Prof. Tiffany Not Satisfied With Work in Teachers' Meeting.

SCHOOL BOARD IN SECRET SESSION.

The Teachers Are Brought Up With a Round Turn and the Superintendent Rapps Them on the Knuckles, But Stirs Up a Hornets' Nest—County Superintendent Guptill Reads 'Em a Lecture on "Impressions"—Mr. Hatch Retorts With An Able Effort on "Liberty and Free Speech."

School matters have been in a sort of turmoil for the past week and culminated last night in a meeting of the school trustees to canvass the situation and discover some remedy.

For the past four years the teachers have been required to attend a teachers' meeting, presided over by the superintendent, to discuss psychology, school discipline and other matters pertaing to teaching. at the meeting last Friday Professor Tiffany made a pointed complaint that some of the teachers had been in the habit of disregarding the duties in connection with these meetings and that in the future he would insist on a prompt response to the duties assigned to the teachers, and in case of refusal to respond at teachers' meetings they would be requested to come Saturdays and perform to him personally, and if this was not complied with he would hold their warrants until they did respond. He also stated that he had a board that would stand no nonsense and would back him in whatever he did.

Mr. E. H. Hatch construed his remarks as a personal attack on him, as he had been the only one that had been called upon and failed to respond up to that time. Mr. Hatch explained why he was not prepared at that meeting, his excuse being that he had been requested by several to look up the question of ratifying the school indebtedness and that it had taken up all of his spare time, and further, that he was on the program at the previous meeting and had responded at that time. He also stated that Prof. Tiffany had no interest whatever in his warrant. and if he undertook to hold it he would serve a notice on the district that legal proceeding would be instituted, as no such rule had ever been laid down by the board of directors.

This resulted in Prof. Tiffany calling the board together at four o'clock yesterday to discuss relative duty of superintendent and teachers.

The meeting was called to order and the object stated by Prof. Tiffany. He stated that the remarks at teachers' meeting the Friday previous were not an attack upon Mr. Hatch, but that he had in mind five when he made his remarks; they were Miss Guptill, Miss Elliott, Miss Love, Mrs. Ballou and Mr. Hatch.

He also said that he had been informed that Miss Troy had made the statement that he had been criticizing certain county officials in teachers' meetings, and then called on her to substantiate her statements.

In reply Miss Troy did not deny that certain officials had been attacked, but denied that she had ever made the statement.

Mr. Hatch then arose and reiterated his remarks made at the former meeting and claimed the right to criticize on the ground that the constitution of the United States and the state of Washington guaranteed free speech to all, and stated further that the circumstances surrounding the remarks of Prof. Tiffany made it appear that he was directly attacked, and that he felt it his duty to defend himself at that time.

Miss Guptill vigorously defended Prof. Tiffany and stated that no matter what course the board adopted, she was in the future going to assert her rights as county superintendent and insist on the teachers respecting her authority, and that she would officially hold them personally responsible for not only remarks made about her, but for the impression they created, and further, that the teachers of this county would have to walk with due circumspection or they might hold themselves in readiness to report to her office; that she would not tolerate their misquoting her words or misconstruing her motives.

A resolution was then adopted by the board requiring teachers to obey the orders of the city superintendent.

CLALLAM COUNTY PAMPHLETS

Are to be Issued as a Regular Great Northern Railway Bulletin.

The secretary of the Immigration Association is in receipt of a communication from Col. Coolican, which states that he has made arrangements with President James Hill to have the 30,000 Clallam county pamphlets he has prepared issued as a regular Great Northern railway bulletin. This will add great weight to the pamphlet and will augment its influence an hundred fold.

The pamphlets will be distributed at every station on the road and at every office of the company throughout the United States and Canada.

If ones stops to think this over he can not fail to note its great significance. It surely proves that President Hill is having Port Angeles rubbed into him every day in the week and this concession must mean that he has consented to advance the interests of this section for some purpose or other. We can only trust his good work will go still further and that it may result in an extension of his vast railway system to this point. Then, and only then, will there be a truly transcontinental railway system.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound of imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube reslored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

IMMIGRATION STILL ON,

NEW COMMITTEES ARE APPOINTED.

The Relative Merits of Small Farms and a Large Sawmill Are Discussed—Circular Letter to Precinct Committeemen of the Association.

The Clallam County Immigration Association held its regular weekly meeting last Saturday afternoon at the Board of Trade rooms, with Capt. Bradley as president pro tempore.

It is certainly gratifying to notice the good attendance at these meetings and the interest taken in the work of the association. It is gathering into its fold the best representatives of our solid citizens and it gives sure promise of bringing about a united and telling working force for the good of our city and county. Everyone who can spare a few hours each Saturday afternoon should attend these meetings. It not only encourages the workers, but much information can be secured through the discussion of questions that come before the association.

