DOUBLE MURDER AND SUICIDE.

Three People Meet a Horrible Death Through Discarded Love.

A TERRIBLE TRAGEDY NEAR BEAVER PRAIRIE.

Charley Paul, Who Was Jilted By Mrs. McConchie, Sneaks Back Home and Watching His Opportunity, Shoots Her Husband Dead, Murders the Woman By Cutting Her to Pieces and Then Blows His Own Head Off Although He Had Already Received a Death Wound.

Special to the DEMOCRAT-LEADER.]

EAST CLALLAM, Wash., May 13.—Beaver Prairie, a pretty farming district about twenty miles south of this city, was the scene of a most atrocious double murder and suicide Monday night, which put an untimely end to the happy existence of a loving husband and wife and sent their foul murderer to a suicide's grave.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave McConchie, a young married couple who resided on the beautiful shores of pretty Lake Pleasant were found by neighbors Tuesday afternoon both horribly murdered, and in a boat, cold in death, on the opposite side of the lake was found the author of the deed, Charley Paul, who had killed himself with a rifle to escape the consequences of his rash and brutal butchery.

The precise manner in which the horrible affair was enacted will never be known, but from a few meager facts brought in by Will Bramlev, who was the first to discover the bodies, it is supposed that Paul lay in ambush all afternoon and until after dark at the McConchie ranch and shot Dave with a rifle as he was leaving the water closet tearing the entire side of his head off, killing him instantly, the body falling backwards into the closet.

From a note found on the door of McConchie's house, which partly explains the affair, it is learned that after shooting Dave, Paul went to the house with the intention of killing Mrs. McConchie, but she begged for her life and Paul decided to spare her if she would let him off free without giving him away, which she agreed to do, but when his back was turned she attacked him with a butcher knife, which Paul got it away from her and literally butchered the unfortunate woman.

The room presented a most sickening sight to the neighbors who discovered the bodies, on the bed dressed only in her night dress and weltering in her own blood, lay the poor woman, while the walls, floor, bed clothes and even the ceiling, were bespattered with the same, which indicated a most terrible death struggle.

Paul, after committing the terrible deed, left the following blood smeared note pinned to the door.

"I have fixed Dave, but Rose promised to let me free and then tried to cut my throat so I had to fix her too!

PAUL."

Another note found at Gunderson's ranch near by explains the cause of the crime and how to dispose of the murderer's body and effects.

Paul claims in this note that Mrs. McConchie owed him $150 for work performed before she married McConchie. He also says she was engaged to him, but during his absence up-Sound married McConchie, which made Paul very desperate.

Shortly after this Paul wrote Mrs. McConchie that he was coming back to kill her, would cut her ears off, her tongue out, etc.

Ever since this threat was made a warrant has been out for Paul's arrest, but he got into the neighborhood without being discovered and no one has any idea how, or by what route he came, as he neither came through East Clallam or Pysht, consequently the tragedy caused a furor of excitement when it became generally known.

McConchie while after his cows Monday afternoon saw a man on Gunderson's Point, about a quarter of a mile from his (McConchie's) place, whom he recognized as Paul and when he went over to the point the man had disappeared.

Dave became alarmed at this and went over to Beaver to get a warrant for Paul's arrest, but as it was late he could get no one to serve it, so returned home.

He also went armed since the threatening letters were received by his wife, and his friends are surprised at his gross carelessness in going out of his house after dark, when he knew Paul was in the vicinity.

About a year ago Mrs. McConchie's former husband—Charles Brenton—was found dead with the whole side of his head blown off and a shot gun by his side, in the same house in which the present tragedy occurred, and at that time the popular verdict was suicide, but now new facts have been unearthed which point to Paul as the author of Brenton's death also.

It appears at that time that the woman was visiting relatives at Everett and Paul who was in love with the woman and very anxious to marry her killed Brenton in order to attain his coveted end.

Rucker Bros., prominent and wealthy bankers of Everett, are the dead woman's brothers and have been notified of their sister's sad death.

Mr. and Mrs. McConchie will probably be buried side by side on their ranch, by the Odd Fellows of Forks, of which order Dave was a prominent member.

The body of Charley Paul will be buried, as per his request, on Beaver Prairie.

LATER—A new phase has developed in the Beaver tragedy. The mail carrier arrived from the scene of the murder and he gives some theories of the manner of the double crime somewhat different from the first reports.

He says the belief is now prevalent that Paul shot and killed McConchie Monday evening and then went to the house, but was met at the door by Mrs. McConchie with a rifle in her hand with which she tried to shoot him, but that the gun missed fire. What took place between that time and morning will never be known.

Some think that Paul disarmed Mrs. McConchie and terrorized her all night and made her promise to free him from the murder of her husband. A few think she was killed that night and that Paul remained in the house all night with his victim and built a fire in the morning and cooked his breakfast.

