ENORMOUS TONNAGE IN LUMBER

Eastern Roads Asking Definite Information as to Future Traffic.

Five billion dollars to haul Pacific Coast timber to market is the estimate of future railroad earnings.

To publish a pamphlet containing statistics showing traffic possibilities of the Pacific coast is the aim of the Pacific Coast Lumber Manufacturer's Association. It is the intention of the association to circulate the publication among directors and officers of various railway systems.

Victor H. Beckman, secretary, states the object of the association to be to "induce other railroads to build to the Pacific coast, and in order to attract attention of those interested we propose going into the matter thoroughly from a revenue producing standpoint. In lumber, for example, we will prepare to show that standing timber on the Pacific coast is capable of earning in freight revenue the sum of five billion, sufficient to induce the building of a dozen new transcontinental lines; but we desire to include the possibilities in agriculture, horticulture, fisheries, mines and other industries on the coast.

"To show to what extent railroads are interested in tariff possibilities in so far as lumber is concerned, I may state that I have been asked to furnish information for E. H. Harriman of the Union Pacific; C., M. & St. P. lines; Rock Island; A., T. & S. Fee; and the Chicago & Northwestern."

TO PREPARE NEW TOWNSITE

Talk of Locating One on This Side of Discovery Bay.

A company of forty wealthy men owning 6,000 acres between Discovery and Seguin bays are considering the cutting of all timber, large and small, with the idea of locating a townsite thereon and opening up a new section of dairying country. Experts have been looking over the tract and investigating a new style logging apparatus designed for this kind of work. Larger timber will be sold to mills, and small stuff loaded on scows as cordwood. The Townsend Call says the movement to be made now to clear off the land would indicate that things will be doing there in the way of city building a year or two hence.

Eczema, Tetter, Salt Rheum, tch Ring Worm, Herpes, Barbers' Itch.

All of these diseases are attended by intense itching, which is almost instantly relieved by applying Chamberlain's Salve, and by its continued use a permanent cure may be effected. It has, in fact, cured many cases that had resisted other treatment. Price 25c per box. For sale by All druggists.

1,500,000 Shingles

Crescent on Victoria Run

The Crescent is scheduled to leave Seattle at 9:00 a. m. for Townsend and Victoria, arriving at Victoria at 1:45 p. m., leaving at 5:15 and arriving at Seattle at 10:00 p. m. It is not announced that she will call at Angeles, but doubtless this port will be included later. It is expected she will be ready by April 1st.

The Waialiale, recently brought to the sound from Honolulu, is also being refitted for the Seattle-Victoria run.

COMPULSORY PILOTAGE ON SOUND

Steamships Without Licensed Pilot Must Take on One at Angeles.

The department of commerce and labor has made an order, says the Townsend Leader, that from a certain date named in the order and not ascertained here, there shall be compulsory pilotage on the waters of Puget Sound. The order specifies that pilots shall be taken aboard all vessels arriving from the ocean at Port Angeles.

Heretofore the waters of the Sound have been what is known as a free port, the present orders applying to steamships only. The order requires in substance that masters of all steam vessels shall hold a government pilot's license for these waters to be secured through an examination before the inspectors of hulls and boilers for the district.

As a result of the new regulation the masters of all regular line vessels navigating to and from the Sound are taking the examination before the board in Seattle. After this examination has been taken by all of them the only vessels that will be affected by the order will be foreign steamships, the masters of which are not eligible to take the examination, not being citizens.

The inland waters of Puget Sound are inside a line drawn from Dungeness to Kettle Point, the strange feature of the order being the requirement that the pilot shall be taken on at Port Angeles, which is recognized as being entirely outside the Sound.

TEN THOUSAND TONS OF STONE

Liberated at One Big Blast at the Quarry Tuesday; Will Last Six Months.

The big blast which Manager Barnett has been looking forward to for some time was fired on Tuesday last, and fully ten thousand tons of stone loosened and blown out. Over five thousand tons are of the very finest quality and will keep the saws running full time for six months. During the past winter the blasting has been conducted with the object of clearing the way for a grand opening, and recently the steam drill put down twenty-foot holes along the top, sides, and well down on the ledge, thus including a space about forty feet square. The loosened stone lies directly beneath the larger derrick, in the best possible place for working.

MILWAUKEE ROAD TO USE SNOQUALMIE PASS

Seattle, March 19.—The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company has filed in the land office here duplicate maps showing the definite location of that road's route across Snoqualmie pass. A temporary line will be built through the pass with a maximum grade of 3 per cent. A two-mile tunnel, shown in the maps, will be built later, reducing the maximum grade by more than half.

The road will follow the Snoqualmie valley on the west side to the summit. East of the mountains it runs down Coal creek, along the south side of Lake Kichelos, and then down the Yakima river valley.

Another Conference Suggested.

Indianapolis, March 19.—President John Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers of America, has mailed to George F. Baer, chairman of the anthracite coal operators' committee, his reply to the committee's communication rejecting the demands of the miners' organization. In his letter president Mitchell states that he does not consider that the demands of the miners have been seriously considered by the operators, and he suggests that other conferences be held before April 1, with a view to settling, if possible, the existing differences.

LEGACY TAX LEGAL

SUPREME COURT RENDERS IMPORTANT DECISION.

Sets at Rest Constitutional Questions Raised Against the Inheritance Tax Law — Holds Property Conveyed By Will Comes Under Provisions of Act.

Seattle, March 20.—Taxation of inheritances by will is held to be valid in a decision rendered by the state supreme court yesterday in a case appealed from King county. The decision sets at rest all constitutional questions which have been raised against the act, and makes certain a large income to the state by reason of the law of 1901, creating the state tax commission. Lawyers declare that no ground now remains on which an attack against the constitutionality of the statute can be successfully carried on. The case decided was in the matter of the estate of William Wellington White, who died last fall in Oakland, Cal., leaving $600,000 in Seattle property.

The state tax commission assessed the lawful tax against the estate under the act creating the commission. The executors of the estate fought the assessment, attacking the constitutionality of the act. The claim was made that the title of the act did not cover inheritances by will and therefore was invalid.

The supreme court sustained the decision of the superior court of this county rendering a decision against the executors of the estate. The amount involved in the case was not large, but the principle of the act being upheld will operate to bring a large revenue to the state treasruy from this county and from the state at large.

In prior suits brought to defeat the state tax commission law the supreme court has decided in favor of the statute and lawyers state that nothing can now prevent the full operation of the law.

Many Other Cases Affected.

Mr. J. E. Frost, of the state tax commission, stated to a newspaper representative that the decision of the inheritance tax case settles a number of cases in different parts of the state.

"The commission has a number of cases of a similar nature where the collection of the tax has not been made pending the decision of the supreme court," said Mr. Frost, "and now that the law is sustained these collections will be made and the controversy ended

"As I take the decision of the supreme court it will stop all future contests on the inheritance tax from any standpoint, as the passing of property by will was the only only apparent weak point in the law."

TRUSTEES WILL REPAY CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTIONS

New York, March 19.—The World sayss:

At a conference in the office of a down-town laywer on Saturday it was agreed that the trustees of the New Y ork Life Insruance Company who were members of the finance committee during the presidential campaigns of 1896, 1900 and 1904 and were cognizant of the political contributions made by the New York Life, should reimburse the company to the extent of $148,000. This is the total of the political contributions made by the company. Each trustee will go into his own private funds to make the payment. In all there are fifteen trustees involved and under the agreement each man will have to contribute a trifle less than $10,000.

It was originally the plan to hold the estate of John A. McCall responsible for all of the political contributions and to bring legal action against it to obtain reimbursement. Abandonment of this plan is involved in the decision reached at Saturday's conference.

DOUBLE COTTON YIELD

Agricultural Department Has Greatly Developed Seed.

Washington, March 21.—Following a series of experiments, extending over a period of years, the bureau of plant industry, department of agriculture, announces it has developed a number of new breeds of cotton seeds some of which are ready to be sent out for next season's planting, which the bureau claims promises to almost double the value of the cotton crop whenever they are used.

These new cotton seeds have been bred from the native and short staple upland variety and are from a half to three-quarters of an inch longer fiber than cotton grown froom the parent seeds.

Cincinnati, March 20—Herr Johann Most, the anarchist. is dead. Herr Most came to this city last week on the invitation of friends and had been the guest of Adolph Kraus, on Cutter street. He was to have delivered a lecture in Chicago on Wednesday night, but was taken suuddenly ill, dying within a the week.

President Palma Re-elected.

Havana, March 21.—The Cuban presidential electors met according to law and unanimously re-elected Thomas Estrada Palma president of the republic.

MAY DELAY ACTION ON CANAL

Senate Does Not Like Plans of House and President May Decide Type

Washington, March 19.—The senate committee on interoceanic canals heard with many misgivings the reported statement by Representative Hepburn that the house committee would not be willing to accept the senate hearings to determine the type of canal to be constructed across the Isthmus of Panama. This is taken as an indication that congress will not be able to agree upon a bill deciding the type of waterway unless the session of congress is long continued.

In the event that no bill is passed, the appropriation committees will report the amount necessary to carry on the work until next session, and the canal commission will proceed to the construction of a lock canal under the plans advocated by the minority of the board of consulting engineers. President Roosevelt in his message transmitting to congress the reports of the majority and minority of the board, said that he favored the latter, which was for a lock canal, and that, if the question were not settled by congress that type would be constructed. This offers a solution if the opposing factions should be unable to agree.

A poll of the senate committee discloses its preference for a sea-level canal. Although the question has not come before the senate, leaders of congress say the majority of the senate will stand in the way of any compromise and will stand from first to last for a sea-level canal.

FORREST FIRES DESTROY TOWN OF NORTHWOOD

Lynden, March 18.—The town of Northweood, four miles north of Lynden, was completely wiped out by flames at noon Sunday, and many families are homeless. The Northwood lumber and shingle mill, the property of Charles Cissna, of Bellingham, were burned. The property loss will amount to many thousands of dollars.

At this hour the fire is approaching Lynden and scores of men are battling desperately to check the flames, which are now within a mile of town, and excitement is running high.

The fire department of Bellingham has been asked for assistance.

