The Commonwealth is sent this week to a large number of persons in Clallam County and elsewhere. in the hope that they will appreciate our motives and whether they agree with our views or not, will give us, by subscribing, a chance at least to make ourselves understood. To those who live in Clallam County, we would say, that your interests are our interests and that nothing so aids in building up a county as a live and aggressive newspaper and, to that end, in helping us you are helping yourselves.

AT LAST.

Since our last issue two important facts have become history. This Territory has become a State and Port Angeles has become a Port of Delivery, whatever that may mean.

The first is of importance to the Territory as it will give the people the privilege of exercising all the rights of self government. The first and preliminary duty will be the adoption of a constitution, and it is to be hoped that the convention, selected for the purpose of preparing that document, will be actuated by a liberal and patriotic spirit, to the end that our fundamental law may represent the intelligence of the present rather than the conservatism and bigotry of past generations.

If such is the case it will leave the conduct of affairs largely with the representatives of the people, and why not abolish that incumbrance to legislation, the senate at the outset and thus set a wise example for our sister-states? A Senate, state or national, is a nuisance and is begining to be so recognized by all progressive people. It is our representative of Monarchy. Let us have done with it!

The second fact which is of much interest to the people of this town and as much to the shipmasters of the coast, is the tardy concession of Congress to the demands of the coast shipping interests. The fingers of the Port Townsend boomers are recognized in the bill. It would not do to make this a full fledged Port of Entry at once; it might hurt Port Townsend! So, for some time to come, much valuable time must be lost by vessels coming to sound ports and shipmasters put to the inconvenience of going 40 miles out of their way to enter and clear, all for the benefit of real estate owners in Port Townsend. However, we are thankful for even the crumbs of justice that fall, stingily and with apparent accident from our master's table. Port Angeles has had protection to the point of exclusion. With us a port of delivery is a step toward free trade and we welcome it.

We publish to-day the recomendations of the Surveyor General to the Committee on Public Lands. In some respects the views of Mr. Breckenridge are correct; but we believe it to be a mistake to sell the lands with the timber. It would be better to sell the timber only to those who intend to cut it within a reasonable time. Timber land was sold in Michigan at $1.25 per acre and after being denuded of its timber was practically abandoned and was sold and resold for taxes for many years. That policy hindered greatly the settling of the state and led to endless complications in land tenures and no end of litigation. Such a contingency should be avoided in disposing of the timber of this Territory.

The Post Intelligencer takes the position that no possible benefit is likely to accrue to those who have piled in the the water front in Seattle harbor as the tide flats will one day belong to the city or state, and will be sold at their market value if sold at all but should be leased by the city or state at their annual rental value to those who desire to occupy them and in such case would one day furnish a large revenue to the great relief of tax payers. The Chicago Times recently stated that Chicago had made a great mistake in parting with city lands, the rents from which would have now nearly supported the city government.

IMPORTANT.

The movement on foot to open a trail by way of Lake Sutherland into the Quilayute country should receive the hearty co-operation of all residents of this end of the county and of Port Angeles in partilar.

Several parties have promised to donate work or money and the county will come to the rescue when the work is once started in earnest. If parties desiring to aid in the matter will send in their names we will list them for the use of the road supervisor when he is ready to lay out the work.

SILVER DISCOVERED.

We are informed by Mr. J. S. Coburn of Pyscht that prospectors have found silver in paying quantities on Beaver creek in this county. If true this will be an important element in building up the western portion of the county.

THE STATE OF WASHINGTON.

The Omnibus bill for the admission of the territories of Washington, Montana, North and South Dakota as States of the Union has passed both houses of Congress and was signed by the President on Washington's Birthday.

Under the provisions of the bill an election will be called for May 7th next to elect members to the Constitutional Convention. We understand that 25 districts will be created with population of 9000 each. The countries containing over this number will be divided into two or more districts while the smaller ones will be grouped together. Under this ruling King County will make two districts while it will take Jefferson, Clallam and possibly San Juan to make one.

Three electors are to be chosen from each district and to insure a voice for the minority, each voter can have but two names on his ticket.

In October an election will be called to vote on the constitution and to elect state officers, and if the constitution is accepted the state will be admitted by proclamation of the President.

