(By Associated Press)

MARION, O., July 22.—The Republican campaign attained full speed ahead today with the formal notification heer of Warren G. Harding, the party nominee for the presidency.

The notification ceremonies which brought to Marion most of the big leaders of the party and many thousands of Harding enthusiasts, including the acceptance speech by Senator Harding interpreting the Chicago platform and declaring the principles on which he expects the campaign to be fought out.

The acceptance came at the end of a long program in which high pitched enthusiasm ruled the day as the visiting delegations marched on the Harding residence in unbroken succession. A feature of the day was a luncheon given by Dr. S. Sawyer at his farm on the outskirts of Marion to the members of the Republican national committee and of the notification committee appointed by the Chicago convention. Will H. Hays, the national chairman, was the presiding officer in the notification for which the city had reseated its chautauqua pavilion. The program included the invocation by Bishop Oldham of Methodist Episcopal church, the formal notification speech by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, the report of Senator Harding, and the benediction by the Rev. Joseph N. Denning, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church here.

Senator Harding's speech of acceptance was in part as follows:

The message which you have formally conveyed brings to me a realization of responsibility which is not underestimated. It is a supreme task to interpret the covenant of a great political party, the activities of which are so woven into the history of this republic, and a very sacred and solemn undertaking to utter the faith and aspirations of the many millions who adhere to that party. The party platform has charted the way, yet, somehow, we have come to expect that interpretation which voices the faith of nominees who must assume specific tasks.

DENTAL CARE TO BE PROVIDED FOR CHILDREN

Practical measures for affording the children in the country districts modern dental treatments were considered at a meeting of the dentists of the county ast night. Everey practitioner was in attendance and each agreed, if the plan was found desirable, to devote Saturday of each week to work on the children. Miss Puls, the county nurse, and others interested were present.

It was pointed out at the meeting that so many people in each community are rendered physically unfit or partly unfit through inattention to their teeth that the care of the children in this connection is a community problem and the distance at which some of the children reside from the nearest dentist's office requires special measures.

Among the suggestions made was that a traveling dental clinic be established for Clallam county but the general sentiment appeared to be that a better plan would be for the school boards in the outlying districts to bring the children into town in autos, regularly and systematically so that they would have the advantage of the complete equipment of the dental offices as compared with the equipment of a traveling clinic.

Teachers will be urged to cooperate in seeing that the children requiring treatment are on time for the weekly trips to town.

BOLSEVIKI WON'T QUIT POLISH WAR

LONDON, July 22.—The refusal of the Russian Soviet government to cease war against Poland at the behest of Great Britain is continued in a Moscow wireless dispatch received here today. It is signed by Premier Lenine, Minister of War Trotzky, Foreign Minister Tebitecherin and Commissioner of Justice Kurski, and says:

"If England had not desired war she would have stopped supplying Poland with munitions and money.

"Our refusal of hostile mediation does not mean that we have altered our policy toward Poland. Moscow more than once has proposed peace to Warsaw and if she will now appeal to us directly peaceful relations will be established between Russia and Poland, sooner, better and more substantially in this way."

NOTIFICATION OF COX FIXED FOR AUGUST 7

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 22.—Chairman White of the Democratic National Committee today announced that Saturday, August 7, had been chosen as the date for notification of Governor Cox of his nomination as presidential candidate.

The following Monday, August 9, was fixed for the notification of Franklin D. Roosevelt as vice-presidential nominee.

Ceremonies for Governor Cox will take place at Trail's End, his home near Dayton, with those for his running mate at the Roosevelt home in Hyde Park, New York. Mr. Roosevelt will attend the Dayton ceremonies and Governor Cox said today that, if possible, he will go to Hyde Park. Governor Cox will begin work tomorrow on his speech of acceptance at Dayton.

TEXAS OIL WELL YIELDS $1,000,000 IN THREE MONTHS

Crowley No. 1-B, the oil well of the Gulf Production Company, on the Necessity, Texas townsite, which came in three months ago, has produced up to the beginning of this month more than $1,000,000 worth of oil. The Crowley estate, owners of the royalty, has received more than $125,000 as its share.

Imagine a new factory, store or any other enterprise paying for itself within a year. Yet this oil well paid for its entire cost in a week, and in three shot months is able to pay 100 per cent on a million dollars capitalization. In the neighborhood of the Crowley, Stoker, Fensland and other famous gushers, the Manhattan-Texas Petroleum Co. has extensive leases, and about ten wells are to be drilled on them at once. Stockholders in this big company may within a few months share in one of these big gushers, and see their investments do more for them than years of labor and saving could accomplish.

Attorney Sanford Rose has gone to the Olympic Hot Springs to take a two weeks' vacation.

ANTI-BRITISH PROPAGANDA IS CONDEMNED

(By Associated Press)

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 22. — A tribute to what Great Britain has done for the Jew and a passionate protest against the work of the Hearst Press and the other influences which are at work sowing seeds of distrust between Great Britain and the United States, was uttered by Rabbi Stephen Wise, leader of the Zionist movement in America, a great personal friend of Lloyd George and of President Wilson, and one of the greatest orators and writers of the Jewish race, who was in the city yesterday.

