EXPERIMENT IN CANNING CLAMS.

A Process Discovered By Which They Lose None of Their Flavor in Canning, But It Is Kept a Secret.

Manager J. W. Hume, of the National Packing Company, was asked yesterday concerning the past, present and future operations of the company he represents. The cannery which has been conducted by the company, is the first paying industry of the kind established in this city, and the result of the experiment is of interest to the citizens of Port Angeles, as its success means the establishment here of other industries of a similar nature.

Mr. Hume has just made a sample pack of Clallam county clams, and favorable reports are being daily received from those to whom they were sent. One calls attention to the fact that the flavor of the clam has not been lost in canning. Another speaks of the attractive manner in which they have been put up, and all say they are the best canned clams they have ever tasted. This result was not arrived at until experiments had been made with several processes, and the one finally adopted is so satisfactory that Mr. Hume considers it is a secret of the business and declines to explain the modus operandi. The attractive label used is similar to that on the canned salmon put up by the company with the exception that the cut of a clam is substituted for that of the salmon. The supply of clams will be obtained at Sequim, where they are to be found in great numbers, and the company will at once put up a few hundred cases with which they hope to establish a market. Another branch of the business will be the manufacture of clam nectar which is made from the juice of the clam and which makes an excellent beverage.

In speaking of the salmon pack of the last season, Mr. Hume said that the company had packed 21,000 cases, and that the greater portion of this amount had been shipped. Silver salmon constituted one half of the pack and humpback and dog fish the balance.

In order to place this pack on the market the company has been at an expense of $90,000, a large portion of which was expended in this city. During the present year it is their intention to increase the capacity of the plant by adding new machinery and buildings, and if the season proves successful the National Packing Company will be the means of putting a large amount of money in circulation.

It has been suggested by the Port Angeles Horticultural Society that an experiment be made in canning small fruits, vegetables and berries. These are produced in great quantities in Clallam county and the amount could be greatly increased if a ready market could be found. Mr. Hume says that it is the intention of his company to take the matter up and if it is found that Clallam county can compete successfully with California in this business, an extensive plant will be put in. Mr. J. L. Hanthorn, of the National Packing Company, is now in San Francisco, but will be in Port Angeles soon, and will decide upon the improvements to be made during the present season.

The steamer Ranier has been recently purchased to be operated in connection with the cannery, and Mr. Hume will go to Seattle this week and take possession of her.

A Big British Ship.

The big British ship Andrina arrived in port this week after having made one of the longest coasting voyages on record. She was 170 days out from Galveston, Texas, having sailed the entire distance in ballast. Capt. B. V. Smith, her master, was in this harbor two years ago with his vessel and at that time it was the largest ship that had ever entered this port. Capt. Smith made a number of friends during his last visit here and they were glad to greet him again at the end of two years, during which time he had sailed twice around the world.

The captain said that he had been offerred a big cargo of black walnut from Galveston to the coast, but the coastwise laws prevented him from taking it. During the entire trip the captain did not enter any port, but while sailing past the entrance to San Francisco bay he received his orders from a pilot boat to proceed to the Sound. He is now anxiously waiting for a cargo in order that he can make up for the many days lost while in ballast.

THE MAYOR IS SCORED.

His Attitude of Suspicion Is Condemned.

CITY ATTORNEY SPEAKS HIS MIND.

He Refers to the Mayor In No Very Complimentary Terms and Is Endorsed By Councilman Lamoreux.

A tempest of indignation passed through the council chamber last night and the mayor and city attorney were in the storm center. The regular business of the council had been transacted before the cloud burst, but at its conclusion the mayor innocently remarked that there were a number of spectators present and that possibly some of them had something which they would like to say.

Capt. Morrisey at once asked for a hearing, stating that he thought the council should be able to assure the people that they were having an honest government. He had been informed that the city's money had been deposited in a Seattle bank, but that it had been transferred to some other bank and he wanted to know where it was at the present time. Mayor Myers said that he had heard that the money had been transferred to a certain bank here, and that he was not in favor of having it in one place today and another tomorrow.

Capt. Bradley then drew attention to the plan adopted by the United States government as to the disposition made of its funds.

Ex-City Treasurer L. R. Cole asked permission to address the council, and said that possibly he could throw some light on the subject. He said that the money belonging to the city had been kept on deposit, during his term of office, with the First National Bank of Seattle, with the exception of a sum always kept on hand in the city's safe. This money was shipped from Seattle on the day before City Treasurer Krueger took office, but instead of being put on the steamer Garland it was shipped by the Kingston and laid over in Port Townsend. He said further that every cent of the city's money had been turned over to the treasurer and that the accounts balanced with the city clerk's books.

The mayor made the remark that honest men were willing to be watched and dishonest men should be watched. This statement brought City Attorney Marquart to his feet, and he said:

"The duty devolves upon this council that proper and due respect be given the officers of the city. The aspersions and contemptible remarks made by the mayor should be rebuked. The remarks he made about me at the meeting last night were outrageous, and it is a shame that this man should attempt to besmirch the character of the officers of the city as he has.

"He insinuates that because at one time I had a contract to carry on a suit against the city, that there is money behind it and that I am trying to swindle the city. The man who makes such statements is not fit to be respected, and it is an outrage that I should be maligned for such a thankless job. I ask the council in the future to protect its officers."