The Representatives elected in October last will not make or mar their reputations by a trip to the Capitol as the present Legislative body will not meet. The one to be elected in October will have the electing of two Senators and the making of laws in conformity with the Constitution. Under the provision of the bill, School lands, (Sections 16 and 36) cannot be sold for less than $10.00 per acre, and if sold the money is to form a perpetual fund, the interest alone to be used for the benefit of schools. Another provision allows the school lands to be leased instead of being sold. This latter we consider the better way to do and this paper will advocate not only the leasing of school lands but the leasing of the water front lots of our towns and cities instead of, as many other states have done, selling the land for little or nothing to speculators. The rentals of water lots in a town will go far towards paying the expenses, and thus make taxes very light.

The towns and cities will then be able to encourage manufacturing enterprises by low rentals, and while it might work hardships to a few speculators, the community generally will be benefited.

In the forthcoming inauguration ceremonies Jeffersonian simplicity will be smothered beneath the gaudy flummery of imitation imperialism.

A Few Practical Facts for Senator Edmunds.

[BELFORD'S MAGAZINE.]

I am a physician practising in a small manufacturing town, and am doing very well so far as getting business goes—might even be able to save a little money if it were not for the bad debts. They make my income pretty small, considering the amount of hard work I am compelled to do; and the time spent in endeavoring to collect my bills takes a great many hours which, in justice to my patients who pay, ought to be used in brushing up my medical studies and trying to keep abreast with the rest of the profession.

It is hard to get out of a warm bed at night and tramp off a mile or so to look after a patient when you are not certain of ever getting your pay, and it seems to grow worse instead of better. The number of people who, because of their poverty, need a doctor the most are on the increase; and yet so long as they are not poor because of vicious habits, one really hasn't the heart to refuse when called upon.

I hear a great deal said about the prosperity of the workingman and the high wages he receives, but observe as a matter of experience that only a few are able to save enough to carry them through a few weeks' illness, let alone paying the doctor, who is forced to wait months and sometimes even years for his pay, getting it then a dollar or two at a time.

To be sure, some of my patients own homes of their own, but the most of them are in debt, a mortgage being about as regular an attachment to a workingman's house as a chimney.

Wages, too, are not quite so high as they were when I began practice: they fell pretty low at one time, and then, when human nature could endure it no longer, came a strike. The employers were horrified; there never had been a strike in this town before; the working men, women, and children all received high wages, "There is John Smith, for instance—earns eighty dollars a month. There is Miss Jones, who makes two dollars a day. There are some who earn even more." True enough! But one day I was called to see John Smith lying dead on his kitchen floor; fell dead on coming home from work, died in the harness, worked to death; a young man at that, and ought to have been good for twenty years more. His employers wouldn't have allowed one of their horses to work that way.

I remember the first time I ever saw Miss Jones—a bright, pretty, rosy cheeked girl, fresh from the country and proud to think that she could earn her own living; to-day you would not recognize her, bent, haggard, and worn; the rosy cheeks all gone; and the sunken chest and hollow cough too plainly prophesy the end is not far off. High wages? Yes! for flesh and blood are cheap.

Well, the strikers compromised, got a raise in wages of five per cent., with pay once a month instead of half at the end of the month, and the balance at the end of the year, as had been the custom. Most of the employers gave up the "pluck-me store" system, and we had better times.

Every year there comes family after family, all skilled working men and women, from over the ocean, and I begin to see men standing on the street corners looking for work, while every now and then one of the employers will cut down wages a little in some department of his factory.

I see the men and boys who were born here crowded out of their places by the imported labor, leaving town, and later hear of them beginning life over again in some western village, or taking up government lands on the prairies. If it were not for the emigration out of the town, wages would scarce be enough to support life, so fast does immigration to the town keep up with the demand for labor.

The place used to be full of little shops and the business was conducted by hundreds of small manufacturers who were but one remove from their men, in fact, it was no uncommon thing for a man to begin manufacturing for himself on the savings from two or three years' labor.

But now these small shops are used as tenements, and a dozen large firms do nearly all the business, crowding the few small manufacturers that are left closer and closer to the wall every year. This is because much of our raw stock has to be imported: we can make only a few kinds of our class of goods in this country. The large manufacturer, who is generally an importer also, is thus able to offer a full line of goods to the jobber which the smaller fry can't do.

The business is a highly protected industry, the people being taxed by a tariff of fifty per cent to support.