At the meeting on Saturday Judge G. V. Smith gave a very entertaining talk on the relative merits of the question as to whether it would be more profitable to have a mammoth sawmill established here or to encourage the cultivation of fruits and berries. His remarks called out a spirited and friendly discussion of the subject which could not but be profitable to every one who heard it.

Judge Smith, while believing a large sawmill was very desirable, was enclined to think that small farms devoted to raising fruits and berries would bring more general prosperity and a better and more solid class of citizenship.

Major Crooks thought a mill was of the greatest importance. He was sure it would double our population in one year and declared that Judge Smith would never sell his berries after he had raised them unless we made a market for them and he was of the opinion that the industries went hand in hand.

Mr. Carrigan made a motion that a committee of five be appointed as "a sawmill committee." and that it be empowered and instructed to draw up a prospectus which would show the great advantages we possess as a place for the location of a great sawmill, to open communications with the large lumber and mill men of the east who have exhausted the timber resources of their sections and are seeking a new field for investment.

The chair appointed M. J. Carrigan, Wm. Bell, John M. Martin, Geo. H. Gale and Major S. M. Crooks as members of the committee.

Capt. Morrisey called attention to the necessity of having a British vice-consul at this port. He stated that the captain of the Andrina would have paid off his men at Port Angeles if we had had a vice-counsul at this point, but as we did not he had to bundle off to Port Townsend and as a result that town was better off than we to the tune of about $1,500.

W. S. Morrisey, M. J. Carrigan and G. W. Vail were appointed a committee to place the matter before the proper authorities to secure a vice-consul and also with power to submit a name for such appointment.

On motion of Mr. Carrigan the secretary was instructed to interview all new comers and settlers and obtain their views in writing regarding this country, and to have the same printed published.

Mr. Carrigan also suggested that it would be proper to appoint a committee of statistics to complete the report for the State Bureau of Immigration. Captain Bradley, Wm. Banks, W. S. Morrisey, Horace White and J. M. Martin were named as such committee and were requested to meet at 10 o'clock Monday morning.

Secretary Gale read a letter from the Seattle chamber of commerce regarding a memorial to congress on flax culture, and it was decided to appoint a committee to draft such memorial following the lines of the Seattle letter, asking congress that an appropriation be made for the encouragement of flax culture in the state of Washington. M. J. Carrigan, Horace White and J. M. Jordon were selected as members of the committee.

Major R. R. Harding and John Cain were designated as Immigration Commissioners of the Clallam County Immigration Association, to act without compensation.

Following is a circular letter which has been sent to each of the precinct committeemen:

HEADQUARTERS
CLALLAM COUNTY IMMIGRATION ASSOCIATION
PORT ANGELES, Feb. 8th, 1896.

DEAR SIR: At the meeting of the Clallam County Immigration Association, held on January 9th, you were unanimously elected a member of this Association to represent.....precinct.

You will find the duties of the executive committeemen indicated in the constitution of the association enclosed, in section 5 of article 4.

We desire to get in at the earliest possible date complete reports from the various executive committeemen throughout the county, showing the amount of government land in each precinct, open to settlement, as well as the number of relinquishments for sale in each precinct. The reports should give as much detailed information as possible about all of these lands, in every case, whether the land is heavily timbered or easily cleared, whether it is bottom or bench land, the character of the soil, the amount of timber on the land and a general estimate of the amount; how the land is reached, whether by road or trail, how far from a store, postoffice and school house, etc. The more complete the information the better, as it will enable settlers on their arrival here, and after looking over the reports from each precinct, to determine the locality in which they desire to seek homes.

The precincts having the most complete records on file will naturally appeal most strongly to intending settlers. All of the information so received from executive committeemen will be attractively and systematically filed by the association and will be open at all times to inspection by all visitors to the association office.

We earnestly desire to have every enterprising, progressive citizen of Clallam county enrolled as a member of the Immigration Association, which we hope to make a powerful agent in the settlement and upbuilding of Clallam county; and this we can easily do if we have the support and co-operation of our citizens throughout the county.

We enclose you a copy of the constitution and by-laws, with a signature sheet attached, and request you to see every wide-awake man in your precinct and have him become a member of the association, which he can do by paying to you the initiation fee of fifty cents and signing the constitution as provided in section 1, article 3. This initiation fee of fifty cents covers all expenses attaching to membership in the association, so there are few men in the county who cannot afford to become members and help on the good work.

After you have circulated the constitution among the residents of your precinct, and procured as many members as possible, please return the constitution with the signature sheet, with the money you have collected from such new members, to the secretary.

We will be glad to receive such suggestions from you as you think will add to the thoroughness and success of the association's work.

Please get in your reports as early as possible.

Respectfully yours,
WM. BELL,
First Vice-President.

DERRINGER AND GATES

REPUDIATED BY THEIR TOWNSMEN.

