HUNS RETURN FROM THEIR VISIT TO SPA

GERMAN DELEGATES BACK AT VERSAILLES AFTER IMPORTANT CONSULTATION AT SPA—FRAMING COUNTER PROPOSALS BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN AGREED UPON BY GERMANS

(By Associated Press)

INTERNATIONAL SITUATION, May 24.—Germany's peace treaty delegates are back at Versailles today after an important consultation at Spa with Premier Scheidermann and other representatives of the German government.

It has been announced from Berlin that the framing of Germany's counter proposals was to be considered at the Spa conference, and it seems probable that the final form of these proposals now has been decided upon.

Austrian Treaty

The peace conferees have been devoting much attention to the shaping of the peace treaty to be presented to the Austrian delegates. As a result, it has announced that at a plenary session of the peace conference to be held on Tuesday next the treaty with Austria will be formally laid before the representatives of the allied nations. The next day it is expected the terms will be handed the Austrian representatives.

Military Terms

The military terms of the document, it is understood, will provide that Austria's great army in 1914 second only to that of Germany, be reduced to a mere fifteen thousand men. All implements of war now in the hands of the Austrians are to be destroyed and further manufacture of munitions is to be forbidden.

Naval Terms

The naval terms wipe away the whole Austrian navy.

End of Work

Dispatches from Paris indicate that the work of the peace conference will not end with the signing of the treaty between the allies and the empires of Bulgaria and Turkey. It is said that the work of adjusting conflicting views on subjects whic hare important to the allies is likely to take considerable time. It is believed, therefore, that American representatives will remain in Paris after the peace has been made and President Wilson has left for the United States to consider with the representatives of other governments the various subjects still demanding attention.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacogs were among the motorists who went out to the rhododondren center at Blyn. Mrs. Jacobs had only a short time to pick the beautiful blooms which she dearly loves, so had not very many.

RACING AUTOS END IN DEATH AND INJURY

TWO POWERFUL CARS RACING ON SEATTLE-EVERETT ROAD COLLIDE — TWO PERSONS KILLED, SEVERAL SERIOUSLY INJURED—CARL CHILBERG INJURED

(By Associated Press)

SEATTLE, May 24.—Two persons killed and seven injured, three of them seriously, when two high-powered automobiles, said to have been racing, clashed together on the Seattle-Everett highway early this morning. The dead are:

Lewis Cook, city fireman.

Miss Frances Hayward.

The seriously injured are:

Carl Chilberg, son of J. E. Chilberg, Seattle banker.

Miss Lydia Hayward and John C. Kail.

The parties were returning from Everett at the time of the accident and are said to have been going sixty-five miles an hour.

FIGHTS FOR LAND OF HIS FATHER'S CHOICE

James M. Kay of Forks must be a mighty happy man today, for he is entertaining a soldier son whom he had not seen since the lad was seven years of age. Briefly, the particulars are:

When Mr. Kay came to this country from Scotland a number of years ago, his seven-year-old son Daniel was left in his native land, in the keeping of a loving grandmother, who reared him to manhood. When this country entered the war, Daniel, realizing that his daddy was now an American, went to London and volunteered in the American army. He fought in France and helped to keep Old Glory waving on high. After it was all over "over there" and he got his discharge his natural desire was to visit the land of his father's choice—the land he was willing to die for—and see his father again.

