Walk and Be Healthy

Wally Turner Runs Hard

Wally Turner, Everett businessman who has been campaigning for Congress ever since opening campaign headquarters in Everett in June, is going to continue on the same trail through the weeks ahead. Last week he filed in Olympia for the Republican nomination for Congress from the State's Second District.

Turner has been actively campaigning by carrying his appeal for new leadership in the nation's capitol directly to the people through coffee hours, doorbell ringing, industrial plant tours and by going from store to store and office to office in the communities of his sprawling district.

He states he plans to continue this type of campaigning because it gives him a chance to gain the views of the people while they are sizing up the man who would represent them. It is close to the people contact he feels is essential for the proper functioning of the Congressman's office.

He was transported to Port Angeles for treatment by an ambulance from Forks.

Short Comings

Bicycle riders and parked automobiles are creating a hazard for drivers in the Mansfield Addition area. The bicycle riders are all over the place with little attention given to moving vehicles. Kids and autos don't mesh well.

Parked autos in the area are also a problem. Cars park on the wrong side of the street and on both sides leaving a narrow passage for cars using the street.

Drivers should use caution when driving in any area where kids are playing.

New teachers are arriving in town each day looking for housing. If anyone knows of houses for rent or houses that will be available are asked to contact Mr. Hitchcock at the superintendents office.

Jet Crashes Near Goodman, Haberman Aids In Rescue

Monday evening an A-6A Intruder jet crashed into the ocean near Goodman Creek after developing engine trouble on a routine flight from Whidbey Island Naval Air Station.

Richard Haberman, Forks resident camping in the area, saw the two men parachute from the plane. The pilot Lt. David W. Cable, Allison Park, Pennsylvania, was rescued by Haberman. An attempt by Cable and Haberman to locate Lt. (J.G.) Patrick K. Bukie Hunting Beach, California, failed to turn up anything by dusk. Haberman took Cable to La Push in his boat where they reported the mishap. Rescue crafts were immediately sent to the scene.

By MRS. J. E. MERRITT

When Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hull Sr. returned last week from visiting their son, Ray Jr., and family at Winthrop in the Method Valley, their son Jim remained. He had been at a boys' camp called Singing Hills and had enjoyed it so much his parents permitted him to stay for another two weeks.

Laurie Hull, older daughter of the junior Ray Hulls, had been staying with her maternal grandparents, Rev. and Mrs. Frank McAllister, at Kirkland, and on Sunday came with them as far as Port Angeles on a special trip to visit the Hulls at Bear Creek. They came out Monday afternoon and left after dinner that evening for the McAllister home.

Mr. and Mrs. A.M. Nordman have with them their grandchildren, Lynn and Eric of Boise, Idaho, while the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Nordman are enjoying a trip to Hawaii.

The grandparents went to Seattle to meet the children and found their older son Arvid and his family in the process of moving to a new home in the same area---they had recently purchased. The new home has three bathrooms in it and with four "women" in the family that is quite an advantage. The older Nordmans and the two children returned home Sunday after assisting in the moving project, and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Nordman took off for the Islands by Northwest Air Lines.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Lea returned home on Sunday, July 23, after a delightful two weeks' trip. They left Vancouver, B.C. by CPR on Saturday, July 13, and headed for Detroit, where they picked up a new car. They visited relatives in Illinois and Iowa, then went on to Mt. Rushmore and the Badlands in South Dakota, and Grand Teton and Yellowstone National Parks in Wyoming. They visited Mrs. Louise Logue in Spokane and then came on home.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Hum and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Loushin returned home Sunday after visiting Mrs. Loushin's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Curt Bagby in Tacoma. During their parents' absence the five Hum children, Rickie, Ronnie, Roger, Deborah and Robert visited Mrs. Hums' parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Johnson in Concrete Skagit County. Rickie had enjoyed a two-weeks visit with his grandparents, so he returned home with his parents, as did Deborah and Robert, leaving Ronnie and Roger at the Johnson home for a two weeks stay.

Before returning home the Hums and Loushins, with the Bagby's, spent a pleasant Sunday afternoon at Longacres Race

Definitions Convention Terms

Robert Andrews UPI

Political conventions can be confusing enough... and even more so unless the meanings of many terms are known.

For that reason, U-P-I has put together a glossary of shop talk heard at such conventions...

