BALKAN SITUATION TO BE DISCUSSED AT WAR COUNCIL

TICKER TOLD FIRST PEACE NOTE STORY

SECRETARY OF STATE ALLEGED TO HAVE INFORMED NEWSPAPERMEN CONFIDENTIALLY OF PRESIDENT'S MOVE

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 6.—At today's hearing on Representative Wood's resolution for an investigation of whether there was a stock market "leak" on President Wilson's peace note, the trend turned to an investigation of the Wall Street "ticker" service which supply news "tips" to brokerage houses.

Representative Harrison, Democrat, said he believed that the alleged leak was through the Wall Street Journal's and Financial America's representatives, who, with other newspapermen, had been informed confidentially by Secretary Lansing during the morning that the note had been dispatched to Europe. The nature of the note was not disclosed, however.

Representative Gardner put into the records a "ticker" dispatch forecasting the peace note ten hours before the note was published.

Representative Gardner said he absolved Secretary Lansing, Secretary Tumulty and President Wilson of all suspicion.

Local telegraph managers and representatives of the financial papers were ordered to bring to the committee all their records of December 20, when the peace note was sent. It was announced that Barney Baruch, who is announced that aBrney Baruch, who is charged with having profited by advance information, will come to Washington Monday to testify.

MAKE IT A YEAR OF VICTORY URGES FRENCH COMMANDER

General Nivelle Issues Order to All Troops on the Western Front

LIMOGES, France, Jan. 6.—La France Militaire today publishes the following general order to the troops issued by General Nivelle:

"At a time when another year of the war is ending you can be proud of the work accomplished. At Verdun you broke the most powerful blow Germany ever struck against any of her adversaries. On the Somme, emulating the courage of our British allies, during a long series of attacks you have given proof of a tactical superiority which will continue to improve. Never has our army been better trained or more brave or possessed of more powerful means.

"It is under these brilliant auspices the work of 1917 begins. You will make it a year of victory."

GERMAN EMPEROR ADDRESSES GENERAL ORDER TO HIS ARMY AND NAVY ON SUBJECT OF PEACE PROFFER

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 6.—A Berlin telegram says that an order of the German emperor dealing with the peace proffer, and addressed to the army and navy, has been published. The order follows, in part:

"Conjointly with the allied rulers, I proposed to our enemies to enter into peace negotiations. Our enemies refused. In their hunger for power they desire Germany's destruction. The war will be continued.

"Before God and humanity, I declare that on the governments of our enemies alone falls the heavy responsibility for all the further terrible sacrifices, from which I wish to save you

"Our enemies did not want the understanding offered by me. With God's help, we will enforce it."

"NATION" WOULD INTERNATIONALIZE CONSTANTINOPLE

BRITISH NEWSPAPER URGES MAKING DARDANELLES OPEN WATERWAY UNDER AUSPICES OF UNITED STATES

LONDON, Jan. 6.—The Nation, in discussing after the war problems, the Balkan settlement and the fate of Turkey, advocates the internationalization of Constantinople and the straits, and contends that it would be of no service to Russia to prolong the war, sacrifice thousands of lives and incur a mountain of debt merely to bring about absolute annexation.

"Internationalization would secure to Russia and the other Black Sea states," it adds, "navigation of the straits, while the exclusion of fleets of the other powers from the Black Sea might also be conceded. The straits must be disarmed and their shores effectively neutralized.

"The whole arrangement should be under an international commission and if the United States, which alone of the great powers has a record of purely disinterested benevolence in Turkey, would assume a part in it, there would be a real guarantee for its security and smooth working."

