THE LAND OF MYSTERY

What Lies Beyond the Beautiful Snowclad Peaks that Fringe the Salty Seas?

THE HIGH PLACES UNDER THE ROOF OF THE WORLD.

Every man, woman and child who has lived in or visited Seattle has looked across the Sound and admired the white peaks of the Olympics. They have all wondered what mystery this silent country holds, and they have felt the attraction of the unknown—the pull of the strange wilderness beyond the beautiful snow-clad peaks that change color while one looks, as alluring as the heart of an opal, always new in every angle of light.

For many years the "coast range" of the Olympics, bearing upon its northern slope a semi-tropical jungle—a region of dense forest and down timber, of deep canons and knife-like ridges, more impenetrable than the celebrated coast range of Alaska—walled this region off from the rest of the country, a rugged, silent mystery that silhouettes across the aftermath of sunset, sharp cut like a cameo.

Here and there a prospector struggled up the timbered valleys where the rivers came out, finding the streams to be a roaring white mass of suds, hurrying down to the sea between rock walls or in the bottom of narrow valleys that sloped so sharply only a strong man could scale the heights, carrying on his back the ever necessary pack of blankets and provisions. Hunters, ascending the ridges in quest of game, came to open country above timber line, where flowers bloomed close beside snowbanks and blue glaciers, and great fields of grass covered the steep slopes, and brought out stories of herds of elk, of deer, bear and grouse, of footprints of cougar and wolf, of trout in the streams, and of the wonderful views of a vast sea of peaks that stretched away like a frozen ocean, mile on mile to the far horizon.

Then came the first settlements along the borders of the empire, with their trails up the valleys between the foothills, and the near-by mountains, notably Constance and Angeles, became accessible. Gradually the trail was extended up the mighty Elwha river, until each year, a few sportsmen visited the very heart of the Olympics.

In 1885 Lieut. O'Neil, detailed by Gen. Miles, took six men and made a trip from Mt. Angeles around the eastern rim to the waters of the Lillian, about twelve miles southwest of Mt. Constance. But the first information concerning the heart of the mountains was brought out by the Press Expedition, a party of six men sent in by the Press, a Seattle paper, in 1890. The absolute ignorance concerning the country, in those days, is shown by the fact that they spent a month building boats with which to navigate the Elwha and getting their supplies to McDonald's, nine miles from Port Angeles. Captain Barnes of the party prepared a topographic map locating and naming the principal peaks and valleys. Several of the former were named after noted newspaper men, such as Dana, one of the highest after Professor Meany and another for the city of Seattle. Mistaking what is now known as Mt. Fitzhenry for Mt. Olympus, and apparently not finding the latter mountain, the Press Expedition left one of the finest mountains in the range to be named after Clallam county's civil engineer.

Later on, the Geographical Survey, estimating the timber of the Olympic Forest Reserve, mapped the valleys and mountains with fair accuracy, giving elevations and showing glaciers and rivers flowing therefrom.

Of recent years, since the mountain ridges have been made accessible by the cutting of trails up river valleys, every summer has seen a constantly increasing number of campers, prospectors and hunters—mostly people who, for ten or eleven months of the year, must live within the noisy, nerve-racking walls of the city, where daily existence is one ntinuous grind and where people w weary, and require, not merely but relaxation.

tive men and women require ac- est. And while it is true that has been lavish in the North- nd the desired combination of river and forest, of lake and mountain, is to be had at almost every turn, yet nowhere on earth can he who enjoys mountain climbing and quiet trails that lead upward to the country of silence find such a trip as that into the Olympic Mountains—the most rugged range in the whole United States.

When the adventurer responds to the Call of the Hills, he finds himself in a new country and feels repaid for any hardships he may have encountered. Everyone who goes in on the trail has to share alike. In this magic land the man of wealth, the guide and the prospector are on the same footing, for a man can take in only what he can carry on his back or load on a pack horse. All social differences are leveled in the camarade of the trail.

It is only nine miles from Port Angeles to the beginning of the trail where two bluffs hold the river back and the foothills roll away to the unknown—one half hour's travel from steamboats and electric lights and you eat trout of your own catching and sleep on the edge of a wilderness, the haunt of elk and deer and bear.

The trip up the Elwha to the river's source, if one cares to go that far, requires four days, including the morning spent on the steamer and the auto ride out from Port Angeles. For practically the entire distance, thirty-five miles, the trail lies on the river bottom, or an benches just above; there is little climbing and that for short distances across ridges running down to the river.

In the bottom lands there are giant cedars, some of them over ten feet thru at the butt; tiny waterfalls, the joy tears of the mountain sprites; ferns higher than a man's head; old clearings overrun with vines covered with luscious blackberries; beautiful groves of maple and alder; thickets of devil's club, the Echinopanax horridum of the botanist, who, as is well known to every angler who has ever tried to worm his way thru the stuff, made a miserable failure of his attempt at descriptive nomenclature; and ferns, mosses and lichens marvelous in beauty. All the way, the only scenery, save the river itself, is that of the high timbered ridges that rise on either side like those surrounding Lake Crescent. Only occasionally are glimpses to be had of snow fields on the tips of peaks just beyond.

As the elevation increases the forest glades become more numerous; a carpet of soft moss deadens the sound of footsteps and the sun reaches the ground in great yellow blotches that turns the ferns to gold. Elk trails cross the valley, leading to the grass country high up on either side. Where the blue grouse took its dust bath yesterday are to be found the tracks of wolf and bear. Of fords there are several, especially as the headwaters are neared, and the timber, tho small, becomes so dense one moves in semi-darkness and silence, as in some great cathedral.

