Dr. Chas. Fogelzang Finds a New Love.

ANGELES' CHARMS CAPTURE HIM.

Dr. Fogelzang Says Some Nice Things About His Latest Infatuation and Declares, In Effect, That He Is Going to Have His Friends Come Out and See What a Charming Young Thing He Has Found.

Dr. Chas. Fogelzang, of Minneapolis, is among us to stay. He has been deeply impressed with our young city since he arrived last Saturday. When asked for his impressions, he said: "Well, young man, I couldn't do the subject half justice. But I feel just this much, that I am so favorably struck with Port Angeles that I, have, after several days calm deliberation, decided to cast my lot with you. I used to think when advocating the claims of the state of Iowa and later the grand future of the city of Minneappolis, that they were the only spots that a man was justified in becoming enthusiastic over, but since I came to Port Angeles I have become embued with a feeling that completely overtops all my past experience. It seems that nature has gathered all the good things of this earth and dumped them right here in Port Angeles.

"Your harbor cannot be adequately described, and if it ever could be, who would believe it without actually seeing it. There is nothing like it in the United States, hardly in the world as far as I know.

"Your townsite is so perfect it can be made the paragon of cities; it seems to me that every single lot on it commands a perfect view of the harbor, straits and mountains both to the north and south. Why, just think of it," he said, growing enthusiastic, "here are two items that alone would insure a great city at this point, to say nothing of the vast agricultural and timber resources lying at the back door of your town. All you need is money, brains and push and there will arise here one of the great cities of this great northwest. And you can say that I am going to contribute my experience and whatever money and brains I have to bring it about.

"I have already rented an office, the room next to the postoffice, and I am going to begin writing letters back east at once. And I am going to try and sell some real estate for the people around here who have more of it than they want to keep.

"My family will be out here next month and then I will feel that I have in reality found a new home.

"No, young fellow, don't you grow chicken-hearted. This place has a grand future as sure as the sun keeps on rising and setting, and you people who have stood by the ship will get your reward."

Good for You, Tommy.

Mr. T. T. Aldwell while at Seattle called on the Post-Intelligencer people and made a kick about the paper getting here a day old. They sent a representative with Mr. Aldwell up to Townsend to secure, if possible, from the Hastings, a change in the schedule of their boats. As a result the Garland will hereafter leave Seattle at 2 a. m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week, thus insuring the delivery of the paper in Angeles on the day of its issue.

Messrs. Hastings are to be commended for the action, as the irregular arrival of the paper in the past has been very annoying.

The people of Angeles are not slow to appreciate such acts.

The Railroad Movement.

The party composed of Messrs. Corson, Hagan, King, Kellogg and Withrow, who went out last week through the Quillayute country to work up the railroad proposition returned Tuesday.

The party held meetings at Sappho, Forks, Quillayute and Lapush. The people turned out at all of the meetings and accorded the party a respectful and enthusiastic reception. The proposition meets with general favor, but the railroad proposition has been referred to the Quillayute board of trade for investigation. The members of the party who have not seen the country before speak in glowing terms of its resources and were better pleased with the outlook than they had expected to be.

There is hardly any doubt but that the subsidy will be raised little by little and by persistent and steady application.

J. A. Withrow has been selected to make a thorough canvass of the west end and personally see every settler and talk with him if possible and secure subscriptions to the subsidy. Either Mr. Hagan or Mr. Corson will be back here in about a month to finish up the subsidy part of the work, if possible.

The railroad will be built if the settlers will do what they can towards helping it along by subscriptions and getting their neighbors to subscribe towards it.

One objection raised by some of the citizens of the west end has been removed. It was demanded that the railroad company agree to operate the road after it is constructed. The company guaranteed in writing to do this and to run trains for at least three years. This guarantee seems to be hardly necessary but to satisfy objectors it was was given.

The work of raising the subsidy will go right along until it is completed and if the 25,000 acres is successfully raised the plans will be carried out as laid down in the subsidy contract.

Information about the proposition can be secured at the office of the company, room 21 Post-Intelligencer block, Seattle, the board of trade, Quillayute, or J. A. Withrow, East Clallam.—Clallam Bay Record.

BANQUET TENDERED NEWCOMERS

Col. Coolican Arrives at Angeles With a Large Party From St. Paul and Minneapolis and They Are Met With a Hearty Welcome—Some Come for Their Health, But Most of Them Are Here to Stay.

Col. Coolican and his party from Minnesota arrived on the Evangel last Saturday and they were accorded a most hearty welcome. The party as originally made up did not arrive here together. The party from Iowa were not able to start with the Minnesota party. They will come over the C. B. & Q. railroad in a private car and will compose six or eight gentlemen. Following is a list of those who arrived Saturday:

Dr. Chas. Fogelzang, Minneapolis; J. S. Cooper, Mankato, Minn.; Mr. and Mrs. J. Merrill and their three sons, St. Paul, Minn.; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Cook, Minneapolis; Mrs. Stockley, Minneapolis; Mrs. Dr. Brown, Minneapolis; Mrs. J. D. White and son, Chicago. Mr. Cooper's wife and three children also started with the party, but stopped over at Tacoma for a visit, but they will join Mr. Cooper in a few days.

T. J. Dykes, of West Concord, Minn., also was a member of the party, but took a run up to Snohomish to see an old friend and arrived here on last Monday.

In pursuance of the arrangements made by the Immigration Association a line of march was formed at the board of trade rooms and led by the Washington Business University Band, all proceeded to the wharf and awaited the coming of the boat bearing the visitors. She came in on time, and as she approached the dock the band struck up a welcoming air and three rousing cheers were given for the gallant colonel. The dock was crowded with people and everyone seemed anxious to take him by the hand and give him a good shake.

The entire party was then landed. None of them seemed especially cheerful but that was explained by the fact that most of them had a rather severe touch of seasickness on the way down. In fact, it was a very rough trip. The crowd then marched back to the board of trade rooms where an informal reception took place and the visitors were introduced to the people of Angeles.

At 3 o'clock a public reception took place at the opera house. On the stage were seated the city officials. A welcome address was delivered by Mayor Myers.

Col. Coolican then entertained those present with a talk about what he and his associates at St. Paul had done and what was their ambition still to do for Clallam county and Port Angeles. His remarks were well received and created much enthusiasm.

