VOLUME XXIII — PORT ANGELES, WASHINGTON THURS., OCTOBER 16, 1969 — NUMB

Off Eddie's Hook

by Fownden Flore

Already the efforts of Port Angeles merchants to open up the city to convenient access and make things easier for the visitor to the shopping areas is attracting attention because it has encouraged improvement of properties and establishments.

An interesting trend is the growing involvement of women in the retail field. Adel Price is formally introducing her ultra modern ladies apparel shop and Mimi Washburn will manage the striking new Hallmark store.

Very soon Patricia Zellinsky will conduct the formal opening of her brand new automobile center at the city's eastern end where signs of a new business section are evident.

The trend is not a new one. Women shopkeepers are historically an important factor in retailing around the world.

However, in Port Angeles the downtown merchants association members includes the names of many good men and true who devoted long hours to the development of our city as a place where people like to shop.

ALASKANS SPEAK OUT TO SAVE ALASKA

Expressions of concern by Alaskans have included these resolutions passed in April of this year by the Upper Cook Inlet Chapter of the Alaska Conservation Society:

WHEREAS, Alaska is experiencing unprecedented activity in connection with the recent discoveries of what may be the world's largest deposits of oil; and

WHEREAS, this development with its attendant rush of men and materials, its hasty construction, and its need to dispose of waste materials, has already and will continue to exert an increasing impact on the land, timber, water, air and wildlife of Alaska; and

WHEREAS, the areas of development involve prime habitat for wildlife species such as caribou, grizzly bear, migratory fowl, anadromous fish; and

WHEREAS, the Alaska north slope is unique in that it is the only Arctic region under the United States flag and is known as one of nature's most fragile environments, and additional areas of equal or greater fragility will soon come under development pressures such as Bristol Bay and Prince William Sound; and

WHEREAS, there is ample precedent in the United States to show that exploitation of a single resource, free of regulations and controls, results in destruction and disregard for other resources, but that industry, as evidenced by activities on the Kenai National Moose Range, can economically comply with regulations and controls designed to safeguard other resources; and

WHEREAS, there are at this date no representatives of State or Federal regulatory agencies permanently stationed on Alaska's North Slope; and

WHEREAS, single resource exploitation, with benefit of prior ecological research to set the stage for total management, can easily destroy the remaining fragile environment which makes Alaska "The Great Land";

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, the Upper Cook Inlet Chapter of the Alaska Conservation Society out of concern for the fragile environment of Alaska, urges the President of the United States and the Governor of Alaska to give their prompt attention to the following actions:

1) Immediately assign the manpower and funds necessary to enforce existing regulations and guidelines where unregulated development is now taking place.

2) Promulgate interim regulations to prevent indiscriminate destruction of the environment until ecological research can determine the necessary refined regulations.

3) The proposed pipeline across Alaska is an unprecedented activity. Any right of way for the pipeline should be issued with sufficient stipulations to safeguard other Alaskan resources.

4) Provide funds and manpower

Adel's Opens New Shop In the Grand Manner In Historic Location

This weekend marks the opening of Adel's ultra modern ladies' apparel shop at 120 North Lincoln street, the location once occupied by the Evening News. Already a brisk traffic is keeping the clerk's busy showing the curious and the over-awed about a shop that "can only be exceeded if at all in a shop in San Francisco or New York."

Adel Price, who is owner of this "finest on the peninsula" didn't spare the horses in the planning stages that resulted in "something different" for the women of the Peninsula.

Described as "for the carriage trade," there is something there for everyone from the debutante to the society woman" and for every occasion. "And if we haven't got it, it must be on the way," is the slogan for the shop's introduction to the trade.

Open house is Friday and Saturday this week with special showings Friday night until 9.

The speaker had a marijuana plant and described how the leaves and seeds are used as a drug, and the effects of other narcotics including morphine, heroin, LSD and opium.

Sheriff Skewes said in Clallam county in the West End where he is stationed it is difficult to police such a large area.

