Great Fire Raging In -Newark-

ALL POLICE RESERVES AND AMBULANCES IN CITY ORDERED OUT TO A FIRE WHICH BROKE OUT THIS AFTERNOON — MANY BELIEVED TO HAVE BURNED.

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 17.—All police reserves and ambulances in the city were ordered out to a fire which broke out this afternoon in the plant of the American Button Company here. Police reports were that many girls were jumping from the windows of the factory. Twelve persons are dead and the blaze is still going.

AMERICANS NEAREST TO HUN CAPITAL

ALLIED PRESSURE CONTINUES—GERMANS BELIEVED TO BE DIGGING IN ON HINDENBURG LINE—AMERICANS MAY CARRY OUT AN ATTACK IN THE VOSGES REGION THROUGH GERMAN TERRITORY.

By Associated Press)

Allied pressure against the Germans on the Western front showed no signs of abating. In the region of Metz the enemy is reported to be burning towns in the valley of the Moselle, probably in preparation for a retirement in this region.

Local Engagements.

From Ypres to the Rheims the British and French are carrying out local engagements with success. Between Lens and Ypres the British have pushed forward slightly while northwest of St. Quentin they are pressing Le Verguier which is on high ground and affording a good starting point for a flanking movement north of St. Quentin.

Air Activity.

Aerial activity from the region from Laon to Metz continues intense and possible may be the forerunner of large scale infantry operations on this front. French aviators have been drenching enemy railway positions and other targets effectively.

German Artillery.

German artillery fire against the new American front southwest of Metz is very strong. The belief that the enemy is digging in on the Hindenburg line is strengthened by the fact that his heavy artillery bombardment has been succeeded by infantry attack.

Vosges Region.

In the Vosges there is great activity by the enemy who evidently expects the Americans to attack the German line to the west of Rheims. In this sector Americans are standing on German soil and an attack there would, if successful, carry the war nearer to the heart of Germany than elsewhere along the line.

Marshal Foch, however, may elect to strike west of Verdun where the German position has been seriously shaken by the American victories at St. Mihiel.

KILL SEVEN; CAPTURE FIVE

WITH THE AMERICAN FORCES IN LORRAINE, Sept. 17. (By Associated Press).—An American patrol in a raid made early this morning, northwest of Thiacourt, captured five non-commissioned officers and killed seven other non-commissioned officers.

MORE DAMNING PROOFS OF HUN PLOT AGAINST CIVILIZATION

DETAILS of the conspiracy between the Bolsheviki leaders and the German staff are exposed in documents Nos. 16 to 29. These are photographs of letters which passed between the Bolsheviki leaders and the German general staff, or the German officers in Russia. Document No. 21 shows that on November 11, 1917, when Russia was still regarded as an ally of Great Britain, France and America, the German general staff was "having the honor to request" the Bolsheviki leaders to inform it" at the earliest possible moment" concerning "the quantity and storage place of the supplies that have been received from America, England and France, and also the units which are keeping guard over the stores." Document No. 18 shows that the German general staff required the Bolsheviki leaders to send agitators "to the camps of Russian prisoners of war in Germany" in order that they might procure spies to work among the English and French troops and to "further peace propaganda;" and this is proposed by the German general staff as being "according to the negotiations between the Russian and German peace delegates at Brest-Litovsk."

In document No. 22 the Bolsheviki leaders and the Germans are arranging to send "agents, agitators and agent destructors" out of Vladivostok to ports "of the United States, Japan and British colonies in Eastern Asia."

In document No. 16 Trotzky is providing fraudulent passports for German officers who are going to England, France and America as spies and enemy agents. And document No. 17 shows Trotzky endorsing a similar proposal 'to be urgently executed. L. T."

Three German submarines are to be sent to the Pacific on the Trans-Siberian railway by orders of the German high command in document No. 23. Lists of German and Russian spies watching the British, French and American embassies in Petrograd are given in document No. 25. And, finally, in document No. 15, the Bolsheviki leaders are warned that information concerning "the connection of the German government with the Bolsheviki workers" has leaked out and that German troops are hearing of it.