After he had concluded, Capt. Bradley spoke in fitting terms of the good work done by Col. Coolican.

In the evening a banquet was tendered Col. Coolican and his eastern friends. It was originally intended that it should be given at the Hotel Albany, but it soon became evident by the interest taken in the affair, that the dining room of the hotel would not nearly accommodate the guests, so it was decided to hold it in the room formerly used by J. C. Hansen. The room was most artistically decorated for the occasion, flags and bunting, flowers and evergreens converting the place into a veritable bower of beauty. The tables ranged around the sides of the room, with a row also down the center, which gave ample room for the waiters.

It was about 9 o'clock when the guests were seated and Toastmaster Carrigan called on the W. B. U. band to play an air as a sort of a starter to the feast. At the conclusion of the music, the guests were invited to partake and all fell to with a hearty good will.

The supper finished, cigars were brought in and lighted. Toastmaster Carrigan then extended a warm welcome to Col. Coolican and the new arrivals in a short and appropriate speech and then called on Col. Coolican to respond to the toast: "Immigration as a Railway Builder." He spoke in his happiest vein and was listened to with marked attention:

Then came the following toasts and responses:

"Port Angeles," .....CAPT. T. H. BRADLEY
"Clallam County,".....JUDGE J. G. MCCLINTON
"Our Public Schools,"....PROF. O. A. TIFFANY
"Our Climate,".....MR. WM. BELL
"Port Angeles' Fame Abroad,"..... .....HON. W. R. GAY, Seattle
"Clallam County vs. North Dakota,".....MR. ALONZO HUNT
"Port Angeles as a Naval Station,"..... MAYOR S. L. MYERS
"The Great East End," ....MR. JOHN W. TROY
"The Greater West End,".....MR. WM. BANKS

MUSIC.

"Our Timber Wealth,".....MR. N. R. SMITH
"The Press,".. .....MR. G. T. ULMER
"Gold in the Olympics,"...MR. M. J. CARRIGAN
"Our Fisheries,".....MR. A. A. RICHARDSON
"Fruit Culture," ..... MR. JOHN DYKE
"Oyster Culture in Clallam County,"..... .....DR. E. H. STANLEY
"The Immigration Association," .... MR. C. H. FULLER

After the regular toasts, Mr. Carrigan called on Dr. Chas. Fogelzang, of Minneapolis, for a few remarks, who responded with a fine speech.

Capt Thompson, of the British ship Arronmore, also spoke for a few moments and told his hearers that we had the finest harbor he had ever visited and he had cast anchor in about every notable harbor in the world.

The responses were listened to with unflagging interest to the end. The banquet broke up about 2 o'clock in the morning, all rising and singing "Auld Lang Syne," and thus ended one of the happiest affairs that ever took place in our city.

NOTES.

A. A. Richardson made a rattling speech.

Mr. Carrigan was a huge success as a toastmaster.

The band did nobly and furnished a part of Geo. Ulmer's inspiration.

Prof. Tiffany made a most scholarly address and made a good impression on the newcomers.

The cakes at the banquet were mainly prepared by Misses Crooks and Carrigan and were delicious.

The speeches of Mr. N. R. Smith and Judge McClinton were a revelation of the grand timber resources.

Capt. Bradley's opening talk set the pace and the speakers readily dropped into the happy style of his effort.

The speeches were all so good that Mr. Gay was constrained to offer a toast to "Port Angeles and Her Orators, the Best in the Land." It was a fine compliment to the speakers.

A striking resemblance between Dr. Vickery and Judge McClinton was noted by everyone, as they sat together at the left of the toastmaster. They look enough alike to be brothers.

Mr. N. R. Smith before attacking the subject of his toast, took occasion to thank Col. Coolican for bringing Dr. Fogelzang to Port Angeles "For," said he, "I have found in him an old friend of our family when we lived in Iowa. In fact, his farm adjoined that of ours, and although I was a youngster at that time, I well remember the doctor, who had a magnificent farm stocked with blooded cattle and thoroughbred horses. Dr. Fogelzang was known throughout the entire state. He did more than any other one man within its borders to develop the state and his name is yet a synonym there for enterprise and push. Fortunate, indeed, would Port Angeles be, could she secure the benefits of his experience and influence."

Mr. Cooper is a young business man of Mankato, Minn. He has been on Puget Sound before, having been in business at Tacoma four years. He comes back again because he likes the country and especially because he thinks it will improve his wife's health.

He is at a loss to find words to express his amazement at the freak of nature that has produced our matchless harbor and the excellence and beauty of our townsite. He is so enthusiastic that he is already writing back advising his friends to pack up and come to Port Angeles.

CLALLAM'S FINE TIMBER.

Nothing Like It In the State of Washington.

RAILROAD WILL GIVE A MARKET.

The Promotors of the Projected Railroad Tfirough the Olympic Peninsula Take a Trip Over the County—Mr. Corson Tells What He Saw of the Vast Timber and Agricultural Resources in That Section.

It will certainly be a great source of satisfaction to all the good people of Clallam county to read the following article, which appeared in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer of last Sunday. Coming as it does from a man eminently able to judge of the merits of such a question, flanked by personal observation, it ought certainly be a most convincing argument of the great natural resources of our county. Such a story eminating from a resident of our county would be received with a pitying smile of incredulity, but from the lips of this outsider it will carry weight and conviction.

All we ask is that people shall come and see for themselves and we will show them we have an empire rich in everything that makes for prosperity and wealth—a country that beneficent Providence has literally plastered with its best graces—such a profusion of resouces as almost staggers belief.

Mountains of copper and iron, timber almost limitless, soil that defies the world in fertility invites the manufacturer and farmer to riches and happiness, if they will only come and get it for the asking.