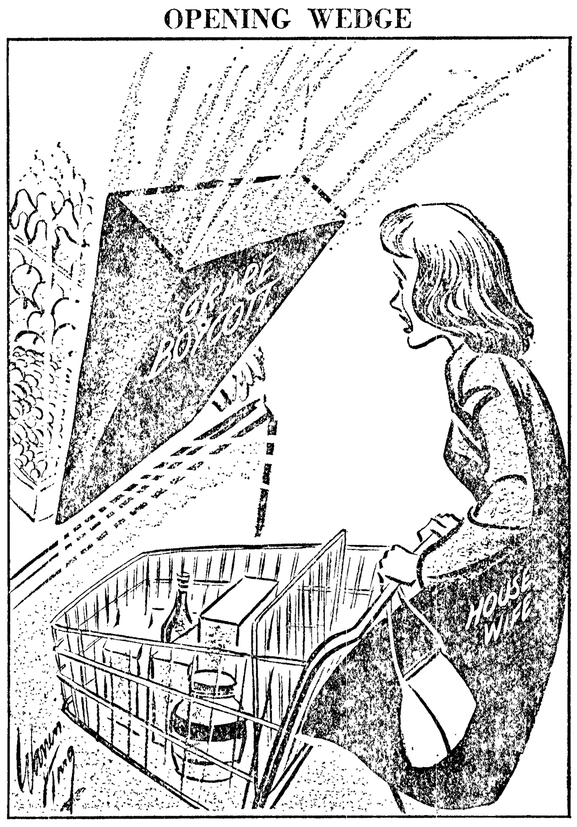
OPENING WEDGE



CONSUMERS RIGHTS

How has the grape boycott on the West Coast affected the American housewife? By keeping grapes out of the grocery store it has deprived her of an opportunity to make her own choice when she goes shopping. It has also permitted a secondary boycott to sneak in the back door as a labor weapon.

Secondary boycotts are outlawed under the National Labor Relations Act, but the union which is attempting to organize the California grape pickers is pushing the boycott because farm workers are not covered by the act.

The overall danger is that if secondary boycotts can be used to force compulsory unionism among grape pickers, then this same weapon eventually could involve any farm product that reaches the American table.

Richard Ralphs, board chairman of the National Association of Food Chains, said, "Recently the number of products or companies that many of us have been asked to make economic reprisals against as third parties has reached almost epidemic proportions. And far too often the request that we participate has been accompanied by threats of violence and coercion of one form or another if we do not . . .

"We think the real question is not 'Who is right and who is wrong?' It is instead, 'Is it in the public interest to force the supermarket industry to sit in judgment on economic disputes of this kind?'

"We have come to the conclusion that it is not in the public interest that we become judge and jury in the 'product boycott-of-the-month club!"

The American housewife, as well as the farmer will undoubtedly agree.

DEMOCRAT POLITICOS REVEAL COMPREHENSIVE GRASP OF THE ISSUES

by Prognos T. Cater

The three musketeers were in fine fettle Saturday evening reincarnated as Senator Henry Jackson, Representative Lloyd Meeds and State Representative Paul Conner. While this formidable trio of vote getters were keeping everybody interested, the Cardinal Richilieu of the play State Senator Gordon Sandison was "out there somewhere" building fences.

The latest act in the drama of Democratic supremacy in the second district was portrayed in Harrington's Skyroom Saturday evening when all three of these spellbinders combined to delight and inform a capacity crowd.

The two national figures revealed a comprehensive grasp of most of the problems of the second district while, as one gentleman said of Conner, "He reminds me of the farmer, who was 'out standing in his field'."

WOMEN'S SOCIETY MEETS IN FORKS TO CONSIDER EDUCATION AS PROFESSION

Members of Upsilon Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, honor society for women educators, met at the Vagabond in Forks October 11 to hear a panel presentation by three Peninsula College students who plan to enter the educational profession.

Karen Davidson, Julie Robinson and April Douglas discussed "Various Aspects of College Life in Relation to Community Life." Afterwards the girls answered questions from members.

In repsonse to a question concerning the timing of scholarships, the girls suggested the sophomore year of college, since by this time a student has more definite ideas about vocational plans, and can use financial assistance if leaving for a larger college.

Other guests present were Mrs. Glion Benson and Mrs. Betty Keim of Fairbanks, Alaska. Her husband is on the faculty of the University there.