"I am grieved beyond words to observe the worsening of feelings between Great Britain and the United States," said Dr. Wise. "For a century the education of the growing youth of America in regard to English history was a tragedy. History, or what passed for it, was perniciously taught in the schools. We heard all about the stupidities of George the Third,, and the blunders of Lord North but never a word about Burke and Pitt and Price and the other great friends of freedom and of America.

"In spite of that pernicious teaching, our common heritage of ideals and literature brought us together, so that though the United States went into the war because she was invaded on the high seas, yet I am sure that common interests would have brought her in at Great Britain's side soon as any fear for the latter's defeat was felt.

"The end of the war left us with the happy feeling that peace must rest in Anglo-American custody. Now, at a time, when we felt that all misunderstanding had been removed and the bond of goodfellowship had been signed and sealed for all time, we are filled with horror to observe that malign influences are at work to sow ill-feeling and distrust between the two great nations."

GREEKS AND BRITISH LAND FROM MARMORA

(By Associated Press)

SMYRNA, July 22 — Greek troops, supported by an Anglo-Greek naval force, which includes two British dreadnaughts, have landed at the ports of Eregli, Sultankeui and Redosto, on the European shore of the Sea of Marmora, according to a communique issued at Greek headquarters Tuesday. No resistance was met except at Rodosto, where the opposition of the Turks was broken, their troops fleeing into the interior.

The statement adds that landing of troops is continuing according to schedule.

W. K. VANDERBILT DEAD.

(By Associated Press)

PARIS, July 22.—William K. Vanderbilt, American financier, died here today. He had been suffering from heart disease and complications. Mr. Vanderbilt is the oldest surviving member of the Vanderbilt family. He celebrated his 70th birthday December 12 last. His daughter, Consuelo, married the Duke of Marlborough in 1895.

SECOND BIGGEST VOTING PERIOD ON IN CONTEST

The most determined effort in the big race for the beautiful Ford Sedan car and the other big prizes that are soon to be awarded in the Herald's Campaign have been launched. Huge waves of determination are gripping the aspirants for the big prizes and votes in increasing volume are pouring into the Contest Department.

The enthusiasm of the candidates has spread to their friends and acquaintances. In many sections of the city, and in the county, a great amount of civic pride is being shown, great efforts being made to have one of the biggest of the prizes won by the favorite candidate of each community. Many candidates that call at contest headquarters are expressing the determination to put forth their very best efforts during this important period. Letters from suburban candidates and their friends are filled with the same sort of enthusiasm, which, taken altogether, makes one believe that the remainder of the race will be both spirited and close.

The "second period" vote schedule, the largest vote period of the remainder of the race, is now in effect. Realizing the advantages to be gained by hard efforts, now it is hard to resist the call of opportunity and not determine to win, if possible. "Twenty-five dollar clubs" secured this period, yield thousands of votes—and as close as the race stands, it would seem that the candidate who takes most advantage of this splendid offer for the next 12 days would be the biggest winner.

A big majority of the candidates have decided that from now on the race will receive their undivided attention. This can only mean that within a few days an avalanche of action will be loosed that will make this election famous. There will be "lots doing" when this great wave of action moves in concert, towards the one goal—the wonderful $2500 prizes. And it is for this, seemingly that everything is being prepared.

The present big "second period" vote schedule extends over a period of twelve more days only. It closes promptly at 9 o'clock August 3. The candidate who seizes hold of every opportunity presented will win—and the present vote offer is the biggest of the remaining days of the campaign. It is a period when results count — and only results. Theer are no handicaps nor advantages in the race for these prizes. Everyone starts with nothing in this "period" and the most votes are awarded to those who turn in the greatest amount or remittances for subscriptions before the period expires. Thousands of votes will accrue to the winners of these "second period" votes—probably enough to place them in a winning position for the remainder of the election.

It is time for action, hustle. The joy of winning, with the prize won; is worth every effort possible for you to exert.

Perserverance, and this "second period" vote schedule, can bring victory to any man or woman in this race.

TROCH SHINES IN BIG MEET

(By Associated Press)

ANTWERP, July 22—The American team in the Olympic contests won the first round in trap competition shooting this morning, scoring 115 out of a possible 120 in the team shoot, each man shooting at twenty targets.

Frank Troch, of Vancouver, Wn., had a perfect twenty in this morning's shooting. Each of the others missed one target.

Assistant Postmaster Dickinson is taking a two weeks' vacation beginning today.

TOMORROW'S YACHT RACE DECISIVE

(By Associated Press)

SANDY HOOK, July 22.—The Cup challenger, Shamrock IV, was towed to the Staten Island shipbuilding company's plant early today to be dry-docked and have her under body cleaned in preparation for the fourth race with the American defender Resolute tomorrow.

The race will be over a triangular course ten miles to a leg, and it is in this contest that the Shamrock is expected to force Resolute to the limit.

When yesterday's exciting race was finished Sir Thomas Lipton brought the Victoria over to Resolute. Once alongside he called for and led "three enthusiastic cheers and a tiger" for the victors.

The response of Capt. Adams and his men was no less hearty.

