Col. Coolican and John Cain Roasted to a Turn.

QUESTIONABLE REAL ESTATE SALES.

Resolutions Adopted Denouncing Coolican and Cain for Misrepresentation to Eastern Investors and Using the Board of Trade as a Means for Securing Recognition and Standing in the East.

If Col. Coolican's and John Cain's ears did not tingle last Friday night then we have lost all confidence in the old adage. They were talked about and the talk was vigorous, vehement, in round terms of good, old, plain English, straight from the shoulder.

For several days there were rumors that a public meeting was to be held to condemn the methods used by Coolican and Cain in selling real estate to people in the East.

This rumor crystalized Friday into a general understanding that the meeting would take place that evening at the opera house, and it took place with a vengeance.

The doors of the opera house were thrown open about 7 o'clock and before 8 o'clock the house was nearly filled. A few minutes later E. E. Seevers, accompanied by two mild-looking gentlemen, proceeded to the front and took seats. Mr. Seevers then rose and stated he had been asked by a few of the citizens of Port Angeles to call the meeting and that he wished to state its object.

"We have with us two gentlemen from the city of St. Paul, Minn., who have things to say that they consider of interest to the people of Port Angeles in particular, and things of interest to the whole of Clallam county. They came from St. Paul under misrepresentations from certain gentlemen who are there in the real estate business, and they think the people ought to know the circumstances, or misrepresentations, under which they came here, and after talking with a few of us around town, we thought it best to call a public meeting and let the citizens of Port Angeles in public assembled, discuss these questions. I now ask you ladies and gentlemen, whom you will have for chairman of this meeting."

Someone in the audience nominated Mr. Seevers and he was elected as chairman, and A. J. Adams was elected secretary. The president then introduced Mr. Derringer, of St. Paul, who spoke as follows:

"Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, I am somewhat surprised to see so large a number assembled in your beautiful opera house. I am disappointed on the other hand that your chairman has called upon me first to make an explanation and a statement of facts in the case. If you came here to expect from one of us to hear a great oratorical speech, you shall be much disappointed. We are neither of us a speaker, and you as citizens of Port Angeles, and real estate holders, must determine for yourselves the truth or the untruth.

Your chairman has stated, I believe, that there were two gentlemen from St. Paul. I will correct the gentlemen; there are nine of us, three came to-day.

"The facts in the case are simply these. Some two months ago or more, certain gentlemen from Port Angeles came to the city of St. Paul and opened up an office or store as their headquarters, and established, or pretended to establish, a colony or colonies from St. Paul and other surrounding towns, to settle in Port Angeles.

"They interested a number of parties, but finally they secured a tract of land, which I am told is about three and a half miles in the foot-hills back of town. They represented that they would guarantee that land out there could not be bought for less than $50 or so—from $50 to $100 an acre, that this was only an exceptional case, because the man they held the property for was obliged to unload on account of financial circumstances. You people are all intelligent enough to know that at a distance of 2,000 miles, some of the people and nearly all of them, have not got the convenience and opportunity to investigate for themselves, and must rely largely upon the representations of the men who are doing business at that place.

"The matter went along and they got some twelve or fourteen parties interested. They thought they would plat the property into twenty blocks and parcel it out at a block apiece. They charged $50 an acre—20 blocks, making $2,000 for it. Forty acres was the entire tract. A few men who were first interested in it thought that of course it was a snap as represented.

"They secured finally the twenty or twenty-two men as the case is, and they paid cash money for the property, that is, upon receiving the abstract from this place. The abstract, of course, 2,000 miles away, when we have not got records can not be properly examined.

"They proceeded to make twenty abstracts for the twenty pieces. A plat was drawn there by some of the men and laid out into a St. Paul Syndicate Addition to Port Angeles. The abstracts were furnished to the parties for $2.50, which I believe is legitimate, and the plat was supposed to be sent here for recording. Your Mr. Adams here received the plat I believe. The day after, or two days after, we came to your town. Some gentlemen came here today and others before, and of course wanted to file the deeds. We found that the fees were not paid, I have the receipt in my pocket, and of course the property was not recorded. The property was not surveyed; nothing done to the tract of land in question.

"They represented this land as a snap, that better land, they guaranteed, could not be bought. They represented it to be a tract of level land with magnificent timber on it. The thing is in such shape that the deeds cannot be filed, and we understand that the county commissioners will have no meeting until some time in April or May. They must first approve of the plat before it can be recorded.

"They have interested other men on other lands, and we can frankly say to you, unbiased and, unprejudiced, that they have grossly misrepresented your town, your lands and your county, which we believe is not to the interests of Port Angeles and you citizens.

"We did not come here to-night to cause any disturbance, because our interest personally, is so trifling that we would not turn a penny.

"After coming here we were cordially treated by the citizens. We were never received more cordially than by the citizens of Port Angeles, but nevertheless, we found that things were grossly misrepresented; that the land was not sloping from the beach up, and the main point I am called upon to speak is for you to consider whether these men are of interest to you, and whether it is policy for you to allow them to go on with the name they are using, that is, the Board of Trade. I am safe to say they could not get ten men interested anywhere throughout that country, if it were not for the fact that they act through the prestige of the Board of Trade.

"There are men in St. Paul believing that these men are the Board of Trade; that these men are men of the town; that they control and run the town, and when they come here with a few hundred dollars and find this is not true, you can see for yourselves, that men would not invest capital here.

"There are men back there waiting reports, and they have intended to come here to open industries and five or six of them have combined their interests. You have a cannery here, and I believe it has been very prosperous during the last six months, but when you get men here on certain representations in which there are not a word of truth, you can see at a glance that men will not invest here; they will not start any industries here. I think that every citizen here will bear me out on that.

"It has come to my ears that we came here to create strife, but perhaps it is not so. We believe Major Harding to be an honest man, and perhaps in need of employment.

"You have natural advantages and will make a town of Port Angeles, but we honestly believe it is the duty of the citizens of Port Angeles, and men who intend to become citizens of Port Angeles, and many others who have not purchased in this particular tract in question, to know the truth about this country.

"I know men who have from $200 to $2,000, who would come out here next September or October, and locate permanently with you.

"We were sent out here as men to report the truth to them, but we certainly cannot induce them or tell them that they should come now and locate here and buy property at these values, because it would be placing ourselves in the position that these men have placed us.

