SPECIAL LEVY ELECTION ANNOUNCEMENT... FORKS AREA

The Board of Directors of Quillayute Valley School District No. 402 announces that a special levy will be submitted to the people of the district on Tuesday, May 10.

1. Due to the action of the 1965 Legislature, our financial situation has deteriorated when compared with districts of similar size.

2. The Legislature requires salary increases but failed to provide sufficient funds making necessary a cutback in the amounts available for operation, maintenance and instructional budgets.

3. Salaries of instructional staff members in our district are $180 lower than in schools of similar size in the State and are an additional $297 lower than the average high school district in Clallam and Jefferson counties.

4. The Board was faced with the choice of limiting student activities, leading classrooms, etc.—all of which could be expected to limit student development and opportunity—or give the patrons of the district an opportunity to determine whether they wish to continue the education of their children at the present level.

Therefore, the special levy election being held on Tuesday, May 10, is a chance for the voters of the school district to determine whether they wish to continue the education of their children as at present, or whether they wish to limit their educational expenditures.

The Board wishes to make the following comments to help clarify certain issues closely allied to the levy election: (1) Almost all major instructional equipment purchased in this district this year, and during the past several years, has been possible only because of Federal funds allowed for this purpose.

U. S. Office of Education has approved payment of $12,000 for Quillayute Valley School District of Forks, Senators Jackson, Magnuson and Representative Meeds announced today.

Her sister, Florence Jordan of Sappho died in 1912 leaving two small sons, John and Bym who Mrs. Ackery raised as her own sons. Bym was killed in a train wreck when a young man and John now lives in Alaska.

She was severely injured by a falling tree in the big blowdown of 1912. It was three weeks before a doctor could get to her from Port Angeles and the accident left her with a bad limp. FORKS FORUM PAGE FIVE THURSDAY, APRIL 14, 1966 Congressman's Corner... BY CONGRESSMAN LLOYD MEEDS Second District, Washington MEEDS INTRODUCES CHILDREN'S MILK ACT

Congressman Lloyd Meeds this week introduced a bill to assure the full continuation of the children's Special Milk Fund. The Administration is offering a different milk plan but would be available to the poor. "Low income children should have an adequate milk diet," Meeds declared. "But I don't think that a teacher or Principal should have to point the finger at poor children and single them out. Such a 'measn test' would be very obnoxious to administer. The nutritional benefits of fresh milk should be enjoyed by as many students as possible, and the bill I am sponsoring will assure continuation of the Special Milk Fund."

The Administration is asking that 80% be slashed from the Milk Fund. "But it would be false economy, at best, if we cut the budget in this area," the Congressman said. "The $82 million cut would force the government to raise the support price of milk and to add to the inventory of surplus dairy products already amassed. The result would be very expensive."

Immunize Now For Polio

in disease can travel far and fast. Visitors can bring it in over-night. Protection is possible only through prior immunization.

Survey data obtained by state and local health departments indicate that in some areas of the state more than half the preschool children have never been immunized with oral polio vaccine, Dr. Buovo said.

He pointed out that polio is a summer and fall disease—and now is the time to immunize. Every child should be immunized by one year of age. And every child up to age 18, who has not been previously immunized should get an oral vaccine dosage as quickly as possible. Adults should receive Salk vaccine by injection.

Polio immunization, Dr. Buovo says, is just as important as immunization for such diseases as tetanus, diphtheria, whooping cough and measles.

According to the state statistical section, the total polio virus antibodies in 1950 were: 1952-712 cases; 1953-218 cases; 1954-204 cases; 1955-228 cases. The 1950's saw a drop from 46 cases in 1950 to none in 1954. Only proper immunization can prevent it from becoming a serious problem again.

Under the age of six weeks vaccination may not be effective because immunity received from the mother may interfere with the vaccine. But between six weeks and six months of age, infants should receive two doses of trivalent oral vaccine at least eight weeks apart or three doses of monovalent vaccine at monthly intervals. These are followed by a third dose between the 10th and 12th month. No child can be considered immune until after the series is completed.

Dr. Buovo advises prompt immunization of all youngsters past the six-week infancy period up to age 18. A booster dose should be administered if the child has only had two doses of the oral vaccine previously. Every parent should keep a handy immunization tabulation on each child for all immunization data. Then he will know exactly what his child's status is in warding off all crippling "bugs". It is also important that adults keep their immunity high with Salk vaccine.

Dr. Buovo urges that all children not immunized for polio be promptly taken to a physician. Local health departments also will give proper immunization for a nominal fee, he said.