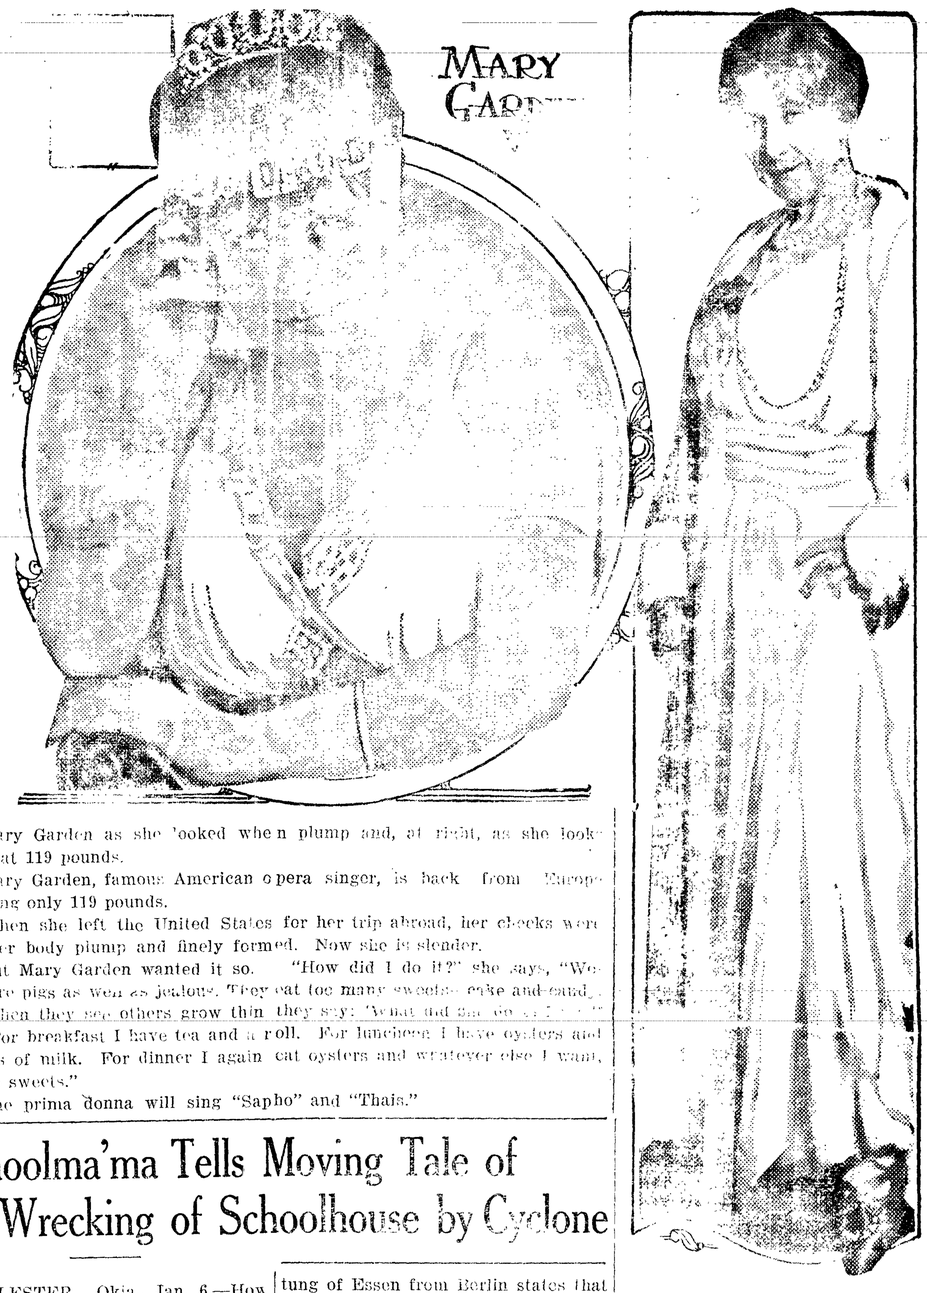
LOSS OF BRAILIA WEAKENS RUSSIAN LINE ON SERETH

Teuton Campaign in Rumania Enters On New Phrase Threatening Bessarabia

The capture of Braila yesterday by Field Marshal von Mackensen, in his advance on Galatz, twelve miles north, the clearing of Dobrudja of Russians and further Teutonic successes in Moldavia have brought the Rumanian campaign to a new phase.

The capture of Braila weakens the Russian line along the Sereth river. If a serious break occurs in this line, it is possible the Russians may withdraw to the Russian frontier, or be-

GOING DOWN! MARY GARDEN THEN AND NOW!



Mary Garden as she looked when plump and, at right, as she looks today at 119 pounds.

Mary Garden, famous American opera singer, is back from Europe weighing only 119 pounds.

When she left the United States for her trip abroad, her cheeks were full, her body plump and finely formed. Now she is slender.