Following the cheer for the victors, the Victoria pulled up alongside of Shamrock and gave a cheer for the challenger's crew.

The British crew came back strong with, "are we downhearted? No!"

Sir Thomas had no criticism for his yacht, or for its crew in yesterday's race. Of the defender he said: "Resolute is a good boat—the result yesterday speaks for itself. Besides," he added, "the Yankees always build good boats."

During the entire race Sir Thomas occupied the bridge in company with Commander Jarvis of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club.

The keen finish appeared to him, he said. He expects to lift the cup.

DEVELOPMENT LEAGUE IS ORGANIZED

Organization of the Olympic Highway & Development League was completed at the meeting at Olympia Saturday and includes Gray's Harbor, Thurston, Mason, Jefferson and Clallam counties, with Pierce and King counties as auxiliary members.

Trustees were elected by each county and an executive committee appointed consisting of one trustee from each county. The trustees for Clallam county are: C. L. Babcock, M. E. Howard, Forks; J. L. Keeler, Sequim; and Mr. Keeler is the member of the executive committee. Officers of the league are: Frank Lamb, Aberdeen, president; C. L. Babcock, vice president, and H. B. Fultz, Olympia, secretary-treasurer. The next regular meeting will be held at Olympia on the second Monday in January, but meanwhile the trustees and officers will arrange for a big open-air gathering at Lake Crescent in August when plans for road-making and other constructive measures will be discussed.

The meeting at Olympia was well attended, every county concerned being represented.

MEMBERS OF THE LOYAL ORDER OF MOOSE.

Your committee find it impossible at the rate quoted to secure an evening boat to Victoria, hence we want to urge all to go on the Sol Duc at 7:30 Saturday morning, July 24th.

Round trip fare one and one-third or $1.80 if we have 50 people. If we have 100 people the rate will be one and one-fifth or $1.62, so please urge everyone to go on the morning boat. It will give the whole day in Victoria, returning Sunday morning and if desired arrangements can be made to return on Monday morning.

L. M. CAMPBELL,
Secretary.

THIRTY-TWO PER CENT RAISE ASKED ON WESTERN LINES

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 22. — An increase of 20 per cent in passenger fares and 50 per cent in Pullman charges was asked of the interstate commerce commission today by the railroads to cover part of the $600,000,000 wage award of the railway labor board.

Additional increase in freight rates range from 10 per cent in the eastern territory to 8 per cent in the western territory also were asked. The executives requested increases in the freight rates on milk proportionate to the increase in the rates on other commodities made in the roads' first application for rate advances. Increases in passenger freight and milk tariff, said Alfred B. Thom, counsel for the executives, will take care of the total of $626,000,000 which, the executives estimate, is added to the transportation costs by the board's awrd. Mr. Thom expects that the additional $26,000,000 over the board's estimate was accounted for by certain overtime charges provided for in the awrd.

The increases in freight rates asked today are in addition to those previously asked. If the commission grants all the demands freight rates in the east will be advanced 40 per cent and those in the west 32 per cent. The exact advance in the south has not been computed, but probably will be around 40 per cent.

EDWARD LAST DEAD.

Edward H. Last, 35, rancher of Clallam Bay, where he owned his own farm, died at one o'clock this morning in the General Hospital after a comparatively short illness. He leaves behind him his wife and five children, the eldest of whom is eleven. The body now lies at the Dwelly & Hollingsworth undertaking parlors being prepared for shipment to Clallam Bay tomorrow on the Utopia. Interment will be made in the Clallam Bay cemetery, the Rev. Davis conducting the services.

LINCOLN, Neb., July 22.—The prohibition national committee this afternoon put in a long distance telephone call for every point where W. J. Bryan had been reported to be in hope he might be reached tonight. Thus far they have been unable to get in touch with him in order to get a definite expression regarding his acceptance of the prohibition party's nomination for president.

City and County Chit-Chat

M. C. Reed, superintendent of the Ellison-White Chautauqua, has asked the guarantors to meet at Erickson's Cafeteria on Friday evening at 6:30 p. m., as his dinner guests instead of at the Commercial Club as proviously arranged. After dinner the final checking up of tickets will be made.

About fifty persons were present at the Klahhane meeting in Moose Hall last evening. There was the usual pleasant program. One of the features of the evening was the trio of male voices consisting of Messrs. Faari, Jensen and Jamieson who rendered the "Aloha Oe" and "Let the Rest of the World Go By," with great effect, Sam Faari taking first tenor, Roy Jensen second tenor and M. R. Jamieson bass. Refreshments were served and the club scored a very pleasant time.

Miss Milvert Jamieson, sister-in-law of Mrs. M. R. Jamieson, returned from her trip to Seattle last night. She will probaly remain in Port Angeles all the summer.

Secretary Will H. Taylor of the Commercial Club, and his party which included Mrs. Taylor and the latter's brother, E. J. Fulkeson, of Seattle, and Mrs. Fulkeson, met with a rather bad accident Saturday. The party left in Taylor's Ford at 5:30 in the morning bound for Olympia to attend the meeting of the Olympic Highway and Development League. Seven miles north of Quilcene the radius rod bent, the steering wheel became inoperative and Taylor had apparently to choose between a drop over the road bank and a telephone post. Mr. Fulkeson made a grab for the wheel and the car bucked up the bank and overturned. Mrs. Taylor's wrist was badly wrenched and Mrs. Fulkeson also was injured. The car, however, was put into shape again at Quilcene and proceeded on its way after a delay of a couple of hours.

