THE THEATER OF ACTION

Twentieth Century Evolution to Life and Greatness of Pacific Coast.

Whoever has eyes to see and ears to hear can not at this day make an extensive tour of the three Pacific States without having it brought home to him with elemental force that the soil is prepared, the conditions ripe, the opportunities are awaiting the harvester, and that this wonderful region stands at the very threshold of an industrial development which, in several respects will shame the older and supremely self-satisfied East.

What are the essential requisites for successful manufacturing? They are three: Enterprise and trained intelligence of population; cheap raw stuffs, fuel and motive power; varied and low priced means of transportation.

All these essentials are now assembled; the industrial equipment of the Pacific Coast is flawless.

There are all along the Pacific Coast beautiful, pushing, resistless centers of civilization growing up before our very eyes, equipped with everything, material and spiritual, which the Twentieth Century can boast of. The air there is humming with bee-like activity; the pulse beat is strong and quick.

Ten years ago the population of San Francisco was about 300,000; to-day it is near the 500,000 mark. Portland has grown from 80,000 a decade ago to 145,000; Seattle, during the same time, grew from 35,000 to 150,000; Los Angeles from 80,000 to 180,000; Oakland from 57,000 to 107,000; Tacoma from 36,000 to 70,000; Spokane from 15,000 to 45,000; Astoria from 8,000 to 22,000, and so forth, and these cities are still growing so fast that the census taker can not keep track of them, forming the radiating centers of equally flourishing agricultural communities, mining districts, and manufacturing places.

Another generation, say thirty short years, and the Pacific Coast will be lined from north to south with a score of mighty, wealthy, imperial cities; some of them will have reached the million limit, others will be on their way to it.

Only total ignorance or willful blindness can fail to read the signs. As the Eighteenth and the first half of the Nineteenth Centuries saw the rapid growth of the Atlantic border, and as the second half of the Nineteenth Century witnessed the evolution to life and greatness of the Middle West, so the Twentieth Century will have as one of its chief theaters of action the Pacific Coast. The feats of the forefathers will be eclipsed here. The supremacy of the Pacific Coast will become an established fact.

Grown at 86,000 Feet

A. E. Cox has on exhibition at the E. W. Merrill Co.'s grocery a sample lot of as fine, smooth and large potatoes as were ever grown anywhere, the product of his ranch in the valley just over the peak of Mt. Angeles. They were planted rather late, being barely out of the ground by the 4th of July, and yet have produced wonderfully.

Two Million Shingles.

Freighter Rapid Transit loaded 2,200,000 shingles Wednesday at the Morse Dock for Port Gamble and Seattle, being a portion of the accumulated surplus. Mr. Lauridsen says he is cashing orders to between four and five thousand dollars per month from the three mills whose product he handles. The Rapid Transit will call again next week for another cargo, after which the regular steamers will be able to handle the product for a short time.

ELECTRIC LIGHT REGULATIONS

Up for Consideration Again; Line Will Be Extended to Pine Hill.

Letter from L. Turner, president, and M. J. Carrigan, secretary, of Port Angeles Peninsular R. R. Co., in acceptance of franchises granted, and authorizing publication of same, was read and filed.

Commissioner Grubb called attention to danger and unsightly appearance of the water hole at corner First and Lincoln streets. Matter referred to street com'r for report as to best plan for having such nuisance abated.

Communication from Church, city electrician, asking for 2,000 feet wire and 20 gallons oil for transformers, referred to light committee with power to act.

Complaint was made that certain teamsters were driving on and over sidewalks in different parts of the city. Marshal was directed to arrest any and all such offenders.

Ordinance to fix and regulate electric light service and prices therefor was introduced, read first time, and referred to electric light committee and city attorney.

Statement from City Treasurer concerning interest on municipal bonds was read and ordered filed.

Mr. McCollum asked that alley between his property and that of Dave Mossman be cleared of obstruction; referred to marshal.

Matter of extension of light lines as asked for by residents of Pine Hill and of the southeast part of city was referred to electric light committee.

Matter of tax levy for year 1906 called up and on motion of Councilman Hallahan it was ordered that council meet in special session for purpose of making said levy.

Claims allowed: Gutenberg Bros., mdse., $7.18; Angeles Water Co., $4; R. H. Deming, work at cemetery, $3; D. O'Brien wood, $74.25; Wise and men, $24.60.

Valuations Reduced.

The State board of equalization reduced Clallam county's average acreage valuation from $3.75, as returned by the assessor, to $3.50, and also allowed a reduction of $200,000 on city and town lots, for which fair treatment we are indebted to the able efforts of Treasurer Burnside and Commissioners Filion and Bugge.

ON MONDAY EVENING NEXT

At Haning Hall a Meeting to Organize a Boosters' Club Will Be Held.

In response to invitations by Mr. Barnett, a number of the professional and business men, whom he had been able to see and interest in the project of a Booster's Club, met in Haning Hall Wednesday evening and spent a couple of hours in discussion of the best means of organization. While all present concurred in the opinion that an active business men's or citizen's club is greatly to be desired, there was naturally some divergence of opinion as to the proper method of procedure, and is was deemed best to take no steps toward even a temporary organization until a general meeting had been called. This was set for Monday evening, at eight o'clock in Haning Hall, and all business men, all members of the Commercial Club, and all interested citizens, are urgently requested to be present, give an expression of opinion, and assist in the preliminary or permanent organization.

Clallam and Jefferson counties make the greatest country in the Pacific Northwest; its resources are as varied as they are unlimited and only lack energy and capital for exploitation. Every opportunity that presents itself for the creation of an interest in the "West Side" should be utilized to the utmost. This can only be done advantageously by progressive commercial clubs, composed of the most representative citizens, all of whom by pulling together can accomplish wonders in the settlement and upbuilding oi the country. A number of those interested have ideas along the line of "publicity" work that can be put into effect and carried out at practically no expense; there are matters concerning the welfare of the city and county that should receive immediate and united attention. In fact there is plenty of work to do and much to be accomplished by a live club.

Let there be a large attendance at the meeting Monday evening in order that the work may be started with energy and enthusiasm.

Farewell Reception.

The members of the Methodist Church, also the many friends of Rev. and Mrs. Horace Williston gave a farewell reception for them in the church Monday evening. After a short but very pleasant program consisting of music and recitations, Rev. C. E. Fulmer in behalf of the members of the Church presented the Willistons with a set of sterling silver spoons and a handsome Port Angeles souvenir spoon; he also bade them farewell, expressing regret at parting but wishing the worthy couple success and happiness in their new home. Also in behalf of the congregation he extended a hearty welcome to the new minister, Rev. Geo. F. Graham. After responses by both Mr. Williston and Mr. Graham, all repaired to the League parlors and refreshed themselves with ice cream and cake and a pleasant social time.

CAUGHT BY A FOUR TON ROCK

Foreman at Quarry Has Lucky Escape From a Four Ton Stone.

Dennis O'Brien met with a lucky accident Wednesday at the quarry—lucky in that it might easily have been worse. A four ton stone was being hoisted when a fragment broke off, letting it drop, striking a car and rolling past Mr. O'Brien, who, flattening himself back against the wall of rock, would have escaped entirely but for his feet, two toes of one foot being crushed. The quarry has been exceptionally free from accidents so far, only minor bruises being reported. This is due partly to the requirements that no one is allowed to be under stone which is being lifted and that all signalling must be done by signs, and partly to the fact that men noted as being careless are immediately discharged.

Little Lad Broke Arm.

Little Earl Mathews, about seven years old, had his arm broken and wrist dislocated while playing at the Filion mill this week. He was wheeling the slab trucks, when they run off the track, and he, child-like, held on and was also pulled over. The car caught his arm and pinned him down. Mrs. Mathews was near and succeeded in extricating Earl.

The revenue cutter Grant was in the bay a short time yesterday morning. Mrs. Shaw, wife of Leslie M. Shaw, Secretary of the Treasury, and her daughter and son Earl were aboard. According to the Seattle papers Mrs. Shaw came west to endeavor to induce her wayward son to return with her to Washington. From all reports the young man has been leading a fast life in the west.

CHINESE GOVERNMENT DEMURS TO TREATY

Washington, Sept. 27.—The Post says:

"The Chinese government, a week or more ago made a formal protest to the Russian and Japanese governments concerning two of the conditions set forth in the treaty of peace signed at Portsmouth. China objects to two things.

"First, the length of time allowed for the evacuation of Manchuria, and, second, the provisions made for an armed guard for the railroad lines owned by Russia and Japan in Manchuria.

"China believes that nine months is entirely sufficient time within which Japan and Russia shall evacuate Manchuria instead of twelve months, as provided for in the peace treaty.

"The provision made for guarding the railroad, the Chinese contend, contemplates an armed force of probably 10,000 men in Chinese territory. The Chinese government regards the maintenance of a guard an M nchuria of such size as a menace, and it does not propose to agree to such a plan."

TREATY PUBLISHED

TERMS OF THE ANGLO-JAPANESE AGREEMENT.

Two Nations Practically United as Far as India and Eastern Asia Are Concerned—Is a Safeguard Against the Renewal of Eastern Disturbances.

London, Sept. 27.—The text of the Anglo-Japanese treaty signed August 12, was issued from the foreign office last evening, together with a dispatch to the British ambassador at St. Petersburg, forwarding a copy of the agreement, together with instructions to communicate it to the Russian government at the earliest opportunity.

The treaty and preamble are both brief, containing less than 800 words, but in importance it is hardly second to any public agreement that has been made in many years.

Provides for Peace.

The preamble of the treaty reads:

"The governments of Great Britain and Japan, being desirous of replacing the agreement concluded between them January 30, 1902, by fresh stipulations, have agreed to the following articles, which have for their object:

"A—Consolidation and the maintenance of general peace in the reigons of Eastern Asia and India.

"B—The preservation of the common interests of all the powers in China by insuring the independence and integrity of the Chinese empire and the principle of equal opportunities for commerce and industry of all nations in China.

"C—The maintenance of the territorial rights of the high contracting parties in the regions of Eastern Asia and India and the defense of their special interests in said regions."

Text of the Treaty.

1. The two governments whenever their rights or interests are jeopardized shall communicate with each other freely and frankly and consider jointly the measures to be taken to safeguard them.

2. If by reason of an unprovoked attack or aggressive action, wherever arising on the part of any power or powers, either party be involved in war in defense of its rights or interests, the other party will at once come to the assistance of its ally and will conduct the war in common and make peace in actual agreement.

3. Japan possessing paramount political, military and economic rights in Korea, Great Britain recognizes Japan's right to take such measures for the guidance, control and protection of Korea and she may deem proper and necessary to safeguard and advance those interests, providing the measures are not contrary to the principle of equal opportunity for all commerce.

4. Japan recognizes the right of Great Britain to take such measures in proximity to her Indian frontier as are necessary to safeguard her Indian possessions.

5. The high contracting parties agree that neither will without the consent of the other enter into a separate agreement with another power to the prejudice of the objects described in the preamble.

6. As regards the present war between Japan and Russia, Great Britain will continue to maintain strict neutrality unless some other power or powers join in hostilities against Japan, in which case Great Britain will come to the assistance of Japan, will conduct war in common and will make peace in mutual agreement with Japan.

7. The conditions under which armed assistance shall be afforded by either power to the other in the circumstances mentioned in the present argeement and the means by which such assistance shall be made available will be arranged by the naval and military authorities of the contracting parties, who will from time to time consult with each other freely on all questions of mutual interest.

8. The present agreement shall be separate to the provisions of article 6 and come into effect immediately after the date of signature and remain in force ten years from that date in case neither of the parties shall have been notified twelve months before the expiration of said ten years of an intention of terminating it. It shall remain binding until the expiration of one year from the day on which either of the parties shall have denounced it, but if when the date of expiration arrives, either ally is actually engaged in war, the alliance shall be ipso facto and continue until peace shall have been concluded.

Says It Will Insure Peace.