It is quite certain, at any rate, that Paul did not kill himself until Tuesday morning as Ed. Higgins says he saw smoke issuing from the McConchie chimney that morning. Ed. Higgins and Mr. Konopaski both say they heard one shot Monday night and another one Tuesday morning.

The most plausible theory is that Paul killed McConchie Monday evening and then proceeded to the house and staid there all night with Mrs. McConchie, frightening her into granting him his desires and to promise to aid him in escaping the consequences of killing her husband; that Paul built a fire in the morning and was moving around preparing breakfast and that Mrs. McConchie, watching an opportunity, seized a butcher knife and tried to kill Paul; that a terrible death struggle took place ending in the death of the woman. Paul received a cut in the neck from which, the people say, he would have bled to death even if he had not blown his head off.

This theory is further corroborated by a rancher by the name of Gillis, who was the first to feel of the woman's body after the discovery. He says it was still warm at Tuesday noon.

From the awful manner in which her body was slashed and cut it would have been impossible for her to have lived any length of time, which would indicate that her death took place in the morning of Tuesday.

McConchie was about 34 years old and came from Wisconsin, having resided in this county about seven years. He proved up on his homestead only a short time ago.

Paul was about the same age of McConchie, and has a brother who resides at Seattle.

Mrs. McConchie came of a highly respected family and was highly esteemed by all who knew her.

CHARLES A. BARNES DEAD.

He Falls a Victim to Fever at His Placer Mines in Honduras.

The family of Mr. Charles A. Barnes have received confirmation of his death, which occurred at Quibdo, United States of Colombia. Mr. Barnes was a familiar figure here prior to his departure for South America.

He was the central figure of two enterprises in Clallam county by which he will be remembered. One was the exploring expedition sent into the Olympic mountains by the Seattle Press-Times. The other was in connection with the proposed railroad from Port Angeles to Port Discovery, which was intended to connect with the Great Northern railroad at Everett by a ferry. This enterprise failed on account of the money panic, which overtook this country just as it was on the point of success. A bonus of $350,000 was raised in this county, but capital had become frightened and the project had to be abandoned.

Mr. Barnes left Puget Sound in February, 1894, intending to engage in mining in Columbia. When he reached Panama he was almost immediately attacked by fever, and all that saved his life then was his prompt departure for the mountains.

Upon regaining his health he became interested in a placer mine about twenty miles from Panama, and after conducting it for some months, he went south into Colombia, where opportunities of a more favorable character were found. Notwithstanding his experienced knowledge of the dangers due to climate, he again caught the fever, and this time it proved fatal.

Mr. Barnes was born in Jacksonville, [illegible] in 1859. His parents soon afterwards moved to Washington City. He there was educated in Colombia college, and afterwards studied law in the National Law college. Through the influence of ex-President, then senator, Harrison, he entered the revenue marine service, and rose to the office of lieutenant, during nine years' service. While in this service he saw much of Southern countries, and it was the knowledge thus gained that led him to believe he could safely hazard the perils of the dreaded tropical climate.

Through the efforts of Senator Harrison, Mr. Barnes secured his discharge from the revenue service, and he came West to Los Angeles, where he engaged in the real estate business during the great excitement there nearly a decade ago. Afterwards he went to Seattle. He became, on the recommendation of Judge Burke, right-of-way man on the Seattle & Montana railroad, and his discretion, faithfulness and ability for the important work imposed upon him earned him the confidence and approval of his employers. Probably the most notable work of his career was in connection with the proposed railroad from Port Ludlow to Port Angeles. Only the money panic prevented him being entirely successful.

Mr. Barnes was a singularly engaging man, discreet, loyal and industrious, and displayed unusual business capacity in furthering his railroad undertakings. He enjoyed to a very notable degree, the confidence of large capitalists in New York city, and earned, in his relations with them, an enviable record for his straight-forward and reliable business methods. His accomplished and widowed mother lives on Lake Crescent, Clallam county, a summer resort that Mr. Barnes did a great deal to make known and popular.

Mr. Barnes had a brother in Colombia at the time of his death, who was notified of his illness in time to reach his bedside before the end came. He will probably bring the body here for final interment.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING

Stirs Up Considerable Bad Blood But Nobody Hurt.

INVESTIGATING OUR RESOURCES.

Iowa Sends Out Some Representative Men to Look Us Over—They See Our Timber Our Wonderful Harbor, Beautiful Scenery, Abundant Water Power and Famed Lakes—More Than Satisfied.

The school board had a very spirited meeting last Monday night. There was quite a large crowd present in anticipation of a lively time and they were not disappointed.

It all arose over the election of teachers for the ensuing year, and, incidentally, the omission of several of the old teachers from the list.

Thos. Edwards, Ed. Hatch, Miss Pitts, Miss Wagner and Miss Love were reelected.

E. D. Gatchett was elected janitor of the Central school house and W. T. Boughman as janitor for the Pine street school house. A resolution was adopted calling on the clerk of the board to sign the contracts made with the teachers selected for the coming year.