Dr. and Mrs. Ingalls, their guest, Miss Jessie C. Brower and Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Kern motored to Agate Beach last Sunday where they enjoyed a picnic dinner returning by way of Lake Crescent. They enjoyed the trip so much that they are planning an outing to Mora in the near future.

The Ladies' Book Club met with Mrs. Horace White on Fifth and Francis last night, a surprise party the occasion being Mrs. White's birthday. Ice cream and cake were provided and each member brought a fanciful little gift. Mrs. White was the recipient of several beautiful birthday presents earlier in the day. About twelve persons were present and everyone thoroughly enjoyed the reunion.

Sheriff Bishop is off to Everett today to bring back one Mike Tutile, who is charged with the robbery of the home of Frank Robertson and his son-in-law, Franchon Townes, July 3, when the robber got away with some clothing, watches and $65 in money, including $9.50 stolen from the baby's "bank." Tuttle was sent here from Seattle by an employment agency but is said to have employed his time in a manner not contemplated by the agency.

Miss Edith Bohl, one of the Herald contestants, has been laid low in Sequim by a severe attack of rheumatism, which seems to have attacked many people lately. Miss Bohl is confined to her bed in her home at Sequim.

Irene Mitchell, of Seattle, is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Dippold on Seventh street. She has many relatives in Port Angeles and will probably make an extended stay.

The U. S. Destroyer No. 115, taking reserves for a cruise, put in here last night and will stay until Friday. She is enroute for Portland, Oregon.

Editorial

SUCH A QUESTION!

"Why Not Be Truthful?" queries the Post-Inteligencer, in an editorial caption. Alas, if truth prevalled here the chief occupation of some of our people would be completely eliminated.

In this delightful city we have with us still the remnants of a brigade of backbiters, do-nothings and envy-breeders, who spend nine-tenths of their time in lying. It is understood that a Port Angeles lodge of the Most Blatant Order of Ananias is about to be established for their benefit, with all the offices held by those ingenious gents who, one way or another, dodged real, actiae service in the late lamented war. There will be quite a number of offices.

THIRD PARTY'S "OLD STUFF" PLATFORM.

Aside from an extremely comprehensive plan of Government ownership, the principles and demands set forth by the new party at Chicago are surprisingly moderate. Most of them are to be found in some form in the platform of one or the other of the old parties. The plank favoring "democratic control of industry," which has been denounced as Communistic, calls for "an increasing share in the responsibilities and management of industry" on the part of labor, a proposition already accepted in many well conducted establishments.

If this formula conceals a purpose to engage in enterprises like those of Soviet Russia it must be said that its authors were as diplomatic in their choice of words as the men who wrote the Republican platform a few days before. The resemblance between the two documents is shown, furthermore, in the treatment accorded the League of Nations. "An Associations of Nations" was as far as the Republicans could go. The Farmer-Laborers are enthusiastic for "a League of Free Peoples."

Stripped of its side issues and its hatred of the old parties, the new organization appears to rest its cause chiefly upon Government ownership o all public utilities and natural resources, including railroads, stockyards, large abbatoirs, grain elevators, water-powers, cold storage and terminal warehouses, mines and all lands containing oil and minerals. In this respect, however, the new party merely echoes the International Socialists, whose cause is admittedly hopeless in America. This nation is as definitely opposed to German Socialism today as it was when Karl Marx was writing down his axioms which are scientifically false.

PIRACY?

Investigation made by The Herald goes to show that the rival chautauqua concern, which sent agents in here at the very time the committee was at work on final preparation for the Ellison-White Chautauqua, apparently for the purpose of demoralizing the work of these citizens, is not worthy of support. Inquiries have been made in several cities where both chautauquas have been held this year and the result is absolutely decisive.

SKELETONS IN THE FILES.

That the evil men write lives after them, while the good is oft interred in the files, seems to be established in the present campaign if the comment of the press on the earlier expressions of Governor Cox and Senator Harding can be taken as proof. While it is natural that sympathy is pretty well divided on party lines and the alleged pro-German utterances of Governor Cox's paper are widely attacked by the Republican papers, there are still some frankly partisan writers who look at the affair in a conciliatory and non-partisan spirit.

The "independent" New Haven Journal Courier says that the editorials in Governor Cox's paper "prior to the entrance of the United States and after the sinking of the Lusitania are interesting to us only as they prove the obligations which are constantly confronting a newspaper which has dedicated itself to the exclusive fortunes of a political party." Further the Journal Courier believes that "it is inconceivable" that the re-publication of these articles can succeed in showing the Governor as a "lukewarm patriot." To this sentiment the Springfield Republican (Ind.) agrees, attempting to show the danger of "newspaper control" in "the seeking of political office." It says :

"The files of Senator Harding's paper will doubtless be searched and it is to be seen whether these editorials in Cox's paper will do him more harm than anything found in the Harding sheet or Harding's attack on Roosevelt in 1912 will hurt Harding. Governor Cox is fortunate in being able to fall back upon an excellent war record as Ohio's chief executive after the United States entered the struggle."

