PORT ANGELES OLYMPIC LEADER

VOL. 29. NO. 39. PORT ANGELES, CLALLAM COUNTY, WASHINGTON, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1913. 5c THE COPY.

GRADING ON THE HEIGHTS

Owners of a Thousand Lots and 30 Suburban Tracts Planning for Extensive Improvement.

The city council held another important meeting Tuesday night but there was some evidence of dodging the issue and some of the contemplated work went over. The vacancy in the Sixth and two absentees, Fisher and Myers, brought the attendance down to a bare quorum. A spirit of unanimity characterized all acts.

A petition signed by the owners of 1178 lots and 30 suburban tracts petitioned the council for the grading of Eighth street from C street to the bluff overlooking the strait between sub blocks 41 and 45, and of K street from the Sampson tract on the waterfront to 16th street. The petitioners pledged to provide city with sufficient money to take care of all clerical and engineer's preliminary expenses. Dustman moved that the petition be granted under the guarantee, which motion carried unanimously.

The report of the committee recently made to council was brought up in a resolution by Swanson reciting the recommendations of the committee and resolving that it is not advisable at this time to spend any money until the committee guaranteeing the necessary dirt for the Railroad avenue fill shall report to the city council that it has enough personal signed contracts for the necessary dirt and the price which will be paid by said property owners for the removal of the dirt from their premises to the required fill. Elliott moved the adoption of the resolution, seconded by Dustman and carried unanimously.

An ordinance was submitted which has for its purpose the building of a sidewalk on either side of Eighth street, from Valley to C, and the creation of an assessment district to pay for the same. Hearing Oct. 21st.

An ordinance was proposed and also referred providing for the licensing of employment and intelligence agencies.

Dustman called attention to delay in placing decking on Eighth street bridges. Engineer and street superintendent stated that they had promises that lumber would be available shortly. Upon motion it was ordered that clerk write Filion Mill Co. and ascertain if the order could not be hurried.

City Attorney Smith stated that he was convinced that unless the council act at once on the Railroad avenue improvement that the railroad would take steps to build down Front street. To save time and to provide a "hearing in the matter for both sides" he had prepared an ordinance fixing the grades as recommended by the committee and as fixed by Engineer Gehrke, in conference with the city engineer; also resolutions of intention of council to order work done.

This precipitated quite a discussion in which Elliott asked if resolutions were passed if it would save Front street from Railroad work. Attorney answered it might. Elliott answered that he was brought down town that day to be told that the matter was all settled, but that his attorneys told him no. When he is assured that the adoption of the resolutions will release Front street from Francis street west he is willing to assist, but not until.

To get the matter before council Dustman introduced the ordinance, re-establishing the grades from the waterfront to Eighth and Cedar to Francis. This was read in full, and follows along the lines suggested by the special committee. It was read a second time and referred to the ordinance committee, engineer and attorney. Nobody seemed to want to at this time father the resolutions prepared for the work on Railroad avenue and they went over by default, which according to the city attorney means that the railroad will build on Front street.

A. A. Smith asked privilege of installing a 2-horse power electric motor. Referred to light committee.

Upon recommendation of City Attorney, clerk was directed to issue warrants in lieu of labor certificate issued to Wm. Race.

Geo. Benson petitioned council for removal of building in Sixth street just off Valley, and matter was referred to marshal with directions to act in case of violation of ordinance. Marshal was also directed to clear alley between B and C and 9th and 10th.

Assistant Chief of the Fire Department F. Dilling, recommended to council the removal of hydrant at First and Laurel to Third and Laurel. Also that old hose cart is in bad shape and a new one needed. Referred.

The final assessment roll of Third street was submitted by Engineer and Clerk and upon motion of Dustman hearing on the same was set for November 11, at 7 p. m.

Engineer Filion also reported completion of contract of Johnson & Leonard for work on Francis street, including special work recently ordered, giving the estimate of the amount due at $2,212 and $150. After some discussion the work was accepted and payments ordered made.

The light committee recommended the placing of a light at Seventh and Chambers streets and the report was adopted.

The gravelling of Francis and Front street intersections was reported done and a good job. The engineer thought there was more than the required 130 yards for which the engineer had estimated $1 per yard, and the bid was $1.25. The street superintendent reported the total cost $108 or 80c per yard.

The clerk called attention of council that it will be required to meet next Monday night to consider and fix tax levy for 1914, and upon motion of Dustman, council adjourned until 7 p. m., Oct. 6.

BREWERY RECEIVER WANTS $15,000

Attorneys Consider Their Services in Settlement of Affairs Worth that Much More.

Monday and Tuesday the attention of the Superior Court was occupied in hearing the voluminous report of the Receiver of the Angeles Brewing and Malting Company, the assets of which company were recently sold at receiver's sale. C. S. Snoddy, of the Richard Saxe-Jones law office of Seattle, representing a large number of the unsecured creditors, protested against the form of the report, and put the receiver and his witnesses thru a searching examination to learn, he stated, the true state of facts, and the necessity for certain payments. The receiver and his attorneys each ask an allowance of $15,000 compensation. The Court took the whole matter under consideration and set the final hearing on the objections for Dec. 1st. In the same matter, Edgar C. Snyder, representing the purchasers, asked an order for the receipts of a suit pending in the event of the receiver winning. This the Court refused, but allowed the presentation of an affidavit in support of the contention which Mr. Snyder believes will further enlighten the Court.

The Court on Thursday gave its decision sustaining the demurrer in the case of Johnny George vs. Louis James Tallicus, on the ground of jurisdiction, the demurrer claiming that the case if brought at all should come up in the Federal court. George, an Elwha Indian, seeks to have Tallicus removed from the title of an Elwha farm, the latter receiving his interest from an alleged adoption some years ago.

In the damage suit of Fred Wright vs. Mayor Mead and others plaintiff was allowed to file an amended complaint eliminating the Inland Nav. Co. from this suit, and joining all damages in one cause of action. Defendants' motion to strike the fifth paragraph of the amended complaint was granted for this purpose, it providing a separate cause of action against the Navigation Company.

Yesterday the demurrer of defendant M. A. Fisher was overruled and defendant given ten days to further plead. In this action Francis Kane, owner of premises, asks defendants to vacate.

Hearing on petition for sale of personal property and inventory in the Sarah Richardson estate is set for October 21.

Has Finally Consented to Stand for Election in Proposed 2nd Agricultural District.

At the urgent request of friends of the law and personal friends, Superintendent Geisness has finally consented to stand for election as commissioner for the second district in the proposed agricultural development district. Only a desire to see that the new law as exemplified in the working of the proposed development district can influence men of integrity and ability to undertake this gigantic task without any possible remuneration for the work which must of necessity be done. A new law of this nature must have every detail looked into personally by the commissioners who are to manage the affairs of the municipality, and a constructive policy along conservative and definite lines must be at the outset adopted and strictly adhered to to the end that actual settlers alone be the beneficiaries. The public should remember that its support is needed in a matter of this kind and every assistance and encouragement should be given those who without hope of reward give gratuitously their time and services to the public good. Undue criticisms should be avoided for at best untrodden paths will have to be explored. Prof. Geisness believes that there is great possibilities in the proposed agricultural development district and with the adoption of the new municipality the public should feel itself indebted to Mr. Geisness in the sacrifices he will of necessity make to prove the blessing of the new venture.

Dr. Geisness Makes Statement

On the last day for filing as candidate for commissioner of the proposed Agricultural Development District a number of my friends circulated a petition, secured the requisite number of signatures and filed my name with the Auditor as candidate for the office of commissioner from this district. I appreciate the interest thus manifested on the part of my friends in Port Angeles although it was done without my request and without any expressed desire on my part to become a candidate. My withdrawal, announced in the papers the following day, came too late to take my name out of the legal notices sent out by the Auditor. In view of the fact that the legal notices containing my name as candidate have already been posted and the further fact that it has been represented to me that my withdrawal at his time may hurt the cause I decided to stand for the position. I believe there are great possibilities in the law for Clallam county and would therefore like to see the proposition for forming an Agricultural Development District carried. If elected I shall use my best efforts toward making the work a success. Whatever canvass I may see fit to make will be in the interest of the proposition and I hope my friends as well as others with whom I am not personally acquainted may vote for the man whom they believe will best subserve the interests of the district. THOMAS GEISNESS.