"I am talking of this forty-acre tract, which they sold at the fabulous price of $50.

"We understand, Mr. Chairman, that perhaps land has sold at that price, but you know that land does not sell for that today, but in this case we feel that they have thrown their $2,000 away; thrown it away for years, and you know, perhaps better than we, that this property will not come into the market for years coming.

"I am told that the Board of Trade has had no meeting for years, and if you people of Port Angeles expect a lasting benefit or blessing to your city and your county before people in the East or elsewhere, in the right light, and in a truthful manner, you will represent Port Angeles in a different way, for you cannot do it I am safe to say in any such manner. They want the facts and the truth in the matter.

"I leave this to your candid judgment and I trust that the meeting will go along smoothly, and clear heads will predominate.

"Thank you, for your attention."

Mr. Wm. Banks asked Mr. Derringer who the men were he referred to.

Mr. Derringer replied: "I will say I forgot to name them. The men in question are John Cain and J. S. Coolican. Major Harding is the white man of the lot and a citizen of the United States."

Mr. Getz was then introduced and proceeded with his tale of deceit and misrepresentation:

"Ladies and gentlemen: I do not know as I have much to say tonight. In fact, Mr. Derringer stated the facts to you as near as he could.

"I came here with a little money in my pocket to make Port Angeles my home and bring my family here next spring, and Mr. Derringer expected to make his home here next fall some time. But when we came here and found the city had been so misrepresented, we landed with disgust. We thought that if the town was run by such people as you have to represent you in St. Paul, we didn't want any of it, and supposed the whole town was composed of such people, therefore we concluded that we would take the boat and go to some place where we could find some decent people, but staying over as we did, and the people treated us so cordially, and in fact, all the people we have met have been very nice to us and have treated us nicely, and we can say that we have never been more cordially treated anywhere. I have travelled, and been in a great many cities, and never saw a city I like better than Port Angeles, but under the circumstances, I do not think that I can purchase.

It was represented to us that your city here had a gradual slope from the ocean to the bluff of fifteen miles; just enough to take off the water and refuse of the town, and did not need any sewers. It also had a street on the water front called Railroad Avenue, about three miles long and a hundred feet wide, all graded. We tried to find that street, but the water was so deep that we could not see it.

"Further, it was stated to us that you had a street car franchise all laid; all it needed was the cars. Also, Jim Hill was going to build a pontoon bridge from Everett, I think is the name of the place, to Port Angeles. I said to Mr. Coolican, 'Is it possible that you can build a bridge across these Straits?' 'Why not,' said he. 'It is impossible,' I said, 'you could not build a bridge over water like that.' 'O, go away,' said he, 'I like to talk with sensible men.' 'Yes,' said Cain, 'no use talking with men who have no sense,' but I had sense enough not to buy the cat in the bag.

"We have come out here to see what kind of a town you have here, and have found that you have got a very nice place.

"You must have somebody who will represent you in a legitimate way. No man, no matter how much money he has, will come here in the way we came here, and invest a dollar when he saw what he sees when he gets here. I would not.

"Thank you for your attention."

Mr. Ovens was then called, but he declined to say anything, remarking that he "was well pleased with Port Angeles; that we all live here, and that he had nothing to say."

At this juncture Mr. Alfred Davis arose and said he "did not understand what the meeting was called for. The gentlemen from St. Paul did not call it, and they are not so terribly disappointed. If the gentlemen will look up to the mountain they will see a gradual slope."

Mr. Getz became somewhat heated over Mr. Davis' remarks and jumped up and exclaimed:

"Mr. Coolican and Mr. Cain say they are the town. They are the people and the only people that are running this

AND THEN ON THIS.

A Counter-Irritant to the Meeting of Friday.

CAIN AND COOLICAN ARE ENDORSED.

A Meeting Held at the Board of Trade and Strong Resolutions Passed Eulogizing Coolican and His Fellow-Workers—A Plea for Unity and Organized, Systematic, Intelligent Action.

There was a gathering of the hosts at the Board of Trade Tuesday night. The rooms was packed to suffocation. Judge G. V. Smith was elected as chairman and Capt. Bradley as secretary.

Chairman Smith in stating the object of the meeting said the purpose was to call together the representative business men, property holders and taxpayers to take some action to counteract the vicious influence of the meeting held Friday evening at the opera house. He thanked the meeting for the honor conferred on him by calling him to preside over its deliberations. Mr. M. J. Carrigan then arose and made a long and earnest speech on the situation; that it was a most critical moment in the history of the county and that the tide of immigration was setting toward this state and our own actions would decide whether we were to share in the benefits. He denounced the meeting of Friday night in unmeasured terms, declared it was run by, and made up of, a set of disgruntled men, actuated by personal spite and malice and in no sense represented the true sentiment of the decent citizens of Clallam county. He then read the following resolutions, which were adopted with a hearty and unanimous "aye."

WHEREAS, At a meeting held in this city on Friday, January 24, 1896, a series of resolutions were passed by a small number of men, that were defamatory of the Board of Trade of Port Angeles and the character of J. S. Coolican and Mr. Jno. Cain, and highly damaging to both the best interests of Port Angeles and Clallam county, and

WHEREAS, Said meeting was called and conducted by men who in no wise represent the business, financial, commercial or property holding interests of this city and county, and who do not represent or reflect the sentiment of this community, and

WHEREAS, The aims and purposes at said meeting were of a malicious character undeserving of public countenance or support, but on the contrary were of a character to merit the contempt and condemnation of all fair minded, public spirited citizens, therefore, be it

Resolved, By the property owners, business men, taxpayers and representatives of the material interests and the progressive spirit of the community, in meeting assembled, that we vigorously and unqualifiedly condemn the misleading, outrageous and libelous resolutions passed at the unrepresentative meeting held on Friday, January 24th. That we value and appreciate the active, intelligent and persistent work that has been and is now being done in behalf of Port Angeles and Clallam county by the Board of Trade, Col. J. S. Coolican, Mr. Jno. Cain and Major R. R. Harding, in advertising our fair city and rich county, St. Paul and other eastern cities, and in endeavoring to induce a desirable class of settlers and investors to come to Clallam county and make their homes amongst us in this favored land and to aid us in developing, industries, to utilize the natural wealth we have in such abundance on every hand, and be it further

Resolved, That we extend to Col. Coolican, the president of the Board of Trade and president of Clallam County Immigration Association, and to his fellow workers, Mr. Cain and Major Harding, the assurance that valuable practical results of their labor in behalf of this community are daily becoming more apparent in the frequent arrival here, through their efforts, of a desirable class of settlers and investors, that we convey to them the assurance that the business and representative element in this community appreciate the excellent work they are doing and assure them that we will do all that we can to aid them in their efforts to advance the material interests of Port Angeles and Clallam county, and to encourage a strong tide of immigration to this county, and be it further

Resolved, That we request Col. Coolican and his fellow workers to not be misled or influenced or diverted from their work in behalf of this community, by the action of a clique of men governed by unworthy, personal motives, but to continue the efforts they are now making for the advancement of Port Angeles and Clallam county.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished to Col. Coolican and his fellow workers, and that a copy of them be furnished to each of the city and county papers, and to every paper in St. Paul and Minneapolis with the request that they be published by said newspapers.

