pocket.

LITIGATION.

It was expected we would have something to command our attention in this direction as it was announced that several suits would be brought as soon as this administration should come in power, but I understand a recent decision of the supreme court has caused their withdrawal for the present.

I do not know the full intent and purpose of the proposed suits, as the outgoing mayor neglected to advise the council. We will likely know more of them in the future. In any event, I believe the only proper course for the city is to stand firmly on the defensive and guard its interests, that no snap judgment be taken, or no loop hole left to mulch the city, and it would be a wise thing for the council to ask the clerk and treasurer to ascertain at just what point the city reached the legal limit of its indebtedness and then enjoin the treasurer from paying any warrants drawn after that limit was reached, and to pay only such as were considered legal, at present, beinning with the oldest warrants out and pay them in their regular order. It is not good policy to collect taxes to

THE CLALLAM COUNTY

Immigration Association Has Been Organized.

THE OFFICERS AND EXECUTIVE

Committee Have Been Elected—Delegates Elected to to Attend the Meeting of the State Association, Which Meets in Seattle Next Monday.

CLALLAM COUNTY has organized an immigration board. Agreeable to the call issued by M. J. Carrigan, and published in the papers, a meeting was held in the Board of Trade rooms last Saturday afternoon, for the purpose of organizing an immigration society, the object of which would be to encourage a desirable class of immigrants to settle in Clallam county.

The meeting was called to order, S. L. Myers being called to the chair, and Geo. H. Gale, was unanimously elected secretary.

Mr. Carrigan addressed the meeting at considerable length, elaborating on the very beneficial results which could be accomplished through the instrumentality of an association organized for the purpose of encouraging a desirable class of immigrants to settle in this county, providing it was administered in an efficient and a systematic manner. He stated that he firmly believed that there would be a large immigration to the Northwest during the present year, and the desirability of an organization equipped to secure a full share of the immigration, must be manifest to everyone.

The organization was then effected, and it was decided that it should be known and designated as "The Clallam County Immigration Association."

The next order of business was the election of officers for the ensuing term, which resulted as follows:

President, Jas. S. Coolican; Vice Presidents, Wm. Bell, Frank Chambers; Merrill Whittier, Jno. B. Knapman; Sec., Geo. H. Gale; Treasurer, Jno. M. Bell.

A board of directors was elected com posed of the president, secretary and treasurer and Messrs. M. J. Carrigan and Capt. Thos. H. Bradley.

Six delegates were unanimously elected to attend the meeting of the State Immigration Association, which soon convenes in an important session, as follows: M. J. Carrigan, chairman, Jno. M. Bell, Geo. H. Gale, S. L. Myers, Port Angeles; H. J. Lipsett, Dungeness; Will A. Sparks, Beaver.

A committee comprising Wm. Bell and Capt. Bradley was appointed to draft the constitution and by-laws for the government of the association.

A committee comprising M. J. Carrigan, Jno. M. Bell, J. M. Jordon, Geo. Sherman and P. O'Shaughnessey, was appointed to select an executive committee comprised of a member from each voting precinct in the county, which selections were to be submitted to the meeting of the association held the following Thursday evening for approval.

The object in electing a member of of the executive committee from each voting precinct in the county, is to give equal representation to all portions of the county. From this it will be seen that the benefit to be derived will depend largely on the activity of the representatives from each locality. It will be the duty of each member of the executive committee to approximately ascertain the amount of land open to settlement, character of the land, whether heavily timbered or otherwise; nature of the soil, value and extent of land available for agriculture, means of transportation, measure of development, school and church advantages, and all other information of interest to the intending settler, so as to enable him to at once judge as to the desirability of any particular locality for a future home.

The association will be in a position to make the substantial offer to all newcomers, particularly those with families, of the free use of a lot, 50x140 feet, for a reasonable period, thus giving them ample opportunity to look around and ascertain the most desirable locality for a permanent home, and, at the same time, materially curtail their living expenses.

A committee comprising Wm. Bell, Capt. Morrisey, Wm. Banks, Geo. H. Gale and M. J. Carrigan was appointed to acquaint the board of county commissioners, with the fact that a county immigration association had been organized agreeable to the request of Gov. McGraw, and that six delegates had been elected to represent Clallam county at the state convention, and that the committee would respectfully request that the honorable board endorse the delegates. The request was granted.

The members of the board of county commissioners were unanimously elected honorary members of the executive committee:

Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound of imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

THE country is confronted with grave financial problems.

ENGLAND is now having a tilt with Germany over the Transvaal affair.

THE Republican party is not making very substantial progress in solving the vexatious national problems confronting it.