The wealth and resources of some of the districts of this state that are as yet undeveloped is well illustrated by John W. Corson, who returned Saturday from Clallam county. Mr. Corson left Seattle two weeks ago with W. E. Hagan, who represents an Eastern syndicate, which, it is understood, is interested in a proposed railroad through the Olympic peninsula. Mr. Corson said Saturday night:

"We made the trip for the purpose of learning just what were the resources of the Olympic peninsula from the Straits south along the coast toward Gray's Harbor, as far as the Quillayute and Hoh rivers. I do not think any one who has not been there has any idea of that country. We look out here from Seattle westward and see the snow-capped Olympic mountains, and while I have often heard that beyound them was a very wide expanse of timber and a fine agricultural district, I could never bring myself to fully credit it. I had always heard that there was the greatest quantity of the best timber in the state, and that in the valleys of the Solduck, Quillayute, Bogachiel, Calowa and Hoh rivers was a magnificent farming country, but now I know from personal observation that 'the half was never told.'

"We left the steamboat at Clallam Bay, on the Straits of Juan de Fuca, a very good harbor, and the first and probably the only one on the Straits until you reach Port Angeles, and the natural outlet of the region south of it. Leaving Clallam Bay for the interior, about three miles from the bay we entered what might be called the great fir timber belt, and I venture to say that nowhere in Washington is such timber to be found as can be found in almost unlimited quantities throughout that country. For example, one day we traveled about twenty miles on horseback, and by wagon. We had with us an experienced timber cruiser and estimator, a photographer and several men thoroughly acquainted with the country, and were completely equipped to get a thorough idea of the region we traversed. As I was saying, we traveled that day about twenty miles over an area as level as a Minnesota prairie, and through a tract of timber twelve to fifteen miles wide of solid fir and cedar, and such timber as I will venture to say cannot be seen anywhere else in the state of Washington, or, for that matter, in the United States.

"We frequently along the trail stopped to take pictures, and at almost any point could focus our instrument upon a dozen fir trees, six, seven and eight feet in diameter, scaling, according to the estimate of our cruiser, 15,000 and 20,000 feet each, and many of them a great deal more than this. We traversed about fifty miles through this forest, heavy with fir, spruce and cedar, with also considerable hemlock.

"One surprising feature, and one which I would like some scientist to explain, is the several treeless prairies found in various places among the trees. I am familiar with the Minnesota prairie, for example, and we traversed four prairies in our journey from Clallam Bay to the mouth of the Quillayute river not at all unlike the Minnesota prairie, except that it seems to be a deeper and better soil. And you would have to scrutinize the state of Washington closely to find any more productive or better cultivated or beautiful farms than have been built there on those prairies. They have a soil as rich as the sun shines on, and a climate entirely favorable to agricultural pursuits. If any one imagines that that is a snow region, the fact that they raise on those farms everything that can be raised in the hot summers of the East proves to the contrary. I asked particularly about corn, and I found from universal testimony that they not only raised sweet corn for the table, but that it ripens and they raise their own seed, which can hardly be done in the region anywhere around Puget Sound.

"The Solduck river runs from the Olympic mountains to the Pacific ocean, in its course a distance of probably fifty or sixty miles—in a direct line a little less. On either bank of this river for a distance of several miles is a solid body of fir and cedar, chiefly fir. The Solduck is a strong, beautiful river, without a jam in it, affording perfect facility for driving these logs to any point desirable near its mouth. All these rivers, the Solduck, the Bogachiel and Calowa, empty into the Quillayute, and at the mouth of the Quillayute, while it might not and would not without a large expenditure of money, make any harbor, are several extensive lagoons or sloughs which would afford the finest booming water imaginable.

"The Quillayute river is as full of salmon as the Columbia or the Fraser. But one thing is needed to make that one of the most magnificent sections of the state. Today it is absolutely inaccessible. No boat lands at the mouth of the Quillayute. There is no possible way for the settlers in there to get their timber or their produce to market except by means of a railroad. A railroad from Clallam Bay to the mouth of the Quillayute, with one or two branches, would tap that magnificent domain of timber and agricultural resource; and a railroad is sure to go in there. The settlers of that section are fully awake and alive to the condition and are intent on getting a road, and while I am not at liberty to say very much on the proposition of a railroad, I feel free to say that the subsidy which the settlers in there offer to the enterprise, and which is already largely raised and will soon be completed, assures an immediate construction of a railroad through that country."

Congress is very quiet just now. It is probably trying to think of some foreign country that needs relief in the way of blank resolutions.—South Bend Pilot.

THE DEMOCRATIC RECORD.

The East Clallam Record, than which a more conscientious or faithful Democratic paper is not published, questions the right of Democrats to claim that the free and unlimited coinage of silver is Democratic doctrine. It goes so far as to say that it is not and has never been the doctrine of the Democratic party.

Let us examine the record.

In the Democratic Convention in 1880, the first gathering of the National Democracy after the discovery of the crime of 1873, the Democratic party declared for "money consisting of gold and silver and paper, convertible into coin on demand." It will be noticed that it was not gold coin on demand, but "coin on demand"—gold and silver coin.

In 1884 the Democratic platform declared, "We believe in honest money, the gold and silver coinage of the constitution, and a circulation medium convertible into such money without loss." This was before the definition of "honest money" was understood to be gold, and when bimetalism was understood to be free silver coinage as well as free gold coinage. It was before Mr. Cleveland had promulgated a new breed of "bimetalists." It was a square endorsement of free silver coinage and so understood.

In 1888, the platform of 1884 was simply reaffirmed. But little attention was given to silver coinage in the campaigns of 1888 and 1892, as the tariff was then the issue. However, the platform in both those years could but be taken as free silver declarations. Take the platform of 1892, only a portion of which was given by the Record:

"We hold to the use of both gold and silver, as the standard money of the country, and to the coinage of both gold and silver without discriminating against either metal or charge for mintage, but the dollar unit of coinage of both metals must be of equal intrinsic and exchangeable value, or be adjusted through international agreement, or by such safe guards of legislation as shall insure the maintenance of the parity of the two metals, and the equal power of every dollar at all times in the markets and in the payment of debts, and we demand that all paper currency shall be kept at par with and redeemable in such coin."

This declaration has two central points, both of which have been entirely disregarded by Mr. Cleveland's administration and opposed by all gold bugs:

1. That gold and silver shall be standard money.

2. That paper currency shall be redeemable in such standard money.

The Clevelandites favor gold alone as standard money and as redemption money.