After the adoption of the resolutions Capt. Bradley made some remarks. "Never since I have been in this city have I seen so representative a meeting of the reputable, decent business and property owning elements as are assembled in this hall this evening. I see here before me men who control the business interests, who pay the taxes, men who want to see the county and city go forward instead of retrograding; who build up instead of tearing down, men of standing in the community, not hobos and blackguards, who are constantly endeavoring to nulify every effort looking to our material advancement."

The captain made an eloquent appeal for unity of purpose and concerted action.

When he had closed, Mr. Carrigan stated that he was much pleased with the large attendance, that he was highly gratified to see men who differed on some points come together so freely and cordially to advance a common cause; that the meeting would be fruitful for the good of Port Angeles and Clallam county, that it would spur those who were working for the city to renewed efforts. The meeting then adjourned.

I can now place loans on well improved farms. Correspondence solicited by ocal applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound of imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

PRESIDENT'S POLICY APPROVED.

The soundness of the position of the administration on the Venezuelan question is being demonstrated every day. That he has the practically unanimous support of the American people has become plain, if there was ever any question about it. It is true, Chauncey Depew has announced himself as opposed to the president and there is probably a strong disappointment by quite a faction of New York and New England financial men. All those who depend upon the supremacy of Wall street for their avocation naturally prefer anything, even to the sacrifice of National honor, rather than have their money juggling business interfered with. The class who today are so anxious to disavow to England the action of the president is the same class of which Thomas Jefferson was fearful an hundred years ago. It is the class which gave its support to the policies of Hamilton, and who opposed the war of 1812. They have attached to themselves, in this last instance at least, those New England clergymen and professors who abhor war so, unless it be conducted on behalf of their missionaries as was the case in Minister Stevens' war against Hawaii. They are willing to go to war against Turkey, but as against England, peace at any price, is their motto.

There is a class of "business" men in this country who would like annexation to England, but knowing the impossibility of such, are doing all they can to force Americans to submit to English dictation in everything and that they have had their own way altogether too much is only too true.

President Cleveland is an American. It is unfortunate that the influences that surrounded him during his business career was such that he became saturated with Eastern fallacies about matters of National finance. However, it is fortunate that we had a man for president at this time who would no longer permit North Eastern Statesmen, who are so fond of aping England that they favor a vigorous foreign policy against little Hawaii and kindred powers, but a humble submission to great powers, to longer dictate the foreign affairs of the country. The people of the West and South are for the protection of American principles against any power on earth, and if there is one nation above another they forever and unalterably refuse to allow to interfere with their established principles, that nation is England.

If Mr. Cleveland could only strike the same chord on fiscal matters that he has on the Monroe doctrine, he would, indeed, be the fit companion in history to Jefferson and Jackson.

THE Venezuelan matter is in a fair way to be settled. Salisbury is looking for a way to back out without backing down. If he isn't successful in this, he will back down.

IN THE SPIRIT OF FRATERNITY.

The welfare of the city of Port Angeles demands a faithful performance of a few duties by its citizens. If Port Angeles is ever to attain the position amongst the cities of the Northwest which nature has intended for her; if our public debt is to be paid and our honor and good faith upheld; if the capital invested in business, and property is not to be entirely distroyed, the people must stop quarreling and all work together for the advancement of our common interest.

There are everywhere evidences of a desire by men to return to business. This is more plain now than it has been at any time since the financial crash of 1893. The disorganized state of affairs since that crash makes a readjustment of business necessary. The movement of responsible men from their old haunts to new fields is evidence of this. Today the cities and towns of the southern states are reaping large benefits from this necessity. Business men who have saved considerable of this world's goods from the chaos of disaster are looking for pastures new. They are going from Chicago, the twin cities of Minnesota, Kansas City, Omaha and all the numerous smaller towns of the great central west. They want to get into position to do business as soon as possible.

That we have natural advantages possessed by no other country on earth is well known to our citizens. Let us make the facts known to others. We offer more advantages to capital than the southern cities do and there is no reason why we should not profit from the condition of affairs as well as they. We offer capital the chance to double and treble itself in a natural increase of the value of our property. Besides phenominal profits from business, the capital invested in developing our natural resources offers a profit that is unparrelled by conditions elsewhere.

These briefly outlined conditions affords us an opportunity for relief from our present financial straits. Capital will bring tax money to our city and county coffers. It will give employment to our own people and permit them to pay delinquent taxes. It will increase the value of the assessment rolls. It will give us financial standing as a community. It will permit the citizens to pay their personal indebtedness. It will make life in Clallam county worth living.

With so much at stake it behooves the people to see that the victory is won for Port Angeles. Quit small personalities. Personal differences should count as nought. They should be lost in the greater issue.

THE Seattle Times, referring to English colonial acquisition, says, "it is the same sort of thing that has been going on in this country, only we bought out such right as France possessed before we began to fill up the West with pioneers first and regular state governments afterwards." Yes, that is the only difference; but is not that quite a difference, after all?

THE Everett Democrat has gone over to the Populist party because Cleveland, Gorman, and other leaders of the party do things its editor don't like, This is like the man or woman who leaves the church because Mr. So and So, or Deacon Blank don't do just as he thinks he should. — Aberdeen Herald.

THE appointment of Thomas Malony as Secretary of the State Central Committee is a commendable one. Mr. Malony is a man peculiarly fitted for this position and has well earned the promotion by hard service on the State Committee for several years.

