Tyce-Beaver-Sappho News

By MRS. J. E. MERRITT

The failure of special maintenance and operation levies in three first-class school districts in Washington has created so many serious problems that everyone can plainly see that this antiquated method of financing the schools has "had it."

What Happens To School Programs When Property Taxpayers Revolt?

The three districts are Bellingham, South Kitsap and Port Angeles. Each has been well run for years but is now forced to make substantial cuts in both certificated and non-certificated personnel, to increase class size, to drop courses and to require fees.

Port Angeles
Fourteen years ago this community was judged as being the state's first "All American City" — partly because of its school system. Today, the community is faced with trying to determine what to do as a consequence of the failure of a $488,715 maintenance and operation levy. At first it was believed the levy lost by a single vote. A later recount showed it needed five more "yes" votes to meet the 60% plurality requirement.

The loss of accreditation for Port Angeles has already been announced by the Northwest Association of Secondary and Higher Schools. The State Board of Education has not at this writing made any pronouncement regarding its accreditation.

Next year, there will be no athletic competition or other extra-curricular student activities. Port Angeles will probably have to double-shift its lower elementary grades, and slash its student counseling program. The changes in curriculum will involve the dropping of nine high school courses. These include world history, speech, debate, Spanish, a job-oriented home economics class, drama, journalism and some other student activities.

Thirteen teachers and nineteen non-certificated personnel will be lost. The cutbacks will require two principals to administer four elementary schools. The counseling program next year will be at the ratio of about one to 1,200 students. The State Board's accreditation standard for high schools is one to 800 students.

Comment
These levy failures are a continuation of a statewide revolt against annual special levy financing for the public schools.

What are the effects?
Increasing class loads means that high schools stand a good chance of having their accreditation revoked. It means, further, that some colleges will require entrance examinations for their entering freshmen. After admittance to college, students from un-accredited schools will probably have to take additional basic courses which students from accredited schools have already had. This is a time consuming, unnecessary burden to impose.

Obviously, the Legislature has failed to comply with Article IX, Section 1 of the State Constitution which states, "It is the paramount duty of the state to make ample provisions for the education of all children residing within its borders..."

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Johnson and daughter Corlie went to Elms, Mo. Saturday night, May 25, to visit Mrs. Johnson's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Baugher. Sunday morning Charles Klepps, brother of the two ladies, and Mrs. Klepps also stopped in for a short visit. Returning home, the Johnsons visited Mr. and Mrs. Body Happen at Porter Creek and Mr. Jack Hutsell and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Birmingham. Mrs. Johnson's uncle and cousins at Aberdeen.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Eaton and daughter Laurie, with Miss Linda Coates, made a one-day trip to Salap Memorial Day. They had dinner with Mrs. Eaton's cousin, Mr. and Mrs. John Comfort, and on the way home detoured to Comopolis where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Arsenau, former residents of Sappho.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walken had a Memorial Day guests list. Mr. and Mrs. Al Walken of Port Angeles and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Konopaski of Seattle. They all took advantage of the low tide and joined the many others clam digging at Kalloch.

Mrs. Walter Mason of Forks and Mrs. John Merritt learned Friday evening of the birth of a baby daughter to their granddaughter, Mrs. Richard Moore, and Mr. Moore of Days Creek, Oregon. The young lady arrived about 5 o'clock that evening in the Roseburg, Oregon, Community Hospital, weighed 8 lbs. 6 1/2 oz., and has been named Kathleen Lynn.

Gene Lodie returned to his home in Tacoma Sunday evening after spending the weekend at the home of his mother, Mrs. Martin Bugesseth. He came for the fishing and got three very nice fish for his efforts. Mr. Bugesseth's nephew, Carl Engnesseth, of Arlington, stopped in on Sunday for a visit with his uncle and aunt.