The most spectacular feature of the trip is the arrival at timber line. For days you travel thru the forest with only fleeting glimpses of the surrounding country, and then without warning you burst into the first park at the timber line. The whole wonderful mountain panorama comes into view at once. A breeze from the snowfields cools your face, and an elk lumbers away thru the wild flowers.

Tho the elevation of the Olympics is low compared with the great peaks of the Cascades, yet the snowfall is so great and the mountains are so

MONUMENT NOT DESIRABLE

"There is a mistaken idea prevalent that the forestry department has a policy against allowing settlers to take up homesteads in the forest reserves. This is not true as every settler with his cleared land makes a fire line that is helpful in time of fire. His home also makes a headquarters for fire fighters which is very desirable. In fact, this department is anxious to get as many settlers in government land as possible to build up the country," said Chief Graves, when on a visit to Tacoma last week. Mr. Graves is also quoted as saying that 600,000 acres comprising the Olympic Reserve may be thrown open to settlement soon, but it is far more likely that he meant the Olympus Monument would be abolished and mining allowed within the National Forest. The chief forester said the only reason he has been able to discover for establishing the Olympic monument is to give grazing ground to a large herd of elk. He said it is contrary to the policy of the department to make monuments out of such large tracts of land.

REPORTED ABANDONMENT OF OAK BAY PROJECT

Railroad to Connect With New Road Across Whidby and Fidalgo Islands.

J. W. Lindsay, right-of-way man for the Port Angeles, Lake Crescent & Seattle Railroad, was in the city yesterday, on business connected with his department of the road now building on the Peninsula, says the Townsend Leader. Mr. Lindsay was looking up title to property lying along the shore of Discovery bay as far as the tracks of the Port Townsend Southern Railroad at Fairmount. Further than this point, he has received no instructions as yet from those in charge of the work of building the line.

A gentleman who arrived yesterday from Seattle, and who claims to have the latest information on the situation, declares that the Oak Bay project has been abandoned, and that the new plan calls for the use of the Port Townsend Southern from the head of Discovery Bay into this city. This report coincides with one brought from Whidby Island a short time ago, which is to the effect that this city was to be made a ferry point connecting the Peninsula line with the new road across Whidby and Fidalgo Islands, on which preliminary work is now being done. These statements appear to bear out the prediction made by the Leader several months ago that a line across the islands would ferry across the inlet at this point.

ENGINEER OF DREDGER DROWNED IN BAY

Body Was Recovered Sunday By His Father, Using a Novel Dredging Line.

The body of Frank Cuvreau, who was drowned near the Earles mill, Friday evening, was recovered Sunday and shipped to his former home in Tacoma Monday.

Mr. Cuvreau, an engineer on the "Seattle," a dredger belonging to the P. S. Bridge & Dredging Co., which had just completed the waterway and fill at the mill and was about to leave for Seattle, was getting his household goods aboard, when he lost his balance and being unable to swim drowned before help could reach him. He was twenty-seven years old, and had a wife and little daughter.

Hope of finding the body had not been given up and the bay was being dragged when his father arrived Sunday. Four years ago to the very day he had lost a daughter at Tacoma and recovered the body by dragging with a long cord, which being weighted few feet, scraped its entire length the sand of the bay; to the cord was attached numerous halibut hooks, these being bound together in gangs. The body was recovered at the first cast of the line.

The relatives wish to thank the mill employes and campers for their kindness.

CONFIRMED CLASS OF 35.

The Sacrament of Confirmation was administered to a class of 35 on Sunday, July 27, at the Queen of Angels church by his Lordship, the Rt. Rev. Edward J. O'Dea, Bishop of Seattle. He was accompanied on his trip by Rev. R. J. Armstrong, of Spokane, and Rev. Charles Lighthouse, of Lacey. His Lordship was so pleased with the improvements at the Catholic church that he promised to spend a week of his vacation later on.

Among the clergy visiting the Catholic Rectory were: Rev. G. Achtergael, Ballard; Rt. Rev. Justin Welz, Lacey; Rev. D. Grace, Seattle; Rev. J. O'Brien, Georgetown; Rev. M. J. Callahan, West Seattle; Rev. Jos. McGrath, Tacoma; Rev. John Power, Elma. All of these reverend gentlemen vacationed at Sol Duc Springs, where also Rt. Rev. M. C. Lenihan, Bishop of Great Falls, Mont., is at present recuperating.

CITY OF PORT ANGELES ON RUN TO SEATTLE

The "City of Port Angeles," the steamer recently purchased by the owners of the City Dock from the Stetson Estate, left last evening at eight o'clock on her initial trip to Seattle. The City of Port Angeles will make three trips a week, alternating with the Albion.

Mr. Fulmer has sold out his photograph business and studio building to Robert Kennett of Seattle, a first class photographer of many years' experience, who will arrive next week with his wife and family to take over the business.

A near-riot will be caused tomorrow night at the Opera House by the clever character acting by Miss Hazel Hooker, as "Mrs. Brown" in "Untangling Tony."

NO BIDS FOR SEA WALL

Front Street Will Have to Be Brought to Grade to Protect Downtown Interests.