THERE is some encouragement for Democrats in the fact that the candidate for president nominated at Chicago has always been successful when running against a candidate nominated at some other city

SEATTLE Democrats have commenced preparing for the city campaign. They do not propose to let Dr. Jordon and the Republicans have it all to themselves.

WHAT kind of a foreign policy would be satisfactory to the Seattle Times, anyhow? How would annexation to England suit it?

A Sermon From St. Paul.

Messrs. John Gutenberg, H. Gutenberg and F. S. Bass, are three gentlemen who arrived here last week from St. Paul, Minn. They belong to the syndicate that purchased the 40-acre tract about which Messrs. Derringer and Gitz have been making such ado.

In an interview these gentlemen all concurred in the statement that there had not been the least misrepresentation to them on the part of Col. Coolican and his co-laborers at St. Paul. They are greatly pleased with Port Angeles and are perfectly satisfied with the 40-acre tract in which they are interested; that it is just as it had been pictured to them and they could not understand what Derringer and Getz were kicking about. As for themselves they had come here to stay.

One of them has already purchased a house and lot, and each of the others are trying to find a suitable house and lot which they expect their home.

They say that Col. Coolican is doing grand work for the city and county and that the office is crowded day and night by people seeking information about this country. They are much impressed with the cordial manner in which they have been received and the longer they stay the more they like the place and people.

A. E. Kilpatrick, of Fillmore, Calif., had the misfortune to have his leg caught between a cart and a stone and badly bruised. Ordinarily he would have been laid up for two or three weeks but says: "After using one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm I began to feel better, and in three days was entirely well. The peculiar soothing qualities which Chamberlain's Pain Balm possesses I have never noticed in any other liniment. I take pleasure in recommending it." This liniment is also of great value for rheumatism and lame back. For sale by J. C. Hansen.

IMMIGRATION BOOMING.

Clallam County's Association Pounding Away.

THE CONSTITUTION AND BY-LAWS.

A Large Colony of New Yorkers Have Decided to Locate in Clallam County and Will Soon Be On the Ground.

The Clallam County Immigration Association held a meeting last Saturday afternoon at the rooms of the Board of Trade. The meeting was pursuant to an adjournment and was called for the purpose of hearing the report of Mr. Carrigan, chairman of Clallam county's delegation to the state convention of the Immigration Association held recently at Seattle.

There was a good attendance and the greatest interest shown in the proceedings.

The following persons were elected honorary members: J. B. Cosser, Wm. Sterret, J. F. Karsenia, Edward Christopherson, John Donohue, Dennis Cunningham, E. B. Griffin, P. O'Shaughnasy.

Mr. Carrigan then made a statement relative to a colony of New Yorkers who are seeking a location in the state of Washington. Mr. Carrigan met the representatives of the colony while at the Immigration Convention at Seattle, and remained over there several days for the purpose of directing their attention to Clallam county, and to secure their locating here.

The colony is regularly incorporated with a present membership of 400. They have $25,000 on deposit in one of the Seattle banks. The plan of the colony contemplated the outright purchase of about 10,000 acres in one body of land, and then proceed to clear it up and put it in shape for their various enterprises. They will not stop at merely slashing the land, but it will be cleared up and seeded down as they proceed. For this purpose they will build sawmills and utilize all the timber cut. Their attention was called to a tract of land in the Eastern part of the county approximating nearly 14,000 acres, and after a thorough investigation they concluded to recommend its purchase.

Mr. Carrigan stated that ten more members of the colony arrived the day he left Seattle, and that thirty families would arrive about the first of February. The committee assured Mr. Carrigan that the association would undoubtedly accept their report as to the selection.

As fast as the land is in shape the colony will get cattle, establish dairy and cheese factories, and will also go into fish canning. The members of the colony are skilled in their different branches of work, and they will come fully equipped to conduct every feature of their undertakings in first-class workmanship manner. The members all have ample personal means, and will prove valuable acquisitions to our population.

Mr. Carrigan also referred to a meeting he and Mr. Gale had with a Mr. Eastham, who is looking up a location for an extensive fish cannery. Mr. Eastham had visited Everett, Anacortes, Blaine, and other points and was expecting to visit Port Angeles during the current week.

Attention was also called to the step taken at the State Immigration Convention to establish State Immigration headquarters at Chicago. D. B. Ward has been commissioned by Gov. McGraw as State Immigration agent, and he will proceed to Chicago and open an office. He will act on behalf of the entire state, and each county will derive benefits according as it sees fit to push its advantages.

Mr. Carrigan urged that Clallam county proceed to the business at once, and see that our resources be fully set forth and shown up in the best possible manner. There will be no restrictions and each county will reap in proportion as it sows.

T. H. Carter moved that the report of the chairman be received and the thanks of the association be extended to the delegates. The motion prevailed.

The following resolution was also adopted:

Resolved, That this association heartily appreciates the work done and being done by its absent president, Col. Jas. S. Coolican, on behalf of the county of Clallam, as evidences of work are becoming daily more apparent through the arrival of a desirable class of homeseekers, correspondence and otherwise.

The directors were empowered to have the constitution and by-laws printed for distribution, as they might deem wise.

The meeting adjourned to meet Saturday February 1st.

Below will be found the constitution and by-laws, printed in full:

town. They have got all you people so that they can wind you round their fingers. Now if you want to be run by such hoodoo buncos as they are, alright. I was not born yesterday. I do not want a guardian. I would like to see the man who made that statement. I need no guardian in this city; am able to take care of myself."

Mr. Krueger then mildly suggested that there were nine men from St. Paul, and only two to be seen; that he would like to hear from the other seven.

In answer Mr. Derringer said: "I think I can reply to the gentleman. I do not know whether three have gone in the country or not. I want to state that the nine men are not interested in this tract; that a few of us came to investigate for men who have not the opportunity to come out here and they selected us."

At this point there was an ominous lull in the proceedings. No one seemed to know what to do, or how to do it.

A motion to adjourn was lost.

Finally Chairman Seevers arose and made the following speech:

"If you would leave it to me I would suggest that this meeting appoint a committee, and such a committee as they think will draft resolutions that will be published in the papers in Port Angeles and St. Paul, denouncing such men as Col. Coolican and John Cain, and stating that Port Angeles and Clallam county has many advantages which people coming here under proper representations would admire, but that they should know the facts in the case, and would denounce Col. Coolican and John Cain as being real estate sharks. I am here to speak my sentiments regardless where they might hurt."