To this the mayor replied. "I have said that the city attorney had a contract with Seymour, Barto & Co., and that he had said that a retainer of $750 had been returned, but I may have been wrong in this statement. It makes no difference if it was $100 or $1,000, I don't believe it. We have no such angels here. The reason is as I have said before, that a decision in the supreme court made him think that he would lose the case. We have had a nigger in the wood-pile ever since we have been here. I have been robbed, I am not afraid of any attorney; they may kill me, but I will do what I consider right."

Mr. Marquardt again took the floor and said: "I have already stated in regard to this contract that immediately upon my election to the office of city attroney I wrote to the parties, stating that I could have nothing more to do with their case, and at the same time returning their retainer fee which I received. Is it to be said, that because I have thrown away a job, that I am a suspicious character? I want to say now that a suspicious man is one who wants to be watched."

Councilman Lamoreux said that he had rather find ten dollars than this nigger in the wood-pile, but he strongly censured the mayor for the stand he had taken. He said that he remembered that some of his relatives had passed away, and were now lying under the sod in the South, where they had laid down their lives for their country, and he did not consider it a suspicious act that Mr. Marquardt had returned a paltry attorney's fee for the sake of serving his people at home. Mr. Lamoreux concluded his remarks by stating that the mayor's action was a disgrace.

City Treasurer Krueger next addressed the council, saying that evidently he too was considered a suspicious character and that it was the first time in his life he had had to meet such charges. He said that every cent of the city's money was in his possession, and that he was prepared to show it to any proper committee from the council or to his bondsmen. Councilman Stewart, of the finance committee, said that he had seen this much talked of money, and that he was confident Mr. Krueger had it all in his possession.

This concluded one of the most tempestuous scenes ever witnessed in the council chamber.

ANDERSON ARRESTED.

To Be Tried For Killing An Indian on the Ozette Reservation.

Attorney W. L. Marquardt, of this city, has been authorized by the attorney general of the United States to prosecute Henry Anderson, a white man, who killed Phillip Brown, an Indian, last summer on the Ozette reservation. Anderson was brought to this city shortly after the killing occurred and an examination was held in Judge Brewster's court, but Anderson's attorney, Benton Embree, succeeded in securing his release on a habeas corpus, claiming that the court had no jurisdiction. The case was again brought up in the United States court in Seattle, but Judge Hanford was also of the opinion that he had no jurisdiction, so Anderson was released.

Upon being commissioned by the attorney general to prosecute the case, Mr. Marquardt at once began looking for his man, and last week, on hearing he was in Seattle, sent a warrant to that city for his arrest. Anderson, hearing of his danger, shipped on the sealing schooner St. Lawrence for a cruise to the Japan waters. The schooner put into Neah Bay for a crew and while there the Indians discovered that Anderson was aboard and at once took measures to arrest him, but the captain of the St. Lawrence declined to give him up. Sheriff Dyke was wired for and at once left this city on a tug bound for the cape. On reaching Neah Bay Sheriff Dyke found that his man had escaped from the sealing schooner and was no where to be found, so he was compelled to return without him. Saturday word was received that Anderson had been arrested by a deputy sheriff, and Monday the sheriff again went to Neah Bay and this time returned with his prisoner. The crime for which Anderson is held was committed on the Ozette reservation last summer, and was the result of a quarrel over some seal skins. Anderson claimed that the Indians had surrounded him, and that he was in danger of losing his life so he shot in self defense.

I can now place loans on well improved farms. Correspondence solicited

TOWNSEND IN TROUBLE.

The Tug Boat Company Threatens to Leave.

EXOBITANT TAXES THE REASON.

It Will Be the Means of Taking $20,000 a Month From the Key City and It Should Come to Port Angeles.

The Puget Sound Tug Boat Company will probably leave Port Townsend, and at present is contemplating locating at Utsalady, near Seattle. The Port Angeles Chamber of Commerce hopes to effect a change in the latter portion of this plan and secure the location of the headquarters at this city.

The inducements that Port Angeles offers in harbor facilities and in its convenient location in reference to Cape Flattery, where in-coming vessels are picked up, are well known. But the Chamber of Commerce, through its president, C. E. Mallette, has put the proposition on a business basis which is likely to attract the favorable consideration of the tug boat company. Mr. Mallette has informed Capt. Libby that if the company will locate here they will not be asked to pay any taxes during the next five years, and as a further inducement water is offered free and possibly wharf facilities.

The payment of taxes is what has caused Capt. Libby to fall out with the Port Townsend people, as he says an advance of 100 per cent. in this item of expense has been made during the past year. In this connection he says in the Port Townsend Call:

"It is indeed short sighted on the part of the people here, for we certainly intend to move as soon as we can possibly do so. The raise of nearly 100 per cent. in our taxes would not be such an act of injustice were it not for the fact that in all rules of insurance, vessels depreciate in value as they advance in years. Wooden vessels are worth 5 per cent. less every year, while iron vessels depreciate at the rate of 3 per cent. Those who fixed the levy for the past four years did not take this into consideration, but you heard no squeal from us. We were willing to pay on 20 per cent. more valuation than we would be compelled to pay in any court of law. That is probably where we made our mistake for after developments look as though they thought us easy. But a 100 per cent. increase is more than we can stand. We make no 'squeal' now, but will after paying it, like the Arab silently fold our tents and vamoose the beach. Port Townsend can probably afford to drive $20,000 a month from its doors. I hope it can, for that is what this raise in taxes has done. We feel under no obligations to Port Townsend or Jefferson county for the privilege of disbursing a quarter of a million annually among its people. We bring that amount into the town and do not get a sou markee out of it."