Unless Contractor Erickson comes forward with his original proposition to build seawall and grade certain streets, taking down the hills and filling flat, it would seem the Port Angeles seawall has gone glimmering. The time for opening bids for this work was Tuesday night at 8 o'clock, and after reading the call the city clerk was forced to advise council that there were no bids submitted for the work. The council laid the matter over pending a decision as to further action, the city attorney advising them that it can be taken up at any time or that city can do work itself if council sees fit.

The reasons advanced for no bids on this work are several: First, that the assessment against the abutting property is about five times the assessed valuation and therefore there is a poor basis for a bond issue; second, the estimate did not contemplate a retaining wall on the inside, and there is no provision for a fill at this time and third, the bond market is not as good as it was. Take Front St., with ten to twenty times the assessed valuation of Railroad Ave.; there should be no trouble in raising the estimated amount $84,000 to bring said street to grade.

The council also reconsidered the fire limits ordinance, amending same as to limits upon recommendation of committee, as follows: 250 feet east of Lincoln street on east, alley between blocks 30 to 34 on south, 50 feet west of Cherry on west, and inner harbor line on north. The ordinance was adopted.

James Garrison asked privilege of putting in water motor with understanding that same connect with the sewer of Angeles Hotel. Granted.

Mrs. George appeared before council asking that drainage flume at Sixth and Albert be taken care of as water eats away bluff during wet season. Referred to committee.

Petition from 117 residents from Sixth Ward asking appointment of E. B. Fleming to seat vacated by Rogers. Dustman moved election of Fleming; Myers opposed, giving reason that if he thought Fleming would stay with the job he would support petition. He was not, for some reason not stated, favorable to electing a man at this time from the Sixth Ward. The vote scattered surprisingly. Elliott and Swanson refused to vote at all, Fisher and Myers voted no and Dustman and Wilcox aye. Myers then moved that each be compelled to vote one way or other. Attorney held this could not be done and mayor ruled motion out of order.

Contract with Olympic Hotel Co., authorizing said company to put in section of proposed sewer on Francis street from Third to Front by temporary box sewer, was ordered signed up by attorney, mayor and clerk. Under its provisions city is to reimburse hotel company for permanent work when assessment district for sewer purposes is formed. In event such district is not, for some unforseen reason, formed, the city attorney held that the city would not be held. Work is to be done under direction of City Engineer.

City Engineer submitted estimate for extra work done on Eighth street bridges above estimate of original cost, in sum of $1,753.65, $1,110 of which, it was explained, was for additional depth piling had to be driven to get to bed rock. The matter went over for one week.

H. D. Clark was nominated for policeman by mayor and confirmed by council; Dustman voting no.

Street Superintendent stated that he thought he would have the approaches to Eighth street bridges completed by Wednesday night.

Inspection of bridges and approval by council as a whole as per visit last week was ordered placed on record.

Question of fire protection for same was referred to committee and council adjourned.

F. Webb is pleased to announce that he is now ready to accept any contract for general house decorating—Phone 44. 4t.

A GIANT RAINBOW.

Seattle Printer Holds Record for Year With a 32-Inch Fish Weighing Ten Pounds.

A number of campers and vacationists have already been enjoying an outing on the Elwha, tho the fishing is not at its best until August. Chas. D'Ahda, linotyper of Seattle, and two friends came out Tuesday after spending a week at Humes. They report splendid sport, catching 120 trout from eight to eleven inches in one day in the Lillian. They got one rainbow 32 inches long, weighing 10 pounds and packed him in for exhibition in Seattle. Four and five pound steelheads are fairly plentiful.

Among the parties going up river, was one from Illinois, outfitted with pneumatic mattresses, tables, chairs, and steel tent poles—things the average man can get along very conveniently without; they were going right thru to the Basin.

Fishing is also good at the Olympic Hot Springs, Mr. Schoffel catching several 12-inch trout within the limits of the camp.

MOUNTAINEERS TOMORROW

Will be Taken to McDonald Bridge on the Elwha River in Private Automobiles.

The Mountaineers, on their seventh Annual Outing, will arrive in Port Angeles on the Steamer Sol Duc from Seattle, tomorrow morning, August 2nd.

There will be over one hundred in the party, according to a letter received by the Commercial Club, from their secretary in Seattle.

The Commercial Club acceded to the request of the organization, that they be transported from Port Angeles to McDonald Bridge from which point they take the trail up the Elwha, coming out by Grays Harbor on August 23rd.

Inasmuch as transportation to the bridge has been guaranteed by the Commercial Club, free of charge, all private owners of automobiles in the city have been asked to take out a load and they have generously responded to the request.

The first section will leave for the bridge at 8:30 a. m., and the second about two hours later.

All private machine owners, who have signified their willingness to take a load of passengers, are requested to be present at 8:30 a. m.

LANTHORN & GEISNESS.

Judge Lanthorn, a lawyer who has recently taken up his residence in Port Angeles and who has had his offices in the Aldwell building, this week formed a partnership with Professor Geisness, late superintendent of city schools, and their offices are now in the Opera House block. Professor Geisness was admitted to the bar a couple of years ago, but his relation to the schools kept him from actual practice until this summer. He is a student and scholar besides a good business man and the firm ought to be a strong reliable one, professionally.

WHY THE THISTLE FOREST?