Prof. Seymour, of phrenological fame, then came forward and delivered a beautiful oration. "From the Atlantic to the Pacific," he said, "are dotted dead towns, 10,000 people, victims fleeced out of their earnings by such boodling real estate sharks. It is time we set down on such hog-swabbling," and closed with a powerful peroration.

At this point a voice in the audience moved to put a "damper" on Col. Coolican. As there was no second, but some laughter, the chairman did not consider the motion at all.

The crowd still seemed indisposed to take any action, and the chairman was compelled to goad them on, earnestly suggesting that a committee be appointed to draft resolutions.

The appeal was so pointed that it seemed cruel to disappoint him, so Prof. Seymour moved that a committee of three be appointed by the chair to draft such resolutions. The motion was seconded and passed. The chair appointed Messrs. Seymour, Richardson and Krueger. Mr. Richardson refused to act; as also did Mr. Krueger.

The chairman then took several minutes trying to find somebody to appoint, but finally gave it up and suggested that the audience make the selection. This was finally agreed to.

Judson Adams and G. V. Smith were then nominated, but both refused to act.

Judge Carusi was nominated, but stated that, as he was one of those boodling realestaters, he could not serve.

Messrs. Ellsworth and Fowler also could not see their way to serve. It looked as though the committee could not be formed, but finally E. H. Bohall and H. M. Miller agreed to serve on the committee who, with Prof. Seymour made up the full complement. While they were out framing the resolutions the audience was treated to some talking from both standpoints of the question under consideration.

Judge G. V. Smith was first called upon and performed his familiar feat of straddling the question, stating that he did not know just where he stood as yet, and then proceeded to castigate the people on their apathy in allowing Mr. Carrigan to get the start of them on every proposition and organizing everything after his peculiar methods.

He then ripped them up the back for trying to give Col. Coolican a black eye when they had given him the very power they now were trying to condemn, and dramatically asked: "If you hurt the reputation of Col. Coolican; if you kick him out, who will you put in his place? Will you have no representative?

Is it right that you should condemn Col. Coolican without giving him a chance to defend himself? He knew well that Coolican had his own way of advocating his claims; that he was flowery and liable to exaggerate; but he was not much worse than the rest of us. Could not these men themselves overreach the mark? Could they not add to the story, and put their own construction on what had been told them?"

By the time the Judge finished, it was easily seen that the straddle was mainly on one side of the fence, and while he deprecated any false statements on the part of anyone as to this county and city, still he was firmly convinced that it would be a terrible mistake to pass judgment on Coolican and Cain without giving them a hearing.

Mr. Souther then took the floor and proceeded to flay M. J. Carrigan alive. Said the gang was a "bunco outfit," and M. J. Carrigan the prime mover. That the Board of Trade was a snare and a delusion, and ought to be suppressed, and moved that Carrigan be named in the resolutions with the rest.

This called P. F. Kiernan to his feet with a gentle intimation that everyone knew why Mr. Souther would talk so; that it was simply because of rank prejudice on the part of that gentleman against Mr. Carrigan and that the meeting should have better sense than to pass such resolutions.

This was like shaking a red rag in front of the bull. Souther came to the front and made an even more furious onslaught on Carrigan.

"Does the gentleman know what prejudice is? I will tell him. When a man has sufficient body of facts on a subject and is not able to form a judgment What did this man Carrigan do? When a lot on one side is appraised at seventeen dollars, and the lot on the other side at ten times seventeen dollars, is that prejudice?"

The question of inserting Mr. Carrigan's name was voted down, and the audience requested to listen to the resolutions as drawn by the committee. Here they are:

Resolved: That we condemn the actions of any person, or persons, claiming to represent a purported Board of Trade in this city, in making false statements about this city, its property and its resources.

The advantageous location of this city, and the abundant resources of this county, stated as they truly exist, will be sufficient inducements for the capitalist and the industrious homeseeker, and any exaggeration, or representation beyond the facts, or the sale of property at figures beyond its true value at home or abroad to strangers, we deem an imposition and a wrong that must eventually react against the best interests of our town and county, and we are constrained to make public the following:

2nd. The said Board of Trade is, in fact, insolvent, or in other words, "defunct."

3rd. If the said James S. Coolican and John Cain are using the said Board of Trade to give them standing abroad, enabling them to work their nefarious schemes of selling real estate at boom prices, we believe it to be the interest of the people of this city and county, that the said sham Board of Trade should be dissolved.

That we are reliably informed through parties present at this meeting from St. Paul and elsewhere, that said Coolican and Cain have made false statements and have misrepresented and are using the name of the Board of Trade to further their bunco scheme, and we hereby condemn such manner of booming a town and county sufficiently provided by nature with every advantage and denounce the perpetrators as doing harm to our interests, and ask that all representative newspapers publish the above resolutions and statements so that the innocent may be protected against impositions.

Signed,
H. M. MILLER,
D. C. SEYMOUR,
E. M. BOHALL,

Quillayute Board of Trade.

The Quillayute board of trade held an enthusiastic and important meeting at Forks on the 18th.

After deciding that regular meetings would be held on the third Saturday of each month, the board proceeded to the election of officers for the ensuing term, which resulted as follows:

President, F. T. Balch, of Boston; vice-presidents, L. M. Ford, of Forks, and M. V. B. Lamoreux, of Beaver; recording secretary, R. L. Sebastian, of Beaver; assistant recording secretaries, J. E. Crawford, of Forks, and Wesley Smith, of Boston; corresponding secretary, C. E. Maxfield, of Shuwah; treasurer, Dan Pullen, of Lapush.

A constitution and a series of by-laws were then adopted; which among other things, provides that anyone a resident of the western part of Clallam and Jefferson counties, over 21 years of age can become members of the board.

Section 4, of article 3, reads as follows: It shall be the duty of the executive committee to meet, entertain and escort such persons visiting this valley as the board may direct or as the duties of the corresponding secretary may indicate as worthy of such attention. The committee shall also perform such duties as may be imposed upon them by the board.

Section 5. The officers shall be chosen by a majority vote at the first regular meeting in January and July of each year and shall hold office until their successors are elected.

