Short Comings

Schools open Tuesday, September 3. Everyone is busy getting that last minute back-to-school shopping completed. School personnel are busy with last minute preparation.

Met three young boys the other day under unusual conditions, one boy was exhibiting a large garden snake. When questioned as to what he was doing with the snake, one of the other boys pulled a smaller one from his pocket to show. The third boy promptly pulled snakes from each of his two pants pockets.

In the final analysis it was determined the boys were looking for some cute girl to scare. "BOYS WILL BE BOYS."

A California tourist had little praise for our weather last week. Her husband had parked the car a couple of feet from the curb in downtown Forks. When the wife opened the door and stepped out, her foot got a little wet.

We cannot divulge her instant remark.

Someone deserves a pat-on-the-back for mowing the grass at the triangle.

Each morning Frank Lyda raises the flag as faithful as clockwork and lowers the colors in the evening. For awhile he was tromping through grass two feet high.

Hope you noticed the new front on the Forks Forum. The facelift was done by Harris and Schuller.

Any one having a friend or relative in Vietnam and wishes to have a Forks Forum sent to them please contact the Forum Office and the paper will be sent FREE of charge.

Improvements at the county dump located at the end of Bogachiel Way have been completed and offer users a convenient dumping facility.

Credit for the project goes to Commissioner Thomas Mansfield and Forks District county road foreman Albert Wasankari.

The county hopes the people using the dump will use the ramp and not scatter garbage around the place. The fence was installed to catch the paper the wind blows over the bank from below or while it is being dumped.

If the people use it properly, the dump will be open to the public on a full time and free basis. If not, regulations will be necessary.

Tyee-Beaver-Sappho News

By MRS. J. E. MERRITT

Mr. and Mrs. James Kerr left for their home in Mount Vernon on Monday of last week after an overnight visit at the Rex Everett home in Sappho.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Dawkins had as guests last week Mrs. Dawkins' parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Wheeler Sr., of Parkville on Vancouver Island, and their, Ed Wheeler of Victoria and James Jr., with his wife and son from Prince George, all of whom arrived on Sunday, August 18. The younger Wheelers returned to their homes on Monday, while their parents remained till Friday. When they came they had intended coming on Saturday but were unable to do so because of lack of space on any of the Port Angeles bound ferries.

Mrs. Clyde Smith returned home Sunday from Kingston, where she visited her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Don Norris. Her son, Ken Smith and his fiancée Karol McKee came to Kingston and took Mrs. Smith to Mountlake Terrace for a visit, and showed her where Ken taught last year and will teach again this year, at the Mountlake Terrace Junior High School. Miss McKee is a Domestic Science teacher at an Auburn Junior High School.

Mr. and Mrs. George McCain spent three days last week in Mount Vernon and Mountlake Terrace. While in Mount Vernon they attended an Old Timers' picnic at Blanchard.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Loushin and their three daughters arrived home late Sunday night from a 9-day trip. They went by way of White Pass and Yakima, to Grand Coulee where they visited Mrs. Loushin's cousin, Mrs. Clare Love and family, and were treated to a sight of Grand Coulee Dam by night.

Going on to Missoula, Montana, they visit Mrs. Loushin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Dawkins, and brother, Larry Dawkins and family. A second brother, Mike Dawkins, who is with the Green Berets had been on a special training mission in Okinawa and came home by way of Hawaii arriving the same day as the Loushins, and they had the added pleasure of seeing him then. Leaving the children with their grandparents the Loushins and her brother-in-law and sister Mr. and Mrs. Doug Curran made a trip to Yellowstone National Park and to the Lewis and Clark cabins near Butte, Montana.

Editorial

A news paper readily available to the people of the West End claims "It's a case of poor losers" in regard to the protests leveled at the tape listening episode in connection with redistricting.

The citizens and this paper did not claim or accuse Jim Manders of altering the tape played before Judge Ott. The protest was leveled at the tape not being played in its entirety or that it was not the tape heard by several Forks people.