But Mary Garden wanted it so. "How did I do it?" she says, "Women are pigs as well as jealous. They eat too many sweets—cake and candy. When they see others grow thin they say: 'What did she do to do it?'"

"For breakfast I have tea and a roll. For luncheon I have oysters and a glass of milk. For dinner I again eat oysters and whatever else I want, but no sweets."

The prima donna will sing "Sapho" and "Thais."

Schoolma'ma Tells Moving Tale of Wrecking of Schoolhouse by Cyclone

McALESTER, Okla., Jan. 6.—How the little rural school house at Vireton, Okla., was torn from its foundation, whirled through the air, and ripped to pieces by a tornado, causing the deaths of fifteen children was described today by Miss Vera Carter, the teacher, as she lay on a cot in a hospital here where she is under treatment for injuries received in the storm.

"I was hearing a primary class, when the storm broke," Miss Carter said. "It had been raining but we thought nothing of that until above the noise of the patter on the roof we heard a different sound, a peculiar long drawn hiss. I went to the door and looked out. A big black cloud, moving very fast, came up the valley, enveloped the Baptist Indian Mission and threw pieces of it high into the air. Away to the south the sky was a ghastly green, which lightened everything with an unearthly glow.

Like End of the World

"The cloud twisted and whirled straight toward the school house. I closed the door and placed my back against it. There was nothing we could do. When the storm struck it seemed as if the end of the world had come, so great was the roar and confusion as the school house was lifted into the air, twisted dizzily and then went all to pieces.

"I was battered against pieces of flying timbers and sucked forward by a terrible blast of air which took away my breath and left me almost unconscious. It seemed as if I was being drawn into a mighty whirlpool. Dark objects whirled around me. Some of them were my pupils, my poor little children.

Hurled Onto Hillside

"After a time I found myself lying on a hillside many children stretched near me, some of them motionless, some of them moaning in pain. Their clothes were covered with blood. Through the clouds the sun was breaking and a rain was falling gently."

Miss Carter will recover, despite a broken right arm, a fractured jaw and serious bruises.

TEUTONS SCHEME NEW SLAV STATE UNDER AUSTRIA

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 6.—A dispatch to the Rheinsche Westphalische Zeitung of Essen from Berlin states that negotiations are proceeding at Lucerne, Switzerland, between representatives of Austria-Hungary and Montenegro, Germany also being represented, with a view to the creation of a new South Slavonic state under Austro-Hungarian protection. Prince Mirko, of Montenegro, it is added, will be the ruler of the new state.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—The police in nearly every city in California were looking today for a woman who, falsely representing herself as Emily Husted, a maid out of work, robbed Mrs. J. J. Graves, of Woodside, California, of jewels valued at $15,000 yesterday.

LIVELY SCANDAL DEVELOPING IN SEATTLE PROBE

MAYOR GILL, POLICE OFFICERS AND SHERIFF ALLEGED BY BILLINGSLEY TO BE INVOLVED IN WHISKY GRAFT

SEATTLE, Jan. 6.—Suspicions, long current, that officials of the city and the police were profiting by the illicit whisky trade, received support today in admissions made by Logan Billingsley. Mayor Gill, Chief Beckingham, Sheriff Hodge and a score of policemen of all ranks are mentioned in the confession Logan Billingsley made to the district attorney, it is said, and that the federal investigators uncovered a gambling graft in the police department, which is outside the federal jurisdiction, is a story that is persistent. Two federal inspectors, who have been working here for several months, turned up the fact that thirty-five gambling houses paid one police officer $18,000 on November 1.

Jury Investigating

Ever since the federal jury adjourned, to meet Tuesday, details have been growing more specific. The district attorney's office, from all indications, is busily engaged in checking up the details of Logan Billingsley's story.

Rumor is persistent that Logan Billingsley told the district attorney he paid $4,000 in cash at the time the city cases against Billingsley were dismissed. Rumor also has it that one booze graft ring in the police department got its Billingsley money through a woman related to one of the policemen involved.

A declaration that every barrel of whisky the Billingselys brought into Seattle paid a specified tax to a clique in the police department, together with the names of those who received their share, is said to have been a part of the confession.