Sedro-Woolley, March 18.—This city has been shrouded in smoke for the past eight hours from brush fires. The fire department was called out several times to put out small fires started witin the city limits. The residence of Mrs. D. E. Moore was burned to the ground at noon The old Tyee logging grounds north of the city have all burned over, destroying several small houses. The Northern Pacific bridges and trestles north of town are burning. The evening passenger train is delayed here until repairs can be made.

SECRETARY WILSON COMING

Expects to Visit State College at Pullman in June.

Pullman, March 19.—Secretary of Agriculture Wilson will visit Pullman this year, probably in June. This will be the first time a member of the president's cabinet will have visited Pullman, and the occasion is to be fittingly celebrated. Peter McGregor, representative in the state legislature from this district, has returned from Washintgon, D. C., with the announcement that Secretary Wilson had accepted an invitation to visit Washington state college, and that he will be here in June.

W. J. Spillman, head of the experiment station work of the department of agriculture at Washington, will accompany Secretary Wilson to Pullman. It was largely due to the interest in the West awakened by Mr. Spillman that the secretary of agriculture has agreed to visit this state. Mr. Spillman was professor of agriculture in the Washington state college for eight years, and since he took charge of the government's experiment station work has been a frequent visitor to this state. He is an enthusiast on the agricultural resources of the West and has labored hard to bring the knowledge of these resources to the government officials at Washington.

BLUE MOUNTAIN RESERVE.

President Roosevelt Finally Signs Proclamation.

Washington, March 20.—President Roosevelt, on recommendation of the fo est service, has signed a proclamation creating the Blue Mountain forest reserve in Eastern Oregon, to embrace 2,627,270 acres. The reserve as created follows the general lines of the temporary withdrawal made three years ago, with the exception of 200,000 acres in the valley of the Silvies river, which has been eliminated because of the agricultural nature of the land. Around the edge of the withdrawal small tracts of agricultural and school land have been eliminated and the boundaries are so drawn as to exclude all land lying along the border which has passed into private ownership under any public land laws.

The original Blue Mountain withdrawal embraced more than 3,000,000 acres. About 500,000 acres have been left out, so as to make the reserve a compact body of forest land.

Judge Parker Denies Interview.

Augusta, Ala, March 17.—Judge Alton B. Parker passed Augusta this morning on his way to Camden, where he went to confer with David B. Hill. Judge Parker denied having given an interview to the Birmingham Leader in effect that he believed President Roosevelt will seek another nominat on, and he declined to discuss the subject.

TO QUELL RIOTING

RUSSIAN GOVERNMENT AGAIN ACTIVELY PREPARING.

Indications Said to Point to Another Uprising Which Will Rival in Violence that of Last November — Armed Automobiles to be Used.

St. Petersburg, March 19.—Disaffection among the populace is on the increase and the authorities are actively preparing for another uprising which is expected to rival in violence that of last November.

Minister Durnovo, with the co-operation of the war office, is actively engaged in strengthening all garrisons at every point where socialistic and terrorits organizations are known to be strong.

Maxim guns and ammunition in large quantities are being shipped to points where the uprising is expected to be fiercest, and at Warsaw, Moscow, Odessa, this city and other places where past experience has shown, it is a difficult task to maintain order, the armed automobiles recently purchased in Paris are being placed in charge of soldiers, who are being thoroughly instructed in their operation.

These vehicles of death are expected to prove potent instruments in putting down street demonstrations, as troops in them will be free from attack at the hands of mobs, while from behind their shelter machine guns can be operated in the most telling manner.

Fresh detachment of Cossacks have been detailed to all railway lines to patrol them and maintain order and prevent any interference with the operation of trains.

The Black Sea sailors are unmistakably preparing for revolt and it is reported that a plot has been discovered of widespread proportions to seize fortresses and vessels. Hundreds of those suspected of being implicated have been arrested, and rumors are in circulation that others have been executed without trial.

Veterans Ordered Home.

So serious is the situation that orders have been sent to the commander-in-chief at Harbin to return at once to Russia with not less than 100,000 of his most trusted men

The government is using the most repressive measures to stop the agitation for a strike of railroad men and telergaphers. A meeting of the former at Rostoff on the Don was totally surrounded and invaded by Cossacks, who fired into the assemblage, killing two persons and wounding eight.

At Moscow trroops are guarding all the railroad stations and several factories where the workmen are restive.

TIMBER LAND REPEAL BILL READY TO REPORT

Washington, March 19.—The senate public lands committee has virtually completed the bill to repeal the timber and stone act and authorize the sale of all public timber at not less than its appraised value, small dealers to be given preference in the sales. Provision is made giving settlers and miners free use of timber for domestic purposes, the same as in forest reserves.

An amendment insisted on by Senator Fultion, of Oregon, will be adopted giving to counties 10 per cent of the amount of sales in their respective limits in lieu of taxes.

The committee is also framing a bill to permit homestead entry of agricultural land in forest reserves. This bill is designed particularly to meet the principal objection to reserves in Idaho. Senator Dubois is strongly urging this measure and predicts its passage.

Mr. Fulton is the only member of the committee opposed to the repeal of the timber and stone act, but other Western senators agree with him and will join him in opposition to the bill when it comes up in the senate. In case it is impossible to prevent its passage by the senate Mr. Fulton will seek to increase the amount paid counties from the receipts of timber sales from 10 to 25 per cent.

The Oregon senator is so thoroughly convinced of the inadvisability of the repeal of the timber and stone act that he will carry his fight to the house committee to table the senate bill, just as it has heretofore tabled a similar bill in the house. He feels certain that this legislation will be killed in the house, if not in the senate.

APPROVED BY PRESIDENT.

Suggestion of Methodist Committee Regarding Boycott.

Washington, March 19.—A delegation from the Methodist Episcopal church south Saturday discussed with the president the situation in the Chinese empire.

In the delegation were Dr. Young J. Allen, for forty-six years a missionary in China; Bishop Galloway, of Mississippi, and Dr. Walter R. Lambuth, missionary secretary of Dr. James Atkins.

The visitors expressed a fear that if the boycott continued injury might be done to the work of the American churches among the Chinese. They said they believed the situation would be relieved by a general invitation from American educational institutions to Chinese youth to stndy in this country. The suggestion met with hearty approval by the president.

COMPROMISE REACHED

Army Grade Bill Will Not Go Into Effect Until Next October.

Washington, March 21.—The house has reached a compromise on the question of abolishing the grade of lieutenant general in the army but providing that it shall not become effective until October 12, next, in order that Generals Corbin and MacArthur may be promoted before their retirement.

An important bill, declared to be the first step toward a reorganization of the consular service, was passed. The bill already has been acted upon by the senate. It embodies four important points—the classification of the consulates general and consulates; the turning of all fees into the United States treasury; a provision that all consuls receiving a salary of $1,000 or more, must be American citizens, and the establishment of a corps of inspectors to see that the incumbents properly perform their duties, and increases salaries to the extent of $170,000 a year.

A joint resolution was passed extending to August 15 next the time for opening the Shoshone or Wind River Indian reservation in Wyoming.

A bill was passed authorizing the leasing of 5,000 acres of land in La Plata county, Colorado, to the P. F. U. Rubber Company, for the raising of the rubber plant.

MORTGAGE TAXATION.

Attorney General Says Purchase Money Paper is Exempt.

Olympia, March 17.—The attorney general, in an opinion, affirms the holding of the state tax commission in regard to the present status of the law, as relates to assessment and taxation of mortgages in this state.

The opinion quotes section 1657 of Ballinger's Code, defining personal property.

"It is the intention of the legislature in the provision of law cited," say the opinion, "that mortgages are, as a general proposition, to be taxed in this state; except such mortgages as are given wholly or partially to secure the purchase price of real estate.

"That is the construction which has been acted upon in this state, and the courts have never so far held otherwise. It is my opinion, under the law as it now exists, that when the person whose property is being assessed makes a statement to the assessor that a mortgage is a part of the purchase price of real property, it is to be exempted from the operation of the law, and that such mortgage is not assessable."

LAUNCH ALASKA FAIR AT DINNER ON APRIL 4

Seattle, March 16—April 4 has been decided on as the date for the official launching of the Alaska-Yukon exposition, to be held in Seattle in 1909. A meeting was held in the office of Mayor Ballinger, attended by President J. E. Chilberg and eight other members of the executive board of the exposition, and the date mentioned was selected, at which time the fifty trustees of the association will be invited to attend a dinner which will mark the formal beginning of the proposed fair.

The matter of the exposition was discussed at some length and interest was manifest in general in the project.

Mr Chilberg, who recently returned from a trip East, stated that wherever he went persons were asking about the proposed fair and that from all indications the exposition gave promise of a more auspicious beginning than did the Lewis and Clark project.

Those present at the meeting were Mr. Chilberg, Will H. Parry, John E. Price, F. W. Baker, H. F. Grant, G. S. McLaren. Mayor Ballinger, W. M. Sheffield and Godfrey Chelander.

FRANCE AND GERMANY SAID TO HAVE AGREED

Algericas, Spain, March 20.—Extreme animation prevails here, the delegates to the Morocco conference believing that final results are near at hand. Unless an agreement is speedily reached, the representatives of the neutral powers threaten to interrogate the French and German representatives before the conference. M. Regnault, the second delegate of the French mission, has taken the initiative and has prepared the draft of an agreement seeking to reconcile the French and Austro-German projects. The committee has already approved a portion of the Regnault plan, but the disputed point relative to the inspection of the Moroccan police remains unsettled. The French are prepared to accept the principle of inspection, but will not accept foreign control.

Therefore it remains to secure a middle ground in which the protection will be sufficiently effective to satisfy the Germans without establishing foreign control of the Franco-Spanish police.

Refuse to Give Name of Delegate.

Moscow, March 19.—The constitutional Democrats are developing strength at the elections. The railroad men selected a delegate, but refused to give his name to the authorities until he was guaranteed immunity from arrest.

Japanese Student Wins Prize.

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 19.—K. S. Inui, a Japanese student, won first honors in the annual oratorical contest of the University of Michigan and received $100 in gold and the Chicago Alumni gold medal. His subject was "The Mission of New Japan."

Spring Medicine

The best is Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is the best because it does the most good.

While it makes the blood pure, fresh and lively, it tones the stomach to better digestion, creates an appetite, stimulates the kidneys and liver, gives new brain, nerve and digestive strength.

An unlimited list of wonderful cures —40,366 testimonials in the past two years—proves its merit. In buying medicine always get the best — get Hood's.

