"Aqua Follies" Open July 29

Although "Aqua Follies" has undergone repeated changes through the years its immensely successful run, one thing has remained constant—the joy of the thousands of spectators who have flocked to the shores of Green Lake.

The unpredictable diving clowns have been, and will continue to be, one of the most hilarious portions of the annual outdoor show at the Aqua Theater.

This year's all-new edition of Al Sheehan's water-stage revue will be held July 29-August 11, with performances each night at 8:30.

In keeping with this year's theme of variety, Walter A. Van Camp, managing director of Greater Seattle, Inc., has announced that several nationally known acts will be featured in contrast to a former one top star format.

It was announced earlier that Johnny Puleo and his Harmonics Gang will be one of the headline attractions. There will be named soon.

Many of the diving stars of former years will be reuniting, including the crowd-pleasing duo of Jimmy Goodhead and Johnny Edwards, a comedy team with a flair for the imaginative in comic diving.

Dick Kinball, world's professional al diving champion and 1964 Olympic diving coach, will be the special attraction of this year's regular troupe of divers, assisted by Ron O'Brien, Charlie Dahl, Al Coffey, Owen Harvey and Pete Cox.

Hearts Bigger Than Arrest Books

Hearts bigger than arrest books was held at the library on Wednesday evening, June 23.

Many topics were discussed, but the most important issue at this time is membership. In fact, it is critical as the need for money is so urgent. When the Forks Memorial Library had its beginning, life memberships were $25. Now for 10 years of service to the community, especially from those who benefit from the library.

This money that is needed by the library is used for many things that go unnoticed by most people. Heat, lights, and insurance are needed monthly and the rate needed monthly and the rate needed monthly and the rate needed monthly.

Don't get the idea that they have neglected their ticket writing, however, because during that same period of time they made 69,822 arrests. But does indicate that major part of their program is devoted to the helping of stranded motorists—in fact, the ratio is well over three to one.

State Patrol Chief Will Bachner, who has personally helped hundreds of motorists at various times as a State Trooper, says "We want the public to know that it can call on a State Trooper at any time for assistance—it's a tradition with us of helping those who are in need on our highways."

Helping a lady change a tire, transporting a stranded motorist getting a gallon of gas for the car, helping a motorist who has been the life of an injured person in all routine for these men.

Independence Day Brings Crowds To Forks

According to comments made by local citizens, this town must have almost burst out of its seams during the 4-day holiday festivities.

Evidently, it was about the largest gathering at a Forks Fourth since the war. There were many tourists galore and many, many out of town visitors. We are happy over the interest shown in the annual event—a celebration anticipated each year by a proud community. Let us hope it will always be so.

We suppose one could say—Forks was probably making like a boom town of the Old West. The restaurants, grocery stores, motels, hotels and bus lines could hardly have been overworked.

The Secretary of State had Krummel led the list of honored guests. He was accompanied by his wife and two children.

The selected "Special Guests" of the day were Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Patz, Carl Penn, Kathy Young and their two children.

The Washington Department of Fisheries announced today the closure of the Willapa River steelhead spits for commercial digging. The closure will be effective immediately and until further notice.

This will coincide with a similar closure that has been in effect since the closure of the Willapa River steelhead spits for commercial digging. The closure will be effective immediately and until further notice.

This closure will prohibit the possession of fresh salmon claims for commercial purposes in the State of Washington and will promote a more orderly fishery on the razor clam stocks.

Holiday Ends In Tragedy For Family

The sudden accidental death of a father of two small children brought a tragic ending to an otherwise happy holiday outing during the July 4th weekend.

John Rikstad, 31, husband of the late Mrs. Rikstad, died on route to an Aberdeen hospital early Monday morning. The man was run over by an automobile while asleep at a camping site near Clearwater. The Rikstad family were there on a holiday camping trip.

The Rikstads are the parents of two-year-old Brenda and 7-month-old Brian.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. today, July 18, at Coleman Mortuary, 425-24th St., Hoquiam. In lieu of flowers, the family requests donations be made to the Forks Congregational Church in care of Rev. E. Hank.

The family home is at 1505 Bay Ave., Aberdeen.