The advantages to be derived from the presence of the Puget Sound Tug Company in this port are innumerable. In the first place, they disburse in the neighborhood of $20,000 a month, and this does not include the expense of repairs, which are constantly being made. It means the location of machine shops here and an extensive business in ship's supplies.

While a large number of vessels at present call at Port Angeles because they recognize the advantages of its harbor, the number would be greatly increased, and pay day aboard ship would be a more frequent occurrence in this port.

This company is the only tug boat company on the sound and the following compose its fleet of steamers: Tyee, Wanderer, Holyoke, Sea Lion, Tacoma, Pioneer and Magic.

The Call says: "A little black paint will be used on the stern of each and the home port of the fleet will be 'Utsalady' intead of 'Townsend,' but Port Angeles is surely more euphonious and its advantages over either of the above ports should appeal strongly to a business corporation of that nature.

War in a Print Shop.

The Simoon office was the scene of a rough and tumble fight Wednesday night. Chairs were broken, galleys of type up set and the general appearance of the office indicated that war was on. The trouble commenced in the afternoon when E. E. Seevers was cornered in the Simoon office by Dr. Vail and his sons Eugene and Herbert. The Vails wanted the keys of the building from the former editor of the paper and they were not particular in the choice of the words used in making the demand.

As it was a case of three to one Mr. Seevers had to submit to the abuse, but he did not give up the keys. Later in the afternoon Mr. Seevers and E. H. Bohall went to the Simoon office and Mr. Bohall started to remove some articles which belonged to him. Then the fight began. In a moment our dignified representatative, Seevers, was on his back, having been pushed over a chair by the irate doctor. But he was soon on his feet again and both he and the doctor at once became ambitious for the possession of that chair. The strain was more than the chair could stand, so it considerately parted in two pieces, furnishing each with a weapon. Then the blows fell thick and fast, but odd to relate no one was injured. In the meantime Mr. Bohall had been amusing the brothers, but the fun was stopped by the appearance of Sheriff Dyke on the scene. Finally the keys of the office were turned over to the sheriff and the matter will be referred to the courts.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by ocal applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound of imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube reslored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

It possesses some medical properties that relieve the little sufferers immediately. It is, in my opinion, the best cough medicine in the market." If this remedy is freely given as soon as the croupy cough appears it will prevent the attack. It is also an ideal remedy for whooping cough. "PORT ANGELES IS NOT IN IT."

The Washington Standard calls attention to the peculiar fondness of the McGraw administration for Seattle. This veteran journal refers to the governor's land commission, which refused to come to Port Angeles to hear tide land cases some time since, because the commissioners are required to "reside at the capital," although the good citizens of Port Angeles offered to pay all the expenses of the commission while here. However, when Seattle citizens requested the commission to hold a session in Seattle, though not a word was said about expense money, the commissioners were at once on wheels. Seattle had the commission, and, presumably, the tax payers of the state pay the expenses. The Standard concludes that Port Angeles is "not in it" with McGraw and his gang.

This naturally leads one to ask how Port Angeles would fare if McGraw should become United States senator for Washington. Would Seattle not occupy his entire attention? Would he have any time to bestow upon Clallam county?

On the other hand, how much more are we to expect should the ambitions of that other Seattle senatorial aspirant be gratified? We refer to Senator Squire, so well known as New York's third member of the American House of Lords. Senator Squire is chairman of the Senate Coast Defense Committee. On the strength of his position he recently had himself interviewed by Frank Carpenter, the great newspaper correspondent. In the course of his remarks, the senator laid great stress on the defenseless condition of Puget Sound. This he proposed to remedy by an elaborate system of coast defense fortifications, but in enumerating the places to be fortified Clallam county was omitted. We lie directly opposite to the British stronghold at Esquimalt, are at the mercy of the English fleet stationed there, and in a position that, if it should fall into the hands of England, would give an English enemy absolute control of the Straits of Juan de Fuca and the entrance of Puget Sound, yet Senator Squire sees no necessity of fortifications for Port Angeles or other Clallam county ports.

All in all, Clallam county seems in a poor position to get any consideration from the material offered by the Republican machine for the United States' senate.

THE Populists of Seattle have nominated Dr. J. Eugene Jordan, the Democratic alderman, for mayor. Dr. Jordon is very popular with the common people whose interests he never forgets, and will make a strong race for mayor. There is much talk of the Democrats nominating him also.

THERE are differences of opinion amongst Americans about President Cleveland, but they all feel assured that he is not afraid of the "flying squadron."

THERE IS NO IMPROVEMENT.

Reed's Congress is giving but cold comfort to those who become dissatisfied with the administration and the previous Democratic Congress. Not a single complaint made of the Democratic Congress has been remedied.

Democrats were complained of for not fulfilling, in the fullest degree, their promise to reduce the tariff; the Republican House of Representatives has passed a bill to increase the tariff.

The Democratic tariff was condemned because of the protection it afforded the sugar trust; Reed's bill increases this protection fifteen per cent.

The Republicans and many Democratic dissenters complained because the Democrats did not increase the tax on beer; the Republicans let the beer tax alone.

The Democratic Senate was condemned because of its non-action and for defeating the action of the house; the republican Senate has done absolutely nothing, nor is there any evidence of probable action.

A Democratic president has been condemned for issuing bonds when the treasury was overflowing with silver and treasury notes; the Republicans passed a bill authorizing the issue of more bonds.