Bandwagon... A movement toward success of a candidacy. Delegates to a convention always watch anxiously for a bandwagon to climb aboard to avoid being left with the loser and his friends.

Bolt... To quit a political party over an issue or candidate. "Take a Walk" has been used for the same purpose, with "Defect" becoming stylish in recent times.

Boom... A campaign to advertise the merits and advances the chances of a political candidate. A "boomlet" according to William Safire in "The New Language of Politics," is "A boom that makes only a plaintive, popping sound."

Buttonhole... To approach delegates seeking support for a candidate. Must be done with finesse or it can become "Arm Twisting".

Caucus... A meeting of convention Delegates, usually to decide which candidate to support. Proceedings are secret, until the loser's supporters can find a new man to talk to.

Kar Horse... An aspirant for the Presidency given little chance for success by the experts. The experts sometimes are mistaken, in which case a dark horse may become a front runner.

Deadlock--- The point at which a convention is unable to choose a candidate, usually after a number of ballots. It is a condition for a compromise candidate.

Delegates... The men and women who vote on the nominees at the conventions.

Deal... An agreement between politicians, often seen as "Wheel and Deal." Those left out of deals often attach such adjectives as "Cynical" or "Dirty."

Draft... A movement to nominate a politician who has made no effort, at least in public, to seek office.

Favorite son... A governor or other political figure to whom a state's delegation is pledged as though he were a serious presidential candidate. Frequently used by politicians to keep the votes of a delegation united until a deal can be made to climb aboard someone's bandwagon.

Floor Fight... A convention dispute that cannot be settled without debate and voting by the delegates at a public session.

Hack... An undistinguished politician who follows the orders of a political Machine without question. Derives from the broken-down horses that used to pull Hackney cabs.

Keynoter... The speaker chosen to begin the convention with an inspirational speech to the delegates.

Kingmakers... The political powers, working in secret, who make the kind of deals that can transform a dark horse into a front runner.

Machine... A firmly-entrenched, successful political organization, depending upon favors and patronage to keep its members loyal.

Platform... A political party's Program for action, review of previous accomplishments and indictment of the opposition.

Polling the Delegation... Halting a convention rollcall to ask each member of a delegation how he votes.

Rollcall... The process of calling the states' names in alphabetical order for purposes of nominating candidates and voting on nominees.

Economics Highlights

Months ago, it was obvious that Presidential election year 1968 would be unlike any previous election year—from the standpoint of the behavior of candidates, issues and even campaign techniques. The volatility of the times made the prospect of a traditional campaign year exceedingly dim. Violence in the cities, inflation, a governmental financial crisis, and the war in Viet Nam have made the political game a deadly serious business with the ultimate responsibility for a wise decision resting on the shoulders of the voters. If ever the fate of a nation may be said to turn on an election, this is the year that it could do so.

The very grime of campaign year 1968 was brought home to everyone by the monumental tragedy of the Kennedy assassination. Of itself, coming as it did in the early weeks of the campaign, the assassination brought everyone face-to-face with the fragile nature of human aspirations—individually and collectively. One aspect of the election that appears to be receiving more than the usual attention this year are the polls. There is a high degree of interest not only in the odds they give to different candidates but in how they operate and in how much they may influence voting trends.

Already the polls this year have helped shape candidate behavior. According to reports, Mr. George Romney withdrew from the race on the strength of the polls, and the polls have been credited with the decision of President Johnson not to run again. Newsweek magazine recently featured a lengthy analysis of the new science of polltalking. Like everything else in this sophisticated day, the methods of the pollsters have become intricate almost beyond description, with the computer playing an important part in their findings. No matter what people may think of polls, they have become an established part of the democratic process in the U. S.

Many of the polltakers now include consultants and advisory assistants to candidates as part of their services. And, it appears most candidates shape their campaigns, at least in some degree, in response to polls. Some criticize the polls, as Newsweek puts it, "...for under the pollsters' prodding..." Others point out the polls do no more than make a candidate acquainted with the views of his constituents. Knowledge of what the public thinks, they say, is essential in a democratic system. And, curiously enough, as Newsweek points out, party leadership in both parties at the present time leans toward support of candidates running slightly behind in the polls. The leaders contend the polls will change once the candidates are chosen.

As Newsweek concludes, "That may be so. But undeniably the polls have come of age. They have proven their dependability as barometers of the public mood. And if their surroundings sometimes seem erratic, this reflects not their flaws but their faithfulness to the inconsistencies of public opinion itself."

