Short Comings

If you haven't killed that deer yet, you have probably gone about it the wrong way. Make sure you have a white shirt and tie on, and you're almost assured of that animal.

A local teacher recently scored during an after-school hunting trip while wearing his teaching garments. It was a nice 2-point. To add insult to the ardent hunter, this same teacher killed a 3-point bull elk two years ago using the same method.

How lucky can you get?

The Forks city limits is now posted for radar. Permanent signs have been installed at each end of the city. The city can now make speed checks using the radar equipment.

Pedestrians beware of traffic during the elk season. On numerous occasions, local citizens have stepped into the street crossing areas only to be driven back by someone charging down Main Street and not yielding to pedestrian traffic. The entire area is posted "Caution, Pedestrian Crossing."

Many of the local drivers fail to yield to pedestrians. Just hit one and find out what the consequences are. $$$

Do you realize we had 3.33 inches of dew last Tuesday? Convert that to snow at the rate of 10-1/2 inches of snow to one inch of rain, and we would have to wade through 3 feet of snow.

Polling places were busy Tuesday as citizens voted for national, state and local candidates.

Many people don't take the time to exercise their right to vote. Before the next election, get registered so that your voice may be heard.

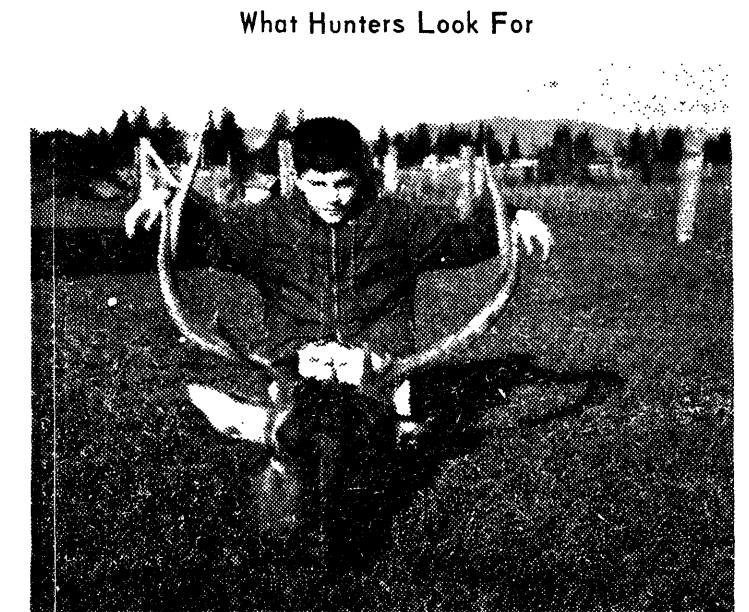

A 4-H Horse Club is being organized here for people ages 10 - 19.

The only requirement is that you own a horse or have a horse you can ride.

If interested in joining the club, contact Mrs. Dena Stratford by phone: 374-5773.

Local Hunters Bag Nice Elk

What Hunters Look For

This is what the elk hunter is looking for - a rack of horns. Local hunters bagged the three pictured here.

6th Graders Complete Project

"San Torro" is the name given to the Mexican adobe village constructed as a social studies project by Mr. Lester Bull's three sixth grade classes.

The church is the center of life in the Mexican village. It is surrounded by adobe homes and trading shops. The project was constructed from clay, formed into bricks, glue, cardboard, sand, paper, water and poster paints.