Second Largest Tent Circus Is Coming to Forks

Mr. Art Miller, special agent for the Carson and Barnes big 2-ring Wild Animal circus has completed the final arrangements for the circus to be shown here on Wednesday, July 21.

The Carson and Barnes name is one of the oldest and most honored in the circus business, and the representative in a visit to our office says the show this year is right abreast of the times with the most elaborate features and equipment that it has ever carried. In addition to the usual menagerie which includes elephants, bears, lions, monkeys, llamas, camels, beautiful matched Liberty and high school horses and starring trained clowns lots of jungle animals that are rarely seen in only the largest shows.

In addition the show carries a CITY PARK, SPONSORED BY THE PARK BOARD - WEDNESDAY, JULY 21 - "SEK KINO" - 7 P.M. STAB IN PERSON - ALSO ZACHARIS THE "HUMAN ANIMALS"

Remember—only under the "big top" can it be a real circus.

Not infrequently, a deer falls victim to traffic while attempting to cross the highway, and occasionally an elk gets trampled by a car, but game men cannot remember the last time a cougar was hit by a car.

It happened, however, reports the State Game Department.

The local Game Protector at Leavenworth, Washington, reports that a cougar was struck and killed by a car on the highway about 7 miles west of Leavenworth in Turnwater Canyon.

Normally curious, cougar have been known to take a wartime point alongside a road and watch passing traffic. Why this particular cat decided to cross the road nobody knows.

Dr. E. W. Myers leaves for Auburn today where he will attend a Seventh-Day Adventist convale. The doctor expects to return home July 20.

YOUTH CORPS OPENED

The State Department of Natural Resources will have its Neighborhood Youth Corps program underway by July 1. Land Commissioner Bert L. Cole reported today.

Word was received in Olympia today that the federal government has approved the hiring of 506 youths for the summer. They will be employed as forestry, maintenance, communication, clerical, kitchen, custodial and drafting aides.

The program is set up under the federal Economic Opportunity Act. It is designed to give job opportunities and work training to youths from 16 to 21-year-olds who are from low-income families.

The youths will work a 35-hour week, with a salary of $1.25 an hour. The program will cost $421,121, of which the federal government will pay $52,478.

"We welcome the opportunity to participate in this worthwhile program," Cole said. "These young people will provide much-needed help in some of our management programs such as recreation development, road-building, and forest projects such as thinning, pruning, and reforestation."

The Youth Corps enrollees will be selected by the State Department of Employment Security. They will live at home and must reside within reasonable traveling distance of 24 work areas throughout the state.

INDUSTRY HELPS KEEP WASHINGTON GREEN

On hundreds of motor freight pickup trucks over the state soon will appear the warning, "Motorists, Clean Up - Prevent Forest Fires."

As a public service project, the Washington motor freight industry is donating space on the sides of motor trucks to help prevent forest fires.

The trucks bearing the message will perform a real public service by reminding citizens of their responsibility for preserving our state's beauty and its valuable resources from loss by fire.

Keep Washington Green Association, now in its twenty-fifth year of operation, is supported by voluntary, tax exempt contributions and service from individuals, civic groups and industry over the state. Symbolic of such donated assistance is the trucking industry's assistance in the KWG forest fire prevention campaign.

The price of wise and safe driving is eternal vigilance, paraphrase the State Safety Council.

Safety is not a happenstance—it is a circumstance, created with care, claims the state Safety Council.

Memories Linger

On... BY GRACE D. FLETCHER IV PIONEERS

Henry and Matilda Fletcher, after spending their early married life in three different states, arrived in Washington Territory in 1853. The willow-chemistry that kept them roving for eight more years was the promise of land to be had for the taking—160 acres for him and his wife and that many more for each of their sons and daughters as soon as they came of age.

Much of western Chittenden and Jefferson Counties was open for homesteading and timber claims. Many seekers after free land came with the belief that if they "reached" a quarter section of land, it would later be thrown open for homesteading and they would have each of their sons and daughters a piece of land to call their own.