Baron Hayashi, who was interviewed after the publication of the agreement, said:

"The new treaty forms an effective safeguard against the renewal of disturbances in the far East. That is its object. We cannot say that a permanent peace has been secured—that is too much to be sure of—but we can aver that tranquility has been assured for a long time to come.

"his aplies not only to Great Britain and Japan, but also to all powers having political or commercial interests in that part of the world, in fact to all who have been interested in maintaining the status quo.

"I repeat that the treaty is a sure guarantee of peace, for that is its aim and object."

CHINESE TO URGE TREATY.

Statesmen and Importers Are Coming in December.

Seattle, Sept. 25.—A commission of 32 prominent Chinese statesmen and importers will come to America in December to urge that the new treaty between this country and China be modified so as to extend additional privileges to merchants and students. Reservations for the entire party have been made aboard the steamship Dakota, due here December 1.

The Chinese commission will be in Washington before December 15 and will use its influence upon American representatives to secure trade concessions and better treatment of Chinese merchants and students. Already there are in this country several trade commissioners who are working on the same mission.

It is understood here that the special commission due this winter has been organized at the suggestion of the big Chinese importers who think that a presentation of their claims, made in person to the American government will bear great weight.

Along the same line as this commission's errand is the declaration on Saturday of United States Senator Piles that he was in favor of a meeting of Pacific coast members of congress to go into the details of the Chinese boycott and to decide upon a policy which the entitre Pacific coast delegation can uphold.

For some reason Senator Piles is inclined to believe that the effect of the boycott has been exaggerated, though he states that he has not investigated the subject. Before he commits himself to any policy the trade conditions will be looked into.

SENTIMENT IN JAPAN.

Prominent Japanese Editor Talks of Conditions.

Seattle, Sept. 27.—Kentaro Kayahara, editor of the Yorodzu Choho, one of the leading papers published at Tokyo, is in Seattle, accompanied by Dr. Naozo Ishinohe, assistant at the Tokyo astronomical observatory, Tokyo Imperial university. Mr. Kayahara stated that his personal observation led him to believe that practically all of the people of Japan are dissatisfied with the peace treaty, but their chagrin will not be made manifest in acts of violence to Baron Komura and the other members of the peace commission when they return home.

"Baron Komura will not be received with funeral rites when he reaches Tokyo, nor will he be received with shouts of glad acclaim. Whatever humiliation he is subjected to will be the humiliation that comes from not being received with cheers and wel coming banzais, such as marked his departure from Japan on that important mission to Portsmouth," Said Mr. Kayahara.

"The people of Japan do not blame Baron Komura wholly for what they consider the humiliating conditions to which he subscribed, but they do feel that he was partially responsible, along with the elder statesmen, the cabinet and other advisers of the emperor, and they resent the acceptance of the terms of peace. I believe the present ministry will be dissolved soon, because the people are clamoring for the resignations of the cabinet, and the emperor is giving personal attention to the memorials to the throne. The people of Japan demand a new cabinet."

SPOKANE SUFFERS LARGE LOSS BY FIRE

Spokane, Sept. 26.—A disastrous fire broke out in the heart of the wholesale shipping district at 2:35 this morning, completely gutting three brick buildings. The total fire loss will aggregate $200,000.

The heaviest losers are the Booth-McClintock Company, wholesale grocers, $100,000; Cudahy Packing Company, $40,000; C. H. Weeks, 3-story building, occupied by Pacific Transfer Company, $25,000; Robbins, Pratt & Robbins, furniture, $6,000. The cause of the fire is unknown. It broke out in the Cudahy building.

GO AFTER RAILROADS NEXT.

Government Will Prosecute for Giving Beef Packers Rebates.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—The prosecution of the railroads for violation of the Elkins law relating to giving and receiving rebates will follow the pleading guilty of the four representatives of the Schwarzschild & Sulzberger Company to a charge of receiving illegal rebates fbom the railroads. Authority for this statement is District Attorney Morrison, and he was emphatic in his declaration that the government would go after the rairloads.

In view of the sudden determination of the government to proceed against the railroads, it is believed that somebody has "squealed" and the government has secured highly important evidence. Proceedings against the railroads will require a separate campaign, new indictments, new grand jury and the calling from all part of the country of new witnesses.

Hungarians to Hold Conference.

Budapest, Sept. 26.—The executive committee of the coalition parties in the Hungarian diet have decided to summon a general conference of all parties forming the coalition October 31, for the purpose of arriving at a common agreement on the answer to be made to the conditions imposed by the king-emperor. The committee also decided to invite to the conference all deputies outside the coalition who desire to participate in the defense of the constitution.

HITCH IN TEST SUIT

FLAWS IN JOINT RATE CASE AS MADE UP.

Complaint Upon Which Pleadings Were Drawn Now Three Years Old—New Tender of Coal at Joint Rate to Be Made to O. R. & N. Company.

Olympia, Sept. 26.—The Olympian this morning says:

"There is a serious hitch in the proposed joint rate suit the state is to bring before the railroad commission to test the joint rate clause of the new commission law. The case was set for hearing at Colfax October 25, in expectation that the pleadings would be completed and served yesterday on the railroads so the thirty days notice would have run before the hearing.

"It is declared that the whole proceeding so far had is valueless and that there may be a delay of two or three weeks in preparing the papers. The only complaint, that upon which the proceedings are drawn, is said to have related to an occurrence of more than three years ago.

"In view of the importance of the case it is urged that a new case be made up—that a formal shipment of coal from Roslyn be offered for transportation over the Northern Pacific and O. R. & N. and a tender made of the maximum freight rates on such shipment under the joint rate law. Then a formal refusal will be had from the railroads and the case can be prosecuted.

"As it is, the case that was about to be prosecuted is said to be lacking in allegations showing definitely the date of tender of the freight, by whom tendered, the date and manner of refusal and other essential facts.

"An effort is reported to have been made to have the railroads consent to the facts on stipulation, thus avoiding the necessity of specific allegations, but the O. R. & N. refused to agree to such procedure."

MILLION DOLLARS DAMAGE BY FIRE AT BUTTE, MONT.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 25.—Fire yesterday did damage to the extent of $1,000,000, wiping out the entire business portion of Butte lying between the Shodair block and Renshaw alley on the south side of West Park street.

The fire started at 84:0 a. m. in Symon's big department store, which was burned to ashes. A strong wind came up from the south and the fire leaped across the street to the new Clark building, an eight story office and apartment structure owned by Senator Clark. From this point it leaped across to the $75,000 public library, which contained $100,000 worth of books and practically completely gutted it. The Argyle hotel and the Butte Miner, a four story building, were also licked up by the flames before they were fully under control at 1 p. m.

The fire departments and apparatus from half a dozen of the big copper mines on the hillside were ordered out by the mine owners to help save the town, and a special train, on which was the Anaconda fire department, made the 28 mile run from Anaconda in 33 minutes, over one of the crookedest roads in the United States. The assistance of the Anaconda imen was very timely, as the Butte firemen were nearly worn out.

Had the fire leaped across main into the the crowded mass of old business buildings the loss would have been many times greater and there would have been nothing left of Butte's business district. Half a dozen big hotels and lodging houses, as many grocery and dry goods stores, and numerous shops and stores of different kinds were wiped out.

FRANCHISES ARE TAXABLE.

Minnesota Supreme Court Renders Important Decision.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 24.—The state supreme court has decided in favor of the state in the suit of the state of Minnesota against the Western Union Telegraph Company. It was a suit to collect taxes on a valuation of the company's property in the amount of $1,000,000. This valuation is based on an assessment upon the company's franchise.

The company resisted the taxation of its franchise, claiming that the state constitution did not give that right. The court holds that franchises of all kinds, although intangible property, are taxable under the constitution.

Work at Esquimalt Abandoned.

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 25.—All work has been abandoned on the Esquimalt fortifications. Before the defenses were taken over by Canada a new fort was planned, but will not be constructed now. Editorially the Victoria Times says: "It is significant that just at this time when Great Britain is abandoning her chief stronghold of defense on the Pacific, the United States is establishing greater works and maintaining a strong fleet just opposite."

Send Fruit to England.

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 27.—The British Columbia government has decided to send an exhibit of British Columbia fruit to the Royal horticultural show in London, England. The exhibit will leave next week.

BUILD TO GRANGEVILLE.

Northern Pacific Announces Another Extension of Lines.

Tacoma, Septt. 26—Third Vice President C. M. Levy, of the Northern Pacific, has returned from St. Paul and announces that a branch road will be built to Grangeville, Which has the distinction of being the largest town in the United States without a railroad, by way of the Culdesac extension.

The contracts for the construction of the road will be let, Mr. Levy says, by the first of November, and a great deal of the preliminary work will be done this fall and winter. With the opening of spring actual construction work will be pushed with all expedition. The road will tap the rich Nez Perce country in Idaho, traversing in reaching Grangeville one of the richest and most prosperous argicultural regions of the Northwest. For many years the people of Grangeville have been trying to get a railroad outlet, and more than a year ago the commercial interests of the scetion got together and subscribed $1,000,000 for the construction of an electric line. This project will be abandoned now that the Northern Pacific is intending to build into the region.

Mr. Levy states that the South Tacoma car shops will be enlarged so that ten freight cars can be turned out daily. He says that almost for the first time in the history of the road there are good crops at both ends of the line, which will mean a rushing business for the company during all of the fall and coming winter.

BUILT BY THE BOYS.

Seattle High School Lads Erect Forge Building for Class Use.

Seattle, Sept. 23.—The new forge shop erected on the north side of the high school is now being used by the forging class of the manual training department. Four classes of boys, fifteen in each class, built the shop from the ground up. They made the drawings, studied out the formulas for the strength of the timbers, erected the building, then dug the trenches for the piping and installed the twenty-one forges. The work was begun last February and has just received its finishing touches.

The special distinction that attaches to this piece of work is that it was entirely built by the boys at their regular class intervals, not five minutes being taken off from any other study.

This fall the boys who erected the shop are being instructed in the fundamental processes of forging of both iron and steel, welding and bending. Ornamental iron work will be taken up later.

INTERURBAN BONDS SOLD.

Seattle-Everett Line Financed and Will Now Be Pushed.

Seattle, Sept. 26.—A mortgage on the right of way, franchises and equipment of the Seattle-Everett Interurban company to the Union Trust Company, of Pittsburg, was filed yesterday in the office of the county auditor. The consideration named is $2,000,000, to be advanced rfom time to time in proportion to the development of the line, and is evidenced by thirty-year gold bonds.

According to a statement made last night by G. W. Albin, whon with Fred Sander has been active in the organization of the company, the sale of the bonds insures the completion of the line from Ballard to Everett by next August.

SECRETARY SHAW HAS AMBITIONS

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 27.—Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw will leave the cabinet February 1, 1906. He makes the definite announcement in a letter to the president of the county Republican club.

In his letter, answering a request for a date for an address, Secretary Shaw stated that he would be busy preparing for the coming session of congress and would be unable to return to Iowa until February 1, upon which date he expected to retire from the cabinet.

Shaw will then, it is said, begin his presidential campaign among his Iowa friends.

Washington, Sept. 27.—In reiterating his declaration of last March that he would leave the cabinet about February, Secretary Shaw last night said:

"I shall leave the cabinet on or about February 1, as has been well known, in fact, ever since I entered it. I announced that I should remain in the cabinet for a comparatively short time. I had hoped to get out last March, but consented to remain longer because certain interests kept me there, but I shall go next February."

NATIONS ARE INVITED TO HAGUE CONFERENCE

St. Petersburg, Sept. 27.—It is announced that the Russian representatives abroad were instructed on September 21 in a circular to communicate to the governments to which they were accredited an invitation to a second peace conference at The Hague.

They were further directed, in the event of acceptance, to announce that the Russian government's proposals would be strictly practical, and that the conference would especially and exclusively deal with the serious questions arising out of the late war, which it is essential should be settled without delay.

AGREEMENT SIGNED

NORWAY AND SWEDEN SETTLE ALL DIFFERENCES.

Both Sides Made Concessions at Karlstad Conference—Delegates From Norway Yield Points in Spite of Opposition—Republicans Cannot Win Out.