Where Hodge Comes In

The mention of Hodge in the confession is said to be in connection with the disappearance of seized whisky. On October 11 thirty-four cases and two barrels of whisky were seized and held in the custody of Hodge. The sheriff's office stored the whisky in the storage plant of W. H. Pielow, who was indicted with Logan Billingsley. When the case came into court the whisky was gone, the claim being set up that burglars took it.

The federal grand jury will reconvene next Tuesday, when, it is expected, a new batch of indictments will be returned, based on evidence taken at the sittings prior to adjournment before Christmas.

Drilling is expected to start at once on the property at Sequim, near the Glendale Creamery, where the Glendale people struck oil while drilling for water.

Mr. Woods said there is no stock for sale at present, as the company has under consideration a plan for financing the project without offering stock to the public.

BRITISH PREMIER AND STAFF ARRIVE AT ROME — GERMAN SEMI-OFFICIAL NEWS AGENCY SPECULATES ON PURPOSE OF GATHERING

LONDON, Jan. 6.—Premier Lloyd-George and Viscount Milner, a member of the British war council, with their official advisers, have arrived in Rome, says an official statement issued tonight, to participate with the French and Italian governments in an exchange of views upon the general situation.

Teutons Are Guessing

BERLIN, Jan. 6.—(By Wireless to Sayville, N. Y.—The Overseas News Agency says today with regard to the visit of Premier Lloyd-George and Viscount Milner to Rome:

"The Berliner Tageblatt points out a great war council has been assembled in Rome, probably in order to obtain the necessary Italian cooperation in the Balkans, as otherwise General Sarrail's army would be irretrievably lost. This council, the newspaper adds, at least clearly demonstrates the critical situation of the Entente powers in the Balkans."

COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER

SATURDAY, JANUARY 6, 1916

Editorial

COUNTY FINANCE AND A CERTAIN BOGEY

Notwithstanding the concensus of opinion regarding the best of the two plans suggested for the refunding of the $300,000 county highway bond issue and the redemption of the new bonds, the Herald believes that County Commissioner James Dick's plan would have been the best and by far the most economical. The Herald is not afraid of bogeys, and the particular bogey which everlastingly is being raised in this county, whenever opportunity offers, that the timber owners are lying awake nights to confound the county finances and corrupt county officials, in the opinion of the Herald, has been invented and sustained by politicans who seek to hide their own shortcomings under the cloak of hypocritical distrust of the larger taxpayers.

The plan adopted was advocated by County Commissioner Hanson, who is interested in one of the local banks, and by the bankers of the city, because of the mandatory provision contained in it for the repayment annually of $50,000 of the money borrowed on the new bonds. The gentlemen whose advice was sought by the board, were moved by the argument that with the mandatory provision, no future board of commissioners, if under the influence of the big taxpayers would be able to delay repayment of the loan by reduction of the tax levy. In fact the familiar bogey was the main argument although not the only one. The plan will cost the county $16,650 more in interest than Commissioner Dick's plan, and it will result in some $50,000 of tax money lying in the local banks from March of each year, when taxes are paid, during the period of retirement of the bonds, until February of the year following, when the retirement payments become due, at the established rate of 2 per cent, representing a net loss of interest on that amount of tax money of 2 1-2 per cent to the county.

The plan adopted may seem to secure a trifle more surely the early repayment of the loan than the other plan, but the price paid for the security seems to the Herald somewhat high.

WHY GERMANY DESIRES TO END THE WAR

It does not require a very brilliant mind to understand just why Germany and her allies desire peace. The fact is that the military program of the German war party has failed completely. The temporary territorial conquests in the east, west and Balkan territories of Europe have only political significance, and probably have reached their limit of achievement. The war party expected a victorious march to Paris and the capitulation of France, a hasty right-about-face march to Petrograd and a drive to Turkey opening up, under Teutonic auspices, a straight road from Berlin to the Persian gulf. In the meantime a "Holy War," planned by Germany with the aid of the Sultan of Turkey, was to shake if not overthrow British rule in India, while Egypt was to recede into Turkish dominion. Those things accomplished, the Teuton overlordship of the world would have been established.

