VOL. LXII. NO. 48. Port Angeles, Washington, Friday, February 20, 1948 6 Pages THE OLDEST WEEKLY IN CLALLAM COUNTY

County Doesn't Own Airport; Powerless To Make A Transfer

Clallam county commissioners cannot turn over the Clallam county airport at Port Angeles to any other administrative body for management because the county does not own the airport, Commissioner Robert O'Brien said yesterday. He explained the United States government still holds title to the airport.

The Port Angeles Aviation Group and Chamber of Commerce aviation committee February 11 proposed the transfer because the port district has a full time manager to care for its properties, and has more flexibility under the law to dispense its funds where needed.

County, city and port district commissioners, representatives of the Aviation Group and the Chamber of Commerce aviation committee met at the courthouse and discussed for an hour and a half future airport management and the possible transfer of the property to the port district.

Port Commissioner Fred Strange said the port district is willing to accept the airport property and manage it, but added the district must have clear title to the property before it can spend any money on it.

COUNTY INTERESTED

County commissioners assured the group they are vitally interested in developing the airport and have tried to make it self-supporting.

Commissioner Fred Evans said the county is at present negotiating for additional land in Gales addition to complete the 250-foot square area necessary to set up the radio range. The civil aeronautics administration will have to approve the site before the county can install the range there.

O'Brien said the range equipment is ready for transfer to Port Angeles from the west end of the county.

CITY TO PROTECT RANGE

City commissioners reiterated their statement they will not stand by and see the county lose the range for lack of funds to set it up. City Commissioner E. C. Steele said the city might not give money but could furnish labor.

The county has appropriated $1,500 for the purpose and estimates entire cost at $3,500.

All spokesmen urged county commissioners to consider transferring the airport property. Mayor Fred Epperson said he believes a full time manager can do a better job of administering the airport than the part time consideration county commissioners are able to give it.

County Commissioner Fred Evans said he favors holding a public hearing on the question of transfer.

WEST END OPINION

West end commissioner A. A. Fletcher said he thinks west end residents are not in favor of paying taxes to the port district to help run an airport which only serves the Port Angeles area. To support this he had Commissioner Evans read a letter from the Forks Chamber of Commerce suggesting the county keep the property. The Forks chamber proposed local residents be asked to vote upon formation of an airport district, tax funds from which would go to the airport's development and maintenance.

Commissioner O'Brien said he favors the transfer, but that it cannot be done until the county again owns the airport.

In conclusion Commissioner Evans said county commissioners will try to regain title to the airport, and will investigate airport management in other districts during a trip they plan to make shortly.

CITES BENEFITS

Emerson Lawrence, spokesman for the aviation group, urged serious consideration of the transfer saying the entire county will benefit from a well operated airport here. He also pointed out the airport is in need of certain repair work such as removal of trees growing on runways. Lawrence said he realizes county funds are limited, but the port district could use its funds to cover such maintenance work.

Mayor Epperson and Commissioners Steele and William S. Johnson represented the city. Port district commissioners present were Hayes Evans and Fred Strange with Port Manager Henry Davies.

Among others present were R. E. Lieurance, Leo Walsh, Leo White, Emerson Lawrence, Jack Woodson and Howard Doherty.

Truman Hops Off for Southern Vacation

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Truman left by plane at 10:32 a.m. (EST) today on a 15-day trip to Florida, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Cuba.

His first stop is the Boca Chica airport near the Key West, Fla., submarine base where he will spend the night. The flight was expected to take about four hours.

Secretary of State Marshall was in the small crowd to see the plane take off.

Asked whether he had anything to say before starting, Mr. Truman replied with a smile:

"I'm just as happy as I can be."

Several aides, including Adm. William D. Leahy, personal chief of staff, accompanied the president.

He will visit in San Juan tomorrow with Puerto Rico's first native-born governor—Jesus T. Pinero—and on Sunday with William H. Hastie, negro governor of the Virgin Islands.

Both the governors are Mr. Truman's personal appointees.

WANTS FISH INCLUDED

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Informed that canned fish will not be included in European relief supplies, Rep. Tollefson (R-Wash) said today he would urge that dollar credit be furnished European countries to buy such supplies in this country if they desire.

Dollar Shrinkage in 17 Basic Foods Traced Through Newspaper Ads Since Start of War

CHICAGO —(AP)—The housewife's shopping dollars now have more purchasing power than a month ago, but won't buy nearly as much as a year ago, shortly after removal of price controls.

They're still worth less than when price controls were in effect and are hardly recognizable when compared with the big dollars just a few months before world war II, seven years ago.