Regrettable as it is, there seems to be little interest and little knowledge of the working of the proposed Agricultural Development District manifested. Among those who are acquainted with the law enacted for the creation of the new district, there are those who are for and against the idea. All agree that the theory is correct, and that with conscientious work on the part of the commissioners-elect, vast good can be accomplished for the immediate development of the logged-off areas of this section and in assisting the present settler of small means to double and treble his cultivated fields The objectors, however, oppose the creation of the district for conservative reasons. They favor the policy of waiting—waiting to see how the plan works out in other counties—forgetting, perhaps, that the law was especially designed to aid those counties backward in general agricultural development, in which class the big timber county of Clallam stands in the front rank. But little expense is necessary to find out just what can be done under the new order, and with men of conservatism like County Superintendent Geisness and J. M. Grant, safeguarded by all the provisions of the law which bring into the work the board of county commissioners, engineers, assessor and in fact all officials, it is hardly possible that any mistakes of moment will be made.

The provisions of the new law and the powers and duties of the new Board of Agricultural Commissioners have been given in these columns from time to time. The essential and most important provisions are:

Three commissioners, to be nominated by one per cent petition; to be elected at said election October 15 for 1, 2, and 3 years respectively, one to be elected every year thereafter at a special election to be held in December for that purpose.

Commissioners shall have power by issuance of bonds to acquire lands for development, and water rights for irrigation purposes. To own and control and sell and lease lands; to build and improve roads; to raise revenue on all taxable property not exceeding two mills in the same manner as school funds are now raised; to purchase, manufacture or otherwise acquire materials and equipment for clearing and developing lands and to sell or lease same at cost to settlers; to give aid in production and marketing of products; to borrow money and issue bonds as any other municipality; to create and fill such offices as may be found necessary. (Considerable of this last would only be resorted to in the later development of future years, after the law had been fully tried out and

FORTY NEW HOUSES IN ONE DISTRICT

Central Residence Portion of City Has Made Substantial Gain; Those Now Building.

Contractor Wolverton has a large force of men at work this week on a new bungalow he will rush to completion for Fred Grubb on Sixth street, near Cherry.

W. T. Belford commenced work this week on a cottage on the lot just west of his residence corner Third and Cherry streets. The building has been rented by W. C. Dey of Sequim. Mr. Belford tells us that he contemplates the building of two other cottages this fall, both on 4th street, one on the lots adjoining the Miss Robertson residence, the other to be located on lots between Oak and Laurel.

Mr. Byers is building a home for his daughter, Mrs. Martin Johnson, on 12th street, between Vine and Albert.

Otto Pollock is building a neat little cottage on 11th street, between Vine and Albert.

Norman Cloukie has commenced the erection of a new house on Pine Hill, 8th and Cedar streets.

C. E. Underhill is building a new home on 5th and Valley.

Wm. Barnard has commenced the construction of a new home in the east part of town, on 7th and Race streets.

Cal Moore is building a fine cottage with cement basement, near the bluff on 6th street, near Cherry. The house is a modern one with fireplace and other appointments. The place is enclosed with a picket fence. Mr. and Mrs. Moore took up their residence here last March.

H. Fred Bishop will build a modern bungalow on his lots north side of Boulevard, near Oak. Work has already commenced clearing the ground for the cement foundation and floor for a garage. Mr. Bishop and family came here recently from Minnesota.

Miss LaFollette is building an addition to her house on Eighth, near Vine.

There are many other residences in course of construction throughout all parts of the city, mention of which have been made in previous issues of this paper.

Word comes that Mr. Al Singer, who built a fine summer home on Lake Crescent this season, fell from a cliff out in the mountains while hunting Wednesday, sustaining a broken leg and other injuries. A large party from the Sol Duc hot springs went to the rescue. We are without further particulas.

FIRST BLAST BIG SUCCESS

Results Fully Up to Expectations of Engineers. 2000 Yards of Rock Dropped into Canyon.

Fully two thousand cubic yards of rock were dropped into the canyon Wednesday, just below the big cement caisson, when the first blast was fired, and the river immediately rose six feet.

Manager Aldwell, the engineers, and superintendent, were all more than pleased, and everyone who saw the blast is saying with the utmost confidence, "She'll hold this time all right." As one gentleman says, No power on earth could move those big rock wedged in that canyon."

The blast extended from the waterfall below the dam, three hundred feet down river on this side of the stream. When it was set off there was a puff and a slight tremor, and that was all. One eye witness says he could have stood within fifty feet in perfect safety.

The object of this first blast was to fill the canyon below the caisson that the rock might act as an additional brace before the main charge is fired above the dam. Before that occurs, however, other blasts will be fired below the dam and the channel filled above and on either side the caisson.

Above the dam the work will be so complete that a long sloping surface will extend up river, similar to all river dams in the East, instead of the entire weight of water resting against a vertical wall as before. It is believed all will be in readiness for the main blast by the last of the month.

IRONDALE ARRERS SETTLED

Creditors of Western Steel Get Dividend of One Per Cent.

After being in court for nearly two years, during which a bitter legal fight was carried on, reaching to the circuit court of appeals, the affairs of the bankrupt Western Steel Corporation were finally settled in Seattle Tuesday, says the Townsend Leader. The Metropolitan Trust Co. held notes of the steel corporation for a sum aggregating more than a million dollars..

Now that the affairs of the corporation have been settled, it is believed that if anything is done to bring about a resumption of operations at Irondale, some indication will be given in the near future. The Metropolitan Trust has in the past several times announced its intention of operating the plant, and several months ago transferred all interest to the Occidental Steel company. The plant at Irondale has been visited by several different parties during the past few months, several of whom were declared to be making inspections of the project for presentation to capitalists who intended to finance the concern. It is generally figured that the Metropolitan company cannot well afford to leave its present heavy interest in Pacific Coast steel making go without some effort to get its money back. On this theory hangs the greatest hope that the plan will again be placed in operaion.

CANNERY PICTURES AGAIN

The splendid slides and motion pictures showing the propogation of salmon have been secured for this occasion for the benefit of those unable to see them last Monday. Also a Two Reel (Imp.) Drama with King Baggot in the leading role, entitled "The Old Melody." Two other reels will complete the program. A competent lecturer will explain the numerous views of the salmon industry. Two shows, no advance in prices.

The county treasurer has received the last $50,000 of the road bond money from the state, also something like $200 from the sale of timber in the Olympic reserve.

DELIGHTFUL FALL WEATHER

What delightful autumn weather we are having. In fact we have had one of the finest summer seasons ever known in the Pacific Northwest. While the people of other sections of the country, East, North, South, and the Middle West, have sweltered in the excessive heat of the past summer the Northwest alone has been blessed with an equable climate, neither too cold nor too hot—fine spring weather, with an occasional shower, all summer. The timely rains during the summer months, unusual in this section, have given our ranchers an abundant harvest of hay and grains, and prolonged the garden crops.

The senior editor's table is still supplied with fresh garden peas, the second crop grown from seed planted last April, and the family table was supplied with fresh blackberries and logan berries on September 30th, picked fresh from the bushes that day. There may be other countries as productive as the Pacific Northwest, but they have not as yet been charted on the map.

The scales and weights which were purchased by the various counties of the state several years ago have now all been tested by officials at the capital and the weights and measures law passed by the last legislature will soon be made effective. Mr. Clark, of Island county, the inspector for this district, will soon make the rounds and straighten out the scales in use by the various merchants.

THE NEWS OF THE COUNTY

Oil Well at Forks Down 1250 Feet; New Mill Equipment at Mt. Pleasant; Out in the Hills.

John Ward, proprietor of the Forks hotel, is spending a few days fishing and hunting with his brother on Bear creek. One bear and several strings of trout have been hauled in so far.

A grand ball was given at Forks last week in honor of the Washington Oil people. Those who attended from Sappho were Miss Clara Oberg, Miss Ester Bertolet, Mr. Victor and Mr. Alvin Wahlgreen.

Albert Iverson and Iver Skavdal from Port Crescent are visiting with their cousins at Sappho and Forks.

Dr. Koenig from Forks made a business trip upsound last week.

T. F. Rixon, engineer of the bonded road, spent last week inspecting the work on same and returned to Angeles by way of Clallam Bay.

We understand Mr. Henry Ahlvers from Port Angeles has taken up a homestead in the vicinity of the Solduck and we are all glad to have him a neighbor.

Mrs. Kenneth Cowan from Neah Bay is spending a few weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson at Beaver.

Miss Hazel Murray, teacher at Clallam Bay, spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives and friends at Tyee.