While it believes that "no publisher can escape or avoid responsibility for his newspaper utterances," the Worcester Telegram (Rep.) admits that while those articles were appearing in Mr. Cox's paper a great many people who later proved their loyalty "were hoping and praying that this country would not become involved in the European war." Granting that the Democratic candidate has "many perceptible defects," the Telegram refuses to brand him with "spiritual harmony" with his country's enemies.

The Utica Press (Ind.) tums up the situation from a non-partisan standpoint and while it asserts that "it is not at all probable that the Democratic nominee will be elected," it thinks that "it is exceedingly doubtful if these particular charges will lose him any votes."

The Columbia (S. C.) State (Dem.) pleads for the journalists who in writing the volumes that they do can hardly help making mistakes, for like Locksley, they "can but do their best to shoot their arrows straight the moment that the bow string is drawn taut."

"Nevertheless," it laments, "the laity, the public, will be none too charitable to Publisher Harding or Publisher Cox. They demand of journalists nothing short of counsels of perfection and if every reader could remember more than a day or two all that his favorite newspaper has said we suppose that the reading public would have hanged all their favorite editors long ago."

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

WOULD YOUR HUSBAND SAY THIS?

Do you interrupt your husband?

Do you have the feminine habit (so the masculines characterize it) of jumping from one thing to another?

I heard a man say the other day that he thought this habit of interrupting and of never really concentrating one of the commonest and most exasperating of all feminine tricks.

"It seems like a small thing," he said, "but men, especially men who make their living by thinking, have to get the habit of concentrating, and women's inconsequential ways of breaking in on them and of hopping from one thing to another are so antagonistic to that habit that it is terribly irritating."

I asked him to illustrate.

Run Into a Stone Wall.

"Well," he said, "say you are telling your wife about a business deal and suddenly she says: 'Henry, there is a speck on your glasses.' You stop, with a feeling as though you had run into a stone wall, and wipe your glasses. Maybe she asks you to go on after that—and says she was interested, only she saw that speck and wanted to speak of it before she forgot it—but hang it all, you can't go on the same way. You've lost your own enthusiasm and interest if she hasn't."

"Sometimes your wife will ask you about something of her own accord. She wants to know what you think of the League of Nations. You start to tel her in good faith. She listens a minute, and then that glassy look comes over her face and she says: 'Henry, I heard that Barnes is going to sell his house, "

"They do it to the children, too. Robert will come in bubbling over with something to tell his mother, and she will break in in the middle of it, 'Robert, have you washed your hands this morning?' He looks the way I feel—as if he had run up against a stone wall. I pity the kid.

"And then the way women interrupt when you're reading! I'll be a thousand miles deep in something I'm tremendously interested in, and my wife (he had unconsciously changed over from the would-be impersonal "your wife," to the frank "my wife") will break in to ask some question that could just as well have waited. What makes them do it anyway?"

Why They Do It.

"Sometimes," I suggested, "they do it because they've been storing things all day to say to the man of the house, and when he comes he just digs into a paper and grunts like a cross pig when she tries to ask him anything."

"I talk to her all through supper," he countered.

"I didn't say you," I pointed out.

But even though I defended my sex when attacked, I do think the attack has some grounds. The habit of letting their minds hop from one thing to another and of never following one thing through, is a rather common feminine trait. I think it comes partly from their work—there are always so many tasks pulling them this way and that, that they do find it hard to concentrate on one. And I think tnat inability, in turn, makes their work harder.

DON'T BLAME THE WEATHER TOO MUCH.

If you are feeling lazy and languid, seem dull and stupid, lacking in strength and ambition, do not blame it altogether on the weather. The hot sun will not oppress you so much if the bowels are regular and the liver activeand healthy. Foley Cathartic Tablets banish biliousness, bloating, gas, bad breath and other results of indigestion and constipation. They cleanse the bowels, sweetens the stomach and invigorate the liver. — W. J. Mathewson, Agent.

FRIENDSHIP.

CHAPTER IV.

"I'm coming back for you in half an hour," David Thorne called in from the gate. Alice, who was settling her mother corfortably in a cushioned chair on the porch, smiled and nodded, then turned back to the little old lady with an expression of dismay.

"Gracious, I shouldn't go!" she said. "The weeds are growing so fast you can hear them since last night's rain, and the grass needs cutting—"

"That can go until tomorrow," her mother said comfortably.

"But tomorrow I must bake, and then—"

"We'll buy store bread," Mrs. Fairbanks announced calmly. "Go get washed and dressed."

"Dressed! But it's only a two-mile drive to the old Potts' farm! I'll go as I am."

"Alice!" her mother exclaimed in desperation. "Haven't you any sense at all. Do you want to go out for an afternoon drive with a young man looking as you do?"

Alice turned to the little mirror in the hall and surveyed herself. Her hair, always done hastily in the morning, had loosened and hung in wisps around her forehead and neck, her hands were stained from paring vegetables.