Now let us examine the votes in Congress. The record shows the following division of Democrats on this question since the demonetization of silver:

Congress	For Silver	Against Silver
44th—(house)	110	16
44th—2d Session(house)	123	17
45th—(house)	97	10
46th—(house)	100	9
49th—(house)	96	70
51st—(house)	101	12
51st—(Senate)	27	3
51st—2nd session (house)	113	22
51st— " (senate)	24	1
52d—(house)	118	65
52d—(senate)	20	9
53d—(for coinage of seigniorage)—(house)	136	50
53d—(same bill)(senate)	30	10
54th—present house)	56	31
54th—(present senate)	22	13

This seems to be a pretty good free coinage record. Especially so when it can be seen at a glance at the date, the only houses that have given a considerable vote against silver were those that were dominated by President Cleveland to a large extent. What this means we, in this state, have opportunity to know. The state convention at Tacoma was a fair illustration of what a power is the administration patronage.

Under the circumstances, THE DEMOCRAT-LEADER feels justified in claiming free silver coinage to be Democratic doctrine.

BOTH ARE INEVITABLE.

The people of Port Angeles need not be alarmed over the prospect of a railroad from East Clallam to the Quillayute country. Such a road is the logical consequence of the topography of this county. It need not interfere with a railroad to Quillayute from Port Angeles, via the lakes and the Soldiuck valley. This road will be built as surely as the one from Clallam Bay, and it matters not much to either East Clallam or Port Angeles which is built first. Both are inevitable.

THE SEQUIM DITCH.

The completion of the irrigation ditch on Sequim prairie marks a new era in the development of Clallam county. Sequim prairie is one of the most beautiful localities in the Puget Sound country, and the completion of the irrigation ditch will doubtless overcome the tendency to crop failure on account of the lightness of the soil. If so, several thousand acres will be added to the tillable lands of Clallam county. The enterprising citizens of Sequim have deserved success.

SENATOR HILL'S law partner, Representative Stanchfield, of Elmira, has pronounced in favor of the renomination of President Cleveland and says that New York will cast her vote for him. The gigantic strides made by the advocates of the white metal have settled the old New York feud.

NORTH CAROLINA Populists have at last awakened to the inconsistency of advocating free silver and fusing issues with the gold bugs. They, this year, refuse to combine with the Republicans, who offered to make the same terms with them as they did last year.

THE Democratic platform of 1896 will not be written by Henry Watterson. The old platform maker has lost his grip; the gold fetich has proved too much for the free trade champion.

THE Omaha World-Herald has the following figures on the result of the contest at the coming Chicago National Convention: For silver, 516; for gold, 310; doubtful, 68.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

SOME NEWSPAPER LYING.

Knowing of the habitual unfairness of the Beaver Leader and of its proneness to unmitigated falsifying, THE DEMOCRAT-LEADER did not intend to reply to its long editorial purporting to call attention to "notable features" in the last exhibit of the county auditor. However, the republication of the article by the Tribune-Times might lead some one who has not copies of the exhibits of the county auditor for the years 1893, 1894 and 1895 to believe the article true; therefore, this correction.

The Beaver Leader said:

"In his annual exhibit for 1895 County Auditor Troy says 'the most notable feature with this exhibit as compared with that of former years is the reduction in the expenses of the county'; and in a tabular form Auditor Troy gives the total valuation of warrants issued for the years 1893, 1894 and 1895 as follows: Warrants issued in 1893, $112,441.01; in 1894, $80,063.29½; in 1895, $40,145.02. This wonderful decrease in the expenses of the county is highly commended by Mr. Troy, who, having been a county officer during all of these years, feels complimented at the good showing made. This is certainly a great reduction in the expenses of the county, but it is not, in our estimation, the "most notable feature" with the exhibit. We find by a careful study of Mr. Troy's exhibits that in 1893 the county debt was $171,632.94; in 1894, it was increased to $212,898.61; in 1895 it was raised to $312,461.68½; and who can conceive what it will be on the 30th day of June, 1896?

From June 30th, 1894, to June 30th, 1895, the expenses of the county were reduced $39,948.27½ and the county's indebtedness was increased $99,563.07½. A notable feature with the exhibit also lies in the fact that Mr. Troy neglected to call attention to this enormous increase of our county indebtedness, but this undoubtedly was an oversight on the part of the auditor."

In the first place the auditor did not take any credit to himself for the reduction of expenses, knowing full well that the county commissioners and the Superior court had charge of the expense items of government and if credit is due to any one it is to them.

In the next place, the Beaver Leader directly misquotes the Auditor's exhibit for 1895. The statement that the increase of the county's debt from June 30th, 1894, to June 30th, 1895, was $99,563.07½ is a lie, pure and simple. It could not be a mistake, because the Leader says, "we find by a careful study, etc." The debt statements quoted by the Leader for 1893 and 1894 are shown on the exhibits to be statements of the net debt. While the net debt for 1895, as shown by the exhibit, was not $312,461.68½, but was $295,630.72½ and the increase of the net debt of the county was not $99,563.07½, but was $22,732.11½, and such are the figures of the auditor's exhibit.

Like in its comments on the position of THE DEMOCRAT-LEADER on the salary fund law, the Beaver Leader was just lying; that is all.

PULLING TOGETHER.

That was a representative gathering at the banquet given Colonel J. S. Coolican and his guests by the Immigration Association Saturday night. There was an unanimity of sentiment, an enthusiasm present that bodes much good for the future of Port Angeles and for Clallam county. There was no question left in the minds of those present but that there is one question upon which all the people of this county can agree and that is the advancement and development of the Northwest. The people of Clallam County are awakening to the necessity of undivided action in everything pertaining to the upbuilding of their country. It is only by this means that we can secure a population of thriving people and a community in which life is worth the living.

DR. WALTON, whom the Democrats expelled from the Kentucky State Senate to even matters on account of the unseating of a Democratic representative last winter was defeated for re-election by a free silver Democrat, so the Kentucky legislature now has a legitimate Democratic majority.

SENATOR BRICE'S county in Ohio sends a silver delegation to the Democratic State Convention. The present appearances are that Allen W. Thurman, and not Calvin S. Brice, will be the big man of the Ohio delegation.

THE Democrats in Louisiana carried their state by 20,000 majority over a fusion of Republicans, planters and Populists.

ALLEN W. THURMAN is a worthy successor for the Old Roman.