Wouldn't it be a fine move in the right direction if the mayor and city council would take some action toward the destruction of the thistles that are flourishing so luxuriantly all over our city? We would suggest that they adjourn long enough from their next meeting to take a stroll up on Francis street, near the bridge and silently ponder over the annihilation of the vast army of thistles standing guard over the bridge. Surely it is anything but a good advertisement for that portion of the city and someone should be compelled to proclaim war.

RUMORS.

Before the United States intervenes in Mexico, the adminstration should investigate and learn the truth, if possible, of the rumors that American money fo mented and financed the Madero revolution, that American money again organized and financed the subsequent Diaz-Huerta uprising and that American money is either financing or resisting the present disturbance. This, with a view of bringing to justice men heartless enough and selfish enough to envoke the horrors of civil warfare for private ends. Before the United States, too, intervenes in Mexico, assuming such intervention either warranted, possible or innocent of disagreeable results to this country, the administration should investigate the rumor that American intervention is desired as a money-making scheme for Huerta and his clique—a clique that report has it will profit financially some foreign diplomats in Mexico City if the plot is successful. The administration should learn the truth regarding the rumor that anti-American demonstrations are hatched in Mexico and false reports of insurgent outrages sent out for the purpose of forcing American intervention or recognition. And before Ambassador Wilson is allowed to return to his post in Mexico City, he should be compelled to explain his connection with the Huerta regime and his telegram of recommendation following the murder of Madero, that the Huerta government be recognized.

There may be no word of truth in all these rumors, but they are both ugly and persistent. They have been made in the East, have been printed in various newspapers throughout the United States and so far have gone without specific, definite denial, notwithstanding the fact that they have been printed not once, but repeatedly and with boldness and emphasis. If the Monroe Doctrine gives us the right to exercise a sort of protection over Central America countries from the possible aggressions of European powers, it certainly gives the power to protect these same countries from the rapacity of certain of our most greedy citizens. And if the Monroe Doctrine confers no such power, it is inherent in common humanity, a sense of fair play and ordinary justice. It is just these rumors that add to the difficulties of the Mexican situation, and our people must be concerned in them more deeply than in the welfare of Mexico whose problems we should avoid shouldering, if such avoidance is humanely possible.—Aberdeen World.

"The world owes much to the phrase-maker. In language fine as carved marble great truths are sometimes expressed in simple sentences. The man who coined the phrase, 'Invisible Government,' in reference to the methods of big business in controlling legislation builded better than he knew. The expose at Washington recently by one Col. Martin M. Mulhall, ar one time paid lobbyist of the National Association of Manufacturers, is one of the biggest political scandals of the age. The revelations in the expose are such as to make the common people, the men and women who send men to represent them in high office, think more than twice when they go to the polls. The system, as shown by the expose, included United State senators, congressmen, committee clerks and even office boys, all working for the 'interests' as against the people, and each acting as a spy on the other. Secret correspondence between the officers of the association and the hirelings, uncovered since the skeleton was dragged from the closet, lays bare the whole scheme of corruption, and has well nigh had the effect of a political earthquake in congressional circles. Men prominent in the business and politics of the nation are tarred by the same brush, and only a sweeping inquiry will prove the deep waters into which the principles have been plunged. Let us hope that the aftermath of the inquiry to be made will find a trail of resignations, compulsory or voluntary, from the public service of every tainted oficial."—Saturday Review.

STATE GAINS SCHOOL LANDS.

Commissioner Savidge Secures 490,000 Acres Now in Reserves.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 19.—After several weeks of conference with officials of the interior and agricultural departments, Attorney-General Tanner and Land Commissioner Savidge of the State of Washington have reached an agreement with the federal government under which the state will relinquish all claim to 490,000 acres of school lands situated within the forest reserves and will be permitted by the government to make selections in compact bodies of an equal area of forest reserve lands, which will be eliminated from the reserves.

As yet no written agreement between the state and the government has been signed, but such agreement is now in course of preparation and, it is expected, will be promulgated in the near future. In addition to this land it is expected that the state will be permitted by the government to make a selection of 32,000 acres of forest reserve land to compensate it for losses due to homesteaders who settled upon school sections prior to survey and whose entries are now being contested by the state. If this latter adjustment is made the state will receive the equivalent of the school lands lost through homesteading, and the state's contest against homesteaders will be dropped, thus insuring the homesteaders patent from the government.

Perfection of this exchange of lands will net the state approximately $15,000,000 for the records show that the average price at which the state lands have sold has been $22 per acre, and, since 1901, timber has been sold separately from the land, thus bringing the average price for 12 years to $30 per acre. It is expected that lands acquired by the state under this exchange will be worth fully that amount.

TUBAL CAIN WORK TO RESUME

Twelve-Hundred Foot Tunnel to Be Extended Into Mountain.

Work in the Tubal Cain mining property in the Olympics, about fifteen miles from Quilcene, will be resumed in a short time. The company has a tunnel into the mountain a distance of 1200 feet and this will be further driven during the present season. The company has been doing development work on the property for about eight years and has expended a large sum of money. The members of the company have faith in the existence of a big ledge of copper ore, shown by the surface croppings and the work already done in the tunnel. A number of stringers from the main ledge have been cross-cut, showing a high percentage of copper, together with a small amount of gold. Mining engineers have reported very favorably on the property and the tunnel is being driven with the expectation of tapping the main ore body at great depth.

The successful development of the Tubal Cain will give a decided impetus to prospecting and mining in the Olympics, as it will demonstrate the presence of mineral in paying quantities and the permanence of the country.—Townsend Leader.