That was when ham was 21 cents a pound, margarine two pounds for 17 cents, butter and beefsteak 33 cents a pound, and tomatoes seven cents a can.

Food prices went places after that —as also did per capita income.

A check of 17 basic food items shows how far prices rose. Chain store advertising published in Chicago newspapers on the third Thursday of February in 1941, 1946, 1947, and yesterday was the source for the survey. A comparison also was made a month ago.

A beefsteak dinner, with potatoes, stewed tomatoes, bread, butter or margarine, and coffee or milk would size up like this at the market basket:

STEAK AND POTATOES

Beefsteak is advertised at 69 cents a pound this week end. A month ago it was 79. A year ago, four months after price controls went under, it was 55. Under price controls in February, 1946, it was 39, and before the war 33 cents a pound.

Ten pounds of potatoes were 59 cents now and a month ago, 39 a year ago, 49 two years ago, and 38 seven years ago. Canned tomatoes (No. 2 size) were 13 cents each can now and a month ago, and 23 cents a year ago. In 1946 they were not advertised, and before the war were seven cents a can.

BREAD AND BUTTER

A 20-ounce loaf of white bread was 14 cents yesterday, 15 cents last month, 13 cents last year, and 10 cents the year before. The popular size in 1941 was 16 ounces and it cost a nickel a loaf.

Butter held to 83 cents a pound this week end and a month ago, but was 76 cents a year ago, was not advertised in 1946, and was down to 33 cents before the war. Margarine averages 39 cents a pound now, was 41 a month ago, 43 a year ago, 23 in 1946, and nine cents in 1941.

MILK

Turning to the beverage, milk was two quarts for 41 cents yesterday and a month ago, 37 cents last year, 29 in 1946, and 21 prewar. Coffee was three pounds for $1.15 now and a month ago, three for $1.00 a year ago, 59 cents two years ago, and 37 cents in 1941.

These were advertised prices in Chicago. They would, of course, vary elsewhere.

Ballot May 1 on A Fire District for East End Rural Area

Rural residents in the east end of the county will vote in a special election May 1 on the question of creating fire district three proposed for that area, and three fire district commissioners.

Roughly the district would extend from the east boundary of fire district two at Siebert's creek, to Blyn. North boundary would follow the strait and the south boundary approximately would parallel the Agnew main irrigation canal. Residents on the east side of Washington harbor also would be in the district.

The town of Sequim is not included in the district, and has its own fire fighting equipment and volunteer firemen.

Sequim firefighters and fire district volunteers would answer calls in the new district.

The commissioners selected the names of George W. Spath, Nicholas Huehslein and Henry Lotzgesell to appear on the ballots as candidates for fire district commissioners. Voters may write in the name of any other person they wish.

A three-fifth majority of all votes cast is necessary to create the district.

County commissioners set the election date Wednesday after conducting a public hearing on the proposition. Nobody opposed the district, but four east end residents spoke of its advantages to rural property owners who could call trained firefighters in emergencies.

Those speaking in favor of the district were Del Ray, George Spath, Henry Lotzgesell and Max Schmuck.

Sections of Europe Gets Coldest Weather

LONDON —(AP)— Southern England, western Europe and Scandinavia experienced the coldest weather of the winter today.

Cold and snow drove marauding packs of wolves down from the Sila mountains in southern Italy. In northern Norway, wolf packs raided cattle herds, causing such losses that military planes were sent out to shoot them down.

The frigid weather will continue and still lower temperatures are in prospect, weather forecasters said.

In the big cities of Germany authorities opened warm public warming halls. These quickly filled with families from homes unheated because of the fuel shortage.

Paris was covered with snow for the first time this winter.

Elk, cut off from food by the snow wandered into the streets of Norwegian towns and villages.

Man and Boy Die Under Pile of Coal

NEW YORK —(AP)— Fuel company workers efforts to save a schoolboy failed last night as both died under 20 tons of coal cascading into the hopper of a Brooklyn coal yard.

The youth was identified as Timothy Schempp, 13 and the man who died with him was Jack Apollo, 33.

Apollo was working in the yard when he saw the boy perched atop a load of coal about to be dumped from a railroad car into the mouth of the hopper. Apollo scrambled up on the car. But at that instant the load was released. It disappeared into the pit with a roar, carrying Apollo and the boy with it.

Court Action to Halt Ferry Tie-Up Asked by Revelle

OLYMPIA — (AP) — State Transportation Director Paul Revelle today requested Atty. Gen. Smith Troy to start immediate court action to prevent suspension of ferry service on Puget sound.

At the same time Revelle issued an order directing the Puget Sound Navigation Company to continue service without interruption under its present schedule.