The protests were obvious. The Seattle attorney had managed to get the judge to listen to the tape for the purpose of determining if enough evidence was contained within to cause the case to be reopened. The plaintiffs and attorney felt there was.

No, not poor losers, but a case of justice seekers. They believe their own commissioner and they believe what they heard.

TRUE CONSERVATION

In the next 30 years, it is expected there will be some 120 million more people in the United States. With growing urgency, as our population increases, we must be concerned with learning how to conserve and gain the greatest benefit from the land and forest resources of this nation.

Describing true conservation, an official of one of the nation's major timber and forest products companies said "...there are beautiful and special places in our magnificent country which must be held aside unspoiled and untrammeled. . . But we are at a point of crisis for land use and we do plead for reason in facing this crisis.

"Conservation is not locking the forest away. . . Conservation is the multiple use of the forest lands. It is first the perpetuation of the forest in various age groups of trees so that the nation may have the benefit of products from this renewable resource forever. It is the use of the forest for grazing, for water retention, for wildlife for all the recreation activities from driving, to camping, to horseback riding, picnicing, fishing, rock hounding, hunting, gold panning or what have you. It is reaping the total benefit from the forest. . . not just preserving it, not just making of it a cellulose cemetery but keeping it vital for the most citizens."

Modern timber companies are learning to grow better trees faster and to use each part of each tree more completely to make the thousands of wood derived products that are part of our everyday lives. The major land owning timber companies have become gold mines of informed leadership in the development of creative land use policies that can assure the perpetual abundance, enjoyment and recreation that can be realized from this nation's forest resources.

Firearms Issue

The traditional right of individual U. S. citizens to own firearms has become a controversial issue as a result of the acts of berserk assassins and the rise of violence. So far, law-abiding citizens have not become the victims of the extremists: who would like to outlaw ownership of guns and subject the citizen to something approaching police-state type surveillance. In our deep concern over lawlessness, it would be easy to fall prey to needless and futile repression--futile, since curbing the liberty of the law abiding has little bearing on the acts of law violators. The implications of the gun ownership question are far-reaching.

The right of gun ownership is a heritage of the U. S. people that goes back to the founding of the nation. It is associated with the initiative and resourcefulness of an independent people. Our history is rich in the legends of the Daniel Boones, the Davy Crocketts and the host of trail-blazers who wrested the country from a wilderness. Before them, there was the formative era

LABOR DAY THOUGHT

Labor Day provides a time for all to salute the millions of men and women who are America's workforce. In turn, it seems like an opportune time for those of us who make up the greatest workforce in the world, to give a moment's thought to the unexcelled working conditions we enjoy, and to the security shared in knowing that our personal and family obligations can be met.

Maybe it's a good time to consider the source of much of this security—"second paychecks" in the form of benefits which touch nearly every aspect of our lives: health, education, disability, leisure, recreation, savings plans, insurance, retirement and even death, to name a few.

It will cost U. S. companies an estimated $70 billion in 1968 to provide this security for their employees, and many experts feel the actual total is millions higher.

These fringe benefits are a mutual investment by management and labor in the continued well-being of employees and provide added evidence of the unsurpassed rewards of participating in life the American way. LABOR DAY—1968

Labor Day this year falls on the second of September. As the last long three-day holiday of the summer, it signals the coming of the fall season and a pick-up in the tempo of life that is characteristic of this time of year. One of the newest of our national holidays, Labor Day, is intended as a time to commemorate the contributions which labor has made to the economic, social and political development of the United States.

This will be a hard task, and we enjoy the beach or the mountains or the barbecue in our own backyard this Labor Day, let us give a thought and our best wishes to American labor and to the men and women who must help move it and this nation forward.

NOTE: The following is a slightly modified version of a statement entered into the minutes of the May 21, 1968 meeting of the Board of Education of Independent School District No. 625 in St. Paul, Minnesota. The agenda item was an increase in the superintendent's salary.