Morgan Terwillegar has stocked his farm on the Solduck with a herd of goats. Utilizing these animals to clear land has become quite popular in Western Clallam county.

Harvey Dunlap, a contractor form Forks, made a business trip to Clallam Bay Tuesday.

A number of young people from the West End are at Angeles attending High School, namely, Selma Carlson, Sophie Schutz, Edna Scose, Stanley Murray and Clement Fairservice.

Captain Townsend, the popular "trapper," is making all preparations for a big catch of furs this coming season. The captain is an experienced hand at the work, at one time being connected with the Hudson Bay Fur Company.

Lee Marshall, who has been seriously ill, is recovering and Dr. Taylor returned to Angeles last week.

The Washington Oil Company, operating at Forks has reached a depth of 1250 feet. The indications to strike oil at any time are very favorable. The work is in charge of H. B. Siefert.

A company has been formed in London that insures against twins. This is the latest. At the same time there are people who contend that insurance is not a gambling proposition.

There will be four mayoralty tickets in the coming New York election—three on one side and Tammany on the other. That suits Tammany as it is easier to lick half a dozen than one.

A prisoner in Italy has just been found innocent after 38 years confinement in the penitentiary. It frequently takes that long over here to find a man guily once he gets into court.

A life convict in a Tennessee prison has been caught making counterfeit money. Now probably for that he will get a few years added to his sentence; and it will serve him right.

Joe Muller informs us that the "National Board of Censorship" is a myth—that, in other words, "there ain't no such critter." We always thought that if there is such a board it is a mighty poor judge of pictures in the light of some films which get by it.

The tariff bill, in its essentials, redeems the promise of the party in power. It is soon to undergo the test of practice. The people are in a mood to judge it fairly and soberly. They are going to consult facts, not prejudices and theories. They have genuine revision downward—the thing demanded for years. The future of tariff policy will largely depend on the working of the new measure.

Twenty pounds of potatoes, dry goods, ham and eggs, boots and shoes, or anything else almost, are mailable by parcels post under orders issued August 15th. But if you wish to send a lot of books, far less in weight, to your people at the beach or your boy who is studying up for his entrance examination at college, you must pay "third class rates", largely in excess. It is clearly unjust to put a tax on intelligence and remove it from foodstuff. Postmaster General Burleson has been making a splendid record for injecting business principles into the management of his department. He should use the influence of his office to secure the admission of books to the parcel post service.—Tacoma Tribune.

John Jackson, a local plasterer, says the Sedro Woolley Courier, has returned from a visit to Abeline, Kansas, and has brought back a picture of an ear of popcorn showing that some of the grain had "popped" in the field under the blistering sun that has ruined crops in the Middle West this summer. He says he knew no one here would believe it if he told them that popcorn would "pop" in the field. The leaves were burned off the trees, reports Mr. Jackson, and when he left were falling off as they do here in the late fall, marking the approach of winter. Gardens were completely lost and few of the farmers secured any crops.

A GOOD BANKING BILL

The Glass-Owen bill exactly pleases nobody. No practicable bill could exactly please anybody. All such legislation must be a compromise. The bankers themselves are as widely divided in their views of banking and currency needs as laymen are. No set of men in the world could frame a bill that would not be strongly criticized in certain parts by other sets of men. If we are to have any legislation at all on the subject no set can expect to see its own views carried out entirely.

Naturally and properly the Glass-Owen bill has been a storm-center of criticism ever since it was published, nearly three months ago; but do not let that mislead you as to the main point that it is substantially a good bill. Any other bill would have drawn an almost equal fire of criticism.

The sponsors of the bill, so far, have met criticism rather open-mindedly. They have already amended and improved the bill in half a dozen or more important details. Very likely they will still further amend it by reducing the number of reserve regions and giving the central reserve board a less exclusively political character.

If the bill passes as it stands at this writing it will immensely improve our banking and currency system and go a long way toward putting us abreast of all other great commercial nations in the fundamental matter of dependable credit facilities.

In our opinion the economic benefits flowing from its would much exceed those of the tariff bill—but not the political benefits, for high protection has always corrupted politics.

It will be a great misfortune if this bill is defeated—or indefinitely postponed—through the bigoted opposition of bankers or impractical radicals.—Saturday Post.

The best thing that ever happened to Senator Poindexter was when the Seattle P.-I. and the Perkins Press started the story about his having secured government positions for eleven of his relatives. He wisely let them publish and republish the lie, let them cartoon him and in every way possible commit themselves to slander. Then he made a reply which is supported by the facts and bears the impress of truth showing the absolute falsity of the charge. Simmering it all down it develops that he has just one near relative in the government service and that is his son who is studying at the Annapolis Naval Academy appointed thereto by Congressman LaFollette. There is nothing so beneficial to a man as a lie which has been industriously circulated and then is completely disproven. His enemies played poor politics in springing that yarn. They might better have harped on his vote for free trade. That vote would have lost him friends but for charge of nepotism made by his enemies.—South Bend Journal.

It is said the slit gown was known among the Romans. Maybe so. Modesty never was a characteristic of those ancient dames.

COMMUNITY BUILDING

The attitude you maintain toward your home town—its business men and its institutions—is reflected in the success or failure of the same. The success and happiness of every citizen in any community lie in the interest he takes in that comunity and the good work he can do to assist in its upbuilding.. Everything you do to help in the advancement of your own community you do just that much toward your own personal success. No man can live and prosper unto himself alone, for you are interdependent, and, realizing this, as good citizens, you should unite and pull together for the common good, and, doing this, you will prosper as a community and as individuals.

No town can stand still. It must either go forward or decline. It is up to you to say which it shall be.

Some towns hustle and grow—that is, the people hustle and the towns grow. They get the habit of boosting until every citizen becomes a booster. Pretty soon its reputation spreads and it becomes known far and wide as a good town, while others lapse into a state of innocuous desustude—an easy rock along manner—that soon classes that particular town as a dead one.

If you are knocking and complaining stop it. Nothing hurts a town more. If you are not a booster become one.

A BUSINESS EXAMPLE

While Bremerton business men are scrapping among themselves, kicking about the hard times, swearing about their competitors and neglecting to advertise, the mail order houses are right on the job. This week one of the most aggressive of the Chicago houses expressed its catalogues to a large list of Bremerton residents. Each one of them also received a pleasing personal letter, enclosing a stamped envelope to induce the prospective buyer to write to them about their service. This house has a branch within the second parcel post zone from here.

At least two of these houses are invading the western field and are going after business with the same energy that has made them formidable competitors for the small merchants in the East. They get the business, not so much by the difference in price, or quality, as usually this is small if it exists at all. They get it by placing their goods before the people. In other words, they advertise. Although deprived of the best means of advertising, that of attracting people within their stores by drawing display "ads" in the local papers and then by the variety and quality of the goods, holding their trade, they employ the means at their disposal so effectively that they get results. Naturally, although they only draw a few customers from each community, their gross business is large. They never let up. When business is good they advertise to get more, when it is poor, they advertise to get some.—Bremerton News.

If anyone supposes asphalt is a substance of recent discovery he is badly mistaken. According to the Latin Vulgate it was used by Noah to calk the seams of the ark. It was also used by the Egyptians in the foundations of the pyramids and a "water proofing material and burnt brick laid in asphalt" were used in the walls of Ninevah. The source of this supply is supposed to be in the fountain at Is, a tributary of the Euphrates. It was forgotten during the middle ages and not until the nineteenth century was it used for paving in London and Paris. That there is nothing new under the sun seems more apparent every day.

A Milwaukee man swallowed a bee. Now, probably, he is qualified to give inside information on how it feels to bee stung.

WORLD'S PEACE.

We hear much of peace today, but let me tell you the peace of the world is maintained by the great governments of the world. It is not the governments, but the peoples, from whom the danger of war comes today and will always come so long as they fail to exercise proper self restraint and the courtesy that the peace of the world demands. We in America must learn that we cannot continue a policy of peace with insult. We must learn civility. We must learn that when an American sovereign speaks of the affairs of a foreign nation he must observe those rules of courtesy by which alone the peace of the world can be maintained. —Senator Elihu Root.

Scarcely had the fire ceased burning that partially destroyed the D. W. Morse house last week when the smouldering embers were cleared away and work was commenced for the fine new house that Mr. Morse will erect. That the new house will be modern in all its appointments and a structure of architectural beauty, we are assured. The handsome store building erected by Mr. Morse this summer, that statement.