Letters are given to show how the Bolsheviki leaders and the German officers arranged for the assassination of Russian nationalist leaders, for the destruction of the Polish legionaries in the Russian army, for the disorganization of the Rumanian army and the deposing of the Rumanian king, for the substitution of officers satisfactory to Germany in command of Russian troops instead of patriotic Russian generals, for the suppression of patriotic agitation among Russian soldiers, for an attack upon the Italian ambassador in Petrograd and the theft of his papers and for the employment of German soldiers in Russian uniforms against the national Russian armies in the south.

Proof of Treason Conclusive.

Several of the letters are endorsed by Trotzky. Even standing alone they are complete proof that the Bolsheviki leaders were ruling as German agents in Russia and obeying German orders to act against all Germany's enemies and even against Russia itself.

Moreover these Bolsheviki leaders acted as German agents by suppressing their own socialist revolution in the Russian provinces where their doctrines interferred with German plans of annexation. Document No. 46 is the original letter from the Petrograd department of the German general staff, addressed to the Bolsheviki commissar of foreign affairs. It reads:

"According to instructions of the representatives of our general staff, I have the honor once more to insist that you recall from Estland, Litva and Courland all agitators of the central executive committee of the soviet of workmen and soldiers deputies;" and in document No. 47 the general staff orders the Bolsheviki to cease the agitation in Estland which had "finally led to the German landlords being declared outlawed," and to "take immediate steps for the restoring of the rights of the above-mentioned German landlords."

Another group of letters shows how the Germans cheated the Bolsheviki leaders in their dealings with the Ukraine and made a separate peace with the anti-Bolsheviki leaders in that Russian province. Yet another group shows the Germans assisting both sides of the civil war in Finland.

The documents, as they follow, are given in the report form in which they were transmitted by Mr. Sisson to Mr. Creel, chairman of the committee with some later data added and carefully indicated. For instance, Mr. Sisson did not learn until several weeks after he had left Russia that the German order, which he possessed, naming the Russian who was to "defend" Petrograd, had been obeyed.

REPORT BY MR. EDGAR SISSON.

Tnree groups of documents are subjected to internal analysis in the material that follows. One group consists of originals. One group consists of photographs of documents believed still to be in the file rooms of the Russian Bolsheviki. The third (the appendix to the first installment) consists of typewritten circulars that have not been traced to their originals except in the case of two of their number. The chief importance of the third group is that its appearance inspired the efforts that led to the uncovering of the other groups, and they fit into the fabric of the whole. The first set of these appendix circulars came into my hands on February 2, in Petrograd. An additional set appeared the following day at an office where I frequently called. A third appeared in another quarter a day afterward. One set was in Russian, and two in English. On February 5 I held all three sets.

By themselves they were plausible but not substantiated. Having first performed the obvious duty of analyzing them for surface values and transmitting them and the analysis to Washington, I turned, therefore, to the task of further investigations. It is not yet possible to name those who helped, but in two weeks time the judgment of facts became apparent.

The material is presented in its report form, with the addition of some later data. The text of the documents discloses both the methods and the effects of the German conspiracy, not alone against Russia, but the whole world. With each document is the indication of whether it is an original or photograph. With each document is an interpretive note.

DOCUMENT NO. 1. (Very Secret.)

Peoples' Commissary for Foreign Affairs.

Petrograd, Nov. 16, 1917.

To the Chairman of the Counil of Peoples' Commissars:

In accordance with the resolution passed by the conference of peoples' commissars, Comrades Lenin, Trotzky, Podvoisky, Dybenko and Volodarsky, the following has been executed by us:

1. In the archives of the ministry of justice from the dossier re "treason" of Comrades Lenin, Zmevieff, Kameneff, Trotzky, Sumenson and others, has been removed the order of the German Imperial bank, No. 7433, of the second of March, 1917, for allowing money to Comrades Lenin, Zinevief, Kameneff, Trotzky, Sumenson, Kolovsky and others for the propaganda of peace in Russia.

2. There have been audited all the books of the Nia bank at Stockholm containing the accounts of Comrade Lenin, Trotzky, Zinovieff and others which were opened by the order of the German Imperial bank, No. 2754. These books have been delivered to Comrade Muller, who was sent from Berlin.

Authorized by the commissar for foreign affairs.