That these were the actual designs of the Germans has been abundantly proved by statements of their leaders and by the discovery of conspiracies throughout Mohammedan territory under British influence. It is clear that the great adventure has failed. Perhaps it actually failed when Belgium refused entry to the kaiser's legions, thus delaying the attack upon France and permitting French and British troops to be brought to the defense of the Republic. Or the failure of the scheme may have actually occurred at the battles of the Marne or of Ypres, but whichever event in the war may have marked the final defeat of the plan of conquest, the defeat is evident enough, and the longer the war lasts the bigger the price that Germany and her allies must pay for their miscalculations.

SHADOW OF TIME FALLS ON THREE BIG LEAGUE VETERANS AS 1917 BASEBALL SEASON NEARS!

The baseball season of 1916 saw the passing of five of the game's greatest stars!

Will 1917 herald the passing of three other veterans who have endeared themselves to followers of the game?

In 1916 Matthewson, Miner Brown, Nap Rucker, Larry Lajoie and Rhody Wallace hung up their uniforms, never again to don them in the big leagues.

And as 1917 opens the shadow of time rests gloomily on Honus Wagner, Eddie Plank and Sam Crawford, three giants of the game of giants.

Crawford, whose legs made him an uncertain proposition in 1915, was relegated to pinch hitting last year and reports from Pittsburg indicate Wagner will be removed from the short field to first base in 1917.

Plank pitched wonderful ball in 1916 considering his age and term of service, but has declared he will retire rather than serve another year with the Browns. As a suitable trade has not yet been arranged it may be Plank will not appear on an American league diamond in 1917.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS

County Board Defies Court

Ignoring a restraining order issued by Judge Bert Linn, ot the superior court, the commissioners of Benton county yesterday entered into a contract with the Ferro Concrete company for the construction of a court house at Prosser, says a Kennewick dispatch. The amount of the winning bid was $107,000. The commissioners ignored the court order upon the advice of Attorney Edward A. Davis, of Pasco. The commissioners who took the action retire from office January 8. The court house construction is being opposed by the taxpayers of the eastern part of the county.

Land Speculators Lose in Alaska

The holders of patented homesteads along Gastineau channel, who have been attempting to control all the water front, were defeated by a decision by United States District Judge Jennings in the case of Sheldon against Gus Messerschmidt, Charles Quackenbush and Mrs. Kate Kabler to eject them from water front property in front of his homestead, says a Juneau dispatch. Judge Jennings ruled that as Sheldon had not shown that the structures erected by the defendants shut off his access and egress from his homestead he had no standing in court, as homesteaders cannot hold the entire water front of their property unless actually needed for use. As considerable water front property here is being held by homesteaders and upland holders without improvement it is believed Judge Jenning's decision will start immediate improvement of considerable water frontage or else lead to a lot of land jumping.

Portland Crank To Be Examined

E. L. McClure, a silver haired crank 68 years old, who almost broke up a meeting of the Forty-five Efficiency club with a pen knife and a claim to the chairmanship, was remanded to the county authorities yesterday by Municipal Judge Langguth to be examined as to his sanity. Judge Langguth's decree came at the close of an hour's trial, during which McClure acted as his own counsel, injecting dramatic moments into the proceedings with a fevor that made the court room gasp. The testimony of witnesses, members of the Forty-five Efficiency club and of Mr. McClure made a fairly composite story of the defiance which the defendant hurled at Fred Speri and John D. Mann, prominent men and officers of the club, and their fellow members, when he drew his knife and bade them leave the hall as "d—— plutocrats." McClure formerly was cashier of the State Bank & Trust company at Goldfield, Nev.

Brothers Meet Death Together

Andrew Jackson, of Minneapolis, died in hospital at Spokane yesterday of shock when he was told his brother, Charles E. Jackson, of Wallace, Idaho, had died in Portland. Mr. Jackson was hurrying from Minneapolis to Portland to the bedside of his dying brother when he was notified on a train approaching Spokane that his brother had died. When Mr. Jackson arrived here last night he was suffering from shock. Charles E. Jackson, 45, of Wallace, Idaho, died at the Portland Surgical hospital Wednesday after a two weeks' illness. Mr. Jackson went to Portland two weeks ago to visit Miss Clara Olsen, of 689 Tacoma avenue. He was ill at the time, and Miss Olsen persuaded him to go to the hospital. The two bodies will be sent together to Minneapolis for interment.