The choir of the M. E. church is an acceptable institution of the community. Their singing is one of the delights of the Sunday services and is highly appreciated by all. They are at present hard at work upon an elaborate program to be presented in the near future, particulars of which will be announced later, but enough is known to warrant the statement that it is to be the best concert ever given to the Dungeness people by the church choir. Mr. T. S. Semple is a very martinet at practice and under his able leadership and the faithfulness of his choir. it will be a musical treat that all should hear.

The Rev. Mr. Lee is full of resources for the benefit and enjoyment as well as the profit of his people. He has decided to organize the male members of his Senior Epworth League into a semi military company called the Epworth Guard. This will take hold of the boys and bring out all the latent patriotism there is, and by education and instruction lead them to become not only lovers of their country but manly and healthy in body.

One of the landmarks of the old town will soon pass away. The church building that has stood gaunt and empty since the town moved away, is to be torn down and taken to the prairie to form a neucius for the new church.

The grounds of the new parsonage are to be laid out under the direction of Mr. Lingham the landscape gardener, After they have passed from his skillful hands, with the silver poplar and the mountain ash planted amidst the flowers they will present an appearance of beauty, that will be a pleasure to look upon.

On the evening of the 28th, a company of the young folks of Dungeness, met and organized themselves into the "Dungeness Entertainment and Dramatic Society." After the election of the customary officers, a discussion took place as to what entertainment they should place on the board, it was enthusiastically decided to give "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," winding up with a laughable farce entitled, "The Dutch Justice." Mr. Gilbert Sherwood, of Rena, was elected manager, and at once cast his supporting company. The play is one that appeals strongly to every lover of home and morality. The readiness with which the parts were taken, and the enthusiasm displayed by the members of the club, promises a splendid night's entertainment whenever the company have perfected themselves in rehearsal. Manager Sherwood stated that after they have successfully passed through the trying ordeal of their debut the company will present a minstrel piece, and one may ask why not? Anything that makes life less burdensome and brings a laugh where otherwise no ripple of mirth would be, is equally a benefactor to the community as he who makes the grass grow, where barreness has existed previously. Good luck to you and your company, manager.

On the 27th inst. at Sequim prairie the members of the Methodist Episcopal church, incorporated under the name and style of the Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, of Sequim prairie. This is preliminary to the building of their church, a site for which has been donated by Mrs. Brown, who is a member of the society. The following trustees were directed to serve until their successors are appointed at the 4th quarterly ference at the end of the year: J. W. Grant, Mrs. A. B. Smith, W. P. Horner. After election the trustee immediately examined the estimates offered for the building of a church edifice, and accepting one of the plans arrangements were entered into with the contractor to commence work at once. A pleasing feature was the proffer of 5 acres of land to be held in trust by the church for sale at a favorable moment. A warrantee deed to this tract of land has since been made and other offers are expected on the same line. Sequim prairie people are to be congratulated upon the outcome of the year's church work. It is expected the building will be ready for worship in about two months. Rev. R. C. Lee, of Dungeness, will still continue to serve them as pastor.

In a talk on Sunday evening last on our obligations to our ancestors and our duties to our successors, the Rev. R. C. Lee drew attention to the lasting obligation under which the people of this place are to Methodism. Taking its start in the early 70's it has gone on increasing year by year in effective work, giving to both parents and children the glorious privileges of religious education and blessing. At no time in its history has its ability to provide religious instruction been so marked as the year past. Every department is in thorough working order and surely we ought to prize highly the pioneer church of the people, providing, as she has, Sunday School privileges for the children as well as the regular services of the church through all the years of the past. Other denominations have come and gone, but the Methodist church has, year after year, in storm and shine, in prosperity and in adversity, stayed with the people, and surely every Christian here ought to feel proud of a church that has, despite all opposition and discouragement, kept her doors wide open and her pastor present to attend to the spiritual needs of the people. She deserves well of the community, and will receive the approval of all who are interested in the evangelization of this part of the world.

A very successful party was given in honor of Miss Pansy Robertson at her home Monday evening, January 20th, it being the occasion of her eleventh birthday. Those present were: Mamie Evans, Tot Dick, Ethel Hunt, Florence Tiller, Mabel Hunt, Minta Tiller, Fanny Gibert, Lottie Gibert, Florence Wylde, Hannah Ward, Cora Tutor, Bertie Ward, Jesse Evans, Freddie Ward, Roy Tutor, Alonzo Tutor.

On Friday evening, January 17th, a dance was given at Lost Mountain at the home of Mr. Nicols. A large number were present, and, as the night was stormy and dark, dancing was kept up until daylight, and quite a number remained for breakfast. The refreshments served at midnight were proof that, although far removed from the busy outside world, the ladies of Lost Mountain have not forgotten their skilled methods of cooking. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. Barrow, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. Stone, Mr. and Mrs. Garlic, Mr. and Mrs. Gage, Mr. and Mrs. Mugent, Mr. and Mrs Van Orman, Mr. and Mrs. Aldrich, Mr. and Mrs. McComb, Mr. and Mrs. Caskedy, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Social at M. E. Parsonage.

The members and friends of the M. E. church, held a social and reception at the parsonage Monday evening, Jan. 27th. There were present over ninety of our best citizens, including our mayor and wife and several of our prominent citizens.

The company were entertained with an excellent program. Miss Jessie Elliott recited six very appropriate pieces which were well received. Capt. Bradley sang one of those comic Irish songs which took the cake. Miss Nellie Wilson recited "Jamie Douglas Lad." Miss Nellie is a graduate in elecution and Port Angeles is lucky to number her among its charming daughters. Miss Babe Wilson, daughter of Rev. W. H. Wilson, sang a solo which was very sweet and showed talent. Miss Maud Fuller, late of Iowa, recited a very fine selection. We are glad to have Miss Maud among our talent of Port Angeles. Mrs. Worthly recited a very fine selection. The pastor, Rev. W. H. Wilson, gave a very pleasant talk and words of welcome. He told the young people of the coming possibilities, the older ones of the coming sorrows, and said in conclusion, "You have only to call if you need me, in joy or death."

The donation was abundant. This was the best display of citizens ever congregated at Port Angeles in a party of this kind. Cash and supplies figured up to a good round sum and a very pleasant time was had. May the good spirit continue these neighborly feelings and bring us many more such meetings during the coming years.

Mrs. S. F. Phelps, Miss Bessie Chitwood and Arthur Seely acted as a reception committee and did their work well. The house was nicely decorated and with song within and the festive games and play of the young people without, made up one of the brighest evenings that has taken place in Port Angeles.