The Western Woman's Outlook is running a series of very excellent [illegible] taken from a book on that subject put out a number of years ago by Miss Adele Fields, who compiled it for guidance in the Federated Women's Clubs of New York City. It is hoped that all women's clubs in the state will make a study of these lessons which began in the September 12th issue and will continue for thirty weeks.

The pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Mitchell on Fifth street, near Francis, was the scene of a happy family gathering Sunday. Forty-eight years ago, September 28, 1865, at Ottawa, Ill., just after the close of the great civil war, Comrade D. L. Mitchell and his estimable wife joined hands for life's journey together. The family gathering last Sunday commemorated the happy event. All sat down to a sumptous dinner prepared by the hostess and were as merry as a marriage bell. Those present besides the host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Mitchell, father and mother of A. B. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. French and two children. Mrs. French and Mrs. A. B. Mitchell are sisters. Such family gatherings assist in smoothing life's pathway thru this vale of tears.

At the Methodist church Sunday the subject for the morning sermon will be "The Evils of Sectarianism." Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCarty will sing at this service. The evening service at 7:30 o'clock. The subject is, "Acquaintance with God." The choir will sing an anthem and Miss Mary Brown a solo. A cordial welcome is extended to all.

Mr. and Mrs. C. N. McLaughlin on the ranch in the Pleasant Hill district, are demonstrating that berries can be grown successfully here. Their crop of berries this year consisted of strawberries, raspberries, logan berries and blackberries, having raised good crops of each variety. Just now, October 1st, their Australian-Himalayan blackberries are in full bearing; the vines, which run on trellis, are literally black with ripening fruit. These berries are delicious, and ripening so late in the season, should become a favorite with fruit growers.

The second of a series of "library teas", planned by the Women's Auxiliary, was given last Friday afternoon at the Library room. We are sorry to say that the attendance for such a worthy cause was not what it should have been, but the ladies are always grateful for even small favors and appreciate the interest and goodwill shown by those who did attend. The room presented a very attractive appearance, prettily decorated in ivy with gorgeous bouquets of the beautiful fall flowers and daintily spread tables. The object of these teas is not so much to make money as to create a greater interest in the library. Are you doing your part toward assisting in building up one of the most valuable additions to any town or city—a good public library?

The Congregational church was well filled Sunday morning to listen to the excellent address given by Mr. Conger, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Washington. Mr. Conger is familiar with all phases of the liquor question and has helped many of the states in their fight for state-wide prohibition. He spoke as a man of experience and his talk was intensely interesting from start to finish as he was a very fluent speaker. His object here at this time was to solicit subscriptions to assist in getting ready for the big campaign of 1914 when a strenuous fight will be made to put Washington in the foremost ranks of the states now prospering under state wide prohibition laws. The Anti-Saloon League will be ably assisted by the W. C. T. U. and many of the strong women's clubs of the state.

The professor of a certain medical college asked a student how much of a certain medicine should be administered to the sufferer.

"A tablespoonful," answered the young man.

In about a minute, however, he raised his hand and said: "Professor I would like to change my answer to that question."

The doctor took out his watch. "My young friend," he remarked, "your patient has been dead forty seconds."

WHY SUFFER THE PANGS OF Poverty when We can All be Rich in this Superb Country of Ours?

It asks your generous support. At the news stands 5c a copy, 25c a year. Subscriptions also received by Geo. H. Gale, Port Angeles, Washington.

TIFFANY SEEDLING PEACHES

Nearly as Large as Wolfe River Apples; Marketbasket Full From 5-Year-Old Tree.

J. M. Tiffany of Lincoln Heights is demonstrating each year that peaches can be successfully raised in sheltered places here in Clallam county. Last year he exhibited at the county horticultural fair held in the rooms of the Commercial Club, samples of his Tiffany seedling peaches that were perfect as to color, size and flavor. Mr. Tiffany brought to this office this week samples of these peaches that were handsome and of elegant flavor, the larger one weighing 8¾ ounces and measuring 11 inches in circumference. This is the second year of bearing of this variety, Mr. Tiffany having planted the pit that produced the tree but five years ago. He also picked a market basket full of fruit from the tree this week. He has a later variety that ripens in October. Also earlier varieties from which he harvested more than a bushel of fine fruit. The day will come when peaches will be grown for profit right here in Clallam county.

WALKER FILLS DEBS DATE

Owing to serious illness the western lecture tour of Eugene Debs has been cancelled. He had been advertised to lecture in Port Angeles Oct. 13th. Ryan Walker, one of the best known cartoonists in America, has been engaged to fill the Debs dates and will appear here. Walker is a gifted talker and his famous "chalk talks" have created a sensation wherever he hs appeared.

WEST END NEWS

James Kay, popular around Forks prairie, passed thru Sappho on his way from upsound Thursday.

Ex-Commissioner K. O. Erickson spent last week among friends and acquaintances in the West End.

The Olympic-Leader is the only paper that publishes any news from the West End, or that has a general circulation thruout that district of value to merchants endeavoring to do a local mail order business.

BLUE MOUNTAIN.

Hello Blyn! Why don't you send in a few items once in a while? Your friends the country around like to know what is doing down there. It may seem gossipy nothings but I have been told by many that that page is the first one read.

Emily Campbell spent the week-end at the Broughton home.

Chas. Lewis and Alfred Stevenson made a flying trip to Blue Mountain, last Sunday.

Mrs. Hyde and children took their departure last week Thursday.

Mrs. Stewart, who has been assisting Mrs. Littleton, at the lakes this summer, returned home last Friday.

Mrs. Ella Kale spent the week with friends in Port Angeles.

Ranchers do not seem to be taking much interest in the land clearing plan. Meetings should be called and an organized movement planned.

Mrs. Broughton is in Port Angeles this week, staying with the girls while Mrs. Campbell is in Seattle. The circumstances of that visit are somewhat suspicious. Mrs. Campbell, Emily and Alfred boarded the Sol Duc for Seattle Monday; a quiet little lady, chaperoned by a married sister, arrived there Tuesday from Minneapolis, and Wednesday is Cupid's favorite.

MT. PLEASANT.

Mr. Bodley and L. T. Haynes were Sunday visitors to Mt. Pleasant.

Mr. J. W. Boyd has moved his mill over on his own property. He has purchased a planer and will be able to have planed lumber for his patrons

The people of this community were shocked to hear of the sudden death of Mrs. Vail on Saturday afternoon. She had been in poor health for some months, but seemed to be improving the last few weeks. Mrs. Vail came to this vicinity as a bride and has resided here for the past 22 years, and will certainly be missed by her many friends for to know her was to love her. She leaves a husband and four boys who have the sympathy of this community in their bereavement.

Burrell & Emmons Vail left Tuesday afternoon for Seattle to visit with their aunts and uncles for a few days.

Misses Ellen Finch and Ruby Kelly visited with Mrs. Eacrett from Friday until Sunday evening.

Mr. Patterson visited in Angeles Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Harrington went to Angeles Thursday of last week to visit a few days.

Mrs. Dietsch went to Angeles Monday to visit with relatives.

Mesdames Stakemiller, Willson, Webster, Payne, Ray Haynes, and L. T. Haynes visited with Mrs. McLaughlin Tuesday afternoon.

Irval King of Quilcene was visiting in this vicinity a few days the latter part of the week, going to the hills Sunday with Perry Harrington on a hunting trip before returning home.

The Olympic-Leader is the only paper that gives the county news; that is why everyone in the county reads the Leader.

FAIRVIEW.

Mrs. Berlingeutte spent part of last week visiting friends in the city.

Grandma Land, who has been in very poor health for some time, is now slowly improving.

Mrs. Phillip McCumber and baby are visiting at the Harbaugh home this week.

The road camp that has been located at Moses creek for several weeks past, moved to Bagley creek this week.

Mr. O. Winters drives around in a new buggy these days.

Several of the Fairviewers have gone to the hills for a few days.

Mr. Chambers spent last week in Tacoma.

A new heating apparatus has been placed in the school house here.

Mr. Sutter is adding to his improvements by building a new granary and finishing the upstairs of the house.

FOURTH WARD.

Erbin Donahoe was at home last week and gave quite a helping hand to the excavation for a new house for his parents.

Mrs. H. E. Abell's mother arrived Sunday from the East to make her a visit of some length.

Mr. C. Stephens is home for a few days.

Mrs. E. H. Isbell is able to be up and around again.