The order directed the company to withdraw its notice that it plans to abandon service midnight Feb. 29. It also orders the company to advise the department by Feb. 24 that it is continuing service and has revoked its notice of a ferry stoppage.

Revelle also requested Troy to appoint Clifford Hoof as a special assistant attorney general to represent the public and the department in the controversy. Hoof is attorney for the northwest community council which has been opposing the ferry company's request for a permanent 30 percent boost in rates.

The ferry company has threatened to halt its service on intrastate lines midnight Feb. 29.

The company has served notice to the state and public that service will be stopped unless the state takes it over on a temporary basis to get some first-hand experience with ferry finances. This dispute arose over state refusal to allow a rate increase of more than 10 per cent after the firm had boosted rates 30 per cent.

Revelle said last night that the state's court case will be based on a 1911 law giving the transportation department authority to force a public utility to continue operations under its state certificate for non-competitive service.

Revelle also said it would be "impossible" for the state to make a new study of Puget sound ferry finances on the basis of complete 1947 figures. He said "every detail of the company's operations since 1937 was carefully considered" in a five months' hearing during the first half of 1947.

Capt. Alex M. Peabody, company president, has contended that full 1947 figures, with business on the decline, should be included in a new rate study.

BAINBRIDGE PREPARES

WINSLOW —(AP)— Bainbridge Island residents were preparing today to handle their own transportation to Seattle in case ferry service is stopped Feb. 29, as announced.

Bob Rodal, chairman of the island's Chamber of Commerce public utilities committee, reported today the chamber has taken an option on the cruise ship Virginia V. He said actual operation probably will be by the town of Winslow, which is incorporated and has liability insurance.

The vessel can carry passengers and freight but not automobiles.

Murray and CIO Plead Innocent To Federal Count

WASHINGTON—(AP)—CIO President Philip Murray today pleaded innocent to charges of violating the Taft-Hartley act's ban against union political expenditures.

Murray's attorneys then moved that the charges be dismissed. They argued that the ban violates freedom of the press and is unconstitutional.

Judge Alexander Holtzoff set February 27 as a tentative date for argument of the motion in U. S. district court. He set March 22 as the date for Murray's trial in case the charges are not dismissed.

Murray also entered an innocent plea for the CIO itself. The CIO was indicted with Murray.

Stops Withholding Federal Income Tax

WESTPORT, Conn. — (AP) —Miss Vivien Kellems, Westport industrialist, said her firm today stopped withholding federal income taxes from her 38 employes.

She said she was going to do it in a talk last Friday before the Los Angeles Rotary club.

Today was the first pay-day here since that speech.

She has offered to fight the issue out with the government in the courts.

DRIVERLESS AUTO IN WILD PLUNGE; LANDS ON ITS TOP ON BEACH

An automobile owned by Earl Stone, 131 East Front street, plunged over the sidewalk, through a guard rail and landed upside down on the beach in the 200 block of West First street shortly after midnight.

Police give this version of what happened:

Stone couldn't start the engine. He thought the gears were in neutral, but apparently they weren't because when Stone began tinkling around under the hood, he touched what it took to make the motor run. It started, and the car, in gear, proceeded on its course, halting only after being "beached."

City firemen stood by while a wrecker hauled the vehicle back to the street.

Bridges Ordered: Disavow 3rd Party Or Quit the CIO

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The CIO has ordered Harry Bridges either to disavow Henry Wallace's third party or quit as CIO regional director for northern California, it was learned today.

Bridges is one of the CIO's top leaders on the west coast. He is president of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union.

He recently led a losing fight in the CIO executive council against CIO adoption of a policy opposing Wallace's third-party bid for president and favoring the Marshall plan for European recovery.

A group of CIO unions, representing about 1,250,000 of the CIO's claimed 6,000,000 members, indicated they wanted to support Wallace and oppose the ERP plan.

The ultimatum to Bridges was served in a letter written Feb. 18 by Allan Haywood, CIO vice president and director of organization. No reply has yet been received from Bridges.

Haywood's letter said that just as Bridges' union should expect him to carry out its policies so should the CIO expect him, as regional director, to carry out CIO policies. Haywood added:

"It would be more desirable for you to see your way clear to support unreserverdly and forthrightly the position taken by the CIO."

'No Actual Shortage Of Housing' Cain Explains in Senate

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senator Cain (R-Wash) told the senate today "there is no actual shortage of housing. There is merely a desperate shortage of housing which is for rent."

He spoke as the chamber began considering a bill to continue rent controls 14 months beyond Feb. 29 with some changes from the present law. The measure was written by the senate banking committee.