Sold everywhere.

Liquid or tablets, 100 Doses $1.

Mrs. S. L. Carleton, Ayer, Mass., says: "For a perfect spring medicine to give strength and thoroughly purify the blood, Hood's Sarsaparilla is held in high esteem by our whole family. I have used it from childhood and find it as good for my children as for myself."

The doctor who is bluntest with his adult patients has always a soft heart for children. A London surgeon who had been called to attend a little lad, dangerously sick with diphtheria, performed the operation of tracheotomy, and to his great joy saw the boy revive. During the next few days everything passed off beautifully, but the doctor wanted to hear his small friend speak. This so far the patient had not done. "I am sorry he can't speak to me, nurse, because I'm going up to London to-day and shan't know whether to bring him a horse or a gun." It was the doctor speaking "at" the little one. A tiny finger stole up to a wounded throat, and the ghost of a baby's voice whispered, "Please, doctor, bwing a lickle gun."

OLD Favorites

Hohenlinden.

On Linden, when the sun was low,
All bloodless lay the untrodden snow,
And dark as winter was the flow
Of Iser, rolling rapidly.

But Linden saw another sight
When the drum beat, at the dead of night,
Commanding fires of death to light
The darkness of her scenery.

By torch and trumpet fast arrayed,
Each horseman drew his battle-blade
And furious every charger neighed,
To join the dreadful revelry.

Then shook the hills with thunder riven,
Then rushed the steed to battle driven,
And louder than the bolts of heaven,
Far flashed the red artillery.

But redder yet that light shall glow
On Linden's hills of stained snow,
And bloodier yet the torrent flow
Of Iser, rolling rapidly.

'Tis morn, but scarce yon level sun
Can pierce the war clouds, rolling dun,
Where furious Frank and fiery Hun,
Shout in their sulphurous canopy.

The combat deepens. On, ye brave!
Who rush to glory or the grave!
Wave, Munich! all thy banners wave,
And charge with all thy chivalry!

Few, few shall part where many meet;
The snow shall be their winding sheet,
And every turf beneath their feet
Shall be a soldier's sepulcher.

ONCE UPON A TIME.

First Railroad Train Isn't So Old as Youngsters Sometimes Think.

Did you go to the St. Louis fair? If you did, and you failed to see the railroad exhibit you missed a wonderfully interesting part of "the show." You missed seeing what may be called the evolution or development of that wonderful invention, the railroad engine. The trouble is that the boys and girls of to-day are so accustomed to the railroad that they think little of all that it represents. Some of them may be like a little girl I happen to know, who once said:

"Why, papa, didn't we always have railroads?"

Just ask your grandparents about that. I have an idea that some of them will tell you that they were men and women long before they ever saw a railroad engine. A man but forty-five years old told me the other day that he walked ten miles with some other boys when he was ten years old to see a railroad train.

It has not been so very many years since the most intelligent men and women laughed and even jeered at the mere idea of people riding at the rate of fifteen or twenty miles an hour. When George Stephenson first began to talk about inventing an engine to be run on lines of wooden or iron track, the people looked upon him as a dreamer, a visionary who might not be quite "right in his head."

But this George Stephenson, of Wylam, near Newcastle, in England, was not to be put down by sneers nor jeers, and he had the audacity to declare that he could invent an engine that would run at the terrific rate of twenty-five miles an hour, whereupon one of the most noted periodicals of the day said that he ought to be "put in a straitjacket."

Stephenson went to work and built a queer-looking little railroad engine called the "Rocket" in 1829, and that was the beginning of one of the most useful and wonderful things in the world—the modern railway system.—St. Nicholas.

A Stranger in Town.

Fifteen miles below the head of the passes of the Mississippi, and not far from where Southwest Pass loses itself in the Gulf of Mexico, a little stream no wider than a village street curves away from the main "pass." Along both sides are tiny landings, and back of each there is a cottage. The cottages are now neglected and forlorn, but once they were palm-shaded, rose-guarded and lovely. There, in the days when Southwest Pass was the principal mouth of the Mississippi, dwelt the pilots who carried ships across the bar.

"Old Pilot-town" is hidden from the traveler on the pass by a dense canebrake, and strangers seldom enter it from its bayou. One who did came down the river in a skiff, and turned into "Old Pilot-town Bayou" at noon for dinner. He found a ready meal at the first cottage, where dwelt an old woman, widow of one of the old-time pilots. As the meal progressed, one by one interested neighbors dropped in to see the stranger, till a dozen were braced against the walls.

"How many people live here now, Mrs. B?" asked the visitor. "I thought the bayou was rather deserted."

Mrs. B. looked round the room and took account of stock.

"You can count them for your-self," she said. "They're all here."

SYMPATHETIC LISTENERS.

The Help They May Afford to Slow and Indifferent Talkers.

At no time more than when a thought is struggling toward expression should a friend bear with a friend's infirmities. A deep sympathy should be poured out with lavish affection about the one who is seriously striving to say some real thing. In this atmosphere of patient, sympathetic intelligence the inept word, the crude phrase, the wholly inadequate expression will be enabled to do their work and the thought transference will be effected; the thought will be safely lodged in the mind of the other, slightly bruised in transit, but intact and intelligible. With an "I know what you mean," "Exactly," or "Go on, I understand," much help may be rendered, and at last when the thinker of the thought has placed his friend in possession and by reason of this effort has entered into fuller possession of it himself, the conversation is in a way to begin. Then lavish upon the elaboration of the thought all the beauties that can be woven out of words—precision, balance, music—but let us, dear lovers of language, remember to be discreetly gentle and listen with averted glance while the thought is still in negligee.—Atlantic.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

This is the age of combination and in no field is this spirit of the age more manifest than in that of the railways. In acquiring control of the Illinois Central Mr. Harriman and his associates are putting the spirit into practice once more. It is not apparent that the tendency toward consolidation is diminishing or that the possibilities of further combination among railroads are nearly exhausted. Mightier and mightier wax the groups and more powerful grow the financial chiefs. For the present Mr. Harriman is the most conspicuous of the chiefs, just as his system of lines is the vastest. But railway kings, like kings of state, do not reign forever and if the process of combination and evolution continues another king even greater than he may arise in another year.

A railroad is to be constructed across Borneo, enabling the celebrated wild man to come to town by steam next time.

Salt-Rising Bread.

Scald a teacup thoroughly, then fill nealy half full of warm water, stir in a pinch of soda and salt and thicken with graham flour or with Indian meal. Put in a warm place to rise. Do this during the forenoon. When it is light, set away in a cool place. Next morning stir together to a batter in a bowl of warm water and flour, then stir in the graham "rising." If kept warm it will rise in a short time. Put flour into the bread pan, make a hollow in the center of it, scald a little of the flour with boiling water, then cool with a little cold water, add a half-cup of sugar and a little salt and the risen batter. Mix well and set in a warm place to rise. When light mold into loaves and set in bread tins to rise again, then bake for thirty minutes.

BLOOD POISON THE BLACK FLAG

The black flag is an emblem of horror and dread. When it is hoisted by an army, the order has gone forth that "no quarter" will be given, everything must be destroyed. Helpless women and children, as well as opposing soldiers, meet the same fate, and a trail of desolation, suffering and death is left behind. Contagious Blood Poison is the black flag of the great army of disease. This vile disorder is known as the blackest and most hideous of all human afflictions, overthrowing its victims and crushing out the life. It is no respecter of persons; no matter how pure the blood may be or how innocently the disease is contracted, when this awful virus enters the circulation the hideous, hateful and humiliating symptoms begin to appear, and the sufferer feels that his very presence is polluting and contaminating. Usually the first sign of the disease is a little sore or ulcer, but as the blood becomes more deeply poisoned the severer symptoms are manifested, the mouth and throat ulcerate, the glands in the groins swell, a red rash breaks out on the body, the hair and eyebrows come out, and often the body is covered with copper-colored spots, pustular eruptions and sores. In its worst stages the disease affects the nerves, attacks the bones and sometimes causes tumors to form on the brain, producing insanity and death. Not only those who contract the poison suffer, but unless the virus is driven from the blood the awful taint is handed down to offspring, and they are its innocent victims. Blood Poison is indeed a "black flag." Mercury and Potash, so often used, never can cure the trouble. These minerals merely drive the symptoms away for awhile and shut the disease up in the system, and when they are left off it returns worse than before. This treatment not only fails to cure blood poison but eats out the delicate lining of the stomach and bowels, produces chronic dyspepsia, loosens the teeth and frequently causes mercurial rheumatism to add to the patient's suffering. S. S. S., the great vegetable medicine, is the conqueror of this vile disease. It goes down to the very root of the trouble and cures by cleansing the blood of every particle of the poison. S. S. S. does not hide or cover up anything but clears the entire circulation of the virus and puts the system in good healthy condition. It cures safely as well as certainly, because there is not a particle of mineral in it. We offer a reward of $1,000 00 for proof that S. S. S. is not purely vegetable. When the blood is purified and strengthened with this great remedy the symptoms all pass away and no sign of the disease is ever seen again; nor is there left the least trace to be handed down to posterity. Special book with instructions for self-treatment and any medical advice desired will be sent without charge to all who write.

S.S.S.
PURELY VEGETABLE.

Several years ago I had blood poison and my flesh was in an awful condition. Great sores would break out and nothing I put on them would do any good. My hair and eyebrows fell out and I was "a fright." My mouth was so sore I had to live on milk and water. I took Mercury for a long time and instead of getting better I continued to grow worse and my arms and hands became solid sores. My legs were drawn so I could not walk and I felt that my time was short here if I did not get some relief. I began to use your S. S. S. and it helped me from the start. After taking it awhile the sores all healed, my rheumatism was cured and to-day I am a strong, well man. It got all the mercury out of my system and it cured me sound and well. ADAM SCHNABEL.

To Get More Strength from Your Food

LOTS of people are starving with a full stomach.

You know, it's not how much we Eat, but how we Digest that makes us Strong, or Brainy, or Successful.

When the Bowels are filled with undigested food we may be a great deal worse off than if we were half starved for want of Food.

Because, food that stays too long in the Bowels decays there, just as if it stayed too long in the open air.

* * *

Well, when food decays in the Bowels, through delayed and overdue action, what happens?