F. ZALKIND.
E. POLIVANOFF.

(Note—The Russian council of peoples' commissars, dominated by the president, Vladimir Ulianov (Lenin); the then foreign minister, Leon Trotzky, now war minister, and the ambassador to Germany, A. Joffe. The marginal endorsement in writing is: "To the secret department. B. U." This is the fashion in which Lenin is accustomed to initial himself. The English equivalent would be "V. U.," for Vladimir Ulianov. So, even if there existed no further record of German imperial bank order No. 7433, here would be proof of its contents. And here is the link connecting Lenin directly with his action and his guilt. The content matter of the circular exists, however, and herewith follows:

BULGARIAN FORCE ARRIVE WEST FRONT

BULGARIANS REPORTED TO HAVE ARRIVED TO TAKE PART IN THE BATTLE ON THE WESTERN FRONT, ACCORDING TO THE ECHO BELGE.

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 17.—Bulgarian regiments have arrived at Maubeuge to cooperate with the German troops on the West front, according to the Echo Belge.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Unofficial reports that Bulgarian troops have appeared on the Western front attracts attention here today but the question of adding Bulgarian formally to the list of enemies of the United States will not be considered until there is an official report on the subject.

The West W. C. T. U. will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Thomas. All are cordially invited to attend.

A campaign for clothing for the Belgian Relief Fund will be started September 23, to continue until the 30th. Further details will be published later.

CONGRESS ASKED FOR SEVEN BILLIONS MORE

Increased Number Of American Soldiers Enlarges the Estimate.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Congress was asked by the war department today to provide 7,347,000,000 dollars in addition to previous estimates for carrying out the enlarged American military program the coming year. The new estimate is based upon plans for having nearly four million American soldiers in France next summer and another million in training at home.

Red Triangle Inaugurates its Service of Love

DEBUT OF Y. M. C. A. IS FORMALLY MADE AT BIG OPEN AIR RECEPTION LAST NIGHT—ABOUT A THOUSAND WERE PRESENT.

The inauguration of the Y. M. C. A. in the Olympic Peninsula was formally made last evening, when the "Y" rooms on Laurel street were opened by a public reception. With an attractive outdoor platform the 119 Spruce Squadron Band opened the program with several splendid selections, and surely made a hit. A large American flag suspended across the street made an appropriate background for the performers, and added a touch of patriotism that was inspiring. The speakers appeared to good advantage, standing on Peter Grubb's truck which ably supported the improvised platform, with the "colors" of our glorious flag at their backs.

"Y" Rooms Decorated.

The affair will be long remembered as an event in the city. The "Y" rooms were very attractive, bright and cheery, and produced a homey appearance, as the flowers added the necessary touch. The Daughters of Liberty, under the able generalship of Mrs. Bishop and Mrs. McClinton, did a very good work.

The speakers were received well, and none exceeded the time allowed. All spoke highly of the work the "Y" is doing in this country and "over there." Miss May Thompson delighted the audience with her sweet, clear voice.

The "Y" secretaries thank the Commercial Club and all organizations and individuals who so ably assisted and made the "Y" possible, and the thousand people who attended the opening showed their appreciation, also.

F. W. Collins Interviewed.

In a personal interview this morning Mr. Collins expressed himself as being much gratified and delighted with the program gotten up on such short notice and the tremendous enthusiasm which greeted the efforts put forth. The Commercial Club is entitled to great credit for the generous part it has played in the opening of the new Y. M. C. A. Music rendered by the 119 Spruce Squadron Band was both inspiring and given with a vim that could not be bettered, while it reflected great credit on the rendition made after so short a period. The Ladies' Auxiliary have rendered excellent service in furnishing and other ways, while the Daughters of Liberty made the rooms a bower of fragrance and beauty by their generous donations of flowers. The young girls whose rest room made the real beginning of the Y. M. C. A. work in Port Angeles are specially deserving of a special mention.

Unable to Attend.

While there was some disappointment in the absence of some of the speakers, notably in those of W. F. Carey and R. D. Merrill, telegrams of good wishes have been received from the gentlemen mentioned, who, at the last moment found it physically impossible to be present, there were some very good speeches made—those of R. R. Kilroy and F. W. Collins being specially remembered. Mr. Collins has been speaking before Billy Sunday took the platform and is very modest about his efforts, but more than one person saw a resemblance to the eloquent orator.