The job of the superintendent for our school system may not be a really significant one. It is no more difficult than that of administering any other 30-million dollar a year service business, no harder than managing any other business having 2,000 employees (most of them skilled professionals scattered through 100 buildings), and no more difficult than being directly responsible seven hours each day for 47,000 children (having an average age of 11 and each with hypercritical parents).

Being the superintendent of our school system is no more exacting than attempting to provide a course of instruction precisely tailored to the needs of the boy who will go to M.I.T. on a G.M. scholarship and to the unfortunate handicapped child of the class, defined as trainable only. Beyond this, all that is required is keeping the entire community pleased with the production. Those who have sat through the effort to hire a superintendent know that you can count on your thumbs those whom you would consider qualified for the job.

Still another dimension, the superintendent's job is like that of the president of a corporation having 100,000 shareholders, each convinced he has an unlimited right either to invade the office or to telephone at any time of day or night in order to berate him for everything.

As we have seen in recent years, schools have become the center of everyone's attack on all of the ills of society. Whatever is wrong or thought by anyone to be wrong, it must surely be the fault of the schools—not the home, the parents, the church, the business community—but the schools. Therefore, the blame for everything gets laid at the feet of the superintendent.

He is the whipping boy when any child, for whatever reason, fails to live up to his parents' notion of his proper educational achievement and for every disgruntled civil rights, taxpayer, or business group that thinks all the ills of society should be attributed solely to him.

It is not suggested that the educational establishment should be immune from criticism. Since one can never be more than 51 percent sure of anything and since nearly every policy question is one on which reasonable men can be expected to differ, criticism is inevitable and it is indispensable.

There is, however, a great gulf between criticism and abuse. Every citizen has a right and an obligation to question and to ask for explanations. I do not believe that any civilized person has a right or license to engage in ill-mannered vilification.

Because so large a proportion of criticism of school officials is of the latter sort, what we are dealing with in a consideration of our superintendent's compensation is, on the one hand, pay for the skills required to do what in its very nature is a virtually impossible job and, on the other, adding an element of hazard or combat pay as we recognize that the public, in dealing with superintendents of schools all over the country, has apparently forgotten "the traditions of civility" upon which Walter Lippman says Western civilization rests.

The board should vote the increase and vote with it an expression of thanks and approval to our superintendent for his great services to the community.

Do you find your budget short this month and the kids need Back-To-School clothes and Supplies?

Thousands On Highways For Weekend

Out of nearly two million drivers in Washington, how many will be on the highways this Labor Day weekend? Add these to the visitors from out of State and the number will be astronomical. This final holiday period before children return to their schoolbooks, ranks among the top three times a year when most people are on the move. According to Chief Will Bachofner of the Washington State Patrol, the same weekend last year produced 18 deaths in traffic alone. In the urban areas, 307 persons were injured in or by cars. "Sounds like the casualty report of a wartime battle, doesn't it? Military men died to preserve the peace. Why, then, were these lives lost on Washington's highways?" Bachofner asked.

"The cause of accidents is generally easy to answer, but the 'why' is a tough one. Apathy, perhaps? It can't happen to me! I'm too good a driver! One split second less all it takes."

"The sign said 70, so I thought I could drive that even though it was raining. The yellow line was on my side, but I thought I could see good enough to pass. I looked both ways and couldn't see any cars coming so I didn't see any reason to stop at the sign--I don't know where that other car came from."

"These are only a few of the many reasons people give our investigation troopers as they file their accident report," Chief Bachofner said. "We hope that you won't have the need to give one of these reasons this weekend."

The critical times during this Labor Day period, the ones to avoid if at all possible, will be Friday evening and Monday afternoon and evening. Be especially alert during this holiday--take the time to live!