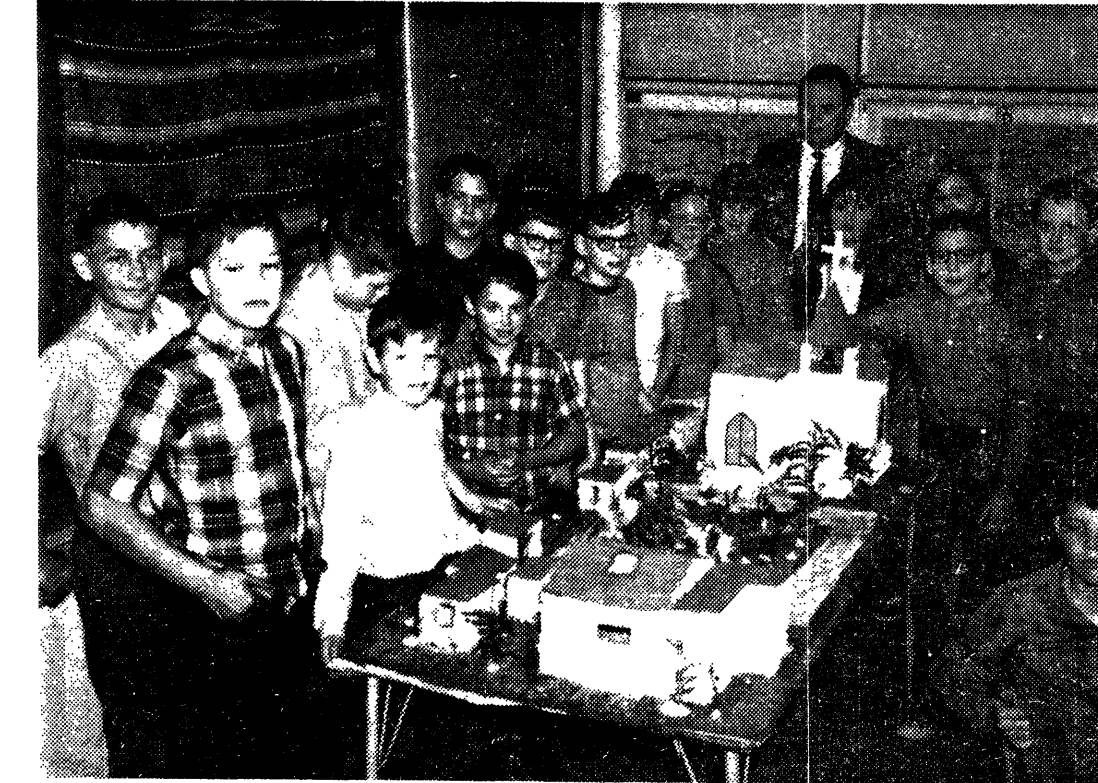

Art Counterman made miniature tools, using cedar and fishing lead. The cedar was used for making the handles for the axe, hoe, shovel and saw. Fishing lead was hammered into shapes for the blades.

Students involved in the planning of the project were Pat McReynolds, Robert James, Mike Hill, Andy Zepeda, Gwen Dunlap, Gary Petrovich and Dan Shearer.

Students from all the 6th grade classes worked on the project. Mr. Bull praised the extra effort extended for the project by Robert James.

According to Mr. Bull, Robert spent several periods after school hours working on the project.

Other projects will be forthcoming as the students study the Latin American Countries, the Caribbean and Canada.

Man Dies In Auto Crash

Paul I. Colby, 24, Forks, was killed early today in a one-car crash 1/2 mile South of the Bogachiel Bridge on Highway 101. The accident was discovered about 6:30 a.m., an estimated four hours after it occurred, police said. The car, southbound, ran off the right side of the road, hit a bank and rolled into the ditch.

Tank Site Completion Date Extended

City Council members accepted the completion of the water pipe project by Wayco Utilities Contractors Inc. Over 10,000 feet of 4", 6", 8" and 10" pipe were installed by Wayco. The majority being 10" pipe put down under the contract for hooking in the new well and tank site and running a line to Calawah Way.

The council issued a change order in the completion date of the new water storage tank. The date has been extended to June 1, 1969. The reason for the extension is because of the site change after the original one proved to be inadequate for supporting the 700,000 gallon tank.

The council returned the petition for annexation of Mansfield 1, 2 and 3 and Danielson Addition to the committee for clarification of boundaries, total number of legal voters and a composite map of the area to be annexed.

The council had accepted the annexation petition at a previous meeting for clarification by the attorney.