The G. A. R. lent a spot of picturesqueness to the representative gathering on Laurel street last night, while the clear tones of the singer pleased all who heard her.

The Rebekahs will have their 67th anniversary at the I. O. O. F. hall Friday the 21st. All Odd Fellows and their wives and all Rebekahs and their husbands are cordially invited.

AUSTRIA HUNGARY PEACE PROPOSAL IS REJECTED

Text of Rejection of the Austrian Peace Proposal Is Handed To Swedish Legation.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The reply of the American government rejecting the proposal of Austria-Hungary for a secret and unbinding discussion of peace terms was delivered late today to the Swedish legation for transmission to Vienna.

EXECUTIONS INCREASING IN PETROGRAD

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 17.—Wholesale executions have been increasing in Petrograd during the past week. Eight hundred twelve persons are reported to have been executed.

SPIRIT AND SMILES TAKE N. D. BAKER

SECRETARY OF WAR IMPRESSED WITH THE GAIETY AND VIM OF THE AMERICAN FORCES BOTH OF THE WOUNDED AS WELL AS THE FIGHTING FORCES.

LONDON, September 17.—Newton D. Baker, American secretary of war, received the American correspondents this afternoon. He said that he would go to France for a few days, but would return to London in about a week. Mr. Baker was enthusiastic over the part played by the American troops in France. He described the wonderful dash of the Americans at St. Mihiel. Later, he saw German prisoners coming in and remarked that the Americans managed them as if they had been doing it all their lives. "The spirit and smiles of the Americans, even among the wounded," he said, "are most inspiring. Our casualties are remarkably light, being for the most part 'minor wounds.'"

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 17.—Omaha, Kansas City, and St. Louis were placed under a grain embargo today by the United States railroad administration because the full storage capacity at those markets had been reached.

THE PROFITEERS ARE SQUEALING.

Altrough they are getting off light with only an eighty per cent tax on their excess war profits, leaving them 20 per cent profit in addition to the usual profit whatever that may be, the profiteers are squirming and squealing in an effort to undermine the government machinery established to hold them within bounds.

The medium used by the profiteers is the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, a sort of central organization at Washington, D. C., with which most of the chambers of commerce throughout the United States are aligned. The Chamber at Washington has published a report attacking the Federal Trade Commission. The soreness exhibited in the report is not that of reputable business in general, but of certain special interests, chiefly the coal barons and the meat packers. The principal accusation against the commission is that it "is no longer a responsible body" and that it has "departed from the procedure outlined for it by President Wilson at the time of its creation." We hope it has departed from any special line of procedure which might curtail its usefulness in the protection of the people from high-handed robbery and we feel sure that the president would heartily approve such departure if in fact, it has been made.

It is clear that the main trouble with the objectors is that the commission is doing business and doing it thoroughly. Of course there are specific reasons for the attack. There are two vacancies on the board and the profiteers want a voice in their selection. It is likely that the "report" of the Chamber of Commerce will prove an opening gun in a congressional assault upon the commission. But the people are strong for the commission and their representatives in congress doubtless will be wary of falling for the game of the profiteers.

GOVERNMENT AND THE PRESS.

The utilization of the public press by the German government, both in its own country and in other countries, not excluding the United States, should have served to convince Americans that the ownership and control of the newspapers is a vital problem in popular government. It is likely to be one of the principal issues of the near future, because the people have discovered that the press has been used to advance special interests at the expense of the public and often at the expense of justice, and the only escape from this situation is by some modification of the system of newspaper control. At present newspapers are regarded in law as any other property, to be bought and sold at will, so that it was easy for the German financial agent in New York to purchase control of an influential evening newspaper and by that means to war against American welfare in the interest of a foreign and enemy power. This is an extreme example of the danger resulting from the presentcondition. The other danger, the use of newspaper control to further selfish interests at the expense of the people and for the subvention of justice is present every day in nearly every city in the country.

Newspaper owners attempt to justify the conditions existing by saying that American newspapers are patriotic with very few exceptions. Newspapers have to pretend to be patriotic; otherwise they suffer loss of patronage. But often the pretense is used to cloak deceitful attacks upon American idealsof government to halt reform movements by attacks upon popular leaders. Even in these war times it is easy to notice the joy which the so-called Kept Press rejoices over the prosecution of some poor farmer or working mn by the government, the while it suppresses news of the conviction for sedition of men who have been prominent in business or in reactionary politics.