Yet the Republicans will ask those who are dissatisfied with the Democratic administration to put them in power, but the relief to be gained is not apparent. The only feasible manner to correct the evils that beset our people is to reform the old Democratic party, by getting back to first principles, and placing it in power. This is not a great job. All that is necessary is to help us to adopt a free silver coinage platform and nominate Governor Mathews or some other free coinage Democrat for president.

THERE promises to be a battle royal between free silver coinage and a single gold standard, at the Chicago Democratic Convention.

DUNRAVEN'S FAILURE.

The committee which investigated the charges of Lord Dunraven against the management of the Defender in the Inter-National yacht races last September, has reported its findings. It was no surprise here, nor on the other side either for that matter, that the committee finds adverse to Dunraven. This was foretold by the evidence that was adduced by Dunraven even before the testimony for the Defender was offered. English papers are no less severe in criticising the unsportsmanlike lord than the American press. They even go so far as to accuse him with doing much to foster the anti-English feeling in America, and not without a good deal of justice.

The effect is not yet apparent, though it, with the present estranged position of the government on the Venezuelan affair, will probably act to prevent any races until 1897, at least. It is not probable that the New York Yacht Club will consider another challenge from Lord Dunraven.

SENATOR SQUIRE thinks there is no chance of getting a bill through the United States' senate for a public building at Port Angeles to cost $50,000, yet, while in the United States' senate, John B. Allen got a bill through that body giving outright to Clallam county more than twice that amount for public buildings.

THE GOVERNMENT TELEGRAPH.

The Seattle Times, referring to the proposed government telegraph line from Cape Flattery to Gray's Harbor says:

"It is claimed that the telegraph line to Cape Flattery should be strung up the coast from Gray's Harbor. Our idea is that there should be two lines, one down the Strait and the other up the coast. The importance of Puget Sound as a commercial headquarters, is increasing every year, and it is time that the Olympic peninsula was girded with a telegraph line. We feel satisfied that if our representatives would impress upon Congress the growing necessity for telegraphic communication with all points around that area, the needed appropriation would be forthcoming. Every point between Port Townsend and Gray's Harbor should be provided with telegraphic communication. Almost any day a marine disaster may render such a line of inestimable value."

The United States government has had a line from Port Angeles to Cape Flattery for years. All the points on the Straits from Tatoosh to Sequim have had telegraphic communication with the outside world for nearly fourteen years.

If County Commissioner Graybill should remain in California a vacancy will occur in the Board of County Commissioner. Mr. Graybill's term of office will not expire until the second Monday in January, 1899, so that there will be a scramble for the place, goes without saying. If the vacancy occurs, it will devolve upon Commissioners Knapman and Whittier and Judge McClinton to appoint a successor to Mr. Graybill.

THE NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The Democratic National Convention will convene at Chicago July 7th. It took twenty-nine ballots to decide the contest. The Eastern gold bugs advocated New York as the proper place for the convention, while the free silver men all strongly advocated a western city.

The date was fixed by the adoption of a resolution offered by National Committeeman Hugh C. Wallace, of this state. The representation will be on the same basis of the Convention of 1892, two delegates for each representative in Congress and two for each United States senator and six delegates for each territory, including Indian Territory.

THE Port Townsend Call complains of the slothfulness of Jefferson county citizens in not forming a Board of Immigration; and from the position in which their county stands, asks if the State of Washington is going to be behind the other states of the Union in this line. Why, bless you, brother, no. The State of Washington has such a board, and so have a great many of the more enterprising counties, not least amongst which is Clallam County.

SOME SOUND SENSE.

The following from the New York World is an expression of sound sense not often found in a metropolitan newspaper now-a-days:

"Why is it that the supposed needs of Wall street—using the term as descriptive of the stock gamblers and the money shavers of the country—are alone or chiefly considered in deciding the needs of the treasury?

"The people of the country—the great mass of 12,000,000 voters—are not suffering for gold. Any one of the government's half dozen or more kinds of money will satisfy them. Their only trouble is to get enough greenbacks, treasury notes, coin certificates, national bank notes or even cart-wheel dollars. Even the active business men are not clamoring for gold. It is only the bankers, and a small ring of them, with other dabblers in cent-per-cents, who are raiding the treasury and calling for more gold.

"Why does not the government try the plan, for a while, of considering the welfare and the needs of the whole people, and let "the street" look out for itself? That would be a novelty at least. It might work well. Is it not worth a trial?"

THE New England jingoes, who howled "patriotism" so loudly when the American flag was hauled down from the state house in Honolulu, have suddenly become conspicuous for silence. In fact, many of them are now on the other side. Senator Hoar, of Massachusetts, seems beside himself with fear that the Southern senators (rebel brigadiers (?)) will precipitate the country into a war with England.

KEEP IT AT HOME.

If Lord Salisbury really wants to settle his differences with the United States by diplomacy, he should, by all means, keep his "flying squadron" out of American waters. That is an English bluff that won't work in this country at all. England might make a display of naval strength, and then dictate terms to Turkey, Spain, and even Germany, but Americans are too well acquainted with English manners to permit it here.

If the "flying squadron" is sent to American waters the chances for war will be increased ten-fold.

But the "flying squadron" is not coming here. Salisbury would as soon send it in search of the north pole.

COMMENT on Mayor Myers' speech is unnecessary. Its ridiculousness is probably sufficient excuse for its delivery.

