Off Eddie's Hook

by Fownden Flore

It can be one of history's great tragedies if Americans as we call ourselves in the United States, were to lose the vigor engendered in the discovery of the New World.

During the nineteenth century, this most wonderful of all the continents yielded up to the hands of the world the great heart of the North American continent most blessed of all.

Even the Northern lands are now yielding up new sources of wealth that if wisely used can become a permanent swatch on the patchwork quilt of the present 50 states that have presented an example of cooperation between political units that no one would have forecast or even hoped for.

Our Canadian and Mexican neighbors are emulating our remarkable achievements in government by settling their geographical and accidental differences on the platform.

For it is one of the saving factors in the American way of life that most of us just keep on talking and as long as we do, we can be sure that no lasting harm can come. When words fly off into unplanned action the trouble begins.

Many of us are wont to become impatient over the thousands of meetings and conferences that are as much a part of North American life as breath itself.

But out of it all has come that greatest of all soul quieters, the potluck dinner and the hot dish. But there are still a few of us, who when asked to bring a "hot dish" come staggering in all by ourselves.

IS THIS PROGRAM ESSENTIAL TO THE WELL BEING OF MAN?

by Dr. Robert Gesell
(Late Chairman, Department of Physiology, University of Michigan)

We are drowning and suffocating unanaesthetized animals—in the name of science. We are determining the amount of abuse that life will endure in unanaesthetized animals—in the name of science.

We are producing frustration ulcers in experimental animals under shocking conditions—in the name of science. We are observing animals for weeks, months, or even years under infamous conditions—in the name of science.

With the aid of the halo supplied by the faith of the American people in medical science, the National Society for Medical Research converts sanctuaries of mercy into animal pounds at the beck and call of experimental laboratories regardless of how the animals are to be used.

What a travesty of humanity! This may well prove to be the blackest spot in the history of medical science.

World War One Units Flip Lids During "Early Days" Nostalgia

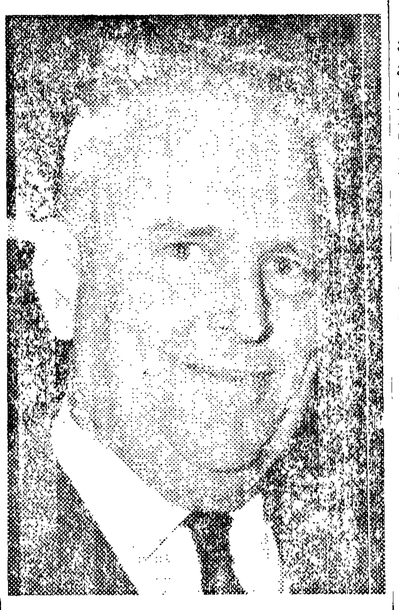
Pictures of the early days of Port Angeles were shown by Bert Kellog at the social meeting Friday afternoon when the World War 1 barracks and auxiliary groups met in the Veterans Center.

A comic style show followed with Mrs. Ed York as commentator and Floss Forbes pianist. Modeling the various fashions were Mmes. Herman Ahlvers, William Duncan, Harold Littlefield, John Loomis, Joe Lonn, Ruth Henderman, Nellie Leslie, Al Williams and William Nichols. The program ended with a reading by Walter Baar in the form of a humorous letter.

A potluck dinner preceded the meeting served by Grace Harrison and Rose Groves. A birthday cake furnished by Mrs. Dolores Smith honored the April birthdays of Harold Sortor, Joe Desler, Alfred Aalstad, Mrs. Ernest Roth and Mrs. Walter Baar.

The group meets again May 9 for a business meeting.

Management Course on "Tourism" Offered at Peninsula College



Bennett T. Gale

Peninsula College and the Chamber of Commerce are joining to present a series of three two-hour courses of "practical knowledge for the tourist industry" under the direction of Wilfred Morrish, who conducts practical management courses at the college.