Senator Taft (Ohio) acting republican leader, told the senate he hopes to have the control bill passed by Monday at the latest.

Cain said he is willing to bow to the committee's decision to continue controls but believes "the original controls have driven many homes out of the rental market.

Earlier, Senator Flanders (R-Vt) and Bricker (R-Ohio) predicted the senate will approve a one-month emergency extension of the present law.

The house banking committee already has approved extending the existing law through March. The house itself will vote on this measure next week.

Wallgren, in Denver, Says Western Vote For GOP Is Wasted

DENVER.—(AP)—Accusing the republican national leadership with consistent indifference to the welfare of labor, the under-privileged and the west, Gov. Mon C. Wallgren of Washington said last night that "a western vote for a republican is a wasted vote."

The democratic governor and former senator was the speaker at Colorado's principal Jefferson-Jackson centennial dinner.

"The basic difference between the democratic and republican parties carries a lesson that we in the west learn better with each passing day. Westerners find that no matter how many republicans they send back to office, these republicans cannot control or guide the policies of their party.

"The republican majority does not understand the importance of the west in the nation's economy. The republican majority does not support western development."

He charged Rep. Jensen (R-Iowa), chairman of a subcommittee on interior department appropriations, with "legislative blackmail, pure and simple," in an attempt to "use the reclamation budget as a club to force final passage of the Rockwell bill."

The latter bill, approved by the house and now in the senate committee, would force a raising of rates for power from federal projects.

Reactionaries Blasted by Truman in Dinner Talk; Southerners Pay But Don't Attend

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Truman headed into the 1948 campaign today with a call for the common people to rally around in a battle against "the privileged few."

"This is a year of challenge," Mr. Truman told democratic party members last night. "I propose that we meet that challenge head on."

In a 30-minute Jefferson-Jackson day speech the president never did refer directly to the challenge he faces from angry southerners in his own party.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—By a slip of the tongue, President Truman put a famous republican in the ranks of democratic party heroes.

It came at the windup of Mr. Truman's Jackson-Jefferson day dinner here last night. His prepared text ended with a sentence that the politics of Jefferson, Jackson, Wilson and Roosevelt were good enough for him.

Mr. Truman decided to add first names to the punch line. He got along all right until he came to Roosevelt. Then he pronounced Theodore Roosevelt when he obviously meant Franklin D.

Nor did he mention directly the threat to democratic presidential chances offered by Henry A. Wallace's third party.

But he spoke highly of Thomas Jefferson's attacks against "laws that restricted citizenship." And he said the democratic party still believes in protecting the rights of "all the groups and individuals in our nation."

Before him as he spoke were a dozen empty seats—paid for and left pointedly empty by southerners protesting his civil rights program.

Mr. Truman lumped opponents of his legislative program together as the forces of "reactionary conservatism."

He described those who stand against his proposal for improving social security, justice, production, education and housing as "defeatists," "backward-looking" and "men of small vision and faint hearts."

But while the president was making his confident speech the southern revolt within his own party got hotter still.

Senator Byrd (D-Va) asserted in a speech at Richmond that Mr. Truman's civil rights commission had urged a "mass invasion of states' rights."

The president talked twice last night—first impromptu to one section of the Jefferson-Jackson dinner at the Statler hotel and then in a prepared address to the section at the Mayflower.

In his prepared radio address he sized up this year's political battle as a fight between a democratic party of "progressive liberalism" against a "reactionary conservative" opposition which he said is behind the wealthy and "favored few."

He didn't even mention the republican party by name.

The republicans didn't think much of Mr. Truman's speeches, including his reference to the "floogie bird."

This seems to be a chick from the "dodo bird" the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt once talked about.

Like his predecessor, Mr. Truman intimated that this bird represents republican views. He said it flies backward because it isn't interested in seeing where it is going but only where it has been.

"The president wouldn't have the heart to look back on where the New Deal has been," Senator Capeheart (R-Ind) commented.

Senator Bricker (R-Ohio) said "the only thing liberal about the New Deal is its liberality with other peoples' money."

Bring M'Arthur Home For Report on China, House Group Requests

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The house foreign affairs committee indicated today it wants General Douglas MacArthur to come home and advise it on Chinese and far eastern problems.

Chairman Eaton (R-NJ) asked Secretary of State Marshall how to go about bringing MacArthur back from Tokyo.

The secretary said he did not know whether the request should go to the president or to the secretary of the army. MacArthur comes under the army department.

Eaton then asked Marshall whether he thought the committee should seek MacArthur's advice in person. He put the question this way:

"Do you think we need so big a gun to fire so small a shot?"

Marshall said he would prefer "not to express an opinion."