Mr. Byers is rushing to completion the new bungalow he is overseeing for his daughter.

Mr. E. H. Isbell is giving his house a coat of paint.

Mr. H. A. Falk made cider Wednesday; some for himself and some for the neighbors. He says he does the neighborhood squeezing for 10c a gal.

If you don't read the Olympic-Leader you don't get the county news.

DE FUCA.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall and daughter from Victoria, B. C., who have been guests at "Fernwood" for almost a week, have returned to their home.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Rhodes with their little daughter, who also have been guests at "Fernwood" for a week, have returned to their home in Tofino, B. C. Mr. Rhodes lived in Port Angeles about 20 years ago and remarked on the many changes that have taken place. He took special notice of the old school house on Ennis creek, where he attended school when it was a better looking building than now.

James Wooding took a run out on his bicycle from Port Angeles the other night to visit the folks.

Mr. Agnew is having his house renovated. Mr. Austin Smith of Sequim is doing the work.

Mr. Roberts is threshing for Mr. Reeve.

Mr. Critchfield has a crew on the Troy place baling hay.

Mr. Burgess with his crew, is expected in a few days to bale hay on Mr. Agnew's ranch.

EDEN.

The local nimrods are on their way to the tall timber looking for the season's game.

The Rain or Shine literary society will meet next Saturday evening. The question of the improvement district bill comes up for debate.

The Misses Jeanette Everette and Ida Robinson returned last Friday from a vacation at the Olympic Hot Springs, the resort of beautiful scenery, health-giving waters and abundant game. While on the trip to Mt. Olympus Miss Everette shot and killed a bear.

While out for a Sunday afternoon stroll, Mr and Mrs. Ansel Jackson and Miss Edith Larson saw two bears. They both fell before Mr. Jackson's gun.

The Eden school house will have a new floor put in this week. The board believe in taking good care of the school property. School will be closed Thursday and Friday and some of the pupils and their teacher Mr. Jones will take advantage of the vacation to go hunting.

Sunday school will be held next Sunday at the Eden school house.

The Olympic-Leader gives the county news; that is why it has more readers in the county than any other paper.

SEQUIM.

(From the Press.)

A movement is on foot to establish a co-operative creamery at Sequim. The proposition comes from Mr. Studebaker, agent for the Chehalis Silo Company, who lately sold a lot of silo outfits to dairymen here. About a dozen owners of dairy farms have agreed to subscribe for stock in the creamery. The cost of building and plant complete is $4,900. Shares are $100 each. Shares are sold only to owners of cows engaged in the dairy business and no share will be sold to anyone owning less than 12 cows. The creamery will be in a building to be located in town.

Mrs. E. F. Gierin and Mrs. Thad Wagner have in hand the securing of subscriptions to a fund to provide a reading room and rest room for women visitors to town, and they are meeting with good success. The stores and business men here are subscribing liberally. Space has been donated for the room by J. S. Bugge, adjoining the post office. The reading and rest room is a desirable feature in any town and the movement to secure it a commendable effort that deserves everybody's help.

The new steel bridge across the Dungeness river at the town has been finished this week. It was opened up to the public on Thursday and is a fine looking structure.

CALL FOR BIDS

Bids will be received for hauling the pupils from the East end of the district to and from Central school from October 20 to December 20, and from January 5th to April 4th. A comfortable, covered spring wagon or buggy to be used.

STATE GAME ASSOCIATION

Game Warden J. W. Pike and Commissioner Chambers attended the meeting of game commissioners and game wardens of the several counties comprising Western Washington held in Tacoma Wednesday of last week for the purpose of forming an association to aid in the protection and propagation of game and game fish. Ten counties were represented. Upon invitation of L. H. Darwin, state game warden and fish commissioner, an adjourned meeting will be held in Bellingham November 18, at which a permanent organization will be effected.

Two of the most discussed features were the questions of private game preserves, wherein several speakers declared themselves to be antagonistic to the private ownership of preserves for the hunting of waterfowl and upland birds, and the season for grouse hunting in Western Washington, the consensus of opinion being in acordance with the recent opinion of the attorney general that the season west of the Cascade mountains should close October 1. That the present game laws do not meet the requirements of this section of the state was the almost universal opinion of those taking part in the meeting. The association is to prepare a bill to be submitted at the next session of the legislature.

Game Warden George C. White of Snohomish county stated at the meeting that the elk which were planted there last season, instead of being turned loose in the mountains were released on the outskirts of the town of Snohomish, and now absolutely refuse to go to the mountains. They have been the means of all sorts of grief ever since. They are always breaking down fences and eating up cabbages and denuding corn fields, says Mr. White. The farmers are afraid to kill them because of the game laws, so they bring damage suits against the county, and we have had to settle several. This winter those elk are going to get hungry, because they have not had to hustle for themselves, and then there will not be a haystack in the county that will not be threatened. If something is not done in the near future we will have to kill them off for self-protection.

SHOULD RETURN WINNERS

Secretary Pearce of the Commercial Club and Horticultural Inspector Land have been attending the state fair at North Yakima this week. Among the exhibits from this county are several that ought to come pretty near taking prizes, Cays' oats that went 140 bushels to the acre and Seal's wheat going 100 bushels to the acre for instance. Then there was some fine corn, barley, alfalfa, various kinds of roots, English walnuts and chestnuts from Casselery's, butter from the local creamery, and salmon from the Gorman cannery. And just to fill out, a display of apples which will show residents of the "apple country" that it is not necessary to live in a desert to raise fine fruit.

Chris Nelson wishes to announce that he has engaged in the blacksmithing business at Fifth and Francis, and will do horseshoeing and general repairing. All work will be guaranteed. Give him a trial. 4t

Last Thursday was one long to be remembered by Mesdames La Flower, Shrake, Hall, N. L. Harding, Daisy and L. C. Fleming, who spent the day at the Dermul home. Those who have eaten of Mrs. Dermul's cooking need not be told of the delicious viands served, and the visit to Mr. Dermul's fine garden added much to the pleasures of the day. They have apples of last year's raising that are now in good state of preservation.

The citizens of the sixth ward are wondering why they are so utterly ignored. In the article in last week's Leader, under the heading, "The City Needs Her Best Men" mention is made of the officials to be elected and of councilmen in the second, fourth and fifth wards, but nothing said about the sixth. It is a well known fact that the sixth has been minus a councilman during the greater portion of the year and the people are tired of "taxation without representation."

THE NEWS FROM THE STATE CAPITOL

[From Our Regular Correspondent.]

The Increase in State Taxes.

Olympia, Sept. 30.—The sharp increase in state taxes from $5,819,549 last year to $8,937,525, with the prospect that even this will fall $600,000 short of meeting the appropriations of the last legislature, is causing comment from all parts of the state. The new levy, both in total amount and in rate, which is 8.81 mills on each dollar valuation, sets a new high record for the state. The deficit of $600,000 promises to come in the general fund levy. This was fixed at three mills, the statutory limit, but in the haste to make appropriations the legislaure apparently paid no attention to raising the necessary revenues. The board of equalization left the school levy at 1.9 mills. The department of education desired a levy of two mills or more but on account of the sharp increases in other lines provided by legislative action, the board felt this was not the right time for a raise all along the line. A comparison with the taxes levied in other years shows a steady increase in state expenses ever since 1894, but at no time has the increase been so remarkable as betwen 1912 and 1913.

Two Pertinent Comparisons.

In 1894 the assessed valuation of all taxable property in the state amounted to $226,245,182, while state taxes of $705,431 were levied. This year the assessed valuation is $1,014,474,027, and state taxes amounting to $8,937,525 have been levied. A comparison readily shows that the assessed valuation of the state today is a little more than four times what is was in 1894. On the other hand state taxes are more than twelve times what they were in 1894. In other words, state expenses have grown three times as fast as have the values of the property in the state.

This is another comparison that is interesting: If a man owned a piece of land assessed at $1,000 in 1894 he would have paid $3.12 on it in state taxes. The same piece of land, held today, would be assessed at about $4480, and on it today state taxes would amount to $39.45, while a piece of land assessed at $1,000 today would pay state taxes of $8.81 as against $3.12 on property of same value in 1894.

The Governor's Vetoed Bills

How much higher state taxes would have been had not Governor Lister wielded the veto axe during the last session of the legislature may be seen by an examination of the file of vetoed bills. In the general budget bill Governor Lister vetoed general fund appropriation items totalling $697,050. This does not include a $195,000 item for maintenance of Cheney normal school from the Cheney normal fund, which was passed over the veto.