AGAIN the insane jealousy existing between Seattle and Tacoma is vigorously demonstrated. Seattle is also unearthing a huge public scandal.

THE estrangement between the president and congress over the financial question, is very seriously disturbing commercial conditions throughout the country.

THE Clallam County Immigration Association can with an aggressive administration accomplish much for the material advancement of this great commonwealth.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND has submitted to the wishes of the people and called for a popular loan. And now the all-absorbing question is, will the people subscribe sufficiently to promptly take care of the loan?

A FEW of the public journals of the country imagine because the country is in financial difficulties that it should not defend its sacred traditional rights when threatened by unfriendly powers. What lofty sentiment.

THE new municipal administration was inaugurated last Wednesday evening. The iuaugural address of Mayor Myers, which deals exhaustively with the various departments of government, is published in full in this issuance. The mayor-elect defines in rugged and positive language his position on all municipal questions.

THE supreme court of the state settles the vexed question, whether a woman can hold the office of school superintendent, by an affirmative decision in the case of George E. Russell, respondent, vs. Ella L. Guplill, appellant, which was appealed from the superior court of this county. The effect or the decision may prove more far-reaching than was anticipated by the supreme court. If no constitutional barriers exist to a woman holding the office of superintendent of public schools, is she then not eligible for any public office?

THE Clallam County Immigration Association has been organized and will doubtless prove to be a powerful agency for good, but it wofully lacks in the important essential of being wholesomely representative. The active, dominant business interests in Port Angeles seems to have been overlooked. The fact should be steadfastly borne in mind, that to stamp any institution with the genuine coinage of public usefulness, it must be free of any taint of factional dominance. If any person is not sufficiently broad, high-minded and patriotic to rise above the contemptible and unworthy spirit of petty differences and unite in any movement subservient of the welfare of the general public, he demonstrates very positively his utter unfitness to serve in a public capacity. Again we repeat if the immigration association is to be safely guided free of the rocks and shoals which threaten to materially damage if not totally destroy its influence for public good, it should become wholesomely representative.

Poultry Notes.

To make poultry keeping most profitable, there should be plenty of eggs to market in winter and chickens for market in the spring.

To have good layers we must breed from good laying stock and cultivate like any other important characteristic.

No matter when eggs are set, they should always be carefully tested on the fifth or sixth day after they are put under the hens.

Sand is not a good substitute for gravel in the poultry yard, it is not sharp enough; given an opportunity, the hens will pick up the sharpest, irregular pieces.

Lice drive more setting hens from the nests, and cause more deaths among them, than any other cause, and this loss could readily be avoided with proper care.

Feathers and combs are largely matters of fancy, bnt egg-laying and chicken raising are matters of business.

Do not feed stimulating foods to your poultry. Condition powders of all kinds are stimulating. As a corrective give a feed of charred corn once a week.

Sometimes hens are found dead under the perches while seemingly fat and in good condition. Often the trouble is that they are too fat and die of apoplexy.

All hens that cannot be depended upon for winter layers, or that are not needed as mothers next spring, should be fattened and marketed as soon as possible.

Everyone who keeps hens knows of one or two which are persistent layers. These should be bred from, as they will transmit their good qualities to thair progeny.

While milk of all kinds is good for fowls of all kinds it should not be made to take the place of water. A good plan is to keep a supply of both where they can help themselves.

Seventy-five per cent. is about the average hatch by a hen and 50 per cent. by an incubator. Poor machines and careless and inexperienced operators are the cause of the difference.

Carelessness is responsible for more sickness among poultry than anything else. Carelessness allows lice to become numerous, and lice are the worst enemies that the poultryman has to contend with.

A WOMAN CAN HOLD THE OFFICE.

The Supreme Court Declares Miss Guptill Eligible as School Supt.

The supreme court of the State of Washington has reversed the decision of the Superior court of Clallam county in the case of George E. Russell, respondent, vs. Ella L. Guptill, in which cause Miss Guptill appealed from the decision of the court of this county, which held that a woman ineligible to hold the office of county superintendent, to which office it will be remembered, Miss Guptill was elected at the last general election by a substantial plurality.

The effect of the decision, doubtless, when carried to its logical conclusion, may prove vastly more sweeping than even the Supreme court intended that it should, when it placed the liberal construction upon that phase of the state constitution, i. e., is a woman eligible to hold a public office? If the Supreme court has correctly interpreted the constitution inasfar as the case in question is concerned, and thereby settled the question, once for all, that it is not unconstitutional for a woman to hold the office of county superintendent of public schools, then, if ever there existed any barriers, real or imaginary, to a woman holding any public office, this broad decision would seem to have, forever and aye, most effectually obliterated them.