Blood Pressure . . .

often, Washington State Heart Association notes. Regular physical examination will bring high blood pressure to light.

In a few cases, diagnosis may lead to discovery of a specific cause which can often be corrected. In the majority of cases (those with "essential" hypertension, meaning that no specific cause can be identified) early treatment can be instituted to reverse the course of the disease before serious damage has been done.

The new pressure-lowering drugs are only a part of the attack on hypertension. Other measures to control blood pressure include: reduction of excess weight, since overweight aggravates the condition and the risk of heart attack; cessation of cigarette smoking; because smoking just one of two cigarettes brings an immediate rise in blood pressure; in suitable cases, reduction of salt intake in the diet, if the doctor prescribes it.

151 cities—representing about 40 percent of the population of Oregon and Washington—are dependent upon water from the National Forests.

FORKS FORUM PAGE THREE
THURSDAY, APRIL 14, 1966

Going up! Your blood pressure, that is, it could be creeping up quietly, without your being aware of it. Unless you have had it checked recently by a doctor.

This is definitely not a case of "what you don't know won't hurt you." Washington State Heart Association warns. Not only can hypertension (the medical name for high blood pressure) do serious damage to blood vessels, heart and kidneys; it also considerably increases the patient's risk of developing coronary heart disease.

A scant 15 years ago, there was relatively little physicians could do to modify the course of hypertension. Since that time, modern medicine has achieved one of its most dramatic successes. The story can be told in statistics: between 1950 and 1962, the death rate from hypertension dropped 52% among middle-aged American men and women (ages 45-64).

The "secret weapon" in the successful counterattack on hypertension is really an arsenal: several potent new drugs which singly, or in combinations, can bring down blood pressure and keep it down—if the disease is detected and treated early.

While doctors were making these impressive inroads on hypertension's toll in human lives, scientists exploring the natural history of coronary heart disease made a disquieting discovery, indicating hypertension on a new count.

Because high blood pressure can encroach and advance with producing any warning symptoms, hypertension examinations cannot be stressed too

THINK AHEAD . . . If you drive our Freeway regularly or not occasionally, be sure you're in good operating condition. Are inside and outside mirrors properly adjusted? Be sure your tank has an ample supply of gas. Check your map to determine the most convenient exit.

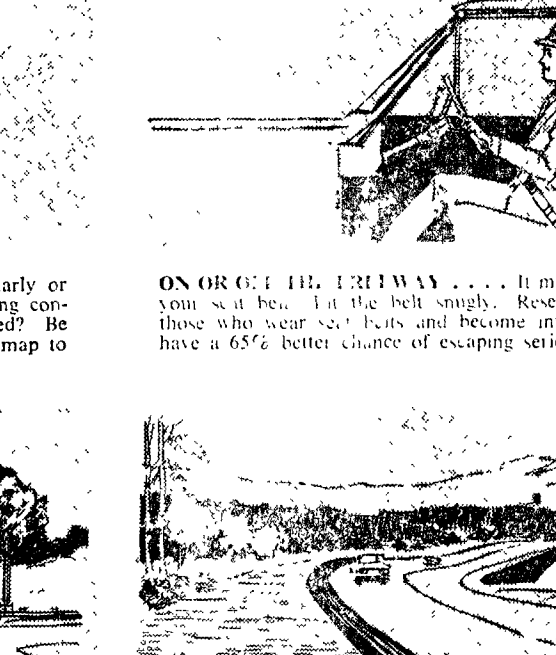

ON OR OFF THE FREEWAY . . . It makes good sense to use the right lane. Remember, you may find that those who wear seat belts and become involved in an accident have a 67% better chance of escaping serious injury.

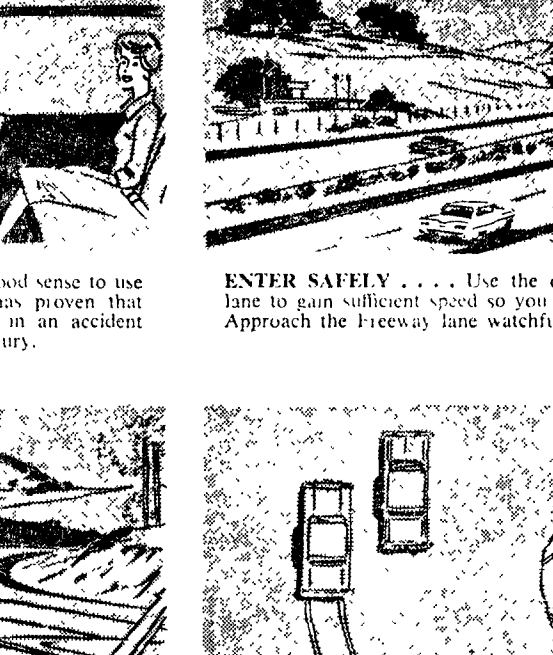

ENTER SAFELY . . . Use the on-ramp and the acceleration lane to ease without speed so you can ease onto the traffic flow. Approach the Freeway lane watchfully.