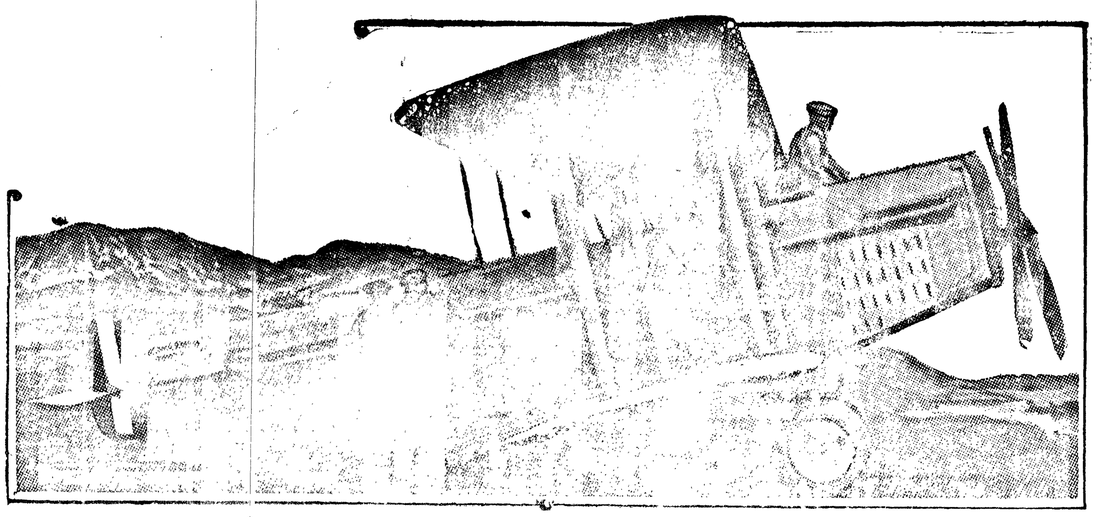
And so Daniel Kay came. He arrived in Port Angeles last evening, stayed over night at the Hotel Pershing and left this morning for Forks.

JEWELERY STORE LOSES MUCH LOOT TO ROBBERS

(By Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, May 24.—Three armed and unmasked men entered the Gem jewelry store in the heart of the city today and after binding and gagging a clerk, escaped with over $14,000 in coin and jewelry.

HAWKER'S MISSING SOPWITH PLANE



Hawker and Grieve (here seen beside the Sopwith plane) have been playing in hard luck. Whenever the winds were right for flying the ground got so wet they couldn't wheel the machine around, and when the ground dried up the zephyrs became cyclonic and there was nothing flying. They are shown here on their return to the Sopwith after their visit to the Martinsyde.

UNFAVORABLE WEATHER STILL HOLDS NANCY

ADMIRAL JACKSON ADVISED DEPARTMENT TODAY THAT UNFAVORABLE WEATHER CONDITION WOULD PREVENT NC-4 START

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGON, May 24.—Weather conditions still were unfavorable for the naval seaplane NC-4's start for Lisbon today. A message announcing the flight would not be attempted was received from Admiral Jackson at Ponta del Gada this morning.

FIRES AND EXPLOSIONS OCCUR AROUND PETROGRAD

It Is Reported That the Bolsheviki Pressed By the Esthonians Are Destroying Munitions

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, May 24.—Great fires and loud explosions have occurred in and around Petrograd according to reports forwarded by the Daily Mail's correspondent at Helsingfors. It is believed that the Bolsheviki pressed by the Esthonian advance will destroy the munitions in Petrograd. Machine gun fire also has been heard in Petrograd and it is reported that the population has risen against the Bolsheviki.

SUPREME COURT FINDS FOR GRAPE GROWERS ASS'N.

WASHINGTON STATE SUPREME COURT DECIDES THAT RATIFICATION OF NATIONAL PROHIBITION BY STATE MUST BE PUT TO VOTE OF PEOPLE

(By Associated Press)

OLYMPIA, May 24.—The Washington State Supreme Court by a vote of five to four today decided in favor of the California Grape Growers Association in an action brought by the association to compel the Secretary of State to submit Washington's ratification of the national prohibition amendment to a vote of the people.

The Washington legislature at the opening of its session last spring voted to ratify the national prohibition amendment. According to interpretations of today's decision the ratification will not become effective unless it is approved by the voters of the state. As more than two-thirds of the state—the number necessary for ratification—have approved the amendment, it was not believed here that today's nullification of the Washington ratification would change the nation's situation.

Large concourse of citizens assembled in the City Hall last evening where the city engineer was prepared to be quizzed and heckled by all manner of questions He explained in detail what each householder would have to pay for the proposed improvement on Cherry Hill. There were no dissatisfied people present. In fact everyone seemed surprised at the low assessment they would have to meet.

S.S. VIRGINIA IS BURNED TO WATERLINE

LINER BURNED TO WATER'S EDGE LAST NIGHT OFF MOUTH OF POTOMAC RIVER—TEN TO FIFTEEN PERSONS PERISH

(By Associated Press)

BALTIMORE, Md., May 24.—The liner "Virginia," bound to Norfolk from Baltimore with one hundred fifty-six passengers aboard, was burned to the water's edge near the mouth of the Potomac river last night.