Bothell Bank Robbers Repentant

Regret for the past and hope for the future were expressed by Al. J. Rounds, Walter McDonald and Oscar Lowe as they stood before Presiding Judge Dykeman in the superior court at Seattle Friday and pleaded guilty to the robbery of the State Bank of Bothell on the afternoon of December 6. On recommendation of the state the court sentenced each to the minimum, five to fifteen years in the state penitentiary at Walla Walla. In view of the fact that each one of these defendants has done what he could toward restoring the money," said Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Ellis, "and taking into consideration the further fact that they have been of great assistance to the state in other ways, which I do not care to disclose at this time, I recommend the minimum sentence."

E. A. Sims, of Port Townsend, erstwhile boss of Republican politics in Washington, logger and cannery owner, announces that he has disposed of his interests in the Hoonah Packing company, the Glacier Fisheries Co., the Key City Packing Co., and the Hillside Canning Co., and awarded a contract for the logging of the Dosewallips Timber company's holdings, which will be completed within five years. The various deals, which involve the transfer of properties roughly estimated to be valued at $1,000,000 or more, were completed Thursday. With the transfer of these holdings, Mr. Sims is left with his real estate in Jefferson, Whatcom, King and other counties, a home in Port Townsend and minor interests on Puget Sound. By the consummation of these sales Mr. Sims also is left free to carry out his plans for a trip to South America this winter, a visit to Alaska next summer and another winter to be spent in Australia. Afterward he plans to return to Puget Sound. E. B. Deming, of Bellingham, took over Mr. Sims' interests in the Hoonah Packing company, and Arthur Pritchard, of Tacoma, purchased Mr. Sims' interests in the Glacier Fisheries company. Mr. Sims' logging interests are variously estimated to be worth from $130,000 to $200,000. The company owns between 50,000,000 and 60,000,000 feet of standing timber.

CHRISTIAN UNITY MOVEMENT TAKEN UP BY THE POPE

VATICAN WILL AGAIN INVESTIGATE VALIDITY OF ANGLICAN AND EASTERN ORDERS OF PRIESTHOOD; REUNION SOUGHT

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 5.—Private letters from the Vatican received by Dr. A. Palmieri, of the library of congress, announce that Pope Benedict XV is about to appoint a commission of four cardinals to renew a movement begun by Pope Leo XIII and abandoned by Pope Pius X, looking to a reunion of Christianity and the cultivation of friendly relations with the Anglican church. A public announcement from Rome on the subject is expected soon.

Dr. Palmieri said that the new movement will be directed particularly toward the establishment of a reunion of the Russian church and the Papacy and to a thorough re-examination into the validity of Anglican or American Episcopal ordinations which was settled in the negative in a papal bull "apostolical sedis" by Pope Leo X.

Cardinal Marini to Preside

The honor of presiding over the commission of cardinals, Dr. Palmieri has been informed, will be bestowed upon Cardinal Nicola Marini, who has devoted many years to scientific research and to the cause of a reunion of Christianity. The interest of the pope in the problem of Christian unity is said to have been intensified by the recent progress of the world congress, initiated by the American Episcopal church.

"The new pope," said Dr. Palmieri, summarizing the information received from Rome, "has taken a considerable part in the efforts of neutral nations to establish peace among nations and the Vatican's efforts have been suggested not only by a humanitarian spirit, but by a longing for Christian unity. Efforts of Leo XIII for carrying out the reunion of Christianity were abruptly stopped by Pius X, who aimed at an inner reform of the Catholic clergy and turned all his energies to a crushing of modernism.

Renew Policy of Leo XIII

"Benedict XV thinks it is time to renew the policy of Leo XIII and also that the reestablishment of a political peace would be the first step toward renewed attempts to stop the splitting of Christianity into a great number of sects.

"It seems to the Vatican that the orthodox Slavs will be very soon called to take a more active part in the life of western nations, either Protestant or Catholic, and that it is necessary to come to an understanding with them in order to avoid evils produced by religious intolerance."

FRANKLYN FARNUM WITH RUTH STONEHOUSE IN PLAY

Notable People Starred in Pretty Love Story at the Dream Theater Sunday

The arrival of "Love Never Dies" in Bluebird photoplays at the Dream theater on Sunday will introduce Franklyn Farnum as a new leading man in the Bluebird organization. Mr. Farnum will support Ruth Stonehouse, star of the production, in presenting a five-act love story, inspired by Mendelssohn's "Spring Song" and directed by Wm. Worthington.