In this connection a few figures may prove instructive:

The total value of gloves manufactured during the census year was $5,718,539
For making which, labor received as wages $1,245,013 or 22 per cent.
And the raw material cost $3,404,937
Leaving a surplus to the manufacturers of $1,068,589 or 23 per cent.
Yet their capital invested was only $2,690,048.

The tariff of fifty per cent is sufficient therefore to enable the manufacturer to pay, not the difference in wages between European labor and American, but all the wages and twenty-eight cents on the dollar's worth of finished product besides; while—there being no tariff on labor—foreign labor comes to compete with home labor just so fast as the difference in wages will warrant the making of the journey from the old country to the new.

The tariff on gloves in an unfinished state is, however, but twenty per cent, and at that rate many gloves are imported so nearly finished as to require but little labor to fit them for the market; and here the large dealer who imports is able to obtain another serious advantage over the small dealer, and at the same time, while pretending to protect labor, defraud it.

The closing of the small shops, and the consequent driving of our people into large factories, hurts the best skilled workman in that it lessens the number of employers competing for his services. I have been a protectionist in the past, for I was taught to believe that protection raised wages; but the results of a careful inquiry as to cause and effect have shown me pretty conclusively that it does not and can not.

I have talked with many workingmen who are beginning to perceive that the tendency of wages to fall a little from time to time is due to the competition of the "pauper labor of Europe," which coming to this country, underbids them at the shop door, takes away their work, and turns them out to shift for themselves; while the employer, who is protected by a duty of fifty per cent, gets his labor in the lowest market and sells his goods in the highest.

Said a glove-cutter to me the other day: "Doctor, if all the workingmen born and brought up here and all that have come from the old country had remained here, wages would not be fifty cents a day. I understand very well what keeps wages up in America; it's the great West, with its free land acting as a safety valve; and the worst is that so much of it has been given to railroads or sold to cattle syndicates for a mere song. When the remaining free land is appropriated, God help the workingman!

"Yes, we're protected in all that we have to buy; food, clothing, and shelter, in a way that increases the cost to us; but in what we have to sell, our labor, we have no protection at all. They give us good wages, for if they did not we would emigrate to the West and leave them, and by reason of this confounded tariff they put up the price of all we need so high that wages, measured by their purchasing power, are not so large after all. If the difference in real wages was so great as the protectionists claim, there would be more immigrants coming from Europe in one day than do now in a year."

The workingmen have been educating themselves in the last four years, and are no longer to be deceived by superficial comparisons of the difference in wages between countries; they will also examine into the differences in conditions, productive power, and the like, which the protectionist statistician omits to do.

AN IMPORTANT MATTER.

Mr. Breckenridge, the Surveyor General, Makes Some Pertinent Suggestions Regarding Our Timber Lands.

U. S. SURVEYOR GEN'L'S OFFICE,
OLYMPIA, W. T., Jan. 2, 1889.

TO THE HON. CHAIRMAN OF THE COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC LANDS, HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES:

SIR:—Having held my position as Surveyor General of Washington Territory for two years and a half, and more, it has naturally followed that the practical operation of the laws of the United States in respect to the public lands and regulations and instructions of the General Land Office which are authorized, or supposed to be authorized by these laws, have constantly come under my observation, and that their policy and wisdom, as applicable to the public domain in Washington Territory and to the interests and welfare of its citizens, have forced themselves upon my consideration. It is in respect to these laws and to the rulings and regulations aforesaid, that I respectfully ask to submit some observations, which I have pursuaded myself are worthy of your consideration, and which, at the risk of having my motives misconstrued, I feel my duty to make.

Your committee is, of course, familiar with the acts of Congress relative to public lands, which have heretofore been passed and which now stand on the statute books, but it is entirely possible that you have not considered their provisions, nor the construction put upon them by, nor the consequent policy which has been inaugurated in the General Land Office, in in the sense that said provisions and said constructions and policy particularly bear upon the public interests in this Territory.