"I'll slip your line coat over my housedress, and comb my hair," she conceded after a brief examination.

"You'll wash and comb your hair and put on the blue gingham with the organdie ruffles," her mother said with more determination than she usually showed.

"I believe you want me to flirt with him," Alice said with a little grimace as she started to pull out hairpins.

"I want you to show some of the sense other girls show," her mother retorted. "If he takes Clara, she'll probably wear her taffeta."

"And spend two hours getting ready," said Alice. It was the nearest to a cattish remark she had ever made.

But half an hour later, she was glad she had, as she expressed it, "wasted her afternoon," in getting dressed. The flying wisps of hair were held back under a net, the stains were gone, under the ministrations of a lemon; the blue gingham dress was certainly pretty. And David came back alone in a light carriage—Clara was not with him.

"I rather like ambling along the roads behind a trotting horse," he said when they had reached the country. "Motors rather annoy me, either when I drive, or when someone else does."

"Yes, I think so too," replied Alice, who had been in an auto but half a dozen times. "You can feel whether your horse likes you or not by the way he pulls on his reins. And if he likes you, you can have lovely times out with him, without any humans about at all."

"Do you feel the personality of all dumb creatures, including squashes," David laughed, thinking of her talk the other evening.

"I believe I do," Alice answered. "You see, most of my life has been spent among such things, rather than among people. Even my chickens have developed quite distinct characters—"

David laughed again, looking sidewise at the girl. What a picture of sweetness and simplicity she made, sitting there, he thought. He could see her profile only, but it showed him the length of her dark lashes, the straightness of her nose, the way her lips closed, firmly yet softly, and the deep cleft in her chin—a defect that made it seem all the stronger. Drawn by the magnetic attraction of his gaze Alice turned around and looked at him and he saw for the first time how very, very blue her eyes were. Her color rose a little and she turned away to the contemplation of the little river that they were driving near.

"That's an awfully pretty dress," David said presently. "You ought to wear that sort of blue always — it matches your eyes so well."

"I didn't know men ever noticed such things," Alice said wonderingly. But she was glad now that she hac changed as her mother told her.

David was delighted with her genuine enthusiasm over the Model Farm and her ready grasp of the details he explained to her. He went on and on, showing her the various cellars, the old place under the barn to be devoted to mushroom growing, the place where the cow stable was to be—with no flies allowed. And after two hours they found they were both tired, so they climbed a bank over the river and sat in the shade on a fallen log.

There was silence for a long time, while each looked out over the meadows. Yet it was not the silence of embarrassment; rather, it was a quiet that was as eloquent as spoken words could be.

Someone called from the farmhouse and David rose, holding out his hand to help Alice up. As their hands met and clasped a sudden wave of warmth and sweetness went through the girl, and as she followed back to the house, she felt she had never been so happy.

Doctor Cupid

That love sometimes cures disease is a fact that has been called to the attention of the public by a prominent physician. Love is not, however, the cure for all women. Many a woman is nervous and irritable, feels dragged down and worn out for no reason that she can think of.

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription gives new life and new strength to weak, worn-out, run-down women. "Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong and sick women well. It is now sold by all druggists in the United States in tablets as well as liquid form.

ROSEBURG, OREGON—"I suffered something terrible from an organic trouble. Could scarcely stand on my feet. My head and back ached so hard and I was weak and nervous. I had severe pains in my side and my limbs and feet ached. I was also troubled with constipation. I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, Golden Medical Discovery, and Pleasant Pellets. These medicines cured me of all my ailments and I was well and strong."—MRS. W. D. MOORE, 1246 N. Jackson Street.

MAIL SUBSCRIBERS NOTE!

Herald readers are warned not to expect delivery by mail carrier in the city when they take ou mail subscriptions. It would cost the Herald about $2.10 to deliver the paper in that way for a $3 subscription. Copies of the paper can be obtained by city subscribers on the basis of mail rates only in post office boxes and at the general delivery window of the post office. To mail a paper to a street address in town requires a one-cent stamp.

The reason that the mail rate is lower than the city delivery rate is because it costs that much less to deliver by mail, but of course Uncle Sam's mail carriers are not doing for nothing what the delivery boys are paid for doing. The special mail rate on newspapers is designed to aid newspaper circulation outside of the city in which the newspaper is published.

RECLAIMING ALBERTA LAND.

EDMONTON, July 20.—Surveys of a large area of water soaked country in different parts of Central and Northern Alberta are now beginning, with a view of undertaking extensive reclamation work.

Three survey parties have already been sent to do field work in Alberta and five parties will be at work in Saskatchewan. Among the areas to be investigated in these surveys will be Chip Water lake, south of Wabamun; Cygnet, west of Red Deer. These are classed as major schemes, and there are a number of small schemes as well. A total of forty projects in Alberta will be dealt with on the present program. The average area of the larger projects will be from 10,000 to 15,000 acres and the cost per acre is estimated at from $3 to $20.

Practical Policies Are Enunciated By Harding

Let me be understood clearly from the very beginning. I believe in party sponsorship in government. I believe in party government as distinguished from personal government, individual, dictatorial, autocratic or what not.