For years past the newspapers of the nation as a whole have been feeding the American people "colored" news and have succeeded to some extent in creating a widespread prejudice against men of original thought and progressive ideas, thereby hampering certain liberal movements in which the United States is behind other countries under popular rule. This has been particularly noticeable in the constant effort to prejudice the people against government and municipal ownership, the purpose of which is to maintain a condition in which the people pay tribute to corporations for heat, light, power and transportation. Through these corporations and the high tariff system the financial interests maintain themselves in power and, through the newspapers which they own or control, influential political and social conditions. There is evidence that the American people are becoming interested in the ownership of the press. Some day, perhaps, editors will not be licensed but elected by the commun-ties which they are supposed to serve.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS

Last Brigadier Genenral Arrives

With the arrival of Brigadier General William P. Ennis, who will command the 13th field artillery of the 13th division here, the complement of brigadier generals for the division is completed. The others are Brigadier General Cornelius Vanderbilt, in command of the 25th infantry brigade, and Brigadier General James W. Watson, in command of the 26th infantry brigade.

General Ennis, until his promotion to the ranks of brigadier general a few weeks ago, was colonel in the command of the school of fire at Fort Sill, Oklahoma. He is a thoroph field artillery man, having been in this branch of the service continuously since his graduation from West Point in 1901. He has served in the first and second field artillery. General Ennis is also the son of Brigadier General William Ennis, U. S. A., who was retired in 1904.

In line with the announced policy of the war department to have officers who have seen service in France returned to this country as officers in divisions now preparing for foreign service. Colonel E. M. Bailey has been sent here to oommand the 37th field artillery. Colonel Bailey was an artillery officer in France and has had several months of actual fighting in the front line.

CONFESSIONS of a WAR BRIDE

Censors Were Not Invented for War Use Only.

Over and over again I read the check Daddy Lorimer gave me to see if I can really believe my own eyes—$1,000 for a baby's layette—and I wonder where all the Lorimer money comes from. "The Lorimer Chemical company" is now turning its output over to the government, I know, but hardly as a contribution And sometimes I think I do not want to spend $1,000 made from war profits to clothe my baby's tender body.

The trouble is, I suppose, that I do not understand a little bit the difference between "profit" and "profittering." Probably few women do. That's why it's so easy for the profiteers to raise prices on everything from rent to rubbers.

For myself, I'm willing to give and give and give to the war on the Hun, but I do not want anyt8hing back again—except my darling husband. Sometimes I get almost superstitious about this. How dare I live, smothered in luxuries, while some war brides are working hard to earn their daily bread? Can I hope to have everything including the return of my soldier boy?

That seems so much more than my share of happiness in this terrible decade of history that down deep in my heart I am afraid to hope for it. To get rid of that terror, I'd gladly live in the poorest way. I'd cut and stitch the very plainest little garments for my child-to-be, with joy in my heart. If I could be sure the cost of the cloth I sewed was not made by profiteering. Now I am sadly doubtful.

I know how to be poor because I was brought up that way. Moreover, Bob and I always lived modestly, in spite of his father's handy check book, on the salary and commissions Bob made in a stock and bond office. Bob was doing splendidly until the war cut down such transactions. Then Daddy Lorimer insisted on paying our bills, but Mr. Bob would have none of it. I never ask my husband's reasons. Now he is gone, and I am obliged to live with his parents, and it is a marvelous home to have. Nevertheless, my life would be easier if Bob had taken me into his confidence before he left.

Without him, I must think out hard problems for myself, such as the relation between chemicals and war and profiteering and my baby's layette. But now that I know about the "Queen of Smiles," L've been putting these awfully bothersome questions to myself:

If a man is immoral in his domestic life, can he be moral in his business life?

If a man exploit his wife in love, will he not find it easy to exploit his country in war?

I'd like to put them to Mother Lorimer—she has always read the last word on such topics—but, of course, all of the personalities would have to be censored out of the story for her.

I guess that censors are not an original invention of nations at war. They've existed in most families and have had steady employment ever since human beings began to talk.