Col. Coolican Writes a Letter Which Throws Some Light on the 40-Acre Transaction, Which Caused So Much Travail of Spirit and Such an Outburst of Righteous Indignation.

Below will be found some mighty interesting reading. The first thing that strikes one on reading the letters is that there has been some prodigious lying going on, and that those eminent apostles of truth from St. Paul are past-masters in the art.

For unadulterated gall and effrontery they stand out as shining lights. We admit that we were somewhat dazzled by their effudgence, and confess with a degree of humiliation, that it all came from a tallow candle, but then, you know, we were just aching to find some new light and. of course, fell into the error of taking the shadow for the substance.

It would seem that Derringer and Gates represented no one, certainly not those who purchased the forty acre tract which was the basis of their attack against the St. Paul office of the Immigration Association. And further, their conduct here would lead us to think they were wholly irresponsible. It will be remembered that they did not tarry long in our midst after they had succeeded in doing so much mischief. It is very unfortunate that we should have fallen into the error of giving any credence to such contemptible poltroons, but it may possibly bear certain good fruit in teaching us more caution in the future.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 2nd, 1896.

To the Citizens of Port Angeles, Washington.

GENTLEMEN: We have heard the statements made by one Derringer and one Gates of St. Paul regarding the representations made by Messrs. Coolican, Cain and Harding of Port Angeles, Washington to the effect that these gentlemen had misrepresented Port Angeles to us. We have made an investment in your city and before doing so fully investigated the whole business and are perfectly satisfied that no misrepresentations have been made. We further state that Derringer and Gates are in no way interested in our investment, and they were not sent by us to Port Angeles to investigate, nor have they any connection with us, nor have they been authorized by us to make any report of any kind; we denounce these men as liars of the first water.

We intend to make Port Angeles our homes, and nothing Derringer and Gates may say will prevent us from doing so. We are the parties who purchased the forty acres they referred to, and we fully understood that the plat was not on record, as it was made by one of ourselves and we requested Hon. J. W. Troy, the county auditor, not to put our deeds on record until the plat is filed. Mr. Derringer stated that we paid $2.50 for our abstracts. We paid only $1.25, and only allowed $25 for the survey of the property instead of $50 as Derringer stated.

We are gentlemen

327 JACKSON ST.
ST. PAUL, Minn., 22, 1896.

Geo. H. Gale, Esq., Secretary Clallam County Immigration Association:

DEAR SIR: Since writing you last I am in receipt of Mr. Carrigan's letter and report of citizen's meeting at Angeles. Is it not too bad that our efforts to do good for Angeles, are headed off by some of our own people.

Somebody must work on the outside, it is necessary, and when I jumped into the breach and tried to do something for our town and our people, at the cost of time, labor, effort and last but not least, money, it is humiliating to think that any portion of our citizens should try to undo our work. I have always been true to Angeles, have always worked for her interests and endeavored to carry out the promise I made the people in March 1890—that I would stick to the ship until she landed safely.

I felt humiliated, insulted and mortified at the action taken by the people. How on earth could any man in Angeles think for a moment that I could have made such foolish statements as represented by Derringer and Gates, when my own pamphlet (the green covered book) states to the contrary? They must take me for a fool. We called a meeting of the parties interested in the forty acres we sold here for Mr. C. P. Brown, and they have written a letter to the citizens of Angeles (which I shall mail you tomorrow) in which they state that Derringer and Gates did not represent them, that they have not a dollar's worth of interest in the forty acres, and that they are liars of the first water.

These people bought the forty for the cedar on it, as represented by a report of Mr. Warren Dodge, and are only paying fifty cents a thousand for the timber; they intend to start a shingle mill, and will bring twenty families into Angeles this spring, all good, respectable people. Where is the use of us working any longer while this spirit of antagonism exists.

Until some kind of a co-operative feeling exists in Angeles our best efforts will be futile. We have other enemies. Port Townsend and even Seattle are fighting us in an underhand way. Why cannot our people stick together, and be men, good, broad, whole-souled men. If they only do so, we would soon make a city of Angeles.

I inclose you a telegram from Mr. Ure, of Colorado, and also a couple of his letters. In explanation I beg to say that I made a trip to Colorado, and had the railway deal all worked up in good shape, as letters and telegram will show. To my surprise I now receive a letter saying that the "deal is off" without giving me any reason therefor. I would send you the letter, but I may want it for reference, will send it later.

Until some action is taken by the property owners of Angeles that will forever put a stop to their present suicidal policy, I will not move a step, and I think you will agree with me.

A few short-sighted people seem to forget in criticizing the board of trade, that its president went to Washington at his own expense, and had their reserve opened up; that its secretary went to Washington at his own expense in the same connection, and that the board of trade has been the only institution, and its officers the only men who spent their time and money in holding Angeles up, during the hard times.

