Immigration Association Hears From Its Committeemen.

CLALLAM COUNTY POTTERY CLAY.

The Association Discusses the Value of the Pottery Clay To Be Had In This County and Decides to Send Abroad Samples For a Thorough Testing—Mr. Alonzo Hunt Shows His Appreciation By Agreeing to Stand the Expense.

The Clallam County Immigration Association met last Saturday in regular session.

The president and vice-president were both absent, having gone to Victoria that day in company with the Iowa people. On motion of Mr. Gale, Captain Morrisey was elected chairman, and he proved a first-class presiding officer.

Secretary Gale read a letter from Mr. Lutz, committeeman for McDonald precinct, which we will print in part:

"Having spent several days in looking over the government lands in this vicinity, I wish to report that outside of the vast tracts of bunch grass region with an altitude of three or four thousand feet, there is no unoccupied government land in this precinct.

"But in my search I found two good claims the rights of which may be bought quite reasonably.

"One containing 80 acres surveyed land covered with fir, cedar and alder, 40 acres good farming land. 40 acres timber and grazing; 4 acres clear, 1 acre in prune orchard, 2 cabins, 9 miles from Angeles, good road to city. Price $300.

"The other 160 acres, 40 surveyed, 120 unsurveyed, covered with bush with bunches of Douglass fir here and there, 4 acres clear sown to grass, good garden, good house and barn, 8 miles from Angeles, road running aside of claim. Price $200."

Mr. Lutz also gave a list of about twenty Wisconsin parties to whom pamphlets had been sent.

The secretary read the following letter from Clark A. Hanson, committeeman for Hoko precinct:

"I now have seven fine claims that I would be glad to locate parties on; five timber claims that will go from five to seven million feet of timber and two farm claimes. One claim fitteen acres of marsh land and the balance covered with spruce and cedar and the other about forty acres of marsh with a little spruce. These timber claims are on the bank of the Hoko river twelve miles from Clallam Bay, and the farm claims are one and a half miles back from the beach and four miles from the post-office."

The following letter from the state organization shows that the work of Clallam county is appreciated and that it is bearing good fruit.

Mr. George H. Gale, Secretary Clallam County Immigration Association, Port Angeles.

DEAR SIR: Geo. W. Butler, of Craig, Holt County, Mo., states: "There are several families here that want to homestead land in Washington, who wish to form a colony and settle together and make homes, as we all have families."

As Clallam county has considerable desirable vacant land, I refer the letter to you and suggest that you correspond with him. I have mailed your pamphlets to him.

Yours truly,
GEO. P. EATON, Sec.

Secretary Gale stated that he had during the week sent out over 100 pamphlets to people who are becoming interested in our county.

Mr. Hans Walby turned over to the association a letter he had received from an acquaintance who was interested in our pottery clay, in which the writer made a request that about 100 pounds be sent him for testing.

He stated that if the test should show a good quality of clay that he would likely open up a business here. The members present evinced a willing disposition to aid in having the clay sent forward, but was in some doubt as to the wisdom of expending the money of the association for such purpose.

Mr. Alonzo Hunt jumped into the breach and said that he would stand the expense of transportation charges, for which he received the hearty thanks of the meeting.

Mr. Walby was assured that some one would assist him in getting the different grades of clay together for shipment. Mr. Geraghty's name was suggested and he will be asked to assist in the matter. During the discussion it developed that Clallam county has several varieties of finest pottery clay in this country, and that a little push was all that was needed to establish the business here on a paying basis.

Under the head of "Good of the Order," Mr. Hunt offered a few encouraging remarks. He stated that Mr. Knox, a Seattle friend of his, had been spending several days with him and that he went away a most enthusiastic believer in the future greatness of Port Angeles; that of all the cities and towns of Puget Sound, Port Angeles showed most thrift and hopefulness and that with our harbor and other profusion of advantages this city was bound to be the metropolis of the Northwest.

County Suit.

A complaint was to-day filed in the superior court by James Stewart, prosecuting attorney, Henry Nelson being the nominal plaintiff, against the county commissioners, alleging the commissioners fraudulently and without consideration, bonded perpetually to Lewis Levy, his heirs and assigns, of the property assigned, to the county by the First National Bank of Port Angeles in its settlement with the treasurer for the funds of the county in the bank November 14th, 1895, amounting to $32,192.80.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

Clallam County Pedagogues Own the Town.

MUCH GOOD WORK ACCOMPLISHED.

The Clallam County Teachers' Institute for This Year Has Proved One of the Most Successful Ever Held—Many Prominent Educators in Attendance Chief Among Which Are State Supt. Bean and Prof. Getz of the State Normal School.

The seventh annual session of the Clallam County Teachers' Institute was called to order by the county superintendent Monday morning at 9:30. After the usual routine of enrolling and organizing, Miss Wagner was appointed as secretary.

The superintendent then opened the work by a discussion of finances, followed by O. A. Tiffany on "Pedagogy." During the discussion he read an article on "Memory" from the Northwest Journal of Education, also an answer to the same written by himself. Among the things he said that teachers should not be too prone to accept as true all things written in our educational papers, but should weigh and consider before accepting.