In the supplemental budget bill the governor vetoed general fund appropriations totalling $120,000.

Separate appropriation bills vetoed included $500,000 for the Vancouver bridge, $100,000 for a survey of the Quincy irrigation project and $50,000 for the Pend Oreille bridge. These items total $1,467,000.

In addition the governor vetoed a bill providing for an additional one-tenth mill levy for a public building fund. In this one biennium under the assessment of this year, this would have meant an additional $202,800 in taxes. He vetoed the one and one-half mill public highway levy bills, which would have cost during a biennium $750,000 more than the bill which finally passed.

Reforesting State Lands.

State Forester E. W. Ferris has announced a proposal for the state to engage in the reforesting of all such cutover tracts as are unsuitable for for agriculture or grazing. By reforesting Mr. Ferris believes that half a century from now, when the present stand of timber is all cut, Washington will still be in the front ranks of the lumber industry.

To further this plan, Mr. Ferris proposes that when the state has rough timber land for sale in future and the land is unfit for agriculture or grazing, only the timber be sold and the land be retained for reforesting.

The forester would go further than this however, and he advocates the securing by the state of worthless tracts of land in private ownership, pointing out that a private owner cannot afford to pay taxes on land 50 or 60 years, while a new crop of timber is growing, while the state can hold it without paying taxes, and have a new stand of timber ready for the next generation.

A record for size of a public service commission hearing probably was made last week at Mansfield, when 123 farmers appeared as witnesses in an attempt to get a lower rate of Great Northern grain shipments on the Mansfield branch.

The entire department of agriculture, commissioner, division heads, inspectors and office force, moved to North Yakima last week and did all work from there during the session of the state fair.

Maurice Vetter, new assistant track inspector, while making his first trip of inspection last week, was himself a wreck victim, losing all his personal belongings in the Great Northern wreck near Mukilteo. Being right on the ground Vetter at once started an investigation of the causes of the wreck instead of having to wait until he could get across the state.

Efforts are being made to arrange a joint conference of the minimum wage commissions of Washington, Oregon and California so that some degree of uniformity may be reached in establishing minimum wages for competing industries in adjoining states.

A farmer who had recently bought a vacuum cleaner met a friend of his and persuaded him to go home and see it work. The farmer said it would clean anything. In front of the house was a dirty cow. The friend humorously suggested that the cow be given a dose of the cleaner. A few days afterward the friend met the farmer and said:

"Did you ever try your vacuum cleaner on the cow?"

"I did," laconically replied the farmer.

"What happened?" asked the friend?

"Milked her dry, begum!" said the farmer.

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE
Why Order of Sale of Real Estate Should Not Be Made.
In the Superior Court for Clallam County, State of Washington.
In the matter of the Estate of Charles Towns, deceased.

Thos. T. Aldwell, the administrator of the estate of Charles Towns, deceased, having filed his petition herein praying for an order of sale of the real estate of said decedent, for the purposes therein set forth, it is therefore ordered by the said court, that all persons interested in the estate of said deceased appear before the said court, on Monday, the 3rd day of November, 1913, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the court room of said court, at the court house in Port Angeles, County of Clallam, to show cause why an order should not be granted to the said Thos. T. Aldwell to sell so much of the real estate of the said deceased as shall be necessary. And that a copy of this order shall be published at least four successive weeks in the Olympic-Leader, a newspaper printed and published in said Clallam county. Done in open court this 30th day of September, 1913.

J. M. RALSTON, Judge.

TWO MORE WELLS

St. Louis and Los Angeles Syndicate Operate On the Hoh.

Announcement has been made that two more oil wells are to be drilled in the Hoh river district this winter, the work to start as soon as the outfits can be placed on the ground. Both are to be driven for the same concern, a syndicate composed of Los Angeles and St. Louis capitalists. The drilling outfits are to be standard rigs and are expected to reach the Hoh river early next week, says the Townsend Leader.

Two of the principal men backing the company which Prof. Holmberg represents are E. L. Dohoney of Los Angeles, a wealthy oil operator in the California field, and Charles Leschan, the well known wire rope manufacturer of St. Louis. The wells will be on property leased from the the Lacey syndicate. One well will be located on the lowlands south of the Hoh river and about two miles from the mouth. The other will be on the north side of the river, on high land, farther inland and near a large oil seepage. The Jefferson company's drill is now down to a depth of 300 feet and is going through shale. Good progress is being made at this hole.

At Tahola, at the mouth of the Quinault river, where the Indian oil company, a Tacoma concern, is preparing to put down a well, construction work is well under way. A rotary outfit is to be used and drilling operations are to be under way by the first of next week.

A traveler had climbed to the top of the monument on Bunker Hill. He and his companion had been viewing the surrounding country, when his companion remarked: "And this is the place where Warren fell."

The traveler looked out at the surrounding country and then down at the vast expanse beneath, and, heaving a great sigh, exclaimed: "No wonder it killed him."

Ballard's SNOW LINIMENT

Is the Right Remedy for All Abrasions of the Flesh.

If the wound is cleansed and the liniment applied promptly, the healing process begins at once and the wound heals from the inside outwardly, thus performing a perfect cure that leaves no scar. If the wound heals on the outside too quickly, pus forms under the surface and breaks out into a running sore that is hard to cure and inevitably leaves a bad scar.

Owners of blooded stock prefer this liniment to all others for that reason, and they use it not only on fine animals, but on human flesh, as it does its work quickly and thoroughly.

SUCCESSFUL BREAD MAKING

Washington State College Scientists Give Detailed Instructions in the Art.

The first requisite for successful bread-making is good, active yeast, and it makes little difference whether the source is compressed or dried yeast cake, or a "starter." The main thing is that it should be active and not soured by chills or draughts. By using good, active yeast and proper methods, good bread can be made from any flour. The best temperature for the development of yeast is about 82 to 90 degrees Fahrenheit.

Here is a good way to prepare yeast: Grate one fourth of a pound of potatoes; add one quart of boiling water; stir thoroughly. Next, add three ounces of sugar, one ounce of salt, and finally, when the temperature has fallen to blood heat, add one cake of crumbled dry yeast cake and stir. Cover snugly, set aside in a warm place away from air currents, and leave it there to ferment over night. The following morning, this mixture should contain much yeast foam on the surface. Strain, and add enough water to meet the required absorption of the flour.

If a "starter" is used, instead of the above proportions, use four ounces of sugar, and one fourth ounces of salt, and follow the above directions. The next morning save out a half pint and place it in a fruit jar, which set away in a cool place ready to use the starter. The remaining pint and a half of yeast preparation is strained and diluted with the required amount of water.

The use of too little water is the most prevalent cause for failure to to make good bread. The dough should be sufficiently slack to nearly cling to the hand. A stiff dough is slow to rise, and in case fermentation is prolonged, it will sour and never spring in the oven. Dough of proper consistency will rise rapidly and develop into "well piled" loaves of good texture when baked. It is better to use too much water than too little, for in the former case, the time of fermentation can be shortened and baking prolonged to dry off the excess water. Upon mixing, if the dough is too stiff, it ispossible to overcome this by adding more water and working it gently and thoroughly.

How to handle dough: Mix one pound of flour with all of the yeast and water, either with a spoon or bread mixer. Let it stand a few minutes and then gradually work in the remaining two and three-quarters pounds of flour. Never force the flour to take up the water. If the hands are used, the dough should be partly lifted and half turned toward or away from you. The mixing operation should be continued until all the ingredients have been thoroughly mixed. The same precaution should be exercised in kneading the rising dough. Knead gently and thoroughly until all the large gas pockets have been worked out. A thorough mixing followed by two gentle kneadings is best with some flours, while with others the mere handling in the last kneading to shape into loaves gives the best results. If the mixing, kneading and other operations are done with force, there is danger of lessening the activity of the yeast, in which cases the dough fails to rise.

On the other hand, over-fermented doughs, when placed in oven to bake will fall. In such cases it is advisable to reknead and let the dough rise again, although the quality of such bread will be more or less impaired.

Since a measure of one flour will weigh more than a measure full of another, it should be weighed, not measured. Also it is more satisfactory to weigh the water. The proper amount of water must be determined for each lot of flour, and it is therefore preferable to purchase flour not a sack at a time, but in barrel lots. Flour generally improves with age.