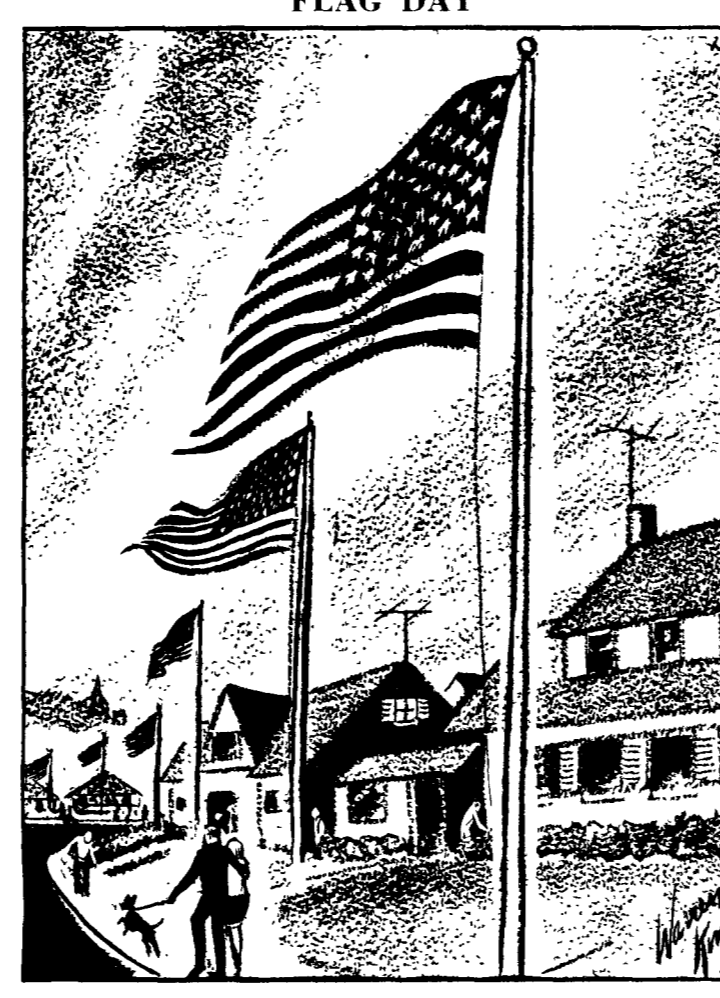

Dianne and Roberta Sorlett visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Sorlett, and returned Sunday evening to Seattle after attending the Forks High School graduation program Friday evening.

FLAG DAY

FLAG DAY 1968

"We meet to celebrate Flag Day because this flag which we honor and under which we serve is the emblem of our unity, our power, our thought and purpose as a nation. It has no other character than that which we give it from generation to generation. "The choice is ours. It floats in majestic silence above the hosts that execute those choices whether in peace or war. And yet, though silent, it speaks to us—speaks to us of the past, of the men and women who went before us and of the records they wrote upon it. "We celebrate the day of its birth, and from its birth until now it has witnessed a great history, has floated on high the symbol of great events, of a great plan of life worked out by a great people." —Woodrow Wilson, June 14, 1917

Life's Work Begins

School is out, the report card taken home with pride or disappointment and a veritable army of young people are looking about for summer's change of pace. To some, the summer will be a time of relaxation, sports and rest; to others it will be a time to sample the world's work, to earn some coveted possession. To the graduate, who will turn their backs on schools, it will be a time to meet the responsibilities they will face the rest of their lives. As the measure of the school system is the degree of experience and preparation with which the graduate comes to the adult work-a-day world, so the measure of the community is the understanding and enthusiasm with which he is greeted, if

SUNSET HIGHLITES

FROM YOUR LOCAL BOWLING CENTER By FRED JARVIS

SUNDAY: Was on another bowling trip today, but couldn't very well write in the car this time as I was all by my lonesome to and from Angeles and Seppin. Duke and Jean, D. J. and Margie, Claude, Darrell and myself moseyed into P.A. and bowled Balmbridge for the championship of Olympia Traveling League No. 1.

Won the first game by four pins, then ran away from home to take all four points and bring home the Trophy for Clark's Yagabond. Also had a sweeper or pot game going among the sixteen men that bowled. Darrell led all bowlers in the bow off and sweeper with 616 scratch and 647 handicaps, while yours truly lucked his way into second money with 586 and 635.