Marshall came before the committee to talk about the proposed $570,000,000 Chinese aid program.

Marshall had a prepared statement in which he discussed one question congress members have been raising. This is why does not the aid program call for giving China weapons to use against communists.

The secretary said the Chinese have resources they can use to buy military supplies. He said their gold and foreign exchange reserves were estimated to total $274,000,000 on Jan. 1.

Rep. Judd (R-Minn) is one of those who has said he thinks military aid should be given China.

The Minnesotan is a member of the committee and a former medical missionary in China.

Mr. Truman made no mention of military aid in his message to congress Wednesday.

Streamliner Jumps Track; Fireman Dies, Engineer Hurt

PORTSMOUTH, O. —(AP)— The streamliner "Powhatan Arrow" of the Norfolk & Western Railroad jumped the track today, killing a fireman and seriously injuring the engineer.

The railroad's office here said it knew of no passengers injured. The accident occurred 15 miles east of here.

The fireman killed was Robert F. Maiden, 57, of Portsmouth.

The wreck occurred on a straight stretch of track on which the streamliner usually hits nearly 90 miles an hour.

The train was east-bound from Cincinnati to Norfolk, Va.

EVERETT — (AP) — Snohomish County Prosecutor Phil Sheridan said today he would accompany officers to St. Helens, Ore., today to question a man being held there in connection with the death of Mrs. Zoe Carlson, 54.

Russian Refusal Of UN Decisions Poses New Worry

WASHINGTON — (AP)—President Truman said today Russia's refusal to carry out United Nations decisions has raised a "disturbing" new problem.

But despite the failure of the Soviet Union and its satellites to cooperate, "the United Nations is making headway," the chief executive told congress. He added: "The strengthening of the United Nations continues to be a cornerstone of the foreign policy of the United States."

Mr. Truman outlined his views in a 250-page report on the work of the world agency during 1947. The report was transmitted to congress by Secretary of State Marshall.

Marshall said "the record offers no basis for complacency" but also "no basis for pessimism."

Some of the accomplishments noted in the report, the cabinet officer wrote, "were made despite the intransigence of a numerically small minority, which has extended to a refusal to carry out certain major recommendations."

BLOC NOT NAMED

In their formal letters of transmittal, neither the president nor Marshall referred to the Russian block of nations by name. However, the body of the report spells out in great detail the record of how:

1. Russia and Poland refused to take part in the UN watchdog commission in Greece.

2. The Soviet Ukraine refused to serve on the UN commission to unify Korea.

3. The whole Slav group rejected the majority decision of the UN assembly creating a year-round "little assembly."

The document relates many other instances of the clash between east and west.

The report notes that on only one major issue—the decision to partition Palestine—have the Soviet Union and the United States found it possible to agree. But even with this agreement, the document went on to say:

"Today the Holy Land tests the ability of the world community to make a peaceable disposition of this problem, now marked by strife."

Supreme Court Hears Arguments on Probe Committee's Legality

OLYMPIA — (AP)—The state supreme court today had the problem of ruling on the constitutionality of the legislative interim committee on un-American activities.

It took the question under advisement after oral arguments were presented this morning.

Committee Attorney Ford Q. Elvidge maintained the committee was legally created by concurrent resolution by the last legislature and asserted it may function after the legislature adjourns.

State Treasurer Russell H. Fluent's attorney, Stanbery Foster, argued otherwise, contending the legislature is limited to 60-days by the constitution. He maintained that when the legislature adjourned sine die, the committee's powers ceased to exist.

SOVEREIGN POWER?

Elvidge said the legislature has all sovereign power not limited by the constitution. He asserted the constitution does not limit the legislature on creating committees to extend its investigatory power beyond adjournment.

Foster agreed the legislature is supreme except as its powers are limited by the constitution. He maintained, however, that the constitution [illegible] to the end that it can not create an interim committee by concurrent resolution to act after the session adjourns.

Both agreed a committee created by law could function between sessions.

'NOT A LAW'

John Caughlin, attorney for the state Pension Union, declared the court already had held the resolution creating the committee was not a law. He said it made the ruling when it refused to order the secretary of state to refer the resolution to a vote of the people.

He argued that it it could not be referred, it was not a law. Not being a law, he continued, the people had no check on its actions. In this respect he charged the committee already has spent $49,431 "and it has just started—wait until the campaign gets underway."

A brief supporting the committee's legality was filed by George E. Flood, Richard S. Munter, George C. Kinnear and Joseph E. [illegible] They maintained such committee's had been created by legislatures for many years back and had not been challenged. On other points they supported Elvidge's arguments.