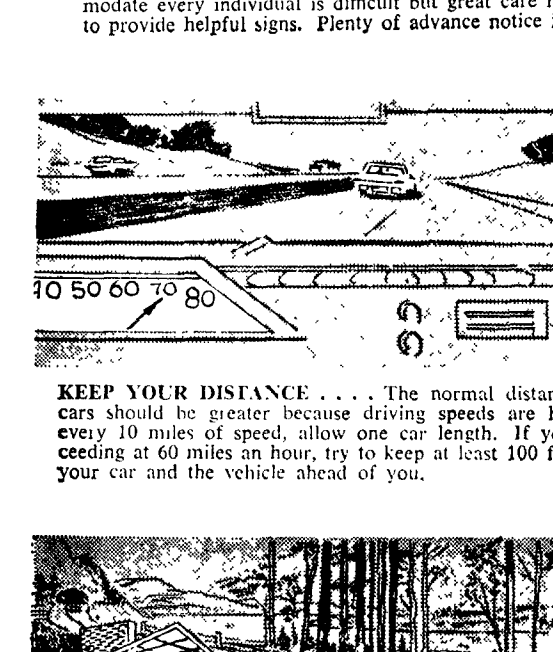

RESPECT OUR SIGNS . . . Precise understanding to accommodate every individual is difficult but great care has been taken to provide helpful signs. Plenty of advance notice is presented.

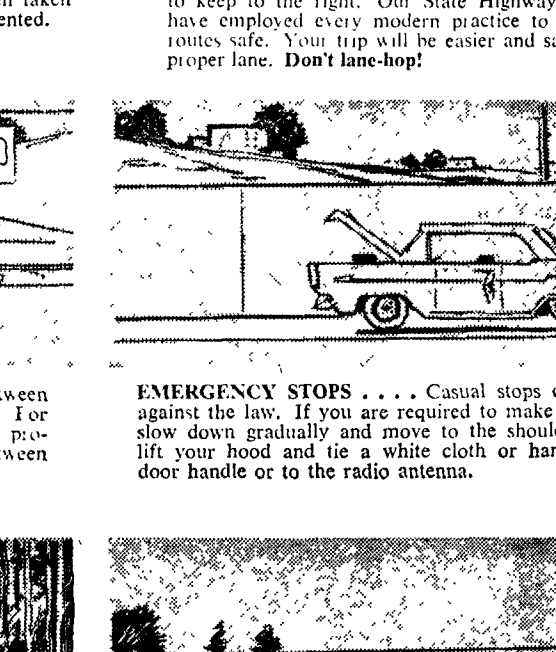

STEADY AS YOU GO . . . A new law requires slow vehicles to keep to the right. Our State Highway Department engineers have employed every modern practice to make these high-speed roads safe. You'll find it easier and safer if you stay in your proper lane. Don't lane-hop!

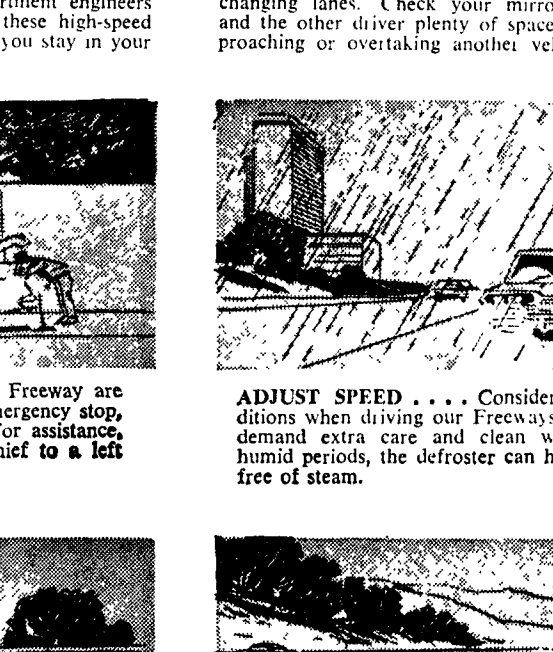

PASS PRUDENTLY . . . Use your directional signals when changing lanes. Check your mirrors frequently—give yourself and the other driver plenty of space. Don't use lights when approaching or overtaking another vehicle.