Walk and Be Healthy

DEAR JANE

Dear Jane:

My husband and I are Honda enthusiasts and frequently go on trips together, we also do some competition riding. Last week we were all set to go on a three day trip, had our bikes packed and were heading out of town when a disturbing incident happened. A woman that I know personally threw a lit cigarette out of her window at me as she passed us. Then the second day another car tried to run us off the road. I wish you would comment.

NO MOBILE ASHTRAY

Dear Ashtray:

Discourteous people on the highway are not only unforgivably crude, but they are extremely dangerous. To deliberately put someone else in jeopardy while on the highway is indicative of a wanton psychoneurotic. They need the man in the little white coat!

Dear Jane:

I am a bachelor, 45 years of age engaged to be married to a lovely young thing of 39. My fiancée is living at home with her mother and has frequently expressed concern over leaving mother alone, as she is the only child. I suggested that my fiancée's mother come and live with us after we are married but her mother does not want me in the same house. We have been engaged for nine and a half years and I have really tried to get my fiancée's mother used to the idea of her eventual marriage, but her mother just will not accept me. My fiancée and I are both deeply in love and very devoted to each other. She is the only one for me, but she will not leave her mother. I have tried to be patient but I'm beginning to...
LOSE MY PATIENCE

Dear Lose:

You will lose more than patience if you marry this one. In a marriage a man has all he can handle with one female! There are any number of eligible gals who would gladly cut their mother's apron strings for a good patient man.

Dear Jane:

The other day, I was sitting in my car at the parking lot of a grocery store waiting for a friend to come out of the store with her groceries. I was sitting there minding my own business, when I heard a noise from the vehicle next to me. A man was in the riders side of a pickup throwing kisses and making a pass at me. I gasped, turned red then burst out laughing. Just then my girl friend returned with her groceries, finding me almost hysterical—she saw him do it too and we got out of there real fast. I haven't told my husband. What should I do if it ever happens again?

BACK TO COLLEGE

Autumn is just around the corner, and so is back-to-school time for millions. Many of you will be going away to college, packing up clothes, shoes, cosmetics and shaving gear, and trying to remember the thousand and one items you'll need away from home. Before you close that suitcase, check these suggestions in handy spray form from the Aerosol Division of the Chemical Specialties Manufacturers Association.

(1) Keep your closets and dresser drawers fresh with an aerosol sachet. They come in a variety of fragrances, from sweet floral scents to a masculine lime or sandalwood, so your clothes—and you—will always be "nice to be near".
(2) Going away to school is meeting new people—professors, future boy—and girl-friends, sorority and fraternity members. First impressions are important, and what makes a better impression than a shiny pair of shoes? Pack a spray to keep your leather footwear glossy, and an aerosol cleaner and restorer for suede.
(3) Starch is a must—there's no one but you to keep your clothes clean and pressed now. Aerosol starch is quick and easy and no problem to store.
(4) Mate room in the suitcase for a spray antiseptic. It's wonderful for the little cuts and burns that are part of daily living, and less provident roommates will call you a lifesaver!

(5) Last but certainly not least, don't forget all the personal grooming sprays you normally use. Take your cologne, hair spray, deodorant, shaving cream—and add an aerosol foot refresher. On a big college campus your feet may need it!

School Population Explosion Felt In Local District

Population explosions throughout the nation have had a distinct effect on the facilities of Quillayute Valley Schools as indicated by actual student counts taken each October and facts based on state projected enrollments.