IT will not be generally believed that Mr. W. L. Marquardt accepted the office of city attorney from sinister motives, Mayor Myers' apprehensions to the contrary notwithstanding.

Those who were present at the Citizen's Convention in the opera house, when Mr. Marquardt was nominated for this office, will recall how he endeavored to decline, and was prevented by the enthusiastic members of that Convention. There can be no question but that Mr. Marquardt accepted the nomination and election as city attorney from purely patriotic motives.

THE Simoon of this week announces the sale of that paper by Hon. E. E. Seevers to Hon. R. C. Wilson and Mr. Harry E. Lutz. It is understood that the name of the paper will be changed and that it will be run as a strong Republican paper, with Harry E. Lutz as editor and L. R. Cole as manager.

The object of the introduction of a new Republican paper into the Clallam county newspaper field is not known, but it is strongly suspected that the refusal of the Tribune-Times to endorse the candidacy of Senator Squire for reelection has not a little to do with it.

Roads of Whatcom.

"I have noticed more improvements in our county than any other place I have seen," said ex-County Commissioner W. J. Malloy, of Whatcom, at the Diller this week. "The improvement is in the line of road building and clearing land. Close to eighty miles of road have been built in Whatcom county in the past two years. It is done under an act which allows an assessment of 50 cents to $1 an acre for the first half mile back and for the next mile and a half the charge is as low as 35 cents. The rate depends upon the contour of the country, the amount of timber, stumps and grade. One road at Mountain View cost but 45 cents for the first half mile, as the timber was light. Another to Linden goes one and a half miles through Wiser lake and the piling did not seem to cost any more than to clear stumps. On the road from Ferndale to Whatcom, a distance of nine miles, I have hauled 6500 pounds with a 2600-pound team. When I first went into the country, before this road was built, the best I could do was 1000 pounds, and then had to stay in Whatcom over night. The road is so well adapted to the grade that it is not a question of how much a team can haul, but of how much a wagon will carry without breaking down. The soil of Whatcom county is a black loam which, if piked up, washes back into the ditches as soon as the rains come, and consequently we have our roads mostly half planked and the other half, for summer use, is left bare.

"I cannot understand why King county does not build roads. It certainly needs them as badly as we do, and it has as good chances to raise the money. Farmers can do nothing without good roads. To raise the money we simply issued 8 per cent. warrants for the amount required and they found ready sale in the East at 68 cents. Most of them were sold in Boston."—Seattle Times.

Treasurer's Notice of Taxes Due.

Notice is hereby given that the tax rolls of Clallam county, Wash., for the year 1895, are now in my possession and that said taxes are due and payable on and after the 13th day of January, 1896.

If taxes for 1895 are paid on or before May 31st, 1896, the original amount is charged, but if not so paid a 2 per cent. penalty is added and interest is charged at the rate of 12 per cent. per annum from June 1st, '96, until date of payment.

Provided that if ½ of said tax is paid on or before May 31st, '96, the remaining ½ can be paid on or before Nov. 30th, '96, without penalty or interest, but if this remaining ½ is not so paid the 2 per cent. penalty is added and interest charged from June 1st.

If the taxes for 1895 on personal property are not paid by Dec. 1st, '96, and on real estate by the 1st Monday in September, 1899, it becomes the duty of the county treasurer to sell the property for sale tax.

Property owners wishing statements of taxes due will please describe their property as all taxes on real estate are assessed against the property and not the owner.

A. B. DORSEY,
County Treasurer and Ex-Officio Tax Collector for City of Port Angeles

A. E. Kilpatrick, of Fillmore, Calif., had the misfortune to have his leg caught between a cart and a stone and badly bruised. Ordinarily he would have been laid up for two or three weeks but says: "After using one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm I began to feel better, and in three days was entirely well. The peculiar soothing qualities which Chamberlain's Pain Balm possesses I have never noticed in any other liniment. I take pleasure in recommending it." This liniment is also of great value for rheumatism and lame back. For sale by J. C. Hansen.

Notice of Sheriff's Sale.

United States Saving and Loan Company,
Plaintiff.
The Puget Sound Co-Operative Colony and R. C. Wilson, its Receiver.
Defendant.

State of Washington, County of Clallam, ss.

Under and by virtue of an order of sale issued out of the Superior Court of the State of Washington, in and for the county of Clallam, dated the 4th day of January, 1896, in a certain action wherein The United States Savings and Loan Company, plaintiff in said action, recovered judgment against The Puget Sound Co-Operative Colony, and R. C. Wilson, its Receiver, for the sum of Six Thousand, Three Hundred, Nine and 29 100 [$6,309.29] Dollars, and Twenty-Two [$22.00] Dollars, costs of suit and accruing costs, on the 4th day of January, 1896, I have levied upon the following described property, to wit:

Lots Two (2), Three (3), Four (4), Five (5), Six (6), Seven (7), Eight (8), Nine (9), Ten (10), Eleven (11), Twelve (12), Thirteen (13), Fourteen (14), Fifteen (15), Sixteen (16) and Seventeen (17), in Block Thirty-Two (32). of Norman R. LOCAL PARAGRAPHS.

LOST—A very black nigger.

Lou Smith has been appointed day marshal.

Lively meetings have been the order of the week.

City officers are drawing a salary, but they fail to get it.

Real estate transfers have been numerous during the week.

The new zig-zag on Oak street is an improvement over the old one.

The Michigan Association gave an entertainment Monday evening at the Odd Fellows hall.

The steamer Evangel failed to arrive on time yesterday owing to a severe storm in the Straits.