Just before going to press, word came to the DEMOCRAT-LEADER, through Thos. Malony, that the Washington delegation to the Democratic National Convention, had secured quarters at the Auditorium Annex, in Chicago.

LOCAL PARAGRAPHS.

Dr. E. George is making some extensive additions to his home on Eighth street.

The American ship J. C. Potter arrived last night from Santa Rosalia, Mexico.

D. R. Burness has been brightening up his bakery and lunch room with paint and paper.

Col. Coolican, Dr. Fogelzang, T. J. Dykes and J. S. Cooper are stopping at the Albany.

The Klaunigs, pere et fils, have moved their shop into the old Times building on Front street.

Mr and Mrs. Tom Pollock were made happy Thursday evening by the arrival of a fine big boy.

Messrs. Carstens, Brumfield and J. A. Wilson received their bicycles on Wednesday and are happy.

The Merrill family have secured the house on Valley street formerly occupied by Warriner Smith's family.

The W. U. B. band's open air concert last Sunday was good as usual, in fact, they show steady improvement.

The schooner Richard Eacrett has been chartered by Capt. McAlmond who will use her in the Alaska trade.

Mr. Geraghty took Col. Coolican and Dr. Fogelzang out to inspect his ranch last Tuesday. They pronounce it a fine place.

Messrs. Hunt and Taylor have nearly completed the planking of the street in front of the Dakota block. It is a great improvement.

The Cook family, who have just arrived from Minneapolis, have moved into the house owned by John McGary on Eunice street, near Second.

The ball given by the W. B. U. band Tuesday evening at the opera house was a success in all respects. There was a good attendance and everyone had a good time.

W. R. Gay and Walter Dyke solved the mysteries of the Ancient Order of the Princes of the Orient last Wednesday evening. They stood the ordeal as well as could reasonably be expected.

The Ladies' Aid of the Baptist church will give a May Basket Social in the room next to Hansen's drug store, in Colony building, on Friday, May 1st. Ice cream and cake will be served. Admission 10 cents. Baskets on sale.

Last Sunday the Gate City band took a short cruise to the spit in Martin's launch, and gave some very enjoyable music on the way over. They have some fine material in the band and only need practice to become a first-class musical organization.

Mr. Dykes, one of the party from St. Paul, is an old acquaintance of Mr. Alonzo Hunt and they are now reviving a friendship of twenty-five years standing. He hails from Dodge County, Minn., where he was one of solid, influential men of that section. Mr. Dykes has for a number of years been a sufferer from rheumatism and comes to Port Angeles in the hope of securing some relief. He thinks no power on earth can prevent Port Angeles from becoming a giant city, and that all we need is a railroad and some manufacturies to give it a boost and our natural advantages will do the rest.

Judge McClinton yesterday rendered a decision in the case of Archie Taylor against the directors of School District No. 7. It was brought to test the validity of a contract made with the old board, and the verdict sustains the contract, in favor of Taylor, who will secure his salary for the year.

Walter Miller was out last Sunday practicing sailing in his new "Rob Roy." He had Theo Brewster along for ballast. The wind was a little too strong for them and as a result they got a ducking. Geo. Moore was near them in case of an accident and helped them into his boat, a little damp, but none the worse for the incident.

The L. S. L. E. observed the birthday of Shakespeare last Saturday. The society met at the residence of Mrs. C. H. Fuller. The programme consisted of scenes rendered from "Love's Labor Lost," "Merchant of Venice" and "Romeo and Juliet." Mrs. Fuller read an interesting biographical sketch of the life of Shakespeare.

Judgment for 1892 taxes will be taken on Monday, the 11th day of May, 1896. On each delinquent owner at that time will be taxed $1.00 for county clerk's fees, so it behooves everyone who owns, but one or two lots to come up with his money, as the clerk's fees in hundreds of cases would amount to much more than the tax itself.

F. P. Fisher has on exhibition at his stables a fine piece of carriage finishing done by Mr. D. R. McLennan. This gentleman spent last summer at Juneau, Alaska, working at his trade, and during his stay here through the winter months has kept his hand in on a few local jobs. The work done for Mr. Fisher is sufficient evidence that Mr. McLennan is an expert workman. He will leave in a few days for Alaska, but will return in the fall and open a shop here and will, no doubt, find plenty of work.

A Decided Success.

The I. O. G. T. entertainment at the opera house Monday evening was a decided success. There was not a dull number on the programme and most of it was much above the average. Following is the programme as rendered:

Recitation, Miss Theresa Graham.
Solo, Mr. W. J. Ware.
Recitation, Miss Nellie Wilson.
Ladies' Quartette,
Mrs. Mason, Mrs. Troy, Mrs. Wilson, Miss Crooks.
Banjo Solo, Geo. Ulmer, Jr.
Tableau.
Duet,
Miss Hannah Draper, Mrs. Mason.
Banjo and Mandolin Duet,
Mr. Ulmer, Mr. Bradley.
Solo, Rev. Fred Lamoreux.
Solo, Miss Nellie Wilson.
Humaniphone selections under the direction of Prof. L. Smith.

The singing of Mrs. Mason, Miss Wilson and Rev. Lamoreux was highly appreciated, all being recalled. Mrs. Mason in her response, sang "Sweet Alice, Ben Bolt" in a way that brought tears to the eyes of many in the audience. It was certainly exquisite.

The ladies' quartette and the duet of Mrs. Mason and Miss Draper were very artistic. The receipts were about $22.

Memorial Address.

Judge J. N. Scott, of Port Townsend, Past Department Commander of Washington and Alaska, G. A. R. has accepted an invitation from Pacific Post, Port Angeles, to deliver the Memorial day address on Saturday, May 30th, 1896.

The old soldiers will also hold a camp fire during the evening of the day.

The ladies' leap year ball on May 8th promises to be a great success. The are all taking much interest in the event and are sparing no effort to make it the crowning success of the year.

PERSONAL MENTION.

C. Fuller is visiting friends at Seattle.

Mr. Parks left this morning for Alaska

Davy Crockett is running a saloon up in Juneau.

Thos. T. Aldwell returned home on Wednesday.

J. S. Sweet has been in the city for several days.

A. Wylde, of Gettysburg, is registered at the City hotel.

G. M. Lauridsen is slowly recovering from his long illness.

A. C. Hatfield returned Wednesday from a trip to Seattle.

Mrs. Beazley left last Monday for her home in West Virginia.