Miss Wagner then read a very interesting article on the subject of primary geography. She said that directions, distances, positions, etc., should be developed by conversational lessons; that mountain slopes, summits, base, etc., by observation if possible, if not, by modeling; that travels should be taken by pictures and railroad guides.

The paper was both interesting and instructive. It was followed by a discussion which brought out many new ideas.

State Superintendent Bean was introduced by the county superintendent and spoke on the subject of "Psychology." His remarks were in substance as follows:

A great change has come about in the study of psychology. At the present time it is studied as geology and other studies of this kind. The most exhaustive work of the kind has been done by Prof. Crone, which was a study of his own child reduced to book form. Another work has been on the relation of physical and psychological developments. From 12 to 14 years of age there is a falling off of the brain and after this an absolute change in the different faculties. We must give attention to the development of senses as an approach to psychological study. Teaching not only involves the nature of the mind, but the methods of getting to it. The child whose senses are all active is the one who memorizes better, and the senses should be so developed that they may bring us active funds of knowledge.

Mrs. Ballou took up the subject of "Primary Teaching" and handled it in an able manner. The principal thoughts brought out were that the ideas must be in the mind before corresponding words are taught. In school life the first thing is the development of the senses, the study of objects and nature are excellent methods. The tongue must prepare the way for the pen. Other good thoughts were expressed and the subject was closed with language exercises from actual work.

A discussion was participated in by a number of teachers on the subject of marking mistakes in the written work. Superintendent Bean held that the marking of mistakes is an error in so far that it calls the attention of the children to the erroneous part and impresses it upon their minds.

The session on Tuesday was opened by Miss Elliott, who read a paper on "Calisthenics" which showed in a clear manner the absolute necessity of physical training in our public schools and that the physical is the foundation upon which the mental is built.

This was followed by a paper on "School Room Hygiene" by T. Edwards. The laws of health are few and easily followed and it is the duty of the teacher to insist on correct positions, movements etc., in writing, sitting and drawing. The school room should be well ventilated and heated with hot air furnances.

A discussion on spelling brought out many new ideas. Nearly all advocated both oral and written spelling. Some of the teachers thought it would be a good plan to throw aside spelling books and find words from other lessons.

Miss Guptill, county superintendent, at this point, stated that the work hereafter of the Teachers' Institute would be to secure uniformity in work.

After an intermission, Prof. B. W. Brintall was introduced. He spoke on the subject of "The Teachers' Profession" as follows:

"Teaching is a profession to him who makes it a profession. Teaching is the only business that receives the excess of other professions to tide them over hard times. The professional requisites are first, a natural adaptation to the work; second, scholarship—knowledge of the subject matter. After having the requisite knowledge it is easy to learn how to teach. Third, professional training. A course at a good normal school will aid him much. The relation of the teachers to one another is such that they should hang together or they will hang separately. Teachers should co-operate in order to elevate the profession of teaching."

Prof. Tiffany followed with his second paper on "Pedagogy," in which he dissed sensation, perception and memory.

Supt. Beam gave his second talk on "Psychology:"

"All the mental activities are improved by the cultivation of the senses. Touch can distinguish 1000 beats per second. The ear can distinguish 500 impressions per second and the eye but twenty-five per second. Children should be taught to see, to hear and to feel accurately. Muscle power is largely nervous force."

The talk was full of new ideas and the necessity of thorough training of the senses was pointed out plainly.

At Wednesday's session after formal opening of song and roll call, Mr. John Vint gave an interesting talk on "School Government." He said he did not believe in set rules, but that the rule should be made for the particular case. Also that the teacher should assist the pupils in this spirit and play with them. The prevailing idea in the discussion was that no rules should be given.

"What Can Clallam County Teachers do Toward Professional Advancement" was a question for general discussion. Supt. Bean stated that the teacher instead of cramming for examination should put in his time in studying methods and in that way the subject matter would be made clear. Another good way would be to join the reading circle. Every teacher should have a working library.

"The Law of Habit" by Prof. Brintall was discussed in an able manner.

"The principle of the law is this: An act once done, a thought once crystalized, leaves a tendency for the repetition of the same until it becomes a disposition and this disposition ripens into a habit. Habit relieves the mind and leaves it to attend to those things that can not be carried on by the use of habit. If habits of thinking and doing are right, knowledge can be obtained. Order and discipline in school are for the purpose of establishing right habits. Habits establish themselves upon the human face so that he who runs may read."

Mr. Bright, of the W. B. U, was introduced and spoke on the subject of "Education for a Business Life."

"The teacher should prepare the pupil for the work of life. The necessity of a business education, etc., prepare one to take care of other people's business as well as his own."

A comparison was drawn between a classical and business education, which showed clearly the advantage of the latter. "A legacy better than gold, silver or land is a business education."