FRENCH STOP HIGH PRICES TO YANKEES

MINISTER OF SUPPLIES CONDEMNS ACTS OF MERCHANTS—WARNS PROFITEERS THAT THEY MUST QUIT OR GO TO JAIL.

PARIS, Sept. 17.—The French minister of agriculture and supplies has acted to stop profiteering against American soldiers.

Store keepers have been selling American and British troops their goods at prices higher than those charged to French civilians, and in an order issued to all the prefects of France, the minister of agriculture has condemned this practice and ordered that it be stopped.

"I cannot condemn too greatly such a procedure," he says, "as it is in complete opposition to the spirit which should exist between allies.

"Let us not forget for the same ideal and with the same effort the armies of our allies of Europe and America are marching with ours to dispute foot by foot the aggressions of the enemy on the soil of our invaded regions.

"Undoubtedly I realize that some of the increases in prices may be explained at least in part by the difficulties of our retailers in getting provisions and the work of our small producers. But these reasons can not justify the asking of higher prices to men who are united to us by the fraternity of arms on the battlefields of Europe.

"The government is therefore resolved to put a stop to these regrettable practices. All persons guilty of such acts are to be delivered to justice to be tried by the application of the law of April 20, 1916, on illegal increasing of prices."

To assist in checking profiteering General Pershing has ordered that the American soldiers report all cases of excess prices charged them.

FOXES RUN WILD; POULTRY SUFFER

LONDON, Sept. 17.—The poultry farmers are up in arms against the ravages of foxes. Practically no fox hunting took place last winter, and, as a result, their number has increased considerably. Lacking small ground game, the foxes have turned their attention to poultry to satisfy their larders. Farmers are demanding that something be done to save their fowl.

First Sammie: Writing home?

The new Sammie: Yes! I'm telling the folks I have at last discovered why Napoleon is always represented with his hand plunged inside his coat.

First Sammie: Well, what's the reason?

The new Sammie: You'll know all right, when you've slept on straw in a French stable and heard the cooteys sing.

The British Music Convention recently adopted a resolution asking the government to prohibit the import of German pianos after the war.

FRENCH GAS TRICK OUTWITS THE HUNS

PARIS, Sept. 17.—Here's the latest story of how French ingenuity outwitted the Huns' bullheadedness and resulted in a substantial bag of Germans:

On a certain "quiet" sector the French made poison gas attacks at intervals of three days, accompanying the poison gas with "stinkbombs."

At the correct interval they next sent over "stinkbombs" not accompanied by gas; followed these up with infantry, and found the Huns calmly sitting in their trenches, wearing gas masks. Nearly all were taken prisoners.

The Branch House Man

This is one of the Swift & Company Branch House Men.

They are all pretty much alike in the way they feel toward their work—and that is what this ad is about.

They know that most people couldn't get such good meat promptly and in good condition if it weren't for the branch houses of which they are in charge.

They know that the branch house is one of the most important links in the chain of preparing and distributing meat for a nation.

They know that Swift & Company must have its branch houses run at the highest notch of usefulness; that even a Swift & Company branch house won't run itself, and that it is up to the branch house man to run it properly.

Any branch house man who doesn't see his work in this light is transferred to some other place with Swift & Company to which he is better adapted.

They are picked men, these branch house men. Every time you sit down to a steak or chop, or cut of roast, you can give a grateful thought to the whole crew of them.

And remember, in a general way, that everything that makes life smoother and more convenient for you, is the result of the thought, usefulness and effort of a lot of people of which you have never heard.

Swift & Company, U. S. A.

AMERICANS IN FRANCE AND AMERICANS AT HOME

In speaking of the American soldiers in France, Premier Clemenceau said in the French House of Deputies:

"The French generals tell me the victory was peculiarly American in its conception and execution. I am much impressed with the magnificent discipline, daring and bravery of the American troops."

David Lloyd-eGorge, prime minister of England, in speaking of our soldiers, said:

"We know that when they appear in the battle line they fight in a way worthy of the great traditions of their great country. This is in itself a source of support, sustenance, and encouragement to all those who with anxious hearts are watching the conflict going on in France."

The English and French prime ministers have only expressed the opinion of the world of the Americans in France. Our soldiers' part in the great drive against the Germans is worthy of our great nation. On September 28 begins the campaign for the Fourth Liberty Loan, the drive toward victory which it is the part of the Americans at home to make a triumph and success. If we do our part as well as our soldiers do theirs, our response will be worthy of our great country and of our soldiers and sailors. And every good American will do his or her best to make it so.