Yours truly,

It possesses some medical properties that relieve the little sufferers immediately. It is, in my opinion, the best cough medicine in the market." If this remedy is freely given as soon as the croupy cough appears it will prevent the attack. It is also an ideal remedy for whooping cough. THE FOREIGN POLICY.

The Seattle Times assures THE DEMOCRAT-LEADER that it would be suited with the foreign policy of Washington, Jefferson, Monroe, John Quincy Adams, Calhoun, Webster, Lincoln, Grant and other American statesmen.

Well!! When this sudden conversion? or is the Times joking? What has it meant by its labored efforts to convince its readers that Mr. Cleveland has wrongly interpreted the Monroe doctrine?

Has the Times forgotten that the principles of the Monroe doctrine were nourished by President Washington and his Secretary of State, afterwards, President Jefferson? The foreign policy of the United States has not been changed by Mr. Cleveland. It is the same old Monroe doctrine as inspired by Mr. Jefferson, formulated by Mr. Monroe and Mr. Adams, the junior, and applied more than once. The circumstances are a little different and that is all. The principal difference is in aggravation, too. As Senator Thurston truly said:

"The present question rose high above any Venezuelan dispute. The British Prime Minister had seen fit to declare that the Monroe doctrine had no place in the Law of Nations, and was not accepted or recognized by the European powers. The challenge thus broadly thrown down by Great Britain must be taken up by this republic, or the Monroe doctrine was a thing of the past."

Writers for generation have attempted to construe the Monroe doctrine so mildly that Europeans would take no offense at it. They have gone so far as to make exerpts from statesmen that would give color to their statements. They have builded feasible theories. But, after all, a purpose is detected in it all.

The United States is not so old that college professors are required to read the intent of statesmen of the past to the generations of today. American history is not legendary, nor engraved on monuments. What the people have understood the Monroe doctrine to mean is accessible to nearly everyone. Besides, we have heard our grandfathers talk about it. They listened intently to the speeches of Benton, Clay, Webster, Calhoun, Buchanan, Cass and others. They did not understand that there was anything homeopathic about the Monroe doctrine.

Salisbury is not the first Eastern statesman to find out the full, the American meaning of the Monroe doctrine. History is replete with instances of its application and it has always been of great concern to foreign diplomats in discussing treaties with us, and in handling American affairs generally.

THE contention of the Beaver Leader that a railroad from Port Angeles to Gray's Harbor would be of greater benefit to Clallam county than one to connect at one of the Sound cities, is founded on a good deal of sound sense. However, if Port Angeles had rail connections to the East the great Quillayute valley would not be long without a railroad, and it would be extended to Gray's Harbor, too. This will be the ultimate result of natural conditions of the Olympic peninsula. No matter which way a railroad starts, whether from the Sound or Gray's Harbor, the final outcome will be a complete circuit.

IT would be interesting to know by what authority the county superintendent will enforce her edict that school teachers shall walk with due circumspection and shall not misconstrue her motives or how she is going to compel them to report to her in her official capacity for the impression they create when she is the topic of conversation.

PROFESSOR TIFFANY evidently understood what he was talking about when he claimed that he had a school board that would support him in his demands. Had he not known in advance what the board would do it is not likely that he would have risked his ridiculous investigation (?).

IT is significant that it was not the teachers charged with "insubordination" who desired a secret investigation. They were perfectly willing that the world should know all the facts.

PROFESSOR TIFFANY and his school board held their investigation (?) behind closed doors. Evidently the views of the people of Port Angeles were not wanted.

Tug Boat Line.

It is quite likely that Port Angeles is to become the headquarters of an opposition tug boat company. C. E. Mallette has been for some time in communication with Dunsmuir & Sons, of Victoria, in an endeavor to have them establish a line here, and from all indications he is to have his efforts crowned with success. Mr. Marquardt returned Monday from Victoria, and while there met the representatives of that firm and they assured him that they had perfected all their arrangements to establish the line. They will probably place two tugs at this place, which will run in connection with the Lorne on the British side.

Their tugs will run in opposition to the Puget Sound Tug Boat Company, who own all the American tugs operating on the Sound, whose headquarters are at Townsend.

Alfred Stromer's Birthday.

Alfred Stromer came of age Tuesday, and invited a few of his friends and schoolmates to his home in the evening to help him celebrate the event. It is hardly necessary to say they had a good time. Mr. Stromer's home is a veritable museum of interesting curios collected by years of travel in many lands, and what with these, dancing and music, the evening passed away only too quickly.

A delicious luncheon was served by Mrs. Cross, his aunt, among the early hours of the morning and all went home feeling it was good that Alfred should be of age, particularly, we suspect, the young ladies.

Small, Well-Cultivated Farms.