The afternoon session was opened by Prof. Brintall's talk on the "Northwest Journal of Education," of which he is the editor. It was urged upon the teachers that they subscribe for some educational work, and keep abreast of the times. A large number of subscribers was secured for the different Journals.

Roy McClinton discussed the subject of drawing and urged upon the teachers the necessity of drawing as a trainer of perception, and stated that drawing is to the eye what music is to the ear.

Prof. Tiffany resumed his talk on "Pedagogy, which was a discussion of the "acquisition of knowledge and the development of mental power. It is as natural for the brain to think as it is for the stomach to digest. To observe well is to think well; since training is the means to the training of the understanding."

Attorney Marquardt talked on the subject "What Teachers Should Know About Law."

He said: "Civilization and jurisprudence are so closely interwoven that you cannot study one without studying the other. Law is common sense though the practice of law is not common sense. Ignorance of the law will not excuse those who violate it. Every teacher should be in a position to answer the multitude of questions that are put to them."

The lecture was full of important facts and it was considered as the greatest treat of the institute.

Prof. Brintall gave a practical lesson on grammer.

The teachers were requested to stand and were asked questions concerning "Gray's Elegy in a Country Churchyard."

The program of the day was closed by Superintendent Bean, on "Pyschology." which contained the following thoughts: "We begin too early the development of reasoning power. The powers of observation should be so quickened that the parts of a thing can be taken in at a glance from the force of habit. Do not teach what the child already knows."

Thursday's session was opened by T. Edwards who gave his second paper on "Hygiene," after which the county superintendent gave a very good talk on "Reading."

State Superintendent Bean brought out many new points on the subject.

Miss Wagner read an excellent paper on "History."

The afternoon session was opened by quotations from school law in answer to roll call.

Superintendent Bean resumed his talk on "Psychology," with special reference to teaching beginners to read.

The following addresses were delived at the opera house during the week:

Monday evening, Prof. Tiffany, "The Public School, and it's Mission."

Tuesday evening, Prof. Brintall, "The Public and Public Schools."

Wednesday evening, State Supt. Bean, "Free Text Books."

All old soldiers are cordially invited to meet with Pacific Post at G. A. R. hall at 2 p. m. and proceed with us in a body to attend this service.

Comrades will please take note of the following section contained in general orders No. 7, issued from the headquarters Grand Army of the Republic, under date of April 15, 1896:

Special attention is called to the action of the Nineteeth National encampment in regard to the desecration of Memorial Day by making it an occasion of amusement by games, base ball, races, etc.

"Memorial Day is the choicest in the calendar of the Grand Army—a day of sweet remembrances, dear to every loyal heart, and any violation of its sacredness by making it an occasion of frivolity and amusement, such as characterizes the Fourth of July, should be treated as an indignity to the comrades who died that this country might live."

Comrades are reminded that the words "Decoration Day," are frequently used interchangeably with "Memorial Day," which is the official designation, and they are requested to use only the term "Memorial Day" on all occasions.

A COMPARISON.

Many gold bugs are fond of pointing to the relative condition of affairs in the gold standard countries and those where they still maintain free silver coinage. Upon such a comparison rests all of the five "unanswerable propositions," laid down by Secretary Carlisle.

Of course, such a comparison is unfair, for the reason that none of the silver coinage nations can in any manner be classed as commercial countries, nor, in fact, can they be classed as even thoroughly civilized. Their governments are so uncertain and their trade so meagre that it is not to be supposed that their exchange could be maintained with all the great commercial nations fighting silver. Their people do not need money as people in highly civilized and commercial countries do. They do nothing to earn it, but a great percentage of of their population live largely upon the product of their own hands and the foods furnished by Nature without their assistance. Such is the condition in Mexico, Central and South America, and to a large extent in Asia.

However, a little investigation would tend to show that the free coinage of silver is slowly but surely raising these countries to the position of commercial nations. The Financial Record of New York City is authority for the following:

"In ten years, from 1883 to 1893, the largest percentage of gain in foreign trade reported by any nation was that of Japan and Mexico comes next. Japan's foreign trade more than doubled during those years. Mexico increased her imports slightly and more that doubled her exports."

With the United States in position, geographically, to control the trade not only of these countries but of the other nations south of us and on the Asiatic Pacific coast, it seems that but the most narrow business foresight could prevent this country adopting free silver coinage.

IN a letter to the editor of the DEMOCRAT-LEADER, Hon. Wm. J. Bryan, the eloquent ex-congressman and champion of silver, predicts a silver victory at Chicago, but adds that our enemy is desperate and it will require all the forces of silver at work. There can be no question about their desperation. The manner in which the Michigan Convention was carried against silver is ample evidence of this. Then the proposed plan to send a contesting delegation from Illinois to the National convention is plainly an act of desperation. However, silver will win.

MORE than 90 per cent. of the delegates thus far elected to the Ohio State Convention are for free silver. Senator Brice's own county went against him and for silver.

BENTON EMBREE, alone, of the Clallam County delegates to the Republican State Convention, voted for free silver.