This somewhat riled Clerk Smythe and he smote out in front of him and stirred up thunder and sulphur much. He accused Director Eacrett of being wholly without honor and totally disregardful of ante-election pledges, and ended up by intimating that the truth dwelt not within him, but that he had lied. And not content with this, he had several persons stand up in the meeting who declared that Eacrett had pledged his word to them that he would not vote for Professor [illegible] city superintendent.

It was rather sultry around there for a time and there is no telling what will happen next.

Investigating Our Resources.

J. H. Duggan, Creston, Iowa, L. B. Wilson, Creston, Ia., Joseph McNamara and John McNamara, of Fulton, Illinois, reached this city last Saturday, in company with Col. Coolican and Dr. Ed. George, who went up to Seattle to meet them. It was originally planned that these gentlemen were to form a part of the homeseekers who came out from Minnesota, but business complications prevented them starting at that time, so they came on later.

They are all representative men in their different lines of business. Mr. Duggan is a division superintendent on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railway, having jurisdiction from Chariton, Iowa, to the Missouri river, with headquarters at Creston, Iowa.

Mr. Wilson is a wealthy importer of thorough-bred horses, having a fine stock farm near Creston. He confines himself to importing fine horses from France and selling them throughout this country. Until recently he conducted a breeding farm, but of late has confined himself to the import business.

He is a prominent Republican in the state of Iowa, and will go to St. Louis as a delegate to the National Republican convention.

The McNamara brothers are lumber and mill men and are out here to take a look at our standing timber.

Col. Coolican has kept them rustling since they arrived. They visited the spit, going over on Martin's steam launch and then walking around back to town.

One day was devoted to an inspection of the city on the south and the different farms in that neighborhood. On Wednesday they went out to Lambert's mill and saw some fine timber. Yesterday they took the stage and went to the lakes, where they will spend a day.

Unless they are compelled to leave Saturday, they will take a trip through the Dungeness and Sequim countries.

As conservative business men, they are not inclined to gush to any extent, but every one of them expresses himself as well satisfied with what they have seen, that the picture has not been overdrawn at all.

They had been told that the Port Angeles spit would wash away some time, but they are having a good laugh over the story now. They don't think that there is any great danger that it will ever go afloat.

Do not forget to feed your stock Alternative Condition powder, which you can buy at J. D. Hansen's drug store.

IMMIGRATION ASSOCIATION.

The Members Held Their Regular Weekly Meeting.

The Immigration Association meeting last Saturday was devoted mainly to talking, but nothing of importance came up.

The chairman stated that the season for prospecting was greatly retarded by the unusual amount of snow in the mountains, but that as soon as they were opened up a little several parties would be sent out to prospect.

The secretary was instructed to get a long stick and punch up the precinct committeemen who have failed to make any report, and ask them to either make a report or name someone who would.

Seamen's Bethel.

A meeting was held Monday evening by those interested in organizing a Seamen's Bethel and elected the following officers:

President, Prof. O. A. Tiffany; vice-president, Rev. F. A. Lamoreux; treasurer, Edwin Ware; secretary, Miss Nellie Hoare; executive committee, Mrs. Ray Haynes, Mrs. Eckengren, Mrs. Fields, Mrs. E. H. Stanley, Messrs. Beam and Gatchett.

Several rooms have been under consideration. It is probable that the building on Lincoln street wharf formerly used by the Y. M. C. A. will be selected. Mr. F. P. Fisher has kindly consented to donate the use of the room to the Bethel. A meeting will be held next Monday evening when the question will be decided.

Thagard's Goblet.

Peter Buchholz was somewhat surprised to receive a package Wednesday marked "Thagard William Frederick Buchholz." He had to stop a moment think it all out and then he remembered that was the name of the manly youngster that had taken quarters at his household not so very long ago.

Upon opening the package he found a beautiful silver goblet resting in an elegant silk plush case and artistically engraved, bearing the name of his baby. There was a card inside conveying the best wishes of Geo. E. Sawyer and Wm. H. Fiske, two jolly commercial men, the first to stop at the City hotel after its opening under Mr. Buchholz.

I can now place loans on well improved farms. Correspondence solicited

DEMOCRATIC SILVER RECORD.

In discussing the silver question and the Democratic record in connection with it, the East Clallam Record maintains that in none of the Democratic platforms has there been a direct declaration in favor of 16 to 1; and that the platforms all demand that a parity be maintained between gold, silver and paper.

THE DEMOCRAT-LEADER does not wish to split hairs over this question, yet it is bound to suggest that the question of ratio was not considered by any one prior to the platform of 1892. In 1880, 1884 and 1888, free silver coinage, meant at the ratio of 16 to 1. The Record seems to lose sight of this fact. The only time a different ratio was ever offered in Congress was when the Wilson bill, providing for the repeal of the Sherman law, was pending in Congress, in 1893. This must not be lost sight of as it has an important bearing on the record of the Democratic party on this question.

