TURKS ARE SMASHED BY THE BRITISH

GENERAL ALLENBY POCKETS OTTOMAN ARMY IN SURPRISE OFFENSIVE PRACTICALLY ANNIHILATING THE ENEMY'S FORCE. NAZARETH CAPTURED.

FORTY THOUSAND TURKS TRAPPED

LONDON, Sept. 23.—Reports from the Palestine front this afternoon indicate a Turkish force of at least 40,000 men is trapped by the British through the seizure of the last of the passages of the Jordan and cannot possibly get away.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—Disaster threatens the armies of Bulgaria and Turkey on the battlefront of Macedonia and Palestine. Allied forces are pressing with vigor their successful campaign against the two lesser members of the Central Powers.

In Palestine, General Allenby virtually has wiped out the enemy forces opposing him. He has captured more than 25,000 prisoners and 260 guns and continues to press forward between the Jordan and the Mediterranean coast.

Allied successes in Macedonia have resulted in the driving of a breach between the eastern and western flanks of the German-Bulgarian forces, whose main line of communication has been cut. The Bulgarians are in full retreat between Monastir and the Vardar.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—British troops in their drive north through Palestine, already have counted 18,000 Turkish prisoners and have collected 120 guns, according to an official statement given out last evening by the British war office.

British cavalry units operating between the Jordan and Mediterranean, have advanced some sixty miles from their original positions and have occupied the biblically renowned town of Nazareth and Afule and Boisan, according to a British war office announcement.

Giving further information concerning the dramatic advance of the British army in Palestine, begun during the night of September 19, a special correspondent at Gen. Allenby's headquarters says:

"The victory is much more important than the number of prisoners at present reported indiiates, for the Turk has had a smashing blow and is retising into the hills as fast as his weary legs will permit. The British are pressing him with splendid energy.

"Preparations for the battle entail a good deal of marching. The troops

VOTES FOR WOMEN AND WAR PROHIBITION UP

Congress Will Dispose Of Two Measures This Week As Well As Big Revenue Bill.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 23.—War time prohibition and women suffrage, subjects which have been before congress for many months, probably will be brought to a vote this week, while the war revenue bill is entering upon its third stage—revision by the senate finance committee of the draft adopted by the house last week.

Advocates and opponents of woman suffrage are lining up for the fight in the senate Thursday, when Senator Jones, of the suffrage committee, will call up the house resolution providing for submission to the states of a constitutional amendment granting the franchise to women.

ALLIES MAKING PROGRESS IN OPERATIONS IN THE WEST

(By Associated Press)

On the Western front the British and French are progressing successfully in their encirclement of St. Quentin. The French have seriously menaced the Germans by the capture of Venzeuil. Venzeuil is nine miles northeast of St. Quentin and the Schelt canal and within two miles of Le Catelet.

Field Marshal Haig's men have carried out a successful local attack south of Villers-Guislain, taking one hundred prisoners. In a local operation northeast of Arras, the British captured sixty prisoners and made some progress.

Along the American sectors of the front, there have been made patrol encounters, but nothing approaching a general action has been fought.

Americans Take Prisoners.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Sept. 23.—American troops raided the enemy line in the neighborhood of Haumont village in the center of the new line across the St. Mihiel salient Saturday. They captured twenty-five prisoners. One unit attacked Haumont itself. It engaged in sharp fighting in the village, taking twenty prisoners and killed and wounded some forty more. The prisoners were members of a battalion formerly stationed at Metz.

U. S. SOCIALIST MISSION REPORTS PACIFISM DEAD

RETURNING DELEGATES FROM EUROPE SAY BRITISH WORKERS NOW DEMAND VICTORY PRIOR TO PEACE NEGOTIATIONS

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Sept. 23.—Optmistic reports on the rapid wane of pacific or defeatist sentiment among the allied nations were brought back by members of the American Socialistic mission, who arrived here Sunday after a visit to Great Britain, France and Italy.