Surprise Party.

Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Stanley were treated to a real surprise last Friday night. About 8 o'clock certain married couple began to drop in until the house was pretty well crowded. Each couple bore a mysterous package, which ultimately proved to be something good to eat.

The evening was spent with dancing and cards until midnight, when all partook of refreshments.

The souvenirs were very original and dainty. They consisted of oyster shells, painted with some historical character and designed in a manner to indicate the most prominent characteristic of the character. The idea was further carried out in the use of oyster shells, in honor of Dr. Stanley's pet hobby, the propagation of oysters.

The affair was most delightful throughout. Those present were: Messrs. and Mesdames Wm. Bell, R. C. Wilson, H. B. Willson, W. L. Marquardt, Fuller, Ritchie, B. C. Keller, Louis Williams.

Birthday Party.

Mr. Chas. T. Brown gave a party to a number of his friends Saturday night, in honor of his 20th birthday, at the home of his parents on Second street.

Games and charades were features of the evening, which, together with a bountiful spread of refreshmente, made the occasion one long to be remembered.

Following is a list of those present: Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Brown, Misses Bertha Brandon, Alice Ware, Edith Cook, Mabel Crosby, Anna Fields, Madge Haynes, Theresa Graham, Frona Raymond, Grace Grant, —— Brown; Messrs. Robert Trumbull, Wm. J. Ware. Roy McClinton, Ray McClinton, Orin Babcock, Chas. Brown, Geo. Brown, Ross Haynes and A. J. Cosser.

Mr. Palmer Surprised.

A surprise party was given at the home of Mr. Jas. Palmer, on Oak street Monday evening, in honor of Mr. Palmer, who left for Pataha, Wash., Wednesday morning. The ladies brought an abundance of cakes and good things to eat. Card playing was the principal feature of the evening.

The residence of Mr. Beardsley, on Fifth street, was totally destroyed last night by fire. The house was a two-story frame structure and cost nearly $1,500. Mr. Beardsley left home about 7 o'clock. He had a fire going in the sitting room, and filled the stove up in order to keep the house warm, and presumes that a spark escaped and ignited in the carpet. Mr. Beardsley had hardly reached down-town when the alarm was sounded. The fire spread with great rapidity and the flames were bursting from every window fifteen minutes after the alarm was given. The house and contents are a total loss. Mr. Beardsley carried an insurance of $1,000.

The James G. Swan, Indian schooner, John Samsah, master, cleared last Friday for a sealing Cruise off the north Pacific coast. The schooner carries a crew of thirty-one, all Neah Bay Indians except two.

The high school graduates of this year will in the near future give an entertainment to secure funds to defray the expenses of graduation exercies. The best talent of the city will participate and a first class entertainment is promised.

The case of Henry Anderson, who shot Philip Brown, a Neah Bay Indian, came up before Judge Carusi. The present action is brought through the friends of the dead Indian, who wrote to the Indian Department at Washington City. There was but one witness put on the stand and as there was no malice proven, he held the prisoner to the superior court on a charge of man slaughter, with bond fixed at $1,000.

Our fellow townsman, Thos. Maloney has received notification of his appointment as Secretary of the Democratic State Central Committee. The appointment was made by Chairman Drum, and approved by the executive committee. Mr. Maloney takes the place of Mr. Charles De France, of Tacoma, who has recently moved to Oregon. The new secretary is eminently qualified to fill the position and we feel sure the future will demonstrate the wisdom of the selection.

There was an incipient blaze in the electric light power house Sunday afternoon. Engineer Burns reached the place about 3 o'clock in the afternoon and found it filled with smoke. The flames burst out a few minutes after Mr. Burns entered, but they were easily extinguished. Mr. Burns thinks a spark from the furnaces must have lodged between the partition and the beam across the top of the boilers, and that it had been smouldering all day, as the beam was badly charred. The damage was slight.

Sheriff Dyke came up on the Garland Wednesday morning. He had in charge John Gunderson, of Shuwah, an insane patient. Gunderson has been afflicted for about two years, but his insanity shows no peculiar features, nor are his friends able to discover the cause. He simply mopes about and will sit for hours with his head bowed and eyes fixed on one spot. He has had several violent outbreaks and his friends deem it advisable to put him where he can receive proper treatment. The case came up before Judge McClinton yesterday and he was adjudged insane, with orders to be committed to the asylum.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Bryan entertained their friends last Friday evening at their cosy home on Francis street. The occasion was the 12th anniversary of their wedding. The evening was spent in delightful social intercourse until about 10:30 o'clock, when a delicious luncheon was served. Those present were:

Messrs. and Mesdames H. B. Willson, Wm. Bell, A. L. Johnson, J. E. Thomas, C. S. Stakemiller, Peter Chambers, Dr. and Mrs. McGeorge, Mrs. Pickett, Kammer, Mrs. Bowman and Elder Nelson.

A Midnight Blaze.

The house of Walter Goodwin, on East Front street, was badly damaged by fire Sunday night. Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin were awakened about 1 o'clock by the violent coughing of their little child. They were sleeping down stairs and they awoke to find the room filled with a stifling smoke. Mr. Goodwin took in the situation at once. He sprang up and opened the door of the room, but was driven back by the dense smoke. He then rushed to the window, broke it open and passed his child and wife through and gave the alarm.

Messrs. Williams, Miller, Marquardt and Shields quickly responded to his cry for help. They succeeded in saving all the furniture in the lower part of the house. The fire boys were promptly on hand and soon had the fire under control, not, however, before the whole roof and up-stairs was burned.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin lose all their clothing, a winter's supply of groceries, preserves, etc., all which were stored in an upper room. There was an insurance of $400 on the house and furniture.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Williams took the unfortunate family to their home and they will remain there until they can secure another house.

A Land Flowing With Milk and Honey.

Mr. Paul Barnes, of Lake Crescent, returned last Friday from an extended trip to Central America. He left here October 16th and has been traveling constantly ever since. He took the steamer Santa Cia, at San Francisco, and had a very pleasant sea trip, with the exception of a few days when the vessel had to put in at Selinas Cruz under a stress of weather. On the way down they stopped at San Diego, Mazatlan, Acapulco, and a number of other small seaports.

