INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT AT HURD'S CREEK BRIDGE

Machine With Ben Taylor and Roy McGillivray As Occupants Jumps Bank at Swift Turn in Sequim Road And Lands in River Below.

Dr. McGillivray's brother, Charles Roy McGillivray of Toronto, who has been a guest of the doctor and his sister, Mrs. Walter Taylor, for the past ten days, and Ben Taylor, brother of Dr. Taylor had a close call in an automobile accident last Saturday afternoon in driving to Sequim. The had Dr. Taylor's auto which Ben Taylor has been accustomed to running this summer and the two young men were going to Sequim to pay a visit to Dr. Wm. Taylor. Crossing the bridge over Hurd's creek there is a very bad curve with a number of ruts in the road just at the end of the bridge, where it is necessary to slow up considerably. Mr. Taylor, not being familiar with the road, didn't slow up and the car went into one of the ruts and bounded up in the air, turning completely over in the rocky bed of the river, making a fall of about twenty feet. Mrs. Pettit of Dungeness, who is camping on the river, saw the accident and gave the alarm which brot several men who were working on the roads and in the woods near by, to the rescue of the young men who were pinned down under the car. Doctors McGillivray and Taylor were phoned for and the young men taken to Sequim where their injuries were attended to. Mr. McGillivray had his leg broken in two places and his back hurt, while Mr. Taylor had a badly cut head and both were terribly bruised and suffering from the shock. Mr. McGillivray was brot home that evening to the Taylor Hospital where his sister could nurse him and he is resting comfortably. Ben Taylor remained at Sequim a few days but is back in the city and recovering nicely from his injuries. Mr. Charles McGillivray is a graduate of the University of Toronto and is a student at Knox College, Toronto, where he will graduate as a Presbyterian minister. He has been assisting at a church in Nelson, B. C. for the summer and had just taken a few days vacation to come and visit his brother and sister, but he will be compelled now to remain several weeks probably.

As a result of the accident Dr. Walter Taylor is sporting a new machine, his other one being almost an entire wreck.

PORT ANGELES-VICTORIA CABLE NOW REPAIRED

35,000 Feet of Wire Necssary to Complete Circuit—To Be Finished at Once.

Telegraph communication is to be re-established between this city and Victoria, according to B. A. Edwards, of the local Western Union office.

It may be remembered that some months ago, the only cable between here and Victoria, known as the Port Angeles-Victoria cable, broke on account of the tide, just off Albert Head on the British side, and the task of repairing same has been undertaken and in charge of a Mr. Gillette of San Francisco. A vessel belonging to the Pacific Salvidge Co. is being used and some 33,000 feet of cable are necessary to finish the work.

This cable is to be finished immediately and communication to again begin at once.

ANOTHER NEWSPAPER!

It seems that Port Angeles is not only to have three papers, but four, if the present plans of some of our Socialist friends are to be carried out. Mr. Boomer, of Edmonds, a newspaper man is in the city and proposes to assist in the starting of a Socialist paper here if the promoters can raise the wind.

BRIEF NEWS.

A good many, perhaps, besides the decent people of Port Angeles are wishing that the great "carnival" attraction had stayed away from this city.

After all, General Felix Diaz has been recalled. He will not visit Japan to thank the Mikado. The Mikado, possibly hearing of his intended visit, is "not at home" and will not receive Diaz officially, anyway.

Articles of Incorporation of the Port Angeles Building and Investment Company have been filed with the auditor. The incorporators are all Seattle men.

The Board of Equalization is taking a recess and will contiune hearing again this week.

Work will probably be started on the piers of the new Elwha bridge this week. The contractors have been waiting for favorable low water and that seems to be here at this time. The bridge must be completed by January 1, 1913.

President C. J. Erickson of the Erickson Construction Co., having the contract for the building of the Seattle, Port Angeles and Lake Crescent railway, was here this week from Seattle looking over the work. He is well pleased with the progress made, and is making every effort to rush matters in construction to the westward. The big steam shovel at the east end of the city limits is working night and day crews, and is making a wonderful showing in the big cut. The plans are to get the west part of the road complete by next April, when it is expected that the big Earles mill will be ready to eat up a considerable amount of logs.

The Manhattan Canning Co.'s plant at E street and the water front is a busy scene these days. The plant has recently been thoroughly overhauled and new machinery installed, and now all this is in good working order and fish are being packed at the rate of a thousand cases a day. The output for this year, in a short season, is expected to reach 40,000 to 50,000 cases. Three steamers, some bringing scow loads, as well as deck loads of fish, are kept busy bringing fish to the cannery, and these cannot keep the plant to capacity.

Miss Cecil Smith returned yesterday from an extended visit to upsound points, and with her grandmother, Mrs. J. B. Cosser at Burlington, Skagit county.

Miss "Toot" Frances Dye and brother, Arthur, of Seattle, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Haswell, the latter's sister, returned yesterday from a ten days' stay at Marymere, Lake Crescent, which they enjoyed immensely.

Mine Host J. F. Rudisile of the Clallam Hotel, Clallam Bay, is in the city on business.

The Loyal Order of Moose will give a dance at the Opera House, Saturday, August 30. Be sure to attend.

Miss McMillian, of Victoria, is in the city and contemplates making this her home. She is a violin teacher of reputation.

BOAT TRAFFIC INCREASING!

When one meets the incoming and outgoing steamers these days he hardly realizes that he is in his home city Port Angeles. Of the great numbers traveling to and from the metropolis so few of the faces are familiar that one can almost imagine himself watching those coming and going in another city. This, of course, only emphasizes what we say in another column of this being the busiest little spot on the Pacific coast at this time.

DID YOU EVER NOTICE?

When a duck lays an egg she just waddles off as if nothing had happened.

When a hen lays an egg there is a hell of a noise.

ALREADY FORTY-FOUR MOTHERS GET PENSIONS

Out of Sixty-Nine Some Are Denied and Others Taken Under Advisement.

Forty-four out of 69 applications for mothers' pensions have been approved by Judge Clifford to date. The average amount allowed was $21.70. Some of the other 25 applications were denied and others taken under advisement.

Contrary to the opinion of a number of the other judges in the state who hear the pension petitions, Judge Clifford does not construe the law to mean that divorced women, having dependent children, whose decrees were obtained on grounds other than desertion, are not entitled to relief. Because the law specifies "deserted" wives and makes no reference to divorced women, several courts have denied pensions to divorced women. Judge Clifford construes the law to cover cases of women and children in need of assistance and says he will act accordingly until overruled by a higher court.

"There have been no evidences of the 'graft' which many people feared would appear as soon as this law went into effect," said Judge Clifford. "All the applicants examined in this court apparently have been candid and truthful and asked for the pension in the honest belief that they were entitled to it. Some of the applications denied were those of women whose husbands can be made to assist in the support of the family, and some who will be supplied direct through the charity commissioner."—Tacoma News.

OIL WORK AGAIN RESUMED AT FORKS

Much Higher Grade of Oil Than That of California—Indications Very Favorable.

Work has been resumed at the oil drilling works of the Washington Oil Co., at Forks and with good prospects of a continuance. Some good reports come from this well, with every indication of success in the mission of the company. When the bailer is dumped and a match thrown on the dumping, a flame will leap into the air 5 and 6 feet.