No man is big enough to run this great republic. There never has been one. Such domination was never intended. Tranquility, stability, dependability—all are assured in party sponsorship, and we mean to renew the assurances which were rended in the cataclysmal war.

Our first committal is the restoration of representative popular government, under the Constitution, through the agency of the Republican party. Our vision includes more than a chief executive. we believe in a cabinet of highest capacity, equal to the responsibilities which our system contemplates, in whose councils the vice president, second official of the republic shall be asked to participate. The same vision includes a cordial understanding and co-ordinated activities with a house of congress, fresh from the people, voicing the convictions which members bring from direct contact with the electorate, and cordial co-operation along with the restored functions of Senate, fit to be the greatest deliberative body of the world.

Republican Senators Conscious of Oath

It is not difficult, Chairman Lodge to make ourselves clear on the question of international relationship. We Republicans of the Senate, conscious of our solemn oaths and mindful of our constitutional obligations, when we saw the structure of a world super-government taking visionary form, joined in a becoming warning of our devotion to this republic. If the torch of constitutionalism had not been dimmed, the delayed peace of the world and the tragedy of disappointment and Europe's misunderstanding of America easily might have been avoided. The Republicans of the Senate halted the barter of independent American eminence and influence, which it was proposed to exchange for an obscure and unequal place in the merged government of the world. Our party means to hold the heritage of American nationality unimpaired and unsurrendered.

The world will not misconstrue. We do not mean to hold aloof. We do not mean to shun a single responsibility of this republic to world civilization. There is no hate in the American heart. We have no envy, no suspicion, no aversion for any people in the world. We hold to our rights and mean to defend, aye, we mean to sustain the rights of this nation and our citizens alike, everywhere under the shining sun. Yet there is the concord of amity and sympathy and fraternity in every resolution. There is a genuine aspiration in every American breast for a tranquil friendship with all the world.

One may readily sense the conscience of our America. I am sure I understand the purpose of the dominant group of the Senate. We were not seeking to defeat a world aspiration, we were resolved to safeguard America. We were resolved them, even as we are today and will be tomorrow, to preserve this free and independent republic.

In the call of the conscience of America is peace, peace that closes the gaping wound of world war, and silences the impassioned voices of international envy and distrust. Heeding this call and knowing as I do the disposition of the congress, I promise you formal and effective peace so quickly as a Republican congress can pass its declaration for a Republican executive to sign.

It is better to be the free and disinterested agent of international justice and advancing civilization with the covenant of conscience, than be shackled by a written compact which surrenders our freedom of action and gives to a military alliance the right to proclaim America's duty to the world. No surrender of rights to a world council or its military alliance, no assumed mandatory, however appealing, ever shall summon the sons of this republic to war. Their supreme sacrifice shall only be asked for America and its call of honor. There is a sanctity in that right we will not delegate.

Disposed as we are, the way is very simple. Let the failure attending assumption, obstinacy, impracticability and delay be recognized and let us find the big, practical, unselfish way to do our part, neither covetous because of ambition nor hesitant through fear, but ready to serve ourselves, humanity and God. With a Senate advising as the Constitution contemplates, I would hopefully approach the nations of Europe and of the earth, proposing that understanding which makes us a willing participant in the consecration of nations to a new relationship to commit the moral forces of the world, America included, to peace and international justice, still leaving America free, independent and self-reliant, but offering friendship to all the world.

Humanity is Restive.

It is folly to close our eyes to outstanding facts. Humanity is restive, much of the world is in revolution, the agents of discord and destruction have wrought their tragedy in pathetic Russia, have lighted their torches among other peoples, and hope to see America as a part of the great red conflagration. Ours is the temple of liberty under the law, and it is ours to call the sons of opportunity to its defense. America must not only save herself, but ours must be the appealing voice to sober the world.

It must be understood that toil alone makes for accomplishment and advancement, and righteous possession is the reward of toil, and its incentive. There is no progress except in the stimulus of competition.

The chief trouble today is that the world war wrought the destruction of healthy competition, left our storehouses empty and there is a minimum production when our need is maximum. Maximums, not minimums, is the call of America. It isn't a new story, because war never fails to leave depleted storehouses and always impairs the efficiency of production. War also establishes its higher standards for wages, and they abide. I wish the higher wage to abide, on one explicit condition—that the wage earner will give full return for the wages received.

Greater Production Necessary.

I want, somehow, to appeal to the sons and daughters of the republic, to every producer, to join hand and brain in production, more production, honest production, patriotic production, because patriotic production is no less a defense of our best civilization than that of armed force. Profiteering is a crime of commission, under-production is a crime of omission. We must work our most and best, else the destructive reaction will come.

The menacing tendency of the present day is not chargeable wholly to the unsettled and fevered conditions caused by the war. The manifest weakness in popular government lies in the temptation to appeal to grouped citizenship for political advantage.