Mr. Barnes landed at San Jose de Guatemala. It is almost in a direct westerly line from the city of Guatemala. The two places are connected by a railroad, and Mr. Barnes describes the ride between these points as the most enjoyable trip he ever made.

The city of Guatemala is on a plateau five thousand feet above the sea level and looking in any direction the eye discovers huge mountain peaks towering to a height of 12,000 and 15,000 feet. The view is one of unusual grandeur. The railroad winds in and around the mountains in a distracting maze of cliffs, precipices, waterfalls, valleys blooming in all the floral wealth of the tropics, oftentimes doubling upon itself until one can look down upon the tracts apparently forming a circle upon circle. Coffee plantations dot the landscape on every side and seem like patches of dead color in a bed of brilliant green. Birds of every hue, and plumage of surpassing brilliancy of color abound in the forests and gardens. It was like a dream of fairy land, and a trip the memory of which could never fade.

Mr. Barnes was captivated by the physical features of the country. Around Guatemala the climate is pleasant, equable and healthful, but along the coasts much fever prevails. This explains why the principal city is located so far inland.

There are many Americans in Guatemala and they seem to do most of the business. It is increasing every year and in time should prove a good market for Puget Sound. The principal and almost only export of the country is coffee, but some sugar is produced along the lowlands. The coffee plantations extend almost to the summit of the mountains, such is the fertility of the soil.

The city of Guatemala is a straggling town made up mostly of Spanish adobe buildings, but in recent years many pretentious brick buildings have gone up. The brick is made near the city and in color is of a lighter shade than ours, while some is of a dull greyish color.

The city is supplied with electric lights and telephones, but they have not attained to electric street railways, mules furnishing the street motor power as yet. Living expenses are very high, but Mr. Barnes considers it a good country for anyone who can command some capital, not a place to drop into with pockets empty.

Mr. Barnes comes back with ruddy cheeks and bright eyes and it is easily apparent the trip was beneficial. He left for his beautiful ranch on Lake Crescent last Sunday and will make preparation for the summer's season at the Lake.

A "Whittling Social" will be given in Odd Fellows' hall on Wednesday evening, February 5th, under the auspices of Gate City Lodge No. 27, I. O. G. T. Refreshments will be served, and an enjoyable event is anticipated. An admission fee of 10 cents will be charged. All who wish to see the cause of temperance prosper in Port Angeles should encourage an occasional social by the local temperance organization. It has done some good work.

Has a Little Scheme Whereby he Hopes to Clear Forty Thousand Dollars.

A highly dramatic incident occurred at the Board of Trade rooms after the adjournment Tuesday evening. A portly gentleman stepped up to Mr. Carrigan and introduced himself as Dr. Morrison of Victoria and requested a few minutes conversation. Mr. Carrigan took him to the desk in the rear part of the room and they had talked but a short time when Carrigan sprang out of his chair and in a loud voice denounced the gentleman as a scoundrel, and in the presence of the six or eight men who happened to be in the room, accused the benevolent looking doctor of attempting to bribe him.

Dr. Morrison remonstrated that such was not the case and attempted to leave the room, but the door was locked and he was compelled to listen to a severe arraignment by Carrigan, which was to the effect that Morrison claimed he had with him a party from San Francisco representing a coal-mining syndicate; that he had represented that there was coal on his land in Clallam county; that if he sold to this man he would clear $40,000 and that if Carrigan would say that the shaft he had sunk was upon his (Morrison's) land he would pay him $5,000 spot cash. Carrigan told him he was a rascal and a scoundrel and that he proposed to expose his dastardly attempt to bribe him.

It could easily be seen that Morrison was badly cut up; in fact he was, to put it mildly, pretty thoroughly scared. He protested he meant nothing wrong and only wanted to go home, but every man in the room took a hand and they jumped on him flat-footed. It is safe to say Dr. Morrison of Victoria, felt much relieved when he got into his little trundle bed that night and promised never to do it again.

GONE HOME TO MOTHER.

Mrs. J. P. Austin of Shuwah Tires of Her "Hubby" and Skips.

J. P. Austin, postmaster at Shuwah, was a passenger on the Garland on her up Sound trip Tuesday morning. Mr. Austin was not in an amiable frame of mind. Quite the contrary. He was warm, very warm, under the collar and he didn't care who knew it. Whether or not he had cause for waxing wroth, we leave our readers to decide for themselves.

The circumstances, as near as we could gather the facts, are these: On Friday morning of last week, Mr. Austin shouldered his fowling piece and hied himself to the dark, damp, deep and dangerous virgin forest in quest of game. After a hard days tramp through the woods he returned to his home, but not to the bosom of his family. During the day his wife, the sharer of his joys and sorrows; had gathered together her (and his, too, for that matter) three children, gone to Clallam and taken passage for Seattle enroute to the home of her girlhood, the Lone Star state.

Mrs. Austin had left an eight page letter for her husband, in which she [illegible] years had she patiently [illegible] opportunity for leaving him, taking all that time in her possession sufficient money, sent by her parents, to enable herself and children to Texas. The letter further stated that the writer had concluded that her husband had ceased to care for her. At any rate she had she had ceased to care for him, hence her exit.

Now, Mr. Austin is not the kind of man to quietly stop and mope like a sick chicken, so he took the next boat and is now well on his way to Texas after his missing spouse.

When asked who would look after Uncle Sam's interests at the postoffice, he replied "D—— the postoffice, I am going after my wife."

It seems that in a burst of love and affection some time ago, Mr. Austin deeded all his property to his wife, and now, like He of whom we read in biblical lore, he has nowhere to lay his head. He swears by all that is sacred and otherwise that he will have his property back, even if she who once took him for better or worse, refuses to return. In the meantime the denizens of the Shuwah country will re-read their old newspapers until the return of the postmaster.

Thanks, Neighbor.

The Port Angeles Democrat-Leader last week underwent a change in its management, and will hereafter be published by The Democrat Company. Mr. John W. Troy will have charge of the editorial department, and the trustees consist of Messrs. W. L. Marquardt, C. E. Mallette and John W. Troy. The political complexion of the paper will remain the same as heretofore, as is evidenced by the selection of Mr. Troy as editor-in-chief. A more worthy man could hardly have been secured for that position. Mr. Troy is a young man of sterling abilities, a forcible writer, is well conversed on national affairs and is thoroughly qualified to make of the Democrat-Leader one of the leading journals of the Northwest.—Beaver Leader.