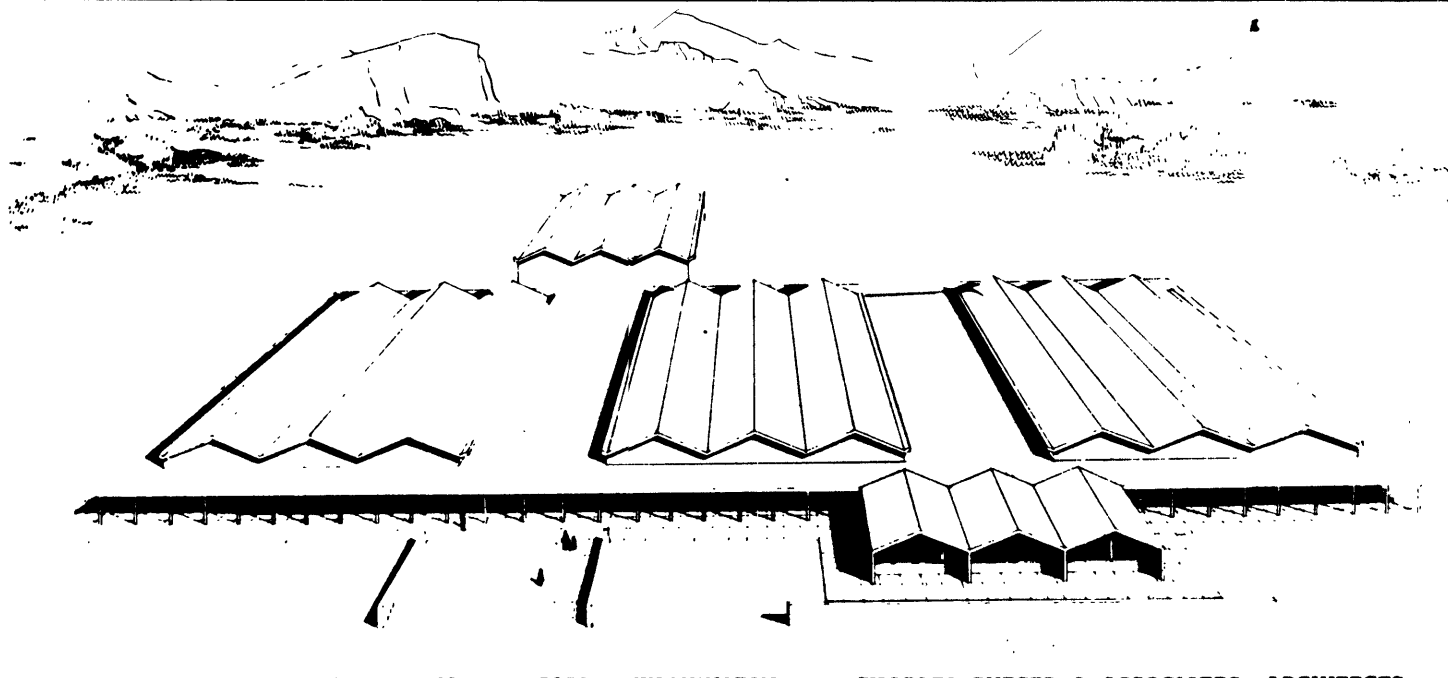

Referring to population figures in 1953, the total enrollment was 699. The six elementary grades totaled 408, junior high 169 and senior high 122. In 1956 the total enrollment was up to 852 and tailed off from 1957-1961. In 1962 the figure climbed to 884, an increase of 61 students over 1961, and the district enrollment has increased each year since 1962. The only exception is an average dip of 21 students in 1966 and 1967. The overall average has been an average increase of 28 plus students each year from 1953 to 1967.

The 1965 enrollment of 1055 students marked the peak attendance. 1968 total is expected to be 1103.

The state projected enrollment for the district expects Forks schools to reach a figure of 1538 by 1975.

Quillayute Valley School District does not have the facilities to accommodate the enrollment at this time, but the board has been working extra hours to prepare the plans for future construction.

The first item is the bond issue to be voted on in the September 17 primary for phase one of the total projected elementary school construction. This will be the 18 classroom building and multi-purpose room with kitchen facilities.

PROPOSED ELEMENTARY SCHOOL | FORKS WASHINGTON | CHARLES RUEGER & ASSOCIATES ARCHITECTS

Bond Issue On September Ballot

A $600,000 bond issue for constructing the first phase of the new Forks Elementary school will appear on the primary election ballot September 17, by action of the Board of Directors of Quillayute Valley School District.