Crescent Homecoming Events

The Crescent High School Pep Club has announced that the annual Homecoming events will honor the alumni this year.

The celebration will begin with the Crescent vs. Neah Bay football game on the Joyce field at 2 p.m., Saturday, November 1.

Coronation of the homecoming queen will be held at 8 p.m. in the High School gym. A dance will follow from 8:30 p.m. until 1 a.m.

All alumni of Crescent High are invited to attend.

Sports News

The Crescent High School Loggers defeated the Quilcene Rangers 60-38 in North Olympic League football action at Quilcene last Saturday despite the fact that the Rangers took an early lead of 16-0.

Fullback Price Moreland and quarterback Bernard Barnes each made three touchdowns for the Loggers, with Moreland recording 220 yards on the turf with 30 ball carries.

Moreland went through the Quilcene defense in the last half of the first quarter with a 15-yard touchdown run and followed up with a plunge over the goal line for the two extra points. Then he scored on a 40-yard charge up the middle coupled with a conversion to tie the game.

Barnes scored the next touchdown on a 15-yard play followed by a 28-yard run by Dan Sage.

Barnes and Sage cleared the field around Moreland who took advantage of the running room to make a 53-yard dash into the end zone.

Continuing the Logger scoring drive, Barnes made a 60-yard run after intercepting a Ranger pass. Sage scored again for the Loggers on a 43-yard run up the sidelines.

Barnes pulled off a quarterback sneak to end the Logger scoring in the final quarter of play. Barnes was the outstanding defensive player of the game with 28 tackles. Rick Mair and Dan Sage each made 19 tackles.

In Seattle Hospital

Mrs. Arthur Liljedahl is in the Doctors Hospital in Seattle where she has been undergoing treatment for the past week. She expects to be there for some time yet and would enjoy hearing from her friends.

Her husband and sons Lawrence and Floyd visited her there last week end.

Tuesday Trail Tenders

Tuesday Trail Tenders are enjoying riding together again these past two weeks. During the summer other activities often restricted many of the riders from joining the group. 19 met at the home of Mrs. Joey Cays and rode up Monroe road to Mt. Pleasant lookout (now abandoned and dismantled) where they stopped for their lunch break then rode down the Mt. Pleasant road and back to the Cays ranch.

Enjoying the ride were Messrs. Bill Walker, Jack Stewart and Bob Seney: Mmes. Mary Madan, Carol Madan, Jeannette Morrish, Karen Hutto, Ann Wolfe, Evelyn Nestorik, Donna White, Nelly Booth, Marlee McHasfie, Joey Cays, Thea Waldron, Terri Grubb, LaVonne Elzner, Nola Hopkins, Kathryn Maddock and Miss Deanna Thomas.

The week before, 12 of the group mixed pleasure-riding with cow buying when they cut out a couple of bulls from the Maddock herd on Salt Creek and moved them to another pasture in Joyce. Some pretty catty maneuvering has needed to extricate one of the animals but the other one was more cooperative. The group intends to meet at Bill Walker's ranch this week and ride in the Elwha river area.

Dinner Cancelled

The Hawaiian dinner which Crescent Grange had planned for October 26 has been cancelled because of the illness of the chairman for the event, Rose Liljedahl.

Bishop Ivol I. Curtis To Visit St. Andrew's On Loyalty Sunday

The Rt. Rev. Ivol I. Curtis, D.D., the Episcopal Bishop of Olympia (Western Washington) will visit St. Andrew's Church this Sunday, October 19. This is Bishop Curtis' annual visitation to the parish. He will be present for both the eight and ten o'clock services. He will preach at the 10 o'clock service.

His visit this year coincides with Loyalty Sunday in the parish and in the diocese. This is the Sunday when parishoners have the opportunity of offering their pledges for the church's 1970 program.

Loyalty Sunday and the christian stewardship program is planned by a committee of which Kenneth Peterson is the chairmna. Lawrence Beeler and Don Osterberg will assist him. About twenty five members of the parish will make calls on families beginning Sunday afternoon.

Bishop Curtis will conduct a Service of Institution for the new Vicar of St. Luke's, Sequim, the Rev. Daniel M. S.