Mr. Farnum is a brother of Dustin and William Farnum, two names familiar to "fans," who will be glad to welcome a third Farnum to the screen. Like his brothers, Franklyn Farnum has made an enviable record during his appearance upon the legitimate stage.

His youth and manliness fitted him so exactly to the leading role of "Love Never Dies" that Bluebird secured him especially to support Miss Stonehouse in the forthcoming feature. He makes an ideal type of hero, interpreting the role of a violinist who played, as a child, his favorite instrument that his little sweetheart might dance upon the village green to the music of "Spring Song."

The passing years carried the little sweethearts apart, but they met later, under unusual circumstances, and then came a renewal of their childhood affection for each other. That there was opposition to their fervid love-plans made no difference to them, and in spite of fractured ethics, they lived together through happy months of blissful love. Then came a sudden change, and more years of separation and heartaches—especially for the girl, who lived to love her one and only love. In accomplishing the final and happy ending Bluebird has photographed some beautiful artistic scenes, and created an entertainment of vital force and impelling interest, through scores of gripping episodes.

ANN PENNINGTON IN STORY OF ACTRESS' LIFE AT LINCOLN

It is an acknowledged fact that it is not the New Yorker himself who keeps the many theaters filled to overflowing in the great metropolis, but the visitors from all over the United States, whose first thought after unpacking their bags is to "see a show." For that reason the name of little Ann Pennington, the diminutive star of the Ziegfeld "Follies," is known in every city, town and hamlet in the country, although she has not been off Broadway for three years.

Therefore the news that Miss Pennington is making her screen debut in the Famous Players production, "Susie Snowflake," will be met with a thrill of expectancy, for Miss Pennington is one of the most delightfully piquant little figures on Broadway, and she has won a host of friends by her clever dancing and her real comic ability. She will be remembered also for her remarkable work in "The Red Widow" in which she toured the principal cities a few years ago.

With admirable judgment the Famous Players selected for Miss Pennington's debut a photoplay story which deals with the musical comedy stage, thus giving her an opportunity to transfer to the screen a great deal of the art which has made her famous. As the title of this Paramount attraction at the Lincoln tomorrow suggests, it is the story of a little actress.

PAULINE FREDERICK APPEARS IN OPPENHEIM PLAY MONDAY

Pauline Frederick, whose splendid dramatic performances in previous Famous Players productions has won her the undisputed title "Frederick the Great," does the most tremendous work of her distinguished career in that company's adaptation of E. Phillips Oppenheim's celebrated novel, "The World's Great Snare," which is the Paramount picture at the Lincoln Monday.

In an English cottage lies an old lady. Her son, Bryan, is at her side waiting for her to breathe her last. She calls him to her and imparts to him the startling information that he is not her son, telling him how, as a baby, he was left on the doorstep of the Earl of Wessemere by the Earl's abused wife. Huntley, the butler, had picked the infant up and brought him to his master. A note disclosed the identity of the child to the butler, and Huntley had been ordered to give the baby to some woman. The old lady confesses she is Huntley's mother and that her son has the proofs of Bryan's birth.

Huntley lives in San Francisco with his wife, who loathes him for his drunken temper and cruel treatment. She finds the Earl's marriage certificate among her husband's papers, but it is snatched from her before she can grasp its meaning. A powerful drama is developed from these materials.

JOLIET CONVICTS UNAFRAID WHEN FIRE THREATENED

Spectacular Fire at Illinois State Prison is Subdued After Hard Fight

JOLITT, Ill., Jan. 6.—A spectacular fire in the state prison inclosure here last night destroyed two buildings used in the manufacture of chairs. Seventeen hundred convicts, locked in their cells, behaved with exemplary discipline, according to Warden Zimmer, although for a time it was a question whether the flames would be checked as the only water supply was from a big well in the prison yard. The prison is outside the city limits and the prison wooden construction and efforts of the fire company of 75 was at first assisted by many other convicts, until the arrival of firemen from the city. The shops were of flimsy spread of the flames. The principal loss was about $50,000 in machinery.