Karlstad, Sweden, Sept. 24.—After protracted ssessions extending over some weeks, the Norwegian and Swedish delegates who met here to settle the terms of separation of the two countries early last evening arrived at an agreement on all points. The terms were not made public, but the following official statement was given out:

"The Norwegian-Swedish delegates at Karlstad today finished the negotiations at which unanimity has been reached. The result will be published simultaneously at Stockholm and Christiania early in the week."

An agreement had been anticipated for some days, as both sides had been adopting conciliatory attitudes.

The negotiations which are now concluded were peculiar in nature. On one side the delegates were four Swedish ministers who at the time of the riksdag decision were leading members of the committee which framed the Swedish conditions of assent to dissolution. On the other side the delegates were men who led Norway in the revolution of June 7, but were not guided by any decision of the storthing. On the contrary their every act was looked upon with suspicion by men more radical. When Sweden's conditions were made known, many voices in Norway were raised in Norway against granting them. Premier Michelsen, of Norway, was more conservative and, seeing the consequences to Norway of a breach with Sweden, was willing to enter into an agreement so long as it was honorable to Norway and preserved as much as possible her national pride. M. Berner, president of the Norwegian storthing, and M. Loveland, the Norwegian foreign minister, were perhaps not so willing, but they followed Mr. Michelsen.

Sweden Spares Norway's Pride.

The purpose of the Swedish delegates was to make an agreement preserving the good feeling between the two peoples. From this viewpoint, of course, Sweden was compelled to insist upon demolition of the frontier fortifications which Norway, notwithstanding the close connections of the countries, had erected against Sweden's entirely unfortified frontier. It is believed this point was successfully carried. The Swedish delegates were also anxious to preserve free and untrammeled intercourse between the two countries, and they also proposed that certain agreements be made regarding transit and waterways, which were equal in benefit to both countries and which would prevent one country from interfering with the other. It is believed that these matters were also settled to the satisfaction of both countries.

Laplanders Cared For.

Finally Sweden did not consider that she could leave unprotected the interests of the Laplanders, who for their very existence depended upon the use of the pastures of both countries at different seasons for their reindeer. The Norwegians held out against the granting of this right, which has been established for centuries; but it is believed they at last gave in.

No Hope for Republicans.

Christiania, Sept. 24.—The Norwegian delegation arrived here from Karlstad at 1 o'clock this morning and were received with cheers by several thousand persons who were waiting at the station. During the past week there had been increasing agitation over the question of a constitution for Norway. The republicans made great efforts to organize a party, but they are in a hopeless minority. As the candidature of a Bernadotte prince has been abandoned, all attention is directed to Prince Charles of Denmark, who, if he accepts the throne, will be enthusiastically received.

Troops Must Not Approach Frontier.

Stockholm, Sweden, Sept. 25.—The National Defense department has announced that the Swedish and Norwegian frontier troops have been simultaneously ordered not to approach the frontier nearer than a kilometer.

PROTOCOL OF DISUNION GIVEN TO THE PUBLIC

Christiania, Norway, Sept. 26.—The protocol signed at Karlstad Saturday by the Norwegian and Swedish delegates appointed to arrange the terms of dissolution of the union of Norway and Sweden, subject to the rraticfiation of the riksdag and storthing, has been published here and at Stockholm. The papers got out extras and crowds thronged the streets. The first impression formed was favorable to the agreement. News from Stockholm states that the public there is generally well satisfied with the terms of settlement.

The protocol consists of five main articles and twenty-five sub-clauses.

The agreement provides for the compulsory arbitration before The Hague court of all disputes, except matters of vital interest for the period of a decade, with the extension for other periods of ten years unless two yers previous notice is given of an intention to abrogate it.

The treaty provides for a zone on either side of the frontier, which shall forever be neutral and for the demolition of the fortresses within that zone with the exception of the old portions of the fortifications of the Fredericksten, Clydenloeve and Overbjerget, which may remain, but which are not to be used as fortioflations.

Other subjects of agreement are the reindeer pastures of the Laplanders, whose ancient rights are secured to them, intertraffic and use of common waterways.

MUNICIPAL CAMPAIGN BEGINS IN NEW YORK

New York, Sept. 25.—Campaigning for the control of the city administration for the next four years and for the election of the county and borough officials throughout the city begins in earnest today. Leaders of the Democratic forces have taken active charge of the fight for Mayor McClellan's reelection.

Delegates from the Republican organization, the Citizens' Union and the Municipal Ownersthip League will meet again tonight and make another effort to agree upon candidates for mayor, comptroller and president of the board of aldermen. If they are successful the fusion ticket will be placed in the field by the city convention of the Citizens' Union Thursday.

District Attorney Jerome held a consultation yesterday with his assistants regarding plans for his campaign. Interest is centered chiefly in the fusion convention tonight, the first that will have been held by the Citizens' Union since that organization bolted more than a week ago. Three candidates for mayor will probably be discussed, representing the three important fusion elements, as follows: John Ford, proposed by the Republicans and indorsed by the German-Americna League; Martin W. Littleton, proposed by the Citizens' Union, Samuel Seabry, proposed by the Municipal Ownership League.

All these candidates are stated to be advocates of municipal ownership or control of public utilities.

ALASKA GOLD OUTPUT.

Director of Mint Says It Will Be at Least Ten Millions.

Washington, Sept. 25.—Officials of the United States treasury who are directly interested in the output of precious metals believe that this year's output of gold in Alaska will not only break all records, but that it will exceed the total output of the Klondike and the entire Yukon territory. This is a condition which has been freely predicted for several years by the Alaska mining interests. The gold output of the Klondike has fallen off largely since 1900, while the development of new fields in Alaska has gradually increased the production of that territory.

Director Roberts, of the United States mint, who has made a personal inspection of some of the principal mining properties in Alaska, believes that the 1905 output will exceed $10,000,000. This is a conservative statement, well within the bounds of probability, and the prospect is that thet total output will be not less than $1,000,000 in excess of the safe estimate informally put forth by Director Roberts.

Trading at Vladivostok.

Vladivostok, Sept. 26.—The oldtime business activity of this city has been rapidly returning since the proclamation of peace. The inhabitants are returning. Forty-five foreign steamers are expected from Hongkong and Shanghai soon, and thirty American firms are seeking business quarters at Vladivostok. Japanese firms are also coming in.

Boycott Is Dormant.

Washington, Sept. 27.—Consul General Rogers, at Shanghai, has cabled the state department as follows: "There is no longer any evidence of boycott conditions in or about Shanghai and American trade is active, particularly with the northern part of China, and there has been no stamping of goods (boycott marks) as was reported. On the whole the condition of affairs seems to be satisfactory."

Rain Damages Hops.

Salem, Or., Sept. 27.—Damage, it is claimed by hop growers, running into thousands of dollars, will result in case the present rain storm continues a couple of days longer. There are, they say, about 5,000 bales yet unpicked, and unless weather conditions improve the hop pickers will become disgusted and return to their homes, suffering the remaining hops to go unpicked.

Numbering Rural Post Boxes.

Everett, Sept. 25.—Local carriers on the rural routes have begun the distribution of official numbers which will be placed upon all boxes along each route and a record kept of them. This is done under a recent ruling of the department which goes into effect September 30. To a certain extent the box numbers will answer the purpose of street numbers in cities.

Minneapolis Times Expires.

Minneapolis, Sept. 25.—In yesterday's issue the Minneapolis Times, which has long been one of the leading papers of the Twin Cities, announced its suspension, effective at once. The Times, had it survived, would have celebrated its 16th anniversary October 1. The Minneapolis Tribune has secured the mailing list.

PACKERS ARE FINED

PLEAD GUILTY TO CHARGE OF ACCEPTING REBATES.

Twenty-five Thousand Dollars Paid Into Court at Chicago by Schwarzchild & Sulzberger Officials—Federal Officials Think Rebate Evil Is Doomed.

Chicago, Sept. 22.—Four officials of the Schwarzschild & Sulzberger Packing Company plead guilty before Judge J. Otis Humphrey in the federal court yesterday to accepting railroad rebates, in violation of the Elkins law, and were fined a total of $25,000.

This marked the first victory of the government in its prosecution of packing companies in what are now known as "beef trust cases."

The men who plead guilty and the fines imposed are:

Samuel Weil, vice president, living in New York, fined $10,000.

Beth H. Cusey, traffic manager, formerly indicted for interfering with government witnesses. $5,000.

Vance D. Skipworth, assistant traffic manager, $5,000.

Chess E. Todd, assistant traffic manager, $5,000.

A certified check for $25,008 was handed to the clerk of court, and the four defendants were released. The $8 was for court costs.

This punishment does not affect the charge of interfering with government witnesses made in a previous indictment returned against Cusey and other "S. & S." men.

Think Rebate Evil Is Doomed

District Attorney Morrison, discussing the case after adjournment of the court, said:

"I am perfectly satisfied with the matter as it stands. The defendants came into court, pleaded guilty and the court showed leniency in his sentence.

It was proved conclusively by the government that after the issuance of the injunction by Judge Grosscup the Schwarzschild & Sulzberger Company withdrew from the combination. They were independent, but in order to carry on their business in so strenuous a competition with the other packers it seems it was necessary for them to accept rebates.

"The results only go to show that the government has now lodged an opening wedge into the question of rebates. We have found a way to proceed and it seems the proper one. It seems to me that the government is in a fair way of breaking up the entire rebate evil in this country."

From the books of the government it is shown that to take evidence against the four defendants and bring about their indictment the government spent $16,000. The cases against Armour & Co. and others were continued until next Wednesday.

DENNISON WILL QUIT JAPANESE SERVICE

Seattle, Sept. 25.—H W. Dennison, the American attorney who has been legal adviser in the foreign office of Japan for the past 25 years, will resign within a year and return to America. It is not likely that the Japanese government will choose a successor from a foreign country.

Mr. Dennison announced his future plans just before he sailed aboard the steamship Dakota to return to Japan for what may be his last visit to the empire.

"I shall return within a year's time," he declared. "I have determinned to retire from an active political life. It is impossible just now to state just when I shall leave the service of the Japanese government, but I will come back to America to live within a year's time. I want a rest, my work is pretty nearly finished, the Japanese government is now well acquainted with the world's politics and I can leave with a feeling that I have earned the rest and have been faithful to the government."

For more than 25 years Mr. Dennison has been legal adviser in the foreign office. The place was created for him in the beginning and during the time he has been in the Japanese service he has handled the most delicate international problems the Japanese government has considered.

Palma Practically Elected.

Havana, Sept. 27.—Complete returns from the entire island show that in the election last Saturday for members of the election boards, the supporters of the government were victorious in every province, not having lost one important place. The victory was so complete that it is now generally admitted to mean the re-election in December of President Palma and the election to the vice presidency of Mendoz Capote, the leader of the moderate party.

"U" School of Pharmacy Recognized

Seattle, Sept. 25.—The pharmacy school of the Univeritsy of Washington has been entered as a member of the American Conference of Pharmaceutical Faculties, an association composed of the leading schools of Pharmacy of the country. This recongnition indicates that the Washington school of pharmacy ranks with the leading schools of the East. With the exception of the University of California the Washington school is the only one west of the University of Minnesota to receive the honor of member ship in this association.

FOR IMPORTING LABOR.

Heads of New York Manufacturing Concerns to Be Arrested.

New York, Sept. 25.—After eight weeks of careful preparation, the United States district attorney of this district, will, according to reliable authority, cause the arrest of eleven heads of manufacturing concerns in this city on warrannts charging them with having conspired through the medium of an employers' association, to violate the contract labor laws by the importation of foreign workmen.

The penalty upon conviction is a fine of not less thna $1,000 nor more than $10,000, or imprisonment for not more than two years. The department of commerce and labor is directing the prosecution and has, through its own agents, assisted by operators of the secret service, prepared the case against the accused. This has involved many months of investigation, and also the keeping, since January last, of four men, English tile setters, at Ellis island. It is upon the evidence of these four men, backed by an army of corroborative depositions, that the government chiefly relies.