The barkentine Griffith and the schooner Queen were storm bound in Clallam Bay harbor, Monday.

City Treasurer Krueger is the only man in the city who has more money than he knows what to do with.

The number of vessels in the harbor during the week indicates a revival of the shipping business on the Sound.

The steamer Garland had her rudder damaged on her Tuesday trip to Seattle. The accident occurred off Port Townsend.

Messrs. Walby and Parker have dissolved their partnership in the laundry business, Mr. Parker continuing in possession.

Several sealing schooners left the harbor yesterday morning, but the gale in the Straits soon drove them back for shelter.

The bay has been full of smelt during the past week. These fish compare favorably with trout in flavor and are free from bones.

Henry Anderson's preliminary trial for the killing of Phillip Brown, an Indian, will take place in Judge Carusi's court next Thursday.

Stormy weather has delayed the completion of the Oak street zig-zag, but it will probably be finished and open for travel next week.

The schooner Jessie will leave Tuesday on a sealing cruise off the cape. Capt. Raymond shipped twelve Elwha Indians for his crew.

The schooners Compeer and Challenge sailed out of port Wednesday morning, bound for San Francisco. They were lumber laden from Whatcom.

Geo. W. Meagher is moving his dry goods store this week into the Stewart and Gay building on the opposite side of the street. The new quarters will afford more room, and the front is a great improvment over that of the old store.

The First street sidewalk on the hill east of Lincoln street is in bad condition, the earth from the bank having caved upon it. The street commissioner has been authorized to put it in a passable condition,

The annual meeting of the Bible Society will be held at the First M. E. Church, on Tuesday evening, January 28th at 7:30 o'clock. The Rev. P. C. Hetzler, of Salem, Oregon, will deliver an address. Come everybody, regardless of denomination, and hear a good sermon.

The members of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor will give a "Blue Jay Social" at the First Congregational church this (Friday) evening. An excellent literary and musical program will be rendered. Refreshments, consisting of clam chowder, doughnuts and coffee, will be served. Admittance, including luncheon, 15 cents. Everybody welcome.

The county commissioners may assemble again in the near future in order to decide what shall be done with the Austin bridge, which was dnmaged by the last storm. After this business is disposed of they will not meet again for three months. Auditor John Troy has given notice that he will draw no more warrants except on old contracts.

The Clallam County Immigration Association met Saturday afternoon at the board of trade rooms. Capt. Bradley acted as chairman, and gave a favorable account of his work for the association during the past week. Seven new members were added to the roll and it was decided that those who could not afford to pay the membership fee should be permitted to attend the meeting as honorary members.

A "Whittling Social" will be given in Odd Fellows' hall on Wednesday evening, February 5th, under the auspices of Gate City Lodge No. 27, I. O. G. T. Refreshments will be served, and an enjoyable event is anticipated. An admission fee of 10 cents will be charged. All who wish to see the cause of temperance prosper in Port Angeles should encourage an occasional social by the local temperance organization. It has done some good work.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Geo. H. Gale returned from Seattle, Wednesday.

John Dickenson, of Dungeness, was in town Wednesday.

J. H. Young has been in Seattle this week on business.

E. F. Donahue, of East Clallam, has been in town during the week on business.

Geo. W. Albright, of Lake Sutherland, was in the city several days this week.

William Martin injured his hand Monday in J. M. Martin's factory on Front street.

Jno. C. Coolidge, who has been in Idaho for several months, returned Wednesday.

Messrs. Geo. W. Albright and Fred Albright, of Port Crescent, are visiting in this city.

W. W. Shearer left for Seattle Monday morning and expects to remain in that city for some time.

F. W. Doty returned Tuesday from Seattle, where he has been employed during the past five months.

Elmer E. Fisher, the genial East Clallam druggist, is in the city, and enjoying a visit with his many friends.

Commissioner T. Graybill left Wednesday morning for California, where he expects to remain for a some time.

L. B. Hastings, manager of the Straits Steamboat Company, was in this city Tuesday, attending to matters in connection with the company's business.

Rev. Wilson, of Kalama, is occupying the pulpit of the Methodist church. He and his family arrived in this city last week, and the members of the congregation have extended them a hearty welcome.

C. B. Gates and D. L. Deringer, of St. Paul, arrived in this city Monday. They came here, for the purpose of looking over the country, as representatives of forty St. Paul men, who are thinking of making investments in this city. These gentlemen claim that real estate dealers in the East have misrepresented the actual condition of affairs in this city, yet they are pleased with the country in general, and say that it has great possibilities.

THE MAYOR'S MESSAGE.

Read to the Tax-Payers in Thompson's Hall.

Thompson's hall was the place selected by the mayor for the meeting which he had called for Tuesday evening. It was announced that at this meeting the taxpayers of the city were to advise the mayor and city council concerning matters of importance. It was understood that a differance of opinion existed between the mayor and the city attorney, concerning the future policy of the city, and that this would be the topic for discussion, and in anticipation of a war of words, quite a crowd assembled in the hall.

Mayor Myers presided, and in his written address he gave the impression that he was a firm believer in the existence of a gentleman of color in every wood-pile, and in this instance his suspicions were of such a startling nature that he considered it his duty to call everybody in and talk it over. The cup of tea was the only missing feature to a familiar scene. During the evening the wood-pile was utterly demolished yet not a vestige of that black gentleman could be found.

