Eight members of the Community Center Committee met at the home of Ray Ellis, on Tuesday, April 30, to discuss plans for the Center. The group was happy to welcome Mr. Lee Cromley of the Forks Ranger Station as a participant. Myron Simmons reported several members had met at the Center site and assessed the jobs that could and should be done immediately. Plans are made to pour the first 50 feet of concrete, and to build partitions which will make rooms for the Search and Rescue team. A Suggested Remedy To Keep Good Teachers

To cope with an ever increasing problem of teacher shortage on the labor market and possibly curb the continued migration of some of the better teachers from the Quillayute Valley Schools, the Editor presents the following topic for discussion: A good educational program in our community must begin with a good teaching staff. Excellent facilities and materials present a false image of education if the teaching staff is weak. A good educational program designed to meet the needs of the students.

Three-day Session To Be Held

Friday is the opening day for the Circuit assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses being held in Tacoma, and the Forks congregation will be leaving home in time to be in attendance for the first sessions beginning at 6:45 p.m. Local meetings are being canceled.

The three-day gathering will be held in the Jason-Lee Junior High School auditorium, with a peak attendance expected to reach about 1200. According to Charles Meiner of Forks, the high point of the assembly will be the public address on Sunday at 3 p.m. entitled, "Why Does God Permit Wickedness?"

This is to be delivered by Allyn L. Frank, a special representative of the Watchtower Society headquarters in New York.

Meiner reported that this will be the last assembly scheduled for this Circuit until the District convention begins in the summer. These will be held in many cities throughout the United States, Canada, Bermuda, and the British Isles. The closest one in the U. S. to this Circuit will be in Spokane on July 25 to 28. Some may attend the convention at Victoria, B. C., however, which comes a week earlier. For those who wish to travel, there are alternatives scheduled for such places as Portland, Maine. The total number of conventions will run over 40 by the time they finish up.

To err is human—but to air your neighbor's errors is divine.

Rayonier Reports Merger News

First quarter sales of Rayonier Incorporated rose nearly 10 percent over those of the first quarter in 1967. Earnings were down slightly compared to the same period.

Total sales for the first three months of 1968 were $54,092,302 compared with $48,968,727 for the same period of 1967. Shipments of chemical cellulose and papermaking pulps, which comprise 79 percent of sales, totaled 266,892 tons representing an 11 percent increase over the 240,302 tons shipped in the same period of 1967.

Net income of $3,935,603 was equal to 68 cents per common share on 5,237,947 shares outstanding on March 31. For the same period in 1967, net income was $4,067,715, or 65 cents per share on 6,229,934 outstanding.

Russell F. Erickson, president and chief executive officer, attributed the improved sales results to a strong North American lumber market and to increasing demand for Rayonier chemical cellulose grades. Mr. Erickson also reported improved prospects for silvicultural sales in 1968, and indicated that markets for papermaking pulps, while still highly competitive, show signs of firming. He said that earnings did not keep pace with increased sales due to generally higher operating costs and lower selling prices for some of Rayonier's products.

Mr. Erickson announced that the ruling requested from the Internal Revenue Service in connection with the merger of Rayonier into the International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation has been received. He also said that the merger is expected to be consummated on April 26, 1968.

At its meeting in New York, the Rayonier Board of Directors declared a cash dividend of 35 cents per share for the period ending April 26, 1968, the proposed date of the merger. This dividend is payable May 15 to stockholders or record at the close of business on April 26, 1968.

A Question of Investing

What did the market do today? Few other questions raise as many anxieties, affect as many people or involve as much money as that one.

The people in question are shareholders, more than 20 million in number...the money is theirs, an astronomical $600 billion worth of listed securities; the anxieties are understandable, as constantly shifting market conditions can puff or depress values by turns.

Times when the stock market was largely the province of men of wealth. But the picture is vastly changed from what it was 40 or 50 years ago.

Until mutual funds were established in the early 1920's, the small investor was without a vehicle that could provide, in one convenient and practical package, the kind of professional management and diversification that once only wealthy individuals could afford.

The mutual fund idea is a simple one. It provides a means through which people with similar investments may pool their money in an effort to achieve these goals.