Waited just long enough to collect my loot, then jumped into the Pontiac and headed for Sequim to bowl in the BPA district singles. John Nagel, Hank Bigelow had already bowled and ended up in tie for eighth place with 225, for which they'll each receive a few bucks.

Fred Cline gave it a good try, but one had game put it out of reach for him. Pretty proud of my first place finish on games of 244 — 227 — 190 — 661 scratch and 694 handicaps. Stayed out pretty late last night and if shortage of sleep makes for bowling like this, I'll never sleep again!

Tom Ricketts and Harry "Hot Hand" Laffer head the qualifiers for the next event with 708 and 679 respectively. The A division in the Clallam County Women's Singles has three Forks girls in second, third and fourth places. Gwen Genson 633, Angie Clausen 615, and Arden English at 592.

Margaret Windle leads the B division with 655. The Wednesday Junior League has the Henrys and Jarvies tied for the top spot. Mother Jarvis is making the old man work to keep ahead of her. She bowled 183, 456 to lead the women. Jody topped the girls 158-483 while Jim Bhaire 163 and Ken O'Leary 445 were the best for the boys. Papa Jarvis and his 213 and Darrell's 556 trapped the men's HI 10 and 30.

Last week's Monday Nite Junior Seniors had John Nagel and Darrell with Jody Prusert and Jim Rondeau leading the pack. Terry Genson won HI 10 and 30 with her 129-331 and sub Ed Nondesi muscled his way to the front of the boys with 202-523.

Margaret Windle bowled fine. FUCHIAS — GERANIUMS. BEDDING PLANTS — HOUSE PLANTS.

SPORTS WANDERINGS . . .

An early arrival of silver salmon off LaPush raises hopes of a good year for the salmon fishery. The commercial fishery has been near the Whistler buoy and within easy reach of the sport boats. The few boats venturing out have been bringing in good catches. Seattle produced some nice kings last week when the weather permitted the boats to go out. In the 50-lb. range was reported.

Last year's National League batting champion, Roberto Clemente, has high praise for left-hander Jerry Rooksman of the New York Mets. Says Clemente, "Rooksman impresses me more than any young pitcher I've seen. He has three kinds of fast balls. One tails in . . . one tails out . . . and the other is sneaky fast."

Some golfers play the tour only a few weeks a year and yet make a nice piece of change. Earl Stewart, the club pro at the Oak Cliff Country Club in Dallas, is an example. The 46-year-old Stewart hasn't played regularly in 15 years but he habitually plays three or four tournaments a year to try to beat the regulars out of some ready cash.

This year he competed in four, including the Colonial at Fort Worth, and returned home with $7,241 in tournament cash. That breaks down to an average of $1,810 a week. The home run slugger of the Washington Senators, Frank Howard, wasn't always interested in baseball. His mother at Columbus, Ohio,

Recreational Vehicles Shifting into High Gear

Popular recreation vehicles for active outdoor families are "super station wagon" like the International Travelall shown above. Vehicles like this, in two wheel or four wheel drive, offer rugged dependability and room for plenty of gear with no sacrifice of comfort.

Sunky 'Go Anywhere' Car Also Serves Home Front

Not too long ago, the outdoorsman who craved a vehicle for busting sand dunes or creeping along the banks of a marshy stream had to build his own. And if the fruits of his labor did all the visual appeal of a "made tank" — well, it did take him where he wanted to go — off the road and into the backwoods. One of the problems was the builder usually spent more time under his "nickle than he did in it."

Today, the situation has changed dramatically. Anglers, hunters, and campers not only can buy units specifically built and tested for more demanding duty, they can actually afford to be fussy about some of the smallest details. Rear-wheel or all-wheel drive, two-door or four-door cabs, bucket or bench-type five-speed transmission, high-altitude carburetion equipment for mountain driving or increased-capacity cooling for the desert — these are only a few of the options. With an array of choices like this, sportsmen can order the exact units they want and need directly from the factory.