When asked by a reporter for the privilage of examing the manuscript of the address, the mayor replied that it must be published in full or not at all. Mr. Myers rested his whole case on what he claimed to be the fact, that Mr. Marquardt, prior to his election to the office of city attorney, had been retained by parties holding the First and Front street grade warrants to represent them in a case against the city. It was beyond his comprehension that an attorney would give up a retainer fee, and the prospect of additional fees, as Mr. Marquardt stated he had done, and take the side of his fellow townsmen for a paltry $25 a year, consequently there must be "a nigger in the wood-pile."

Mayor Myers was politic in bringing to his support some of the First and Front street property owners by telling them that it was Mr. Marquardt's intention to saddle this debt upon them whether they legally owed it or not. Taken as a whole, the address was an inexcusable misrepresentation of the plan proposed by Attorney Marquardt at the last meeting of the council.

The city attorney, in replying, said that the mayor's statements were unfair, and untrue, and his often repeated decision that he would sign no more illegal warrants, had been ignored by the mayor the first night he had made the statement in the council chamber 'ere the echo of his voice had died away. "One of the first official acts of the mayor," said the city attorney, "was to sign a warrant for $41, issued to The Democrat Publishing Co." This warrant was for printing, yet it was drawn on the street fund and was clearly illegal. This money, the law says, is for beautifying your streets and not for paying printers."

Mr. Marquardt was opposed to discussing these subjects night after night and not taking any action in the matter. He called attention to the fact that under the present condition of affairs the city treasurer was liable on his bond for every cent of money paid out by him and that for this reason alone the matter should be taken into court, where the city's standing would be definitely decided.

Mr. Tillman, Dr. Vail and Capt. Morrisey, as Front street property owners, endorsed the mayor in the stand he had taken. Capt. Bradley was willing to leave the matter in the hands of the mayor and council, but Mr. D. O'Brien thought these questions should be submitted to the people.

County Clerk Richardson offered the only reasonable suggestion made by the mayor's side of the house. He called attention to the fact that a case was now pending in the Supreme court, and would be decided within a few days, which would probably settle the financial standing of this city, and he, consequently, advised that no action be taken until this decision was rendered. In this advice Mr. Marquardt concurred.

The case in point is one brought against Pierce county to restrain the county from paying warrants for jurors' fees, and, as this would result in closing up the courts, there would probably be no delay in rendering a decision. Mr Richardson then outlined a plan of action for the city which was identical with that proposed by the city attorney. He said that the city could attempt to pay its bills in cash, and if the treasurer refused to honor them he could be enjoined.

The meeting finally adjourned after passing a motion advising the council to take no action until the decision of the Supreme court was rendered.

NEWS OF THE COUNTY.

Gleanings From the Press of Western Clallam.

Beaver Leader:

Mrs. M. V. B. Lamoreux is slighly indisposed.

F. M. Ackerly returned from Townsend, Wednesday.

Peter McLane, of Shuwah, is in Port Angeles on business.

Mrs. Whiting, of East Clallam, is visiting at Forks, the guest of Mrs. Merchant.

Frank Ackels, of Quillayute, went out to Gettysburg the first of the week to begin work at the logging camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Lesure, of Forks, are visiting for a few days at Sappho with Judge and Mrs. Lamoreux.

Harvey Lesure has purchased a twenty acre tract of land near Sappho from Frank Ackerly, and will, we understand, soon move up.

Mrs. R. W. Fletcher, of Quillayute, returned, Tuesday, from Seattle, where she has been visiting. Her son Ward remained in Seattle, attending school.

If the Quillayute river cuts up many more such capers as it did last week, we will not have any need to ask congress to make an appropriation to open up our harbor.

The board of trade did not transact much business at its meeting last Saturday. A committee, consisting of Messrs. D. A. Christopher, J. E. Crawford and C. E. Maxfield, were appointed to draft the constitution and by-laws for the organization, and the board then adjourned to meet again at Forks tomorrow. There was a good attendance at the meeting.

Mr. K. O. Erickson is in receipt of a letter from Congressman W. H. Doolittle in which he assures him that he will make every effort to secure an appropriation to have the Quillayute harbor opened. He says that a petition, containing a diagram of the country, would greatly aid him in presenting our claims for assistance.

The bridge across the Solduck river just below Shuwah is in danger of going out if something is not done at once to protect it. Two of the center braces are gone and the bridge has sunk down in the middle about two feet. It is dangerous to cross it with a team, and steps should be taken to repair it. The county can ill afford to let a $4,000 bridge go down stream. The commissioners have ordered the county surveyor to examine the structure and report the necessary repairs.

A. O. U. W. Lecture.

Hon. J. H. Schively, grand lecturer for the Ancient Order of United Workmen, addressed a large audience at the opera house, Friday evening, in the interests of the order. His remarks were interesting and will result in increasing the membership of the Workmen. This society has a large membership in this city and meets weekly in the Odd Fellows' hall. The present officers are: Master workman, D. G. Harvey; foreman, J. E. Thomas; overseer, W. W. Gray; secretary, A. R. Pringle; financier, W. E. Burnside; and receiver, C. E. Gilmur. A liberal insurance policy is one of the inducements offered to those who join the society, yet its fraternal features are also of importance. Not a single death has occurred in the Port Angeles lodge during its existance. At the conclusion of the lecture Friday evening the members repaired to their lodge room where a social time and refreshments were enjoyed.

[illegible] to assist the residents along this [illegible] the council decided to allow them $15 towards constructing a bridge.