Advertised in England.

The evidence in the case goes back to the lockout by the Tile, Grate and Mantel Association, an employers' organization, of the men of the Mosaic and Caustic Tile Layers and Helpers' Union of New York and vicinity on August 6 of last year.

To make the lockout a success, it is charged, the employers' association sent one of its number to England, and caused advertisements to appear in papers in England and Germany offering $5 per day for eight hours labor in the United States.

The charge is that fifty workmen were imported to the United States at the instance of the accused men, and were instructedt o swear falsely when questioned at the island by the government officials as to their reasons for coming to America, and especially to swear that they had as yet no employment in this country.

Two weeks after the men were imported and the lockout began the accused caused the English workmen to be discharged on the ground that they were not familiar with American tools or the method of working in this country, and were therefore useless.

Some of these men got home as best theyo ould, but four of them carried their grievances to the agents of the department of commerce and labor, and gave information on which the investigation was based. Since then they have been under detention at the immigrant station on Ellis island.

GREAT MARATHON RACE IS RUN AT CHICAGO

Chicago, Sept. 25.—With 200,000 persons scattered along the 25-mile course and excellent weather prevailing, Rheud Metzner, of the Illinois Athletic club, Chicago, won the Marathon race in 3 hours and 15 minutes, thereby earning a gold medal and the honor of entering the Olympian games at Athens, Greece, next summer. As against the record time of 2:29:30 for the Marathon race, the time was rather slow, but the race was run in excellent sstyle in other respects.

Of 20 men entered for the race, only 15 started, some of the best entrants being scratched. With a 20-mile wind on their backs and boulevards to run on all the way, only seven men finished. All sseven will receive gold medals.

CALIFORNIA ORANGE CROP

Twenty-nine Thousand Cars Shipped Last Year—More This Year.

San Francisco, Sept. 22.—According to reports of traffic officials of the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific, the number of cars of oranges sent East during the season just closed was 29,000. This includes shipments from Butte county and the San Joaquin country, as well as from Southern California, the bulk of the business, however, coming from the latter sections.

All shipments are included that went out of the state by rail. In these 29,000 cars there were 10,498,000 boxes. The total value of the shipments reached the sum of approximately $23,925,000.

Of this amount it is figured that the orange growers and shippers got $14,500,000. The remainder, or $9,425,000, went to the railroads and refrigerator car lines for freight and icing charges.

For the season which opens early in November, the railroad people estimate that there will be 37,000 cars for the Eastern market

Up to the 15th of this month 4,800 carloads of California green fruit have been sent East, with Chicago, New York and Boston as the principal distributing centers. This is an increase of 500 cars over the same period last year.

Large Contract for Saw Logs.

St. Maries, Idaho, Sept. 25.—Contracts have just been let here for the cutting of 29,000,000 feet of saw logs. Edward Kleinnanrd will cut 4,000,000 feet for the Gibbs Lumber Company. The Cox Company will cut 10,000,000 feet for the Coeur d'Alene Lumber Company, and J. and Maurice Cox will cut 15,000,000 feet for the Couer d'Alene Lumber company. These are new contracts since last week. Owing to the large number of contracts there is plenty of work for woodsmen at good wages.

Exchange Ratifications at Capital.

Washington, Sept. 25.—The exchange of the ratifications of the treaty of peace between Japan and Russia will take place in Washington shortly after the treaty has been ratified by the respective sovereigns.

Build Up the West Side

The Port Angeles Olympic-Leader is authority for the announcement that a Boosters Club is to be organized in the city on the straits. The Olympic has been boosting the idea for some time. Mr. Barnett of the Angeles stone quarry company has taken the matter up and is soliciting pledges from business men that they will give a portion of their time during the coming year to the advancement of the city through the medium of the proposed Boosters Club. No one will be accepted as a member without this pledge which is a pretty good idea.

Angeles like Townsend, needs a Boosters Club. The more we all boost, the better for the respective town and country back of it. Intelligent and energetic effort in these lines should serve to bring both of these towns to the front. These two cities are half brothers or cousins and natural kinsmen and the work of both will serve to build up the west side which is the most promising part of Washington state at the present time. Get settlers to the west side and both towns will benefit. Success to the Angeles Boosters.—Townsend Call.

The Centennial Mills at Seattle will make a record shipment of flour within the next six weeks, filling an order for 180,000 barrels of flour for Valdivostok, the Russian port. It will be the largest single shipment of flour ever made from the Pacific coast, and will require three large steamers to carry the consignment to the Siberian metropolis. The Chicago of the west is thus early reaping a substantial benefit from President Roosevelt's efforts for peace in the Orient.

New York and Manila are the chosen scenes of Frederic Reddale's admirable novelette in the October Lippincott's Magazine. He calls it "A Manila Madness" because the germ of the mystery is planted in the soil of our new possessions. An hour's absorption, "the world forgetting, by the world forgot," is assured in the reading of this tale of rapid action.

Secretary Shaw announces that he will retire from President Roosevelt's cabinet February 1st. It is said that Mr. Shaw will then return to Iowa and begin his presidential campaign among his friends. With Secretary Shaw and Governor Cummins aggressive candidates for the presidency, Iowa politicians will have a strenuous time of it.

THREE JURORS CURED

Of Cholera Morbus with One Small Bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Mr. G. W. Fowler, of Hightower, Ala., relates an experience he had while serving on a petit jury in a murder case at Edwardsville, county seat of Clebourne county, Alabama. He says: "While there I ate some fresh meat and some souse meat and it gave me cholera morbus in a very severe form. I was never more sick in my life and sent to the drug store for a certain cholera mixture, but the druggist sent me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy instead, saying that he had what I sent for, but that this medicine was so much better he would rather send it to me in the fix I was in. I took one dose of it and was better in five minutes. The second dose cured me entirely. Two fellow jurors were afflicted in the same manner and one small bottle cured the three of us." For sale by W. J. Mathewson.

PRACTICAL INSTRUCTION

Educational Exhibits at the Portland Fair Are Comprehensive.

CRESCO, IOWA, Sept. 20, '05.

EDITOR OF OLYMPIC LEADER:—I reached home September 1st, after four weeks of travel from Port Angeles. I went direct to Portland and spent three strenuous days at the Fair.

I was impressed by the improvement in World's Fairs since the one in Chicago. They are smaller and more comprehensible. The casts, models, biographs, kinetoscopes, lectures, etc., reproduce so vividly that Fairs now-a-days may be made the means of very practical instruction in the arts and sciences. The question asked of returning visitors is not usually, however, "What did you learn?" but, "Did you have a good time?" Those who visited the Fair in St. Louis see in Portland some familiar exhibits, yet there are many features characteristic of western industries, such as lumbering, fishing, mining, etc., as well as the Indian, Philippine and Alaskan exhibits that make this Fair particularly interesting to an easterner.

California had the best state exhibit considered both as to material and method. It was an exhibit from the state as a whole and the unity of arrangement was most pleasing. Much excellent literature was distributed, and the lecture room, where the state's leading products were presented, discussed and illustrated, was crowded with eager tourists. It was an easy way to see California and made an expensive tour through the state seem almost unnecessary.

Washington has a fine state building. The exhibit is made up of units. Each county has its own space and its own distinct exhibit. The result is good for one who wishes to study carefully any particular part of the state, but the exhibit as a whole is marked by much repetition.

The educational exhibit attracted the greater part of my time and attention. The method of arrangement placed a wilderness of material in the smallest possible space convenient for inspection. The large revolving cans and neat cases are a great improvement since the old days when the N. E. A. required acres of wall space for its exhibits and inspectors needed field glasses.

I thought as I looked at the fine penmanship, the beautifully illustrated themes, the pen and ink sketches, etc., and the mass of pains-taking work in the different branches of school work: Is all this practical and hence desirable? It takes time to make a sketch map look like the one in the geography. All this fine work means in many cases, I must believe, extra time. Do educational exhibits pay? To find an answer, I watched the people as well as the exhibits. The inspectors were largely pupils and they were industriously comparing exhibits. One twelve year old boy came swinging through the Oregon exhibit with a little crowd of friends at his heels. I heard him say: "Here's our exhibit over here." I edged 'round to hear the boys talk. The leader was vaingloriously bragging about his school and his exhibits. I took a seventh grade boy with me one morning through some especially fine seventh grade work and was much interested in his remarks and his amazement that seventh grade boys could "write like that." I believe that boy's teacher will find it easier next year to get painstaking work from him. I think it does pay to take the time and trouble to make a boy proud of his school and to furnish ideals of work that will be an inspiration to all pupils. It is too bad that the pupils of Clallam county have nothing to take pride in at the World's Fair. We cannot afford to miss such opportunities to help create the idea that good school work is worth while. The exhibits were rich in suggestion to teachers and ought to result in better work throughont the state. They furnish fine opportunities for strangers to study the schools of the state. The work may not always be representative but I know, for instance, that the high school pupils in Bellingham are doing good, bright, original work in rhetoricals and that the drawing and water coloring in Seattle is being taught by a master hand. I hope my pupils in Port Angeles visited the educational department, even tho they had no especial interest there; that they studied it carefully and that the study will bear fruit this next school year.

I planned to tell you something of my trip home but this letter is already too long. Sincerely yours,

S. E. BROWN.

BEAUTIFUL WOMEN.

Plump cheeks, flushed with the soft glow of health and a pure complexion, make all women beautiful. Take a small dose of Herbine after each meal; it will prevent constipation and help digest what you have eaten. 50c. Mrs. Wm. M. Stroud, Midlothian, Texas, writes, May 31, 1901: "We have used Herbine in our family for eight years, and found it the best medicine we ever used for constipation, bilious fever and malaria." Sold by C. E. Nailor & Co.

SEGUIN NOTES.

The past week has been a very stormy one, considerable rain has fallen and it is doing much damage to the second crop of clover, much of which is now in the field.

Amore Myers and Fenton Grennan are spending a few days in Jefferson county, inspecting silos, preparatory to building same on their ranches here.

F. M. Terry was a business caller at Seguin last week, buying stock for his market in Townsend.

The Reverend McNamee preached his first sermon to the Seguin congregation on Sunday last.

David Dey has sold his horse and buggy and will leave in a few days to attend the Puget Sound University at Tacoma.

Mrs. J. L. Keeler and Miss Mary Priest returned from a visit to Victoria on Wednesday last.

A trio of Seguin people had a narrow escape from death or great injury on Monday night last, while driving along the main street of our city; in the dark they came in contact with one of the many stumps that are standing so conveniently in the road, and nearly turned the buggy over, throwing the two men out and leaving the woman in. The horse became frightened and ran away, carrying the woman with him. As the horse did not seem inclined to stop, after he had ran about a mile the woman jumped from the buggy, landing in a mud hole. This ought to be a warning to the people of Seguin to remove those stumps.

The road machine is expected in Seguin soon, to regrade Canal street.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Smith surprised them one night last week by calling on them and presenting them with a beautiful set of china, that date being the twentieth anniversary of their wedding.

ABSCESS.

W. H. Harrison, Cleveland, Miss., writes, Aug. 15, 1902: "I want to say a word of praise for Ballard's Snow Liniment. I stepped on a nail, which caused the cords of my leg to contract and an abcess to rise on my knee, and the doctor told me that I would have a stiff leg, so one day I went to J. F. Lord's drug store (who is now in Denver, Col.) He recommended a bottle of Snow Liniment; I got a 50c size, and it cured my leg. It is the best liniment in the world.

ABSCESSES, with few exceptions, are indicative of constipation or debility. They may, however, result from blows from foreign bodies, introduced into the skin or flesh, such as splinters, thorns, etc. Sold by C. E. Nailor & Co.