The Record makes another mistake in claiming that the platforms demand the parity at all times of "gold, silver and paper." The demand was for a parity between gold and silver and paper; in other words, between coin and paper. It was a cheap paper money they were pledging themselves to prevent. It is true, perhaps, that they would have made the demand that silver be kept at a parity with gold in 1880 and 1884, had it not been that before the injection of Clevelandism into Democratic financial ideas, it never occurred to a Democrat that silver would not at once become as valuable as it was prior to 1873, should the cause of its degredation be removed.

The majority of Democrats believe that now. They think it would be unfair to make the ratio on the present market value of gold and silver; and the Record is certainly just enough to admit that gold is in great demand at the present time simply on account of the scarcity of money. It is not because gold is gold but because it is money that it is in demand. Silver is cheap and a drug on the market because men want money worse than they do silver. Make silver money, and the demand for it would be as great as it is for gold.

A change in the ratio could be made as easily after a trial of the old ratio as now. And the advantage of certainty would then be available. And in case, as free coinage men believe, the market value of silver and gold should adjust itself to the ratio to 16 to 1, the confusion resulting from a change would be obviated.

Referring to the Democratic record on this question, the votes in Congress, upon which the Record does not comment, were all cast in favor of free coinage at the ratio of 16 to 1.

MUST BE IN FUN.

The East Clallam Records says:

"We respectfully call the attention of THE DEMOCRAT-LEADER to the financial plank adopted last week by the Michigan Democracy:

" 'On the financial question we recognize that this administration stande upon and has consistently carried out the platform of 1892 on which it was elected by the people, which decided that the parity of the metals in our currency shall be maintained. The platform of the National Convention which has carried the country overwhelmingly for our party, should be the doctrine of the Democrats until a new platform is formed.' "

The Record surely means this in a spirit of fun. It cannot be in "dead earnest." The platform of 1892 said:

"We hold to the use of both gold and silver as the standard money of the country, and to the coinage of both gold and silver without discrimination against either metal or charge for mintage."

It is true, a demand for parity between the metals followed.

Now, what has Mr. Cleveland's administration done that could in any manner whatever be construed as the slightest attempt to give effect to this platform declaration? Has Mr. Cleveland done anything at all towards making silver standard money? Has he indicated any plan for the free coinage of silver at any ratio beyond the mere suggestion of international coinage? Has he not done all he could to fasten upon silver the office of token money? Has he made any attempt to secure international coinage?

Mr. Cleveland has made two suggestions for the settlement of the financial question. He first recommended an increased bank circulation by permitting National banks to issue money for the face value of bonds held by them and then he recommended a paper circulation based on municipal bonds.

Can any one show in either suggestion any effort for the remonetization of silver? Can any one show anything done for silver by his veto of the silver seigniorage coinage bill? The Record cannot. Don Dickinson's Michigan office holders cannot.

THE Courier takes a pardonable pride in the result of the Republican county convention and scolds the Tribune-Times quite severely for its attitude in county affairs. The convention was certainly an endorsement of Senator Wilson and the policy of the Courier. There has thus far been evidenced but little in which the Tribune-Times can feel encouraged. At least, this would be the inference of one who is not on the inside in Republican politics. However, another convention will be held this year and there might be a difference before November.

IF the people of this school district do not want Prof. Tiffany for superintendent of city schools, all that they will have to do to prevent his acting as such is to elect a director at the June election that will represent them—one who will keep his word.

THE five propositions laid down by Secretary Carlisle, which are quoted by the East Clallam Record, prove nothing. They are not, strictly speaking, true; but if they were true, they have but little to do with the coinage question.

GOVERNOR JAS. HAMILTON LEWIS will not veto an anti-deficiency bill if such be passed by the next legislature. He will be true to the interest of the people.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

FOR CLALLAM COUNTY FIRST.

While others are fighting and quarreling over things political, the people of this county are making gigantic preparations to do business when the hour of prosperity dawns. And in this lies our hope to reap of the first fruits of an improved condition of affairs. There is more patriotism by far in working for the advancement of our county, in providing labor for our unemployed, by the development of our resources, than in participating too extensively in the scramble for the loaves and fishes following a political campaign. Not that it is improper to take a lively interest in the affairs of state and the issues that are of vital consequence to the people of our county in common with those of the balance of the country, but it is to urge that the people take a greater interest in that which is of greater concern to them, do we make this statement. Let us not lose the year 1896, but let us "make hay while the sun shines," and when forture smiles on the land again her sweetest will be for us.

THE Tribune-Times thinks the Democrats are "sick nigh unto dissolution" over the tariff question. How is it that the Democratic senator were so ready to take up a proposed amendment to the tariff that would open up the relative merits of the McKinley and Wilson bills for debate a week or so ago and were only prevented from doing so by the entire Republican vote of the senate?