VIOLENT TORRENTS OF WATER.

Bridges Carried Away—Serious Damages to the Public Highways.

The unusually heavy rainfall of last Monday evening caused serious damage to the public thoroughfares throughout Clallam county.

The numerous mountain streams emptying into the straits, already high from long-continued rain and melting snow in the mountains, were swollen into violent torrents which swept everything before them.

Bridges below the extreme high water mark wore carried away, huge avalanches were sent with crushing force down hillsides carrying everything before them.

In the east end the bridge across Lee's creek was carried away, the Seibert's creek bridge was twisted from its foundation into a Z shape, and will have to be repaired before it can be used, and a small bridge near Sequim is reported to have been destroyed.

From the west end the report comes that the bridge over the Clallam river is totally destroyed; huge avalanches have obstructed county roads, loggers have lost half a million feet of logs, and the end is not yet.

In this city an avalanche demolished the Oak street zig-zag, bridges and sidewalks were carried away on Valley street, the Lincoln street tunnel was undermined and other damage of more or less consequence was wrought by the raging torrents.

IN MEMORY OF THREE SISTERS.

Three years ago I left loved home,
And all in life most dear to me,
To come here, near our blessed dead,
The setting sun and briny sea.

I came to view a hallowed home,
One narrow—such as all may claim—
To dwell here, near that sacred spot,
A sister's home—a grave by name.

I was so happy here alone,
With duty done to one we love,
Whose body slumbers in the tomb;
Whose spirit basks in perfect love.

But soon, so soon, a message came,
Our dear loved sister (one I left),
Was called to join that sister dear;
Again our home are all bereft.

But none can miss our sainted one
As he, who, with devotion true,
Had cherished her the last three years,
And then, compelled to say adieu

O none can miss dear Minnie Bird
As she, who, with a "mamma's" care,
Entwined herself 'round that sweet child,
Who's now with mamma "over there."

Dear sisters, brothers, let us live
More closely to our God above,
So when death's angel comes for us,
We'll meet and greet all those we love.

—SUE A. LAFOLLETTE.

A special committee was appointed to investigate as to the adequateness of the water supply for city purposes, and the reasonableness of the monthly rental per hydrant.

A special committee was also appointed to examine into the condition of the electric lighting plant and as to the efficiency of the management.

He crossed the ocean many times,
Without a thought of fear;
He crossed the rugged Alpine range,
He caossed the desert drear;
He crossed the Brooklyn trolley tracks,
Nor trembled for his life—
And yet he doesn't care to cross
His little brown-eyed wife.

She is a matchless beauty,
And that she can't forget,
A match to make she's tried for years.
But all in vain, so it appears
That she is matchless yet.

The Lincoln Heights M. E. church will be dedicated next Sunday, the dedicatory sermon will be preached by Rev. T. M. Ford, presiding elder of this conference district.

An important meeting was held by by the Clallam County Horticultural Society last Saturday afternoon. The attendance was quite large. The president urged upon the members using their best endeavor to awaken a deeper interest in the society. Mr. Carter and others also spoke with much fervor along the same vein. The unanimous sentiment was that the membership should be increased until every farmer in Clallam county was a member. The success of the second annual fair depends largely on an increased membership.

Special services have been conducted in the First Congregational church in this city by the pastor, Rev. G. W. Nelson, every evening this week, excepting Saturday evening.

W. H. Lambert, formerly of this city, has secured a contract to build a railroad on one of the large plantations near Honolulu. Mrs. Lambert, who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. I. Kirschberg, in this city, will return to Honolulu in April.

The "Cricket on the Hearth," dramatized from one of Charles Dicken's immortal works, will be produced at the opera house by a local company, with Geo. T. Ulmer as the leading player. It promises the amusement-loving public a rich treat.

The reason why Port Angeles is incomparably the better location for holding the county fair, is because it is centrally situated. In the consideration of the eligibility of a point as the seat of a public enterprise, the fact of a central situation outweighs all others. And the east end should not be unmindful of the convenience of the people of the Quillayute country.

NEWS OF THE COUNTY.

Gleanings From the Press of Western Clallam.

East Clallam Record.

An old gentleman, who was at one time postmaster of Council Bluffs, Iowa, arrived here last week to take up a claim out in the Hoh river country. He has two sons there and says he expects to bring out quite a colony of his relatives next summer to settle on the Hoh.

M. McNamara received a dispatch last week from Charles Shelton, the government inspector of surveys, requesting him to go to Union City and join the survey party there, about to start out. Mac was ready to go on Monday night but received news that Shelton had been sent to New Mexico, dropping his work in this state.