The millions of little Suction Pumps that line the Bowels and Intestines then draw Poison from the decayed Food, instead of the Nourishment they were intended to draw.

This Poison gets into the blood and, in time, spreads all over the body, unless the Cause of Constipation is promptly removed.

That Cause of Constipation is Weak, or Lazy, Bowel Muscles.

* * *

When your Bowel-Muscles grow flabby they need Exercise to strengthen them — not "Physic" to pamper them.

There's only one kind of Artificial Exercise for the Bowel-Muscles.

Its name is "CASCARETS," and its price is Ten Cents a box.

Cascarets act like Exercise on the Muscles of the Bowels, and make them stronger every time they force these Muscles to act naturally.

The stronger these Muscles propel the food, the stronger does the friction of the food act on the flow of Digestive Juices.

The more of these Juices that act on food, the more Nutriment does that food turn into, and the richer nourishment do the little Suction Pumps of the Intestines draw out of it.

It needs only one Cascaret at a time to stimulate all the Bowel-Muscles enough, without purging, discomfort or loss of nutrition.

So, if you want the same natural action that a six-mile walk in the country would give you, (without the weariness) take one Cascaret at a time, with intervals between, till you reach the exact condition you desire.

* * *

One Cascaret at a time will properly cleanse a foul Breath, or Coated Tongue, thus proving clearly its ready, steady, sure, but mild and effective action.

A coming Headache can be warded off, in short order, by a single Cascaret, and the cause removed.

Heartburn, Gas-belching, Acid-risings in the throat, and Colicky feeling are sure signs of Bowel trouble from food poisons, and should be dealt with promptly.

One Cascaret will stop the coming trouble, move on the Bowel load, and free the Digestive Juices, if that one Cascaret is taken as soon as the first signs are noticed.

* * *

Don't fail to carry the Vest Pocket Cascaret Box with you constantly.

All Druggists sell them—over ten million boxes a year, for six years past.

Be very careful to get the genuine, made only by the Sterling Remedy Company and never sold in bulk. Every tablet stamped "CCC."

☞ FREE TO OUR FRIENDS!

We want to send to our friends a beautiful French-designed, GOLD-PLATED BONBON BOX, hard-enameled in colors. It is a beauty for the dressing table. Ten cents in stamps is asked as a measure of good faith and to cover cost of Cascarets, with which this dainty trinket is loaded. 717

Eminent Doctors Praise its Ingredients.

We refer to that boon to weak, nervous, suffering women known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Dr. John Fyfe one of the Editorial Staff of THE ECLECTIC MEDICAL REVIEW says of Unicorn root (Helonias Dioica) which is one of the chief ingredients of the "Favorite Prescription":

"A remedy which invariably acts as a uterine invigorator * * * makes for normal activity of the entire reproductive system." He continues "in Helonias we have a medicament which more fully answers the above purposes than any other drug with which I am acquainted. In the treatment of diseases peculiar to women it is seldom that a case is seen which does not present some indication for this remedial agent." Dr. Fyfe further says: "The following are among the leading indications for Helonias (Unicorn root). Pain or aching in the back, with leucorrhœa; atonic (weak) conditions of the reproductive organs of women, mental depression and irritability, associated with chronic diseases of the reproductive organs of women, constant sensation of heat in the region of the kidneys; menorrhagia (flooding), due to a weakened condition of the reproductive system; amenorrhœa (suppressed or absent monthly periods), arising from or accompanying an abnormal condition of the digestive organs and anæmic (thin blood) habit; dragging sensations in the extreme lower part of the abdomen."

If more or less of the above symptoms are present, no invalid woman can do better than take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, one of the leading ingredients of which is Unicorn root, or Helonias, and the medical properties of which it most faithfully represents.

Of Golden Seal root, another prominent ingredient of "Favorite Prescription," Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago, says:

"It is an important remedy in disorders of the womb. In all catarrhal conditions * * * and general enfeeblement, it is useful."

Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., late of Cincinnati, says of Golden Seal root:

"In relation to its general effects on the system, there is no medicine in use about which there is such general unanimity of opinion. It is universally regarded as the tonic useful in all debilitated states."

Prof. Bartholow, M. D., of Jefferson Medical College, says of Golden Seal:

"Valuable in uterine hemorrhage, menorrhagia (flooding) and congestive dysmenorrhœa (painful menstruation)."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription faithfully represents all the above named ingredients and cures the diseases for which they are recommended.

SKAGIT'S LOGGED-OFF LANDS SETTLED

At Prices Double Those Asked for Better Land on This Side the Sound

As a result of the campaign conducted by the Post-Intelligencer and other papers, directing attention to the value of logged off lands for dairying and ranching, many communities are being settled at a really rapid rate. One of the counties thus benefitted is Skagit. A gentleman who has been here for the past week looking for timber, and incidentally keeping his eyes open for a big block of logged-off land for a sheep ranch, says the Townsend Call, said to a Call reporter last night that every acre of land in his county is taken up by homeseekers as fast as the timber is cut, and at prices more than double the price asked in this county for even better lands from which timber has been removed. He was surprised at what he saw here in the way of farming lands and says it is only necessary to inform newcomers of the cheap-priced acreage we have here to get a big population. Skagit county has more than thribbled in population in the past ten years, largely from homeseekers from the East who have settled on lands from which the timber has been cut. He was surprised to hear of the slowness of settlement of this side of the sound, as compared with the other side, and hooted at the idea that we could not settle up this side without railroad connection. "Why," said he, "families have come from the East and settled way back in the hills, miles and miles from a railroad, and so far away that they never expect to live in sight of a railroad. They are people who did not come out here to work on a railroad, but to farm, and are more than delighted with logged-off land. Every farm cannot be on a railroad, and it is nonsense for the people of Jefferson county to wait for a railroad before they ask for more settlers." He also said that the logged-off lands of the county are more valuable as taxable property than when they were covered with timber, as such improved lands are assessed at highet values. "The lands of the Puget Sound country, such as make good farms," he said, "are more valuable with the timber off than with it on; at least that is the way we are finding it. All your people need to do is to show to homeseekers the lands you have here, and your county will settle up fast enough"

Afflicted with Rheumatism.

"I was and am afflicted with rheumatism," says Mr. J. C. Bayne, editor of the Herald, Addington, Indian Territory, "but thanks to Chamberlain's Pain Balm am able once more to attend to business. It is the best of liniments." If troubled with rheumatism give Pain Balm a trial and you are certain to be more than pleased with the prompt relief which it affords. One application relieves the pain. All druggists.

Always Keeps Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in His House.

"We would not be without Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is kept on hand continually in our home," says W. W. Kearney, editor of the Independent, Lowry City, Mo. That is just what every family should do. When kept on hand ready for instant use, a cold may be checked at the outset and cured in much less time than after it has become settled in the system. This remedy is also without a peer for croup in children, and will prevent the attack when given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, which can only be done when the remedy is kept at hand. THE RE-APPRAISEMENT townsite. It will be some little time before I can get this bill through. I hope, however, to get it passed and signed by the President before Congress adjourns.

My idea is to have the Secretary of the Interior designate one Special Agent of his Department; and then select two representative citizens of Port Angeles, and have these three make the re-appraisement. I desire the people of Port Angeles to make a determination of two men that will be satisfactory, and notify me. I think it would be well to select two men of some prominence, and perhaps officials of some kind. Of course there are private citizens there as good as any officials, but the Secretary of the Interior don't know that. A county or city official, the mayor, or the deputy collector, or some persons of that kind I think would be well. I will also have to ask that these two citizens contribute their labors gratis. I do not want to ask for an appropriation (even a small one) in my bill, as it might hinder its speedy passage, so I told the Secretary that I would furnish two good men for nothing if he would furnish the third.

I got the plat and it was a very great help to me.

Cordially yours,
Francis W. Cushman, M.C.

House of Representatives,
March 20, 1906.

Mr. J. Lloyd Aldwell,

My dear Mr. Aldwell: — Your favor of March 1st, sending me letter of the Club asking for the re-appraisement of the suburban tracts around your townsite, is at hand and I assure you that I shall be pleased to render every assistance in my power in this matter. I talked with Congressman Cushman about it and he says he a bill along these lines and I shall give him my hearty co-operation.

Very sincerely yours,
W. L. Jones.

Senate of the United States,
March 10, 1906.

Dear Mr. Aldwell:—I have your letter of the 1st inst. inclosing letter from Angeles Boosters Club in reference to the appraisement of the ten acre tracts in the west end of the townsite of Port Angeles. I note that the data and plats will be sent to Mr. Cushman, and I shall be very glad to co-operate with him in the matter. I thank you for your kind words concerning the improvements to the light on Ediz Hook. I am very glad to know that my efforts have been satisfactory to your citizens.

Yours very truly,
S. H. Piles.

House of Representatives,
March 7, 1906.

J. Lloyd Aldwell,

Dear Sir — Your letter, inclosing one from your Club relative to the re-appraisement of the ten acre tracts in the west end of your townsite, received. I will take up this matter immediately with Mr. Cushman as you have sent him the data and plats. I can assure you that I will be very glad to assist you in this matter.

Yours truly,
W. E. Humphrey.

Our Home Institutions

Our people are becoming more and more awakenod to the importance of patronizing home enterprises and building up Washington institutions. We think all of our people will agree that it is our duty to give home enterprises the preference at tae same price, and where such home institutions as the Northwestern Mutual Fire Association of Seattle are saving their customers from 25 to 40 per cent., there would seem to be little excuse for any of our property owners dealing with eastern companies on any class of property that this company will insure.

One would think the Laxative idea in a cough syrup should have been advanced long before it was. It seems the only rational remedy for coughs and colds would be to move the bowels and clean the mucous membranes of the throat and lungs at the same time. Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar does this. It is the Original Laxative Cough Syrup, the best known remedy for Coughs, Colds, Croup, Whooping Cough, etc. Tastes good and harmless. Sold by C.E.Nailor.

WOMEN AND FASHION

Fashion Is a Tyrant.