DUE TO OVER-CONFIDENCE.

Over-confidence is making Washington Republican politicians bold.

Democrats have always maintained that Washington Republicans were not unlike their brethren across the Rocky mountains, whose delight it is to serve Wall street and the tariff barons in return for the "soap" necessary to carry on the elections on the approved "blocks of five" plan. But Washington Republicans have been able to point to a platform which demanded the free coinage of silver and the reduction of railroad freights. They have at least made a pretense of favoring the people, and their representation in Congress have heretofore voted in accordance with their platform instructions.

However, this year there is a change. The Republican Convention at Everett repudiated both of these old time declarations. They removed the mask and not only declared for gold but selected the Northern Pacific railroad's chief representative within the state to head their delegation to St. Louis. Mr. Burleigh, who will represent this state in the Republican National Convention, is the one man who succeeded in convincing the late Republican State Senate that platforms are not what they seem and that pledges should be broken if to keep them means anything detrimental to the interests of the corporations.

Over confidence induced Tammany Hall to nominate Maynard in New York state and to wreck the Democratic party and the fate of the Republican party in Washington will be similar to that of Tammany.

THE Colorado Republicans have selected Senator Teller to lead their delegation to St. Louis, with the understanding that they will bolt if the convention does not declare for free silver. The Idaho Republicans have sent a delegation in charge of Senator Dubois with a similar understanding. Montana has endorsed the action of the senators who have served notice on the high tariff Republicans that no tariff bill can be passed by the United States senate until free silver is guaranteed.

All is not serene in the Republican camp by any means.

THE first candidate to announce himself for a Democratic nomination in Clallam County is Robert T. Smith, of Pysht, for the office of county assessor. Mr. Smith is a conscientious man with plenty of ability. He has had a valuable experience and possesses a ripe judgment. He would make a good assessor.

IT is claimed that the Northern Pacific Railroad Company furnished the sinews of war that resulted in the election of Senator John L. Wilson. Harry L. Wilson, John L's. brother, is a delegate to St. Louis. He and Burleigh can play together.

CALIFORNIA Republicans declared for free silver and McKinley and Washington Republicans declared for gold and McKinley. "You pays your money and takes your choice."

HON. W. C. JONES, Attorney-General of the State of Washington, says the Republican gold plank will cost their party thousands of votes in the November election.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

THEY OFFER NOTHING.

The Everett convention did nothing by halves. It made a straight out declaration for the present gold standard. It recommends no way at all for the increase of the volume of circulating medium. To maintain the present standard, it is admitted by its friends that the greenbacks must be retired and the volume of money diminished that much. To decrease the amount of money in circulation is to make that which remains dearer. Dearer money means higher interest and lower prices for wheat, and lumber, and coal, and fruit. The people of this state know what high interest and a low price for products mean. They have had a taste of its results.

The burden of taxation and debt is to be increased if the Republicans are to have their way. The people are asking for bread and the Republicans propose a stone. But fully seventy per cent. of the votes of this state favor free coinage of silver and it is not a foregone conclusion that the vote of Washington in the electoral college will not be cast for a free silver candidate for president.

OUR County School Superintendent said that if parents and citizens took a greater interest in school affairs there would be no "dirty, contemptible school fight" to deal with. A pretty hard blow this to Prof. Tiffany's school board, but it deserved it.

THE Port Townsend Call asks if Senator Squire and Congressmen Doolittle and Hyde can run for reelection on the present Republican gold plank platform. The question is pertinent and time only can answer it.

SPEAKER REED, who was once regarded as a presidential possibility, says of McKinley: "McKinley does not want to be called a goldbug or a silver-bug, so he has compromised on a straddle-bug.

WHILE the preferred McKinley policy is a tariff for soap and a straddle to "catch them coming and catch them going," he will accept the nomination on any kind of a platform put forth.

How They Look Abroad.

It is amusing to notice the action of the Port Angeles school board which last summer refused to recognize any contracts made by the old board with teachers. Having found out that such contracts were valid they proceeded to make contracts with teachers for three years although bitterly opposing the 1-year contracts made by the former board.—East Clallam Record.

PEDAGOGUES IN COMMAND.

The pedagogue is in possession of Port Angeles. For one week out of every fifty-two, Port Angeles belongs to those in whose keeping has been given the preparation for life's work of the generation which is to rule the destinies of the Republic. This week is the favored one of those which will make up the year of our Lord, 1896. Since Monday the "schoolmarm" has reigned supreme. She is here from the East end, from the West end and from all the precincts and districts of Clallam county.

To them all, Port Angeles has bid a welcome and given of what she has for their enjoyment, and that willingly, for their rule is never distasteful to the capital city of this great county.

The public school is the one institution in this country the maintenance of which all people, no matter what their political or religious beliefs or social positions are agreed upon; and no community in the United States is so sordid but that it feels honored in entertaining its representatives. Especially is this the case when so many of the beautiful of the gentler sex are in evidence as is the case in Port Angeles at this time.