Those who heard the discussion of small land holdings in this county in the meeting of the Immigration Association will read the following editorial with much interest. Every point made in it applies with equal force to Clallam county, only with this difference, that our soil is much more productive and better adapted for such cultivation than that in the south western part of the state, and hence the results should be more profitable in proportion:

"For years the Herald has been advocating the small farm, well cultivated, as the best means by which the people of Western Washington may become independent. Other papers in the county and state have taken up the same subject, and our local immigration society, if we ever get one, will be able to use this as a great inducement to prospective settlers. Mr. R. M. Hoskinson, of Eagle Harbor, in a communication to the Seattle Times shows what one man has done with five acres. We quote:

"'It has been proven beyond a reasonable doubt that any man with sufficient pluck and energy to tackle the logs and brush of these uplands can make a good living on five or at most ten, acres. Sufficient capital is necessary to live on the first year. From thence each succeeding year becomes easier and more remunerative. In this region around Eagle Harbor may be named the following: John A. and Charles W. Lundgren, W. C. Hoskinson, Edward E. Scott, John Lawler, Wm. M. Grow, Wm. Cain and several others, all on small holdings of five and ten acres, and all doing well. The upland soil looks exceedingly thin, but will, with a little help in the form of manure, produce splendid crops of vegetables and for fruit growing these lands are rarely excelled anywhere. Apples, pears, plums, prunes, and cherries, together with strawberries, raspberries, gooseberries, currants and blackberries, all thrive and bear abundantly. And the better the land is cultivated and cared for, the more and better it will produce.

"'The writer of this cultivated some five acres, and sells therefrom each year some $650 worth of various products, such as fruit, vegetables, chickens, eggs, butter, etc. And what one man has done another can do, with like brains perseverance.'"

These are not the words of a real estate boomer, but of one who has done the thing he is talking about.

The small farm is made an absolute necessity by reason of the difficulty with which the land is cleared, but nature seems to have made ample compensation for this in a soil exceedingly fertile and a climate of such mildness that growth is continuous and outdoor work can be carried on the year round.—Aberdeen (Wash.) Herald.

CHURCH NOTES.

What the Different Churches of the City are Doing.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, Corner First and Vine Streets.—Rev. G. W. Nelson, Pastor.

Preaching every Sunday at 11 o'clock, a. m., and at 7:30 p. m. Sunday school at 12 o'clock or immediately after the morning sermon, Young Peoples' Society of Christian Endeavor at 6:30 p. m. Prayer meeting or mid-week meeting on Thursday eve at 7:30.

The Congregational church under the charge of Rev. W. G. Nelson, is doing good work in the community. A healthy christian spirit prevades every branch of the church work and the members are working hand in hand to broaden the good influence of their organization.

The sabbath school of the the Congregational church is in a most flourishing condition. Under the efficient supervision of its superintendent and corps of excellent teachers, the school is increasing in attendance and great interest is being shown by the little ones.

The sermon by Rev. Nelson Sunday euening, was especially well rendered and contained many excellent, practical thoughts. Mr. Nelson is proving to the people of Angeles that he is the right man in the right place.

The choir of the Congregational church is deserving of more than passing notice; the hymns last Sunday, which were carefully selected, were sung with an earnestness and feeling which prove beyond a doubt that the singers are determined to make each service a success as far as good music is concerned. The solo by Mrs. Minnie Troy, Sunday evening, was a pleasant surprise to all present and we hope Mrs. Troy will find it convenient to favor us often with such surprises; we will be there to enjoy them.

We are mformed that the Junior Christian Endeavor Society are to give a Washington's birthday entertainment in the church Friday evening, Feb. 21st. An excellent program will be given, followed by a dainty lunch to be served by some of the little girls. As this is the first attempt of the children we feel confident of a crowded house. The admission will only be 10c for adults and 5c for children. Don't disappoint the children.

Mr. Will Fowler led tha Y. P. S. C. E. meeting Sunday evening and proved himself a good leader. By the number of names proposed for membership we judge that this society is progressing.

If the twinkle in Mr. Nelson's eye does not deceive us, he is preparing something of great interest for next Sunday.

FIRST M. E. CHURCH, First Street Between Vine and Peabody.—Rev. W. H. Wilson, Pastor.

Services every Sabbath morning at 11 o'clock; Sunday school at 10 a. m.; Epworth League services at 6:30 p. m.; evening preaching 7:30 p. m.; prayer meeting every Thursday at 7:30 p. m.

At the morning service the Rev. Wilson preached from Acts 3-19: "Repent and be converted that your sins msy be blotted out."

He said the word "repent" is as old as the bible itself, for we read that it repented God that he had done some things for the people, and I don't wonder at it when he saw that the people would not follow the path of piety laid down in the law. Thus it repented God that he had made them. This gives us a key to the scheme of a Saviour, and a change from law to grace.

The word repent, was John's first word. With it he shook all the nations of the world. Jesus took it up and said: "Repent, for the kingdom of Heaven is at hand, Paul, the apostle, and be converted that your sins may be blotted out."

What do we mean by repent?