Enrollment is already in progress and may be accomplished by mail on an application form attached to the descriptive folder now available at the chamber of commerce and at the college, according to Morrish, who gave the second of his presentations to the Chamber Monday noon.

Described as the "first annual course of practical knowledge for the tourist industry, the program is designed to improve the status of this "second largest industry" on the Olympic Peninsula—only exceeded by the forest-products group. The slogan of the project is "Do you encourage them to stay another day?"

The series begins Monday, May 5 with the consideration of human relations under the leadership of James Robinson and to be followed with division of the class into discussion groups.

May 12 the group will consider custom regulations and the geography of the area under the supervision of Dorothy Munkeby, secretary of the chamber of commerce, and Robert A. Maynard, assistant district director, U. S. Customs Service, Seattle office.

May 19, Olympic National Park Superintendent Bennett T. Gale will present members of his staff to conduct a session specifically designed for all employees, who are directly involved in the tourist industry.

John E. Maier, president of Peninsula College describes the new course as another way in which the community college can fit into the specific needs of the community's particular activities in a way which can contribute to the general welfare of all its citizens.

Morrish believes that he has hit upon a real contribution to a community activity that has "just been allowed to grow in spite of us."

"If this one goes over, we will try to get in another series before the opening of the vacation season," he said.

"THE GAME IS CALLED SPRING CLEAN-UP AND HERE'S THE WAY IT'S PLAYED....."

Fire Chief Cameron Outlines Spring Cleaning Routine

Spring Clean-Up Week begins Monday. This is a reminder one may be a good citizen by joining neighbors in doing a bang up job of spring clean-up.

More than 1,000 home fires occur in the United States every day, says the American Insurance Association, and every year thousands of lives are lost through fire in homes.

It is for the good of the community to clean up during Spring Clean-Up Week to eliminate fire hazards and to protect lives and you against fire.

Carelessness is the cause of most home fires, the Association says. Letting unneeded combustibles stack up in the attic or basement is not good or smart housekeeping, it adds.

The American Insurance Association, which sponsors fire prevention, gives these suggestions to assist in planning a clean up job:

In a one-family house, start the clean up job in the attic and work down.

In the attic—throw out accumulations of old newspapers, broken furniture, old clothing and other uneeded things that will burn. Check the attic light to be sure is it working properly.

In bedrooms — check clothes closets and discard any old blankets and worn out sheets. Here again, check lights and extension cords. Any electrical repair work should be done by a qualfied serviceman, and window air-conditioners should be serviced at least once a year. Make sure there are ashtrays in every room. (And never smoke in bed.)

In the living room—Check wiring.

In the dining room—Be sure such equipment as electric toasters are in good operating condition.

In the kitchen—Make sure the pilot light in the gas range is operating properly, and that there is no rack where towels would overhang on open flame. Neither should window curtains be so close that they could catch fire if blown across the stove. Range ovens, broilers and burners should be kept free of grease.

In the basement—throw out any old newspapers and magazines that have collected there during the winter, and make sure that cans of paint are stored well away from the household heating unit. Paints should be kept in tightly closed cans. Oily rags should be thrown away.

In the garage—Clean up any oil that has dripped on the floor during the winter. If there is gasoline in the garage for use in a power mower or an outboard motor boat, keep it in a container of a type approved by Underwriters Laboratories and bearing the U.L. label.

In the yard—rakings should be placed on the curb where they can be picked up by the local sanitation truck.

These simple procedures will reduce fire hazards as well as daking the place spic and span.