A STATUE of General Hancock was unveiled with imposing ceremonies Tuesday in Washington City. President Cleveland presided and those who participated included Vice-President Stevenson, the Supreme court, members of the senate and house of representatives, the diplomatic corps and army officers.

THE high-handed action of Prof. Tiffany's school board need not bind the people of this school district. If a majority of the people desire a change, they can have it and it need not cost the district or the tax-payers anything either—and the schools can go on just the same.

A WEST VIRGINIA paper advocates the nomination by the Democrats of Daniel Manning, of New York, for President. The editor of that paper must be some relation of the gentleman from Perry county, Kentucky, who recently brought a negro into the city to sell.

IN an open letter, Governor Mathews, of Indiana, denies that he favors a straddle on the money question. He says he believes a straddle would be disastrous and favors a positive declaration in favor of the speedy restoration of silver to its position prior to 1873.

GOVERNOR BOIES will head a free silver delegation from Iowa to the Democratic National Convention.

"LET us learn to labor and to wait," and not forget that of these, labor is of more importance.

MR. WALLACE MISQUOTED.

A Washington City dispatch in the New York World says:

"Hugh C. Wallace, national committeeman from the State of Washington, brings the news that at least three of the Washington delegation to Chicago will be for sound money."

THE DEMOCRAT-LEADER believes there must be a mistake in the source of the World correspondent's information.

Mr. Wallace's county convention at which he was selected as a delegate to the state convention declared for free silver coinage at a ratio of 16 to 1.

The convention which elected Mr. Wallace as one of Washington's representatives in the Chicago convention demanded the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, and differed with President Cleveland's financial policy. Mr. Wallace voted against the substitute offered for this platform endorsing Mr. Cleveland unequivocally and pronouncing in favor of sound money, and which was beaten by a vote of 297 to 89.

In view of these conditions, it is not likely that Mr. Wallace proposes to betray the people who have honored him as the Democracy of Washington have. If we have properly understood the manner of man Mr. Wallace is, he will not only cast his vote in the Chicago convention for free silver, but he and the other seven delegates from Washington will cast their entire influence on the side of their constituents and the people.

NOTHING at the present time offers more hope to Democracy than the now all but assured nomination of McKinley for President by the Republicans. There will be no exodus from the Democratic party to the apostle of favoritism. He stands preeminently the common enemy of all kinds of Democrats.

THE Tribune-Times says Prof. Tiffany is acknowledged to be a first-class educator. By whom? The people of Port Angeles a year ago seemed to regard him as not the proper person for city superintendent of schools. At least, the vote for Richard Eacrett for director would indicate that such was their opinion of him.

LOCAL PARAGRAPHS.

All lovers of music will need no exhortation to attend the Pleasant Hour Library Concert

James Fitzgerald is moving his saloon to the Flowers building, which he recently secured by purchase.

Mrs. S. P. Barnes and her son Paul, made final proof of their Lake Crescent homesteads last Tuesday.

The Stratton property on First street, west of Peabody is being cleared and will be put into shape for cultivation.

Mrs. Peter Hansen was adjudged insane last week and was taken to the asylum at Steilacoom last Friday by Sheriff Dyke.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooper who moved here from Mankato, Minn., have taken the Gardner home at the corner of Eighth and Francis streets.

There has been a rumor circulating around town that Walter Burch has been drowned up in Alaska, but we have been unable to confirm it.

George Urquhart has just had his pretty little home at 7th and Cedar streets repainted and papered throughout. The work was done by Mr. Stoops.

George Meagher and Ed. Hatch received their bicycles Tuesday. They are the "Belmont" pattern and were ordered through P. J. Williams, the agent of that company.

Dan Kelley is pluming himself on the coming of a ten-pound girl to his house. He is standing the shock with great fortitude under the solicitous care of his wife.

In the dispatches from Washington City we note that a restoration and reissue of pension to Edwin Phelphs (deceased) and original pension to Mollie Phelps has been granted.

There were thirteen sealing vessels cleared from this state during the past season and out of this total number nine cleared from Port Angeles, which indicates our advantages as a sealing port.

The steamer Garland will issue one fare tickets from all points for the Pleasant Hour Library concert.

Wm. Smith is in receipt of a letter from L. J. Lockwood, who writes that Rossland, B. C., is no place for any man to go to for work. Mr. Leland also writes back here that there as many carpenters there as stores.

John McNamara went west on the Garland Wednesday. He promised to tell his folks back home all about Cape Flattery, Tatoosh Island and old Pacific when he got back and he braved seasickness in order to keep his word.

The float made by Chas. Gilmur is about finished and is a fine piece of work. It is built on three cedar logs each four feet in diameter and will stand twenty-six inches out of water, and is forty feet long by twenty feet wide. The contributions secured by George Ulmer to cover the expense of building it have not all been collected and Mr. Gilmur will turn it over as soon as these are paid.