The council accepted building permits for Cliff Klahn owner-builder - garage, $500; Bob Swerin owner-builder, a carport.

Scholarship

Kerry L. Goodwin, a junior communications major at Washington State University, has been awarded a $50 Howard Schultheis memorial scholarship for the present academic year.

Goodwin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Christensen, Forks.

Essay On Driving

An essay written by a young driver concerning the dangers of speeding as ordered by the court. Judge Holland presiding: On the night of August 24, 1968, I was running an errand for my parents. When I pulled up at the intersection on Main Street in Forks, I saw a couple of friends. I followed them out of town to the Forks Air Port, where they pulled into the parking area. We talked for a few minutes, and I decided to leave and to show off to them what my parents' car would do, not thinking of the danger I could have done to the car or to another car that might have happened along. When I came out laying a patch, I didn't stop to think of what I could have done if I had lost control of the car, blown a tire or broken an axle and causing a real bad accident that could have endangered another car with people or myself. After the State Patrolman had pulled me over, this started coming into my mind. Most people don't realize the danger of speeding and peeling rubber, so take it from a person who didn't realize it till it was too late. Also, the State Patrol, or any other law officer, isn't picking on me, either. Just trying to protect us from such accidents. Drive safely...

Tyce-Beaver-Sappho News

By MRS. J. E. MERRITT

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Eaton and family returned Sunday to their home in Seattle after spending the weekend at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Eaton.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Shawver of Port Angeles have a trailer parked at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Engeseth, and accompanied by their sons, Leland and James, came out Friday for the beginning of the elk hunting season, as Mr. Shawver is one of the lucky ones having a cow elk permit. The boys returned to Port Angeles Monday but the senior Shawvers expect to remain for two weeks.

Richard Snowdon of Mt. Vernon visited over the weekend at the home of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. George McCain. He was accompanied by his daughter, Kelly, and Mr. Cecil Johnson, also of Mt. Vernon, and the trio returned home Monday.

Mrs. Mary Johnson and her three children went to Seattle Saturday, accompanied by her brother, Bill Klepps, who was on his way to his home at Brevard, N. C., following a two-week's visit with friends and relatives in this area. After visiting for a few hours with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Peugh, the Johnsons returned home.

Mr. Klepps stayed until after midnight, when the Peughs took him to the airport to catch an early morning plane.

PT&T Announces Operation Of New Microwave System

Peninsula Telephone and Telegraph Company, Forks, Washington, has announced that a new microwave system will be placed into service between its Clearwater and Forks exchanges on November 16, 1968. Equipment for the new system was purchased from Farion Electric Company of San Carlos, California. The new microwave link operates through a repeater on Mt. Octopus and will eliminate the old open wire toll lead between Clearwater and Aberdeen, which was subject to many outages during winter months. Not only will the new microwave system increase toll reliability but it also will improve toll transmission from the Clearwater exchange.

Additional service improvement projects are scheduled for the Clearwater exchange during the first quarter of 1969. In March, direct distance dialing will be converted from operator identification to automatic number identification, enabling Clearwater subscribers to dial DDD calls without the aid of an operator. Completion of this conversion

REAPING A BITTER CROP

The public interest was ignored, a large part of an important food crop was wasted, and discord replaced harmonious local bargaining when a top-level combination of union leaders forced a strike against Campbell Soup Company solely to expand already excessive power.

Wages and benefits were not the key issues. Instead, a few of the leaders of three international unions, working under the direction of AFL-CIO's Industrial Union Department (IUD), sought to force the company to negotiate with a coalition of unions—and to abandon its policy of plant-by-plant bargaining in favor of nationwide negotiations. The unions wanted to obtain contracts with common expiration dates, which would be another weapon in the union arsenal (company-wide strikes) to force whether the entire company would operate or not.

Even though the IUD ultimately lost their struggle to make a national issue out of a local matter, it did not alter the fact that this damaging strike caused large losses of tomato crops and cost company employees, farmers, migrant farm workers, the company and its stockholders enormous sums of money.