In spite of the growing dependence on polls and the interest in the science of polltalking, the general instability in human affairs, as we all know, makes projecting the outcome of the election an extremely risky business. There is no way the polltaker can measure the pulse of the hand of fate.

SPORTS WANDERINGS . . .

Bill Muncey piloted the Miss U. S. to victory in the World Championship Unlimited races held as part of Seattle Seafair Celebration last weekend.

It was not so much the skill of Muncey and his craft, but a combination of problems that the favorites encountered. In the final heat Muncey needed to finish next to My Gypsy and the crown was his. His boat had its own problems, a sick gear box, but he nursed it through.

Hydroplane racing loses crowd appeal because the boats have such difficulty keeping in the race. Harrah's Club is a prime example of this. The craft had finished first in two heats and was in the drivers seat only to fall prey to mechanical problems, opening the door for George Simon's boat, Miss U. S., to win her first race.

The major leagues support a number of possible 20 game winners this year and two hurlers Juan Marichal and Denny McLean threatening the select 30 win column. McLean won his 22nd game Sunday with a 2-1 victory over Minnesota. Marichal is 20-4.

Likely 20 game winners are Gibson 15-5 St. Louis, Koozman 14-6 N.Y. Mets, Tiant 17-7 Cleveland, McNalley 14-8 Baltimore, Hardin 13-6 Baltimore, and Stotelmyr 13-8 N.Y. Yanks.

For the past two years quarterbacks have won the Heisman Trophy. Last season, it was Gary Beban of U.C.L.A. This year that could change. Two of the top candidates are Leroy Keyes of Purdue and O.J. Simpson of Southern California. Both are running backs and Simpson was last season's Champion ground gainer.

College Football celebrates its 100th anniversary this fall—heading toward another record season at the turnstiles.

It promises to be bigger than ever. Last year attendance increased for the 14th straight season. 26-million-400-thousand fans attended two-thousand-764 games played by 610 four-year schools. This trend is likely to continue.

A year ago, there was a loud cry from coaches about one rule change and this now is rescinded. The old rule made interior linemen hold their positions until the ball was punted, allowing only ends and halfbacks to charge downfield at the snap. Coaches were virtually unanimous in their opposition. They claimed it made fast ends and halfbacks sitting ducks for squads of blockers.

Now things revert back to 1966. All linemen and backs next season can rush the receiver when the ball is snapped.

Salmon fishing at La Push hasn't been any different than the rest of the areas this season.

Reports have come in that fishing is good or picking up. These reports are true. The only problem has been the lack of constant fish. It has been a here today gone tomorrow season. The serious sports have held on and usually score.

Almost every jockey has a deep, but probably not verbally expressed, desire to someday retire from riding to his own ranch as a Thoroughbred trainer and owner.

Jockey Don Richards, area representative for the jockey guild, has already Nine horses to get started down the road. He has purchased a 10 acre farm near Tacoma at Laksbay. These horses are not all Thoroughbreds since Don needs some saddle horses for his family. He has four boys ranging from eight (the twins) to 18 and one daughter who is 10. Don claims that she might be the best horseman of the family. Don pointed out that, "After 20 years of riding (he is 38) you had better believe I'm looking toward the future—a future that includes horses and a home in the Northwest." He confines most of his riding to Longacres and other Washington tracks. He occasionally rides in Oregon and California but the Northwest is to be his home.

FROM YOUR LOCAL BOWLING CENTER
By FRED JARVIS

Sunday: Really over slept today, Mother and I went uptown last nite with Marge and D. J. after Monte Carlo-ing and didn't get home til the wee hours of the morning.

This modern day dancing looks like fun, but am afraid of the condition my back would be in if I tried it. Did dance some tho. Am no Fred Astaire, but enjoyed it anyway.

The only bad thing about Sunday is that the next day means back to the old grind again. Would like to advocate a two day work week and a five day week end. I imagine that would take some doing.

Worked "Hoot Owl" part of last week. What an awful hour of the morning to be getting up. I can see why they call it that. It's for the birds! Never did like to get up before breakfast.

Willis Bryan set the Monte Carlo Jackpot back to zero Sat. nite when he blasted out a pay off strike after his number was called.

Marge Caulkins put nine more free games in her bank after being called front and center on the free game shot! Better start spending some of those, Marge, they don't draw interest.