Chaucer says repent mean te feel a pain on account of what we have done. Webster says it means a persistent sorrow. This repentence must be deep. One must declare himself ready to give up all, yes every sin. It is said that a French officer whose ship had been captured by an English battle ship, advanced towards Nelson and said, "First give me your sword." So God wants us to give up our carnal weapons, and every conscious wrong doing. To be converted means a complete change. The root of the word is change, turn about.

But you ask what benefit of this change, from serving the world to serving God, and they declare they do not believe there is anything on before, and why cut off the joys of this life for what is so uncertain. You remember at one time the Spaniards had control of both sides of the Mediterranean sea and put up a sign on the Rock of Gibraltar with the inscription Ne Plus Ultra, or "No more beyond." After awhile a bold seaman ventured out beyond the rock and sailed so far out that islands were discovered, and after repeated trials a bold navigator discovered our glorious land of America. Then the Spaniards cut from the sign on the rock Ne and left the Plus Ultra, confessing by this that there was more beyond. More and more unto the perfect day. Brethern, for God's sake, let us purify our lives, let believers look to God, let sinners turn to God, for he will have mercy, and to our God for he will abundantly pardon.

There were six persons taken into the church in full connection, by letter, and seven from probation. This ended one of the brightest days in the history of Port Angeles 1st M. E. church.

The church was very crowded last Sunday, but by the coming sabbath there will be more chairs added to the church.

Bro. Lee of Dungeness, is here to assist Rev. Wilson in revival services this week. He is an able saeaker and all welcome him. Rev. Nelson of the Congregational church, has attended the revival meetings every night this week. Thank God for brotherly love.

Equal Suffrage Covention.

The State Equal Suffrage Association of Washington convened in Holyoke block, Seattle, Wednesday, January 29, at 7:30 p. m., when it was greeted by a well filled hall, consisting of Seattle's most intelligent and worthy citizens or residents. Mrs. Abigail Scott Duniway, of Portland, Ore., was present, as usual radient for the cause which is ever nearest and dearest to her heart—equal suffrage.

The program opened with music, followed by the reading of a paper "Does the Business Woman Need the Ballott?" prepared by Mrs. Laura E. Peters, of Port Angeles, read by the secretary, Mrs. Lou Jackson Longmire, of Tacoma.

Mrs. Addie G. Barlow, of Tacoma, lectured briefly, but pointedly and with much feeling on "The Ballot for the Professional Woman," followed by Mrs. Slauson, of Seattle, who read a finely prepared paper by Miss Mary L. Page, of Olympia, on "The Mother's Need of the Ballot." Judge Orange Jacobs in able manner presented many good reasons for "The State's Need of the Ballot."

"The Wife and the Ballot" was presented by the secretary, Mrs. L. J. Longmire, of Tacoma.

Thursday at 2 p. m. Mrs. A. S. Duniway addressed in a masterly manner, a large and enthusiastic crowd on "Working to Win," which was greeted with hearty applause. Mrs. B. I. J. Savage, briefly reviewed the year's work, and spoke with much hope of the present year's successful outlook. Mrs. Homer Hill espoused "The Working Woman's Need of the Ballot."

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Bessie, I. J. Savage, Olympia; vice-president, Laura E. Peters, Port Angeles; treasurer, Ella T. Stork, Olympia; recording secretary, Lou Jackson Longmire, Tacoma, corresponding secretary, Addie G. Barlow, Tacoma.

Mrs. Abigail Scott Duniway was elected an honoray member of the association, and five new members entered on the list of regular members.

Resolutions of regret were offered to the memory of Ellen Battelle Dietrick, an earnest worker in the cause of suffrage and an esteemed member of the W. N. S. A.

A vote of thanks was rendered Dr. Kendale, Mrs. Amos Brown, Mrs. Anna Blodyett, Mrs. Sylvester and others for hospitable entertainment furnished the guests and members of the association.

Adjourned after the most successful meeting for years, to meet at Chautauqua Beach during the Puget Sound Chautauqua Assembly at a definite date, which will be fixed later in Woman's Week, now a permanent part of the Chautauqua program.

An Unprotected Coast.

The News of Tuesday called attention to the fact that since the removal of the life saving station at Neah Bay in 1890, 63 vessels had been wrecked along the American shores of the Straits of Fuca and 100 lives lost, while many of those who reached shore suffered great hardship on the bleak, uninhabited stretch of coast; There is not only no life saving station but no telegraphic communication along the entire west coast from Gray's harbor to Tatoosh light and the line from Tatoosh to Port Angeles invariably fails to connect when a storm is raging, leaving those who are shipwrecked without food or shelter and without any means of procuring relief.

Along the Atlantic coast there are life saving stations in many places not more than five miles from each other and on the coast of New Jersey, between Sandy Hook and Cape May, a distance of about 80 miles, there are 41 well equipped stations, and besides these aids, staunch and seaworthy revenue cutters patrol the coast at all hours, day or night, for the purpose of rendering assistance in case of need, while on the Pacific coast there are only 12 of these stations, and, as the News has shown, none on the coast of this state.