An ordinance was introduced at the last meeting providing for two meetings a month instead of four as at present, but the council decided that as matters of importance would require their attention it would be advisable to continue for a time under the old rule.

The electric light committee was given another week in which to report on the affairs of the plant.

It was decided that it would be advisable to lease the electric light plant and by this means avoid turning in all of the receipts to the city treasury where they would be absorbed in paying up old warrants.

Frank Hall, the present manager, has submitted a proposition to lease the plant at a yearly rental of $600, and other proposals will also be filed during the week. The leasee will be required to give a bond to protect the city against loss.

THE KOOTENAY COUNTRY.

W. H. Beardsley Returns from the Mines at Rossland

Mr. W. H. Beardsley returned Saturday from Rossland, B. C., where during the past summer he has been engaged in the sash and door business and as a side issue has picked up several good mining claims. Mr. Beardsley will remain here for a time, but will return to Rossland in the spring. In speaking of the new and rustling mining town which has attracted so much attention in Washington during the past few months, he said that the prospects of the town were based almost entirely on the mining industry and that country is full of prospectors.

Five paying mines are now in operation in the immediate vicinity of Roslyn and it is only a question of a few months before others will be opened. These mines have been the means of attracting a crowd of people, and as a result a prosperous town is in course of erection. They now have a number of substantial buildings, an electric light plant and city water works. The one drawback at present is that there is no direct railroad communicating with the outside world. Rossland is about 150 miles from Spokane and the railroad at present runs within 15 miles of the town. This distance is covered by a stage line, but a company has been organized that will soon build a railroad connection.

There is but little doing in the real estate business as everyone's attention is directed to the mines, yet a great amount of building has been done and much more will be done during the coming summer.

VENEZUELAN BOUNDARY QUESTION

Discussed by an Old Friend of Harry E. Lutz.

Mr. H. E. Lutz was surprised a few days ago to open the New York World and find an entire page of that paper devoted to a communication on the Venezuelan boundary question from Dr. J. H. W. Stuckenberg, of Harvard college. Dr. Stuckenberg twenty years ago was one of the faculty of Wittenberg college Springfield, Ohio, from which Mr. Lutz graduated. In 1880 Dr. Stuckenberg went to Berlin to pursue some special researches in German philosophy which were embodied in a book issued later by one of the great publishing houses of London.

Dr. Stuckenberg continued his studies at Berlin and became the leading English author on German philosophy. At the same time he founded the American church at Berlin and built an imposing structure for its occupation. Dr. Stuckenberg and his cultured wife kept open house for their compatriots and the great numbers of American students and artists at the German capitol found in the home of the American professor a congenial and inspiriting rallying point.

In June, 1881, while Mr. Lutz was w[illegible] of Napoleon's [illegible] Stuckenberg, w[illegible] days from Berlin for a brief stay. The professor was the first person Mr. Lutz had seen after two years' travel in Europe and the East, that he had known in America and his surprise and gratification may be imagined. In a later talk at dinner at the professor's lodgings, Dr. and Mrs. Stuckenberg related their experiences in Berlin and spoke with enthusiasm of their future plans. Mr. Lutz has not seen them since parting from them in Paris in 1881 and supposed the professor was continuing his literary work in Berlin until he picked up the New York World the other day.

It seems that during his stay in Europe Dr. Stuckenberg made a collection of rare old maps of America. The World reproduces three of them, which were printed originally in 1744, 1776 and 1796 respectively, and they are remarkable in that they show the Venezuelan boundary almost identical with the present claims of the British government. Dr. Stuckenberg's maps may have great influence in settling the dispute which has so nearly caused a war between the two greatest powers of the earth.

The New York World has taken the position that President Cleveland's message was a blunder, and while in this it has differed from the great majority of the people of the United States, the World has by its enterprise in securing the opinions of distinguished men abroad become the channel of communication of foreign statesmen and princes direct with the American people. The power and usefulness of the press seems to be daily enlarging.

Shingle Bolt Flume.

The flume which was constructed by N. R. Smith to supply the water for the operation of the Ennis creek shingle mill, suffered some damages during the recent storm, but the bents which were washed out by land slides have been repaired and the mill is again in running order.

Mr. Smith has been busy with a force of men for some time past in building another flume further up the creek and this piece of work is now completed. The new flume, which is one mile long, was built to convey shingle bolts to the mill and by this means Mr. Smith saves the expense of hauling over roads which are almost impassable during the winter months. This last structure is V shaped and carries the bolts along at a rapid rate.

Another Pleasant Party.

A very enjoyable party was given a the residence of Mr. E. P. Jones, at Twin River, last Friday evening. Those present were:

Messrs. and Mesdames A. H. Thompson, S. G. Harding, Mapes, W. Carrick, C. D. Brierley, Jas. Morrisey, M. Mianehan and Mrs. McGarry; Misses Emma, Ada and Flora Jones, Grace and Nellie Hardin, Mary, Agnes, Maggie and Marcella Morrisey, Bell, Edna and Chester Brierley and Emola Lawrence; Messrs. E. P. Jones, Stafford, George Thompson, Clifton E. Johnson, Jas. and Wm. Gould, Jos. Dillon, Peter Sisson, Thos. Quocheck, Bert Hardin, Peter Mohrdick, Jos. Doucett, Jos. and Thos. McGarry, Frank Stevens and Frank Ackles.

Luncheon was served at 12 o'clock. Dancing was kept up until an early hour when the happy crowd dispersed.