Florence Howe Hall declares to the readers of Harper's Bazar, that the sudden and enormous increase of luxury in America has dazzled our eyes, and especially those of the new possessors of wealth. "They are," she says, "so delighted by the pomp of life and the elegant appointments brought within their reach, that they overestimate their importance. They mistake display for gentility and fancy that good breeding consists in familiarity with the last fad in dress and furniture. There is no country in the world where fashion holds such absolute sway as it does with us, where poor as well as rich feel obliged to lay aside any article of clothing as soon as it is out of style. In the old world people are not ashamed to wear out their garments. The American woman has long felt an overwhelming anxiety about her dress—she now feels an undue weight of care resting upon her with regard to the appointments of her dining room. She makes haste to follow every new fashion in glass and china ware, in forks, spoons and table decorations so far as her means will permit.

"The inevitable result of attaching too much importance to trifles is that matters of greater moment are neglected. The woman who looks at manners from the standpoint of the caterer or the silversmith forgets that the essentials of good breeding are not affected by the fashion of the moment, and that these are of far more importance than the newest style in tablecloths. A lady is known to be one always and everywhere because refinement of bearing, voice and manner, together with courtesy toward others, characterizes a well-bred person in all lands.

"One who has inherited her silver plate from a line of distinguished ancestors is not troubled about the style of her teaspoons. Those who display so much anxiety about the paraphernalia of the table convey the impression that their position in the world has undergone a sudden change. There is no disgrace in being a new-rich man or woman provided one does not behave as if the money had gone to the brain, like strong drink. The overemphasis of the pins and particles of etiquette and neglect of the essentials of courtesy are not confined to the rich, but may be fairly set down as a consequence of the great and rapid increase of wealth. This has given us a plutocracy whose magical rise to social eminence has not allowed them time to realize the duties entailed on them by their new position. Many do not yet understand fully the meaning of the old French saying, 'Noblesse oblige,' while others, more thoughtful and more considerate, fully appreciate the responsibilities involved in their new privileges. They see that aristocracy in the true sense of the word consists not in having but in being. A lady may or may not be rich, but she must be courteous and well-bred in order to deserve the name of gentlewoman."

Attractive Shirt Waist.

A pleasing and attractive shirt waist design of cornflower blue silk, with a yoke of tucked gauze, inset with medallions of heavy lace. A richness not often observed before is imparted to the lace by the tiniest silk cording, which is used to cut out the patterns of the trimming. The Grecian border of silk finishing the yoke is stitched with narrow silk braid, and the deep mousquetaire cuffs are of tucked gauze and lace.

Married Women's Worst Failings.

Laziness—It is a married woman's first duty to do all she can for the comfort and happiness of her husband and children. Laziness leads to slovenliness and indifference. A woman indifferent to the condition of her home is a woman any man would do well to avoid. It is quite impossible for a lazy woman to perform the duties of her position satisfactorily.

Neglect of Personal Appearance.—There is something contemptible in a married woman's neglect of personal appearance. Having succeeded in winning her husband's love, she imagines there is nothing more to be gained by making the most of her looks once she is safely married. A man has every right to expect that his wife should be as trim and neat as the maid he wooed.

Jealousy.—The woman who gives way to unreasonable jealousy risks losing her husband's love and respect in return. Jealousy kills that mutual trust and confidence without which marriage is a meaningless farce.

Inhospitality.—The woman who objects to entertaining her husband's friends at home practically forces him to seek their society at the club and elsewhere.

Disloyalty.—The woman who is in the habit of discussing her husband's failings with outsiders, of comparing him with other people's husbands, or of mentioning his name slightingly, is disloyal both to him and to herself. The woman who so far loses her dignity as to do this deserves to forfeit the respect of her friends.

New Length in Coats.

A happy medium is struck in the newest tailored coats, and it is a comfort as well as a delight to the woman of average height. It is just a little longer than the hip jacket, and as much shorter than the three-quarter coat. Such a design is reproduced here, the coat being made of dark red cloth with black velvet and braid trimmings. The design is semi-fitting, and buttons in double-breasted effect.

Health and Beauty Hints.

Lemon juice is a harmless and excellent nail polish.

Sleeplessness is often produced by heavy bedclothes.

A cold in the head can often be speedily cured by inhaling burnt camphor.

Be careful to use only the mildest, blandest, purest, unscented soaps when bathing.

If nails are brittle soak them daily for five minutes in sweet oil, warmed to blood heat.

Alcohol baths will do away with goose flesh and rubbing with the oil of sweet almonds is also very effective.

The use of a fine comb should be severely frowned upon. It irritates the scalp and causes dandruff to form.

Eggs make an excellent shampoo for silver locks and a little bluing should always be added to the last rinsing water.

Lotions containing epsom salts and glycerin are very drying to the complexion, and in time will turn the skin yellow.

Many authorities advise the drinking of hot water half an hour before meals, upon rising in the morning and going to bed at night. Cold water, however, offers a greater stimulus to the organs of digestion.

Window Cleaning Made Easy.

A very simple contrivance will greatly lessen the labor of the window-cleaner, and enable her to stand firmly on the floor all the time. It is made from an old broom, which is no longer in the state to be of any use for sweeping. Cut off what bristles remain, leaving the wood bare. On to this wood nail firmly a strong flat piece of board, about one foot long and eight inches wide. This should then be covered with two or three thicknesses of house-flannel, fastened to it by tin-tacks, which can be easily taken out with a nail-claw whenever the flannel has to be renewed. The same sort of contrivance is useful for polishing the windows, but for this purpose wash-leather or linen should be drawn over the padding of flannel.

To Clean Furs.

Furs dark in color may be cleaned, first by brushing them well with a switch, after hanging over a line, then by rubbing well-heated cedar or mahogany sawdust into the fur, and brushing out again. The best way to remove the same after the cleaning is done is to put the fur side down on feather pillows, and beating thoroughly, or until all dust is removed.

If the furs are soiled at neck or wrist they may be cleaned with gasoline, of course, in a room or outdoors where no fire is. White furs may be cleaned with hot cornmeal (white), the same being rubbed into the fur, as described above for the dark furs with sawdust. Both the dark and white furs should be hung outdoors in a shady place after cleaning. Magnesia may also be used for cleaning light-colored or white furs. It should be used in cakes, and the cake rubbed upon the fur. The more difficult dirt such as axle grease, paint, and even pitch may be removed by means of spirits of turpentine or oil of turpentine. This is rubbed in well, and the fur afterward cleaned with ether.

Things Women Can Do.

The day of the helpless, incompetent feminine is past. It may be that a woman cannot heave coal on the furnace without taking long breaths. Also, when it comes to hustling furniture up and down stairs, she is distinctly at a disadvantage. Little things like that out of the question, however, what the average quick-witted feminine can't do around the house every whit as well as a man, and with about one-half as much fuss, is unknown to deponent.

The writer enjoys the honor of knowing women who, when the paperhanger failed to show up at the appointed time—as paperhangers have been known to do—mounted a stepladder with a bucket of paste and papered the entire apartment, ceiling and all, so beautifully that the paperhanger fell down in a fit of astonishment and envy when he saw it.

The writer also knows a woman who set to work and did over an ancient, moth-eaten suit of parlor furniture, reupholstering and polishing, until the neighbors are all green with covetousness and her husband regards her as a wizard in petticoats.

Another young woman is known who put in her spare evenings—she is employed during the day—"filling" and staining the floor in an entire house; moreover, set out the shrubbery, painted the fence, and mowed the lawn all summer, weeding the flower beds on odd evenings.

Tales could be told of young women who think nothing of enameling the parlor woodwork, "doing over" a bedroom set, or putting up a corner cabinet in the twinkling of an eye. Some can put in a new window pane quite handily; and one has even been known to put up a stovepipe with much more expedition and less profanity than is exercised by the average man at the same job.

All of which proves, or ought to prove, that women don't any longer sit down helplessly in the presence of necessities like these, and wait for a man to come along. No, indeed. There are a lot of them who only need to see that a thing has to be done, and who straightway get at it, without any superfluous language, and do it.—Chicago American.

Where Style Meets Comfort.

An unusually pretty model for a small girl's frock. It is made of heavy figured damask, being all in one piece. Inverted box-plaits run from shoulder to hem, and are held in at the waist with a girdle of the same material, finished with buttons. A vest of heavy white linen is fastened under a pointed collar of the same, and deep cuffs of linen finish the full sleeves.

How to Carry Money.

We are advised, by an eastern journal, that the safest way to carry money is in a small bag hung around the neck. This pocket can be made from a bit of ribbon, chamois, silk, or linen and suspended by a narrow piece of ribbon securely fastened. Have the little bag buttoned or hooked together, or use the patent fasteners, which are really most convenient of all. Wear this just inside your waist and you can get at it easily if you need to.

Of course, when a waist fastens in the back this bag is not available and the inside pocket must be relied upon. Drop loose change in small quantities into a coat pocket, but never a loose bill, as it will be blown or thrown out when you least expect it.

LITTLE MEN AND LITTLE WOMEN

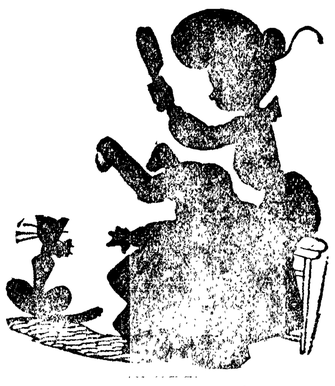
Billy's Luck.

Billy went a-hunting,
A-hunting for a bear;
But the only thing he shot
Was a baby hare.

Billy went a-fishing,
A-fishing for a whale;
But the only thing he caught
Was a wiggle-tail.

Billy went a-riding,
But the horse did kick!
Billy lost his balance,
And in the mud did stick.

Straightway home ran Billy
With a broken head;
And his mamma spanked him
And put him right to bed!



How Tom Made It Up.

One day little Tom played with his ball in the parlor while his mother was out, and he broke a pretty vase. When his mother came home she asked Tom how he came to break the vase. Tom explained to her exactly how he had broken it and said that he was very sorry. His mother said that she would forgive him this time, and he promised that he would not disobey her again.

The next day Tom, who had been thinking all the day before how to replace the vase, thought of a plan. He put on his hat and coat and started to the grocery shop.

"Want a boy to work for you?" he said.

"Yes," replied Mr. Martin. "I was just going to advertise for one."

"All right," said Tom. "I'll start in right now," and in a fortnight Tom had earned enough money to buy a vase exactly like the one he had broken.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Why We Say "Hello."