The shaft at this writing is down 920 feet and much gas pressure has been found. The drillers expect that paying quantities will be found after the well has reached a depth of 1000 feet.

The tests of oil that have been made show that it contains 60½ per cent kerosene, 17½ per cent gasoline and 20 per cent of lubricants. It is estimated that it will run in valve $2.50 or $3 a barrel, a much higher grade than California oil.

"The indications are the best," said Manager U. H. Filio, "as the well has been in shale for 700 feet. There is a large area covering 400 square miles of the same kind of land as that upon which the well is situated."

Almost anywhere, it is reported, traces of gas and oil can be found by picking in the top soil with a stick.

VANCOUVER MAN RENTS THOMPSON HOUSE

Lou Thompson has rented his handsome resident on First street to Mr. Chas. Tucker, of Vancouver, owner of considerable real estate in Port Angeles and purchaser of the Amelia Goldwater property. Mr. Thompson and the children will go to Boise, Idaho and if they like it will remain for the winter, if not, they will go to California. Mr. Thompson says he is in search of an ideal spot in which to spend the winter.

MOOSE DANCE.

The Loyal Order of Moose Lodge No. 991 will give a dance at the Opera House on Saturday, August 30. The Moose lodge here has always been successful in its entertainments and expetcs everybody to have a good time as the best music will be furnished as well as the best people attend. They will do all in their power to make it enjoyable. The tickets will be 50c for gentlemen and 25c for ladies. The grand march will begin at 9 o'clock sharp.

WHAT CAUSES MILD CLIMATE

Professor Thom Says Japan Current Theory is Merely a William Tell Yarn.

Is the mild climate of Western Washington caused by the Japan Current? The geography book has always said so and most people believe so, but Clarke C. Thom, Professor of Agronomy at the State College of Washington, in an address before the Puyallup Summer School stirred up all kinds of discussions by declaring that the Japan Current had nothing to do with it. Professor Thom explained that the Japan Current at the nearest point was more than a thousand miles away; that the temperature of the Current is 68 degrees at Honolulu and that winds from the Pacific Coast are often much warmer than this.

"Climate and Soil Relationship to the Crop Production of Western Washington," was the theme of Professor Thom's address. He explained first of all the causes of the humid climate of the Puget Sound country. It is not the Japan Current but the proximity of a great body of water, the prevailing westerly winds and the mountains that cause the mild and humid climate. Puget Sound and the Pacific Ocean act as a great tempering body in both summer and winter. This is because of what is known as the specific heat of water. By specific heat is meant the number of units of heat required to raise water one degree. More heat is required to raise the temperature of water than of almost any other substance; likewise in cooling water gives off more heat than any other substance. Because of this the water bodies of the Puget Sound country absorb heat in summer thus keeping the temperature down. In winter the reverse is true; the water bodies give off heat and prevent the temperaturefrom dropping to a very low point. Because of this Western Washington has a temperature of 38 to 68 degrees Fahrenheit, while Eastern Washington has a temperature range from 22 to 76 Fahrenheit.

The other great factors in the climate of Western Washington are the westerly winds and the Olympic and Cascade mountains. In the first place these winds are tempered by the ocean and consequently they carry the ocean effects for many miles inland. As these winds come over the ocean they are saturated and warm; when they strike the Olympic mountains and begin to rise they are cooled and rain falls. Therefore, when a body of saturated air is forced upward it cools and gives up moisture; when it decends it warms and absorbs moisture. It is this that accounts for the 90 to 130 inches of rain fall in the west side of the Olympics, the 20 to 25 inches in the "Port Townsend-Port Angeles dry belt," the 65 to 90 inches on the west side of the Cascades and the 5 to 12 inches on the east side of the Cascades. This explanation accounts for the heavy rain fall and humid atmosphere of Western Washington.

The soils of Western Washington are two types. I. The upland soil, a clayey, gravelly soil formed by glacial action. 2. The valley soil, a sandy, sedimentary soil which has been deposited by water and which contains much humus. The valley soil is underlaid with water, the water table rising within 4 or 5 feet of the surface. The shaking of the ground in so many of the valleys of Western Washington when a heavy train passes is due to the fact that the valley floats as it were, upon a body of water.

These, then, are the factors which determine the crops of the valleys of Western Washington; a mild climate, neither very hot in summer nor very cold in winter, a heavy rain fall, a humid atmosphere, westerly winds, soil rich in humus and a high water table. Because of these conditions the crops must be those which are shallow feeding and which do not require dry hot weather for ripening. This excludes most of the grains, but makes the Sound country one of the finest berry countries in the world. All succulent fruits and vegetables can be grown. Alfalfa does not do well on the flats because it is a deep feeder and the water table is too near the surface. "Alfalfa does not like wet feet."

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE FOR THAT CARNIVAL?

We are wondering what our city officials are thinking of when they grant licenses to such people as those who made up the Carnival or "Days of '49" shown on our streets last week. It was a disgrace to the town and we doubt not left its curse behind it. More than one poor fellow was cheated out of his weeks' hard earned wages as gambling of all kinds was freely indulged in. We are told drugged drinks of various kinds were also sold, making the partaker of them easy prey for these traveling sharks. The women were coarse and vulgar of the lowest type and no such vile, rotten outfit can come into a town without leaving evil in its trail. We saw enough vulgarity on our streets July 4th without having to have a repitition so soon.

For the sake of our boys and girls, the future citizens of Port Angeles, let us rise up as one family and protest against anything of this kind being allowed in our city again. UPUPON WHOSE SHOULDERS DOES THE RESPONSIBILITY LIE?

REGIMENT OF SOLDIERS TO CAMP AT SEQUIM

If present plans of the military authorities at the Puget Sound forts are carried out there will be an encampment of about 1000 soldiers from forts Worden, Flagler and Casey, at Sequim on Tuesday and Wednesday, August 26th and 27th next.

Colonel Charles J. Bailey, commandant of the Puget sound artillery district, informed J. S. Keeler last Sunday that he would bring the encampment here this year if suitable camping grounds could be had here. Arrangements have been made to use the Athletic park ground and land adjoining.

The camp outfit and provisions are hauled with mule teams, while the men march from the forts. The encampment has heretofore been held at Chimacum, but this year Colonel Bailey decided to give the men a longer march. Part of the exercises will be a sham battle at Dungeness, near the shore, on the 27th.

The army will be accompanied by the military band.—Sequim Press.

THE HAGGARD TRIAL.

The Haggard trial, one of the most notable in criminal jurisdiction, came to and end August 12, the supreme court ruling against Mrs. Haggard who administered the starvation cure to Miss Claire Williamson from the effects of which she died. In lengthy opinion reviewing the case the higher court declares defendant had had a fair trial, and that the lower court tempered justice with mercy in fixing Mrs. Haggard's sentence at from five to twenty years, as the jury found her guilty of manslaughter.

The young city woman visiting in the country had asked to milk the cow. The farmer consented and handed her the pail and milking stool. In a few moments she returned, the stool showing signs of wear.

"What's the matter?" asked the farmer; "couldn't you milk her?"

"No," was the indignant reply. "I couldn't make your old cow sit down on that stool."

DESTROY YOUR NOXIOUS WEEDS

The Law Upon the Subject Is Very Plain—Especially Applicable to Angeles People.