As an astounding sequel to the dispute, the AFL-CIO president wired all affiliated unions urging a labor boycott of the company's products. Contrast this action with Campbell's notification to its contract farmers that it would pay them pre-harvest costs plus a reasonable profit!

When unions act in total disregard of the public interest, the people look to Congress for relief. The time appears long overdue for the Congress to take necessary action.

will provide 100% of Peninsula Telephone and Telegraph Company exchanges with automatic number identification DDD service.

Also scheduled for 1969 is a reduction of the number of people on suburban lines in the Kalaloch, Queets area. The service improvement projects scheduled for the Clearwater exchange represent a total investment of over $107,000.00 by Peninsula Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Sunset Highlites

By FRED JARVIS

Did a little hunting over the weekend. Weather was pretty bad Saturday. No luck. I think the wind blew the elk into the next county, and that's no bull.

Most of the side roads looked like the freeway on a Sunday afternoon, and Forks seemed to have had a population explosion over Saturday and Sunday. Lots of cash for the local merchants' coffers.

Sure hope I can wrap myself around a few of those luscious steaks soon.

Pretty nice bowling scores this last week. Brings out a smile on Darrell's face when he sees a good one posted.

Margaret Windle grabbed HI 10 and 30 Tuesday afternoon with 183-470.

Ye olde bowling editor pulled a shocker in the Sunset League when he bowled the high game and series of the evening; 224 and 615.

Wilma Engeseth dusted off the Powder Puffs Wed. afternoon with 209-515.

Leta Rondeau had to share her highest limb in the Floor Owl League with Sharon Clark, who had a HI 10 of 191. Leta had 492 for HI 30.

In the Thursday Jr. Mixed, Mike Absher and Robert Laswell shared HI 10 honors with 149. Mike took series with 407.

Patty Laswell led the girls with 126-367.

Women's Thursday Night League watched Yvonne Kettel walk off with both HI 10 and 30. She had a 198-553.

"Hot Hand Harry Lefler" had his first all spare game, a 183, in the West End League. Lee Cheek had a 208-599 and Grandpa Jarvis rolled a 229-596.

Early Fri. Mixed women was led by Jerry Beebe with her 189-489. Claude Clark had high game of 193 and this editor high series with 541.

Glady Allen topped the fairer sex in the Late Fri. Night Mixed with 193-508, while (Boy, this sure has been my week.) Fred Jarvis bowled a 224-629 to beat the men.

Floyd McCoy, who last week had his first league 200, followed that with a 201 and a 202. He also had a 556 series, and his spouse, Dorothy, picked off the 5-7 split.

Saturday's Mini Squad had Laurie Wentworth on top with a HI 10 of 112 and HI 20 of 187. Connie Joutson had 101 and Marlon Vicheau a two game total of 186.

Big crowd at Saturday Night Monte Carlo. Surprised and pleased to see Helen Thomas and Avel Baker there. Hope they got the bug and keep coming back.

Hank Bigelow had the big Jackpot shot and missed. Tough luck, Hank, and Ora Lou. Seems like Chuck Hamby gets his name drawn every week for a shot at all or part of the pot. Sat. Night was no exception as he had a shot at half the money, but his bad luck stayed with him and he missed again. Keep trying, Chuck.

Pretty profitable evening for me as I won a couple pots plus two or three money shots.

Jean Streeter clobbered me one game as she came up with a 180 plus.

Duke Streeter and Ernie Wittenborn really rattled the pins in Monday Night's Forks Prairie League. Ernie had a 229-635. Smile, Darrell, you're on Candid Camera!

Hope to get the Scratch League going on Wed. evenings soon. Get hold of Darrell if you're interested fellas.

Many thanks to whoever sent me that nice Halloween card. It was really something! Had a bunch of ghouls on the front, and inside it said, "These ghoulish things remind me of you!" And, of course, no signature. Have a good idea who it was, though.

See you next week.