Lieut.-Commander John Daws, U. S. N., who was a passenger on board the steamer "Florida," one of the rescue ships, stated here today that he believed ten or fifteen persons perished.

The captain of the City of Annapolis, another of the rescue vessels, said when he arrived close to the "Virginia," he found that the fire was blazing so fiercely that he could not approach her. All the survivors picked up by the Annapolis were in lifebelts.

DIRECTOR GENERAL HINES MAKES BIG REQUISITION

HINES MAKES BIG REQUISITION OF CONGRESS — ESTIMATES SHOW A LARGE OPERATING DEFICIENCY — LARGE AMOUNT TIED UP IN WORKING CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Appropriations of $1,200,000,00 in addition to the $500,000,000,000 leary provided for out of the railroad administration during 1918 and 1919 was requested today by Director General Hines. The estimate reveals that there has been an operating deficit of $236,184,940 during the last calender year and of $250,000,000 during the first four months of 1919. Of the total of $1,700,000,000 appropriated and required Mr. Hines said that $1,214,000,000 eventually would be returned to the government. This includes money tied up in working capital and advanced on account to the railroad corporations.

COMMISSION CO. CLOSES A BIG DEAL

PORT ANGELES COMMISSION COMPANY HAS SOLD ITS FEED DEPARTMENT TO GEORGE FROST COMPANY

George E. Frost, operating under the firm name the style of George Frost Co., is opening a chair of warehouses on the Olympic Peninsula, one being located and already in operation at Port Townsend, another in process of construction at Sequim, which will be opened approximately the middle of June. Mr. Frost is also figuring on opening a warehouse at Port Williams.

About two months ago George Frost visited Port Angeles and vicinity with a view of locating one of his main warehouses here. After careful investigation, he closed a deal with the Port Angeles Commission Company wherein it has sold to him the hay, grain, feed and flour department of its business.

The George Frost Company expects to conduct the business in the present location under the supervision and management of Charles Pollock, who for some time past has been associated with the Port Angeles Commission Co., and is well known throughout the county.

The company operates on a cash basis, handling both wholesale and retail ends.

There are plans on foot now for the construction, or re-construction, of a modern, up-to-date warehouse and retail store on the waterfront, which will in all probability be located on the Peoples Wharf. A little later on, the Frost Company intends to handle a full line of building material and will also handle the coal business, which at present is conducted by Captain Johnson, a very well known citizen of this place. The new company is greatly impressed with this territory and the possibilities of its future. They being live wires and wide-awake business people, are anxious to cooperate with the people of this community for mutual benefit and intend to do everything possible to that end.

Mr. George Frost has handled for years products of this nature and is particularly conversant with them. He has recently sold his interest in the Marine Products Company of Tacoma, Washington, a company which has been in reclamation and conservation work and which is one of the largest producers of fertilizers and animal foods in the Northwest. He is a man in the early thirties, a member of the Masonic order and a candidate for B. P. O. Elks. He was born and spent his earlier years in Michigan and until recently lived in Portland, Oregon. He is a married man with two small daughters. At present the family are living in Port Townsend.

SOME OF THE GERMAN OFFICIALS WHO HAVE REACHED PARIS

These said they'd get there—as conquerors

General Von Kluck — Wilhelm — Frederick William

Said Von Kluck to the kaiser, "We'll take our Christmas dinner in Paris." Said the kaiser, "We will. We'll march our victorious armies through. We'll show the French what we can do." Echoed Willie, who was grooming for the throne, "We will." That was back in 1914.

BELIEVED TO BE PROPOGANDISTS PUT IN PRISON

(By Associated Press)

OAKLAND, Cal., May 24.—Five men alleged to be leading members of the Industrial Workers of the World, are in the city prison as the result of a raid today on the headquarters of the organization. The police said these men have been distributing literature containing disloyal statements.

But these are the ones who arrived—as vanquished

Landsberg — Brockdorf-Rantzau — Giesberts

Instead of conquering leaders there arrives in Paris a group of delegates sent to sign the peace terms that the allies dictate, headed by these men who have come to power through the fall of the kaiser gang. And they'll be kept under guard and march between high fences from their hotel to the place of the conference with the allied deegates.