PORT WILLIAMS

Saturday evening about nine o'clock a party of forty-four persons formed in front of John D. Smith's residence and began cheering, calling for the inmates to show themselves. A fine display of red lights was what greeted Mr. Smith when he opened the door; the little one in his arms exclaiming, "O, papa, see what a lot of Indians." The occasion of all this confusion was the twentieth anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Smith's wedding. Laden with china and refreshments their many friends marched into the home and took possession. It was a complete surprise, and when this worthy couple cooled down from their excitement they were ready to join in the games with the young folks. One game much enjoyed was a contest. Miss Bessie Camp taking first prize, a beautiful china pitcher; Mr. Jno. Bugge assisted her in carrying it home. Miss Mercie Smith took the booby prize, a fine pre-historic bird. Dancing was indulged in until midnight, when refreshments were served. After wishing Mr. and Mrs. Smith many years to enjoy their beautiful gifts, all said good morning.

John B. Knapman, also Mrs. Wagner left Monday morning for Portland Fair.

Washington Harbor Cannery is in full blast. Clams are now being dug by the Indians.

Bugge's creamery has been enlarged, and about ready for the installation of a large churn. Mr. Camp understands his business to perfection.

Great improvements have been made around Washington Harbor this fall.

NEGLECTED COLDS.

Every part of the mucous membrane, the nose, throat, ears, head and lungs etc., are subjected to disease and bligh from neglected colds. Ballard's Horehound Syrup is a pleasant and effective remedy. 25c, 50c, $1.00. W. Akendrick, Valley Mills, Texas, writes: "I have used Ballard's Horehound Syrup for coughs and throat troubles; it is a pleasant and most effective remedy." Sold by C. E. Nailor & Co.

Allie Mahurter took out a wagon load of powder this week for use in blasting stumps on the county road near Shuwah where Road Supervisor Lesure has a crew of men improving the road.

SPRAINS.

S. A. Rena, Cisco, Texas, writes, March 11th, 1901: "My wrist was sprained so badly by a fall that it was useless; and after using several remedies that failed to give relief, used Ballard's Snow Liniment, and was cured. I earnestly recommend it to any one suffering from sprains." 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold by C.E. Nailor & Co.

Mr. Frank Dustman believes in works as well as faith and is spending considerable money in valuable improvements at his residence in the eastern part of the city.

Mrs. John Hansen gave a farewell dinner last evening in honor of Miss Allo Knoph and Mr. Griswold, on the eve of their departure for Dungeness and Seattle.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is certainly a wonderful remedy for Indigestion, Dyspepsia and weak stomachs. They say it never fails to cure and that it strengthens the digestive organs and makes the stomach and breath as sweet as a rose. Sold by C. E. Nailor & Co.

I see by the locals in the Olympic that the Times Clothing Mart are cutting shirts in half. Why, just think of buying a child's shirt or open side pants, wool-fleeced, at only 5c, and they tell me you can get any size at 5c rise every two sizes.

C. A. Engesser of the fish market left for San Francisco on Monday to be present when the Marblehead arrives, in order to continue the business of serving the ship. The ship goes out of commission soon, and it is likely Mr. Engesser will locate in San Francisco.

Dr. H. H. Butler is making some substantial improvements at his home near the head of Oak street, having his house and barn painted, and other improvements made. If every property owner in Port Angeles would go and do likewise what a beautiful city we would have. When Dr. Butler puts in a new front fence, which he contemplates doing soon, and two or three terraces in his garden to prevent the pumpkins from running down hill, he will have an ideal home.

Cured of Lame Back After 15 Years of Suffering.

"I had been troubled with lame back for fifteen years and I found a complete recovery in the use of Chamberlain's Pain Balm," says John G. Bisher, Gilliam, Ind. This liniment is also without an equal for sprains and bruises. For sale by W. J. Mathewson.

Special sale on Cotton Batts this week; fine quality at 10cts. Phelps Dry Goods Co.

W. F. Delabarre and W. S. Hogan left Wednesday on a two weeks hunting trip—the happiest kids in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Mathewson will occupy the Chas. Cushing house this winter, the latter having moved into the C. A. Cushing home.

Robt. Trumbull, who came in from Seattle Tuesday, and Thos. Trumbull drove out to Lake Crescent Wednesday on business.

Gray Voile—beautiful goods—has been selling at $1.25 the yard, now on special sale at 75c. A great bargain. Phelps Dry Goods Co.

Herbert Baker returned yesterday from a two weeks visit to the Portland fair, very well pleased with its presentation of the resources of the west.

Mr. and Mrs. Nailor returned from the Exposition Monday; Elmer says the fair was fine and a man who wouldn't go to see the show—well, he must be broke.

Come to the W. R. C. Racket November 15th. Everything useful and ornamental will be on sale all day and evening. Refreshments served; oysters a specialty.

H. E Lutz came down Monday to arrange for packing and shipment of goods to Seattle. Their future address will be 740 North 11th Ave. Donald Lutz will attend the State University.

L. E. Doyle had the misfortune to fall through the extension one evening this week, getting pretty badly bruised as a result. It takes a pretty nervy man to attempt the trip after dark, anyway.

Rev. Mr. Whelan is moving into the house recently occupied by Mr. Engesser, and the McDougall cottage, fully furnished, is for rent. The prettiest spot in the city. Call at the premises.

W. B. Johnson, of Buffalo, N. Y., arrived Monday, for a visit with his brother, A. L. This is Mr. Johnson's first visit to the western county. He has been making an extended trip, coming by way of Denver and Portland.

"A cold or cough nearly always produces constipation—the water all runs to the eyes, and throat instead of passing out of the system through the liver and kidneys. For the want of moisture the bowels become dry and hard." Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar is the original Laxative Cough Syrup. It meets and corrects the above conditions, by acting as a pleasant cathartic on the bowels—expels all colds from the system and cures all coughs, croup, whooping cough, LaGrippe, bronchitis, etc. Sold by C. E. Nailor & Co.

41 Dishes $6.00

Elsewhere we publish an interesting letter from the facile pen of Miss Sarah E. Brown, formerly a teacher in our Central school. It is well worthy of perusal.

Harvey Lesure was in from the west end Monday, disposing of his wool clip. His flocks averaged eight pounds per head, some fleeces weighing nine and a half pounds each.

Thos. Trumbull is preparing to build on his lots on Fourth street bet. Cherry and Oak. Work will be commenced at once and the building ready for occupancy before the beginning of the New Year.

Hamilton S. Collier of Port Angeles and Sarah Clark Whelan of Tacoma were united in marriage at the Baptist parsonage on Thursday morning, Sept. 28th, Rev. W. H. Whelan officiating. The couple will reside on Pine Hill.

If you ever took DeWitt's Little Early Risers for biliousness or constipation you know what pill pleasure is. These famous little pills cleanse the liver and rid the system of all bile without producing unpleasant effects. Sold by C. E. Nailor & Co.

The Ladies Aid of the Lutheran church will serve lunch, Saturday, October 7th, from 11:30 a.m., to 7:30 p.m., at Mrs. Quinn's restaurant, opposite Poole's bakery. Price 20cts. Come and taste the delicious German dishes and good coffee. Numbers will be drawn in the afternoon for the silk quilt.

Mr. John Dyke has had built a new retaining wall in front of his residence on Front street, which greatly improves the property, making it one of the most pleasant and sightly lots in town. The Rev. Monroe was the contractor and has proven that he can do first-class mechanical work as well as spiritual.

Captain B. G. Wilcox and Superintendent D. J. Kelly, of the Gate City Contracting Co., have a force of men at work this week repiling the Carlisle buildings on the U. P. dock. The buzz of a 3,500 pound hammer and the ease and accuracy with which it is handled is something new to the large number of late eastern arrivals in Angeles.

Everything is in the name when it comes to Witch Hazel Salve. E. C. DeWitt & Co. of Chicago discovered some years ago how to make a salve from Witch Hazel that is a specific for Piles. For blind, bleeding, itching, and protruding Piles, eczema, cuts, burns, bruises and all skin diseases DeWitt's salve has no equal. This has given rise to numerous worthless counterfeits. Ask for DeWitt's—the genuine. Sold by C. E. Nailor & Co.

The Pioneer Duplicate Whist Club spent a most delightful afternoon with Mrs. Clifford Babcock at her home a few miles from town on last Thursday afternoon. Eleven of the members procured teams and drove out and a very pleasant visit as well as an excellent game of cards was enjoyed. Those who went were Mesdames E. E. Fisher, A.A. Richardson, Hawkins, Campbell, A. Blyn, V. A. Kelly, Pringle, P. J. Williams, Hitch, Ernest Gherke and Lewis Gherke.

It is easy to relieve a cough or cure a cold after a copious evacuation of the bowels. Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar is the Original Laxative Cough Syrup. It acts on the bowels—expels all cold from the system, and cures coughs by removing the cause. This remedy clears the phlegm and strengthens the mucous membranes of the chest, throat, lungs and bronchial tubes. The honey bee and the red clover blossom is on every bottle of Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar, the Original Laxative Cough Syrup. Sold by C.E.Nailor & Co

Two of a Kind.

Ed Short and A. A. Richardson sent their wives off to Portland Monday to do the Fair and have a good time, promising to remain at home, like good boys, and keep house. When Mr. Richardson went home that evening and found the fire out and no supper on the table he was lonesome and could not sleep. He was up early next morning, with grip in hand, bound for Portland. Someone told Mr. Short and he immediately collapsed. After restoratives had been administered and Ed had recovered sufficiently he went to the telegraph office and wired his wife: "Me too, I'll be there tomorrow."

Glad to Get Back Again.

Rev. George Graham arrived Saturday and conducted services in the M. E. church Sunday. He was warmly greeted by his many friends here. He states that the weather was so very warm in Kansas the past season that they soon decided to again locate on the Sound. Mrs. Graham will remain with her parents at Tescott, Kansas, until the latter are ready to return to the coast, which will probably not be before next spring. Mrs. Graham's father is also a Methodist minister, and was formerly stationed in Tacoma. They moved back to Kansas at the same time as did Rev. and Mrs. Graham.

The Revival Meetings.

The revival meetings at the Baptist church, conducted by Rev. A. D. Carpenter, have been fairly well attended despite the threatening weather and four persons have professed conversion thus far. Dr. Carpenter is a clear and forceful speaker, and depends on the written Word to influence men in reasoning out the problem of life. The meetings will continue up to and including Sunday evening next, when the ordinance of Baptism will be administered.

A Remedy Without A Peer.

"I find Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets more beneficial than any other remedy I ever used for stomach trouble," says J. P. Klote, of Edina, Mo. For any disorder of the stomach, biliousness or constipation, these Tablets are without a peer. For sale by W. J. Mathewson.

"WE AIM TO PLEASE"

Alexander Scott, formerly a teacher here, is off on a trip to Portland and Los Angeles.

A. H. Gould went to McDonald Wednesday to commence the building of Mr. Hansen's new house, which will be a neat, roomy dwelling.

Mrs. McCormick, living on Lincoln Heights, has been quite sick for sometime, and her mother, Mrs. Bundy, has come to care for her.

Mr. Chas. Hutchinson, engraver at P. J. Williams' jewelry establishment, arrived home Wednesday after a pleasant visit to the Portland Fair.

Jno. McMillan, who has been living here the past year, and Geo. Jermaine, who has been here the past six months, have, with their families, returned to their homes in Kansas and Oklahoma. Mr. McMillan, who is a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Fleming, will again commence farming on his place in Kansas.

Chas. C. Burgess, lumberman and postmaster at Cresco, Iowa, came to Angeles for a half day's visit on Wednesday; he had been spending a couple of weeks on a hunting trip in Idaho, and was returning home via Portland and the Canadian Pacific. Mr. and Mrs. Burgess were in Angeles for an entire summer three years ago, and have acquired a love for the country that will doubtless ultimately cause them to make this city their permanent home.

The Olympics were again covered with snow Tuesday morning. The rocks and crags and almost the entire crest of the mountains were covered. Much of the snow has disappeared from Mount Angeles, but the range will probably be covered the balance of the season. While in sight of so much snow the residents of Angeles, and in fact all of Clallam county washed by the waters of the Straits of Fuca, have had no reminder that there are seasons of the year called fall and winter.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Burning Slashings

"On account of no funds to continue the fire warden service and because of recent rains," says the Townsend Call, "Fire Warden Welty has issued a notice that the closed season for burning slashings and choppings is terminated earlier than was provided by law. Many farmers and others of the county have slashings which have been ready and waiting to be burned. Considerable dissatisfaction with the law has been expressed in this county, as ranchers complain that the time set by the law for burning slashings is too late and that the rains have set in to such an extent that burning is next to impossible. Slashings may be burned at any time by securing a permit from the warden and exercising due precaution.