Members of the mission are A. M. Smons, Milwaukee; Charles Edward Russell, New York; Louis Kopelin, Girard, Kans., and Alexander Howard, Pittsburgh. In a joint statement, they said:

"We came here almost direct from the meeting of the British trades union congress at Derby. The war resolution, which had been placed upon agenda two months before, with every prospect of adoption, demanded immediate peace negotiations. When the congress met the temper of the country had so changed that the previous resolution was withdrawn, and one calling for negotiations only after Germany had been driven from France and Belgium was substituted."

The fisheries project, involving construction of cold storage plant, dockage for fishing boats and other facilities, upon which the Neah Bay fishermen have been working, has reached the stage of incorporation, the capitalization being $250,000, of which $28,000 has been subscribed to date, according to Thomas Guptill, who has been aiding the fishermen in organizing the enterprise.

The fishermen will ask for the lease of a larger area of land on Ediz Hook to accommodate the buildings and plant planned and they may ask the city to subscribe to some of the stock.

The enterprise is of the cooperative order and the plans contemplate the building up of the biggest fisheries project in the state.

AMERICANS MAKE SUCCESSFUL RAIDS ON GERMAN LINES

ATTACKS AT HAUMONT AND CHAREY, ON LORRAINE FRONT, NET THE YANKS A BUNCH OF PRISONERS — GERMAN AIRPLANES ARE ACTIVE.

WITH THE AMERICAN FORCES IN LORRAINE, Sept. 23.—American troops made two successful raids on the German lines northeast of St. Mihiel early Sunday morning, taking 29 prisoners in the region of Haumont and five prisoners sootheast of Charey. Both raids were preceded by barrages.

Patrols from the region of Haumont reported that at least 40 Germans were killed or injured. Other patrols from the Charey region estimated that the barrage killed at least a score of Germans.

The prisoners taken southeast of Charey were machine gunners, the Americans capturing two heavy machine guns. At Haumont the Germans were captured in dugouts where they had taken refuge from the stiff American barrage.

The Germans answered with their artillery along the American line. The first American barrage began soon after midnight. The other started at 2 o'clock. Both continued for two hours.

German airplanes were active in the region between the Moselle river and St. Benoit, northeast of St. Mihiel. The forward areas were bombed practically all night.

German artilery kept up a harassing fire on Priest woods, Rappes woods and the village of Fey-enHaye. The road to Thiacourt is being shelled intermittently.

The Germans are reported to be working on dugouts to the west of Pagny and to the east of Haumont. Similar activity has been observed north of Dampvitou and south of Dommartin.

BIG MILL AT PORT ANGELES IS RISING AS IF BY MAGIC ON SITE FACING STRAITS

TIDELAND RECLAIMED FORMS DOCK FOR OCEAN GOING STEAMERS—PILING AND FOUNDATIONS ARE READY TO RECEIVE MACHINERY—TO CUT A MILLION FEET A DAY

(From Spruce)

With rapidity almost incredible the big mill, or cut-up plant, as it is technically known, which is being erected by the Siems, Carey H. S. Kerbaugh Corporation at Port Angeles, is looming up on the bay shore.

The tenth day of August four men under the direction of Earl M. Rogers, constructing and operating engineer, began a preliminary survey of the ground. A few days later test piles were driven.

On the twelfth day of September the foundations for a plant with a capacity of more than a million feet a day were all in place and yesterday workmen began pouring the concrete upon which the machinery will shortly be installed.

Incidental to the erection of the plant is the creation of one of the finest deep water docks on Puget sound. A breakwater into which have been driven 500 pieces of piling and against which have been stacked 1200 cords of Christmas trees forms a sea wall for a dock to which ocean going ships of any draught can tie at low tide.

An electric dredge pumping 3000 cubic yards of gravel every 24 hours is placing 250,000 cubic yards of terra firma behind this bulwark, thus creating a large area upon which the various buildings for the plant proper are being erected.

A mile of the bay shore is being transformed from a dismal barren beach into a big manufacturing plant and yards and it will be only a few months until steamers will be filling their capacious holds with the manufactured products of the Olympic forests and sailing to faraway points in the Orient and Australia.

The plant will be equipped with the most modern and up-to-date machinery that can be found. This will include two bands, two 72 inch edgers, a 60-saw gang, two seven foot resaws.