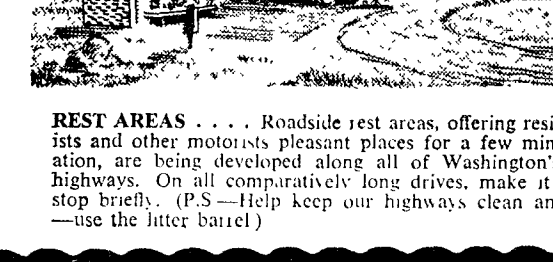

KEEP YOUR DISTANCE . . . The normal distance between cars should be greater because driving speeds are higher. For every 10 miles of speed, allow one car length. If you are traveling at 60 miles an hour, try to keep at least 100 feet between your car and the vehicle ahead of you.

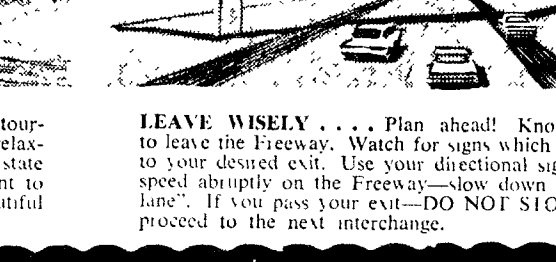

EMERGENCY STOPS . . . Casual stops on the Freeway are not to be made. If you are required to make an emergency stop, slow down gradually and move to the shoulder. For assistance, hit your horn and a white cloth or handkerchief to a left door handle or to the radio antenna.

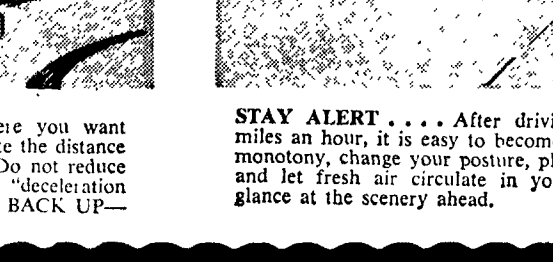

ADJUST SPEED . . . Consider the weather and light conditions when driving our Freeways. Western Washington drivers demand extra care and clean windshields. During rain and humid periods, the defroster can help keep your vehicle's interior free of steam.

REST AREAS . . . Roadside rest areas, offering residents, tourists and other motorists pleasant places for a few minutes' relaxation, are being developed along all of Washington's Interstate Highways. On all conventional long drives, make it a point to stop briefly. (P.S.—Help keep our highways clean and beautiful—use the litter boxes!)

LEAVE WISELY . . . Plan ahead! Know where you want to leave the Freeway. Watch for signs which indicate the distance to your desired exit. Use your directional signal. Do not reduce speed abruptly on the Freeway—slow down on the acceleration lane! If you pass your exit—DO NOT STOP OR BACK UP—proceed to the next interchange.

STAY ALERT . . . After driving continuously at 60 or 70 miles an hour, it is easy to become complacent. To help prevent monotony, change your posture, play the radio, open the window and let fresh air circulate in your car. When traffic permits, glance at the scenery ahead.

Dear Abner: I am in a terrible predicament. I have a girlfriend who comes from a wealthy family and last weekend, she had a house party and invited me. Since I couldn't afford the clothes, she loaned me several beautiful dresses and shoes—we are both almost identical sizes—and I was in heaven. A number of eligible men attended and the sweetest one there was a son of a successful mining engineer and he wants to start seeing me from now on if I will let him. I lied to him, Abner, and now I don't know what to do. I told him I do, he will find out that I lied and will simply hate me! How can I get out of this horrible mess without losing the friendship of an awfully nice boy? Please don't mention the name of the town I live in or mine either. Will you please help me? Please!

Helpless
Dear Helpless: I know this may come as a surprise, but men don't look on love as women do. They like their girls for what they are—not what they have. Remember the story of Cinderella? Many engineers never expect to find a girl in pleasant surroundings, yet when they strike "my girl", the locality becomes the most beautiful place on earth. If it is a chip off of the old block, the truth will make this happy.