What is called the Puget Sound country, which embraces all the lands in Washingington Territory west of the Cascade mountains, is one vast forest, the area of which has been estimated to be equal to the State of Indiana. The act of June 3, 1878, entitled, "An act for the sale of timber lands in the States of California, Oregon, Nevada and in Washington Territory" (see U. S. Statutes at Large, 45th Congress, 1877-1879, Vol. 20, page 89) provides that surveyed public lands, valuable chiefly for timber, but unfit for cultivation, may be sold to citizens of the United States in quantities not exceeding one hundred and sixty acres to any one person, or association of persons, at $2.50 per acre.

The act approved October 1888, making an appropriation for the current fiscal year, provides that "the surveys shall be confined to lands adapted to agriculture and to lines of reservations," and the General Land Office holds, and has so instructed me, that "lands which are more valuable for the timber thereon than for agricultural purposes, come clearly within the inhibition of the act and that such legislative action tacitly approves existing surveying regulations, which prohibit "the survey of forests and heavily timbered lands."

Much the greater part of the Puget Sound lands are unsurveyed. In great measure they are lands of the character contemplated by the act of June 3, 1878, and in my judgement they ought to be surveyed, and the timber offered for sale by the government. An act for that purpose should be passed by Congress at its present session. I believe that such an act would be conducive to the public interest, would be of vast benefit to Washington Territory, and unqualified satisfaction to its citizens. As matters now stand two characters of wrong are being done, to prevent which such legislation is the only remedy. In the first place the valuable timber is being cut down and removed by persons who do not scruple to trespass upon the public domain, and whose acts are practically unrestrained, and unrestrainable. In the second place squatters or settlers go upon these lands, and in the effort to clear small tracts for cultivation, set fire to and destroy immense quantities of the timber. And upon this destruction and waste there can be, under existiug law no adevuate restraint.

In both instances, the government receives no benefit and sustains a loss, in property of immense value. A law providing for the survey of these lands and a sale of the timber on them, in such quantities and at such a minimum value as might be thought best, would be a great improvemont on existing legislation.

Time has demonstrated that the government cannot preserve or protect this timber, and, if it could, the requisite force and provision for so doing would cost more perhaps, than the timber is worth.

Surely it seems to me, it must be entirely possible to inaugurate a policy which will do more credit to Congressional wisdom, and more justice to the public interests.

The question is narrowed down to this: Is it better to have the timber destroyed or stolen and to go on making efforts to prevent it and spending money fruitlessly in so doing, or is it better to put the timber up at public sale and receive, in some measure, its value? It would seem that such a question might be answered without hesitation. The settlement and prosperity of the Territory would be greatly advanced by such a change in the law.

The extension of the public surveys so that all of these Puget Sound lands would be surveyed without further delay would alone be of great benefit. For the sale of timber would in time, result in clearing land and fitting portions of it for cultivation.

But as I have said, the settlers on these lands endeavor to clear off the timber with fire, and the waste and destruction that results is immense, and the stealing is almost without limit and cannot be prevented. A sale of the timber by the government (except what is necessary to reserve for naval purposes) would prepare the lands for settlement sooner, the timber would become an article of personal ownership and merchandise, the lands would be rapidly cleared and put in cultivation wherever the soil justified it, and western Washington would, at an early day become a thickly populated country.

I respectfully submit the foregoing as the expression of a disinterested and carefully considered judgement wherein I have aimed to regard the best interests of the government and to promote the growth and prosperity of Washington Territory.

J. C. BRECKENRIDGE,
U. S. Surveyor General, Washington Territory.

The Henry George Campaign.

We clip the following from the London (England) Democrat:

The arrangements for the forthcoming campaign are going on with great briskness and the applications for meetings are coming in from all parts of the kingdom. In London the first meeting will be held in the Congregational Chapel, in Wren-road, Camberwell. On the 2nd April Mr. George will speak at the Westminster Chapel. Other meetings are being arranged amongst the London political clubs. Meetings have already been arranged for at Reading, King's Lynn, Woolwich, Newport, Bristol, Newcastle, Gateshead, South Shields, Sunderland, and Cardiff.

To show the interest that is being evinced in the campaign, we give the following quotations from letters that have been received.

"The public mind is now open, and ready to receive education. No one is equal to Mr. George for the work."

"I have studied the Land question from every point of view, and the more I am convinced that the present system is the cause of the greater part of the want and misery which abounds in country, town and city.

"The time seems ripe for a course of lectures by Mr. George."

An English landlord writer:—"I enclose a cheque for £10 and shall be happy to give £40 or £60, or even more if necessary."