The proposed building will include 18 classrooms, a multi-purpose room and serving kitchen and the elementary school administration office.

A second bond issue will be necessary in the future to construct the library and another 18 classroom building which will meet the needs of the community school system for the immediate future.

It's possible the board will not find it necessary to sell $600,000 in bonds to complete the initial phase. The district must reach the bond limit of 10% of the net value of the school district to insure state financial aid. The state will match 20% of the bond for the school building construction if the limit has been met by the school district.

If the bond issue receives an affirmative mandate by the people, the board could call for bids as early as January 1969 and work would begin when weather conditions appear favorable.

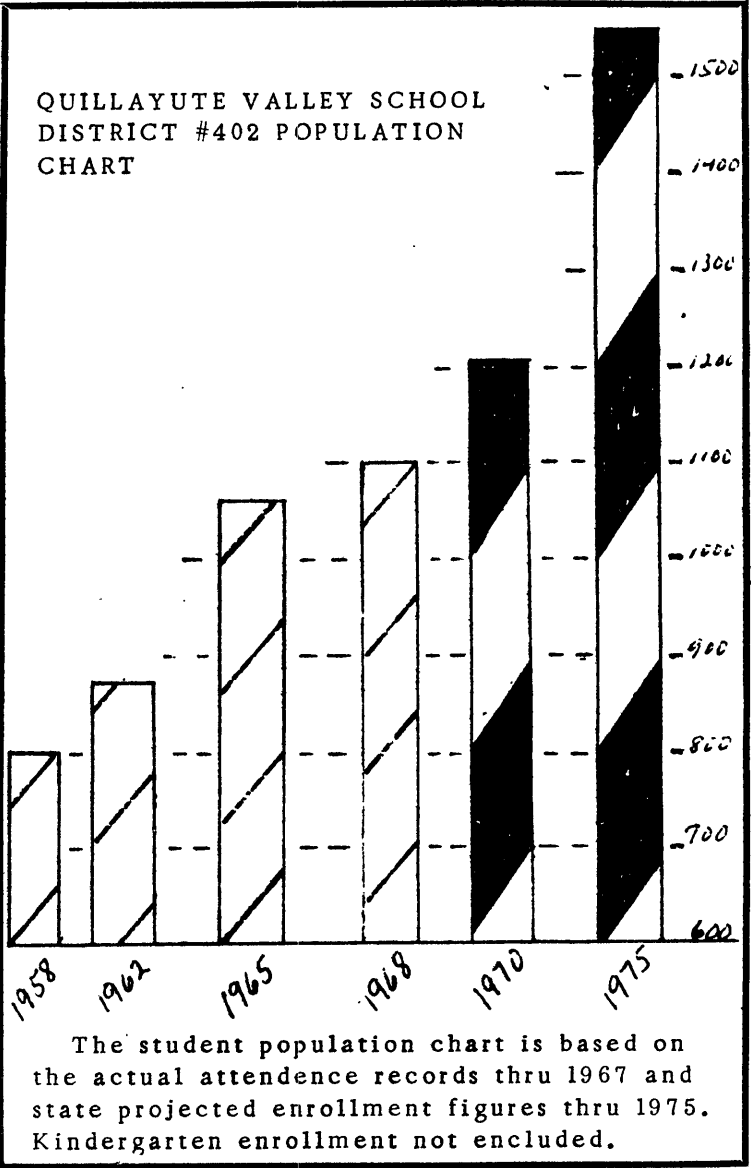

All elements favorable, the building could be ready for occupancy by Christmas vacation 1969. Weather, strikes, material shortages, and etc. will have a bearing on the completion date.

ARTISTS SKETCH OF THE FIRST PHASE OF THE PROPOSED ELEMENTARY SCHOOL. THE BOND ISSUE WILL BE ON THE SEPTEMBER 17 PRIMARY BALLOT.