Frank Fisher, Perry Wiley and Morris Fisher took a run out to Lake Crescent. Last Saturday. They left here at 5 p. m., and were back home at the same hour of Sunday and brought a fine string of lake trout.

The K. of P. excursion to Seattle, was liberally patronized, about 50 tickets, exclusive of the band, being sold. The boat did not arrive at Seattle until 4:30 in the afternoon, too late to see the parade, and everybody was fighting mad.

About 100 of the patrons and pupils of the Fourth ward school met at the Meagher farm last Sunday and spent the day picnicing. The day was perfect the good things to eat abundant and everything was conducive to the enjoyment of all present.

Mr. M. Nelson, wife, son and daughter came in from Minneapolis, Minn., Saturday last. They come here to find a new home and are going about it with energy. They landed here at noon and were cooking their afternoon meal in their own house by five o'clock.

Mr. S. D. Hoag, of Blanchard, Iowa., arrived Saturday. He is out here to see the country and heard of Clallam county through the St. Paul office of the Immigration Association. Mr. Hoag is an old acquaintance of Major Crooks, of the Hotel Albany. They took a trip out to the lakes during the week.

Wm. G. Behmer, of Forks, drove five head of cattle to Port Angeles this week. They were purchased by Thomas Watson, who pronounces them the finest beef cattle he has seen in many a day. They dressed from 800 to 1000 pounds each, and were never fed a day in their lives, having fattened entirely on grass.

Weather Observer Bell recently sent a request to the authorities at Washington City that this station be furnished a daily forecast from Portland during the stay of the naval forces here this summer. He also asked for a flag to be used here on fitting occasions. Both requests have been granted. He received the flag on Monday by registered package from Washington city. It is 14 feet long and 6 feet wide and is very handsome. He has also received notification that the Portland office will furnish him daily forecasts as long as he calls for them during the rendezvousing of the war ships at this point.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

Declares For Sound Money and Major McKinley For Its Standard Bearer.

The Republican State Convention to elect delegates to the national convention convened at Everett May 14th.

John S. McMillian, of San Juan, was made permanent chairman; F. J. Kinghorn and A. M. Craven, permanent secretaries and Harry Carroll as reading clerk.

Following is the list of delegates selected:

Andrew F. Burleigh.....of King
P. C. Sullivan.....of Pierce
Harry L. Wilson.....of Spokane
Harry A. Fairchild.....of Whatcom
George H. Emerson .....of Chehalis
James M. Gilbert.....of Yakima
L. W. Carner.....of Cowlitz
Albert Goldman,. .....Walla Walla

The resolutions adopted are as follows:

Resolved, That we renew our allegiance to the principles of the Republican party and pledge ourselves to the support its candidates and of its platform as the same shall be determined by our national convention at St. Louis.

Resolved, That we demand a restoration of the Republican policy of protection to Amerian industries and American labor, and of the doctrine of reciprocity, the last great work of the immortal Blaine.

Resolved, That we favor the maintenance of the present gold standard and are opposed to the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. We are, however, favorable to an international agreement looking to the general use of both metals as money at a fixed ratio, and commend the efforts in that behalf of the last Republican administration.

Resolved, That the Republicans of Washington, while recognizing the eminent worth and fitness of each of the distinguished statesmen of their party whose names have been mentioned as aspirants for the presidential nomination at St. Louis, hereby declare that the emphatic sentiment of Washington is in favor of the nomination of that wise and able statesman, that pure and unsullied patriot, that true and loyal American, that peerless champion of protection, William McKinley, of Ohio, and the delegates from this state are hereby directed and instructed to work and vote for the success of said William McKinley so long as there is a reasonable prospect of his nomination.

Resolved, That it is the sentiment of this convention that congress should enact strict laws to prevent the immigration of paupers, criminals and other undesirable classes from foreign countries into the United States.

Resolved, That whereas we have always given protection to our shipbuilders, in late years we have neglected to protect our shipowners. We believe the time has come to return to the policy of Washington and Hamilton, which, by discriminating duties in favor of American bottoms, secured 90 per cent. of our carrying trade to American ships, and which, if now restored, would again revive our shipping and cause American freights to be paid to Americans.

Resolved, That a plan should be incorporated in our national platform demanding a constitutional amendment providing for the election of United States senators by popular vote.

Resolved, That we oppose any union of church and state and we recognize loyalty, intelligence and honesty are the main requirements of good citizenship, and we denounce any attempt to make a religious qualification for office as un-American, unjust and unconstitutional.

W. C. Jones offered an amendment calling for the free and unlimited coinage of silver, but it was lost by a vote of 290 to 112.

Clallam county cast 6 for and 1 against the resolution instructing for McKinley; 1 for and 6 against Jones' free silver amendment; 7 against the adoption of the Ohio platform and solidly in favor of the resolutions as adopted.