The statutes of the state defines a noxious weed to be "any plant that is or may become detrimental to the agricultural interests of the state," and specifically names the Canadian thistle, Russian thistle, wild mustard and cockleburr as noxious weeds. The common or "bull" thistle is declared to be a noxious weed when found upon agricultural lands, or within the limits of cities or towns.

The state law provides that all such weeds must be cut or destroyed before they go to seed, and makes it the duty of the road supervisor to look after the enforcement of the law. Any person who fails to destroy any of such weeds within ten days after being notified to do so by the road supervisor, may be punished for his neglect or refusal, and the supervisor has the authority to proceed to have the weeds on the lands of any such person destroyed, and the costs thereof shall be levied against the land and collected in the same manner as are taxes.

Many of these weeds are persistent and difficult to eradicate, but there are none that will not give way before dilligent effort. The law is a good one, but it must be strictly observed and enforced if effective results are to be had. A partial observance of the law will not accomplish results, as several season's hard work by one land owner may be rendered useless by the neglect of his neighbor, as the seeds from any of the plants named will spread over a large area in a single season.

Every property owner should have pride enough in the good appearance of his premises so as not to require the invocation of the law.—South Bend Journal.

If Port Angeles property owners have not sufficient pride to try to eradicate the weeds, it is the duty of the authorities to see that they do.

CITY COUNCIL.

Owing to the absence from the city of Councilmen Myers and Wilcox and the vacancy from the Sixth Ward, it remained but for one additional to stay away to prevent a meeting of the council Tuesday night. Mr. Swanson, doubtless not knowing that his absence had such an effect, failed to show up. The other three held forth until 8 o'clock, when they were compelled to give it up for want of a quorum. With the first two named away for the next two weeks, the same thing is likely to happen most any meeting and only emphazizes the necessity of filling the vacancy in the Sixth Ward. It is a strange proceeding to one not on the inside why a practically unanimous petition from the citizens of that ward should not be recognized. The petition recently sent to the council contained 117 names, about the entire number which voted at the last city election.

ANGELES BOOSTER ARTICLE PRINTED BY EASTERN PAPER

Washington, D. C. Post Publishes Interview of William B. Ritchie of this City, Who Is In the East On Business.

"The people of the north Pacific coast are looking forward to the opening of the Panama Canal with an exceedingly keen interest not contemplated on this side of the continent," said William B. Ritchie, of Port Angeles, Wash., at the New Willard.

"A railroad company brave enough to build a territory hitherto seemingly impregnable to competitive attack is burrowing through mountains and building bridges over seemingly impossible rivers to reach Port Angeles, and with the completion of the Panama Canal Port Angeles will become a city worth while. Its natural advantages are incomparable. No harbor, with the exception of Sydney, Australia, can equal that of Port Angeles. Georgraphically, the city is nearer the Orient by a matter of 125 miles than any other port on the Pacific.

"Within a distance that can be reached by a small charge of gasoline there lies a spring known as the Sol Duc Hot Springs resort, which is said by those who have visited it to be the equal of the famous Carlsbad. Many foreigners who have heard of the Sol Duc have come all the way from Europe to benefit from its waters. Withing harking distance of Port Angeles are streams of sparkling silver in which lie trout waiting for the lure of the fisherman, who need not wear wading boots, but merely has to tread the banks of the streams and hurl his bait and find the waiting victims. Port Angeles is a city of today. The other towns that have grown big and prosperous down the sound are those of yesterday. Tomorrow Port Angeles will be declared the likeliest prospect of the north Pacific coast."

The English language is today the most voluminous of any in the world and is constantly growing. Scholars say that an average of 500 words are added yearly and according to the editors of the Standard dictionary soon to be published there are about 400,000 that can be recognized as English words. What is the use? All of these additional words add nothing to the richness of language. How few of them will be used? If any man in the country can master 5000 words so he understands them and use them correctly he has enough for any business that he may engage in, whether he be a merchant, editor or blacksmith. Take Shakespeare, or even Irving or Cooper,—how many of us can express ourselves as well as they did? The trouble is, we forget one half of the words we learn, consequently the language does not grow except between the two covers of the dictionary.

The Port Townsend Leader says that the prediction made that the present run of Sockeye salmon would prove to be the heaviest in the history of the fishing industry on the Sound seems likely of fulfillment, if the numbers of fish received at the local canneries from the banks off the south end of San Juan and elsewhere are to be taken into account. Both Key City and Hillside canneries are daily receiving many thousands of fish and the opinion is gaining ground among those interested that the plants will put up their expected pack in Sockeye alone. Before the season opened it was declared probable that the two plants would secure a hundred and twenty-five thousand cases, but it was added that these would include all varieities of salmon entering the straits during the season. At the present time the two plants have a pack of almost forty thousand cases and fish coming in at the rate of seventy-five thousand a day.

Because of too much alleged activity in the recent labor disturbance the agency for the Seattle Times and Post-Intelligencer has been taken from Robert Shields, agent for the past ten or twelve years, and given to the new stand recently opened by L. M. Harrington, Michael Earles' local representative. Mr. Shields states that the action was summarily taken upon charges made and without giving him a hearing in any manner. Mr. Shields was recently compelled to give up the agency for the Star by these papers. He will hereafter handle the Seattle Sun, Seattle's new paper, started by the better element of Seattle as a protest against the methods of the Seattle Times.

Supporters of the cause of women suffrage from all over the United States gathered in Washington last Wednesday to plead their cause before the nation's lawmakers. The senate, the only body of congress in session, left its tariff work to listen to the suffragists. Delegations from every state in the Union presented to each senator on the floor petitions urging the support of the Chamberlain resolution to amend the federal constitution to confer suffrage on woman, and practically every senator presented the petitions to the senate. Many made speeches declaring their sympathy with the movement and a few announced their intention to vote against the resolution.

Mayor Cotterill will, according to a communication sent to the council, veto twelve renewals of licenses if they are granted, for the reason that the proprietors refused point blank to take any orders from the police in the emergency of Potlatch week. The mayor states that these twelve out of over 300 defied the authorities and are therefore not fit to have special privileges. He commends those who first sought relief through the courts, and adds, "that was entirely within their rights, and when they found a court willing to grant a restraining order without giving any hearing to city officials charged with maintaining order, they were perhaps not to be blamed."

Superior Judge Humphries of King county has the questionable distinction of granting an injunction upon application. It's a poor business day when one or more restraining orders are not granted. The latest was an order against the City of Seattle restraining it from enforcing its pure food law, requiring the screening of edibles on exhibition. He wants the order, says the judge of the applicant, and if it will do him any good, let's let him have it. Another restrains the city upon application of the famous Renton car line from going ahead with the condemnation of Rainier boulevard for city car line purposes.

One of the ironies of fate seem to be manifest in the adoption of a report of a special committee charging Governor Sulzer with wilful and corrupt conduct in office and for high crimes and misdemeanors. He has opposed Tammay's chieftain and the Republican boss persistently, and it is reported that four months ago they boasted that they would have him out of office in six months. A resolution to impeach is now before the New York legislature. Sulzer emphatically denies every charge.

Diaz, Mexico's envoy to Japan, with his retinue, sailed Wednesday from Vancouver for the Orient. His secretary says the reason Diaz is going to Japan is to thank the Mikado in person for the nation's official recognition of Mexico's centenary. Others allege that his mission is to negotiate to give Japan a naval base on the western coast of Mexico. He will meet the deposed president of Mexico in Japan.