Forty head of sheep from Forks was shipped from here to Townsend, Monday night.

A crew of men has been at work for a week driving piles and repairing the wharf, and have got the job completed.

A combination of loggers has been formed at Seattle to keep up prices and limit the output of logs hereafter. The trust hopes to take in all the loggers on the Sound, and maintain a better rate for their logs.

The bridge at Schneider's place on the Clallam river was lately swept away and has caused a jam of logs at that point.

The English bark Forfarshire, which has been storm bound in port for several weeks, made another attempt to go to sea last Saturday, but was towed back from the cape. She was due at Astoria December 20, to load flour for China.

It is learned, from a reliable source, that Sol G. Simpson, of Kamiche, Wash., one of the largest loggers in the Pacific Northwest, has entered into contract with the Port Blakely Mill Company to cut 700,000,000 feet of logs at market prices. As the Port Blakeley mill will require from 75,000,000 to 80,000,000 feet per year, Mr. Simpson will be kept busy for the next nine or ten years. This is the largest contract ever placed on the Pacific coast, if not in the United States.

Beaver Leader:

The beach at LaPush is lined with new timber that has lately lined the banks of the rivers.

THE DEMOCRAT-LEADER is making preparations to issue a big special edition some time in February. It is intended to contain a complete history of the county.

Little Emel Burgerstrom of Bogachiel, who is residing with Mr. Smith, met with a very serious accident last week. He was riding a horse and leading a young playful colt, when it kicked him on the leg, breaking the bone and cutting a gash several inches deep. Rev. Dr. Fletcher, of Quillayute, was immediately sent for, while near neighbors gathered in to assist in caring for him.

The Boston (Western Clallam) Fair proved, beyond a doubt, the agricultural resources. Flowers, fruits, vegetables, cereals, etc., are a success. When the harbor is opened to make an outlet, so we can exchange our produce with foreign nations, it will build up the town with enterprising and industrious citizens. Sailing vessels should line our harbor, a regular line of steamships to carry coal, lumber and passengers to Portland, San Francisco, South America, Honolulu, Australia, Japan and China, and timber to European ports for ship building. Several lines of railroads would aid to develop the interior of our vast wilderness of to-day. Our rivers have excellent water powers, sufficient to drive all the machinery in all the factories in New England. These is plenty of room for the investment of capital here, and it would be a paying investment. The elk, deer, bears, cougars, wolves and wildcats will retire to the Olympics mountains, while the hardy pioneer will build towns and beautiful homes where now the noble red man and wild animals roam at will.

Mutiny on the British Ship Gifford.

A mutiny is reported to have occurred last Monday among the sailors on board the British four-masted ship Gifford, outward bound. The cause of the trouble is said to have arose over a misunderstanding between the sailors and a boarding house runner in Tacoma. When the sailors signed, they were ignorant of the fact that they would not again be permitted to go ashore for their clothing. The tricky runner agreed, however, their clothes were sent aboard. When they were brought aboard, an examination of the contents revealed the fact that all of the valuables had been removed, and the bags were stuffed with valueless articles.

This was not the only outrage committed against the men. An advance of $40 on each man had been paid, by the captain, to the runner, which had been appropriated by the latter. The captain disclaims any responsibility for the wrong perpetrated on the sailors, and is starving them into obedience.

Notice.

I am requested to call a public meeting for Monday, Jan. 13, at 7:30 o'clock, to be held in Thompson's hall to consider the feasibility of building a steam passenger and freight boat and to receive subscriptions to the stock for same.

The opera house being now owned by Port Townsend parties, they refuse any reduction in rates. Hence the change to Thompson's hall, owned by home parties.

BIG PROFITS ON SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but no where can they make so much within short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stocks.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our Systematic Plan of Speculation originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States, who by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two in direct dollars up to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are those who are satisfied to go slow and make sure enough brokers who thoroughly understand system and careful trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in short time.

Hon. John James Ingalls is doubtless sorry that he did not get back into the senate in time to participate in the twisting contest.

Remember that what pulls the string is the force hidden within; there lies the power to persuade, there the life—there, if one must speak out, the real man.—Marcus Aurelius.

Mind is the great lever of all things; human thought is the process by which human ends are ultimately answered. — Daniel Webster.

By all means, use some times to be alone; salute thyself, see what thy soul doth wear; dare to look in thy chest, for 'tis thine own—and tumble up and down whate'er thou findest there.—Herbert.

We have need of all our crosses. When we suffer much it is because we have strong ties which it is necessary to loosen. — Christian Burke.