Michael Geraghty gave a house party at his country residence Tuesday evening, in honor of the Iowa party. The guests included Col. Coolican, L. B. Wilson, Joseph McNamara, John McNamara, John Cunnea and Major Crooks. They were shown over the place and then repaired to the house and enjoyed a bountiful repast. Mr. Geraghty is without a peer as a host and all the guests say they had a grand time.

Geo. Michell leads the procession at present. He came in the other day from Lake Crescent with a trout that measured thirty-three inches. It was somewhat differently marked from any of the large fish he etofore caught in the lake. It had a true trout head, with red gills and several blood red streaks along the sides from the gills to the tail. It was a very handsome fish. Mr. Michell turned it over to Mr. Carrigan who expressed it to President Jordon, of Leland Stanford university, who will give it a close study along with those already sent him for proper classification.

Renews Old Friendships.

Miss Pollock, of Washington City, arrived in this city Tuesday and was met by Mrs. S. P. Barnes, with whom she will spend the summer at Lake Crescent.

Mrs. Barnes knew her parents well and intimately while living at the capitol and the friendship which sprung up there has not lessened by separation or lapse of time.

Miss Pollock has a sister who is the wife of Mr. Geo. Bush, of Seattle, who it will be recalled, was stationed here as deputy collector for a long time. She is also a cousin of our townsman Mr. N. R. Smith.

Ship Arranmore.

The British Ship Arranmore, which has been in the harbor for three or four weeks awaiting orders, was towed away Tuesday night. She goes to Chemanis, B. C., where she will take on a cargo of lumber for Sidney, Australia. Capt. Thompson and his wife made many friends while in port and should it ever be their lot to return to Port Angeles they will be received with open arms.

Sam and His Bicycle.

Our ubiquitous reporter enjoyed a heart-rendering spectacle the other day. Sam Morse was trying to break in a bucking bicycle.

He had selected a retired spot back of the Central school house which he thought no one on earth would suspect of harboring a would-be bicyclist. But that was as uncertain as politics, as Sam has by this time found out. He never dreamed that the enemy was lurking near by and so gave himself up with great energy to the task he had set for himself. It was rather warm that day and how the sweat did roll down Sam's face! And it was dusty too, and Sam was streaked with mud clear to his heels.

It was a fearful struggle, but he stuck to it that whole mortal afternoon. Before he got through his clothes were in shreds and tatters and he looked as though he had been run through R. C.'s ring machine.

When he got home his wife met him at the door with a broom and declared no dirty tramp could get into her house. He finally made her understand who he was and she exclaimed, "Why Sam, what is the matter? You look as though there had just been an election?"

He is awfully sore and says he would much rather put in his time piling up freight charges on Ben Keller than to tackle that infernal machine again.

FOR SALE—Two claims near Sequim Bay, one of 120 and one of 160 acres. Small houses, barns and other improvements, will be sold cheap and on easy terms. For particulars apply to or call on, JAMES B. DICK, Dungeness.

All Michiganders are expected to be present with their lunch baskets.

OLIE MAXFIELD, Sec.

McClintons' Birthday.

Roy and Roy McClinton gave a party Tuesday evening in honor of their 20th birthday. Any birthday is an interesting event, but for two brothers, who had a neck and neck race to see who got into the world first, to jump out of their teens is something out of the usual and Roy and Roy thought it fitting that it be duly celebrated.

Games and music comprised the entertainment of the evening. A special feature was the selection of the word "treason" out of which each one was to construct as many words as possible in five minutes. Miss Myrtle Fuller took first prize with forty-two words to her credit. Miss Raymond could only think of three words and was awarded the "booby" prize.

Refreshments were served about midnight and all departed with wishes for many more anniversaries to the young men.

There were present: Misses Brandon, Fuller, Troy, Crosby, Edith Cook, Ware, Elliott, Raymond, Trumbull, Helen Love; Messrs. Hatch, Meagher, Trumbull, Evans, Richardson, Shields, Nailor, Dennis, Dick, R. Maxfield, C. Maxfield, Cosser.

Resolutions of Regret.

WHEREAS, It has pleased our Heavenly Father, the ruler and govenor of all things, to remove from among our ranks our esteemed and beloved brother, Mr. John H. Weldon, and

WHEREAS, Brother Weldon has always been a true friend of this lodge and a staunch advocate of temperance. We are sad to think of the cause of his absence. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That we sincerely regret that death has so suddenly and unexpectedly removed him from a world of usefulness. And be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be presented to the relatives of the deceased with our heartfelt regrets, and that a copy be furnished the local papers for publication.

Leap Year Ball.

The ladies who conducted the leap-year ball at the opera house last Friday night should feel quite proud of the result of their efforts.

The ball was a most brilliant success. There was a large crowd in attendance, about seventy-five couples, and everything moved along without the least friction. Everybody seemed in a hilarious mood and, as a consequence all had a good time.