Long, long ago wolves were numerous in all parts of the world, especially in England. Wolf hunting was a favorite sport with the gentry, and to kill wolves was regarded as the sacred duty of all Englishmen. In fact, an old law reads: "All barons must hunt and chase a wolf four times a year." French was the language of the court at that time, so the burly old English hunters used the cry of the French wolf hunters, which was "Au loup! Au loup!" ("To the wolf.") These words, heard at a distance, sounded like "A loo," but the English, who always put an H on wherever they possibly can, put it on the words "A loo," and when wolf hunting shouted "Ha-loo." This form we use when we call "Hello," as no word has been found that carries so far or so well as hello. For this reason it is the accepted form of the telephone companies the world over.—Washington Star.

The Unreachable Coin.

Place a boy with his back against the wall, his heels standing firmly against it. Lay a half dollar on the floor in front of him, about a foot distant from his toes, and tell him it is his if he can pick it up without moving his heels from against the wall. In vain will he try to get the coin under the conditions prescribed.

Fresh Neckties for Boys.

Don't put up with shabby ties, boys. You are never too young to think a bit about your looks, and though most folks detest the boy whose heart is in his clothes instead of the place it ought to be, it's worth money and a reputation to keep clean and neat. When a tie gets shabby throw it in the waste basket and begin on another.

HE IS THE TALLEST SOLDIER.

Lieutenant in Kaiser's Bodyguard Is Over Seven Feet Tall.

Undoubtedly the tallest soldier in the world is Josef Handel, who has recently been made a lieutenant in the Kaiser's famous bodyguard. During the past year and before he became a soldier he was exhibited under the simple name of "der lange Josef" in the Berlin Panoptikon and other places of interest in the large cities of Germany as the tallest youth on earth, a distinction to which he is easily entitled, says the Cincinnati Enquirer.

Handel is not 22 years old, yet he stands 7 feet 8 inches in his stockings. Though he was earning a big salary he did not hesitate a moment when the Kaiser called him to his bodyguard in Potsdam. He would never have been given the honor if the Kaiser's physicians had not pronounced him perfectly proportioned physically and of sound health. A remarkable fact is that Handel's parents, who live in Leipzig, are people of ordinary size, as are also his brothers and sisters, of whom there are seven. Handel makes a picturesque figure in his guard uniform and the high helmet makes him look a veritable Goliath. Frederick the Great would have given his best pipe to have added such a giant to his guard of tall soldiers.

Proof of Insanity.

We come upon the auto standing upon the brow of the hill.

"Hello," he says to the chauffeur. "Broken down?"

"No, sir," he responds.

"Out of gasoline?"

"No, sir. We have plenty."

"Tire punctured?"

"No, sir. The tires are in perfect condition."

"Lost your way?"

"No, sir. The country hereabouts is very familiar."

"Dropped something from the auto?"

"No, sir. Nothing of the sort."

"Then why are you standing here? Why are you not shooting down the hill and across the level at a terrific speed?"

"I do not care to do that," says the owner of the machine, who has been silent until this moment. "I had my auto stopped here so that I might enjoy the magnificent view from this elevation."

With a frightened glance at him, we turn and hasten to the nearest town, to warn the officials that an evidently insane person is at large in an automobile.—Kansas City Independent.

Jefferson Was a Child Actor.

On the death of his father, at Mobile, Ala., young Jefferson and his sister were engaged by the local manager to play children's parts, sing comic duets and appear in fancy dances. In addition to this, he said: "I was to grind colors in the paint room—'assistant artist,' I was called on the bills—and make myself generally useful, for which services we were each to receive $6 per week."

At 13 years of age he was the chief support of a widowed mother whom misfortune had reduced "from leading lady to landlady." In reviewing the hardship of his early life, one cannot but feel how much he deserved the success which crowned his later years, nor is it to be wondered that, once achieving success, he never jeopardized it by experimenting with new plays so long as the old ones showed every evidence of popular favor. In this rough school of experience, then, where he indeed made himself "generally useful," Jefferson learned the art of acting, and, as well, the art of painting.—Francis Wilson in Scribner's.

Easy Way to Carve.

For Coughs and Colds

There is a remedy over sixty years old—Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Of course you have heard of it, probably have used it. Once in the family, it stays; the one household remedy for coughs and hard colds on the chest. Ask your doctor about it.

KNOW THE HORSES YOU BUY.

Points One Should Notice When Selecting an Animal for Purchase.

Never have a horse brought out or up or down to you, but go to his stall and investigate for yourself certain details which, once you know them, require no special acumen to decide upon or to be aware of, says the Rochester Herald. For instance, is there grain in the manger and the hour of feeding some time past? He may be a bad feeder, nervous, delicate. Is the straw under his fore feet unusually trampled or broken?

He may be one of these irritable, nervous "weavers" (horses which constantly sway from side to side), who are generally also bad feeders and poor property. Are the stall posts or sides battered or kicked? He may be a kicker (by day or night, spoiling his own rest and that of other horses). Does he tear or eat his blankets? Is he tied in any special way or simply and as other horses are? Is he gentle to approach and to handle—no nipping, kicking or pulling back on the halter?

Does he stand square on both fore feet or rest one or both alternately? Does he back quietly from the stall, picking up each hind leg without sudden spasmodic jerking? And when he turns in the gangway does he do so smoothly or does he flinch (in front) as if the boards were not even or his feet hurt him more or less. Are his eyes staring and expressionless, his ears always forward?—indications of defective vision.

Once out of the stall notice that he submits quietly to being wiped over and betrays no resentment while harnessing at accepting the bit, bridle, crupper, etc., etc., decorously permitting all necessary alterations and attentions. Accept no departure from absolute docility of deportment; for be sure that if the animal betrays either excitability, nervousness or vice in the dealer's hands he will be far worse with you, for you know you don't know and he will know you don't know—and those combinations spell trouble.

In the same way see him led out and put to the vehicle to which he is to be driven, noting each stage of the process, viewing him always with the icily critical eye of the individual who does not (yet) own him. Excuse nothing and make no allowances for less. If he makes a move you don't fancy say so frankly and look farther—there are plenty of horses.

An absent-minded woman one Sunday morning walked into church, took a front seat, and joined in the service vigorously. Then the collection basket was passed to her, and putting a coin in it, she looked about. She cast glances in every direction, her mind cleared, and an expression of amazement overspread her face. She got up. She hurried down the aisle. She overtook the man with the collection basket. "I'm in the wrong church," she whispered, and, taking out the coin she had put in, she hurried forth.

Tax Sale Declared Invalid

Last week, in Port Townsend, Judge Hatch rendered a decision which, from the amount of notice given it in the papers of that place, was evidently considered of grave importance. The case in which the decision was rendered was brought by John Stockand et ux. against T. F. Trumbull et al. and was brought to recover the possession of certain real estate which Stockand claimed to own but which was in the possession of the defendants. The title of Stockand was based upon a deed from the County, the County having acquired its title by virtue of a tax foreclosure.

On the trial the plaintiff offered in evidence the deed to the County, as the first step in his chain of title. To this offer the defendants objected for the reason that the deed did not appear to have been issued under the seal of the Treasurer as required by law. This objection was sustained by the Court and of course the plaintiff failed to make out his case.

Inasmuch as the Treasurer has never had a seal until one was authorized by the Legislature of 1903, it is assumed that a great many titles based upon the first foreclosure proceedings will be found similarly defective.

At this time it is impossible to tell how far-reaching in its effects this decision will be, if sustained by the Supreme Court, but if defects do exist it is better to have them uncovered now than later, when people have acquired these titles, believing them good, and have spent their money on improvements.

If there is a lesson in this situation, and we think there is, it is to be found in the loose, slipshod and reckless manner in which laws are passed by our legislature. The average legislator is selected by virtue of his political rather than his legislative ability. Unfortunately they don't seem to realize their shortcomings, and are no sooner installed in office than they get busy introducing acts, if for no other reason, to make a record.

This sort of legislation has produced that wonderful mosaic and marvel of inconsistency known as the Revenue Act. No one up to this time has been able to say definitely what its various provisions mean, and the Supreme Court has been kept busy construing things into that act and construing things out of it in an effort to make it consistent and enforcible.

A little judgment in selecting the material for legislators would go far towards removing such difficulties.

Time to Slick Up.

While a great many owners and renters of homes in this city have been at work faithfully for some time in sprucing up their yards and adjoining streets for the summer, says the Townsend Call, it is about time for the people generally to wake up to the fact that springtime is here and also the time for a repetition of the crusade against accumulated rubbish which was inaugurated last spring through the efforts of the ladies of the Civic Club. Nothing so brightens the appearance of a city as clean, well-kept lawns and yards and streets freed from rubbish. An hour or two a day for a week will accomplish wonders in the surroundings of any home and the work, aside from giving great satisfaction to the occupants of the property, also has rewards in store for the man of business who needs the exercise. Every householder should contribute his mite in brightening up his own premises. Don't wait for your neighbor to take the lead. It's up to you to show him!

TERRORIZED HIS FAMILY

But Not Crazy Enough to Overlook the Cash.

Andres Nylund, a resident of Ozette Lake, has skipped the country, taking a bank book showing credit of $500 and $50 in cash, leaving Mrs. Nylund 2 cents to support herself and five children. She is afraid to notify the authorities lest he should come back and murder the family. The neighbors think he is crazy. He has been acting strangly for some time. A few days ago he got his gun (an old army musket) and was running around the house with it loaded and cocked, and threatened to kill his wife; she was afraid to report the facts for fear he might kill her. The school had to be moved on account of his actions.

John Cain's Road Wins Out

The success of the Midway & Vernon Ry. in British Columbia is of considerable local interest by reason of the fact that Mr. John Cain of this city is President and principal promoter of the scheme. Some months ago its affairs seemed to be in excellent shape and a construction crew was at work and 12 mlles of grading completed, but owing to the active opposition of the Canadian Pacific the government subsidy which had been theretofore granted was withheld and the affairs of the company have been at a standstill for some time. The question of the right to this subsidy has heen the subject of a suit which has been on trial this week and dispatches from Victoria announce that on Thursday Justice Hunter held that the company was entitled to the subsidy. It is expected that work on the road will be actively resumed at once.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

RAILWAY MILEAGE

STATE OF WASHINGTON WILL LEAD IN CONSTRUCTION.

According to the Railway Age the Pacific Northwest Will Be the Great Field For Future Operations----Southwest Must Take a Back Seat.