The following is a simple way to determine the amount of water flour requires:

Using a fairly accurate scale and a small apothecary's graduate, weigh out three or four lots of flour of four ounces of prepared yeast preparation; in another, two and four tenths ounces, and in a third, two and eight-tenths. If the one with two and eight tenths ounces is too soft, while the one with two and four tenths ounces is a little stiff, mix the fourth lot with two and five-tenths ounces of the yeast preparation. Mix, set aside in a warm place and let raise till light; then bake and observe which combination gives the best results. The one which, according to your judgment, gives the best results, indicates also the required amount of yeast solution to use.. The quantity of yeast preparation used for four ounces of flour multiplied by fifteen will give the quantity required for five one pound loaves of bread; or, multiplied by three will give the quantity required for each three-fourths of a pound of flour to make a one-pound loaf of bread.

THE FARMER AND THE SILO

Good prices are now being paid for farm products, but we hear our city cousins complaining of the high cost of living, and thru their complaint we are fearful lest in some way we lose these high prices. The farmer is not inclined to believe he is receiving any more for his produce than he should. In fact, he maintains his profit is still too small, and he should receive more. As we are an agricultural people and prosper as the farmer prospers, we certainly should rejoice in these high prices of farm products, but at the same time we expect the farmer to use economic methods. To illustrate: We would hear a storm of complaint if the cloth makers were using the spinning wheel and charging prices accordingly. We could not afford to pay for manufactured goods if they were turned out by old methods. We demand progress in every department of our industry, for the lagger pulls back the leader. If beer and butter are too high, it may be because they are not being produced economically. Therefore the consumer certainly has a right to complain if the farmer does not use economical methods in his husbandry.

There is produced every year in this country sufficient forage to feed liberally all the livestock of the land and leave a good balance. The shortage each year is due to the spoiling and wasting of forage already grown. The means of preserving this forage will solve the stock problems of the country. The principal waste is in the corn belt states where over 80 per cent of the stalk and leaves of this most valuable forage are wasted.

As economic stock production is determined by the proper use of forage the silo furnishes a means whereby all farm forage can be preserved in the best possible condition for feeding. The silo is too well known to require description, but its use is certainly sadly wanting. It can be safely said on any farm where ten head or more of cattle are kept, a silo is a necessary equipment, and of great economic value.

Besides corn, excellent silage may be made from alfalfa, clover, oats and peas, rye, sorghum, kaffir-corn, millet, and milo maise. While corn is the principal crop for silage, it is often made from other plants specially during drouth seasons, when excellent sorghum and kaffir-corn can be grown as a catch crop. The first cutting of alfalfa hay during a wet season is often lost. This could be put into the silo and saved, and by feeding out during the summer months, the silo can be refilled in the fall with corn and kaffir-corn.

During recent years we have noted a steady increase in the price of hay, in fact all forage is higher, and it is necessary for the stock keeper to produce a forage at less money than hay, if he wishes to realize a good profit on his stock. In this capacity the silo comes as a great boon.

Experiments have shown that the silo will save 10 cents on the cost of producing a pound of butter and $2.50 on the cost of producing 100 pounds of beef. With this advantage the silo becomes the stock farmer's gold mine.

SATISFACTORY ENSILAGE CROPS

At Least a Dozen Combinations of Value in Western Washington.

Vetch and oats have given excellent satisfaction as a silage crop in almost all parts of this state. There are at least a dozen crops or combinations of crops that can be successfully used for silage in Western Washington. In most cases local conditions will determine which is best. A list from 37 silo owners and users in WesternWashington show the following crops preferred, as indicated by the numerals after each:

Clover 13; corn 12; corn and clover 3; oats and vetch 1; oats and peas 1; barley and vetch 1; barley and peas 1; clover and rye grass 1; vetch and kale 1.

Mixtures were preferred by two correspondents. From this you will readily see that corn and clover are by far the most common silage crops. However, a number of men prefer some of the mixed crops as second choice, and would make very little difference betwen them and clover and corn. The real question is which crop will produce the greatest yield per acre, and when siloed will furnish the best quality of feed.

Despite all warnings, a patient who suffered from overeating was obliged to call upon the doctor every few weeks for remedies. But when several months passed without a summons the doctor wondered, and, meeting his patient on the street, he asked:

"How is it I haven't heard from you in so long? Are you taking my advice or my prescriptions, or have you joined the ranks of the food-fadists?"

"I have done none of these things," responded the former dyspeptic, "and I believe that I am done with doctors forever. I have found a perfect rule. When I sit down at the table I am careful to see that I measure just six inches from the edge of the table. Then I eat and eat and when I hit—I quit."

Notice of Hearing

on Third Street Assessment Roll.

Notice is hereby given that the assessment roll of Local Improvement District No. 6 under Ordinance No. 410 of the City of Port Angeles, providing for the improvement of Tumwater street from Second to Third streets and Third street from Tumwater street to the easterly line of the James Sampson Donation Land Claim

Said Roll has been set down for hearing at a regular meeting of the City Council to be held in the city hall of said city of Port Angeles, Washington, at 8 o'clock p. m. on the 11th day of November, 1913, and all persons who may desire to object thereto to make such objections in writing and to file the same with the City Clerk, at or prior to the said November 11th, 1913, the date of such hearing. At the time and place fixed for said hearing the said city council will sit as a Board of Equalization and at such meeting or any adjournment thereof, will hear such objections, made to said assessment roll, or any part thereof and where necessary or advisable will correct, revise, raise or lower, change or modify said roll or any part thereof, or set aside said roll and order such assessment to be made anew, as to the said council shall appear to be just and equitable, or if no objections appear and the said assessment roll shall be found to be correct, then to proceed to confirm the same by ordinance.

All objections must clearly state the grounds of objections and objections not made within the time nor in the manner herein and by law prescribed shall be conclusively presumed to have been waived.

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE

A Meeting of Teachers, Directors and Parents to Be Held in Port Angeles Nov. 7th.

The schools of the county have entered upon the work of another year and in the rural districts as well as in town a number of teachers, new to the work, are in charge. There has also been a change in the office of county superintendent and in order that all parties may keep in closer touch with the efforts of the schools the present incumbent of the superintendent's office is planning to give the county papers from time to time short sketches of the work that is being done and planned, including important educational news items. with the thought that interest may thereby be increased and information on educational matters scattered and the work of educational progress in the county facilitated.

The office of county superintendent has been left by Mrs. McNutt in such excellent shape that it has been a pleasure to take charge of the work where she left it. The schools are entering on their work under favorable conditions and it is to be hoped that the year 1913-14 may show continued progress along all lines. It shall be the policy of the present incumbent to keep in touch with the work in every district in the county and to render such assistance as is within his power to further the work of the schools in every part of the county.

During the first two weeks in October the superintendent will visit the schools in the West End and Mrs. McNutt as deputy will have charge of the office in his absence.

On account of the superintendent's convention in Spokane the last week in October and for other reasons the Institute will be held the last half of the school year. The time is fixed at present for the first week in April. Plans are on foot, however, to hold one or more teachers, directors and parents meetings between now and time of Institute. The first meeting of the kind will be held in Port Angeles Friday, Nov. 7, in the afternoon. A program consisting chiefly of discussions of practical subjects connected with the schools is being arranged. To this meeting teachers, directors and patrons in Port Angeles and neighboring districts are especially invited, but if the distance is not too great an obstacle for the districts east and west we shall be glad to have them come. A meeting of similar character was held at Sequim Friday, the 26th, and was very successful from every point of view. The work of the progresive school men in the eastern part of the county is partly responsible for the action taken by the superintendent in regard to future meetings.

A subject that is being agitated by the superintendent at present is "Practical Lessons in Domestic Science" and in connection with that serving rural school lunches. That "pure wholesome food means clear minds and serviceable body functions. It pays to know what to eat and how to eat it" is undoubtedly true and practical lessons along this line that would qualify the teacher to direct the preparation and serving of warm lunches might contribute to the health of pupils, be of social value, a source of convenience and expediency.

The prime consideration of a teacher should after all be the welfare of the pupils physically, morally, and mentally and if this is remembered the matter of thorough work and good grades will naturally follow.

THOS. GEISNESS,
County Superintendent.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

BY WARNER, OPTICIAN.

Q. Why is it that glasses are worn so much more now than years ago?

A. Years ago the science of optics or correcting errors of sight was not understood as it is today; only old persons or those near-sighted wore glases. Now we correct with lenses all errors of sight.