Other sympathisers write in a similar strain; working men are taking the question up and some of them are sending in their subscriptions, thus showing they are not only interested in hearing Mr. George's engagements for March.

An old Story.

A man was walking along one road, and a woman along another. The roads finally united in one, and reaching the poing of junction at the same time they walked on together. The man was carrying a large iron kettle on his back; in one hand he held the legs of a live chicken, in the other a cane, and he was leading a goat. They neared a dark ravine. Said the women, "I'm afraid to go through that ravine with you; it is a lonely place, and you might overpower me and kiss me by force."

Said the man, "How can I possibly overpower you when I have this great iron kettle on my back, and a cane in one hand, a live chicken in the other, and am leading this goat! I might as well be tied hand and foot."

"Yes," replied the woman, "but if you stick your cane in the ground and tie your goat to it, and turn the kettle bottom-side up and put the chicken under it, then you might wickedly kiss me in spite of my resistance."

"Success to thy ingenuity, O woman!" said the rejoicing man to himself. "I should never have thought of this or similar expedients."

When they came to the ravine he stuck his cane into the ground, and tied his goat to it, gave the chicken to the woman saying, "Hold it while I cut some grass for the goat;" and then, so runs the legend, lowering the kettle from his shoulders, he put the fowl under it and wickedly kissed the woman, as she was afraid he would.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The bill for purchasing a cable for the line from Tatoosh to Neah Bay has passed the Senate.

Capt. Geo. H. White of this place has taken command of the Str. Pioneer, Capt. Giant having resigned.

Don't forget to attend the entertainment at the Opera House, East End, March 5th. The leading musicians and recitors in Port Angeles will take part in it.

Julius E. Krueger while amusing himself poling a log to the mill fell into the bay Tuesday. He is a good swimmer, but having heavy gum boots, he came very near being drowned.

D. B. Veazie formerly in charge of the store at Port Discovery is about to open a dry good and furnishing store at Port Angeles. He will be a welcome addition to our town and we bespeak for him a liberal patronage from the people of our County.

A starch factory is soon to be erected at New Dungeness. A small sawmill, a grist mill and a shingle mill are needed there also. These are all paying industries and the residents of the place will give every opportunity and assistance to those wishing to engage in them.

Next Tuesday evening an excellant entertainment will be given by the ladies of the Congregational Church. It is hoped that the people will all turn out. A free lunch will be served at the close, and an opportunity for a social talk among the people.

Within the next thirty days our town will receive additions at the West End in the shape of our stores, viz: Hardware stoves, etc.; dry goods, furniture, building material. We are not at liberty as yet to give the names of the parties, but as arrangements are about completed we hope soon to be able to comment at length.

Owing to the number of Land Notices received, our reading matter has had to be cut down accordingly. Should there be signs of the rush continuing, we shall enlarge the paper within the next few weeks. In the meantime we ask the indulgence of our patrons.

It now behooves the people to wake up and join together for the improvement and building up of Port Angeles. All sectional issues and petty jealousies must be dropped and all must work for the common good. We should know no East End, no West End, and any one who makes these distinctions is not a friend to the town, but is rather a stumbling block in the path of our progress. One of the first things to do, is the viewing out of a trail to the Quillayute. This trail will open up a large area of country for settlement, and give the coast people an opportunity to come here for supplies and furnish them a market for what they raise. The importance of this work to Port Angeles is beyond computation, and every citizen should subscribe liberally in money or work for its accomplishment. The County will do her part as soon as it is shown that a feasible route is found. Let us be up and doing.

WANTED.

To engage in a paying business. A partner with $500 cash. Address "H" care of COMMONWEALTH, Port Angeles.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. NEW YORK, Dec. 31, 1888.

Editor COMMONWEALTH.

GENTLEMEN:—Please accept my thanks for the two copies of the COMMONWEALTH received a few days since. The able article on Clallam County was read with much interest—it having been my home twenty-two years ago. I was at the coal mine about thirty miles below Port Angeles, when the bark Moneynick arrived and took in the first cargo of coal shipped to San Francisco from Clallam County. And there is plenty of coal there yet. I have no doubt when the County shall become more explored and opened up that "gold" will be found in paying quantities.