Quite a number of printers are using Linotype silhouettes for ornaments on letter heads, envelopes, etc. Among the specimens found in our mail this month two particularly neat ones are from the Port Angeles (Wash.) If those promised week-long tariff speeches could be recorded by a phonograph, then the deliverers be made to hear the records through, it's a pretty safe bet that they never would be delivered.

The New York Evening Post says that "the state superintendent of public instruction has, for many years, been a woman." The paper leaves us at that, without even hinting at what she was before.

If the voters of Colorado had any idea that the senators elected by them would vote for free sugar and free wool, neither of them would have been elected. This is admitted.

Politics will be boiling in 1914. Thirty-two United States senators are to be chosen by direct ballot, seventeen republicans and fifteen democrats.

The navy collection of 130,000 finger prints must look a good deal like a popular novel after a few weeks in a circulation library.

TUBERCULOSIS CAMPAIGN.

Skagit County Has Taken Lead in State in Work to Prevent Spread of Disease.

Skagit county is holding a second annual tag day to raise money for the maintenance of a visiting tuberculosis nurse. During the past ten months ninety-six cases have been traced and cared for in the one county, Skagit leading the state in the work.

Wonderful stimulus and inspiration was given the tuberculosis campaign in Washington during the annual meeting of the Washington Association for the Prevention and Relief of Tuberculosis recently held in Tacoma. The presence of Dr. Livingston Farrand, executive secretary of the National Tuberculosis Association, brought out a full attendance of delegates. Surprise at the work accomplished by the association in their three years' campaign was expressed by Dr. Farrand and other national speakers. All urged the necessity of encouraging county commissioners to provide funds for visiting nurses in their tax levy in August. The vital importance of preventing the spread of the disease throughout the family and of conducting a thorough campaign about tuberculosis in the schools was also emphasized.

The most effective way of accomplishing these things is through the services of a competent visiting nurse who has had the necessary training and experience for the work. The maps showing the parts of the state reached by the association through lectures, motion pictures and organization trips and especially those showing counties considering hospital or visiting nurse care created much favorable comment. A resolution urgently inviting the National Tuberculosis Association to meet on Puget Sound in 1915 was enthusiastically adopted and favorable action by the National Association is hoped for.

It is your business to protect your own home by helping secure a visiting nurse for your county. The association stands ready to furnish statistics and other data and be of all possible assistance. Write to 915 Cobb building, Seattle.

An experienced chauffeur was taking the perfunctory State examination to determine his fitness to be licensed. The usual questions were asked which to an expert chauffeur are as child's play, yet upon his intelligent answers of them depended his license. All went well until the examiner asked:

"And now what would you do if you were driving the car and you met a skittish horse that was plainly afraid, whose owner held up his hand to you to stop?"

"Well," answered the chauffuer, "I could stop the car, take it immediately apart and hide the pieces in the grass."

"You have no idea," said Ethel, "how my poor head hurts me."

"Well," said her friend, "why don't you take your hair off and rest it?"

YOU CAN HELP PURE FOOD CRUSADE

By HOLLAND.

EVERY ONE appreciates the importance of pure food All appreciate the danger in adulteration, the risk in substitution.

You can aid the pure food movement and at the same time aid yourself. How? Merely by buying articles that are of known purity and merit.

How can you know these articles? By watching the advertising columns in this paper and in other papers. Manufacturers who advertise have confidence in their goods and are willing to have themselves and their products known. Makers of substitutes and "just-as-goods" usually hide behind anonymity or use a meaningless firm name or brand.

PROTECT YOURSELF BY PROTECTING THE PUBLIC.

There can be no better guarantee of the purity and merit of an article than the fact that it is widely advertised.

MR. LITTLEFIELD MEMBER W.L.C.

Members of the Woman's Literary Club have been quite jubilant during the past two weeks, owing to the fact of our absent member, formerly Mrs. S. S. Lovejoy who spent the winter in Maine, having returned to her home and us, as Mrs. Harold R. Littlefield, a bride. While we were delighted to have our old friend and club sister with us again, we were also eager to welcome our new honorary member to our ranks. We did not want to appear over-anxious, however, so we curbed our impatience till Saturday evening, July 26, when about twenty-five W. L. Cites called in a body at their home on 12th and Pine stseets. We found the house dark and Mr. Littlefield was at home alone. To say that he was non plussed is putting it mildly. We did not wait for the invitation to "enter," which he plainly forgot to extend, but went in and proceeded to make our selves at home. After recovering from his astonishment our host entered very heartily into the spirit of the game. When Mrs. Littlefield returned the house was dark, but occupied; we were scattered from kitchen to parlor. Her entrance was the signal for lights; when, of course, introductions and congratulations followed, after which the evening was very pleasantly passed with cards and general conversation. Light refreshments were served and Mrs. LaFlower, in behalf of the club, presented Mr. and Mrs. Littlefield with a beautiful cut glass bowl and six salad forks. The adoption of Mr. Littlefield as an honorary member of the W. L. C. was unanimous. May they always be as happy as they were on the evening of our quiet charivari.

A MEMBER.