Serves Other Purposes
A wide variety of models is available ranging from the "sunky" "go anywhere" compact through heavy-duty station wagons, to long-bodied pickups designed to carry "super bodies."
If you can own two cars, what is, if you are what is known as an actual or potential two-car family, and if you genuinely love the outdoors, there isn't the semblance of a problem about affording one.
Remember, your recreational vehicle doesn't have to sit in the garage between trips to wide open spaces. It can do everything you would normally ask of a second car. These units can be equipped with "civilized" options to add the conventional car in terms of comfort and convenience.

As just one example, the International Travelall station wagon has power steering, power brakes, automatic transmission, air conditioning, tinted glass, and a stereo tape

Room galore for gear is the secret to a successful vehicle for the outdoors. Trunk, outboard motors, water skis and camping and the more equipment outdoorsmen have, the more fun will generate. Plenty of room is essential in a vehicle for the great outdoors.

Closest Space

Do you need more storage space, and don't know where to turn to find it?

Take a closer look inside present cabinets and closets. You're sure to find some unused space, low, high or in between.

In a cabinet, add some adjustable shelves, or replace shelves with drawers or trays. In the kitchen, shallow racks can be fastened to the inside of cabinet doors, but be sure they will not lump the shelves or items stored on them.

Closets can provide a surprising amount of space for open shelves or pull drawers.

SOME DID YOU KNOW? Glen Williams' Thoroughbred Ter-rango kid, purchased for one dollar ($1), yes, one dollar, is back and is in training at Long-creech. He's a real baby but Glen has plans to start him this season. This is the fantastic story of an injured horse given up for lost, Glen turned him out for a year, nursed him back to health and he has now a better than average Thoroughbred. Keep your eyes open if he starts this season. He could be right up there in the right race.

The former Longcreech popular Don Porter family is campaigning successfully in California. Former owner of the deluxe Green Valley Farm in Mab-ton, Washington, Papa Don is operating public stables. Ex-jockey son, Pepper, has hung up his riding tack and quit riding. He broke his left thigh in a split last year and now sports a steel rod inserted through the hip that reaches through the bone center down to his knee. His recovery progress has been good and the rod comes loose.

Hazel Schutz, who had horses at Longcreech in 1953, is still going strong. She has won 14 but three score and ten plus several more years will pretty well hit her age on the high-tail. She of the flaming red hair still gallops horses for other stables and trains her own. She is a horse woman to the bone. Hazel rode her first race at K. Went on to college and taught some economics after graduation. The Wyoming high schools were pretty lucky. Later she migrated to the Northwest. She still holds a track record in Havana, Cuba. One of her horses ran three-quarters of a mile in 1:10 flat in 1959. The day she led her horses on the boat for the U. S. A., she gave a small boy a job of walk-ing two Thoroughbreds. She forgot to go back and collect the horses. Some Cuban urchin fell heir to two race horses. Wonder what he did with them? Perhaps deposited Batista, assassinated the same year, could have used these for a getaway.

FOR THE FUTURE: Wednesday, June 5, BELLEVUE DAY, sponsored by the Bellevue Chamber of Commerce, Sunday, June 9, Benton Handicap, three-year-olds and upwards, 6 furlongs, for $7,000 added. This is always a popular race.

It's a woman's WHIRL

Mothers are expected these days to have hands as pretty as their teenage daughters, but that's no reason why, any more, either of them should be deprived of one of spring and summer's greatest pleasures, that of digging up the good-smelling soil, and growing and eating the fruits and vegetables you have planted and tended.

The unpleasant feel of dirt-dried hands seems to bother women more than men, and with very good reason. The skin of women being generally thinner than men, it does tend to dry out more quickly from the air, wind, water, fertilizers and pesticides which come with gardening, and if hands that dry easily are not protected, they can become painful. However, a little oil, or medicated hand cream, applied before you put on gloves, will do a great deal to protect you, and if you're careful this goes even for the times you have to take the gloves off to transplant delicate seedlings. Dry skin is amazingly absorbent. Hands will soak in oils and moisture as thoroughly and quickly as a blotter.