NEW TIME, NEW SPIRIT

The New Time is instinct with a New Spirit.

Old things have passed away.

New things must replace them.

New ways, new thoughts, new needs.

Those who attempt to do things in the new time in the spirit of the old time will find themselves ineffective.

Two Scots were coming home along a lonely road late at night.

Donald's unsteady feet led him too near the brink of the deep ditch at the side of the road With a cry he fell to the bottom of the trench.

"Can ye climb out?" inquired Sandy, anxiously.

"I canna, the bank is too slippery," replied Donald.

"Weel," remarked Sandy, "I canna reach ye to pull ye out. So I'll just jump down beside ye!"

That's the New Time spirit in action.

Sacrifice of self for the general good.

Comradeship of the high and the low.

Meeting problems on a common level.

Disregard of artificial distinctions.

Recognition of essential brotherhood.

Some call this sentimentalism. A better name is essentialism.

It means co-operation of all minds and hands toward one common end, which must be the greatest good to the greatest number.

But fine phrases pay no rent bills.

Each man must realize that when other men prosper he cannot fail to share in that prosperity. THE EMPLOYER WHO SEEKS TO FORCE DOWN WAGE LEVELS REALLY TRIES TO EMASCULATE HIS OWN BUSINESS PROSPERITY. Similarly the worker who refuses or fails in efficiency of production harms not merely his employer but his fellow-workers and himself by reducing the level of prosperity.

The spirit of the new time is a friendly one. Let's be careful not to quench it.

SCIENCE GETS FACTS INSTEAD OF GUESSING

When the war ended they were just beginning to perfect the science of aviation camouflage. One principle is, A BLACK AIRSHIP IS HARDER TO SEE AGAINST THE SKY THAN A WHITE AIRSHIP. There you are. Most any of us guessers would have guessed black is easier to see against the sky. But SCIENCE DOESN'T GUESS. Science experiments, establishes facts, and then deducts principles. They sent up two planes, one white, one black, and the black one always went out of sight first. Which shows we all have no business to be sure UNLESS WE KNOW.

BETTER PAY FOR TEACHERS

The talk of great national prosperity arouses little enthusiasm among the large class of small salaried people who have not enjoyed an increase in salary for years. For all these the phenomenal rise in living cost means an heroic struggle to make ends meet. Once able to save a little, they are now able to save nothing; small luxuries they once enjoyed they are now compelled to forego.

There are no better representatives of this class than public school teachers, from whom a long period of training is required and whose position calls for a standard of living in excess of salary received. The nation has no better public servants. During the war teachers have rendered valuable service in the inculcation of patriotism and have led their pupils in support of the Red Cross and the sale of Liberty Bonds and Thrift Stamps.

The suggestion has been made that the federal government should give to all public school teachers an advance in salary in keeping with the higher cost of living in appreciation of the great and patriotic service they are rendering the country. The object is most commendable, and if it is not deemed wise to put everything up to the federal government, the state and local authorities should take up the matter, on a liberal basis. The taxpayers will meet the additional levy without complaint. — Leslie's, April 5, 1919.

Confessions of a Bride

Copyrighted 1919 by the Newspaper Enterprise Association

When I opened my eyes I found myself in the auto—and my head was on Bob's shoulder! And his arms were around me! It was marvelous! I let my eyelids droop again—but not too quickly—and I turned my head a little, so that I succeeded in cuddling a bit closer in my darling husband's arms. A tiny thrill shook me—and told me, once more, that Bob and I were made for each other.

Only Bob didn't know me, of course. He couldn't guess that he had ever held that shabby little figure before. He had no idea that he had ever seen the little messenger girl except when she had brought him Easter flowers.

In the swift second when I had looked up to Bob and recognized him—when Bob had looked squarely down into my eyes, I had resolved to stay where I was as long as I could. I would take plenty of time "to come to."

My position was glorious. I was in heaven. It was all I could do to keep from smiling—and from reaching up and straightening Bob's overseas cap, which had got very much awry. And my fingers twitched in their need to touch the old scar on Bob's cheek.

"I say"—the voice was Bob's—"I thought she was coming out of it—but she's gone off again."

The voice which answered him nearly made me jump and betray myself. Katherine Miller was on the front seat but she wasn't at all interested in the wounded girl on the back seat. I was delighted.