H. D. COX HAS BOUGHT INTEREST OF MR. FULMER

Mr. H. D. Cox has purchased an interest in the Fulmer Undertaking business and will live in the new building on Fourth street, between Oak and Laurel. Mr. Cox is well known here, having cared for Mr. Fulmer's business during his absence last year, and during the past two months. He is an undertaker of experience, and is ably assisted by Mrs. Cox in all special cases. The firm mane will be Fulmer Undertaking Co. and they will be uunsually well equipped for all funeral work in the new building, which will be ready for occupancy before the first of next month. "The best service possible," is the motto of the new firm.

FRANK COLLINS.

Frank Collins, a charter member of P. A. Aerie 483 F. O. E., died Sunday morning, the 3rd, in Seattle, following an operation for cancer. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon by Seattle Aerie, No. 1, F. O. E., arrangements having been made by Secretary Gehrke of the local lodge who went to Seattle for the purpose. Burial was in the Eagles block in a Seattle cemetery.

Mr. Collins was a native Ohioan, 56 years old, and had no relatives here, where he has lived for a number of years, first in the employ of the Crescent Logging Co., and later of the Olympic Power Co. He had a daughter in Chicago, two brothers in Benton Harbor, Michigan, and a wife in Los Angeles.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Port Angeles Commercial Club will be held next Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 at the library room. A large attendance is earnestly requested.

A meeting to discuss plans for a more successful Sunday school will be held after services next Sunday at the Congregational church. All, old and young as well, are urged to attend.

A CARD TO THE PUBLIC.

Robert Kennett, of Seattle, has bought the Fulmer Photo Studio at Port Angeles, and is open for business. Any work in the photo line he is capable of doing, having been in the photo business over thirty years and in business in Seattle since 1906, where he owned and ran the Pythian Studio at 1431 First avenue for the last five years. Call and see me. I know I can please you. I remain,

Respectfully,
R. KENNETT.

The board rejected the claim of Gust Hedin for removing the carcass of a dead horse.

The board examined and approved the following bonds:

J W Pike, game warden.

Chas G Huber, contractor on Dungeness bridge.

Upon report of the county treasurer the board ordered the auditor to issue a warrant upon the current expense fund in favor of said treasurer in the sum of $5.04 in redepmtion of certificate of delinquency No. 4183, issued against lot 3 in section 34-28-13, said property being state land.

G. W. Critchfield having filed his affidavit that block 23 in the townsite of Edgewood had been assessed for the year 1912 both as acreage and platted property, and that he had made a one-half payment upon said taxes, the board ordered that said assessment upon block 23 be cancelled and that the auditor issue to said Critchfield a warrant upon the Current expense fund in the sum of $2.18, the amount due him upon said half payment.

Upon the report of the County Treasurer, the board ordered the auditor to issue a warrant upon the current expense fund in favor of said treasurer in the sum of $123.12 in redemption of certificate of delinquency No. 3408, issued against the sw qr sw qr, section 16-30-4, said property being state land.

The board received the report of the county game commission of their appointment of J. W. Pike and F. Snow as county game warden and deputy county game warden, fixing their salaries at $85.00 and $10 per month respectively, and ordering the auditor to issue warrants upon the game protection fund for said salaries upon the first Monday of each month.

Considering it to the best interest of the county and all concerned, the board deeded the tract of land at Dungeness used as a county cemetery, to the Dungeness Cemetery association, a duly incorporated organization.

The board adopted the following resoluion:

"Whereas, There is in the hands of the county treasurer the sum of $147.50 to the credit of the Dungeness Cemetery fund, and

"Whereas, The County of Clallam has by its proper officers duly conveyed the tract of land owned and used as a cemetery at Dungeness to the Dungeness Cemetery association, a corporation duly organized and incorporated for the purpose of properly maintaining and beautifying cemetery grounds,

"The County Auditor is therefore hereby authorized and directed to issue to R. H. Blake, the treasurer of said Dungeness Cemetery association, a warrant on the Dungeness cemetery fund for said sum of $147.50."

A petition for the repair of approaches to the Elwha river ferry was received and filed.

The auditor was ordered to advertise the intention of the county commissioners to sell a tract of land containing about six acres in nw qr ne qr nw qr, sec. 3 30 6, an application and offer for same having been filed with the board.

In the matter of the application of John Larkin for the reduction of taxes upon blocks 6 and 8 of tide lands in front of Syndicate First addition to the Town of Port Angeles, and blocks 2 and 22 of tide lands in front of Syndicate Second addition to the Town of Port Angeles the board finds from the records and files of the county assessor and county treasurer that for the years 1909, 1910 and 18912 said land was excessively assessed beyond their true and cash value and more than corresponding land of like character in their immediate neighborhood and we hereby consent that upon the payment of $158.94 by said Larkin for the said taxes, interest and penalties for the said years, that we will not protest against a reduction in a court of record for the excess of said sum, and it is further odered that the auditor issue a warrant upon the current expense fund in favor of the county treasurer in the sum of $62.24 in redemption of certificate of delinquency No. 3506, issued against said property.

The board then adjourned until Saturday, August 2, 1913, at 9 a. m.

Saturday, August 2, 1913, at 9 a. m.

The board met pursuant to adjournment, all members being present.

At 11 o'clock, the time having arrived for the opening of bids as called for, the board proceeded to open same as follows:

Bids for the permanent highway at Sequim were as follows:

Fitzgerald, Myers and Myers bid $12,489.52

Port Angeles Construction Co., bid $17,750.

D. T. Daniels bid $13,777.44.

Ferch & Gass bid $15,448.60.

The bid of Fitzgerald, Myers and Myers being considered the lowest and bes, they were awarded the contract and contract entered into.