As usual, "Hoss" Caulkins, with a little help from "Hot Hand" Harry Lefler and my son Doug, took the pot again containing mine and George Richardson's money. Greedy bunch of characters, aren't they, George?

Just took a little time off from my scribbling to mosey down to see Darrell at the alleys for awhile. Bowled a few lines and came out with a 622 on games of 192-238-192. Not bad considering the shape I'm in.

Got back the prize list from the All-Coast Tournament at Vancouver.

Detta Joutsen, Mary and Frankie Kennedy, Gladys Allen, and Yvonne Kettel, bowling under the banner of Bob's Texaco, finished in 27th place and earned enough money to take their husbands out to dinner. Bet they don't do it!

Darrell cashed in the doubles with his brother from Seattle in 24th place, in the doubles with yours truly in 92nd place, and in the singles in 137th place. D. J.'s 146th spot in the singles earned him a few dollars, and my third place finish in the high game event and doubles winnings made a real nice payday for me. Sure be nice to make a livin' howling, but I'm afraid I'll have to leave that to the pros, and go on making mine the hard way.

Mother made a couple green apple pies today and then fed me such a good supper that I'm too stuffed to eat any pie. Now I'll have to wait til later. Yum-Um!

Must apologize to "Hot Hand" Harry for omitting his name from the prize list of the BPAA summer singles at Sequim. He cashed in last place.

Max Lewis leads the second week qualifiers for the next district at Laurel with a 695 with handicap. "Lucky Leta" leads the women with a 583.

Still not known where the finals are going to be sure hope Darrell gets them here.

FHS Cheerleaders
Top Group
at PLU

Four cheerleaders, Jane Baker, Peggy Rhyne, Cheryl Merrick and Jerri Wittenborn, from Forks High School were chosen as the top group at the Pacific Lutheran University cheerleader training school held recently in Tacoma.

The girls attending the school attend classes, receive personal help, learn crowd psychology, and study new routines. Part of the program is a rigid physical activity program.

The different groups work on new routines and improving their traditional routines. The directors and staff pick the squad on a point basis. Groups are awarded points for effort, hard work, yells and originality.

The girls from Forks were judged tops and two members, Peg Rhyne and Jerri Wittenborn, were asked to be staff members at the training school next year.

Each school is limited to twenty girls and this group came from Lynden, Friday Harbor, Tumwater, Helix and Alaska.

Forks 4-H Fair
August 14

Forks 4-H members will hold their annual 4-H fair in the all purpose room of the Forks Grade School again this year. The fair will be open to the public on Wednesday, August 14th from 2 to 10 p.m., with a short program and dress review at 9 p.m.

General Chairman, Mrs. Henry Halverson, reports, there will be 12 4-H clubs from Forks and 1 from Clallam Bay presenting displays and Bogachiel Garden Club will have a flower display.

Refreshments, white elephants and balloons will be on sale, plus the fish pond with its assorted "Treasures".

A donation of 25¢ will be asked from each person over 12 years of age.

Exhibits by 4-H members are to register on Tuesday, August 13th, between 9 and 11 a.m. Judging will take place at 12:30 p.m. All Blue ribbon exhibits will be sent on to Clallam County Fair in Port Angeles the following week.

Community Council Activity

The July meeting of the Forks Community Council heard reports from the Cemetery Board and the West End Community Club.

Donald Kallman of the Cemetery Board reported their money comes from the sale of burial spots at about $25 each and a few donations. They received the money left over from the Canopy Fund and used it to purchase a new lawn mower.

Expenses are for care and up keep of the grounds with most of the work and material donated. Present plans include surveying and roads in the new section. Kallman stated there is a need for a storage office building at the cemetery. About a 20 by 20 cement block building would be sufficient.

Other Cemetery Board members are Fritz Klahn, Frank Lyda, Katherin Shearer.

Mrs. E. W. Kleps reported on the West End Community Club which serves the Beaver area. Started in 1948 they built a 40 by 30 club house on land donated by Mr. Sarnowski.

It is used by 4-H, Scouts, Church groups, elections, private parties meeting and by neighborhood children for play during rainy days. Their income comes from dues, rent and donations through Operation End All amounts to about $300 a year. Expenses are taxes $50, heat and furnace repair $200 lights $36 and small repairs and upkeep take the rest. Officers are R. M. Davis president, C. R. Kleps vice pres., Winifred F. Kleps sec-treas., and directors Arthur Holz, Richard Breit-haupt, Elaine Hurn and Maary Johnson. Due to the end off Operation End All it was voted to include West End Community Council budget and request for funds from UGN.