SPORTS WANDERINGS . . .

Syd Glasco "fly fishing pro" nailed a 9 pound summer run steelhead in the Hoh before the river turned off color over the weekend. Syd won't disclose his favorite fishing hole.

Some of the best river fishing of the year is coming as the salmon begin their spawning runs. Kings and jacks have been reported in the Sol Duc, Bogachiel and Hoh Rivers with numerous catches reported recently. Cutthroat trout offer a good fighting fish for the sportsman with the light tackle. These fish seem to follow the spawning salmon, feeding off the spawn.

High school football hopefuls were issued gear this week and will begin the two week preparations for the opener against Noclipis September 13.

Coach Roy Mohondro anticipates a large turnout. He will instill the formation at the new Spartan offense.

"Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth in me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father."

This passage from the Gospel of John is part of the Responsive Reading in this week's Lesson-Sermon on "Christ Jesus" to be read Sunday in all Christian Science churches. The services begin at 11 a.m. in V. F. W. Hall, A street S.E.

Related passages from the denominational textbook are also part of the Lesson-Sermon. Among those included this week is the following: "His consummate example was for the salvation of us all, but only through doing the works which he did and taught others to do. His purpose in healing was not alone to restore health, but to demonstrate his divine Principle. He was inspired by God, by Truth and Love, in all that he said and did" ("Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy).

BROCK ON THE ISSUES

SCHOOL FOREST FUNDS
Due to an act of the Legislature, the schools now keep only part of the funds paid to the schools from sale of timber from federal land. Congress voted these funds to help those counties which lose considerable tax revenue due to large federal land ownership. These funds should be restored to the schools in the affected counties. If they had been available for the past two years the need for many special school levies would have been eliminated. The amount taken away from Clallam County schools for next year is over $186,000.

Timber will be sold on a log scale basis. Timber must be removed prior to September 30, 1970.
On or before September 24, 1968, at 10:00 a.m., each bidder must make a minimum deposit of $5,765.00 in the form of cash, money order or certified check. Said deposit shall constitute an opening bid at the appraised price. Upon award of this sale, the respective deposits shall be returned to the unsuccessful bidders. The purchaser must, on the day of sale, make an additional payment so that the total amount deposited, exclusive of fees, will equal 10% of the full bid price based on the cruise estimate, plus a $25.00 deposit on a branding hammer and a $5.00 bill of sale fee. This additional payment may be by personal check. Purchaser must also furnish within 30 days of date of sale a surety bond of $8,000.00 to guarantee compliance with all terms of the bill of sale. All checks, money orders, etc. are to be made payable to the Commissioner of Public Lands.
Accessibility: via private and Department of Natural Resources access.
Purchaser must enter into a Road Use Permit with ITT Rayonier Incorporated.
Complete contract and specifications may be examined at Forks District Headquarters, County Auditor's office, and office of the Commissioner of Public Lands, Olympia.
To be sold at Forks District Headquarters on Tuesday, September 24, 1968, at 10 o'clock a.m.
Any sale which has been offered, and for which no bids are received shall not be reoffered until it has been readvertised. If all sales cannot be offered within the specified time on the advertised date, the sale shall continue on the following day between the hours of ten o'clock a.m. and four o'clock p.m.
Said timber on said land will be sold for not less than the appraised value, as appraised by the Commissioner of Public Lands in the manner provided by law, a notice of which is now on file in the office of the Auditor of said county, and District Administrator of said district.

WORTH TALKING ABOUT

"Recently the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce took this state's proportionate share of the $186.1 billion federal budget and prorated it among the various counties within Pennsylvania. I was interested, and more than a little shocked, to see that Lancaster County's share of that budget is $305 million. That's just about equal to the total annual wages and salaries paid to manufacturing employees within the county, and only slightly below the total assessed valuation of all our taxable real estate."