There is no kind of life, whether we are transacting public or private affairs, at home or abroad—those in which we are alone concerned or with others—that is free of obligations. In the due discharge of these consists all the dignity, and in their neglect the disgrace of all life.—Cicero.

Wishes are wings to lift us or weights to retard. A wish may be our blessing or our doom.—Shakespeare.

Time flows through the hands of men—swift never pausing, till it has run itself out, and there is the man petrified into a marble sleep, not feeling what it is which is passing away forever.—Robertson.

He who never feels the throb of indignation is imbecile. He who can walk among the injustices of the world, inflicted upon himself and others, without flush of cheek or flash of eye, or agitation of nature, is either in sympathy with wrong or devoid of feeling. It all depends on what you are angry at and how long the feeling lasts, whether anger is right or wrong.—Talmage.

Geo. W. Jenkins, editor of the Santa Maria Times, Calif., in speaking of the various ailments of children, said: "When my children have croup there is only one patent medicine that I ever use, and that is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It possesses some medical properties that relieve the little sufferers immediately. It is, in my opinion, the best cough medicine in the market." If this remedy is freely given as soon as the croupy cough appears it will prevent the attack. It is also an ideal remedy for whooping cough. There is no danger in giving it to children, as it contains nothing injurious. For sale by J. C. Hansen, Druggist.

board when we have obligations that ought to be met, besides [illegible] are drawing interest.

LICENSES.

I believe I made the statement before election that if elected I would endeavor to act justly by every person and every measure that might come before me, and to be consistent with this pledge, gentlemen, I wish to call your attention to the liquor traffic in this city. The saloons are paying a revenue into the city of three hundred dollars each per year, and have obligated themselves to conduct their places in an orderly manner. We have legalized their business subject to certain rules and regulations, they are entitled to our protection. But instead of protecting them, and while seeking revenue from their business, we allow the drug stores to engage in the same business without contributing one cent of revenue to the city, or being under any restraint or regulations whatever. While I do not wish to be understood as in any manner defending the business, I wish to ask you, gentlemen, is this justice! which is the fundamental principle of our government, and without which our laws are but as sounding brass and tinkling symbols. Neither do I wish to censure the druggists, the remedy is with us, and I hope we may see to it that they comply with the law at once, and either discontinue the sale of any and all spiritous liquors, or else contribute to the revenue as do the saloons. Let us be just and fair to all alike and we shall have taken a long step towards unity of action by our citizens in our business affairs, to secure which equal justice to all must be our motto.

CHARITIES.

This is something that should occupy our early attention, as I understand there is considerable destitution in the city. Some cases have come under my own observation of aged and infirm persons, and while we are not in a condition to do much, no one ought to be allowed to suffer for the bare necessities of life when it is in our power to prevent. I know there is a great and popular demand for retrenchment and rigid economy in our affairs at present. But I notice too that those who are howling the loudest in that direction are those that have been instrumental in bankrupting and plundering the city and county. But let us not be deceived or diverted from doing what good judgment and humanity dictates, and certainly let us support our own poor in preference to hiring some other city to do it at our expense.

INDUSTRIES.

I am glad to note that we have made some progress in this direction during the past year. The practability of utilizing the vast water power of our mountain streams has been demonstrated by the pluck and energy of one of our former mayors, Norman Smith, in bringing the waters of Ennis creek to run his shingle mill, using the flume to float his shingle bolts down also, and I only wish we had a dozen Norman Smiths and that each one had a barrel of money. Then we would have Morse creek, Little River and perhaps the great Elwha, all bridled and harnessed and running our electric lights, our mills, street cars and other industries that would be bringing revenue into our city. The National Packing Company that have established themselves here the past year have proven this to be the most practical place for that industry (the fishing industry). They have employed a large force during the whole season and have distributed a large amount of money among our citizens. Mr. Hume tells me they have put up thirty thousand cases of salmon alone. They will double their capacity next season. We want an ice factory so that we can have cold storage to keep the fish until they can be handled, when they come in such large quantities at they did the past season I understand we are to have a box factory here soon and also another cannery and I believe there is little doubt but what we shall have a first class steamboat, owned and operated by and in the interest of Port Angeles and Clallam county within eight months from today. The people seem to be almost a unit on that proposition, and in union you know, there is strength. I also have it on very good authority that a paying vein of coal has been located within the past few days and near this city.

In conclusion, gentlemen, believing as I before stated, that we were here with a common interest; and though we may differ somewhat at times as to methods, we shall never differ as to the result sought to be obtained, and while I pledge you my support on the lines I have expressed, I as earnestly solicit your support in the discharge of those duties that devolve on me in the hope that this administration mark the turning point for a greater prosperity than Port Angeles has heretofore known.