The case came before the court when Fluent refused to cash a warrant for the pay of the committee's employes. A committee employe, Dana T. Robinson, brought the present mandamus action to compel Fluent to honor his pay warrant which was approved by Committee Chairman Albert Canwell (R-Spokane) and State Auditor Cliff Yelle.

DOG WENT WITH IT

SEATTLE—(AP)—The J. H. Seyfreds expressed the belief that the thief who stole their car last night, was in for a surprise when he discovered his passenger.

The passenger was a hard-of-hearing 16-year-old wire-haired terrier.

"We are worried," Seyfred explained. "Skipper is nearly blind, doesn't hear well and the rest of his senses are not keen. We don't care half so much about the car as we do about the dog."

Another Slash Made In Oil Export Quota

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The commerce department has slashed another 599,000 barrels of gasoline and fuel oil from the export quota through March, in order to save fuel for American homes.

Taken together with a cut announced February 10, the reduction amounts to 24 per cent of the entire quantity of petroleum set aside for shipment overseas in January, February and March.

The department's announcement took no notice of a demand by Rep. Heselton (R-Mass) that it stop foreign shipments of oil from all parts of the United States.

Bill Mauldin's Idea Of World Federalist Move Pleases Cadets

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — (AP) — Two thousand future naval officers cheered and applauded when Cartoonist Bill Mauldin told them the "most important thing we can do today is to implement a world federalist movement."

Officials of the U.S. naval academy said Mauldin attracted the largest crowd of midshipmen ever assembled "voluntarily."

He was a guest speaker last night of the midshipmen wardroom panel, an unofficial group that meets with the approval of academy officials. The middies packed themselves into a room that normally holds 800, and crowded five deep in adjoining corridors.

Mauldin, whose drawing of unshaven GI's became famous during the recent war, said federalism should be attained through a United Nations "with teeth in it."

ABANDON SEARCH FOR 4

PORTLAND, Ore.—(AP)—Hope was given up today for the lives of four fishermen on the boat Rose Ann, missing since the Pacific storm of Feb. 7-8.

Five other Pacific northwest seamen lost their lives in the storm.

Sam Sugura, Portland, part owner of the Rose Ann, said the coast guard had given up search for the vessel, last heard from off Astoria early in the morning of Feb. 8. It was feared waves capsized it.

Those aboard were W. R. Collins, Seaside, Ore., captain and part owner of the craft; Ed Beck and George Blanchard, both of Warrenton, Ore., and Herbert Schiewe, Seaside.

Czechoslovakians Fight Again for Freedom

By Dewitt Mackenzie
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Come February 29th and it will be just 28 years since the constitution of the brand-new republic of Czechoslovakia was adopted by the national assembly in Prague amidst great rejoicing.

A short time later your correspondent spent several weeks there, and had the honor of being entertained by the president, Dr. Thomas Masaryk, father of his country, in the fine old castle which housed the chief executive. The whole land was proud and happy in its nationhood—for the people are one of the most intensely independent of the freedom-loving folk of eastern Europe. The future beckoned alluringly to Czechoslovakia.

Today the little state is caught in the red net which has been swung about eastern Europe. Its parliament is trying to frame a new constitution before another general election is held—but things move slowly and grimly. The communists hold 38 percent of the seats in the legislature, and until recently had a working strength of 52 percent because the social democrats had been going along with them. Lately, however, the social democrats have been lining up more and more with the anti-communist parties.

The reds are aiming at a clean-cut majority in the new election so that they can rule the country without question. A bitter fight is on, and no date has been set for the voting. Charges and counter-charges are being flung back and forth between the bolshevists and their opponents.

The communists claim the right wing parties are plotting a revolution before the election. The right wingers retort that the reds are trying to do away with parliament and are using the security police as political servants.

What all this adds up to is that we are witnessing Czechoslovakia's Armageddon as she battles for her independence and her way of life. Thus far Moscow hasn't seen fit to apply the screws to Czechoslovakia in the way she has to some other countries which have been brought into the red fold. How long the soviet union will hold its hand remains to be seen, but apparently she prefers to attempt to achieve control through the "voice of the republic" in "elections."

What does the future hold for Czechoslovakia which suffered under Hitler and now again is feeling the heavy hand of totalitarianism? All we can say is that there manifestly is a determination on the part of many of her people to fight for their independence. If they can't win now, perhaps some day they will win, for I don't believe you can keep them, or the Poles, or the Hungarians, or the other liberty loving peoples of eastern Europe in bondage indefinitely.

DOWN MEXICO WAY

MEXICO CITY — (AP)—Disgusted with the high cost of living then try the Oaxaca state 3½ cent (17 centavos) a day diet.