Certainly I didn't want a trained nurse to take my pulse at that particular moment.

Said Katherine Miller:

"Why hold her up, Mr. Lorimer? She'll be quite comfortable against the cushions."

"You cat," thought I).

"I guess I won't disturb her," replied my husband positively and I like to think, and I shall remember it until I die that his dear arms tightened a little about me!

(Oh la la! Oh la la!" I intoned joyfully to myself.)

"Very well. Don't keep her head too high," advised the nurse. "We go to St. Luke's hospital, of course?"

"Why no," Bob replied. "I thought we'd take her right out to mother."

"You darling," thought I "Still a boy—you'd take me to mother just as you used to take a bird with a broken wing or a forsagen cat.")

Then came Katherine Miller's reply to Bob:

"Never! You silly boy! You will take all of your good mother's care for a while."

"But you can nurse the little girl," protested Bob and I could almost feel his hungry eyes resting on my closed lids.

"Never!" laughed Miss Miller. "Never!" echoed my heart. I was actually relieved to hear her say to the chauffeur without consulting Bob any further:

"Drive to St. Luke's."

Bob accepted her decision—which was most astonishing to me for seldom had he ever accepted mine. He had always wanted to rule me. But I felt as my head sagged closer and closer to his breast that we had both been changed by our long separation.

Miracle of miracles! Perhaps Bob would be willing to admit that a man can love a woman devotedly, frantically, and still let her have a will of her own once in a while.

Still, if he insisted on ruling me—I wouldn't care ever again!

THEATRE BEAUTIFUL

RIM O' THE WORLD HILL CLIMBING RECORD IS MADE ON RED CROWN

When Charles Basle a few days ago drove his Peerless Eight over the famous Rim o' the World hill climbing course in record time he was using Red Crown gasoline. C. S. Stone, in his Essex who was second, also had Red Crown in his tank.

Unquestionably this course, which covers eight miles of grade ranging from five to eighteen per cent through the Waterman Canyon near San Bernardino, is one of the severest tests motor fuel can have anywhere in the country. There is hardly a straight stretch of road in the whole distance and the innumerable sharp curves and twists, combined with grade, present difficulties which can only be overcome by a car using the best quality of gasoline.

This Rim o' the World climbing contest is one of the few stock car events regularly held in California. That the two winning cars should both have used Red Crown is a tribute to the quality and steady power that is possesses in every day use.

The high quality of Red Crown was again demonstrated under the heavy strain of this hill climbing event. As a straight distilled, all refinery gasoline it has the full and complete chain of boiling points necessary for consistent performance. Low boiling points give easy starting, medium boiling points quick and smooth acceleration, and high boiling points give steady, dependable power and long mileage.

"The Squaw Man," shown at the Lincoln theater Thursday and Friday evenings was one of the best pictures seen in Port Angeles in many a day. "The Girl Problem" at the Dream was also an excellent film enjoyed by all. Manager Davis of the Dream regrets that the audiences last evening were compelled to put up with slight intermissions between reels on account of one of the machines being unavoidably out of commission, but he says everything will be in smooth running order again in a day or two.

J. Hadarsoff of Seattle left this morning for Sol Duc Hot Springs, after spending a few days at the Hotel Pershing.

C. F. Neal, who has been in Portland for some time on business, returned home yesterday.

RHUBARB RECIPES

BY BIDDY BYE

Rhubarb is ripe—and so is the desire of the housewife for new ways of using it. Here are some tried and tested recipes for using the pie-plant.

Rhubarb and Raisin Pie—Cut up 2 cupfuls of fresh rhubarb in 1-2 inch pieces and cover with boiling water. Let stand 10 minutes over a low flame but do not allow to boil. Drain off the juice, and to the softened rhubarb add 1-2 teaspoonful of salt, 3-4 cupfuls of raisins, and 1 cupful of sugar. Stir in 1 egg, beaten until light. Mix all together thoroughly. Line a pie tin with pastry dough, fill with the rhubarb mixture, dot with butter, cover with a top crust and bake 30 minutes.

Raspberry and Pie Plant Jam—Cook 4 quarts of canned red or black raspberries, and 3 cupfuls of sugar. Cook altogether until thick, or of jam consistency and pack in small jars. This process increases the bulk of the jam without altering the raspberry flavor.