ALLIED FORCES ARE BEATIN BACK THE BOLSHEVIKI

COMBINED FORCES AFTER INITIAL REPULSE BEAT BACK THE BOLSHEVIK WHO FLED IN PANIC — MANY OFFICERS DESERT TO THE BRITISH.

PETROGRAD, Sept. 17.—American British and French detachments are reported to have met the Bolshevik forces in battle in the Archangel front. The Bolshevik troops after an initial success were repulsed by British reinforcements and fled in panic. A number of Bolshevik officers, it is said, deserted to the British.

Stop Coughing!

The simplest and best way to stop coughing is to take

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR

In it, you get the curative influence of the pine tar and other healing ingredients, together with the mollifying laxative effect of the honey. It puts a soothing coating on the inflamed tickling throat, allays bronchial irritation, raises phlegm easily, stops hard wearing coughs and nervous hacking.

W. S. Bailey, Lancaster, Ky., writes:—"My wife contracted a severe cold, which developed into a bronchial trouble, and she coughed almost continually. One-half bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar slacked up her cough and she rested much better at night. She continued its use until it effected a cure."

TROOPS MUST GO TO THE VOLGR FIGHTING FRONT

Absolutely Essential That Troops Be Sent to Present Eastern Front Immediately.

OLOVANNAIYA, Trans-Baikalia, Wed. Sept. 17. (By the Associated Press).—If the allies intend to combat the German forces in Russia and to save the Russians from falling under the German yoke, it is absolutely essential that troops be sent immediately to the present eastern front along the Volga. This is the opinion of General Gaida, the commander of the Czecho-Slovaks fighting on the Volga who has arrived from the west. Following the Volga, the Czecho-Slovaks, aided by newly organized Russian units, the general said, are attempting to press westward against greatly superior enemy forces which increases daily owing to the mobilization of released Austro-German prisoners. The Bolsheviki Red Guards, he added, would have stopped fighting but for these prisoners who were ordered to enter the Bolsheviki ranks by Berlin when it became known there of the situation in Siberia. Berlin also fears uprisings toward happenings in the Ukraine.

There is unbounded enthusiasm through Siberia owing to the deliverance from Bolshevik rule through the activities of the Czechs. East of the Ural mountains volunteers are flocking to the Siberian railway to join the new Siberian army. Twenty thousand men already are under arms. The 1918 and 1919 classes have been ordered mobilized and are making a splendid response.

General Gaida said he believed it would be fatal if present enthusiasm in Siberia was permitted to die out. In a few months Russia would possess an army capable of driving the Germans to the frontier if the allies would send troops to aid the Czechs in their of reorganization.

TAKES GERMAN MAJOR'S MONOCLE AND MAKES HIM CARRY PACK

PARIS, Sept. 17.—During the recent American advance from Chateau Thierry, a Red Cross captain met an American negro soldier marching towards Chateau Thierry behind a German major. The negro had transferred his pack from his own back to the back of the German officer and had also transferred the German officer's monocle to his own eye. Thus equipped he was parading down the road. As he passed the Red Cross captain, he called out: "I say, look here what dis nigger done got!"

Working men of America what did we promise our boys'

Just this: That every minute of the day, they are sacrificing themselves for the sak Liberty and America—that we'd be back of them to the last ditch, to give them all "tools" they need to lick the Kaiser.

There is only one way to make good on that promise—and that is for every last one of us to put in every minute of his working day where it does the most good.

And there are not just minutes but whole days lost every time a man changes his job. A man has to be found to replace him. He loses time in moving. He takes time to catch on to the ways in the new plant.

When a manufacturer needs more men, it is his duty to the country as a whole not to disturb plants that are engaged in essential war work, but to get the Government's help in finding men who can be taken from important work. This can be done through the U States Employment Service with 500 branch office 20,000 agents of its recruiting division, the United S Public Service Reserve. There is no charge—an Service is now placing 200,000 skilled and unskilled monthly.

Tell your labor needs to the local Examiner-in-Cl local agent of the United States Public Service Re or to the Director General at Washington.