Here's what you can get for 17 centavos: Corn flour dough to make tortillas 9 centavos, chile 3 centavos, salt 1 centavo, crust sugar from the boilers or brown sugar 3 centavos, and coffee or tobacco 1 centavo.

The newspaper Ultimas Noticias says anyone who lives on that diet is performing a miracle but adds hundreds of poor families do it.

Most of the state's population are farmers, charcoal burners, herders or weavers of sarapes and palm hats.

It is estimated that the United States has used nearly seven trillion 200 billion board feet of forest products since the discovery of the country.

Children's Play Topic of Discussion

Junior Mothers Club met with Mrs. Thomas Hutchings Wednesday night to hear Mrs. Don Burwell discuss the topic "Playing Together."

Mrs. Burwell said play is the very essence of life to a child and is his chief business for through it he grows in health, strength and skill in body, mind and spirit. It binds groups closer through shared interest in happy memories, and gives them an opportunity to get acquainted with others.

Besides home play, parents should plan to take their children on vacation trips with them and make the excursions a family playtime on a grand scale, the speaker said.

A friendly exchange followed her talk, and the hostesses, Mrs. Hutchings and Mrs. Harley Underwood served refreshments.

School Finance Laws Discussed

A program designed to attract "dads" was presented by the Port Angeles Preschool PTA at the Monday evening meeting in Roosevelt school cafeteria.

George Pasnic of Olympia spoke to the group of his work as supervisor of school finance and administrative research.

He outlined the legislation now being planned for presentation at the next legislative session which would necessitate constitutional amendment.

The speaker said that a special school levy should cover five years instead of a one-year period as the law now stands. He also favored a change in the constitution to read "a majority of the votes would carry a school levy." Instead it now reads "40 percent of the number of votes cast at the previous election," he said. An informal discussion followed the lecture.

In observance of PTA Founders' Day, Jack Woodson auctioned a cake to raise funds for a scholarship memorial.

In a rhyming contest by the parents, prizes went to Glen Keifer, Mrs. Palmer Swenson and Mrs. Arthur Stetson

New Life for Yanks In Australia Brings Some Bitter Reaction

SYDNEY, Australia —(AP)— One hundred and fifty-seven Americans arrived today to start a new life in Australia. Others already here are getting ready to leave—bitterly disappointed.

The new arrivals, who came on the ship Marine Phoenix, made up the biggest party of United States ex-servicemen with wives and children to reach Australia under the assisted-migrants scheme. Under this plan the Australian government pays 40 percent of the passage money.

Royal Thaver, 48, veteran of two world wars, was one disillusioned American. He said in an interview he would return to the U. S. immediately.

He told a reporter costs of living were much higher here than he had been led to believe. He said a booklet on the subject given him in San Franciso, his home city, was "way out of line."

Thayer said his trip to Australia to buy a chicken ranch already had cost him $1,500.

Mrs. G. R. Pierce, formerly of Seattle, wrote a bitter letter to newspapers here this week regarding the experience she and her husband have had in trying to settle in Australia.

She said in the published letter they have become "discouraged and disgusted" by housing conditions. They have spent "thousands of dollars for nothing," she added, and will return to America next Monday.

"Right now your government has representatives in the USA urging young men and couples to migrate here," she told Australians. ". . . we shall feel it our duty publicly to warn our young folks to stay home and avoid the heartbreaks and disappointments they will find here."

UNION RATIFIES RAISE

SEATTLE —(AP)— Union membership ratification of a 15-cent hourly wage increase for 2,250 Puget Sound Power and Light Company employes was announced today. The vote of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFL) was 1,162 to 585.

Robert Lamont, Aide To Hoover, Is Dead

NEW YORK —(AP)— Robert P. Lamont, 81, secretary of commerce during the Herbert Hoover administration, died yesterday.

Lamont, an engineer and industrialist, had retired some 12 years ago. He was a native of Detroit.

In his early engineering days, Lamont supervised the excavation for the Boston subway system, and the building of underwater tunnels into lake Michigan to furnish Chicago's water supply.

His widow, a son and two daughters survive.

Woodworkers Group Condemns Canwell Committee Actions

The "broad" committee of the Local 2-90 International Woodworkers of America-CIO, has passed a resolution condemning the Canwell committee of the state legislature, that has been holding hearings on "subversive" actitivities, Rex McCarty, local union secretary announces.

The resolution recites:

"That the Canwell, so called 'subversive' activities committee, without the pretext of a hearing and acting as judge, jury and prosecutor, has announced a verdict against the Washington Pension Union which it proposes to broadcast over the state through the medium of so-called public hearings that commenced January 27.