Home Safety Week

With most of the headlines involving billions of dollars—a substantial portion of them taxpayers' dollars—it is difficult to be reminded that there are some private enterprises around which come up the hard way. One of these is R.E.A. Express, formerly known as the Railway Express Agency. It is the direct descendant of early express pioneers such as Adams Express, American Express and Wells Fargo. The founder of the express industry in America was William F. Harnden who worked as a conductor on the first New England passenger train. Harnden was impressed by the lack of organized commercial facilities for the transport of valuables, papers and packages between New York and Boston businessmen. He conceived the idea for a new type of transportation agency that would carry what he called "express" on a regular, scheduled basis. He advertised his express service in New York and Boston newspapers. At first his traffic was small enough to be carried in a carpenter's wagon. This the beginning of the express business which is today a multi-million dollar enterprise. An enterprise that developed because one man had a good idea that met a public need.

REX Express today maintains over 8,000 offices and terminals and coordinates all forms of air, highway, ocean and air transport to link shippers-consignees with pickup and delivery at all principal points in all 50 states, Canada, Puerto Rico and nations throughout the world.

Up The Hard Way

Several thousand persons are expected to join Port Townsend's streets and sidewalks on Sunday, April 17, during the fourth annual "Victorian Homes Tour" being held that day under sponsorship of the local Parent-Teachers Association. The Sunday program—similar to the highly successful tours conducted since 1963—will feature the historic William Furlong, L. H. Pontius and John E. Fuge residences.

Nearly $2.00 was realized from last year's tour, and the P-T-A's scholarship fund is expected to benefit to a similar extent this year. (Some half dozen scholarships will be presented to local high school graduates in May.)

The three homes will be visited from 1 to 4:30 p.m., churches will be open following their regular morning services and other buildings beginning at about 10 a.m.

The featured homes: John E. Fuge residence, 1609 Washington St., now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Copeland. It is one of several homes built along Washington Street by Mr. Fuge in the 1880's. It remained in the Fuge family for 80 years. It presently contains original wall-paper and woodwork . . . also an original marble bathtub (with drain but no water) . . . also an original fireplace, as water was carried from the well in buckets. An old-style pantry is contained in original condition. Documents containing the history of the Fuge family will be on display.

The Coat And The Cloth

There is a growing feeling on the part of a significant number of people, expert and layman alike, that unprecedented government spending is surely going to put some jarring bumps into the economic sleigh ride that the country has been enjoying. All bets are off, and the best of crystal gazers see only a murky picture of the possible shape of taxes, deficits and inflation by the time the polling booths open again.

There are many "ifs" involved, but it is certain that the attempt to conduct a war, expand practically every social welfare program and shoot the moon, all at the same time, is more than even the wealthiest nation in the world can undertake without feeling the strain.

What it all adds up to is that further depreciation of the dollar, to an extent that no one can predict, is inevitable unless government cuts its coat to fit the cloth.

The North Cascade Primitive Area adjoining Canada was set aside by the U. S. Forest Service in 1935.

4-H DEMONSTRATIONS

Local 4-H Demonstrations will be held April 30, at 9 a.m. in the Home Economics room at the high school. Please call Mrs. Joel Dahlgren (774-6482) to schedule your winning demonstration.

Baking Soda Soothes Sunburn
If you're determined to tan, do beware. You may wind up blistered where bare and look like a lobster . . . feel sore as a bull. So easy this summer don't simmer or broil. But if you should overdo it, take heed. A tubful of water that's tepid to cool. Sprinkled with bicarb . . . a cupful, and if you'll submerge and refrain from your usual scrubbing. Then relax and enjoy lazy-do-nothing tubbing. You'll arise from out of this bicarbonate brew. With skin cleansed, soothed and a much paler hue.

Play It Safe
Springtime brings on a restlessness to get out of the house, to run a quick errand, to have a cup of coffee with a neighbor.
"Pine. But don't leave small children alone in the house while you're out."
Hundreds of children die in fires each year because parents left them alone "for just a few minutes."
National Fire Protection Association records show:
Sometimes the children start the fires, playing with matches or stoves. Sometimes fire simply chooses this moment to strike.
For your children's safety, always take them with you when you leave the house, or put them in charge of a competent older family member or babysitter.
Play it safe, so you'll never be sorry!

Springtime Tip
A springtime fire safety tip for homeowners is this:
When you fill the tank of that power lawnmower, be sure to treat gasoline with respect. Remember it gives off flammable vapors which need only a tiny flame or spark to turn into searing fire or dangerous explosion.
So do all refueling outdoors where the dangerous vapors can't accumulate. Keep away from all ignition sources, and observe a strict no smoking rule. Wipe up all spilled gasoline before starting the motor.
Finally, keep your gasoline in a light-colored metal can—never in a glass jug or bottle.