Here is a state of things that needs immediate action. The commerce of the Pacific coast should be protected as that of the Atlantic. The government should be made to understand that it is a government for the west as for the east, and the various chambers of congress throughout Western Washington should demand that adequate protection should be furnished to the merchant marine entering Puget Sound. Here is something that every city and town on the coast can without sectional feelings unite in urging upon the government. Let our own chamber of commerce take the initiative.—Tacoma News

Ordinarily he would have been laid up for two or three weeks but says: "After using one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm I began to feel better, and in three days was entirely well. The peculiar soothing qualities which Chamberlain's Pain Balm possesses I have never noticed in any other liniment. I take pleasure in recommending it." This liniment is also of great value for rheumatism and lame back. For sale by J. C. Hansen.

The popularity of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and the high esteem in which it is held, leads us to believe it to be an article of great worth and merit. We have the pleasure of giving the experience of three prominent citizens of Redondo Beach, Calif., in the use of the remedy. Mr. A. V. LOCAL PARAGRAPHS.

Peter McGoff and Miss Minnie Hutchinson were united in marriage last Saturday.

Many persons in our city will be grieved to learn that Ex-Secretary Noble is lying dangerously ill at his home at St. Louis.

The personal property tax on the waterworks, amounting to $2,970.70 was paid Monday by parties representing the first mortgage holders.

Treasurer Dorsey reports that personal property taxes are being paid quite liberally. This is indeed gratifying and it is to be hoped it will be kept up.

The British Ship Buckingham started to sea Monday, in tow of the tug Tyee, but was turned back by the threatening storm. She left Wednesday morning.

Jack Wilson is one step further toward knighthood. He took the second degree Wednesday night, and is going around with a very abstracted and demure air ever since.

The many friends of H. K. Bickford, late of this city will be pleased to hear of his marriage to an estimable and wealthy young lady of Chicago recently. Bon voyage, old man.

The ladies of the Baptist Aid Society have requested us to return thanks to the public for its liberal patronage at their New England dinner. The society netted quite a neat little sum.

County Treasurer Dorsey goes to the east end of the county next week to collect personal property taxes. After he returns, Deputy Wilson will proceed to the west end on a similar mission.

The Washington Business University Band gave an open air concert Saturday afternoon in front of the hotel Albany. The band has made wonderful improvement and it is a great treat to hear it.

Chinese New Year was celebrated in the usual way Tuesday by our Mongolian residents. Hard times put a slight damper on their festivities this year, but they went through the form just the same.

The county commissioners were in session yesterday. They came together in a called meeting for the purpose of considering the Solduck bridge. They decided to rebuild the bridge entire and will locate it a short distance from the point where it stood before the flood. The timbers of the old bridge will be used as far as possible.

Dan Quinn has for some time been engaged in designing a new map of our section, and now has it in the hands of Civil Engineer Adams, who is tracing the outlines. It shows Port Angeles, Victoria and the San Juan Islands and their relative position in such a clear manner that they can be grasped at a glance. The map is bound to be popular.

Chimo, the Indian wife of Mr. Covell, who died some time ago, has sold all her property here and left Wednesday to join her kinsmen in British Columbia, where she will live. She has long been a familiar figure in Port Angeles and will be remembered with the kindliest feelings by our older people, who knew her and the sweet nature that lay beneath the somewhat repelling exterior.

We noticed several mysterious badges flaunting from the coat lapel of several of our most prominent citizens during the week. Investigation disclosed the fact that a new secret society had been formed, but we were unable to discover the principles of the new order or its object. We surmise, however, that its chief purpose is to look after the direlict sea captains who become stranded, for the time being, in our midst. The members are Geo. W. Meagher, P. J. Williams, Nels Devendorf, Frank Mackintosh and Morris Fisher. Their meetings are conducted with the greatest decorum, we understand, and no levity is allowed.

The society of Ladies' Literary Explorers enjoyed an unexpected and unusual treat at their meeting last Saturday, at the home of Mrs. L. D. Stewart. For some time the ladies have been asking and answering questions about things alive and dead, and have rather frequently touched upon the ruins of Pompeii. To their surprise their circle was invaded last Saturday by a real live man and one who knew something of Pompeii by actual experience. Mr. H. E. Lutz, in his travels abroad spent considerable time among the ruins of that historic city and is eminently qualified to treat the subject. He came loaded down with maps, diagrams, pictures and curios and gave the ladies an exceedingly interesting talk. The lecture was very instructive and was highly enjoyed by the ladies. Delicious refreshments were served after the literary work was finished.

PERSONAL PROPERTY TAX.

The Court Believes it a Legal Charge Against Improvements on U. S. Lands.