Rhubarb Jelly Pudding—Select fine, large raisins, enough to make 3-4 of a cupful and cook in boiling water until tender. Cut up 2 cupfuls fresh rhubarb and cook with 1 cupful of sugar and 1-2 cupful water until tender. Dissolve 2 tablespoonsful of gelatin in 1-2 cupful cold water and when soft add the hot water and raisins. Stir in the rhubarb and turn all into a mold or dish rinsed with cold water. When firm serve cold with whipped cream.

SUNDAY CHURCH SERVICES-

The following are the announcements of the services of the churches of Port Angeles, and you are cordially invited to take the church of your choice. Be sure to go:

EPISCOPAL CHURCH — Sunday morning Holy Communion and sermon at 11 o'clock. Sunday school at 10 a. m. Rev. F. Vernon Venables.

Rev. R. M. Stevenson will occupy the pulpit of the Congregational church both morning and evening.

Judge George H. King returned last evening from Walla Walla, where he attended the grand lodge of the Knights of Pythias. The judge reports that the convention was attended by a large delegation from every section of the state and British Columbia and that a most profitable and interesting meeting was held.

Judge King reports that while away he learned that many prominent farmers from all over the state will attend the grange convention to be held in Port Angeles soon. He says that the business men and residents of this city will make no mistake in preparing to entertain several hundred grangers. Judging by the following from a Walla Walla newspaper, the Port Angeles man has been doing some good boosting for his home town:

"Judge G. H. King of Port Angeles, who is here as a delegate to the grand lodge of the Knights of Pythias, is a member of the roads and highway committee in his home city and an enthusiastic motorist. Judge King is calling the attention of the Walla Walla people who intend going to the Odd Fellows grand lodge next month, or who will visit the Sound during the season, to the beauties of a trip by boat and car to Vancouver Island, B. C., and to Port Angeles and Port Townsend. Literature concerning this and other trips around Port Angeles will be sent to T. O. Webster."

Nick H. Vassilatos, formerly of the Washington restaurant, who has been in the army for some time, arrived home last evening from California. Nick has many friends here, all of whom were glad to see him again.

IN THE SPRING

When Energy and Vitality are Lowest, then—Influenza!

(By S. C. BOWER, M. D.)

At this time of the year people feel weak, tired and listless, their blood is thin, they have lived indoors and perhaps expended all their mental and bodily energy and they want to know how to renew their energy and stamina, overcome headaches and backaches, have clear eyes, a smooth, ruddy skin and feel the exhileration of real good health tingling thru their bodies. Good, pure, rich, red blood is the best insurance against ills of all kinds. You are apt to suffer from an attack of Influenza if your health is run down.

Purify the blood and you can defy influenza. This is the time to clean house and freshen up a bit.

HABIT

(Text: Theodore Hook was one of the most famous wits England ever produced.)

Sam had a fatal habit. Whenever he went to bed,
He dropped to sleep in a second, with his left arm under his head.
Heigh ho, harry!
Diddle dum darry!
Heigh ho, daddle dum, diddo!
Habit is habit
In raven or rabbit,
And now Sam's wife is a widow.
Dum diddo!
A widow.

O, maybe it never had happened, or never had come about;
Perhaps he had baffled his hapless fate, if the war hadn't broken out.
Heigh ho, harry!
Daddle dum darry,
Etc.

Yet habit is habit and fate is fate and each is a chastening rod,
And both had predestined that Sam should die at the hands of a firing squad.
Heigh ho, harry!
Daddle dum darry,
Etc.

O, habit is strong and habit is stern
and it makes man's life a bitch, Habit is habit and Sam was shot for sleeping upon his watch.
Heigh ho, harry!
Daddle dum darry!
Heigh ho, daddle dum diddo!
And now Sam's wife is a widow.
Dum diddo!
A widow!

If Police Judge George King can't take in enough fines to pay office rent, he might act upon the suggestion offered by one of the councilmen the other night and "stretch his conscience" a bit by pressing the bet on the poor divils that appear before him. This recalls the method used by an old police judge we once knew down at Kelso in the old days before J. Barleycorn bit the dust. Whenever anyone traveled too rapidly over the cocktail route and landed in the strong arms of the law, the judge would be called upon to name the amount of the fine that was to be imposed upon the party who drank freely but not too wisely.