Dr. Mathews of the First Presbyterian Church, Seattle, last Sunday spoke on the "Immorality of the Present-Day Dress. Among other things he is quoted as saying, "The average woman's dress is an advertisement. The lack of clothing is indicative of the lack of character. The attractive, the tinsel, and the gaudy summon the girl, and weak willed she falls. Mothers and fathers are to blame for their daughters on the street improperly clad."

Senator Mc Comber of North Dakota in his speech on the tariff question gave some interesting figures regarding the expenditures of the American people. The Americans spend $1,500,000,000 for meat, they pay $2,000,000,000 for liquors, $435,000,000 for flour, $800,000,000 for tobacco, $225,000,000 for potatoes, and $500,000,000 for amusements. This shows how the high cost of living can be cut severely.

Pennsylvania has the most radical primary law yet passed by any Northern or Eastern state. There are to be no more state or district conventions. The state committeemen of the parties and all candidates for delegates to the national conventions are also to be chosen in the same way, and presidential electors are to be named not by the state, but by the respective presidential candidates after they have been nominated in the national convention. Elections this fall will be conducted under the new law.

One hundred million dollars will be distributed through the various country banks of the United States to assist the removal and marketing of crops if necessary. Such is the decision of the Treasury department upon the advise of a threatened stringency of money for this very important movement.. Strange how money seems to loosen up when such a program is threatened.

A number of Americans in Mexico have petitioned the administration to appoint Theodore Roosevelt as ambassador to that troublesome country. There is little danger that the administration will heed the petition, but if it did the Mexican government would soon learn that the United States had an ambassador whose language and intentions were unmistakable.

After all the fuss and feathers about restricting the rights of aliens as to land ownership by the various states now comes a noted jurist before the late State Bar Association and denies the jurisdiction of the state, holding that only the national government has authority along this line.

According to the latest advises the Panama canal will be ready for all classes of shipping in December next. Verily we will have to get a move on.

A woman who recently took a flight in a Rockefeller airship, exclaimed on alighting that she "never really lived" until she took that trip. We prefer to take our chances for the present of living on terra firma.

With Port Angeles the greatest little spot on the coast, with more going on according to population than any other point in the entire Northwest, it would seem that the truth sent abroad would be sufficient without adding that which is not true.

Port Angeles' new brewrey people certainly believe in advertising. One hardly picks up an upsound paper these days without seeing an advertisement of the excellence of the Port Angeles beverage, and with it generally a picture of our wonderful harbor.

England has not as yet decided to participate in the Panama Canal Exposition. John Bull is piqued over the fact that your Uncle Sam has decided to run the big ditch to suit himself, without the advise or consent of a second party.

In view of certain criticism of Mayor Cotterill of Seattle, it would now seem to be in order to declare that Wilson was afraid of his shadow when he contemplated what might happen when Lind should arrive in Mexico. Nothing happened.

Because a judge held the Webb-Kenyon law unconstitutional another judge has issued an injunction, pending a decision by the higher courts restraining railroads and other carriers from refusing liquors to be shipped into dry territory.

If Mexico should become orderly, the Bulgars, Greeks and Servians all go home and go to work, the quietude of the world would become almost oppressive.

We can now say "we told you so," when the great Huerta failed to carry out his bluff as to Emissary Lind's visit.

Seattle's divorce court continues to crowd the marriage record. Monday 20 marriages and 12 divorces.

"Now, Willie," said the teacher to rather a stupid country boy, "listen to me very carefully. If I had five eggs in this basket and laid three on the table how many would I have?"

"Eight," said Willie brightly.

PORT ANGELES RECEIVES MENTION BY SOUND PAPERS

Victoria Times.

Among the party of some 250 residents of Port Angeles who came over on the excursion yesterday was W. S. Pearce, secretary of the Commercial Club, of that place. Mr. Pearce spoke of the development of the district and of the growing interest in the town by Victorians since the S. S. Sol Duc started to give communication. More people went to Sol Duc from Vancouver Island than any other center, he said.

The district, he said, is undergoing rapid development. The early coming of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway, is expected to add impetus. The city council is advertising for bids for the construction of a seawall 100 feet wide and a mile long, along which the tracks of the railway will run, the wall being necessary for the development of the shipping of the port.

Victoria Colonist.

So many of the people of Victoria have a financial interest in the future of Port Angeles, that the following statement made by Mr. A. J. Earling, of the "Milwaukee" railway system, will be welcomed here.

By May 1, 1914, if not before, the new Olympic Peninsula line of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway will be completed from Port Angeles to the vast timber belt thirty odd miles west of that city and will be in position to deliver to the Puget Sound Mills & Timber Company's immense new plant at Port Angeles 350,000 feet of logs each day. The terminus of the new Milwaukee line on tide water at its west end has not been determined on and may be at Oak Bay or some other point in that vicinity.

Oak Bay is a point not far from Port Townsend, and the intention of the company is said to be to connect its terminus there with its line on the Mainland by a car-ferry system. While the railway will be extended west and south of Port Angeles, it is hardly likely that any attempt will be made to establish a port directly upon the Pacific Ocean for the reason that there is no place at all available for that purpose.

In this connection it is interesting to know that a persistent rumor alleges that the Milwaukee has its eyes upon Vancouver Island. The road is controlled by what are called the Standard Oil interests, and this combination of capitalists owns valuable timber tracts on the Island. For this and other reasons, the plans of the Milwaukee people possess more than a passing interest to Victoria.

Tacoma Ledger.

"Port Angeles, Clallam county and the entire Olympic peninsula are on the verge of the greatest industrial revival in their history," said Mr. Pearce, secretary of the Commercial Club in that city, to the Ledger.

"Inestimably rich in timber and agricultural lands, the development of this vast territory has been necessarily retarded for want of railway transportation.

"Now that the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad is actually constructing a line of road through the peninsula with Port Angeles as the main terminus, greatly increased activity is apparent in all directions.

"The Milwaukee system, through its subsidiary corporation, the Continental Timber company, has acquired immense timber holdings in the western part of Clallam county, and to this fact may be attributed the building of the railroad at this time. The tonnage from this source, with the many other billions of feet of standing cedar, fir, hemlock and spruce, together with that which will be furnished by the settlement and cultivation of the inex haustibly rich and productive soil of the country tapped by the road, furnishes ample reason for its construction.

"Recognizing the rapid growth of Port Angeles and vicinity that will surely follow in the wake of the railroad's arrival, people from all points of the compass are flocking hither, as if drawn by a magnet, to invest in city property and farm lands, that they may share in the great prosperity which is now assured this favorable region.

"The railroad will be in operation by May 1, 1914, according to statements recently given out by high officials of the Milwaukee.

"Milwaukee interests have purchased and now own several hundred acres of land contiguous to the eastern city limits of Port Angeles. It is definitely understood that the shops and terminal grounds will be located on this land, and it is the general belief that the road anticipates other large undertakings which will be anuonced later.