The music was good, the floor was first-class and the ladies' high spirits did not admit of a single lull in the run of the evening's gaiety.

K. of P. Excursion.

The steamer Garland will leave Angeles at 6 a. m. sharp on Tuesday next and will land the excursionists at Seattle in time to view the grand street procession of the Knights on that day.

The $2.00 rate has also been extended to Dungeness and quite a number will take advantage of the offer at that point. The excursion promises to be a great success.

Some cheap acreage for sale; also a good improved farm near the Elwha river. Apply at Bank of Clallam County.

CHURCH NOTES.

What the Different Churches of the City are Doing.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, Corner First and Vine Streets.—Rev. G. W. Nelson, Pastor.

Preaching every Sunday at 11 o'clock, a. m., and at 7:30 p. m. Sunday school at 12 o'clock or immediately after the morning sermon, Young Peoples' Society of Christian Endeavor at 6:30 p. m. Prayer meeting or mid-week meeting on Thursday eve at 7:30.

The Junior Christian Endeavor Society meets at 2:30 p. m. every Friday.

Rev. Horace W. Houlding, Congregational state evangelist, arrived last Friday and commenced a series of very interesting meeting in the Congregational church.

Sunday morning he preached an exceedingly interesting sermon from a text found in 2 Corinthians 6;14 in which he showed in his pleasant and agreeable, yet very impressive way, that it is impossible to mix things up as some people seem to wish; that the good and the bad are separate and distinct; that God did not intend that people should serve him a part of one day and the evil one the other six and a half days; that the saloon and gambling dens, yes, and even the card party and dance hall, are not the places for Christians, and that those who frequent those places lose their ability for doing good for the Lord.

Mr. Houlding, with the aid of the pastor, Mr. Nelson, is very busy holding three and sometimes four meetings each day, a part of which are held at the Pine hill church. A considerable interest is being shown and we hope that much good may be done for there is no doubt about the necessity.

Tuesday evening Mr. Houlding preached a grand sermon. Those who fail to come do not know what they are missing.

Friday and Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock special services will be held for the children. Let all who can do so attend these meetings.

Next Sunday both morning and evening Rev. Houlding will preach on very interesting subjects, and all who want seats must come early as there is sure to be a crowded house, indeed, the services held every evening are very interesting.

FIRST M. E. CHURCH, First Street Between Vine and Peabody.—Rev. W. H. Wilson, Pastor.

Services every Sabbath morning at 11 o'clock; Sunday school at 10 a. m.; Epworth League services at 6:30 p. m.; evening preaching 7:30 p. m.; prayer meeting every Thursday at 7:30 p. m.

BAPTIST CHURCH, Rev. F. O. Lamoreux, Pastor.

Sunday school 10 a. m. each Sunday. reaching, 11 a. m., Young People's meeting 6:30 p. m., preaching, 7:30. p. m. Prayer meeting, Thursday at 7 p. m. All are cordially invited.

NEWS OF THE COUNTY.

Gleanings From the Press of Western Clallam.

Beaver Leader:

Mrs. Carl Oberg has returned from a visit up-Sound.

Dick Morman is transacting business in Seattle this week.

Mrs. Frankie Winkler, our popular postmistress, has returned from a month's visit with friends at Shuwah.

The west end of Clallam county offers more inducements to the prospective settler than any portion of the county. There are yet thousands of acres of good government land open to entry.

It is evident that the close times in the West End are nearly past. The settlers are looking forward to a renewal of the good old times which we experienced five or six years ago. The present summer is expected to witness the beginning ot a new era in Western Clallam—an era of greater development and prosperity.

We are having the most backward spring this year that we have had for several years. The season is already a month late and farmers are beginning to worry over the possibility of their not getting their crops in before June. Many farmers have done nothing so far toward planting crops, and those who have planted are afraid the seed will rot in the ground.

Clallam county, and especially the West End, is becoming widely known throughout the state, as a country rich in timber and agricultural resources. The superior quality of our timber and the excellent location of our land; the topography of the country, with the best logging rivers in the state, are drawing cards; and it will be but a few years before the West End will be the liveliest section of Washington.

QUILLAYUTE.

Will Sprueill took a load of goods to Forks last week for the Washington Fur Company's store.

Mr. VanHorn and family have moved on to their homesteads at the Dickey lake to spend the summer.

A. J. Smith and wife visited with their son A. W. Smith last Saturday and Sunday.

H. Lesure, of Forks, has a crew of men at work on the little prairie putting in his crops.

Sam Kilby is going to Forks to plow for Lochbaum and Behner.

Clallam Bay Record.

J. L. Sweet left for Seattle, Monday evening.

D. McNamara is at work papering in the Pacific hotel.

A. M. Konopaski and family removed from town to their ranch at Beaver, Wednesday.

Mrs. E. D. Westbrook and daughter moved into town from the ranch during the week, to reside here.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Jennings removed to the McNamara house last Tuesday which they ave leased.