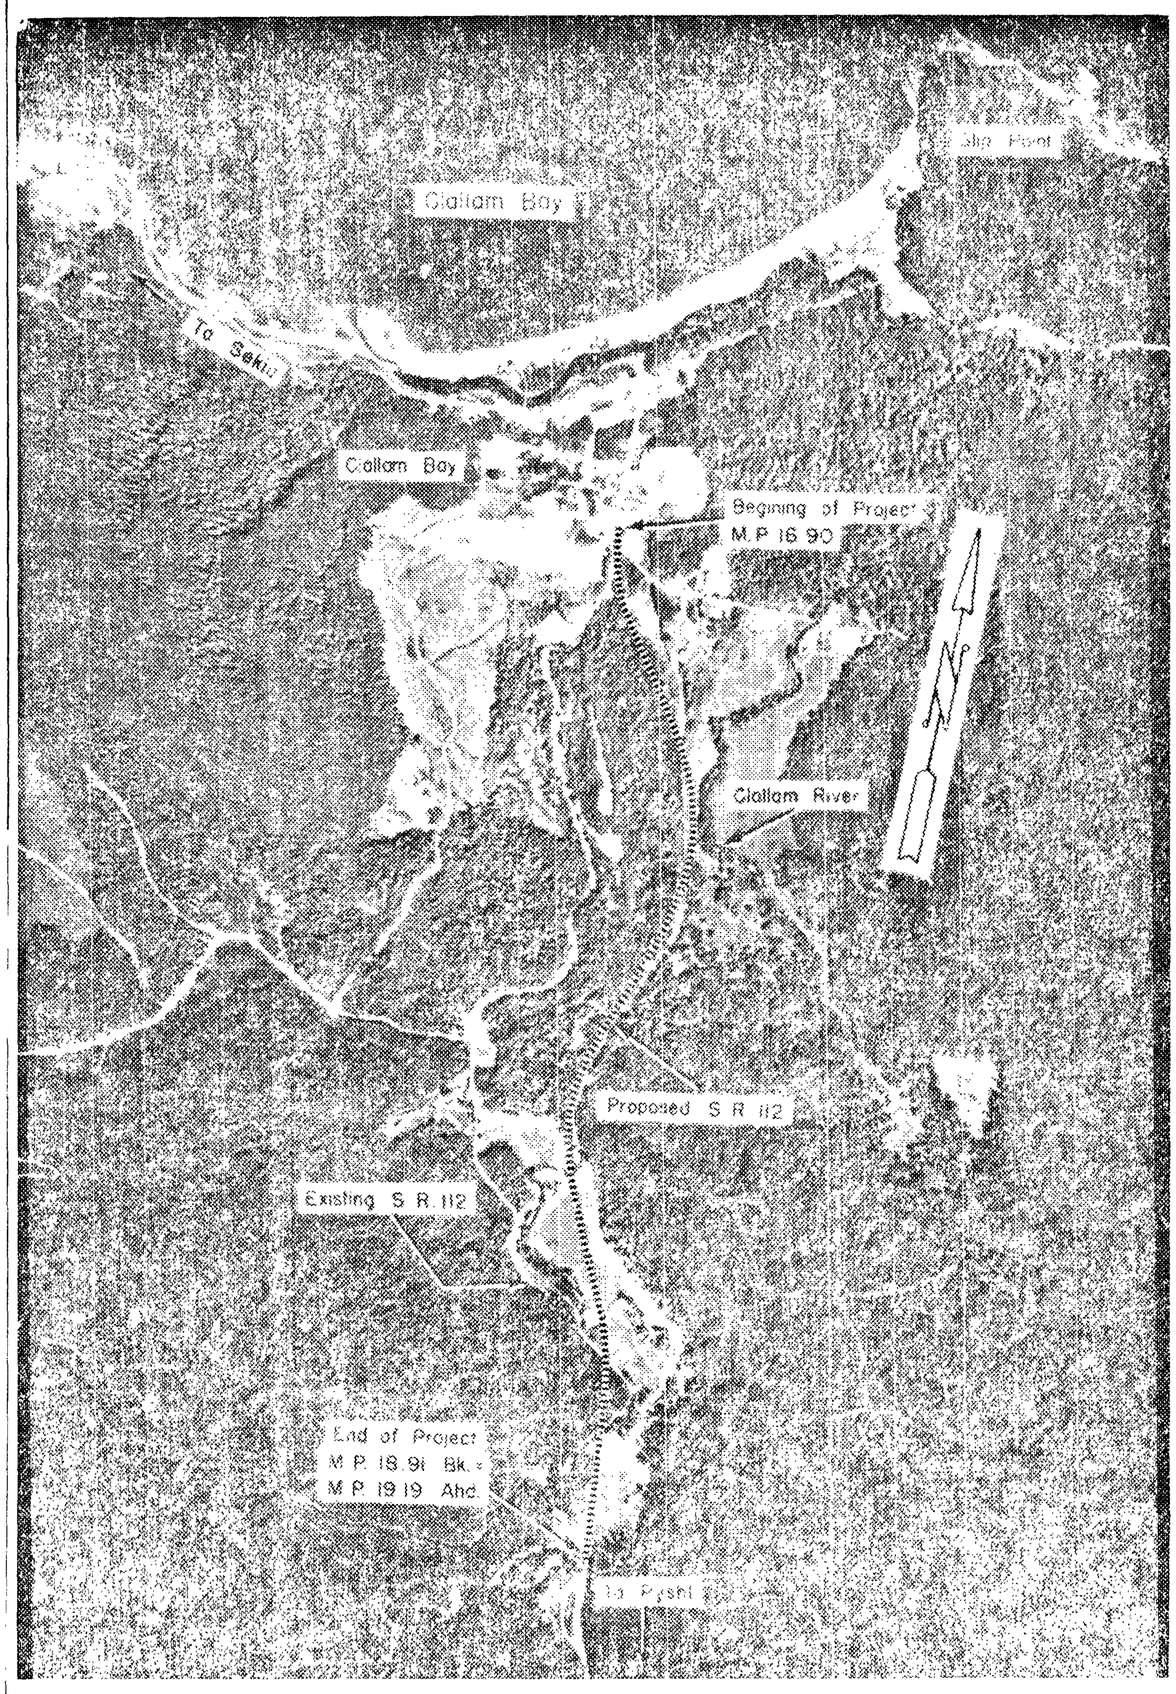
PUBLIC NOTICE



The Washington State Highways Commission is planning the improvement of State Route 112, between the Town of Clallam Bay and the Clallam River Bridge.

This improvement will consist of the construction of a new two-lane roadway extending from Clallam Bay southeasterly through the Clallam River Valley, terminating at the northerly end of Clallam River Bridge No. 112/20, a total distance of 2.01 miles. This project will also include the construction of two concrete bridges over the Clallam River, two channel changes, plus the installation of riprap to prevent bank erosion. This new section of State Route 112 will allow approaches to and from the roadway.

Should any interested person desire that a Design Public Hearing be held to discuss and exchange information concerning this improvement, he may request a hearing by writing to the District Engineer, Washington Department of Highways, P. O. Box 327, Olympia, Washington 98501, before May 22, 1969. In the event that requests are made, a separate notice of public hearing will be published in ample time for interested parties to arrange to attend.

Regardless of whether a hearing is held, all interested persons may inspect maps, drawings and other pertinent information concerning this project by coming to the Project Engineer's office, located at 816 South "C" Street, Port Angeles, Washington.

This notice is in conformance with Federal-Aid Highway Act, 23 U.S.C. 101 et seq., 128, 315, sections 2 (a), 2(b) (2), and 9 (e) (1) of the Department of Transportation Act, 49 U.S.C., 1651 (a) and (a) (2), 1657 (e) (1); 40 CFR § 1.1 (e); and 23 CFR § 1.32.

Paul Conner Speaks At County Democrat Club Meeting Here

State Representative Paul Conner was introduced by vice president David Woodruff when he spoke to the Clallam County Democrat Club Wednesday evening April 16 at the Literary Clubhouse.

Conner spoke on some of the problems before the legislature saying that about 350 of the almost 1900 bills presented would be passed by the time the legislature adjourned. A bill introduced by Conner and passed was that student participating in riots were not to receive state or federal scholarship money.