A 2000 kilowatt turbine will generate 3000 kilowatts of juice for the plant.

There will be six 500 H. P. boilers, one brick stack 225 feet high, and one 44 foot burner 125 feet high.

The fuel house will be 40 by 120 feet and 40 feet high.

The machine shop, railroad switches and other accessories are already installed and a big crew will start raising on the main mill today.

General Manager E. M. Rogers, who is not only the designer and constructor of the plant, but will also operate it, hopes to have everything under roof in 35 days. Two hundred and fifty men are already employed in the construction and within the next week 200 more will be on the roll.

Every machine in the plant will be independently driven. This means the installation of 250 motors, deriving their current from the company's own plant.

The difficulties in preparing the ground were most formidable. There was no penetration for the piling and the dredging entailed overcoming numerous unexpected and unusual obstacles. To construct the 3500 foot breakwater with its 25 foot fill in the remarkably short limit of time was of itself a mammoth task.

The entire work has been under the personal direction of Mr. Rogers with the following assistants, who had previously been with him at the big Weyerhauser plant at Everett: L. L. Smith, superintendent of construction, Carl Blakely, chief engineer, Karl Russel, chief electrician, and Leon Bray, paymaster.

An idea of the magnitude of the work may be gained by surveying the piling figures. Fifteen hundred piles were driven under the boiler room, 1140 under the saw mill, 550 under the manufacturing room and 450 under the titmber deck.

In addition clearing and grading for almost a mile of piling yards has been done.

A military camp has been established near the mouth of Ennis creek and a road from the Olympic highway is being cut along the steep banks of the stream.

Both soldier and civilian employees of the company are being well cared for. The Olympic Hotel, the big structure originally built with a view of taking care of the extension of the townsite, has been taken over and completely equipped and is now in operation. It is housing approximately 100 people, including the executives and heads of the various construction departments.

The hotel which is under the management of Joseph Stark, formerly of the Savoy hotel, Seattle, and his assistant, Charles Jeremias, from the Palace hotel, San Francisco, is one of the best to be found along the sound and is in keeping with many of the best hostelries in Seattle.

Three dormitories, each accommodating 50 men sleeping four in a room, have been erected for the use of civilians near the plant on Ennis creek. The soldiers are occupying tents in a well located and arranged camp. The mess hall is seldom equalled in any locality. It is large and roomy and built in compliance with all sanitary rules and regulations of the army. The building stand astride the clear waters of the creek. In connection with the mess hall is a dormitory for cooks and waitresses employed in the mess hall. A bath house is being erected for the use of the men with numerous showers. Hot and cold water will be available, while a complete heating and sewer system for the entire camp is now being planned.

The activities at the mill site have created a stir in Port Angeles. Every vehicle in the city has been employed in carrying material for the rip-rap and fill at the wharves at the big plant and business is generally good.

CAPT. HAMMON, BRITISH AVIATOR, IS KILLED

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 23.—Capt. Hammon, of the British Royal Flying Corps, and C. Kinder, of Greenfield, Ind., were instantly killed, and Lieut. Fickets, of the Speedway aviation field, Indianapolis, was seriously injured when an airplane in which they were returning to the field from a Liberty loan trip to Greenfeld went into a nose dive and fell 400 feet while they were preparing to make a landing at the Speedway field last evening.

Berlin Newspaper Declares Germans Must Fight On Or Be Utterly Destroyed.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 23.—America's answer to Austria-Hungary's recent peace note and the speech of Premier Clemenceau of France on the same subject should, according to the Lokal Anzieger, of Berlin, be posted on billboards and be communicated to the German people by the distribution of millions of pamphlets.

"No German man or woman who knows the contents and significance of these declarations," the newspaper declares, "can doubt that peace is attainable only either through our victory or at the price of our utter destruction."

Editorial

THE SPRUCE PROJECT AND THE CITY.