WOMEN AND FASHION

Contentment and Cheerfulness.

No matter what some people may say, the contented woman does exist. She has to be hunted out, because she does not belong to a large class and she is not numerous, and if you find her at all it will be by accident. Women are blowing trumpets all over the world to call attention to their triumphs and attractions. But the contented woman is not of the number, for she has no woes and no triumphs, and is generally attractive to but one or two persons at most—those with whom she passes her life. To the eyes of her husband she is probably the embodiment of all graces.

She will invariably say, after she has heard a tale of woe, "Remember there are always two sides to every question, and I shall suspend judgment till I know both. By putting yourself in the place of another you will cease to want to criticise." She had been taught these things from childhood by a devoted mother. It does not happen very often that women change their natures after they reach maturity. They can become worse pretty rapidly. A sunny nature is either an inheritance or the result of long cultivation, and the former is scarce and the latter woefully slighted. How many pass over the little annoyance of life with tolerable calmness? These fortunate people do not mope over disappointments, chafe at delays and cry over trivial matters of various kinds. They set their wits to work and mend matters, when that is possible; to bear them gracefully when remedies are out of the question.

Some people have actually forgotten how to laugh, and there is more real cheer in a hearty laugh than in a full pocketbook. Contentment and cheerfulness, they are what the world wants to brighten up its gray warp. Contented persons do not tire of their possessions before the newness has worn off. There are women who move three or four times a year from sheer restlessness, who change the rooms all over once a week. They even dispose of their furniture and buy new pretty pieces frequently. They cannot be contented and they are scarcely cheerful beings. There is no doubt that they tire their relatives and friends, since tiring is the thing they do most frequently. Let women look after their work with a wholesome cheer that makes the home popular.

DAME FASHION'S DECREES

Get an empire coat of open-work embroidery.

There is a mania for antique muslin embroidery.

Crush pink linen is much liked, and so are the light yellows.

It's a poor wardrobe that does not boast at least one white silk lining.

This year's fashions afford every woman variety enough to look her best.

Plaid linens on the tartan order are new and make nice little morning frocks.

It is a fad to use none but Japanese flower decorations for the table this summer.

White serge is popular for outing gowns, intended more for show than for service.

The summer girl takes advantage of the fad for throwing a dainty scarf or mantilla over her head evenings. They're so becoming.

There are petticoats of black gloria silk, which are said to far outwear those of taffeta.

The girl who wears an open-work blouse finds herself taking on a nice coat of sunburn.

The same woman that fans herself vigorously wears a fluffy maline boa around her shoulders.

Don't forget that white that is not above suspicion is the most unlovely thing that can be worn.

Small black and white checks are used for one of the prettiest bathing suits, of taffeta, of course.

Cherries and grapes appear on the midsummer hats and the currant hat is one of the prettiest red sort.

Tea Table Furnishings.

A new idea in household furnishings is a tea table on which is spread a cloth having a white background with a graceful design in blue. As a setting for blue and white china or for use in a room done in Dresden colors this is very effective and a pleasing variation from the regulation tea table, with its fancy cover embroidered in white, or with plain white squares of damask. For summer time use, however, these blue and white covers will be found very satisfactory. They are made of light-weight material, something like Japanese crepe, are inexpensive and harmonize very well with the light airy summer draperies. With a tea set of old blue china one of these covers is a pleasing accompaniment, but even without family heirlooms it makes an agreeable substitute for the everlasting white used during the rest of the year.

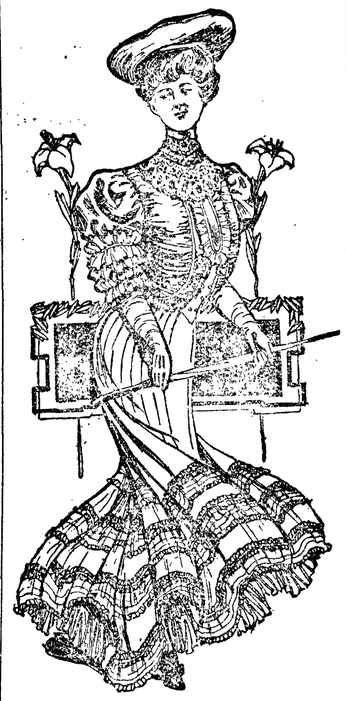
Some Uses for Vinegar.

If a tablespoonful of vinegar is put into the lard in which doughnuts are fried it will prevent them from absorbing too much of the fat. One or two teaspoonfuls vinegar put into a kettle containing boiling beef or chicken will hasten it in becoming tender. A little vinegar put into stove blacking will make it stick better and prevent dust from flying while polishing. A little vinegar put into the water when rinsing the hands does much towards curing and preventing chapped hands. Vinegar put into a bottle of old or dried glue will moisten and make it like new again. Vinegar boiled on the stove while cooking onions or cabbage will prevent the odor from filling the house. Vinegar and salt mixed will brighten and clean brass or copper kettles, ornaments, gas fixtures and the like. After its application the articles should be rinsed and polished with a clean dry cloth. A good furniture polish is a mixture of one part of vinegar to two parts of sweet oil, used sparingly. The furniture should be polished after its use by a clean cloth. Vinegar and water is good for bruises and sprains.—The Housekeeper.

For Burning Feet.

Feet that are hot and blistered from much standing or walking these warm days will be relieved and rested by the following treatment: Bathe them every night in salted water, allowing a quart of brine to a quart of water. The water may be hot or cold according to individual constitution. The feet should be scrubbed all over with a nail brush, which will often prevent the formation of corns, and hard spots on the soles may be reduced with a piece of fine emery paper or a fine file before the feet are placed in the water. The brine may be made by dissolving a pint of water, pouring it into a covered jar or bottle, and allowing it to stand for twenty-four hours. Sprinkle the feet with talcum powder, and wear large shoes, avoiding the polished leathers.

Draped Bolero Bodice.



The bolero mode is one that is most successfully used in those smart materials of soft finish that drape well without crushing. The finer Sicliennes are often used for this and in a quiet tint of terra cotta are particularly modish. This is used where an overlaid yoke of eyeletted linen appears below the throat, the Sicilienne shirred to the side and back seams and rounded off in front to display the smart waistcoat of white cloth with its fancy copper buttons. The sleeve is a short puff with a cuff of cute little ruffles and ends just below the elbow. The skirt is plaited into the waistband and little quillings of silk ribbon are used to define the groups of nun's tucks.

Uses for Water.

A strip of flannel or a soft cloth, folded lengthwise, dipped in hot water and wrung out, then wrapped around the neck of a child that has croup, will bring almost instant relief. A towel folded several times and dipped in hot water, and applied over the site of toothache or neuralgia, is splendid. This treatment for colic has been found to work like magic. Nothing so promptly cuts short congestion of the lungs, sore throat, or rheumatism as hot water, when applied early in the case and thoroughly. Ordinary headaches almost always yield to the simultaneous application of hot water to the feet and the back of the neck.

For Pantry Shelves.

A fine idea for pantry shelves is to use two coats of white paint and then a finishing coat of white enamel. Wash the shelves with cold water as soon as the enamel dries, and then it will harden quickly. Over this place no oilcloth or papers, but leave the shelves bare and notice the improvement; since there are no covers under which crumbs can collect, there is no encouragement for mice, the enamel is easily wiped off with a damp cloth, and with such a finish it is never necessary to clean the entire pantry at once. It keeps clean all the time.

NEW COAT SUITS.

LONDON'S UNEMPLOYED.

Bill Providing for Relief by Work Before Parliament.

The past winter has been a notable one in England as far as labor conditions are concerned, says the Boston Transcript. The returns issued each month by the London local government board show that the number of persons in receipt of relief from the State is higher than in any preceding year since 1874. So acute has the situation become that the government has introduced in Parliament a measure designed to afford relief, known as the "unemployed workmen" bill. Some labor leaders have been urging workingmen to march on London in a body, and several deputations have acted on the suggestion. One deputation which arrived in London was refused admission to the visitors' gallery of the House of Commons and none of them have been received, yet the government fathers this workingmen's bill, recognizing the importance of the problem.

"The unemployed workmen bill provides for public relief by employment, compulsory in London, optionally in the rest of the country," according to the New York World. "It is based on the principle that an applicant 'honestly desirous of obtaining work, but temporarily unable to do so from exceptional causes over which he has no control,' should have a right to receive employment relief. The expenses are to be met by a special tax, supplemented by contributions. The 'unemployed' taxes cannot be used to provide temporary work except on farm colonies, thus drawing surplus labor away from congested cities and back to the land. This new authority will also keep labor registers, assist applicants by emigration and removal and share the cost of employment by other bodies. On the other hand, as safeguards, wages are to be less than the normal earnings of the unskilled laborer, and no one shall be assisted more than two years in succession."

The "unemployed bill" will go a long way toward revolutionizing the administration of the poor law, says E. Douglas Shields in the World Today. "It will include the appointment of a minister of industry, whose business it will be to have in readiness, schemes of a national character to supply work for those in need of it. In thus taking upon itself the responsibility for the supply of labor, the government is only following the lead that has been given by the workers themselves. If there is one feature of the problem that is more striking than another, it is the decrease in the reluctance of self-respecting men and women to seek the aid of the State in times of distress. In Bradford 2,000 men besieged the workhouse and demanded help, telling the guardians of the poor law that their methods of giving relief were inhuman, and protesting against the law which disfranchises men who have received State support within twelve months previous. Similar incidents have occurred elsewhere. In thus demanding work and, failing it, money at the hands of the authorities, the people are well within their legal rights. In 1601 an act of Parliament made it incumbent upon the authorities of every village and town to provide work for the unemployed and assistance for those who could not work. Penalties were inflicted in cases of neglect to perform these duties. They were given powers to acquire land belonging or adjacent to the village and to let it in allotments to those able for agricultural work. This act has never been repealed."

Ventilation His Forte.

"If they's any man what knows all about the ventilation of a dining car," said a waiter on the private car of a Burlington official who passed through Kansas City recently, "if they's any man knows all about ventilation, Ah'm suttinly that man. That' mah business, and Ah understands it in all its circumstantial an' hypothetical aspects and phases.

"An' that's why it makes me sore when the boss sits down to the table and takes the stick and begins to slammin' and openin' ventilators after they're all fixed perfect already. Then when the coffee gets full of cinders he thinks Ah'm to blame. The boss may be all right when it comes to buildin' railroads and locatin' factories, but this subject of ventilation is too big for 'm, and he bettah leave it to the portah what knows something about it.

"Befoh evry meal Ah place the napkins around and then sit down and watch where the cinders are going. Then Ah open this ventilator an' close that one until Ah have everything fixed so nobody won't be bothered at all. Then in comes the boss an' spoils the whole scheme in two minutes. Ah can't stop the wind a-blowin', and Ah ain't the cah inspector to clean cinders off the transoms. When Ah'm on the street Ah'm a chocolate drop in the bucket, but on a dining car Ah certainly can keep the ciders out of the coffee if they'll jest gimme a chance."

FLASHES OF FUN

The Old Story.—"But, papa, he says he can't live without me." "Give us a new one; I told that same story to your mother!"

The Automobile Fright.—Sidney—Why don't you talk as we ride? Rodney—Well! I can't think with my hair standing on end.

No Escape.—Bell Boy (outside of room 55)—Say, the gas is escaping in there. Countryman (inside of room 55)—No, it ain't; I locked the door.

A Vacuum.—A pupil in a Lynn (Mass.) school was asked by his teacher to give the definition of a vacuum—"I can't just describe it," said he, "but I have it in my head."

Wanted a Circus.—The Child—Are you the trained nurse mamma said was coming? The Nurse—Yes, dear; I'm the trained nurse. The Child—Let's see some of your tricks.