To any of the old pioneers of the County who may be living, I send them a New Years greeting and don't forget their kindness extended to us many years ago when traveling from Clallam bay to Port Townsend in our large canoes. We always found their latch string hung on the outside of their door whenever night overtook us, or too heavy wind prevented us proceeding on our trip.

Enclosed find amount of my subscription for one year in advance for the COMMONWEALTH, and wishing you greater prosperity in the New Year I am

Yours Very Respectfully,
DAVID A. EDGON.

SECRETARY'S CORNER.

The Secretary's Corner will be a permanent institution hereafter. We will gladly reply to any inquiry sent us. Make them short and to the point. Remember there are from 500 to 1500 who have their eyes upon these pages each week and each one may want to be heard.

To Correspondents.

Write as often as you feel inclined, but be sure to have your inquires in short sentences. If you desire your letters published, write upon on side of the sheet only. We will reply to any inquiry whether connected with the Colony or not. If a personal letter is wanted, inclose stamps to cover postage.

That we have the ground-work for a great line of industry within the limits owned by the Colony, goes without saying. We have the raw materials in great abundance. We have hundreds of members who are only too willing to provide all the labor necessary to conduct many industries, the one thing lacking—and the only thing, is capital. In one sense we have that, as we have an abundance of real estate that in time can be converted into capital. Every one who can look into the distant future, can realize the fact that if it can be held intact for the entire Colony, it will in a few years provide four times the amount it will bring now if forced upon the market. At the liberal estimates we have placed upon the lots in the First and Second Additions, they alone will provide a fund of about $14000. This is sufficient to pay off all the interest bearing debt and have a good sum for working capital. But some times it is good policy to tide a matter of this kind over seven years of time, so that advantage may be taken of future opportunities. Several good, level heads in distant parts of the country, have frequently suggested: Start a subscription for a $20,000 fund with the promise that nothing is to be paid in until one-half the amount is subscribed, and permit the balance to be paid in installments. This has met with the approval of many, but only three have indicated the amount each was willing to subscribe. These level heads realize that any enterprise of whatever magnitude, requires considerable capital. Ours requires a vast capital and until it has it, it will be a struggle to gain our standing financially, as it is with all who do pioneer work in country or in any enterprise.

These level heads say—"Keep your lands—let us raise this money by taking shares in the capital stock, just as we would in any other enterprise, the lands and the machinery we should buy, will be sufficient security for our shares. This is not only sensible, but it is practicable and our experience should tell us by this time that it is the very thing to do.

These three men offer over one-tenth of the necessary amount, We know of several others who are able to contribute nine-tenths, but probably will contribute at least four-tenths, which would in the course of a year assure the raising of the whole amount, if we could convince them that nearly the whole amount would be contributed.

This is wholly a volunteer proposition. It originated with Arnold C. Spear of Freshwater, Cal., who offers $500 to start with. Two others, whose names we do not wish to mention just now, offer $1000 each. Now, the best service rendered is generally volunteer service. It was the volunteers who did the best fighting in the late war; and it is the volunteers at a house raising who do the heaviest lifting and most work. We believe in it, as no force is required. It comes with good wishes and apart from selfishness. Our books are now open and we anxiously await the promptings of each heart.

With $20,000 we could pay every dollar of our pressing debts and have capital sufficient to start many industries successfully. We could double the capacity of our mill and get things in shape for filling foreign orders, we could complete our tramway to our timber and open up a source of wealth that would in the near future prove to be a bonanza to us. $20,000 is not a great thing if divided proportionately among 400 able-bodied men. There are more than this number connected with this enterprise, and three of them are willing to pay in one-eighth of the entire amount, what are the other 397 willing to do? Time will tell.

Parties coming to Port Angeles to invest in real estate should pay no attention to the reports, industriously spread by certain inhabitants of the town more interested in one end than the other, to the effect that the colony's title to certain lands is not good; suits are to be begun for this property; An injunction against the further sale of that property is about te issue, etc. These are lies made of whole cloth and the parties spreading them know it. The colony has a good title to every piece of land it offers for sale. It is as much interested in one end as the other and does not endeavor to prejudice any one against other people's property. No honest man would engage in spreading such vile slanders. However, men who make such work a trade will do any kind of black mailing to accomplish certain ends.

We have complete abstracts of title for every piece of property we leave on the market and never insist that any one shall buy until he is satisfied that our title is perfect.