Sloane Bros. bid $20,396.70.

Port Angeles Constructon Co. bid $22,900.00

Carl Gylling bid $29,750.00.

Fitzgerald, Myers and Myers bid $25,567.90.

Sloane Bros. bid being the lowest and best, they were awarded the con tract, and a contract entered into.

For the construction of the approaches to the Elwha river bridge, the bids were as folows:

David Govan bid $21,600.00.

Cotton, Day and Critchfield bid $28.900.00; and Sloane Bros. bid $22,-400.00.

The bid of David Govan being the lowest and best, he was awarded the contract, and a contract entered into, after the board having adopted the following resolution:

"Whereas, the bridge across the Elwha river on the Burlingame road has been washed out and totally destroyed, and

"Whereas, due to that fact, almost all travel across said river is prohibited and made impossible, and a great hardship is worked especially upon the residents living west of said river.

"Be it resolved that an emergency is hereby declared and that said bridge and the approaches thereto be at once rebuilt, and that the cost of the same, in excess of the $35,000.00 appropriated from the Road Bond rund, be paid by the issuance of warrants upon the General Road and Bridge fund."

The board then adjourned until Monday, September 1, 1913, at 9 a. m.

NOW IN QUEETS PARK.

The Mountaineers, over a hundred strong, arrived in Angeles Saturday morning and after partaking of breakfast were taken in private automobiles to McDonald bridge, where Grant Humes was waiting for them with his pack train. The weather was fine and they left Angeles in high spirits, feeling most grateful to the Commercial Club and the many citizens who provided the automobiles for their transportation. President Lauridson and Secretary Pearce were right on hand early in the morning looking after the automobiles and seeing that the visitors were extended every courtesy within their power. A most delightful trip is anticipated by all the moutaineers who came mostly from Seattle, Tacoma and Everett.

Harold S. Hagen, of The Tacoma Ledger, was in town Thursday, after spending three weeks at Lake Crescent. He left the same day on the Sol Duc.

Miss Verna Wolverton went to Seattle Thursday to spend a week, visiting with friends.

Miss Ruth Gould was a passenger for Seattle Thursday.

DALE'S STORE

YOU CAN HAVE A WEALTH OF BEAUTIFUL HAIR

Nothing equals an aureole of beautiful hair as a frame for a pretty face. Without a background of nice hair a really pretty face frequently becomes plain and, with it, unattractive features assume life and beauty.

Every woman can increase her natural charm by using Newbro's Herpicide. Herpicide makes hair beautiful. The dandruff germ saps the vitality of the hair. Herpicide applied intelligently and regularly checks this destruction of hair life and prevents the hair from falling out, giving it a snap and luster, a soft, silky fluffiness which can be acquired in no other way.

Newbro's Herpicide in 30c and $1 sizes is guaranteed to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

Mrs. Caroline Bartlett Crane, one of the nation's noted sanitary surveyors, after a trip over the state, declared that the Washington State Board of Health, under the guidance of Dr. Eugene R. Kelley, is accomplishing great things for this commonwealth. She especially praised the work of Mrs. McCredie, of Sunnyside, member of the state board. Mrs. Crane came to Washington under the auspices of the State Federation of Women's Clubs and state board of health, and while she will make no extensive surveys she will conduct as thorough investigation as the allotted time will permit and then announce her ideas of needed corrections from the platform. She has been in Seattle during the past week, where she inspected the sanitary conditions and gave lectures on the results of her investigations. While in Washington Mrs. Crane visited Spokane, North Yakima, Prosser, Ellensburg, Tacoma and a number of other cities. Mrs. Crane was principally responsible for the recent action of the agricultural department in placing beef under the control of the pure food authorities.

To get the lowest electric rate possible for their cities, attorneys and engineers representing twenty-two municipalities in Yakima, Benton, Franklin and Walla Walla counties, met in North Yakima Saturday to prepare for the hearing to be held late this summer before the state public service commission to fix the valuation of the electric power properties of the Pacific Power & Light Co., in this state. The total valuation which is expected to be between ten and fifteen million dollars, will be used as the basis for rates for current which the commission will fix for each community.

The American Commission on agriculture co-operation, of which State Senator Ralph Metcalf of Tacoma and Representative C. C. Black, of Garfield county, are the Washington memers, has returned from its European investigation. The commission has obtained a mass of valuable data, which it expects to submit to Congress before the end of the present year. A letter outlining the commission's work will be sent to the governors of the states represented, and to farmers' organizations and agricultural institutions throughout the country. The work of the commission relates to the credit systems that extend aid to the farmers for the development of agricultural lands and other means of co-operation among producers.

Seth Mann, the personal representative of President Wilson on the Seattle Chamber of Commerce 8000 mile excursion trip through Alaska, upon his return to Seattle last week, stated that he believes the transportation and coal question is the big problem of Alaska. "Solution of the transportation problem," said Mr. Mann, " will settle most of the other important questions affecting Alaska. I do not mean the construction of railroads alone, but the improvement and maintenance of trails and roads and the building of new ones. The great cry of all Alaska just now is for the opening of coal fields for actual development work."

The trading stamp law, passed by the United States Circuit court. The law provided for a tax of $6,000 on trading stamps and that the use of trading stamps and similar devices is a legitimate method of advertising and that those who employ that system are entitled to the protection of the United States.