Q. Why is it that cheap glasses do not give satisfaction?

A. Cheap glasses are so faulty in construction and are of such poor quality, that they distort the vision and cause pain in the eyes. The optical glass used by us is brilliant, clear and perfect, insuring comfort and ease to the wearer.

Q. Can my headaches be relieved with glasses?

A. A personal visit will be necessary. Let us talk it over.

PURITY SUNDAY NAMED

Olympia, Sept. 30.—Governor Lister today designated Sunday, Nov. 9, as "Purity Sunday," and in a proclamation issued urged the people of the state of Washington to join with the people of other states and other parts of the world in "serious consideration and discussion of the problems of combatting the influence and operations of commercialized vice as typified in the so-called white slave traffic."

We note another conditional sale, the same being a mortgage that can be foreclosed without the trouble of foreclosure proceedings, recorded yesterday by Barnhart Bros. & Spindler, printers' supply house, against one of Port Angeles newspaper ventures. That makes something over $12,000 indebtedness, similarly recorded, that the fraternity has incurred since the first of the year. Evidently someone is gambling on a considerable increase in population and business houses in Port Angeles in the near future.

THE LOGGED-OEF LAND BILL

Funds shall be cared for and accounts kept by treasurer and auditor as other county funds, except that the new commissioners shall pass upon all claims relative to the development district instead of the present board of commissioners.

After organization, it shall be the duty of the commissioners-elect to ascertain what lands in the various districts are suitable to ecomomical development, such investigations to show quality of soil, locality as to existing highways, railway transportation, together with an estimated cost of clearing same. Such data shall be kept on file.

No land shall be purchased at a cost of more than $20 per acre and the cost of clearing shall not exceed $100 per acre. Only twenty acres will be cleared for any one settler. Commission will purchase land of settler, call for bids for clearing, (settler may have contract at lowest bid) when cleared land is sold back to settler at cost and clearing and he is given 20 years to pay for same at 5 per cent interest.

Sale shall be by entry with priority to first applicant. No assignment shall be permitted until after purchaser has made at least three annual payments and has resided at least two years. Continuous residence shall be required for three years for any purchaser who wishes to anticipate the remaining payments and preempt the tract—five months' absence each year may be permitted. No purchaser to acquire more than one tract.

For the purchase of lands found on investigation to meet the requirements, bonds may be issued by the commission to draw 4½ per cent,payable in 20 years. The additional ½ per cent charged the settler is presumed to be sufficient to cover all expenses so that there will later be no necessity for a tax levy to meet the expenses of the commission.

Vacancies in office, and in the present case the West End commissioner, must be filled by remaining commisioners, or if not filled in 30 days to be filled by the Superior Court.

THE PLAYGROUND MOVEMENT

Play Under Direction of Competent Supervisors Gaining Favor Everywhere.

The playground movement in America by which it is sought to place the natural activities of children of both sexes under the direct supervision of competent instructors that they may attain high standards of physical and moral development is discussed in an illustrated article by Grant M. Hyde in the October Popular Mechanics Magazine. A great many interesting experiments have been made in connection with the playgrounds, and location and equipment vary widely. Mr. Hyde says:

"One playground in New York City occupies a site that is valued at $1,800,000, but this is unusual. Vacant lots in congested districts, areas, useless for commercial purposes, and bits of land in out-of-the-way places are rapidly being made into playgrounds. Philadelphia has laid out tiny playgrounds under railroad viaducts; Reading, Pa., has a playground on the concrete roof of a water reservoir; Springfield, O., is utilizing the grounds around a city standpipe. Amusement piers have been built in some cities, and Boston has floating bath houses for the small boys.

"Certain standard forms of play and apparatus are pretty generally present in all playgrounds. Swings, seesaws, slides, giant strides, and gymnastic apparatus are always the first things that are provided. Swimming pools are quite as common. For the smaller children, most playgrounds have sand piles and wading pools. The love of competitive play has brought facilities for group games—baseball, tennis, basketball, volley ball, and, in some places, football and lacrosse. These are for the older children, but war games, "hikes," hare and hounds, folk dances, and other games, invented sometimes by the attendants and sometimes by the children themselves, are being developed for the little tots. In some cities the competitive games of the larger boys have grown into organized athletics with playground teams and interplayground games and track meets. All furnish play under direction.

"Directed play naturally leads to instruction through play. In many cities, such as St. John, N. B., there is regular kindergarten work for the children. In others, sewing, embroidery, basket and raffia work are provided for the older girls, along with manual training and gardening for the older boys. Springfield, O., has this. New Orleans has regular gardens laid out in the playgrounds and prizes are given for the best crops raised by the children. In Glen Ridge, N. J., and other cities, manual training and cooking are moved from the schoolhouse to the summer playground. Columbus, O., and Holyoke, Mass., do the same thing by teaching the older boys to clean the playground and erect and repair the apparatus. At Youngstown, Pa., the boys dug their own swimming pool on the playground and made water wheels.

"Many novelties in methods and apparatus have been brought out in various parts of the country. East Liverpool, O., has found that if hammocks are provided, the smaller children can be persuaded to sleep in them during the afternoon, benefitting both themselves and the playground's peace. Croquet and quoits have appeared among the other games at Springfield, O. Kite day is a regular feature at Arkon, O. The boys on one of the playgrounds at Buffalo revived the old pastime of stilt walking and the city had a hundred pairs of stilts made for them. Competitive athletics for the boys brings very complete organizations in many cities. At Jacksonville, Fla., regular athletic meets and an annual circus are held."

Mention of the election of a councilman for the sixth ward was inadvertently omitted in this paper last week and we note what the Lincoln Heights correspondent has to say in regard thereto. The Sixth ward should be represented in the council at all times, and this paper is in favor of electing a councilman from that ward this time that will stay elected. No better name has been mentioned for the position than that of E. B. Fleming. Mr. Fleming is well qualified for the position and would make a good councilman. As the Sixth ward casts a large Socialist vote, sufficiently large to carry the ward at all elections, we see no reason why the majority should not rule. Our government is founded upon that principle.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Mr. McGillivray has been hired as high school instructor and began his duties Monday morning. This makes the sixth instructor in the high school besides the music and manual training teachers, which shows that the number of pupils in the high school has greatly increased.

The Freshman class will be entertained tonight at a reception given in their honor by the other classes of the high school. At the suggestion of the school board it will be held in the auditorium and while the seats and desks, which have been fastened to the floors, take up a great deal of space, there will be enough room to allow the upper classes to give the Freshmen a jolly and interesting evening.

PUTTING IN CLASSY STOCK OF NEW GOODS.

R. A. Muskett has decided he cannot sell out his stock by piece meal, as he gets out of sizes and disappoints his customers, thus losing a great deal of trade. He is now fixing up his store with the classiest stock he has ever carried. He has not the classiest store, but he can carry the classiest goods and afford to sell them for less than classy price, because he does not have to pay an exorbitant rent for the classiest store. My rent is low, I do most of my own work and so do not have to pay out much for expenses, consequently I can afford to sell my goods for less and you do not have to help meet heavy expenses by paying classy prices.

N. B. My business is for sale as a growing concern. If any substantial person wants to know anything about prices and terms call at the Times Clothing Mart and get information. Yours for business,

R. A. MUSKETT

MRS. C. W. VAIL

Lulu, beloved wife of C. W. Vail, of Mount Pleasant, passed away Saturday at 3 p. m., of heart trouble and complications from which she had been suffering for some time. The funeral services were held Monday from the Fulmer chapel at 4th and Laurel, and was attended by a large concourse of friends from both country and city, besides many relatives from Seattle. A profusion of flowers, offerings of esteem of mourning friends,decorated casket and hall.The services were conducted by W. B. Ritchie, who extolled the many virtues of the departed mother and wife and gave the assurance to the grieving relatives that her spirit will watch over their lives, admonishing them to so live that she will daily approve of their conduct. Mr. Ritchie and Mrs. Troy sang "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Jesus, Lover of My Soul."

Mrs. Vail was born in Walla Walla, Wash., August 4, 1871, where she grew into womanhood. In 1890 she removed to Port Angeles with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Griffin,the latter formerly Sheriff of Walla Walla. In June, 1891, she was united in marriage to C. W. Vail, and has since resided with her family on the homestead five miles southeast of the city. She leaves to mourn her untimely demise a husband and four stalwart boys, Beryl, Ernestus, Clyde and Thomas. She was a loving wife and mother, beloved by all who knew her. She will be greatly missed.