Those Foreigners.—Doctor (after careful examination)—Some foreign substance is lodged in your eye. Dennis—Oi knowed ut! Thot's what Oi git f'r wurrukin' wid them Dagoes!

She Whistles.—An Irishman asked a Scotchman one day why a railway engine was called "she." Sandy replied: "Perhaps it's on account of the horrible noise it makes when it tries to whistle."

"There She Blows!"—On the voyage a school of whales was sighted, and the millionaire plumber rubbed his hands in ecstasy. "Why is he so happy?" asked a passenger. "Because," whispered the captain, "he imagines each spout is a bursted water-pipe, to be repaired at regular rates."

What He Hurt.—A well-known judge fell down a flight of stairs, recording his passage by a bump on every step until he reached the bottom. A servant ran to his assistance, and, raising him up, said: "I hope your honor is not hurt?" "No," said the judge, sternly, "my honor is not hurt, but my head is."

Not wonderful!—He pointed out to a newly arrived Paddy the grandeur of the Niagara, with the words, "There, now! Isn't it wonderful?" "Wontherful!" replied Pat; "what's wontherful?" "Why, to see all that water come thundering over those rocks!" "Oi can't see anything wontherful in that—what is there to hinder it from coming over?"

Coals to Newcastle.—Wife—What is meant, John, by the phrase, 'carrying coals to Newcastle?' Husband—It is a metaphor, my dear, showing the doing of something that is unnecessary. Wife—I don't exactly understand. Give me an illustration—a familiar one. Husband—Well, if I were to bring you home a book entitled, 'How to Talk,' that would be carrying coals to Newcastle.

The Way out of It.—When preaching for a public charity, a note was handed up to the clergyman, asking if it would be right for a bankrupt to contribute. Having answered that such contribution would be robbery, the speaker added: "And, my brethren, I would most strongly advise you, who are not insolvent, to contribute this morning, since, if you are seen to pass the plate, your neighbors will be sure to say, 'That's he! That's the bankrupt!'"

He Waited.—"Supposing you wait here in this comfortable seat by the elevator while I match these two samples of ribbon," said Mrs. Mayfair sweetly to her husband, who had been entrapped into going shopping with her. When she came back she said contritely: "Have I kept you waiting an unpardonably long time, you poor dear?" "Oh, I haven't minded it," he said, cheerfully. "I just jumped on a car and ran out to the league grounds and saw most of the ball game, and then I took a little spin in the park with Dorton in his new auto. Did you match the samples?" "One of them. It's so provoking. I'll have to come in again to-morrow, for they are closing the store now."

Hard on Norah.

Norah, the slovenly cook, puts her head in at the door.

Norah—Plaze, ma'am, will ye be afther tellin' me whin I'm to know whether th' puddin's baked or not?

Mrs. Wilson—Stick a knife into the middle of it, and if the knife comes out clean the pudding is ready to send to the table.

Mr. Wilson, And, Norah, if it does come out clean stick all the rest of the knives in the house into the pudding.—Woman's Home Companion.

Oldest of All Ruins.

The oldest architectural ruins in the world are believed to be the rock-cut temples at Ipsambool, on the left bank of the Nile in Nubia. The largest of these ancient temples contains eleven apartments hewn out of solid stone. The largest single stone used in this work is one which forms a veranda-like projection along one side of the main temple. It is fifty-seven feet long, fifty-two feet broad and seventeen—one account says nine—feet thick.

ODD COLONY IN PARAGUAY.

Community Modeled After Edward Bellamy's "Looking Backward."

A community which closely approximates Bellamy's "Looking Backward" is Cosme, a little settlement near Asuncion, Paraguay, described by Wilhelm Lacmann in the Leipsic Grentzboten. Equality, democracy and community of wealth and work are the principles on which it was founded in 1894 by a split in a colony of Austrian immigrants to Paraguay. "The houses of the settlers lie together and form a small village, and are small, pretty and clean; they have only one story, and are built of boards and shingled or roofed with mazega grass. The roof hangs far over the side walls and is supported by posts, a detail which allows for a wide veranda—a most welcome adjunct in the hot weather. On one side of the house is a small outbuilding which contains the kitchen, and every house has its garden. Little plantations of sugar cane lie between the houses and the gardens."

Up to the present the dwelling houses cover only a quarter of the space which has been reserved for the village, and when Herr Lacmann visited the place there were some twenty houses occupied and 108 in course of erection. In time the buildings will form a great square, which will lie about a larger open square. In addition a number of smaller public places have been provided for, which will lie, as those already in existence, between the houses. "There is an absolute community of goods in Cosme, the only exception being that objects of household or personal use—furniture, cooking utensils, clothing and food—remain the property of their users. When one enters the colony he must bring his entire property in, with these exceptions. When, however, one wishes to withdraw he does not receive back the amount of his contribution, but only the amount which corresponds to his share for the last working period."

Everyone must go through a probationary period of one year, and before this period is completed no membership is obtained nor any contribution of goods made. Every applicant upon entering must pay into the treasury $25 for each adult member of the family and half of this amount for each child. If then the probationers decide not to remain in the colony their expenses to Buenos Ayres are paid, but this is not done unless the applicant remains in the colony three months. The only requirements are that the applicant be strong and healthy. "Under no circumstances are colored persons admitted."

CAT'S MIRROR TRAPS BIRDS.

Tabby Watches Her Prey and Awaits the Time to Jump.

Laconia boasts of a cat which combines science with her natural instincts of bird-hunting to rather a remarkable degree.

Pussy is evidently fond of fresh live English sparrows, and by experience doubtless found that they are wary, quick-motioned and hard to catch. She also has discovered that when she turns her back toward a flock of sparrows in the street they pay little or no attention to her and approach quite closely.

She has also discovered that the plate-glass show window of a jewelry store makes an excellent mirror under certain conditions of light, and that by looking toward the window she can watch the chippies in the street and at the same time give the birds no reason to suspect that she is interested in anything except gold rings and jewelry display.

The cat's method of obtaining English sparrow for dinner is to take her position on the edge of a good view of the reflecton in the show window. Sparrows come along the street every few minutes, and, although at first rather shy of the cat, they evidently observe that she is paying no attention to them, and gradually work up quite close to her in their search for food.

Pussy keeps perfectly passive until one of the birds happens to stray within easy jumping distance, and then she turns like a flash and captures the unlucky bird in an instant.

People who observe the cat for the first time gazing at the reflection of the sparrows obtain an idea that she herself is being fooled by the reflection and stop to watch, expecting that she will finally jump against the show window in her efforts to catch the birds, but they find that they have underestimated kitty's intelligence when a bird approaches too near the dead line.—Laconia, N. H., Democrat.

Daily Object Lesson.

To the left, gentlemen and ladies, the Pugilist looms into view. He is an advocate of physical culture. In his little rear hallroom, which he calls his "apartments," he has two heavy dumbells. He raises these to hold the door open and to tack sporting lithographs upon the wall.

Does he work. Yes; bartenders, mostly. He has never been in a ring yet, but he hopes to be. The large bundle of papers he carries is a package of challenges. He is now on his way to a newspaper office to ask for a press notice. The Pugilist is a fine press agent. He used to drive a cab. Why does not the Pugilist go home? He is afraid his wife will caress him with a mop stick. The pugilist derives his name from an old Roman term applied to a man who once bet forty ducats on four spades and a diamond and was called.

The Pugilist is found in all civilized countries and Chicago.

"A friend who was very enthusiastic about Peruna insisted that I try it.

"I took it for ten days and was surprised to find that I had so little pain.

"I therefore continued to use it and at the end of two months my pains had totally disappeared.

CONSUMPTION

HOW TO SELL GOODS.

Instance in Which Salesman Made a $15,000 Sale by Being Alert.

In the World's Work is a story of good salesmanship. The writer says: At all times the traveling salesman should be quick to see the unexpected opportunity—and it might be added that often such an opportunity is brought to light by the impression made upon the customer by a genuine "leader." Once a bright young salesman went into the office of a Memphis merchant to sell him a bill of carbons for his arc lights. He was conscious of having a distinct advantage in a carbon that he could sell at $11, for which his competitors were obliged to get $16.50. "You can't sell that carbon for $11, can you?" inquired the merchant. "Yes, sir; there is no mistake about it," quietly answered the young man. "If you feel any question about it just let me send you what you need, and if they are not all right in every particular you have only to notify me and I will come here personally and ship them back to the house."

"Well, on that understanding," replied the merchant, "you may ship me 5,000.

This time it was the salesman's turn to be astonished, for this was a sensational quantity for a merchant to buy for his own use.

"May I ask," inquired the young man, "how you are going to use so many?"

"Certainly," answered the merchant, drawing a set of contracts from a pigeon hole of his desk; "here are the contracts for a $15,000 lighting plant that I am going to put in across the street."

"Signed them?" inquired the young man.

No, but I'm going to to-night," answered the merchant, "for I've thrashed the details of this thing over until I'm sick and tired of them."

"Now," responded the salesman, "I've demonstrated to you that I can beat those people all to pieces on the price of carbons, and I give you my word that I can do the same thing on the plant that you propose to put in. Put off the signing of that contract until to-morrow night, get on the train with me and go to our plant in Chicago and I will show you that I can save you money on equipment."

The merchant finally agreed, with the result that the salesman who saw this opportunity sold the merchant a $15,000 plant.

Common Sense.

A large Minneapolis manufacturing concern, The Pillsbury Co., are employing a unique method in advertising their product, "Pillsbury's Vitos, The Meat of the Wheat," in appealing to the "Common Sense" of the Americanpublic.

Their assertions are modest as compared to most of the cereal food advertisements of the last few years, but they carry a ring of truth. Their reasoning is certainly rational; here is some of it:

"We all believe that Wheat is the best cereal the Creator has given mankind.

"Pillsbury's Vitos is nothing more nor less than the white heart of this wheat kernel, cut out by steel machinery and sterilized—nothing added—nothing taken away—no adulteration—no flavoring—no coloring—no cooking.

"This product comes to your table in its pure, white, granular form, an appetizing dish for young and old.

"Easily digested because it retains its granular form when cooked, never lumpy or pasty.

"A two pound package makes twelve pounds of pure white cooked food, and Pillsbury quality, too. Two generous dishes for one cent.

We have no competitors because we are the largest millers in the world and get the best wheat. Your grocer will gladly fill your order for Pillsbury's Vitos because he knows he sells you satisfaction. Vitos is put up only in two pound packages—air tight. Price 20c. Don't be without it."

Haricot of Ox Tail.

Divide an ox tail into pieces about three inches long, dip them in seasoned flour and fry in hot fat until brown. Drain them and put them into a stewpan with a sliced and fried onion and a pint of hot stock. Bring to the boil and then add a turnip and a carrot cut into small dice. Simmer the whole very gently for two hours, then lay the pieces of ox tail round a hot dish, put the vegetables in the center, and strain the thickened gravy over.

"I'm going to be a bisness man," said Robert. "Pop tooked me down to his bisness last week and I'm going to be like him and work and have a good time."

"What are you going to do in business?" asked the visitor.

"I'm going to do just like pop. I'm going to catch the car every morning, and when I get down town I'm going to light a great big cigar and sit down at my desk and say that there's so much work to do it ain't hardly any use beginning till after lunch. And then I'll go out with another big man and we'll eat and eat until we can't eat any more, and then we'll go back to the bisness and I'll ask everybody else why the work ain't done, and then I'll get so mad because nobody does anything that I'll go home early and be all tired after I get home so I can't do a thing 'ceptin' to read the paper and smoke more great big cigars."

A long ride I know well
He sees me coming
an' he says:
"God bless my little gell."

I sit beside him
while he eats
The good things that I tote
An' watch the rain-
drops po'rin out
His forehead and his froat;
An' when he's done
he kisses me—
I feel my heart just swell;
He smiles an' says: "Be careful, pet,
God bless my little gell."

As I ride home I seem to hear
The angels ev'rywhere
A-singing low, a-singing slow
And filling all the air;
And still they sing and still sing on
The words I love so well,
When papa kisses me and says:
"God bless my little gell."