Dad Fletcher had been fortunate enough to file on land already thrown open for settling and in the spring of 1866 the family moved from the southern extremity of Hood Canal to the Lower High in the WEST END of the Olympic Peninsula. In this move the Fletchers others were greatly assisted by Captain Hank whose wife tended a small trading post at the mouth of the Hoh while he plied up and down the coast in a thirty foot sailing schooner, entering on occasional bay or river mouth bringing provisions and other necessities to the Indian villagers and the stragglers of white settlers.

Dad Fletcher had previously made a trip to this isolated part of the peninsula and built a small cabin on the shore of the river a mile from the mouth. He undertook and made Crinoid jars, and found the Indians very friendly. He chartered Captain Hank's schooner, returned to the home on Hood Canal, saw his wife and six of their children, took household goods and supplies loaded on the "Surf Duck" and departed for a land as yet unknown to them. Thanks to fair weather they made the trip in six days. Friendly Indians took them and their goods in river canoes to their new home.

In the meantime, Dad Fletcher and nine-year-old Bert came one of the hardest of the hard ways—walking and with the assistance of a well trained shepherd dog, driving a herd of twelve cows and calves along the beaches, through paths, wading, fording rivers, crossing the straits, and wading through trees or sleeping in the barn of the Anderson home and soon afterwards the Pina was discontinued. As time went by the sons took over the mail carrying which eventually was done on horseback for 30 years.

The sons also packed for crews of surveyors and timber cruisers, worked on county trails, planted and harvested crops and worked clearing more land. Mother Fletcher was the best housewife or when tending the profusion of flowers that grew about her home.

Dad Fletcher's dream of a quarter section of land for each of his children didn't materialize. Only Fred reached maturity in time to get a homestead and time claim out of the "land for the taking." (Continued next week.)

VETERANS NEWS Veterans with nonservice-connected disabilities who are applying for pensions were reminded today by John B. Kirsch, manager of the State Veterans Administration Regional Office, that they can no longer deduct from reported income the full amount they have contributed to other pension or retirement plans.

That practice ceased January 1, 1965, when the present law went into effect.

Card of Thanks I WISH TO THANK my many friends, the doctor and hospital staff for the kindness and care during my hospitalization. The lovely cards were most comforting. Thank you, Fred Germeaux

LETTERS To the Editor

June 28, 1965 The Forks Forum Forks, Washington

Dear Editor: On June 22, 1965, at the request of the Clallam County Sheriff's Office, the Snohomish County Search & Rescue Unit assisted in the search for Mrs. Don Bakker of Forks. I would like to make some comments about this successful operation.

First, I want to commend the Logging Company, Forest Service, Department of Natural Resources and all other employers who shut down their operations and paid their men while they took part in this search for Mrs. Bakker. This was the finest example of Civic and Community effort that I have ever had the honor and privilege of working with. The loggers and the women from the Forks area were tremendous in the work they performed. Second, we were amazed that your area did not have an organized Search and Rescue Unit. With the Standard and wheel drive pickups, along with men like Marvin Corbin, who have such a knowledge of your country, and the loggers working these areas that cannot be outdone in its and making as fast as though we have known all of you for a long time. We felt honored to be invited to the finest rescue teams in the country.

Sincerely, Bob Fisher, Inspector Search & Rescue Coordinator Snohomish County Sheriff's Department Everett, Washington

From Sunday until Thursday of last week.

They prefer the Thoroughbreds and dislike the quarterhorses races in Portland. They neglect the betting windows for such a romp.

That's a sample of a cross section of racing information. Husband and wife. He is of Norwegian birth and both are ardent race fans. They visit Longacres every weekend and are in their second decade of following the races. Sometimes they drive to Portland for Longacres open and they spend the night at Playfair in Spokane after Longacres closes for the season.

Both work, he at a local flour mill and she for a maintenance company, and both are looking forward soon to retirement. Their only families held a picnic dinner at the Robert Tuttle home.

The Forks 4-H Leaders' Council met at the home of Arthur Munson June 22.

During the meeting it was announced that the county 4-H camp will be held July 12 to 16. Those wishing to attend the camp are to contact Mrs. Roland Lewis or Mrs. Ronald Shearer.

Also announced was the coming 4-H Fair at Forks scheduled for August 17 and 18.

After the business was closed, Neal Malmsten presented slides of his trip to Washington, D.C. and the New York World Fair.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Henry Halverson July 27, 10 a.m.