THE END - to a successful mule deer hunt for some Forks hunters who ventured into the back country in Chelan County for these big mule bucks. Calvin Bonds rests his hand on his 4-point rack while Bing Smith and Jim Hjeltnseth look on. Bing had to settle for the two-point after missing a huge rack earlier. Jim lowered the boom on the 7-point shown on the right.

FJH Loses Final Game 20-6

Forks Junior High football team dropped a 20-6 decision to Sequim in the final actions of the season for Forks.

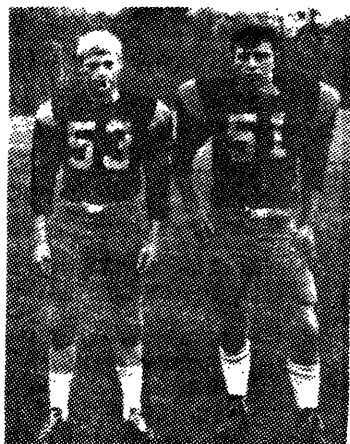

Forks opened up early and scored on the second play of the game. John Schunmacker rambled 47 yards to the Sequim 3-yard line on the first play after the opening kickoff. On the next play, he plunged in for the score. The extra point attempt failed.

Sequim scored midway thru the second quarter to tie the game 6-6.

Both defensive teams played excellent ball the rest of the way. Sequim was held to no first downs in the third quarter and didn't move the ball until late in the fourth quarter. A long pass and a crucial penalty set up Sequim's second score; they tallied with only two minutes left in the game.

Sequim recovered a Forks fumble and with one second left in the game, scored on a 27-yard run.

John Dahlgren was tough both offensively and defensively. He intercepted a Sequim pass just before the half and it looked as if he was going to score, but a Sequim defender forced him

SPORTS WANDERINGS . . .

Facts released by the Washington State Game Department says, "The average Washington deer hunter will hunt 6-1/2 days, the average pheasant hunter will spend 7 days this season hunting those birds, the elk hunter 5 days, and the waterfowl hunter 8 days."

By the end of the year, expenditures of those hunters for equipment, food and lodging while hunting, dog collars, etc., when added to money spent by other wildlife-oriented recreationists, will approach 140 million dollars for the year.

It is big business, and an important part of our utilization of our state's wildlife resources. We hope to always be able to provide this same level of outdoor recreation opportunity in Washington State.

The Forks Spartans will host Kings' Garden in the final football action of the season for Forks. Game time is 7:30.

Forks will be attempting to close out the season on a winning note. They opened with a 45-6 victory over Moclips and have dropped 6 straight games in league play.

The first basketball action for the Spartans will be December 3 at Sequim in the jamboree.

Pilots List Ticket Sales

Seattle Pilots field manager Joe Schultz, who looks a little like Santa Claus without a beard, arrived here Monday with a bag full of special gift certificate ticket plans for young and old alike.

Making his first visit to Seattle since his recent appointment as the Pilots head man, Schultz and Director of Ticket Operations Harry McCarthy revealed that two general admission book ticket plans are now available. One plan covers juniors (17 and under) and the other is designed for adults.

A feature of the adult ticket offer is the inclusion of one opening day ticket, along with 10 general admission tickets good anytime during the 1969 season. Price of the adult package is $22.50 and represents a $5.00 saving over the total individual ticket price of $27.50.

The junior plan includes 10 general admission tickets for $10.00. This represents a $5.00 saving, as individual student tickets are priced at $1.50.

McCarthy said that the gift book tickets were designed for exchange at the box office, but he cautioned that general admission areas -- with the exception of opening day -- would be on the usual first-come-first-served basis.

Seattle's first major league baseball team will play 81 games in Sicks' Stadium next year against all 11 other teams in the American League.

Checks, or money orders covering any number of gift certificates should be addressed to: Director of Ticket Operations; Seattle Pilots; 2700 Rainier Ave. S.; Seattle, Washington 98144.