Miss Belle Wallis, of Townsend, is visiting her relatives here.

Mrs. C. Snyder, of Gettysburg, registered at the City hotel Wednesday.

Jas. Hazwell, of Port Crescent, spent several days in Angeles during the week.

Oscar King is back in Angeles after an extended absence in Oregon attending school.

W. W. Gray and Henry Maguire left yesterday for Alaska to hunt gold. Good luck to them.

Mrs. W. R. Gay is in the city with her husband, who is taking an active part in the Van Lehn suit.

Allie Morgan, an old Clallam county boy, stopped over here Tuesday night on his way to Dungeness.

H. J. Lipsett, who is serving on the petit jury, spent Sunday with his new baby, returning on Monday.

Col. Coolican's eyes are troubling him somewhat, the result of too close application under an electric light.

Frank Beahan, of Tatoosh, returned to his home Monday after a pleasant week's visit with his many friends in Angeles.

Mrs. B. C. Keller returned Wednesday from Seattle where she has been visiting her mother for the past three or four weeks.

Master Gerald White, of Chicago, is visiting his grandmother, Mrs. R. R. Harding. He is accompanied by his mother.

Mrs. Palmer left for her old home in Eastern Washington last Wednesday morning. She will return in company with Mr. Palmer in the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Beardsley, and their daughter Nettie left last Monday for Spokane. They will probably make their home at Rossland, B. C.

J. H. Young and wife were in Victoria yesterday and failed to catch the boat on her return, and so had to remain over. Miss Fowler is looking after their children.

Mr. Louis Levy and John McLeod returned Sunday after a short trip into the mountains. They intended to make quite a prospecting tour, but found that the snow was too heavy to go very far and turned back.

The irrespressible Michael Geraghty came in with the St. Paul crowd Saturday. Mr. Geraghty says he is going to stay now until they put him under the sod. He predicts a large number of settlers coming here this summer. He is looking well and is the same rollicking Irishman of old.

On A. Bender.

Al. Bender, our scenic artist, is reaping fame, along with a few shekels, up at Seattle. He has recently completed a drop curtain for the Third avenue theatre at Seattle, of which the papers are speaking in glowing comments of praise.

Mr. Aldwell called on Mr. Bender while at Seattle and was shown the painting, and he says it deserves all the praise that has been given it.

Mr. Bender is hard at it, but always finds time to say a good word for Angeles and is impatient for the time to come when he can return.

Notice.

The regular quarterly teachers' examination will open at 9 a. m. on May 14th, 1896, at the Central school, Port Angeles. At the same time there will be conducted a competitive examination for entrance to the State Normal School. All students whose ambition runs toward teaching will do well to be present.

Also, the annual session of Clallam County Teachers' Institute convenes May 18th and continues through the 22nd. Every teacher in the county must attend in obedience to law.

ENTRANCES AND CLEARANCES.

Port Angeles Demonstrates That She is the Chief Port of the Sound.

The following report will convey some idea of the comparative importance of Port Angeles as a shipping point. An important fact to be remembered is this, Port Townsend in point of clearances is higher than our city, but she has two boats that clear six days in the week for Victoria, while Angeles has one boat that clears only three times each week for Victoria. When this is considered it will be seen that this sub-port does more business than the principal port of this district, and more than all the other sub-ports combined.

This report appeared in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer of December the 30th, 1895, and covers a period of one year, from December 1st, 1894, to November 30th, 1895:

"The Ocean Wave."

We have had the pleasure of inspecting two issues of "The Ocean Wave," published semi-monthly on board the flagship Philadelphia. It is gotten up in very attractive style, with a cut of the ship at the heading of the paper.

The issue of April 1st contains an account of the battalion going into camp near San Diego, from which we gather that it was immensely enjoyed by both officers and men.

In the issue of April 15th appears this item:

"Rumor has it that we are going north again soon, and all are happy."

Well, we will all be happy to have them back again.

I can now place loans on well improved farms. Correspondence solicited

Rules of Pleasant Hour Library.

A ten cent share entitles holder to read books for one year.

Books may be drawn from Pleasant Hour Library at Central school, upon Mondays and Fridays between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4:30 p. m.

Two weeks is the length of a loan, and shareholders not returning books at the expiration of that time will be fined at the rate of five cents per week, or a fraction of a week.

Damage to books must be paid for according to just estimate of value, or under forfeiture of share.

We wish these rules to be enforced and ask persons who read the books to be more careful, in the future, to comply with the regulations.

Jenkins—Hopkins.

The case of Amanda C. Jenkins vs. E. E. Hopkins, involving a lot in Port Angeles townsite, has been disposed of by a review from the general land office sustaining the decision of Register O'Toole and Receiver Terry, of the Seattle office. This decision was in favor of Mrs. Jenkins' application to purchase lots 17 and 18, in block 174, and in favor of Hopkins application as to lot 1.

Why
Do people buy Hood's Sarsaparilla in preference to any other,—in fact almost to the exclusion of all others?
Because
They know from actual use that Hood's is the best, i. e., it cures when others fail. Hood's Sarsaparilla is still made under the personal supervision of the educated pharmacists who originated it.
The question of best is just as positively decided in favor of Hood's as the question of comparative sales.
Another thing: Every advertisement of Hood's Sarsaparilla is true, is honest.
Hood's Sarsaparilla

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Wm. Herbert, of Seattle, is down spending a few days on his Hoko ranch.

John McCombs, of Sherwood, Wash., has been spending a few days on his ranch, returning Monday.

The Fairservice Logging Company has a crew of men at work cutting boom sticks on the Hoko river.

Mr. and Mrs. Pearson left Wednesday evening for California, where they will reside in the future.

The Quillayute board of trade meeting at Forks Saturday, in regard to the railroad, was a success both in point of attendance and enthusiasm. Everyone in the valley was present and nearly five thousand acres was subscribed. Those people out there know a good thing when they see it, and are all willing to contribute their mite.

The following ladies and gentlemen from the Hoko and Sekiou made our city a pleasant call on Wednesday: Misses Russ and Carpenter, Mrs. Clarkson and Messrs. Lamb and Ulin.