Judge McClinton handed down an interesting decision last week. The suit was brought by Attorney Geo. C. Hatch as a test case and was for the purpose of determining whether the county treasurer could collect the personal property tax levied where the assessment was made against property, the title to which was at the time of the assessment still in the United States. The case has an important bearing to our people as nearly the whole bulk of our population was living on the reserve lots at the time the assessment was made and before the lots had passed from the government to the individuals.

Judge McClinton decides that it is a valid tax and that it is the duty of the county treasurer to collect the same. Mr. Hatch excepted to the ruling and will take the case to the supreme court.

A Close Call.

Walter Miller should have a medal. His water-dog habits are responsible for the whole thing. Tuesday night he forsook a merry party to stroll down to the end of the Laurel street wharf to commune with the mermaids. He had gone but a short distance when he thought he heard cries for help coming from out the bay. He called Watchman Dustman and they put out in a row boat and headed toward the cry.

They were not a minute too soon. About the length of the wharf out they came on to some poor devil who was struggling in the water. They soon had him over the side of the boat, but not without a great effort as the unfortunate man was nearly gone. He was no sooner in the boat than he was taken with the cramps and stiffened out like dead. After a great deal of hard work they succeeded in getting him ashore and down to the Hotel Albany. Host Crooks kindly took him in and gave him shelter.

It looked for awhile that the poor fellow would have to succumb to the fearful exposure he had gone through, but a judicious use of stimulants brought him around all right. After he had thawed out he told his story. He was a sailor on the British ship Buckingham and claimed that he had been shanghaied at Tacoma. He had been planning to desert with two others of the crew. The ship started to sea on Monday and he noticed that it passed the lighthouse quite close to the shore and when she put back into the harbor he made up his mind to jump overboard as she passed out again. For that purpose he dressed himself with a double suit all through.

However, his chance came before he expected it. He was working on the rail as the boat started out in tow of the tug and says he fell off into the water. He claims it was purely accidental, but decided to make no outcry and try and make shore. When picked up he had been in the water about an hour. When he started he had on a heavy coat, but had to cut it off while in the water. He says he had no fear of drowning until his fingers began to cramp and then he began calling for help. He is a big, stalwart fellow, apparently an Irishman, but would not give his name for fear the captain of the ship would have him blacklisted and prevent him from getting work in the future. He was without a cent, but Mr. John Cunnea and others chipped in enough to get him out of town.

MRS. C. P. BROWN'S BIRTHDAY.

She is Reminded That She was Born, but Don't Remember Any of the Details.

Mrs. C. P. Brown will long remember her birthday in the year 1896. It came on Tuesday, and in the evening a whole host of her friends invaded her beautiful home, loaded down with presents and good wishes. Mr. and Mrs Brown were taken completely by surprise, but they quickly recovered and soon had everyone at ease and enjoying himself.

During the course of the evening Mrs. Brown was presented with a beautiful painting by her mother, Mrs. L. D. Stewart. It represented an overturned basket of grapes, and they looked real enough to eat. It is a most creditable work of art and shows great talent. The presentation was made by Mrs. John W. Troy in a few appropriate remarks.

Card playing and music were the principal features of the evening's enjoyment and it goes without saying that everyone had a good time. It could not be otherwise with such an host and hostess as Mr. and Mrs. Brown.

A bountiful supper was served about midnight.

Louis Williams Gets One This Year, but Don't ask Him Which It Is.

Last Friday was Mr. Louis Williams' birthday and he was forcibly reminded of it in the evening by a large number of his friends. Mrs. Williams was in the secret and it was planned to give her husband a surprise.

For some unaccountable reason Mrs. Williams was very testy all that day and the evening previous and Louis found it quite agreeable to seek solace among his batchelor friends until the apparent storm blew over and the skies became bright again. This was just what those artful creatures wanted, and they went to work and put everything in shape.

Birthdays are sometimes very trying, especially if one happens to let it out among his male acquaintances. It has been known even to conduce to a violent attact of headache, and Mr. Williams was tired that night and wanted to rest, but had hardly settled himself in his big, comfortable armchair when there came a violent knocking at the door and many wierd sounds smote his ear. They didn't wait for the door to be opened, but just came in a regular rabble, of all sorts and conditions, big and little, fat and lean, wise and otherwise, pretty and—— just enough variety to take off the dull edge of monotony. But they all had one thing in common—a well developed spirit of fun, and there were no restrictions. The evening was taken up with dancing, card playing and music. At about 12 o'clock all sat down to a table loaded with delicious refreshments.

The party did not break up until about 2 o'clock in the morning.

Those present were Senator and Mrs. Wilson, Messrs. and Mesdames Wm. Bell, Marquardt, Burnside, Pringle, Fuller, H. B. Willson, Keller, Ritchie, Dr. and Mrs. Stanley, Judge and Mrs. G. V. Smith and Mr. Trumbull.