Mrs. Richard Haberman explained developments in the coming UGN, drive and announced there will be a meeting of area UGN chairmen in early Sept. The Forks Swimming Pool Fund was discussed. There is a need for an organization to oversee this fund and keep it active.

Garbage Disposal

New Management

Effective August 1, 1968, Olympic Disposal will officially operate the garbage disposal business operated for many years by Mr. and Mrs. Isaac N. Quick as Quix Sanitary Service.

Following is a letter to the customers from the Quicks.

Dear Customer:
We wish to announce that effective August 1st our garbage disposal business has been sold to Mr. Rex Aldrich, who will operate under the name Olympic Disposal. Mr. Aldrich has had years of experience in this work and we know that he will give conscientious service.

The sale of our business was necessary due to Mr. Quick's poor health. We are thankful that the business will be in capable hands.

Since it is not possible to thank each one of our customers personally, we wish to take this opportunity to thank you for your loyalty through the years.

Sincerely Yours,

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac N. Quick

Urban Affairs Council Meets

Clallam and Jefferson counties are not entirely happy with their growing popularity as retirement communities, the Governor's Urban Affairs Council learned at a hearing held in Sequim.

We care where our product is served.

Beer served in pleasant and wholesome surroundings is the aim of the United States Brewers Association. And we are always striving to do something about it.

The USBA is represented by field men around the country. They meet with proprietors of establishments where beer is sold. They work in every way possible to promote a set of high standards wherever beer is served.

This USBA effort means even more enjoyable places for America's great beverage of moderation.

UNITED STATES BREWERS ASSOCIATION, INC.

When the Council's urban sector committee invited Peninsula residents to voice their problems, complaints about the influx of a new population of retired persons headed the list. Citizens charged that land is being purchased for real estate developments in which children are not welcome. Rents have gone up. Retired persons shop elsewhere--often at military bases--vote against school tax increases and decline to participate in community affairs, according to their critics.

Peninsula businessmen fear that proposed new bridges would only make it easier for residents to trade in metropolitan centers for continued economic slump in the area.

Those appearing before the committee warned that threatened restriction on log exports will cost the area 700 jobs in the forest industry. The council was asked for help in attracting industry to the area.

School spokesmen protested increased state take from the forest funds which formerly went to local schools. They explained that geographic factors prevent their small school districts from consolidating.

DEAR JANE

DEAR JANE:

My husband and I have been married a little over a year. He drives a logging truck and is a good husband. We live about 5 miles from a small town and 55 miles from a much larger one with a lot of nice stores. There is only one trouble, we do not have a car and my husband refuses to get me one--says we can't afford it. The other night I asked my husband if I could ride into the larger town with him on his first run and come home on the second. He told me it was against the policy of his outfit to take any riders ever--and that meant me! Well--my husband went to bed early and I phoned a friend and made arrangements to ride into town with her in the morning. We left early the next morning and on the way in we passed my husband's logging truck and when I looked back at him guess what I saw? A blonde sitting in the cab with him!

FURIOUS

Dear Furious:

There may be a perfectly good reason for your husband's rider. It is best not to jump to conclusions, wait and find out from your husband what his side of the story is. By the way--a blonde what? Dog? If it was a woman you might seek your rides to town elsewhere. Tell him he's not the only man who drives truck!

DEAR JANE:

We are two teen-age girls, 11 and 13. The other day two neat boys working for the Forest Service asked us to go to a show in a nearby town--60 miles away. Our dumb parents refused to let us go and had the nerve to tell off our boy friends. We are so embarrassed--how do we apologize for the behavior of our parents? You see the boys are 18 and 19.

DESPERATE TEEN AGERS

Dear Teen-Agers:

If more young people had parents like yours--there would be less young people in trouble. Heed and be grateful for the wisdom and advice of your parents. Ten years from now you will be in their same shoes with children of your own. They only want what is best for you both. As for telling the boys off--there is definitely something wrong with two boys of that age who must resort to taking two very young girls to an area away from the vicinity of their parents--surely there are things to do in your own town of a constructive nature. Also just for the record, Your are not a teen-ager at 11--13 is the year.

Address Letters to DEAR JANE % of Forks Forum, Box 300, Forks, Washington 98331.