The conventions of the Northwest Merchants' Association, which is to take place in Seattle on August 18 to 23, gives every indication that it will be a success beyond the expectations of the Seattle Sales Managers' Association, under whose auspices it will be held. More than four thousand invitations have been sent out to the merchants of Washington, Oregon and Idaho, and hundreds of acceptances are now being recorded and but very few declinations. The big Industrial Fair, which is to be held in connection with the convention, is to be the largest event of the kind ever held in the northwest. The exhibitors are planning to install manufacturing machinery and the Armory will be turned into one vast manufacturing plant.

The trading stamp law, passed by the last session of the legislature, has been declared unconstitutional by the United States Circuit court. The law provided for a tax of $6000 on trading stamp companies for every county in which they operated. Judge F. H. Rudkin, who wrote the opinion, stated that the use of trading stamps and similar devices is a legitimate method of advertising and that those who employ that system are entitled to the protection of the constitution of the United States.

THE OPPORTUNITY OF THE RURAL SCHOOL

Laura H. Wild, writing in Suburban Life Magazine for July on "The Opportunity of the Rural School," believes in making country and farm life appeal to boys and girls already there who might otherwise be tempted cityward. In this connection she quotes Prof. Hart, of Amhurst Agricultural college: "Is it not possible to make language lessons more nearly descriptive of wnat the children see and do in their daily lives, writing up the episodes of vacation with less of the bookish work now done in the name of language?

"Will not an outline of the farm boundaries with the proper location of the buildings, roadways, gardens, orchards, pastures, meadows, grain fields and groves afford ample materials for elementary work in both drawing and geography?

"Is there not fully as much botany in ragweeds and dog fennel as in ferns and mosses, in corn and cabbage as in seaweeds and pond scum?

"Is there not some zoology in a brood of chickens, as well as in the minute animals found in stagnant water?

"Is there not something about the winds, the rain, the heat, the cold, the light, the dark, quite as worthy of consideration as the motions of the stars, or perchance the movements of Ceasar's army in Gual?

"Is not the chemistry of soil-improvement which looks farmward fully as educational as the chemistry of soap-improvement which looks factoryward?"

HOW MUCH DOES STATE OWE.

Just how big the entire state debt may be, including the debts of the state, the counties, the different municipalities, the school districts and all other taxing bodies, is something the state bureau of inspection will seek to ascertain next year. as yet it has been absolutely impossible to get accurate statements concerning this, but the bureau hopes to do so next January. At that time statements will be called for from all municipalities asking the officers to show the bonded and warrant debt, the cash on hand, the uncollected taxes and the like of the district. This is information that has never been compiled as yet.

No one has ever been able to figure out just how much the taxpayers of Washington are paying out in interest charges, and the bureau seeks to get at this point. It is believed if the public can once be shown how much goes in interest that they will be less tolerant with public officials who exceed the estimated cost of running the different departments.—P. I.

A scientist of London says that man must eventually perish because "his head will develop until he becomes a human cabbage, as it were." We have evidence a-plenty that some men's heads have developed almost to the cabbage stage, "as it were," already.

The small boy who gets a job in a soap factory is not envied by the rest of his comrades.

Stumps and logs have eyes and ears and if the parties who were seen taking the pail of berries out of Wm. O'Brien's buggy and scurrying away with it will return the pail and the price of the berries to Critchfield's Camp on McDonald creek there will be nothing said, but if not —well, if a pail of stolen berries is more to them than their name it's up to them. The parties that were eye witnesses to the act said nothing at the time, because they naturally supposed that anyone that would walk up and lift anything out of a rig and hurry off with it had a right to do so. The party's name who saw the act will not be disclosed, but the name of the party who did the act most certainly will unless they do the right thing.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

Tenders will be received up to noon on Saturday, August 30, 1913, for the erection and completion of 15 bungalows in the city of Port Angeles, Washington.

HERMAN JOHNSON RESIDENCE BURNS.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Johnson have the sympathy of their friends in the loss of their home by fire last Tuesday afternoon. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it started in the flat roof of the kitchen and was well under way before discovered and the scarcity of water made it impossible to act quickly, only a tiny stream dripping from the garden hose nozzle. For some days the family had been practically without water in their own yard, owing to an accumulation of rubbish in the stub end of the main. The fire company was unable to do anything because the boys took one hose cart and no extra hose at first, even tho it was considered doubtful if the hose would reach the house. For a time Geist's fine house was also in danger from flying sparks and Al Goodwin's house caught fire, but little damage was done, and that only by water, which leaked through the roof. Mr. Johnson carried $800 insurance on the house and $600 on the furniture and as they saved all the furniture downstairs the loss was practicalyl all on the house.

The Opera House was well filled Saturday evening to see the "Untangling of Tony," as staged by Professor Murray and his class of pupils in dramatic art. It was an amusing little play and some of the young ladies surprised their friends with the dramatic ability they displayed. Miss Marjorie Weeks presented a most pleasing stage appearance and Mayme Thompson, the youngest member of the class was very good indeed. Hazel Hooker carried out the humorous character well, while Mrs. Harris, Marcella Schweitzer and Connie Hoare took the more dignified parts. Professor Murray, as Tony, had all kinds of love affairs, which Mr. Warby conveniently helped him out of and in the end all turns out lovely. Miss Blanche Guy was an attractive feature of the evening's entertainment, with her clever dancing and singing. Mrs. Guy acted as her accompanist on the piano.