"Everybody in Port Angeles is literally bubbling over with optimism. The spirit is infectious, and why should it not be, when great sawmills and shingle mills are under construction; when streets are being graded in all parts of the city; when new buildings are rearing their heads in all directions and others are prospective? Within the next two years Clallam county, with the expenditure of the $400,000 now available for public road building, will have one of the finest highway systems in the state. In short, Port Angeles and the Olympic peninsula are at last shaking off the lethargy that has enthralled them, and with the advent of a transcontinental road, the great empire will soon be vibrant with the throb of the locomotive and the callateral industries that inevitably must accompany it."

ORE IN THE OLYMPICS

Wonderful Deposits of Manganese Ore —Development of the Find Now Under Way.

[From Quilcene Megaphone.]

For several years it has been known that manganese iron of high grade and in vast deposits exists in the Olympic mountains. The Tubal Cain Manganese & Copper Co., developing a copper deposit on Iron Mountain, about 22 miles west of Quilcene, has run through great veins of manganese ore.

The following article, from the Seattle P. I., telling of other deposits found in the Olympics, will be of much interest and encouragement to those who have long maintained that the mountain range contained other values besides its grand scenery. The P. I. says:

"Working under adverse conditions and regardless of reports written on the same territory in the past prospectors in the Olympic reserve have found and opened veins of high grade manganese and copper ores containing untold wealth, in Mason county, within three miles of the boundary line of the Mount Olympus monument. Government reports have even discredited the existence of valuable minerals in the Olympics and some experts have claimed it impossible, owing to the general formations. In spite of the many discouraging reports and statements issued on the Olympics, prospect work has been carried on with success by a few men for the last three years, and it is now believed that the Olympic mountains will prove to be lined with veins of copper and manganese ores unsurpassed in the world.

"These veins which it is now believed will run through the entire Olympic range, run from twenty to five hundred feet in width. Manganese, an ore of which but little is known by the layman, from the Olympic mountains has already received a fair test at the South Chicago plant of the Illinois Steel company, a subsidary organization of the United States Steel corporation, and has been pronounced the equal of the imported product.

"Engineers and geologists who have visited the Olympics within the last year and examined the veins uncovered pronounce it the greatest deposit in the world. Manganese is one of the most generally used and imported minerals used. The principal sources of supply at the present time are India, Russia and Brazil, and there are no known large deposits in North America.

"Prospect work of a haphazard sort for the richer minerals has been carried on to a geater or less extent in the Olympics for the last thirty years. Manganese has only attracted the attention of local mining men within the last three years. W. H. Rowe went into the Olympics about three years ago to inspect several claims in the Lake Cushman district. He was at once impressed with the wonderful possibilities for the development of manganese, an ore which he found in abundance on all sides.

"To satisfy himself upon the existence of manganese in paying quantities he spent two years prospecting in the Olympic reserve, with the result that he found veins of this ore running on an average from twenty to five hundred feet. These veins show all through the Mount Olympus monument.

"To ascertain the depth of the deposits, shafts were sunk, with the result that copper was found in paying quantities.

"Manganese is one of the most unusual of minerals. It does not exist, in its natural state, as a metal, but is found as an oxide, containing variable amounts up to 72 per cent of manganese. It is closely allied to nickel and iron, but has no economic value as a metal until it is alloyed with other metals. It is neither malleable nor ductile.

"Manganese is one of the most valuable and generally used of all minerals. In its metallic form it is obtained in the treatment of manganese ores, and the demand for this product has reached immense proportions, as it is necessary and is used in the manufacture of all high grade steel castings. It forms important alloys with steel, zinc, tin and many other metals, in each case it increases many times the elasticity and strengh of the metal with which it is mixed.

"Robert Brewster Stanton, the New York expert on manganese, after visiting the Olympics some time ago, stated that the deposit surpassed anything of the kind in the United States and equals the greatest known deposits in the entire world.

"The car of ore shipped to South Chicago attracted widespread attention, as it was the first time that a carload of high grade manganese had ever been received from a mine within the boundaries of the United States. This ore was mined and packed out of the Olympics under the direction of Mr. Rowe.

"The work has now passed the experimental stage, and the construction of a narrow guage railroad ten miles long from the present scene of operations of the Manganese Produce Corporation to Lake Cushman has begun. A force of forty men is now working on the new line, and it is hoped to have it in operation early next spring. Auto trucks will be used to take the ore from Lake Cushman to Hoodsport for the present. Mason county is spending $9,000 on this road to put it in condition for heavy hauling.

"At the scene of the present operations on the north fork of the Skiokomish river, undercutting has been done to a depth of ninety feet, and copper, an ore which it has always been contended did not exist in the Olympics, has been found in quantities that would indicate that the manganese beds cover great copper mines.

"The undercutting was first done to learn the depth of the manganese ore, without finding any showing of copper, but as the work went on a trace of copper was found, and with depth this increased until now ore is being taken out that runs from 10 to 15 per cent in copper value to the ton, and in some cases it has run as high as 20 per cent. The copper is claimed to be in so fine grains that 90 per cent of it will pass a 100-mesh screen.

"Twenty-five tons of ore is being taken out a day at the present time, and shipment will be started at the rate of about 100 tons a day with the completion of the new railroad.

"The manganese field is one of the greatest in the United States that is taken care of entirely with an imported product. Manganese sells for $31 a ton at both Pittsburg and Chicago. On the English markets it brings $26. With the opening of the new narrow guage railroad from the present mines now being opened and the completion of the auto road to Hoodsport it is believed that the Olympic manganese can be put on the Pittsburg and Chicago markets for half of the present quotations."

A woman with little wit sat at a public meeting between a bishop and a rabbi.

She thought she would be clever, and said to the rabbi: "I feel as if I were a leaf between the Old and New Testaments."

"Yes, Madam," said the rabbi, "that page is usually a blank one."

STUDYING PUGET SOUND FISHING CONDITIONS

H. Novisoff a native of Vladivostok, Russia, spent several days, the past week, in Friday Harbor. The gentleman is making a study of the salmon industry on the Pacific coast, and incidentally trying to interest American capital in putting up a caviar packing plant. This product is a Russian delicacy made from the salmon eggs, and which he says is the most valuable part of the salmon, being wasted by the American packers. The market value of the product being approximately 75 cents per pound. He has a number of photographs depicting the salmon industry of his native country, which is indeed crude compared to the modern methods of the Americans. The salmon are apparently as numerous as in our waters, but as yet modern machinery and power boats have not become a factor in handling and preparing the fish for market.—South Bend Journal.

"Well," said the doctor cheerfully, "how do you feel this morning? Any aches or pains?"

"Yes," answered the patient, "it hurts me to breathe; but the only trouble now seems to be with my breath."

"Oh," said the physician, still more cheerfully, "I'll give you something that will soon stop that."

LACK OF CARE WILL RUIN THE MOST BEAUTIFUL HAIR

Save it with Herpicide.

Aside from combing it when they think necessary many people give no attention whatever to their hair. Then when the hair begins to fall out it never occurs to them that their trouble is the result of personal carelessness.

An occasional application of Newbro's Herpicide will not only prevent loss of hair, but permits a luxuriant growth. Hair losses are attributable to dandruff and the germ that causes it. The results following the intelligent use of Herpicide are frequently of a surprising nature. It removes the scale-like accumulations, leaving the scalp clean and free of dirt and thus allowing the hair to grow unhampered by dandruff.

Newbro's Herpicide in 50c and $1 sizes is sold and guaranteed to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded.