So preoccupied are the newspapers of the country with their own local problems incident to war developments that hardly anything is known outside of the Olympic Peninsula of the great spruce project—one of the greatest pieces of development work caused directly by the war—now under way in this territory. There is a general impression that there is "something doing" at Angeles and in the forest-lake country back of the town, but that is all. Some publicity has been given the Siems, Carey-H. S. Kerbaugh project by the Seattle Times, through the instrumentality of Mr. M. M. Mattison, a member of the editorial staff, who made a tour of the country recently with Mr. Carey, but it is certain that, before very long, one or more of the national weeklies or magazines will "discover" the spruce project. One reason for the lack of publicity abroad is the absence of trained writers from this part of the world, the exigencies of the war having resulted in a serious shortage of newspapermen everywhere. The story of this project and the wonderful rapidity with which it is being developed would furnish material for an epic of industry and organizing ability whereby the wilderness is being brought into use to furnish material for the valiant knights of the air lanes who will contribute so much to the victory of democracy.

The Herald today publishes some details of one part of the project—the big cut-up mill, which is being constructed at Ennis creek. The story is taken from Spruce, the official organ of the contractors, and this gives some idea of the magnitude of the task which the firm has undertaken for Uncle Sam, not the least part of which was the reclamation of the site and the construction of the 3500-break-water—a harbor works of considerable dimensions. Here the spruce from the forests in the west end of the county will be cut up and distributed by rail and water to airplane factories.

Port Angeles people should not overlook the vast possibilities afforded by this industry for the utilization of by-products. Paper, pulp, boxboard and other industries using by-products of mills in the East are in many cases nearing the end of their usefulness because of exhaustion of the supply of raw material. Their machinery and the executive ability of their organizations can be utilized on the Pacific Coast and efforts should be made to lay the Angeles situation before these concerns. The big Whalen pulp mill project temporarily is halted because of difficulty in raising the balance of capital required, but this sooner or later will be overcome, just as Whalen Brothers have overcome similar obstacles in their big projects in Canada. In the meantime the effort to interest other concerns engaged in this line of industry should not be overlooked.

The spruce industry will not end with the war. The manufacture of airplanes, now devoted almost exclusively to supplying military needs, will become one of the great national industries; possibly it will vie with the automobile industry in magnitude. Flying will become not only a popular sport, but a practical means of rapid transit. Passenger air routes will be established, and unquestionably Port Angeles will become an important station on the new travel lanes of the air, forming a connecting link with Victoria, the trip across the straits being one that will prove very attractive. An army aviation station here, as well as a submarine depot, is part of the plans of the war and navy departments, and it is more than likely that one or more airplane factories may be established here in the near future.

Meanwhile citizens of Angeles should do all in their power to improve the city and make it attractive as a place of residence. The construction of modern buildings need not await the termination of the war, because it will be some years after peace is restored before the cost of building will be considerably reduced. Better buildings, streets and drainage facilities should find a place at once on the constructive program of the city.

HITTING THEM HARD IN NEW PLACES.

With the necessary slowing down of the allied advance on the west front as the Germans react in new and stronger positions of defense, came the news of a heavy blow on the Balkan front, where Serbian, British and Greek troops have rushed forward in Macedonia, putting the Bulgarians to route and capturing many towns, villages and thousands of prisoners. From the military standpoint this is one of the most difficult fronts for allied offensive action, but obstailes are being overcome, and the Serbians in the past few days have recovered hundreds of square miles of their native land. The offensive movement will spread from the Tcherna river and Lake Doiran regions and an Italian move in Albania is to be looked for. With the southern provinces of Austria-Hungary disposed to welcome invasion by the allies and with the obvious weakening of the morale of Bulgarians and Turks, the offensive in the Balkans may have far-reaching results ipon the entire war situation.

General Allenby, rommanding the British forces in Palestine, also has achieved a great victory over the Turks, whose army near the sea of Galilee, has been practically destroyed, with near 20,000 prisoners in the hands of the British commander. In less than four days the British have swept forward along the Jordan and trapped the Ottoman force, cutting it to pieces. The field of Armageddon was swept by British cavalry, which occupied Nazareth to the north.

Truly, the star of Victory is in the ascendant!

CONFESSIONS of a WAR BRIDE

War Bride's Ships Of Love Ride Choppy Seas.

When a girl gets married, she sets sail on unknown seas. And there's no doubt that they are very dangerous seas in wartime. I am driven one way by my doubts, another by my fears, and another by my hopes. I need Bob. He could keep our bark on a happy course.