The Wood-Shed Party.

"Mamma," said Dorothy, "I wish I could have a wood-shed party."

"What do you mean by that?" answered Mrs. Spear, in some wonder.

"Why," explained Dorothy, "all the girls in my class have said they just love to play out in a nice wood-shed, where there are lots of shavings and smooth boards and hammers and——"

"Just like ours, in fact," laughed Mrs. Spear. "I think it would be a nice idea."

"Then we'll have it," decided Dorothy, "and it must be on a stormy day, because we like to hear the rain patter down—it seems so cozy."

"I think it can be managed," said mother. "We must try to interest papa in the matter. I think there must be a little picking up done."

That evening Dorothy sat up a half hour later than usual, preparing her invitations. The following morning ten little girls found on their desks a square of white birch bark, to which a dainty card was fixed by two tiny bows. On the card were these words:

"You are cordially invited to a "Wood-Shed Party at Dorothy Spear's, on the first rainy Saturday afternoon, at two o'clock."

A long "spell of fine weather" was patiently passed by the eager girls, and at last came a rainy Saturday. Never was a stormy holiday so gladly welcomed, and at two o'clock ten little cloaked figures came in damp line toward the house.

Wet wraps were left in the kitchen, and then the children trooped out to the great, roomy shed.

Dorothy's father was a ship-builder, and in his leisure he often worked upon some small boat in the shed.

So when the guests came out, they saw first a nice, warm stove in one corner, in which birch bark was snapping comfortably; next, the good-sized body of a sailboat, resting on blocks, to the inside of which led a short step-ladder.

In the boat were stools and cushions, and on its deck sat Dorothy's whole family of dolls in holiday dress.

The girls glanced about and examined all the good points of the craft, and said there was almost water enough outside to sail it.

The logs of wood had been rolled up in such a way as to make a gradual flight of stairs to the top of the wood-pile, where a flat board was standing. Each guest was asked to run up the stairs and drive a nail in the board. There was a prize, in the shape of a dainty birch bark bonbon box tied with baby ribbon, for the one who could drive a nail without "striking off."

There were whole barrels of clean white shavings, from which they picked the longest and arranged on their heads for curls.

At four o'clock came the refreshments, part of which was ice cream served in little brich bark cups.

But best of all—a surprise for Dorothy, too—was when Mr. Spear came out with a tray, on which were eleven little boats—perfect models of a brig with all sails set, and ropes, yard-arms, anchor and cabins all in correct position. On the stern of each was painted in tiny letters the name of the little guest for whom it was intended.

"Such a lovely time!" they all said, as they bade Dorothy good-night. "A wood-shed party is the very best kind."

One little girl said, as she hurried home, "There! Dear me! We had such a good time I forgot all about hearing the rain splatter."—Youth's Companion.

PLENTY TO TALK ABOUT.

When Jamieson moved out into the country his friends told him he had gone to the "place of vast silences." When he had been there three weeks he boasted that instead of being oppressed by silence, he could get up an hour's conversation over a brass door-knob.

Soon after he moved out, his neighbor, Thompson, took an ax to the city to have it sharpened. Jamieson was pressed into service to bring it home. On his arrival he had gone perhaps a quarter of a mile from the station when he met Hiram Jennings, driving a team. Hiram reined in short.

"Evening!" he said, casually. "That a new ax you got there?"

"No," said Jamieson. And then, as he noted the brightness of the handle, he added, "Sandpapered, I guess."

"I see Thompson taking an ax to town tother day," remarked Hiram.

"Yes, this is Thompson's ax."

"Wal, want to know! Now what'd he take it to town for?"

"To get it sharpened."

"Took that clear to town to get it sharpened?"

"Yes."

"Huh! Wal! What'd it cost him?"

"Why, ten or fifteen cents, I guess."

Hiram descended from the wagon, took the ax and swung it about his head two or three times. Then he felt of the edge, during which Deacon Wilbur arrived.

"Good ax," said Hiram. "What d'ye think, deacon? Thompson took that clar to the city to git it sharpened."

"That's the right way to do," said the deacon. "I always take my ax to the city to get it sharpened."

He picked up the ax in turn and swung it.

"Wal! Want to know!" said Hiram, again. "Now I got an ax down to my place I've been wantin' to git sharpened this six months. I guess I'll have to git some feller like Mr. Jamieson, here, to take it in for me."

"That's the way to get it done," said the deacon, feeling the edge. "This here ax reminds me of one I used to use when I was a boy and lived up to Skokieville."

He moved over to the wagon, ax in hand, and leaned against the horse. And Jamieson, with visions of a waiting dinner, followed tamely after, to listen to a long discussion of the axes of other days, before his was handed back to him.

"Silences!" he said to his wife that night. "If there are any silences out here in the country they never seem to be round where I am."—Youth's Companion.

Home Nursing.

Tenderness, in fact, is more called for in convalescence than during acute illness. That the sick-room wheels run with apparent ease will be infinitely more grateful to a person in actual pain or discomfort than assurances of undying affection. Instead of smoothing the patient's brow, quietly guard against wrinkles in the under sheet. Instead of "feeling" if the poor soul be feverish or chilly, see that the hot-water bottle is hot and properly rolled in a soft towel, or that the ice-bag has not sprung a leak. Put your whole mind to disposing the furniture so that you neither take extra steps in walking around tables and chairs, nor stumble twenty times a day over the same footstool. Set all bottles, measures and medicine droppers in tidy groups, upon large, flat plates, to avoid sticky marks on window sills and table covers. See that no light dazzles your patient's eyes—if necessary, change the head of the bed to the foot. Keep fresh drinking water always at hand, and be sure that no used implements are left about, waiting "till some one goes downstairs," also that no half-consumed food is left in sight, destroying appetite for the next meal. In your inevitable struggles with cut-flowers no one can help you. Like poor Peggy, in "Miss Killmansegg," before the patient is out again many a nurse fairly "hates the scent of roses." You can at least see that no faded ones pollute the atmosphere. In the matter of visitors be very sure that the doctor directs how many may be seen with advantage, and how many at a time, as this may insure an immense saving of discussion.—Success Magazine.

Paraffin as a Cleanser.

A tablespoon added to the copper will improve the color of kitchen cloths, towels, etc., and the disagreeable odor will depart in the course of rinsing and drying. For a much soiled earthenware sink paraffin is excellent. Rub it on with a flannel cloth, and then wash well with hot water and soda.

Dyspepsia.—A dessert spoonful or more of glycerine diluted with five parts of water and taken at the beginning of the meal prevents the usual distress, belching, etc., which follows the eating of certain vegetables and fruits. It is not a cure but simply a relief.

Eruptions on the Face.—The patient should live temperately, avoiding all stimulants and keep the bowels open. A solution of carbonate or bicarbonate of soda, one scruple to a pint of water, makes a very good wash. When the eruptions break and become sores use an ointment composed of lanoline one ounce and oliate of mercury one grain, rubbed on two or three times daily. Black heads should be steamed and squeezed out and the spots rubbed with the ointment a few times.

Home-Made Liniment.—The primary purposes of a liniment are to serve as disinfectant and to allay inflammation. Nature must do the rest toward curing cuts, bruises or wounds of any kind. Swellings, aches and pains result from inflammation and require the use of liniment. A very good one for both man and beast is composed of alcohol, one pint; spirits of hartshorn, 1½ ounces; turpentine, one gill; sweet oil, one-half pint; line arnica, five ounces; chloroform, two ounces. This will make about 2½ pints the equivalent of which in quantity and quality of a patent liniment would cost from $4 to $5.

The Rain Cure.—This is the latest fad. All that is required of the patient is to stand in the open with the body bare of all clothing in the falling rain. The sensation is said to be very agreeable. Those who have tried it assert that the rain falling upon the bare body invigorates the whole system and is especially strengthening to the nerves. There is no set rule for taking the treatment. It is declared that the rain cure is a sure remedy for rheumatism and that decided improvement has been noted in cases of persons afflicted with tuberculosis. For nervous disorders the treatment is said to be infallible, although we do not take much stock in it.

ECZEMA A FLESH FIRE

Those afflicted with Eczema know more than can be told of the suffering imposed by this "flesh fire." It usually begins with a slight redness of the skin, which gradually spreads, followed by blisters and pustules discharging a thin, sticky fluid that dries and scales off, leaving an inflamed surface, and at times the itching and burning are almost unbearable. While any part of the body is liable to be attacked, the hands, feet, back, arms, face and legs are the parts most often afflicted. The cause of Eczema is a too acid condition of the blood. The circulation becomes loaded with fiery, acid poisons that are forced through the glands and pores of the skin which set the flesh aflame. Since the cause of the disease is in the blood it is a waste of time to try to cure it with local applications; the cause must be removed before a cure can be effected. S. S. S. has no equal as a remedy for Eczema; it enters the blood and forces out the poison through the natural channels, and builds up the entire system. The skin becomes smooth and soft again, and the Eczema is cured. Cases that have persistently refused to be cured under the ordinary treatment yield to its purifying, cooling effect on the blood. Book on Skin Diseases and any advice wished, without charge.

Eczema made its appearance on my left limb the size of my thumb in 1893, and spread until it was large as my hand, burning, itching and paining me, and for which I could get no relief, until seeing the other cures advertised by you I wrote and secured the advise of your physicians, commenced S. S. S. and it cured me.

You and each of you, are hereby summoned and required to appear within sixty (69) days after the first publication of this notice and summons, exclusive of the first day of publication, to-wit: within sixty (60) from and after July 28th, 1905, and defend the above entitled action in the above entitled court, in so far as it does or may effect your several interests or estates in or to said lands or any part thereof, or pay the amount of taxes due severally upon said lands or any part thereof in accordance with your joint or several interests or estate, together with the costs and interest; and in case of your failure so to do, judgment will be rendered foreclosing said tax lien for such taxes, interest and costs due against said lands or lots.

The object of this suit is to foreclose the lien for the above mentioned taxes, interest and costs, and to sell said premises to pay the same.

Any pleading or process may be served upon the undersigned Attorney for Plaintiff at the address hereinbelow stated.

Dated this 28th day of July, A. D. 1905.

W. E. BURNSIDE,
County Treasurer of Clallam County, Washington.
J. E. COCHRAN,
County Attorney for Clallam County, Washington.
P. O. Address, Port Angeles, Washington.
Date of first publication, July 28th, 1905.

NOTICE AND SUMMONS BY PUBLICATION.

In the Superior Court of the State of Washington, for Clallam County.

Mary Keyes, plaintiff, vs. William Nichols and all persons unknown, if any, having or claiming an interest or estate in and to the hereinafter described real property, defendants.

State of Washington to said William Nichols who is the owner, or reputed owner, of, and all persons unknown, claiming or having an interest or estate in the hereinafter described real property

You and each of you are hereby notified that the above named plaintiff, Mary Keyes, is the holder of a delinquent tax certificate No. 494, issued by the Treasurer of Clallam County, Washington, embracing the following real property situated in Clallam County, Washington, and more particularly described as follows, to-wit:

Lots three (3) and four (4) in Block three hundred and eighty-four (384) of the townsite of Port Angeles, and issued to one Thomas Murphy and by him assigned for value to said Mary Keys.

That said certificate No. 494 issued on the second day of June, 1902, for the sum of $4.34 for the delinquent taxes for the year 1901; that the taxes for the following years have been paid by the plaintiff, to-wit: the year 1902 the sum of $1.62, the year 1903 the sum of $1.60; the year 1904 the sum of $1.64, which several sums bear interest at the rate of fifteen per cent per annum from said date of payment.

You and each of you are hereby summoned to appear within 60 days after the date of the first publication of this notice and summons to wit, within 60 days after the 11th day of August, 1905, and defend the above entitled action or pay the amount of taxes due, together with the costs, penalties and interest; and in case of your failure so to do judgment will be rendered foreclosing said tax lien for such taxes, penalties, costs and interest against said land and premises hereinbefore mentioned.

Mary Keyes, Plaintiff.