It would be the blindness of folly to ignore the activities in our own country which are aimed to destroy our economic system, and to commit us to the colossal tragedy which has destroyed all freedom and made Russia impotent. This movement is not to be halted in throttled liberties. We must not abridge the freedom of speech, the freedom of press, or the freedom of assembly, because there is no promise in repression. These liberties are as sacred as the freedom of religious belief, as inviolable as the rights of life and the pursuit of happiness. We do hold to the right to crush sedition, to stifle a menacing contemp for law, to stamp out a peril to the safety of the republic or its people, when emergency calls, because security and the majesty of the law are the first essentials of liberty. He who threatens destruction of the government by force or flaunts his contempt for lawful authority, ceases to be a loyal citizen and forfeits his rights to the freedom of the republic.

No party is indifferent to the welfare of the wage earner. To us his good fortune is of deepest concern and we seek to make that good fortune permanent. We do not oppose but approve collective bargaining, because that is an outstanding right, but we are unalterably insistent that its exercise must not destroy the equally sacred right of the individual, in his necessary pursuit of livelihood. Any American has the right to quit his employment so has every American the right to seek employment. The group must not endanger the individual, and we must discourage groups preying upon one another and none shall be allowed to forget that the government's obligations are alike to all the people.

We are so confident that much of the present day insufficiency and inefficiency of transportation are due to the withering hand of government operation that we emphasize anew our opposition to government ownership, we want to expedite the reparation and make sure the mistake is not repeated.

A state of inadequate transportation facilities, mainly chargeable to the failure of governmental experiment, is losing millions to agriculture, it is hindering industry, it is menacing the American people with a fuel shortage little less than a peril. It emphasizes the present day problem and suggests that spirit of encouragement and assistance which commits all America to relieve such an emergency.

Gross expansion of currency and credit have depreciated the dollar just as expansion and inflation have discredited the coins of the world. We inflated in haste, we must deflate in deliberation. We debased the dollar in reckless finance, we must restore in honesty.

Will Prevent Unreasonable Profits.

In all sincerity we promise the prevention of unreasonable profits, we challenge profiteering with all the moral force and the legal powers of government and people, but it is fair, aye, it is timely, to give reminder that law is not the sole corrective of our economic ills.

Let us call to all the people for thrift and economy, for denial and sacrifice if need be, for a nation-wide drive against extravagance and luxury, to a recommittal to simplicity of living, to that prudent and normal plan of life which is the health of the republic.

New conditions, which attend amazing growth and extraordinary industrial development, call for a new and forward looking program. The American farmer had a hundred and twenty millions to feed in the home market, and heard the cry of the world for food and answered it, though he faced an appalling task amid handicaps never encountered before.

Contemplating the defenselessness of the individual farmer to meet the organized buyers of his products and the distributors of the things the farmer buys, I hold that farmers should not only be permitted but encouraged to join in cooperative association to reap the just measure of reward merited by their arduous toil.

Aid to Farmer Pledged.

Our platform is an earnest pledge of renewed concern for this most essential and elemental industry and in both appreciation and interest we pledge effective expression in law and practice. We will hail that cooperation which again will make profitable and desirable the ownership and operation of comparatively small farms intensively cultivated, and which will facilitate the caring for the products of farm and orchard without the lamentable waste under present conditions.

America would look with anxiety on the discouragement of farming activity either through the government's neglect or its paralysis of socialistic practices. A Republican administration will be committed to renewed regard for agriculture and seek the participation of farmers in curing the ills justly complained of, and aim to place the American farm where it ought to be—highly ranked in American activities and fully sharing the highest good fortunes of American life.

Becomingly associated with this subject are the policies of irrigation and reclamation, so essential to agricultural expansion, and the continued development of the great and wonderful West. It is our [illegible] ernment should give its effective aid in solving the problem of ample and becoming housing of its citizenship.

SALIENT POINTS IN SPEECH OF ACCEPTANCE.

"I pledge fidelity to our country and to God, and accept the nomination of the Republican party for the Presidency of the United States."

"The human element comes first, and I want the employers in industry to understand the aspirations, the convictions, the yearnings of millions of American wage earners."

"The Constitution contemplates no class and recognizes no group. It broadly includes all the people, with specific recognition for none."

"We approve collective bargaining."

"Gross expansion of currency and credits has depreciated the dollar. We will attempt intelligent and courageous deflation."

"When competition—natural, fair impelling competition is suppressed, whether by law, compact or conspiracy, we halt the march of progress, silence the voice of aspiration and paralyze the will for achievement."

"I promise you effective peace as quickly as a Republican congress can pass its declaration for a Republican executive to sign."

"I can hear the call of conscience an insistent voice for largely reduced armaments throughout the world."

"Our vision includes more than a chief executive. We believe in a cabinet of highest capacity, equal to the responsibilities which our system contemplates, in whose councils the vice-president, second official of the republic, shall be asked to participate."

Seattle Does It Again.

SALT LAKE, July 22.—Salt Lake hitters drove out long hits yesterday and Seattle hitters drove out short ones. The short ones proved the more potent and Seattle won the second game of the series, 7 to 5, thereby surprising the dopesters up and down the circuit.

Hollis Thurston and Bob Geary were opposed to each other, and they pitched about as evenly as two pitchers who were being battered every which way could possibly pitch. Each allowed fourteen hits, each struck out four and each walked two. Each was responsible for four runs.