Applications may be obtained at good barber shops.

The Scrap Book

They Couldn't Either.

She was a charming English girl, but she could not see the point of a joke. Her classmates at college, jolly, fun loving girls, regretted this serious defect in their dear friend and determined upon a reform.

So they made up a little joke with a very broad point to spring upon Evelyn that night. Accordingly when they had all met in Evelyn's room Clara propounded the joke, which was really a riddle.

"Maud," she said, "can you tell me the best way to make a Maltese cross."

"No," replied Maud after due thought. "How do you make a Maltese cross?"

"Pull its tail," said Clara promptly.

The other girls tittered obbligingly, but Evelyn sat solemn as an owl with a puzzled frown on her classic brow.

"What's the matter with you, Evelyn?" cried the girls, justly indignant. "Can't you see the point?"

Evelyn shook her head. "Girls," she said regretfully, "I know it's awfully stupid of me, but I can't for the life of me see how any one could make a Maltese cross out of a pullet's tail."—National Monthly.

Gains For All Our Losses.

There are gains for all our losses,
There are balms for all our pain,
But when youth, the dream, departs
It takes something from our hearts,
And it never comes again.

We are stronger and are better
Under manhood's sterner reign.
Still we feel that something sweet
Followed youth with flying feet
And will never come again.

Something beautiful has vanished,
And we sigh for it in vain.
We behold it everywhere,
On the earth and in the air,
But it never comes again.

—Richard Henry Stoddard.

Insulted His Patron.

Phil Morris, the eminent portrait painter, who died when his fame was at its zenith, had a very unpleasant experience while visiting a wealthy merchant who had commissioned him to paint his wife and baby for the sum of £700. The first evening Mr. Morris and his "employer" were discussing the "pose," and the artist, thinking that he had hit on a brilliant suggestion, said it would be effective if the child were lying on the hearth rug with just a single garment on and his mother leaning over, playing "this little pig went to market."

"How dare you, sir? Do you wish to insult me? I've half a mind to countermand my order!" roared the irate wealthy magnate. Poor Phil Morris couldn't think what harm he had done until a few days later he learned that his patron had made his money in "pork" and was known as the "bacon king."—London Tit-Bits.

Where It Did Most Good.

There was cause for an eruption in a downtown office one morning that, instead of causing a flow of lava of Vesuvian quality, will no doubt produce a lather of Vesuvian quantity. A large soap manufacturing firm sent a box of fine soap to the manager of the office, who handed it over to his dainty, well groomed stenographer, with the regulation "Here, do you want this?" Later in the day Mr. Manager remarked that he wished to dictate a letter of thanks to the manufacturer and began, "My Dear S.—I want to thank you for the box of soap, and you may be sure I have put it where it will do the most go"— But the stenographer had fainted.—Indianapolis News.

A Boomerang Speech.

The last time William Jennings Bryan was campaigning for the presidency Colonel C. W. Bolen of Michigan was on a train that was delayed by a washout in the southwestern part of the country. Bolen's remarkable personal resemblance to Bryan soon resulted in the circulation of a report that the Nebraskan himself was on the train. The people from the nearest town had congregated about the rear coach and were shouting lustily for Bryan. Colonel Bolen tried to persuade them that he was not Bryan and added that he was a stanch Republican, both of which facts were true.

These announcements, however, brought forth only laughter, cheers and renewed requests for a speech. Finally Bolen yielded and delivered to the crowd a hot Republican speech, thinking that in this way he would do much damage to the Bryan cause.

A few weeks later Bolen got up a speaking acquaintance on the train with a man from the town in which he had made the speech.

"Our town was not much for Bryan," remarked the stranger, naming the town, "until he happened to pass through there one day and, after pretending that he was not Bryan, made a rattling good speech from the platform of the car. As a result of that accident the town has flopped over to Bryan completely." — Detroit News-Tribune.

All Invalids.

Father Bernard Vaughan is still telling Londoners good stories of his experiences during his recent tour in America.

At St. Louis a boastful American said to him: "Look at our Mississippi and Hudson rivers! Why, compared with them your Mersey and Severn and Thames are sleepy, sickly streams."

"I think yours are just as sickly as ours," observed Father Vaughan.

"How do you make that out?" demanded the other.

"Well, they are all confined to their beds!" Father Vaughan replied.

Only Fair For Faither.

In a train the other day, says a Glasgow News correspondent, I overheard two schoolteachers dwell with a certain fondness on the pranks of a boy whom they called Jimmie. I could gather that this lad was full of sweet simplicity and a deep rooted objection to education. Despite his dilatoriness, however, he was a general favorite.

One of the dominies in whose class Jimmie now idles his time remarked that on a recent morning the boy had handed in an exercise in arithmetic which, by its neatness and freedom from errors, simply howled "Father." Jimmie was in a simmer of excitement to see what mark he would get.

In order to surprise him into saying something the teacher had scribbled on the copybook "Fair" instead of "Excellent," as it should have been. A murmur of dismay was expected from the boy, but instead he chuckled with glee and remarked: "Oh, I'm glad! Faither's only got 'fair' efter a' his bouncin'!"

London's Ugly Man.

Frank Duff in his reminiscences tells a story of an exceptionally ugly man, well known in London society, whose name he suppresses. He had it from Lord Lytton, who had it from Lord Beaconsfield.

"I saw him once," said Beaconsfield "It was when we were living at Grosvenor Gate. When his card was brought up I was extremely busy, and I said to Lady Beaconsfield, 'My dear, you must receive this gentleman for me.' I ought to tell you that Lady Beaconsfield was very fond of seeing remarkable people, and I said to her, 'My dear, I know he is a remarkable man; I cannot tell you for what reason he is remarkable, but you may take it from me that he is remarkable.' Lady Beaconsfield tripped downstairs, and I was turning to my work when I heard a fall and a scream. I rushed down; Lady Beaconsfield had fainted. She thought she had seen Mokanna, the veiled prophet, without his veil!"

Methodist Stamps.

Senator X.'s daughter, who is beautiful, religious and unsophisticated, went into a Washington drug store recently to purchase some stamps.

"Ten cents' worth of stamps, please," she said timidly.

The drug clerk, who had an eye for feminine beauty, was struck with her appearance, so he gave her an engaging smile and urbanely asked:

"What denomination?"

Disconcerted by his open admiration, she looked at him in astonishment, then, remembering the Scriptural injunction to be "prepared to give a reason for the faith that is within you," she replied, "Methodist." There was a moment's pause; then her face became suffused with angry blushes, and she continued, "But I do not see what that has to do with my stamps." —Lippincott's.

The Demon Barber.

The story of the "demon barber," his misdirected energy and undue personal attention to customers, a story that has been made famous in ballad and on the stage, was this: He lived at 186 Fleet street, London, next to St. Dunstan's church. Under his shaving chair there was a trapdoor. When Mr Todd, making some excuse, left his customer —or client, for this is now the genteel term—and went into an adjoining room he drew a bolt. The trapdoor turned over and threw the customer into a cellar. There he was murdered, and his body was made into mutton pies, which were sold at a neighboring shop at a reasonable price and much relished. This story was believed by all for many years, and Dickens mentions it in "Martin Chuzzlewit," yet it was without foundation.

Knew Her Way.