The tug Boyden, Capt. Bucklin docked here a couple of days last week waiting orders.

Mr. Johns opened up a short term of school at West Clallam last Monday with a fair attendance.

Messrs. Owens and Withrow took in the Forks ball Saturday and report an excellent time and hi yu muckimuch.

Trout are beginning to bite in consequence of the late warm snap, and many deciples of old Nimrod are taking unfair advantage of the same. Piscatorial short stories are in order.

Work of raising the railroad subsidy still flourishes under the able management of Messrs. Withrow and King. If everyone would take as deep an interest in the movement as the above enterprising firm, the railroad would be forthcoming in short order.

Walter Miller, constable of West Clallam, arrived home from Port Angeles Wednesday.

The steamer Garland was about three hours late arriving Wednesday on account of a big freight cargo.

Seamen's Bethel.

A strong effort is being made to establish a Seamen's Bethel and reading room in Port Angeles. Such an institution would be desirable here at any time but particularly so just now in view of the fact that this summer there will be a great number of sailors and blue-jackets in port and they should have some rallying place, provided with good reading matter, newspapers, magazines and books, and writing materials.

The movement should receive the encouragent and assistance of all. We must make our port popular with all classes of seafaring men and this is a good step in that direction.

A meeting will be held at the council chamber next Monday night to take the initiatory steps in the matter. Let all come out and lend a helping hand.

K. of P. Excursion.

Don't forget the K. of P. excursion to Seattle, May 19th round trip $2. Boat leaves Port Angeles Tuesday at 6 a. m., and returning leaves Seattle Thursday at midnight. Grand ball Tuesday evening. Uniform Rank drill on Wednesday and Thursday.

A Plea for Poor Jack.

This town has for a long time stood in need of some place for the sailors to go while on shore. A place on purpose for them where they would feel free to go and knew that they were welcome.

We have had several war boats here and a number of times large merchantmen have been in our harbor for weeks and months at a time. We have now in harbor a large ship that has been here for several weeks. We are every day treated to the spectacle of a lot of fine, good looking, sturdy fellows; young apprenticed boys, standing around on the corners with no place to go. Do people invite them to their homes? Do they take them kindly by the hand and enquire for their welfare? Do they ever think that they are strangers in a strange land, and that their young hearts are often sick and sore, away from home and loved ones? There are some people here who have left good homes in the east to come to the far west, that have some idea how they must feel.

Then there is the middle aged and even the old sailor, many are found on ships. Old Jack isn't quite as attractive as Young Jack, but he appreciates a kindness just as much, and his heart is just as big. The sailors have one peculiarity; the older they grow the bigger and softer their hearts get.

Everyone knows how quick they are to relieve distress and how tender they are of little children. Has anyone been out to see Old Jack?

"Well what's the matter with the captain? Oh he's all right."

The captain's "in clover." The hospitality of the city is extended to him. I don't know him, but he looks like an ideal sea captain and I believe he is good to his men. Every time I see him with our esteemed fellow townsman I can't help thinking of a big stately ship in tow of a sturdy little tug.

I suppose I ought to have spoken of the captain first out of courtesy, but I'm afraid I am sadly demoralized since the little Pop came out with "Don't forget the blue jackets." Oh, but they are fine brave lads, sunny tempered and generous. Will you be prepared to give them a royal welcome when them come? Will you have a place prepared, where they can go when ashore?

They are having good times now, but no one knows the day they will be called upon to defend our country and homes. Remember that with all the pomp and show, they are there to fight. They know it, and we know it. And when the time comes when they will be called on we will find them ready. And every man of them will fight like demons, for us, don't forget that.

What can we do for them? Let us get together and see. Please don't speculate all the time on how much you will make out of the squadron, but for God's sake look out for poor Jack.

The New York World.

The twice-a-week edition of the New York World has been converted into the Thrice-a-week. It furnishes three papers of six pages apiece, or eighteen pages every week at the old price of one dollar a year. This gives 156 papers a year for one dollar, and every paper has six pages eight columns wide or forty-eight columns in all. The Thrice-a-Week World is not only much larger than any weekly or semi-weekly newspaper, but it furnishes the news with much greater frequency and promptness. In fact it combines all the crisp, fresh qualities of a daily with the attractive special features of a weekly. THE DEMOCRAT-LEADER and THE THRICE-A-WEEK WORLD will be mailed to any address at $2 a year.

NEWS OF THE COUNTY.

Gleanings From the Press of Western Clallam.

Beaver Leader:

The Sawyer boys are in on their ranches.

Samuel Irwin, of Forks, went to East Clallam this week.

Miss Ella Sullivan came in to visit her ranch, last Saturday.

Mrs. Cyrus Maxfield's mother came in on a visit to her daughter this week.

Irving Garland came in this week from Everett where he has been working.

John Jacobson made a business trip to East Clallam the first of the week. He returned with quite a load.

Messrs. W. E. Hagan, Jno. W. Corson, David Kellogg and C. L. Merrill, of Seattle, returned Tuesday from a trip through the valley. They were accompanied by Jno. A. Withrow, who was showing them the country. They were well impressed with the valley and says it has a bright future before it.

An enthusiastic railroad meeting was held at Lapush last Saturday evening, the 18th inst. Messrs. Corson, Kellogg, Hagan and Merrill, of Seattle, and J. A. Withrow and H. Dimpsey, of East Clallam, were present. Mr. Corson called the meeting to order and submitted the proposition to the people. It was very interesting and seemed to be a fair proposition. The subject was discussed at length, all agreeing that such a road would be a good thing for the county. The citizens heartily endorse it and will aid in raising the bonus.

The steamer Garland arrived at Forks on the morning of the 18th and discharged a cargo of general merchandise and lumber for Frank Balch, the Boston merchant. The ocean was a little rough but the goods were landed in good condition. Three large canoes were used to convey the cargo to the beach. Indian women carrying it to the warehouse. They take from three to five sacks at a load. An Indian loads them and another Indian unloads them at the warehouse. A braided cedar bark rope is tied around one sack, then passed around their forehead; and then from two to four sacks are piled on the back above the sack that is tied. F. A. Scott and others came in on the boat.

Last Tuesday six canoes left Lapush for the sealing grounds.