"How much money have you on your person?" the judge would invariably ask.

After the prisoner had told how much of the wherewith he had left, if any, the police magistrate, with a stern look and in a sterner voice would say:

"Your fine and costs is just that amount, to a cint!"

The death the other day of an old pioneer, recalls to mind that one by one these sturdy settrers of early days to whom we of the present generation owe so much, are wending their way down the last lone trail. PHYSICALLY FIT AT ANY AGE

It isn't age, it's careless living that puts men "down and out." Keep your internal organs in good condition and you will always be physically fit.

The kidneys are the most over worked organs in the human body. When they break down under the strain and the deadly uric acid accumulates and crystallizes look out! These sharp crystals tear and scratch the delicate urinary channels causing excruciating pain and set up irritations which may cause premature degeneration and often do turn into deadly Bright's Disease.

One of the first warnings of sluggish kidney action is pain or stiffness in the small of the back, loss of appetite, indigestion or rheumatism.

Do not wait until the danger is upon you. At the first indication of trouble go after the cause at once. Get a trial box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules, imported direct from the laboratories in Holland. They will give almost immediate relief. If for any cause they should not, your money will be refunded. But be sure to get GOLD MEDAL. None other is genuine. In sealed boxes, three sizes.

SENSATIONS of an ARTIST'S MODEL

THE LOVER'S REVENGE

In these chapters, Manya Rudina, Russian-born New York artist's model, concludes the story of the Viennese artist's love tragedy, and ends the series "Sensations of an Artist's Model" with inside stories of the life in New York's Bohemian art studios.

BY MANYA RUDINA

The young artist seemed to be living over again the terrible days he was telling me about when he found that his sweetheart was dead.

"I could not rest until I had found out the cause of her death," he went on. "I did recall her telling me about the countess who had stolen her lover from her, but I knew that she had ceased to pose for this artist, and it never occurred to me that he could have had anything to do with the tragedy. I thought my sweetheart had been murdered, and I could not imagine who might have a grievance against her.

"And so, unable to work, I took to wandering about the city, and from force of habit into the galleries and exhibition halls. It was more than a month afterward that I read in the paper of a particular exhibit of paintings where many of my friends had canvases. I went.

"There were many beautiful pictures there, but before one in particular was a crowd that never grew less. At first I could not get near enough to get a clear view of the painting, but gradually I worked my way through the crowd until I stood before it.

"It was a picture of a dead girl's face!—the most wonderful piece of realistic painting I had ever seen. My eyes were riveted upon the face, with the eyes closed in what one knew at once was not sleep, but death. The wo rk made a tremendous impression upon me; the painting had apparently been done hurriedly, one might say almost carelessly, but the impression of reality it conveyed was startling. It was that which drew the crowd. They were asking themselves how any man could paint from imagination a dead face in such a manner.

"I looked closely at it, and it seemed that I had seen that face before. All at once it flashed over me where I had seen it—IN THE MORGUE! I gave a cry and plunged through the crowd to see the name of the painter of that picture, and when I read it, I knew who was the man I was seeking.

"I did not go immediately to his studio. I went back to mine and thought things out. Also I made certain preparations; I got together what money I had and could borrow.

"Then I went to the studio of that artist whom my lost love had loved and who had spurned her for the rich young woman that he was about to marry. There is not much more to tell. From the manservant I forced a confession of what he knew. And then I went back and found that artist and we had some talk together."

The young man paused and looked into my face again. Then he turned away and was silent, and I thought again he would not tell me any more.

"There is not much more I can tell you," he said, at last. "For that night I left Vienna and in a few days I was on the ocean bound for America.

"But the man who had broken her heart?" I asked. "What about him?"

"They found him the next day," he said slowly. "It was to have been his wedding day to the countess. I heard afterward that her servant came to him with a note, and when they entered the studio, they found him; he—was—dead!"

"Then you—"

"There is nothing more to tell," he said. "It was on the night of July 25 that I left Vienna," he said. "Austria was waiting for the answer to its ultimatum to Serbia. Three days later war was declared on Serbia—and the police forgot about dead artists, and I—I was on my way here."

There was a long pause.

"Now you know why I acted strangely when I first saw you," he said. "It was because you look so much like—her."