Some of the war brides I know are having an awful time alone in their matrimonial canoes. There's Lucy Searle, who married Grant Searle so suddenly at the farewell dinner dance for our boys. Lucy says the world is dull enough without any contribution of gloom from her. Why act like a devoted wife, she asked the other day, without having a husband around to be devoted to? She certainly is having a gay time.

Very different is Martha Palmer. Martha was a lawyer's stenographer, then she studied law, and she wouldn't marry Evan until she was admitted to the bar.

And now, that he's with the army, she is working day and night and actually scrimping to save as much money as possible. She says she is probably quite as comfortable and happy as Evan is and she does not wish to be more comfortable or happier. If Evan comes back crippled, or blind, or helpless in any way, she wants to be fixed so that he will neither starve nor worry.

Now I call that perfect devotion. When I told Jimmie about her he asked, "Do you think there are many wives like that?"

"I hope so," I said, "but I don't know. Anyway, ALL OF THEM HAVE GOT THEIR CHANCE, every single girl who has a man with the A. E. F."

"A man would be proud to come home to such a girl," Jim commented. "This Mrs. Palmer is the real war heroine!"

"But what would happen if conditions were reversed?" I ventured. "If a pretty wife, working in a munitions factory, were hurt and her beauty spoiled—would her husband love and cherish her to her dying day?"

"Sure," Jim averred.

"But I am not at all sure," I protested. "I know a case. I'm going to watch it. It's about a man and a girl of my home town—you know them—Bertha Manning and Jerry Brown."

Jim recalled them: "Jerry used to send the wires at the station and Miss Manning was the town's only trained nurse."

"That's right. Well, they were engaged when Bertha went 'over there' with the first hospital units. Jerry is with the guns in France—a lieutenant now."

"And I heard you telling mother this morning that Miss Manning was the victim of an air raid."

"She was working in a base hospital, had gone to the dispensary and was handling alcohol when the Huns bombed the place. The alcohol exploded and burned her horribly, and besides, she lost a foot. Now she's coming home. They were a splendid pair—before the war—and so devoted. If she had been the saved one, she would have slaved for Jerry forever and forever. But I want to know this: When Jerry comes home, will he marry a wreck like that?"

"Maybe he will be killed in action," suggested Jim, Jr., apparently greatly relieved at the thought of this heroic way out.

And that solution I am sure, would comfort most masculine minds, but it certainly is not a woman's solution of a dreadful wartime problem.

COUNTY TEACHERS HOLD INSTITUTE OCTOBER 7 TO 11

The annual institute for the teachers of Clallam county will be held at Port Angeles, October 7th to 11th. Monday, October 7th, has been arranged for as visiting day, the Port Angeles city schools being in session at that time for the benefit of the visiting teachers. For the remainder of the week, sessions will be held at the Port Angeles high school auditorium. The public is cordially invited to attend the institute programs. An excellent list of instructors has been secured, including Miss Cherie M. Dupee, art institute lecturer in Chicago and San Francisco; Mrs. Alice M. Smith of the Seattle School of Expression; and E. J. Klemme of the rural school department of the Bellingham Normal, and who is well known to Clallam county people. As there will be somewhere between 50 and 60 teachers from outside of Port Angeles who are attending the institute, the county superintendent is asking for the assistance of the townspeople in providing accommodations for the visitors. "BEST INVESTMENT I HAVE EVER MADE"

Contractor Wouldn't Take Five Hundred Dollars For Good Tanlac Did Him.

"I just want to say right now that I wouldn't take five hundred dollars for the good that first bottle of Tanlac did me, for I feel like it has given me a new lease on life," said C. E. Nelson, a contracting carpenter living at 7728 63rd Ave., Southeast, Portland, Ore., recently.

"Following a serious accident four months ago," he continued, "which laid me up for eight or nine weeks, I lost my appetite, and my stomach got all out or order. What little I did manage to eat would sour and form gas, which would cramp and pain me until I could hardly stand it. Then my kidneys went back on me, and my back hurt so bad I couldn't find a comfortable position. They said I had rheumatism or 'lumbago,' then my right leg, below the knee, got to hurting me and at times I couldn't stand on my feet or get up when down. I was constipated all the time and suffered a great deal with headache. Nobody knows how I really did suffer, because I just can't describe it, and as nothng seemed to do me any good I had become discouraged about my condition.