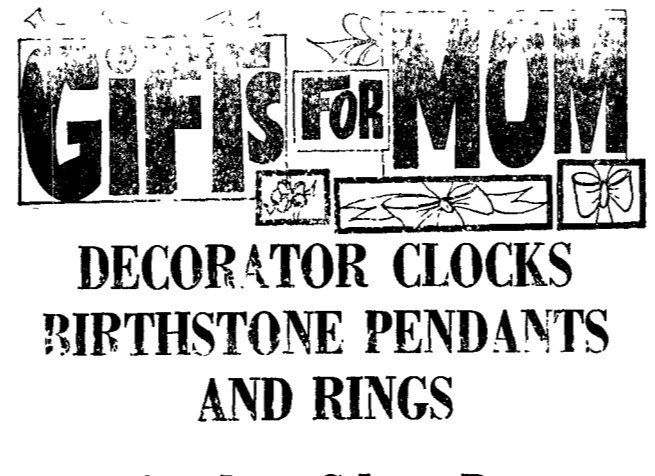

By combining their investment dollars, they are able to engage the services of professional investment managers at a cost which is divided among all shareholders.

Thus, with an investment of, let's say, $100 in one popular mutual fund the investor has an ownership in as many as 100 or more companies. Diversification as broad as this is not possible for the average person to achieve on his own.

Each investor, therefore, receives precisely the same opportunity for growth and income whether he has invested $100 or $1,000,000.

How popular is the fund concept in America today? According to the Investment Company Institute, mutual funds manage assets worth nearly $45 billion for approximately four million shareholders—individuals and institutions.

are totally supported by local property taxes with a two mill ceiling. Several district libraries, as the reported noted, "have had their millage cut to 1.6 mills and are unable to increase their budget in the face of drastic increasing costs."

Operational grants would be made by the State Libraries to individual libraries to help meet increasing book costs and to provide adequate salaries. With additional books and staff, special service to handicapped nursing homes, hospitals, exceptional children and to general city and county institutions would be possible.

One of the first steps in providing statewide service is the extension of the Scan telephone service from the State Library to the key libraries in the State, so that information required in any area will be readily available at the key library.

Saturday morning six panelists gave reports on the six Governor's Conferences in libraries held in this State. Everyone attending had been impressed by the multi-media presentation. It might be noted that the Fort Angeles Kiwanis Club is sponsoring a presentation of this multi-media program, Tuesday, June 11.

The general session on Saturday, May 4th had as its theme "Leisure Opportunity or Threat". Dr. Jane Williamson, Associate Professor of Education, Pacific Lutheran University, spoke on "Youth and Leisure" when she emphasized that children need some unplanned time in which to be children and at the same time noted the correlation between juvenile delinquency and inability to read.

Mr. Kenneth Monson, Editor in charge of Public Relations for District Lodge 751, International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers spoke on "Working Population and Leisure". He pointed out that many values of the working man have been destroyed in an industry where his work is so strenuous that he can take no "recreation" time.

Mr. Charles P. Keikel, Regional Representative of the Administration on Aging, was given the title, "Meeting the Challenge of Years". His formula for "successful retirement" is to provide a "purpose" and "mentally active" work.

In Like Fashion by Bobbi Get ready, girls. Here come the Thirties—thirty years later—in everything from berets to bathing suits to baby-blunt-toe shoes. Happily, the revival is broad enough so we can pick and choose only what's becoming to us and still look in style. The Thirties trend to side-butting that Ericson jacket in a mode" without converting to a full-fledged Bonnie Parker or Marlene Dietrich! Tailored in a COIN bonded pastel plaid, it contours the long, lean line of the Thirties without its characteristic slouch. Proof positive that fashion does serve to improve on itself! Know what else has shown improvement? Fabric techniques. One reason that gals of the Thirties looked so altogether shapeless was the absence of today's bonding methods. Bonding is joining two fabrics together on one for dimensional stability, fine fit and lasting shape. Coin interlocking, the leader in the field, maintains strict quality control standards to insure that the bonded fabric never puckers or pulls apart. The COIN hanging guarantee that the fabrics will stay together. Your dry cleaner will too. He'll tell you a COIN bonded fabric is the "no problem" fabric—the perfect way to get the Thirties into a shape for '68!

Barbecue Lamb Riblets in Tomato Sauce

Barbecuing is not confined to the outdoors but is a way of cooking that can continue all year 'round inside the house. The only requirements are a range, a favorite cut of meat such as lamb and a sauce. Many cuts of Winter Wonder lamb are suitable for barbecuing but try lamb riblets for a pleasant change. They are cut from the breast and are succulent and tender when browned and simmered in a zesty sauce. And they're economical, too. TOMATO AND RAISIN BARBECUED RIBLETS (Makes 4 servings) 2 pounds lamb riblets 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce 1/2 cup each: dark seedless raisins; chopped parsley In Dutch oven or large skillet brown lamb well; drain off drippings. Meanwhile, combine remaining ingredients. Pour sauce over browned lamb and simmer covered one hour or until lamb is tender.