Seattle, March 26.—According to figures compiled by the Railway Age, Washington leads all of the states of the Union in the amount of mileage now under contract for railway construction for the present year. The figures prepared give mileage under contract in this state at the present time as 1,000 miles out of a total of 13,014 for the entire United States. Montana is next with 438 miles.

In addition to the 13,014 miles under contract the table of fisgures prepared by the Railway Age gives 8,433 miles as live projects, which will probably be under contract within the next few months.

In commenting on the railroad situation the Railway Age takes the position that the greatest activity in construction of new roads will be centered in the Pacific Northwest during the next few years and the scene of many conflicts between the Hill and the Harriman systems will be here. The article in part follows:

Creates New Center of Interest.

"While there are many important lines under constrcution in the Southern and Southwestern states, which for many years past have furnished a larger percentage of the new mileage than any other group of states, the center of interest for the next few years will be in the West and extreme Nonrthwest, where so many important extensions are being built in the interests of the large Western systems. These include the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul extension from Evarts, S. D., to Tacoma and Seattle, Wash., approximately 1,500 miles, of which 1,000 miles are under contract; the Western Pacific, on which work is well advanced from Salt Lake City to San Francicso, 937 miles; the Denver, Northwestern & Pacific, from Sulphur Springs, Colo., to Salt Lake City, Utah, 470 miles, and the various extensions being built by the Hill and Harriman systems.

"The Hill lines, embracing the Great Northern, the Northern Pacific and the Burlington have 784 miles under contract in North Dakota, Montana, Nebraska, Idaho and Washington, and the Harriman lines, embracing the Southern Pacific, the Oregon Short Line and Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company, have 546 miles actually under construction in Texas, Nebraska, Idaho, Montana, California and Washington, with many other important extensionus surveyed or under survey, some of which will be placed under contract this spring.

Over 2600 Miles Under Contract.

"In the states of Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana and Wyoming over 2,600 miles are under contract, and while it is impossible to say what percentage of this mileage will be completed during the present year, the building operations in these states will be very active and will be watched with great interest, for this section of the country furnishes the stage for the various conificts between the Hill and the Harriman interests.

"The mild weather has made possible the continuation of construction work throughout the winter in many portions of the country, and if the promise of an early spring is realized contractors will be enabled to get an earlier start than usual in the North and Northwest, where active operations soon will be under way."

MUCH MONEY NEEDED FOR JAPANESE FAMINE RELIEF

New York, March 24.—The New York state branch of the American Red Cross has issued a statement as to the famine condition in Japan.

"The famine in Japan," the statement says, which has been considered for some time moderately serious, is now known, as the result of reliable private advices received by the New York state Red Cross, to be one of the most terrible starvation emergencies in modern times. The failure of the rice crop, which at one time was believed to be limited to certain places only in the northern provinces, has been found to be general in those portions of Japan, and conservative estimates place the number of starving Japanese at from 800,000 to 1,000,000 persons. For this there is no relief in sight until next year, when a new harvest will be available. The sum of $16,000,000 will be required to save the Japanese country peeple."

President to Lay Cornerstone.

Washington, March 24.—President Roosevelt will take part in the laying of the cornerstone of the new office building for members of the house of representatives on Saturday, April 7. The ceremony will be almost identical witht he laying of the cornerstone of the United States capitol by President Washington, nearly 113 years ago. The Federal Masonic lodge, which had charge of the ceremonies over a century ago will have the honor of directing the swinging of the cornerstone of the house annex into place.

QUARTZ IN KLONDIKE.

Considerable Number of Claims Filed Near Dawson.

Dawson, March 28.—Twenty patents to quartz claims in the Klondike have been issued within the past month. The required work has been done by the owners, and they now receive a perpetual grant from the crown.

A total of sixty grants have been issued in the Klondike. The ground covered by these sixty grants aggregates approximately 3,000 acres.

The patented property lies in no one portion of the camp. It is noteworthy that the property is scattered throughout the camp. Some is on Lepine, to the northeast of Dawson, some on Bonanza, some on Eldorado and some on the Indian river side.

The conglomerate still receives attention on the Indian river side, and a portion of the conglomerate has been patented.

Quartz has received a great deal of attention in the Klondike the last year. Some of the largest companies in the North have paid attention to quartz. The N. A. T. & T. last year ran a long tunnel in the hillside on the West Dawson side of the Yukon, directly opposite the city of Dawson. Several hundred sacks of ore were sent to smelters outside for tests. The company has not made public any results of the tests, and this fact is suspected by some to indicate that the copmany found the rock good.

On nearly every creek in the camp quartz has been exploited, and many properties have been developed at an expense of thousands of dollars.

One of the most promising recent quartz strikes is that on Gold Bottom creek.

APPLY FOR FRANCHISE OF LINE TO DAWSON

Seattle, March 26.—The Dawson correspondent of the Post-Intelligencer sends the following:

Notice is being published in Dawson papers that application will be made soon for a franchise for the building of a railway to Dawson by the Gand Trunk Pacific. The notice is published over the name of C. Dubois Mason, a Victoria, B. C., lawyer, as counsel for the railway people.

The company, according to the notice, is to be incorporated as the Mackenzie River, Fort Simpson, Laird Post & Yukon Railway Company, with power to construct and operate a line or lines of railway from a point at or near Port Simpson, at the junction of the Laird river with the Mackenzie river, Northwest Territory; thence running in a southwesterly direction to Laird Post at or about the junction of the Dease river with the Laird river; thence northerly along the Laird river to a point on the said river at or about which the 61st parallel intersects the said river; thence in a northwesterly direction along and between the Campbell mountains and the Finlayson lake to Pelly Banks Post on the Pelly river; thence in a westerly and northwesterly direction along the Pelly river as far as Earn river; thence in a northwesterly direction, as nearly as may be, in a straight line to Dawson city.

AMERICAN FEDERATION MAY GO INTO POLITICS

Washington, March 26.—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor has spent some time discussing the replies of President Roosevelt and Speaker Cannon to the bill of grievances presented to them and to President Pro Tem Frye, of the senate, regarding legislation affecting labor interests.

Mr. Gompers said the concluding paragraph in the memorial meant exactly what it said. That is, if congress fails to remedy the grievance, the organization will appeal direct to the pepole.

In other words, he said, the Federation of Labor will enter the field of politics and urge organized labor to elect men of their own choosing and thus have a personal voice in the government. There will be further discussions of the situation by the members of the council, upon whom the remarks of the president and Mr. Cannon have made a deep impression.

Mr. Gompers insists that the council is in the right regarding the statements set forth in the bill of grievances; that it has absolute proof of the representations made, and that the condition of affairs in the labor world everywhere is the best proof of its contentions.

ULTIMATUM OF MINERS DEMANDS SCALE OF 1903

Indianapolis, March 27.—The United Mine Workers of America, through John Mitchell, yesterday presented the coal operators their ultimatum on the dispute over the wage scale.

The demand of the miners is for a restoration of the wage scale of 1903, which is an increase of 5.55 per cent. Upon the receipt of the ultimatum the operators secured an adjournment of the committee of the joint conference for a day, when it is expected a definite answer to the miners will be given. It is anticipated that the reply will be a refusal. The fight in that case will be continued on the floor of the convention. At present there seems to be little prospect of an agreement.

DIRECT PRIMARIES

SEATTLE CIVIC UNION SETS THE BALL ROLLING.

Work of Organizing Direct Primary Leagues Throughout the State Begins---Will Endeavor to Elect Legislature Pledged to Favorable Action.

Seattle, March 24.—The direct primary committee of the Civic Union has sent out printed constitutions for the formation of direct primary leagues throughout the state in order that the supporters of the measure be organized for the campaign. The project, the committee believes, will be one of the most important to come before the next session of the legislature.

The constitution of the leagues sets forth that the object is to work to restore to the people the political rule now usurped by political bosses through the present system of caucuses, primaries and conventions. The league will hold meetings to enlighten the people on the benefits of a direct primary law and to oppose any candidate for election as a legislator who is not in favor of the law.

Officers are to be elected in each town or precinct when ten names are affixed to the constitution. These officers shall be a president, vice president, secretary and treasurer. At least one meeting of each league shall be held each month or at the call of the president. The only qualifications required to become a member of the league are that the signer of the constitution be a legal voter.

GERMAN INFLUENCE TO CONTROL MOROCCO

London, March 24. — Commenting on the Moroccan situation, the Outlook says there is very little doubt that the Algericas conference is on the eve of its last sitting and that an agreement will be reached, nomilally on the basis of the Austrian proposal, but in reality through the mediation of the United States. The plan, the writer, says, deprives Germany of victory in any dramatic form, but means nevertheless the defeat of all the original purposes of France and of the British policy on which the Anglo-French agreement was founded.

In concluding, the article says that Germany will be the most influential power at Fez, as she is at the Yildez Kiosk; that the campaign against the entente cordiale will be continued and that Germany will endeavor to destroy that compact by offering to support France in Morocco in return for French support for the Bagdad railroad.

"There is no Europe, and there will be no Europe," the writer says, "until England, France and Russia are drawn together in a definite league to restrain in cases of need the one power which holds the threat of war over the heads of its neighbors."

USE OF MAILS DENIED TO FAKE MEDICAL CONCERNS

Washington, March 26.—Orders have been issued by the postmaster general instructing the postmasters at New York and Brooklyn to refuse to admit to the mails the advertisements of fifty-two illegal "medical companies" located in those cities, and also to refuse to deliver mail matter received addressed to the fictitious and assumed names under which the parties conducting these concerns hide their identy.

This action at New York and Brooklyn is in line with efforts previously made by Postmaster General Cortelyou in Boston and Philadelphia to enforce the law against this class of criminal concerns. A statement given out at the postoffice department says:

"The condition of affairs which has developed under the department's investigation in all of these cities has been appalling. It was found in a large number of instances that those engaged in conducting these offices have criminal records and are "dope fiends."

MUCH SALMON FRY.

Canadian Hatcheries Will Soon Release Twenty-Nine Million.

Vancouver, B. C., March 24.—Twenty-nine million sockeye salmon fry will be turned out of the Dominion government hatchery at Harrison lake next week and started toward the sea. The fish are about three inches long.

The operations at the Harrison lake hatchery last fall and winter were attended with great success, and the season was one of the most profitable in the history of this propagating station. Although the capacity of the hatchery is placed at 30,000,000 eggs, there were hatched last season nearly 31,000,000 eggs.