For every quarter in a man's pocket there are a dozen uses; and to use each one in such a way as to derive the greatest benefit is a question everyone must solve for himself. We believe, however, that no better use could be made of one of these quarters than to exchange it for a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, a medicine that every family should be provided with. F. S. Arthland, of Bedford, Ia., is in the city. He is taking a vacation and had heard so much of our county he decided to see it for himself. He and Mr. Hoag have been busy seeing the country around the city and seems well pleased.

Prof. Getz, who was billed for a lecture last night failed to reach here for some reason. It was a great disappointment to many.

Charley Mallette's nose this week looks like it had been run into by the Monterey. It wasn't though, it was his new bicycle. He says it acted for the world like an obstinate mule, and went straight for that electric light pole. The only way he could save himself was to throw his arms around the pole, but his nose got an awful punch in the operation.

OFFICIALS MISREPRESENTED.

An Unjust Imputation Against The People of Clallam County.

In last week's issue we printed an editorial which appeared in the Tacoma News recently containing a serious reflection on our superior judge and county attorney, as well as a dirty fling againt the people of Clallam county.

"In a telegram from Port Townsend to yesterday's News the interesting information was conveyed that the superior court of Clallam county had ordered the prosecuting attorney to take criminal proceedings against the Populist city treasurer of Port Angeles for unlawfully discriminating between old warrants and new warrants and new warrants issued to pay the salaries of city employees and that the prosecuting attorney had reported back to the court that it would be impossible to convict the treasurer on a trial in that community."

It will be noticed that the only reason given in the dispatch and reiterated in the editorial why the order of the court was vacated is that it would be impossible to convict the treasurer on a trial in this community.

In order that the editor of the News may learn the real cause for dropping the case; we will give Prosecuting Attorney Stewart's motion on which Judge McClinton acted, which was as follows:

Now comes James Stewart, prosecuting attorney for Clallam county, Washington, and moves this honorable court to vacate the order heretofore made in the above entitled cause, directing said attorney to file a criminal information herein against the defendant for the reasons following, towit:

That after a careful investigation of the facts surrounding the case, and from information concerning the same received from reliable sources; it appears that said defendant was by the mayor and council of the city of Port Angeles, at a meeting of said council, directed to pay sundry warrants for current expenses of said city out of cash then in his hands to credit of the general fund of said city, that said warrants were duly signed by said mayor; that W. L. Marquardt, the duly elected and qualified attorney for said city, advised said defendant that there were no warrants outstanding which were a legal charge against said city, for the reason that all of said outstanding warrants were issued in excess of the limit inhibited by the constitution of this state, and consequently void; and that as said warrants were not a legal charge against the city they could not be legally called for payment, and it would therefore be right and legal to pay the current expenses of said city out of cash then in the hands of this defendant as treasurer of said city, to credit of said general fund; that relying on the advice and representations of said W. L. Marquardt be paid said warrants for current expenses of said city out of cash on hand to credit of said general fund, and believing that he had been correctly and sufficiently advised by said city attorney regarding the legal status of said outstanding warrants against said city, as aforesaid, made no call for the same; that said defendant has had no opportunity to appear before this honorable court, in order to rebut the affidavit of Benton Embree heretofore filed herein against this defendant.

That said defendant is under sufficient bonds for the faithful performance of his duty as such treasurer, and said Embree can have ample remedy in a civil action for any violation of the duties of his office, or for a failure to perform the same.

That it has not been made to appear, even by implication, that said defendant has performed any act involving moral turpitude; and even if it should appear his acts and missions as city treasurer aforesaid were illegal (which question is unsettled and debatable), they were done upon the conviction that he was acting according to law, and on the advice of the legal counselor of the city officials, behind which authority he considered himself sufficiently protected.

That under such showing a criminal prosecution would be vain and useless.

JAMES STEWART,
Prosecuting Attorney.

Dated April 2nd, 1896.

We call the attention of the editor of the News to the fact that there is not even an insinuation in the motion that could by any possible stretch of the imagination be construed into a doubt that justice could not be obtained by a jury in Clallam county.

Benton Embree, attorney for the State's Saving Bank of Iowa, has brought a civil action against the treasurer to restrain him from paying any more warrants on the general fund until it has been determined which are legally due and this case will decide the whole matter.

The Tacoma News is an influential paper and is widely read and we trust it will be generous enough to set Clallam county right in the eyes of its readers.

Seamen's Bethel and Reading Room.

There was a splendid turnout Tuesday evening in the interest of the Seamen's Bethel. The council chamber was crowded. Mr. Beam presided and Miss Hoare acted as secretary.

A warm discussion arose as to whether the organization should not take the form of a public library, but the friends of the sailors predominated and it was decided that the original proposition should be adhered to.

Rev. Lee, of Dungeness, who has had much experience in Bethel work in England, was present and made a very entertaining and instructive address on the work. He subscribed two dollars for the cause.

It is likely the room in the rear of D. W. Morse's store will be secured.

The friends and workers for the movement are receiving much encouragement from the public and it is sure to succeed.

Communicated.

Again we get it where the chicken got the ax. A short time ago the National Packing Co., of this city through a desire to create a new industry and thereby help the people of Port Angeles as well as themselves, conceived the idea of canning clams, a thing which has never been done before to any extent on this coast.