The ladies were discussing a wedding which took place in their church the previous day. "And, do you know," continued the first best informed lady of the party, "just as Frank and the widow started up the aisle to the altar every light in the church went out?" This startling bit of information was greeted by a number of "Ohs!" "What did the couple do?" finally inquired one. "Kept on going. The widow knew her way."—Pall Mall Gazette.

Story of the Vote in Fiji.

The Indian merchants in Fiji in municipal elections vote solid for the wealthy storekeeper and landowner, who, says Ralf Stock in "Confessions of a Tenderfoot," represent vested interests and owe them money.

On one occasion that is fresh in the mind of every one in Suva, these Indian merchants were rounded up and driven to the polls like sheep, well primed beforehand to vote for—we shall say Johnson and Jacobson. These instructions had been so impressed upon them that their vocabulary for days consisted of nothing but "Johnson and Jacobson." "Move up there," said the clerk of a polling booth on the great day to a line of apprehensive Indians. "D'your hear? Move up!" "Johnson and Jacobson," answered the latter as one man.

Curious English Dialects.

Our English dialects are probably as diverse as any. Put a Cornish miner and a Northumberland miner together for the first time and each would only have a faint glimmering of the meaning of the other's speech. What would the Cornishman think of "What mak' o' yan is sha?" He would express the same meaning in "What be her like, then?" The ordinary English, of course, is, "What's she like?" I have known a Londoner, fresh to the fine Dorset dialect, completely bewildered by a farm laborer's talk. He could only get a glint of meaning here and there.—London Chronicle.

forwarded to city its check for $158.40 being 2 per cent of gross revenue for year of $7,920.00; accepted.

A petition was again read from E. W. Merrill asking that council order the vacation of alley in block 54, to allow teams to pass through Laurel to Lincoln. This now being private property the street superintendant was directed to give notice to all parties to vacate.

R. Malgren, an old-timer, returned to make his home on his property on Tumwater and Third strets, asked privilege of cutting gate through rail on Tumwater extension; granted, same to be made safe under direction of street superintendent.

P. J. Wold notified council that he would erect at once a cottage at 8th and B streets and asked that city blow out stumps in street before, as to do so after would endanger property; granted.

cost to be charged against abutting property. This brought out the fact that the current expense will have to bear expense temporarily, and the clerk Shields notified council that when there was no money to pay warrants he would refuse to longer issue them.

The Peabody street walks ordered will come up next week and it developed that some have placed walks contrary to order of council.

Dr. Lewis addressed council in regard to more than half block 32 taken from settlers thereon by order of President Taft and asked that council join with others in an effort to get this property, as all were as much entitled to same as those who were not barred. He presented a petition to President Wilson asking that the order of President Taft be rescinded and same was, upon motion of Elliott, adopted. Dr. Lewis states that it will be necessary for some one to take this and other petitions before President Wilson direct, as petitions sent in are referred to the land office and that it the last heard of them. He also holds that this property held by the government, tieing up the improvements on First and Second, Oak and Laurel, as it does, is really a menace to the city's welfare rather than a benefit, and that as a site the property has been abandoned.

A resolution was presented by Elliott, calling upon and directing the engineer to survey and describe the lands that should be condemned for the extension of Third street through the Sampson tract; also to ascertain owners and to establish grade through said tract; also directing that a committee of three be named to confer with property owners looking to amicable settlement for right-of-way through tract; carried.

Upon motion of Dustman, street superintendent was directed to notify property owners to renew sidewalk in front of McInnes building, east of Oak.

Mr. Elliott called attention to two flagstaffs on city hall, but no flag and moved that a flag be purchased at cost of $12. Seconded by Dustman and carried.

City marshal was authorized to purchase desk at the cost of $15.

One hostess who lacked tact at dinner placed a learned and somewhat deaf college professor beside a debutante. The girl found the professor very unresponsive, but finally she noticed a dish of fruit, and in desperation asked if he liked bananas.

After being asked several times to repeat the question her voice being raised each time, attracting the attention of the whole table, she was horrified when the learned man riveted her with a disapproving look, and remarked very distinctly: "My dear young lady, I had hoped that I had misunderstood your question; but since you persist, I must say that I prefer the old-fashioned nightshirt."

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

Governor Lister has appointed E. F. Blaine, of Seattle, as a member of the new state park commission, which was created by the last legislature. The commission consists of the governor, auditor, treasurer, land commissioner and one appointed member. Mr. Blaine has long been a resident of this state and has always taken a part in public improvements. He was one of the founders of Seattle's splendid park system and for six years was a member of the park board in this city.

Letters from Washington's representatives in Congress to Governor Lister indicates that it will probably be necessary for the governor to call a special session of the legislature to legalize the election of United States Senator a year and a half from now. The state's congressmen and senators, however, promise they will make every effort to secure from Congress a measure to obviate the necessity of the expected special session.

State officials are taking part in the movement that has just been inaugurated which seeks to induce as many as possible of the visitors to the San Francisco fair to route their tickets through the state of Washington, on either their going or returning trip. I. M. Howell, secretary of state, has just issued a circular calling on all the commercial bodies of this state to join the movement. He believes that the time is now ripe to start the campaign and that citizens of this state should correspond with their eastern friends at once and urge upon them the pleasure of a trip through the Evergreen state.

At a conference between Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and bankers of the central west and south, the former stated that the $50,000,000 which is to be deposited in the national banks of the west and south to aid in moving the crops would be increased to $150,000,000 if needed in the plan to distribute government funds in the agricultural districts of the country to avert the money stringency characteristic of the crop moving period.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA WRECKED

Ship Struck Rock Within Sight of Cannery at Gambier Bay —40 Dead.

While leaving Gambier bay, Admiralty island, where she discharged shipments for the cannery of the Admiralty Trading Company, the steamship State of California, of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company, Captain T. H. Cann, at 8:30 Sunday morning struck and uncharted rock off Jew Island, inmid-channel, and sank in less than three minutes.

Thirty-three of the vessels passengers are either dead or missing, and seven members of her crew are known to have lost their lives. The State California was running at full speed when she crashed into the rock, tearing practically the entire bottom out of her. So quickly did she fill that a number of the passengers wer drowned in their staterooms, not having sufficient time to reach the deck after the crash came.

The Steamship Jefferson, of the Alaska Steamship Company, bound from Skagway for Seattle, picked up the ill-fated vessel's " S. O. S." call, and hurried to the scene of the disaster. She took aboard forty-three of the California's passengers.

"I was in an awkward predicament yesterday morning," said a husband to another.

"How was that?"

"Why, I came home late, and my wife heard me and said, 'John what time is it?' and I said, 'Only twelve, my dear,' and just then the cuckoo clock of ours sang out three times."

"What did you do?"

"Why, I just had to stand there and cuckoo nine times more."

SPRINGS WELL PATRONIZED.

Charles Johnson Returns from Fortnight's Visit at Resort.

After a two week's visit at the Olympic Hot Springs, Charles Johnson has returned to his home in this city. Mr. Johnson says that the hot springs have the heaviest patronage this year in their history. While he was there the daily average of guests was sixty. At times the number was larger. But few remain longer then two weeks. All speak highly of the beneficial effects of the waters of the springs, for both bathing and drinking purposes. Mr. Johnson says his visit has improved his health to a marked degree and was one of the most enjoyable outings of his life.—Townsend Leader.