Conner said he was in favor of reducing tolls on the Hood Canal Bridge. "The bridge is paying for itself and helping to pay for the ferries. The tolls could be reduced and the bridge would still pay for itself. I am not in favor of Gov. Evans proposed Puget Sound feeder bridges and feel better ferry service is more feasible," Conner said.

Rules on air pollution have been passed and work is being done on oil spillage and water pollution he said.

In speaking of the tax reform Conner said, "The Republicans and Democrats are in agreement on some parts of the tax reform bill such as reduction in sales tax and removal of sales tax from food and drugs. However, I am not in favor of the present proposal before the house."

It costs the state $8,000 to keep a juvenile in an institution. One new 160 bed unit is now being built but one new one will be needed every two years. The state will pay the counties $4,000 a year for each juvenile that is kept in the county.

In closing Conner said, "The legislature is not only trying to face present or future problems but to solve problems created in the past."

During the business meeting plans were made to continue meeting during the summer and to have the club's picnic August 10 at Lincoln Park.

Serving refreshments after Wednesday's meeting were employees from the Clallam County Auditor's office including Mmes. Alice "Teeny" Thorne, Geraldine Braun, Harriet Hansen, Mary Hordyk, Gladys Machon and Emily Russo. Attending the meeting Wednesday were Marcus Miller and Morris Starrett from Port Townsend. It was announced that there will be a fund-raising night on April 28 for Congressman Lloyd Meeds at the Carpenter's Hall.

BILL KINTNER CHOSEN TO TAKE PART IN SCIENTIFIC PROGRAM

Bill Kintner is one of fourteen high school boys and girls of the nation chosen to take part in a science training program at the University of Colorado Institute of Arctic and Alpine Research this summer. He will be in training from June 16 to August 22 as a junior research assistant under the direction of experienced researchers on the field projects in the Colorado mountains.

Since the research requires field work in the mountains, only top students with traveling and living experiences in mountain regions were given consideration.

Studies will be conducted on the hydrology and mass balance of small cirque glaciers found high on the east side of the Front Range in the Colorado Rockies. Intensive climatological, microclimatological, hydrological, and geomorphological activites and studies will be a part of Bill's training.

Bill is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Quentin Kintner of 2816 South Laurel Street.

Touted Intertie Film Available to Groups From Seattle Office

Bonneville Power Administration announces release of its new film, "Intertie," available for showing to interested groups.

The film is available on request from the Seattle Area Office, 415 1st Avenue North—Rm. 250, Seattle, Washington 98109—Phone: AT 4-6820, or from the BPA Information Officer, P. O. Box 3621, Portland, Oregon, 97208.

"Intertie" is a 16mm color and sound movie presenting the story of the Pacific Northwest-Pacific Southwest Intertie, the largest single high-voltage transmission system ever undertaken in the United States.

The massive project will eventually tie together utilities in 11 western states—all the way from Vancouver, British Columbia, to the Mexican border.

The film, 23 minutes in length, depicts the background, building, and benefits of the Intertie, particularly Bonneville's portion of the program.

Much of the movie was filmed in the high dessert and mountain country of central Oregon, where Bonneville constructed the lines that run south from the Columbia River to California and the Southwest.

Many of the film's most dramatic sequences were made with a special helicopter-mounted camera—giving literally a bird's eye view of the construction and the country.

Complementing the dramatic photography of the film is a technically accurate portrayal of the project's development—from high-voltage testing to the building of giant, 10-story high transmission towers.

Banjo and guitar music through out matches the lively spirit of the construction scenes. The film's closing montage, following the lines from the air as they move south from the Columbia River, includes a dramatic view of an eagle soaring high over the film's setting—the rugged landscape of central Oregon.

"Intertie" has recently been selected by the United States Information Agency as an officially sponsored entry in foreign film festivals.