At Sequim Bay twenty miles east of this city clams exist in great numbers, and after careful investigation Manager Hume made arrangements with the Sequim Bay people to ship them to his cannery at Port Angeles. A few hundred bushel were shipped and the feasibility of the idea thoroughly tested, and the clams canned by Mr. Hume were pronounced by connoisseurs and experts generally, to be the very best they had ever tasted, and the prospects of Port Angeles having another paying industry became very bright; but right here the great and only, the Straits Steamboat Company, steps in.

They say if your canned clams are so fine you can afford to pay a good freight on them and they proceeded forthwith to raise the freight from Sequim Bay to Port Angeles to such a figure that it would be impossible to can the goods and put them on the market at a price within the reach of the consumer, consequently Manager Hume was compelled to shut down his cannery and give up the idea of canning clams, simply on account of the greed of this corporation, which has never been anything but a curse to Port Angeles and Clallam county since it was first incorporated.

I would like to ask how long the people of Port Angeles and Clallam county are going to sit supinely by and let this outfit with their old hulks of steamboats rob them as they are doing at the present time?

It is not enough that we have to ride on boats that are not fit for well bred swine to ride on, but we must submit to the abuse of the captains, deck hands, managers, and in fact, all of the employees of the company as well as to pay over double what we should pay for every pound of freight, and every mile we ride?

I think it is about time that the people of this county cut loose and who are continually doing everything in their power to injure us and benefit their home port.

It is not enough that they cinch our merchants for the very last cent the freight will stand, but they miss no chance to abuse our town and everyone in it, and should anyone, by some lapse of memory, ask any one of them to do a favor, they simply get laughed at for their pains.

For instance, look at the way our Seattle papers are delivered. Some time ago our fellow townsman T. T. Aldwell, went to Seattle and made arrangements to have the daily papers sent to Victoria every other day, so that they could be brought over on the Evangel in the evening, and, though the boat that takes the papers to Victoria lies within one hundred feet of the Evangel when she is at her dock there, the great and obliging Capt. Mann says he cannot be bothered sending after them, and if we want the papers we must have them put aboard of his magnificent steamship. God save the mark!

If the people of Port Angeles would get together and pledge themselves to support an opposition boat should one be put on the route, I am confident we could secure a steamer that would give us a respectable service with something to ride on that would be at least safe and half way decent.

Let us try it? We have been under the heel of this crew of highway robbers long enough. CUMTUX.

Wm. Crawford, of Pysht, was here on business Wednesday.

Mrs. J. B. Cleary arrived from Everett Wednesday, accompanied by her young sister.

J. L. Sweet has been endeavoring to interest some men of capital in a sawmill project at the mouth of the Hoko river. He brought a visitor down last week to look over the ground. Both went away on the Garland Monday night.

According to recent information from the surveyor general's office at Olympia it is the intention of the surveyor general to reject all of the surveys made by W. E. Smith. This throws out townships 31 14 and 31-15 and it will be some time before those townships are re-surveyed as there is no appropriation now available. This is bad news for waiting settlers, some of whom have been holding claims in those townships over five years and it will be several years yet before they can get a chance to file.

DICKEY LAKE ITEMS.

A. Gustafson left for parts up-Sound.

George Baker, who is employed in the smelter at Everett, a settler of the lower Dickie, paid his ranch a brief visit last week.

Dave Eldrich has returned to the Dickie country, he spent the winter in California and reports business improving in the land of fruit.

I. Vanhorn removed his family from Little prairie to his cedar ranch on Dickie lake. He is making extensive improvements and expects to remain the greater part of the summer.

Crocodile Tears.

They want me to tell, about a crocodile
Species of which grow on the banks of the Nile.
I'll frankly admit this is hardly my forte;
But it may afford my class-mates some rare sport
First we will hie to the sacred Ganges;
But beware for you'll hardly be safe there to sneeze,
For full well we know, that the Blacks, superstitious
Would gladly give you as a meal quite delicious
To the horrible beasties, that haunt that great river
Well may you sigh and give vent to a shiver!
Young Stanley, one time through Africa going
Took into his head, without once bestowing
On the dangers that lurked 'neath the deep-flowing strath,
That he would enjoy a delightful bath—
When lo! just beneath him came quick into vision
A dire crocodile; and with hasty decision
He made up his mind his dive to forego
And I think myself 'twas well he did so.
The skin being tough is oft times used as leather;
But we in our buying, can't always tell whether
We get the real stuff or a good imitation,
So well has the industry done in the nation.
Their form is long, sometimes lean and quite bony
And they have a love for banks gravely and stony
These last to assist in their greedy digestion,
They swallow—'tis a wonder they don't have congestion!
Their mouth when spread open for nice fish prepared,
Display rows of teeth, which are white, strong and paired.
This construction, however, is diff'rent at times
Depending of course on inhabited climes
They have a great taste for sweet human flesh;
But 'tis said, when they once it have got in their mesh,
That they drag it away and await putrifaction
Perhaps you'll agree, 'twould thrive on distraction!
'Tis true that he sheds o'er your body a tear;
But how can that benefit you on your bier?
Because of the ribs, which are placed in the neck
When on land he is clumsy and so, if you're quick,
By turning and twisting you may quite escape him,
Which we will agree, would perhaps make your head swim.
Because he is lowly and earth is his bed
He has no occasion to hold up his head.
The two forefeet have claws and he tears up his prey
The two hind ones also; though 'tis not for display.
The rest, like a duck's, are more or less webbed,
To assist him in swimming, I have heard it said.
In ages gone by they were thought to be Gods
By the ancient Egyptians now under the clods.
And this is the reason they did multiply;
And now my dear friends, I will bid you goodbye.