"The Washington Pension Union has been and is the outstanding champion of liberal pension grants in this state and together with the Townsend clubs is now sponsoring an initiative measure to repeal the lien law, restore free choice of doctors and dentists and set a floor of $60 a month under pension grants.

"Every member of the Canwell committee voted in the last session of the legislature for the lien law, to abolish free choice of doctor and dentist and to take the floor from under pensions so that pensions in this state have continued to fall as prices raise, and the attack of the Canwell committee upon the Pension Union, is—among other purposes—an attempt to prejudice the public against this necessary initiative.

"The un-American procedure of announcing judgement in advance and then proposing to substantiate it by pre-arranged and one-sided hearings must cause the gravest concern to every citizen of this state, and in particular to organized labor.

"This procedure is a part of the pattern of the attacks upon the organizations of the people which nationally takes the form of the Taft-Hartley Act and the infamous Thomas-Rankin committee, both of which organized labor is on record against.

"We go on record in condemnation of the Canwell committee, and call upon Attorney General Smith Troy to start proceedings to test the constitutionality of the Canwell committee which is spending tens of thousands of dollars of our tax money, and that we notify the Washington Pension Union of this action and of our support in this fight and in their efforts to increase the standard of living of all senior citizens."

"Think On These Things"

"The Death He Should Die"

AND JESUS said, "Now is my soul troubled; and what shall I say? Father, save me from this hour: but for this cause came I unto this hour. Father glorify thy name."

Then came there a voice from heaven, saying, "I have both glorified it and will glorify it again." The people therefore that stood by and heard it, said that it thundered; others said, "An angel spake unto him."

Jesus answered and said, "This voice came not because of me, but for your sakes! Now is the judgment of this world: now shall the prince of this world be cast out. And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me."

This he said, signifying what death he should die.—John 12:27-33.

Lawrence Elected to Head Labor Group

ABERDEEN —(AP)— The labor committee of the Washington Public Utility Commissioners' Association, in session here, last night elected Ralph Lawrence of Clallam County chairman for the year.

(Lawrence is a Port Angeles man and a member of the Clallam County Public Utilities Commission.)

The newly appointed committee consists of two commissioners, Chauncey Price of Skamania county and Irvin Woods of Okanogan county, and three managers—Robert O'Neil of Pacific county, Glenn Smothers of Grant county and Al Murray of Snohomish county.

The executive board of the association, with President Bert Heggen of Skagit county presiding, met this morning in the Grays Harbor PUD office to consider recommendations for Bonneville lines and Columbia basin project appropriations and to lay a plan of action for preventing passage of the Rockwell bill, now in the senate's public land committee. The Rockwell bill would force an increase in power rates from federal projects.

Roughriders Play Redskins Here Saturday Night

	Won	Lost
South Kitsap	11	0
Bainbridge	7	3
Port Angeles	7	4
North Kitsap	6	5
Sequim	4	7
Fort Townsend	1	9
Central Kitsap	1	9

With a possible tie for second place on the line, Roosevelt high's upsurging basketball team meets the Port Townsend Redskins in the final conference game of the season, Saturday night at the Roosevelt gym.

The Roughriders, riding the crest of a winning streak, have a 7-4 record. Bainbridge, currently in second place, has a 7-3 position but faces the undefeated South Kitsap Wolves Friday night and Central Kitsap the following night. A Bainbridge loss Friday night and a Roosevelt win over Port Townsend would leave the Roughriders in a second place deadlock. Central Kitsap, battling on its home court, could throw the Roughriders into a clear possesion of second place by upsetting the Spartans.

Despite all predictions, the Roughriders have yet to hurdle Coach Bruce Blevin's Port Townsend Redskins who have suddenly come to life after one of their poorest early season records.

Coach Blevin's charges showed plenty of scoring power by thumping Central Kitsap 46-27. The Redskins are also out to avenge an earlier 50-36 defeat suffered at the hands of the Roughriders.

Other league games on tap, as the league writes its final '48 chapter, are the Sequim-Port Townsend meeting Friday night at Port Townsend and the North Kitsap-Central Kitsap fracas at Silverdale.

Saturday night's varsity game will start at 8 o'clock preceded by a 6:45 preliminary tilt between the two reserve squads.

Radio KONP will carry a play-by-play broadcast of the game starting at 8.

Hugh Mitchell to Be Dinner Speaker Here

The executive board will meet Sunday to determine a policy for election year, and to discuss a stand regarding the left wing faction headed by Jerry O'Connell, former Montana congressman.

Anyone wishing to attend may make a reservation with Jack Blankenship at the Galley Cafe, South Lincoln street.