The fish at the Seton lake hatchery, which is a provincial institution, will also shortly be released. The eggs from which the Seton lake fry were produced began hatching last November. Altogether this hatchery produced approximately 45,000,000 fry last season. All but 10,000,000 of the fry were reared in a novel nursery constructed by John P. Babcock, provincial fish conmmissioner, in the waters of Lake creek, about a quarter of a mile below the hatchery.

DOUBLE TRACK INTERURBAN

Puget Sound Electric Company Improvement Announced.

Seattle, March 26.—Jacob Furth, president of the Puget Sound Electric Company, has announced that the road will be double tracked between Seattle and Kent. This will involve the construction of about ten miles of new road between the race track and Kent. The service between Seattle and Renton has increased so rapidly that extra trackage facilities have been made necessary. As soon as the company lays its second line extra trains will be put on between Seattle and Kent.

The definite announcement of improvement in the electric line to handle local travel is intended by the Stone & Webster people to set at rest the various stories that the line has been sold either to the Canadian Pacific or the Harriman lines. Mr. Furth reiterated a denial of the sale when making the announcement of the new work.

SAY INSURANCE IS NOT INTERSTATE COMMERCE

Washington, March 24.—That there is no constitutional authority for federal control of insruance or other state corporations other than railroads is to be the conclusion reported to the house by the judiciary committee.

The report has been drafted by Chairman Jenkins of the committee and is now in the hands of members of the committee for their perusal. An unofficial poll of the members indicated that with practically no exceptions they concur in the correctness of this conclusion. The report collates all the important court decisions on the matter involved, treats each exhaustively and reduces the whole problem to these two principles:

"The supreme court of the United States has declared and has never been shaken or weakened in maintaining: First, that insurance is not commerce; and second, that congress cannot impair the police powers of the states."

The advocates of federal regulation conceded, according to the report, that insruance is not commerce.

The report sets forth section 8 of article 1 of the constitution as conferring the only power possessed by congress to regulate commerce.

"The question as to whether or not insurance is commerce has passed beyond the realm of argument," Mr. Jenkins says, "because the supreme court of the United States has said many times for a great number of years that insurance is not commerce."

STATE NOW READY TO HIRE OUT ITS CONVICTS

Olympia, March 24.—In reply to a request from the board of control for an opinion the attorney general has advised the board that convicts may be worked on the roads in their convict garb and that the convicts may also be employed in blasting and other work where there is possible hazard to life and limb, but that in the latter case the state should use all proper precautions to prevent accidents.

The board has been giving the matter of working the convicts a great deal of consideration and has had the advice of the attorney general several times on the matter. The board announces that it is prepared to furnish convicts to any county under the convict road law of 1903, which authorizes such employment, at actual cost; that is, the counties must be prepared to pay all the expenses of guarding, caring for and feeding the convicts and the furnishing of tools, etc.

There is a popular misconception of the law in the belief that the convicts may be worked along the roads on straight highway construction. This the law does not permit. All that the law authorizes is that the convicts may be employed at quarries or the like in the manufacture of crushed rock and other road material.

The board is unable to make any expenditures along the line of purchasing rock crushers, tools, etc., in carrying out the road work plan because no appropriation was made for that purpose by the last legislature.

CENSUS SUGGESTED.

Director North Thinks It Would be Good Advertising for State.

Washington, March 26.—Senator Piles recently wrote a letter to the director of the census protesting against his latest estimate of the population of Washington. The director gave the population as 586,000 in 1905, which was an increase of only about 80,000 over the enumeration of 1900.

Mr. Piles declared that the city of Seattle had increased in population fully 80,000 and that the rest of the state had, of course, grown enormously, making a total population of not less than one million.

The senator has received a letter from Director North in which the director does not insist too strongly on the truth of his estimate, but suggests that the state take a census of its own.

He intimates that this would do a great deal to advertise the state.

For Life Station and Tug.

Washington, March 26.—The senate committee on commerce has recommended the passage of the bill appropriating $200,000 for the construction and equipment of a life saving ocean going tug for service on the North Pacific coast, and a life saving station near Neah bay.

ALLISON CELEBRATES TWO NOTABLE ANNIVERSARIES.

SENATOR WILLIAM B. ALLISON.

Senator William Boyd Allison of Iowa, who the other day celebrated his seventy-seventh birthday, and the day following celebrated the thirty-sixth anniversary of his entrance into the Senate, has served in that body a longer period than any other member now on the rolls. He took his seat March 4, 1873, and since then has been re-elected five times. Before entering the Senate Mr. Allison served four terms in the House. He was born at Perry, Ohio, March 2, 1829, and was educated in the Western Reserve College. Subsequently he studied law, and practiced at the Ohio bar until 1857, when he moved to Iowa. In 1860 he was delegate to the convention at Chicago that nominated Lincoln, and in recent years always has figured as a candidate for the presidency. Mr. Allison has lived in Dubuque nearly fifty years.

Popular Science

Loss of sleep proves to be the curious effect that may limit man's mountain-climbing. Dr. Bullock Workman mentions that in his camp in the Himalayas at 19,358 feet, members of his party were kept awake by lack of breath, and on dozing off would suddenly awake gasping. He concludes that inability to sleep may itself be sufficient to keep climbers from going beyond twenty-three to twenty-five thousand feet.

On the apex of the Prince of Wales' crown, which he wears on special occasions, is a curious feather, or, rather, a tuft of periwak feathers, the top of which is adorned with a gold thread. This feather is said to be worth £10,000, and has the distinction of being the only one of its kind in the world. It took twenty years to procure it, and it caused the death of more than a dozen hunters. The reason the pursuit of the periwak is so dangerous is because it inhabits the jungles and other haunts of tigers.

Drafts over deep wells are usually due to changes of temperature or barometric pressure, air being forced in as the pressure rises and drawn out when the barometer is falling. But two wells in the Vicksburg Jackson limestone of southern Georgia have shown the strange phenomenon of a continuous indraft. This has been investigated by S. W. McCallie, who has found a rapid subterranean stream at a depth of about 120 feet, and it is supposed that the air is sucked in by friction and carried along until the water rises as a large spring.

East of the Missouri River in South Dakota more than 1,000 artesian wells now exist, drawing their water from the supply carried by the underlying sandstone formation, and supposed to come from the Black Hills and the Rocky Mountains. These wells, used mainly for irrigating purposes, are come from the Back Hills and the pressure of water in the eastern part of the State is sufficient to give a surface flow, except on the highest lands. One well at Springfield yields 3,292 gallons per minute, and furnishes power for a flour mill by day and for an electric light plant by night. The development of this source of water supply is still going forward.

The French chemist, Moissan, reports that in the electric furnace gold boils freely at a temperature of 2,400 degrees centigrade. In two or three minutes from 100 to 150 grams of gold pass into the state of vapor. In condensing upon a cold body, this golden vapor forms filiform masses and cubic crystals. At its temperature of ebullition gold dissolves a little carbon, which, at the moment of resolidification, is deposited in the form of graphite. In an alloy of gold and copper, copper distils first. In an alloy of gold and tin, the tin distils more abundantly than the gold, and when a large quantity of these mixed vapors is taken, the tin burns on contact with the oxygen of the air, forming oxid of tin, colored purple by a fine dust of condensed gold. This is an unexpected method of preparing the color known as "purple of Cassius."

KEEP DISCOVERY A SECRET.

Mexican Indians Refuse to Reveal Place Where They Find Rich Ore.

Some two weeks ago a Mexican, of buscon class, offered to sell me a considerable quantity of placer gold, which he claimed he had found within 100 kilometers of Tepisco, but he refused to tell where he had got it," said T. G. Gibson, of Tepisco, Sonora. "Among this gold was one nugget as large as an ordinary sized marble. A friend of mine bought this gold for $300 and a day or two later sold it for $565.

"It is no uncommon thing to find the buscones of that part of the country with gold for sale. This nugget"—here he exhibited a piece of smoothly worn wash gold of irregular shape and about half an inch long by a little over a quarter of an inch wide, with a piece of quartz running crosswise through it—"I bought from a buscon some three years ago in Tepisco. He had several other pieces of fine gold ore, but as I was not interested in mines I bought this simply for the purpose of making a pin out of it.

"About eight months ago a buscon brought into Tepisco a mule load of silver ore, which he sold for $260 to one of the local ore buyers. All efforts to induce him to reveal the place where he obtained the ore proved of no avail. When he found he was watched by spies of mining men he went back to work upon a little corn ranch that he had in the neighborhood, and there he stayed until those watching him got tired. About two months ago he suddenly disappeared and had not again been seen there at the time of my departure, two weeks ago. It is my opinion that he is again on the hunt for the mine from which he got the ore. Oh, if he knows where it is, he is taking ore out of it on the quiet; for he sold out all his corn and realized on his other crops at a sacrifice before he left.

"It may be that he is taking out denouncement papers. But this I doubt, as an Indian in that country rarely does that, for it means the payment of taxes and incidentally the revealing of the place where the mine is situated. The Indian about there has been so badly treated and cheated that he is afraid of every one and suspicious of even the mining authorities.

"The silver ore which this Indian brought into the town was an oxide almost jet black, running like a seam through a wide vein of hard lime formation. One of the pieces of ore brought in by the Indian assayed $1,800 to the ton in silver and $1,500 to the ton in gold. Very little of it ran much less. The man who made the assay has tried every means in his power to induce the Indian to tell him where the hidden mine is. But the best he could get out of him was that it is in the north, at a considerable distance from Tepisco, and that the whole region, which is on the borders of the hot lands, is seamed with veins of silver ore.

"Many buscones have been seen on the hunt for this hidden mine ever since the Indian brought in the famous ore some months ago."—Mexican Herald.

Chinese Eyes Are Straight.

Chinese eyes are straight in the skull, according to E. Lemaire in La Nature. They appear oblique, but they are not really so. Von Siebold, Abeldsdorff and Schlegel, the great authorities, all agree that the eyes of the Chinese are straight. The reason the eye appears oblique is that the upper eyelid and the general direction of the eyebrow are oblique; the upper eyelid at the side of the nose forms a special fold which covers entirely the angle where the lachrymal gland is found. In addition the lids are generally very thin and the eyes less open.