Townsend Stirred.

"The steamer Garland from down the straits this morning brought a large crowd of people from Port Angleworms all bound for Seattle, accompaning the Uniform Rank Knights of Pythias, which is going there to attend the big conclave which begun its session this morning.

"Accompaning the Knights was one of the funniest combinations, musically, that ever wandered into this neck of the woods. It was the Port Angleworms band in all its glory, misfit uniforms and uncut hair. This aggregation of peace disturbers began belching soon after the Garland rounded Point Wilson, and from that time until she was fortunately out of hearing, melody was pumped out in a way that drove children and timid women in their cyclone cellars, scared John Overend's quiet and peacable old plough horse into such spasms of pain that he ran away, and hurried the departure of the whaleback City of Everett which under other circumstances might have remained here throughout the week.

"It is said that the U. S. quarantine regulations will be enforced on the return of the aggregation to prevent a repitition of the outrage of this morning."

In the beginning we would humbly suggest that the "illiterate scribe" who wrote the foregoing should seek out a pupil in the primary grade and learn how to spell "accompanying."

The article will serve an admirable purpose in calling out the fact that Port Angeles supports two good bands. If Townsend has even one we have never found it out. As a matter of fact, she has none at all. The only music they ever hear down in that "neck of the woods" is the bell on the old starving cow as she nips the grass along the prominent streets of that deserted villiage.

We distinctly recall another occasion when, in her palmy days, certain of her unsophisticated youth came up here bearing large tin-horns and other infernal instruments to produce her own peculiar style of music. It was to be exploded when they had wiped up the earth with our base-ball nine of county officials. The score stood 54 to 0, the 54 being the number of runs scored by the Port Angeles boys. It should have been larger, but the Townsend man who did the scoring became so rattled he forgot to put down a large number of runs to the credit of our nine. They didn't use their instruments, but carried them back home.

We are sorry to note that those poor things down there have lost all power of appreciating good music. We are sure most of them had good training back in their eastern homes, but what can you expect of anyone who has been doomed to complete isolation from all contact with a progressive community. We should extend the hand of sympathy and, without malice, try to do something to relieve them from their awful condition.

If John Overend will bring his old plough horse up to Clallam, he will find fields instead of streets to plough, and it won't be half as hard work.

Those miserable "children and women" have become so accustomed to the awful stillnes that shrouds the place in inky gloom, that we are not in the least surprised that they took to the their "cyclone cellars" when the band began to play. And just to think of it all, when they are so near to Port Angeles!

How to Treat a Wife.

(From Pacific Health Journal.)

First, get a wife; second, be patient. You may have great trials and perplexities in your business, but do not therefore, carry to your home a cloudy or contracted brow. Your wife may have trials, which, though of less magnitude, may be hard for her to bear. A kind word, a tender look, will do wonders in chasing from her brow all clouds of gloom.—To this we would add always keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. It is the best and is sure to be needed sooner or later. Your wife will then know that you really care for her and wish to protect her health. For sale by J. C. Hansen, druggist.

SUMMONS.

Herbert E. Willson, Plaintiff,
B. H. Burgess and Schwabacher Brothers and Company, Defendants

The State of Washington to B. H. Burgess and Schwabacher Brothers and Company, the above-named defendants.

YOU ARE HEREBY SUMMONED AND required to appear within sixty days after the first publication of this summons, to-wit the 22nd day of May, A. D. 1896, and answer the complaint and serve a copy of your answer on the person whose name is subscribed to this summons at the place specified following his said name, and defend the above-entitled action in the court aforesaid, and in case of your failure so to do judgment will be rendered against you according to the demand of the complaint which is now on file in the office of the clerk of Clallam county, Washington.

This action is brought to recover a judgment against B. H. Burgess for the sum of $1160 on two promissory notes dated March 10, 1892, being for $800 and $360 respectively, with interest at ten per cent. from date, and for the purpose of foreclosing a certain mortgage securing the payment of said notes upon the Northwest quarter of Section 23, Township 31, north of Range 12 West of Willamette Meridian, and to foreclose and bar the equity of redemption of the other defendants.

W. L. MARQUARDT,
P. O. Address, Port Angeles, Clallam County, Washington.