"I finally sent down and got a bottle of Tanlac, as I had read so much about it, and it was about the best investment I ever made. My appetite came bounding back after my first few doses, and by the time my second bottle was gone, my stomach trouble was almost gone, too. I am now eating any and everything I want and it don't hurt me the least bit, and my kidneys and back are greatly improved. At the time I started on Tanlac I had to use crutches in order to get about, but I don't need them now at all, and have thrown them aside. I have gained several pounds in weight, and can just feel myself getting stronger every day. I have gone back to work already, and I never lose an opportunity to speak a good word for Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Port Angeles by Owl Drug Store, in Dungeness by Wm. A. Monson, in Sequim by F. D. Babcock, in Blyn by W. B. Main and in Mora by W. F. Taylor.

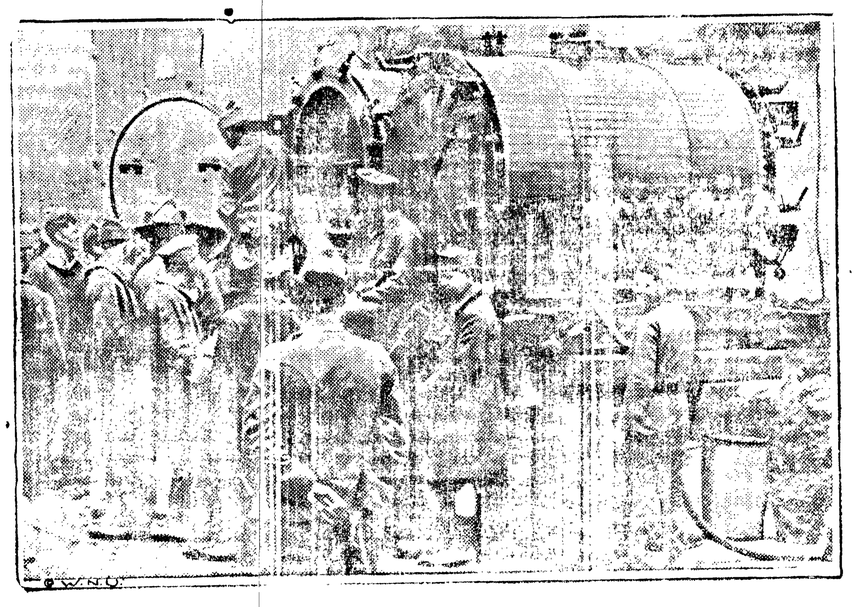
Army Winning War on "Cooties" "Delousing Machine" Gets 'Em



PARIS, Sept. 17.—Men who will go into battle and have their legs or arms shot off as calmly as they used to go to the shop or the office have been seen to weep because their shirts were filled with cooties.

That's why Uncle Sam has sounded a new note in the secondary warfare continually waged at the front—the war against lice and their offspring, trench fever and "itch."

American soldiers speak of the louse as a "cootie." The French fighter calls it a "toto," and the British a "coddler." Among all the armies the pests are known as "trench rabbits" or "seam squirrels." The significant thing is that never are they called lice. The soldier has the same horror of vermin that he had in civilian life, and the very name "louse" carries the suggestion of degradation.

Mud and dirt and thirst and hunger and bayonet-wounds and shell fire can be borne with equanimity, but true moral courage is required to suffer the "cootie" plague without whining. In the American spirit our boys are fighting the pests with their typical whimsicality, joking constantly about them.

The impossibility of bathing in the trenches and keeping the body and the clothing clean is the principal difficulty to overcome in fighting "cooties." And in France the women wash with cold water, which does not kill the lice, but on the contrary has a tendency to spread them from infested to clean clothing. The heart-breaking thing about it is that if every soldier in France were to be freed of "cooties" today, in a week each man might be infested again by the insects left in unsuspected places.