The schooner Teaser came to Lapush on the 19th inst to get supplies, men and canoes to go sealing.

Dan Pullen went to his ranch Wednesday.

The railroad men are delighted with the scenery at Lapush. They took some snap shots at the town and harbor while here.

Clallam Bay Record.

School started on the west side Monday morning.

Miss Nellie Hodgkin arrived from Port Townsend last week.

Mrs. John Sands and children left for Gettysburg, Wednesday.

Travel off and on the steamer was very noticeably large this week.

Tom Fisher changed his pre-emption into a homestead last week.

The Garland made the trip to Lapush Friday, getting back here on Saturday night.

Messrs. Hagan, Corson and Kellogg left on the Garland, Wednesday evening for Seattle.

Mrs. N. T. Lanphere, who has been so ill lately that her life was despaired of, is recovering.

J. C. Douglass, of Beaver, went up-Sound Monday. He has been a steady resident down here for over five years.

Norman Smith, of Port Angeles, was here several days this week. Mr. Smith is anxious to see the proposed railroad a success and talks enthusiastically of the project. It can be said of Mr. Smith that he has always had a good word to say for Clallam bay and its business prospects.

Sam Wilkeson and John McCabe left on Wednesday evening for Seattle where they go as witnesses for Benton Marble who makes final proof at the land office, Friday.

Kort Johnson and Henry Orsett left Friday morning in a small boat for Seattle where they intend to fish for salmon. They had a fishing outfit in the boat with them.

Don't forget the leap-year ball on the 8th of May.

At the Council

The council met in regular session Wednesday evening.

Street committee reported that work done by the street commissioner on Fourth and Washington streets was well done and recommended that a culvert be put across the Fourth street; also that the work of replacing the planking on A street between 4th and 5th streets, was completed in a manner that will not require doing over in many years.

George Wunderlich was allowed $25 for clerical work in making out the assessment roll of 1895.

A communication from Geo. H. Gale, withdrawing from the bond of L. D. Stewart, as manager of the electric light plant, was read. Stewart was requested to secure another bondsman in Gale's place.

A communication from the mayor was read, in which he protested he never meant to oppose the wishes of the council in refusing to turn over the summons recently served on him, but that he had not had time to investigate the import of the same.

He also stated that he had given the matter of signing warrants a most careful consideration and that he had experienced a change of mind as to the business; that it was a great hardship that the minor expenses of the city government could not be met and that if the city treasurer would pay the warrants issued since January 1895 he was perfectly willing to sign them.

A vote of thanks, on motion of Munro, was tendered the mayor for his action in the matter.

Munro offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the clerk and mayor draw the warrants necessary to pay the actual running expenses of this city and that the treasurer be instructed to pay the warrants when presented.

It was carried unanimously.

The city attorney was instructed to draw a check for $1.30 to record deed given by L. Levy to pay delinquent taxes.

On motion of Quinn, the street commissioner was instructed to fill up holes on Front street.

The council adjourned to meet next Wednesday evening.

Settlers With Families Located Free.

SEQUIM, Wash., April 21st, 1896.

Editor Democrat-Leader:

DEAR SIR—Please inform your readers through your paper that there are some good claims (homesteads) in the upper Dungeness country; some having roads built and a cabin put up, but locaters not having the "get there" qualities necessary to make a ranch in the woods, have long since vacated them. There are also other locations never having been settled on, also some cheap relinquishments.

Parties with families will be located free of charge, this being the neighborhood sentiment.

Yours truly,

W. P. HORNER.

A Railroad Proposition.

During his talk at the banquet Col. Coolican gave an account of his labors to secure a railroad for Angeles, and gave assurance that we would likely have a proposition submitted to us soon which would mean a railroad, and that every citizen of this county should be ready to meet it when it came.

In this connection Mr. Carrigan read a letter from Mr. R. T. Williams, of Victoria, who stated that the people of his city were ready to join in any movement that would secure a railroad for Clallam county and ferry connections between the two cities. He believed a bonus of $500,000 could be raised in Victoria in furtherance of such a scheme.

VanLehn vs. Morse.

In the case of VanLehn and Ballou vs. G. Morse, sheriff, which has been before Judge McClinton this week, the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiffs for $1.760 and interest, being the value of the property in controversy.

In July 1893 the sheriff levied upon the stock of goods of the plaintiffs by virtue of attachments in favor of Seattle creditors in suits against C. E. Bell & Co. whose stock VanLehn and Ballou had purchased. Thereupon VanLehn and Ballou by virtue of a suit in replevin against the sheriff regained possession of the stock.

Thereafter in November 1893 the stock was again levied upon by virtue of an execution in favor of certain San Francisco creditors of Bell & Co.; whereupon, Van Lehn and Ballou sued the sheriff in conversion for the value of the goods.

W. R. Gay and Geo. C. Hatch appeared for the plaintiffs and Benton Embree and J. C. Caie for the sheriff.

The case will be carried to the supreme court.

DO YOU WANT $100?

If so Here is a Chance to Make it in the Pleasantest Way in the World.

The great prize story, for which the Chicago Record paid $10,000, and publication of which will begin in that paper on Monday, March 23. will also be printed in the daily and weekly Tacoma Ledger. It is written by Harry Stillwell Edwards, of Macon, Ga., and is a story of the old and new south. It is a story of mystery. After all but the last chapter is printed a week will be allowed for readers to guess how the story will end, and the Ledger offers $100 in cash to the reader who shall accurately guess how it ends. If nobody makes an accurate guess the $100 will be divided among the six persons making the most accurate guesses. Here is a chance for everybody to make money easy by reading a mighty good story. The price of the Daily Ledger is 75 cents a month, and of the weekly $1 per year. The DEMOCRAT-LEADER and Weekly Ledger for only $2 per year.

How to Treat a Wife.

(From Pacific Health Journal.)

First, get a wife; second, be patient. You may have great trials and perplexities in your business, but do not therefore, carry to your home a cloudy or contracted brow. Your wife may have trials, which, though of less magnitude, may be hard for her to bear. A kind word, a tender look, will do wonders in chasing from her brow all clouds of gloom—To this we would add always keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. It is the best and is sure to be needed sooner or later. Your wife will then know that you really care for her and wish to protect her health. For sale by J. C. Hansen, druggist.