RAILROAD WORK.

Machinery and teams are being assembled on Discovery bay for work on the Erickson railroad, contracts having been let that will bring the road to the Jefferson county line. There is going to be great activity in railroad building along the west shore of the bay from now on till the line reaches the Port Townsend Southern, From that point the route has not yet been determined but the eastern terminus will probably be on Port T wnsend bay.—Quilcene Megaphone

W. W. HOPKINS,
Assistant Commissioner of Public Lands.

James Whitcomb Riley was giving a lecture in an Illinois town. An old lady in the audience was as much impressed by the (to her) fabulous sum received by the poet for his poetry as by the entertainment itself.

After the lecture was over she went up to Mr. Riley and told him how much she enjoyed it, and added: "My! Mr. Riley, you must make lots of money. They tell me you get as much as a dollar a word for your poetry."

"Yes," said Mr. Riley, "I do. But you know sometimes I think, and think, and think, and I can't think of a darned word!"

"Well, dear," announced her absent-minded husband when he came home, "this time I did not forget to bring home my umbrella. See?"

"Yes, dear, I do see," replied the gentle wife. "The only trouble is, Harry, you didn't take yours this morning."

Miss Jessie Ayers, a former Angeles girl, returned up sound Wednesday. She has been camping near Angeles with a friend and was also a guest of Mrs. G. V. Smith for a week.

The Cresco, Iowa, Plain Dealer of August 15, says, "Miss Sarah Brown left Monday for a visit at Santa Cruz, California, before going to Port Angeles, Washington, where she teaches school next year.

Mrs. E. R. Gherke's mother, Mrs. Lollick, is recovering from a severe attack of pneumonia, being well enough the first of the week to be taken to her own home from her daughter's.

C. E. Cole went to Townsend Friday on the Sol Duc, in charge of David Morse's two-year old colt, which he will have in training for the Olympic Fair. He also took Jim Garrison's one-year-old colt.

Frank Dilling took his wife to Port Townsend Thursday to see what could be done for her under Dr. Simmons at the Sanitorium. Her friends will all hope that something can be done to relieve her suffering and hasten her recovery.

The Ladies Aid Society, of the Congregational church, held a reception Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Geisness in honor of Mrs. Singer, who left Wednesday for their new home in Colfax. Dainty refreshments were served and a pleasant afternoon enjoyed.

Mrs. Herbert Baker and daughter, Lucy Marquardt, left on the Sol Duc Tuesday for Seattle. From there they expect to go to Detroit, Michigan, over the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul and will visit at Mt. Clemens and other eastern points before returning. They expect to be gone a couple of months.

Mrs. A. L. Johnson entertained Monday evening with a delightful dancing party at Parish hall in honor of her son, Lyman, who is spending his vacation here. The hall was prettily decorated for the occasion and about seventy-five young people enjoyed to the fullest the festive dance and cordial hospitality.

George Nestle returned Sunday from the Elwha Basin country, where he had been spending his vacation, helping Grant Humes with the packing. George was deprived of the pleasure of completing the trip to Lake Quiniault, having a poisoned finger which was badly swollen and needed attention.

Considerable excitement was occasioned one day last week at Beardsley Camp, Lake Crescent, when a fire broke out in the roof of the [illegible] living room. No serious damage was done though Mrs. Ovington says it will cost about $100 for repairs. About fifty guests were at the hotel at the time and all turned in and worked like heroes.

A FAREWELL DINNER.

A farewell dinner and impromtu dance was given Tuesday evening of this week by Mrs. John Martin, at her residence on Tumwater Hill in honor of her two daughters, Mrs. M. Morgan and Mrs. C. W. Stelzried and their husbands and friends, who have been visiting her, and spending several weeks at Lake Crescent. Messrs. Morgan and Stelzried left Wednesday for Seattle, where they are arranging for the establishment of a large cold storage and ice plant at Wenatchee. They spent considerable time in looking around Port Angeles with a view of establishing a cold storage plant here, but thought the time had not yet arrived when a plant of this kind could be supported, although they hope within the very near future to establish a plant of this kind here.

Miss Lotta Kursinski, of Los Angeles, who has been visiting Mrs. Morgan and Mrs. Stelzried, leaves for her home next Thursday. While here she spent most of her time camping at Lake Crescent with her hostesses.

Mr. Nicholson of the firm of Olson-Nicholson Co., Seattle, general contractors, was in Port Angeles last week, interviewing Front street property owners generally, and D. W. Morse and T. T. Aldwell particularly, in regard to raising their buildings in conformity to the proposed regrade of the streets in the business section of the city and to make an estimate of the probable cost in the raising of said buildings. Mr. Nicholson says that Port Angeles has a great future before it, when once city officials, business men and property owners pull together for a greater city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Chestnutt, of Springfield, Mo., surprised Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Mitchell last Saturday morning by dropping in upon them unannounced. The ladies are sisters. Mr. and Mrs. Chestnutt are making a flying business trip to the coast, and expect to leave for their return trip to the southeast next Monday. Mr. Chestnutt says that Springfield is now a hustling city of fifty thousand people. This writer remembers it as a small hamlet in the early 60's at the time of the civil war, when his regiment formed in battle line upon its principal streets.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Shields left Saturday for Portland, Oregon, where they will visit with their daughter for some weeks, proceeding thence on to California, probably to remain. Mr. Shields has been assisting his brother in the news and cigar store for the past two years, but finds his health failing to such an extent that he believes a stay in California will be beneficial.

H. G. Singer and wife bade Port Angeles good bye Wednesday morning and departed for Colfax, their future home. That they may meet with abundant success in their new field of labor is the desire of all their Port Angeles friends who will unhesitatingly recommend them as people well worthy of every good thing in life.

WHY SHY AT NO. 13?

Why should people shy at the number 13? Is there any better number in existence? Does not the moon go around the earth 13 times a year? Didn't Uncle Sam start out with 13 states? Look at "Old Glory," he waves his 13 stripes forever. Look at the half dollar, 13 stars around its margin, 13 leaves that deck the brow of the maiden fair. See the other side; 13 stars over the eagles's nest, 13 arrows in his left talons, 13 leaves in the laurel branch on his right, 13 quills in his tail and 13 in each wing, 13 bars in in the shield on his breast and 13 letters in "E Pluribus Unum."—Exchange.

JUDGE DECREES TIMBER ASSESSMENT TOO HIGH

Characterizes Cruiser Figures in Chehalis as Being "Constructive Fraud."

It will be remembered that last year Chehalis county practically doubled its assessed valuation by cruising and raising the timber valuations of that county. The Simpson Logging Co., with vast holdings in the county, took the matter to the courts and Judge Clifford of Pearce county was called upon to hear the case. Judge Clifford this week handed down an opinion against the county attacking the cruise for taxation purposes in which the court characterizes the cruise figures as so high as to virtually constitute "constructive fraud."

The county will, of course, appeal, as it feels that the decision if allowed to stand will open the way to the big timber owners to question the entire cruise of the county. The decision will encourage other owners to bring the cruise question into the courts. In view of these facts perhaps it is just as well for the present that the assessor and the Board of Equalization of Clallam have decided not to try to add the cruises of the past year to the rolls this year, real property only being assessed every two years and timber being classified as realty where it is jointly owned.