George Spencer, of Maple Valley, who was here looking up a claim during the week, returned up-Sound on Monday night.

Miss Maud L. Smith made final proof on Monday of her homestead near town. Henry Reese also proved up on Monday.

R. R. Johnson is getting a lot cleared on Frontier street near the Odd Fellows' hall and put in shape ready for a building.

The money order business at the East Clallam postoffice has commenced and the office is now ready to issue and pay money orders.

J. H. Marlette, who has been on jury duty at Port Angeles for the past two weeks arrived home Wednesday on horseback. He brought E. E. Fisher's horse down here.

Edward Last and William Wilson and wife went up to Port Angeles on Wednesday to give testimony in the case of Last against his daughter Edith, which is to come up for hearing before Judge McClinton Thursday evening. Edith has been given a home temporarily in the family of Rev. Hansen, the German Lutheran minister and may remain there.

The sealing schooners Columbia, J. G. Swan and Deeahks, all manned by Indians, arrived at Townsend Monday. The Columbia has 240 skins, the Swan 120, and the Deeahks 80. The Indians hunted close to Cape Flattery, not going out further than twenty-five miles at any time. They say the weather this year was the roughest known for years.

Candidates for the various county offices are bobbing up lately according to newspaper reports. The Courier mentions H. J. Lipsett, of Dungeness, for member of the legislature, A. B. Dorsey for treasurer and Sheriff Dyke for another term. A local Republican politician told the Record recently that the slate was pretty well filled up and he saw nothing in sight for the West end except the nomination for wreck master for which an East Clallam man had been selected.

Notice.

The regular quarterly teachers' examination will open at 9 a. m. on May 14th, 1896, at the Central school, Port Angeles. At the same time there will be conducted a competitive examination for entrance to the State Normal School. All students whose ambition runs toward teaching will do well to be present.

Also, the annual session of Clallam County Teachers' Institute convenes May 18th and continues through the 22nd. Every teacher in the county must attend in obedience to law.

ELLA L. GUPTILL,
Co. Supt. Clallam Co.

For every quarter in a man's pocket there are a dozen uses; and to use each one in such a way as to derive the greatest benefit is a question everyone must solve for himself. We believe, however, that no better use could be made of one of these quarters than to exchange it for a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, a medicine that every family should be provided with. For sale by J. C. Hansen, druggist.

Something Wrong in Clallam.

In a telegram from Port Townsend to yesterday's News the interesting information was conveyed that the superior court of Clallam county had ordered the prosecuting attorney to take criminal proceedings against the Populist city treasurer of Port Angeles for unlawfully discriminating between old warrants and new warrants and new warrants issued to pay the salaries of city employees and that the prosecuting attorney had reported back to the court that it would be impossible to convict the treasurer on a trial in that community. This is indeed highly interesting. Here is a new and revolutionary departure of jurisprudence when a prosecuting attorney can refuse to file an information on the ground that the community is so constituted that a jury of twelve men could not be found who would convict a law breaker and the court would accept such a plea.

When the legislature did away with the calling of grand juries except on extraordinary occasions and vested the power of that body in the prosecuting attorney it did not anticipate that criminal cases should go untried whenever in the profound wisdom of the attorney he felt it was no use to go ahead because he could not secure a jury in the county that would convict. What kind of court have they that would accept such an answer? Is such a sweeping accusation against the people of Clallam county deserved or is there hidden within it a confession of weakness on the part of the prosecuting attorney? The entire state is concerned in this matter, for such statements telegraphed eastward indicate upon their face a spirit of lawlessness quite sufficient to prevent the intending settler coming as far west as Washington. Pierce county received a gratuitous insult when Galusha Parsons, in his chagrin at being defeated in the million-dollar suit, telegraphed C. B. Wright that he had long known it was impossible to secure a jury in this county that would pay the slightest heed to the law and the evidence in the case, but this came from a private citizen and not from a legal representative of the county. There is something decidedly wrong either with Clallam or its prosecuting attorney and court.—Tacoma News.

"Angeles Road Club."

The enthusiastic wheelmen of this city met last night and organized the "Angeles Road Club." The suit adopted will consist of a gray cap and pants, maroon sweater, black stockings, with the letter A worked in the center of sweater. A meeting will be held next Thursday to effect permanent organization and elect officers. Headquarters have been secured in the Y. M. C. A. building.

How to Treat a Wife.

(From Pacific Health Journal.)

First, get a wife; second, be patient. You may have great trials and perplexities in your business, but do not therefore, carry to your home a cloudy or contracted brow. Your wife may have trials, which, though of less magnitude, may be hard for her to bear. A kind word, a tender look, will do wonders in chasing from her brow all clouds of gloom.—To this we would add always keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. It is the best and is sure to be needed sooner or later. Your wife will then know that you really care for her and wish to protect her health. For sale by J. C. Hansen, druggist.