Nevertheless the fight to conquer them goes on, and if any army in Europe can be said to be freer of "cooties" than another, it is the American army.

When it first reached France it employed the devices of the French and British for killing vermin but now our army has its own "delousing" machines. These are huge tanks which subject the soldiers' clothing to intense heat—practically the only thing that kills the lice and their eggs. At every opportunity every soldier's clothes are sterilized in these machines and they are given clean and "cottie"-less apparel.

The High School Girls' Club of Port Angeles, which inaugurated the rest room for the soldiers and sailors on First street, between Oak and Laurel streets, were the first to entertain the men in uniform in the new "Y" rooms on Laurel street on Saturday evening. The rooms were crowded. The evening was replete with good, old-fashioned games, in which all participated heartily. The program included some musical and reading selections, which were well rendered and well received, and then the entire company joined in a "sing song." The girls served ice cream and homemade cakes, which were voted delicious.

The chaperones included Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Graves, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Dale, Mr. and Mrs. Pegram, Mesdames Hooker, Bullock, Geisness, Hopt, Nattinger, Wright, Wheatley, Lindsay, Guf, Brown, Smith, the Misses Rsth Lee, Helen Hanson, Florence Rambeau, Agnes Widitz, Marie English and Myrl Davis.

MANY bed-ridden sufferers for backache and rheumatic pains owe their condition to the fact that they neglected the first warning of kidney trouble.

Prompt action at the first sign of disordered kidneys will prevent much suffering. Keep the blood stream pure by keeping the kidneys healthy and the poisonous waste matter that causes pain and misery will be eliminated from the system.

Foley Kidney Pills

were always moved by night and remained hidden in the day time. The British mastery of the air prevented enemy observers from seeing any change in the dispositions and movements. The Turk, too, possessed positions that commanded a wide range, but he remained mystified. The infantry opened a way for the cavalry to pass through and there was a wonderful spectacle of long columns of British yeomanry and Australian light horse and Indian cavalry moving over a wide expanse of country throughoot the coastal sector of the plain of Sharon to get to the enemy rear."

WITH BRITISH FORCES IN PALESTINE, Sept. 20.—While the Turkish army was occupied in strengthening its defective positions, Gen. Allenby's plans for the present British offensive were carefully maturing. British airplanes prevented enemy craft from crossing the British lines to observe the preparations for the attack which took the Turks completely by surprise.

The Ottoman right flank, though in formidable positions, was overwhelmed. British troops went through the enemy's wires and captured his first trenches before he had time to lay down a barrage. Of the remaining works some were most powerfully organized, but they were speedily overcome by the dash and gallantry of the British and Indian troops.

In one sector an entire Turkish regiment, with its commanding officer, was captured with insignificant loss. Within a few minutes after the offensive was launched, the Turkish troops were streaming eastward in the direction of Tul Keran.

The British air supremacy was so complete that not one German machine was able to show itself. British aviators harassed the enemy by a series of bombing raids, while camps, troops and transports were effectively machine gunned by airplanes.

The German airdromes at the same time were dominated by British machines which dropped bombs on any enemy plane that attempted to rise. The airmen also assisted the infantry to advance by means of smoke screens and night fliers bombed the Turkish army headquarters effectively.

DRAFT WILL KEEP NAVY'S RANKS FULL

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 23.—The program under which the navy and the marine corps will secure men needed hereafter was announced today by Secretary Daniels, after conferences with representatives of his department, the marine corps and the provost marshal general's office. The navy is to have an average of 15,000 men monthly, while the marine corps will get five thousand monthly for four months and 1500 each month thereafter.

Of the navy's allotment, it may enlist or enroll men who have special qualifications for certain navy work, but the remainder will come from "the run of the draft."

BUTTE MINERS WANT GOVERNMENT OPERATION

BUTTE, Mont., Sept. 23.—Striking miners of Butte, at a mass meeting called by the Metal Trades Council of this city, today passed resolutions directed to President Wilson, asking the government to take over the operation of the metal mines of the district. Seemingly opposed to resolutions published yesterday by the I. W. W. chieftains, strike leaders declared against returning to work pending adjudication of the trouble by the United States war labor board.