DEAR JANE

DEAR JANE:

I feel prompted to write your area a letter. Several years ago my wife and myself made our annual trip to the Forks area for your elk hunting season in November. We have always enjoyed our trips to Forks. I am a minister and feel very strong about sportsmanship; after all, that is what good sporting activities are all about. We arrived in the Forks area two days early and spent both days in the woods locating the herd we were after. I have never had the good fortune to get an elk before and spent many years hunting for them. Well, this trip we were really in luck; opening day my wife and I got a beautiful elk. We were so excited and headed for the elk we downed to tag it. Three big men suddenly came out of the woods and told us to get out of there fast because we were about to tag THEIR elk! My wife and I were so shocked that we could scarcely believe our eyes. Our hearts sank at this display of humanity. We left our elk, checked out of our motel and went home. We did not report this incident to the Game Wardens, because we felt, what was the use. We will never be able to bring ourselves to come to the Forks area again for elk hunting and thought the people in the area might like to know what does go on in their own vicinity.

Disappointed Hunter

DEAR JANE:

I am madly in love with my teacher. He is the only one for me and the problem is that is all that I can think about. He is handsome, goodlooking and is the neatest thing you ever saw. He is not married. Do you think a high school girl has a chance with her teacher? What can I do to get his attention? He hardly knows I'm alive.

Lovesick

Dear Lovesick:

Calm down and concentrate on your studies. It is customary for the man to do the chasing!

DEAR JANE:

A close girl friend of mine gave me a call the other day asking me if her husband had arrived yet. Apparently he was supposed to be staying with us while he was hunting in the area. He certainly has not come to our house. He is staying at a motel here in town with several other men and several other women! I'm in the middle of a terrible situation. The reason I know he is in town is because I saw him at one of the restaurants and asked a waitress about the situation, as he was sitting with this group of men and women I did not know and the women were bragging to everyone that they were not married. They are all staying together at the motel as husband and wife. What should I tell my close friend?

Knows too Much

Dear Knows:

Tell your friend that her husband did not stay with you, but he did stay at _____ Motel in your town. Let her do the rest on her own.

Peninsula College Seeks Funds

Peninsula College, as one of five community colleges in consortia, will submit a proposal to the federal government for funds to be used in determining how the colleges may better serve outlying areas within their districts. According to Dr. F. Ray Duncan, Director of Guidance at Peninsula College, authorities want to determine the specific needs in areas like Port Townsend, Sequim, Forks, Neah Bay, etc. and how the college may best serve these needs.

Speaking from behind a pile of federal forms that must be completed for the proposal, Duncan said, "Our job as a community college is to fulfill the educational needs of persons residing throughout Clallam and Jefferson counties. Currently we have 15 courses sponsored by Peninsula College outside the Port Angeles area. Now we want to increase this service, but first we have to research the needs of the people."

According to Duncan, if the proposal is accepted, it will be funded through the Higher Education Act, Title III. He pointed out that the college has already benefited from federal funds in various ways including planning grants, teaching fellowships, and the new audiovisual center in the library.

Duncan continued, "Once we know what the people want, there are a number of different ways that services can be pro-

Church News

"Let no man say when he is tempted, I am tempted of God: for God cannot be tempted with evil, neither tempteth he any man." This verse from the Epistle of James is part of the Bible Lesson-Sermon titled "Adam and Fallen Man" to be read in all Christian Science churches this Sunday. At the VFW Hall in Forks, A Street S. E., services will begin at 11 A.M.

Related passages from the denominational church also will be read, among them the following: "The divine nature was best expressed in Christ Jesus, who threw upon mortals the truer reflection of God and lifted their lives higher than their poor thought-models would allow, -- thoughts which presented man as fallen, sick, sinning, and dying. The Christlike understanding of scientific being and divine healing includes a perfect Principle and idea, -- perfect God and perfect man, -- as the basis of thought and demonstration." (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy.)

Port Orchard will be the host city for the circuit assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses to be held December 6 to 8, it was announced here by Charles Meinzer, overseer of the Forks congregation. A total of 16 congregations will gather for the semi-annual event, being drawn mostly from the Olympic Peninsula. All sessions are planned to be held at the Marcus Whitman Junior High School.

Meinzer stated that the purpose of the assembly is education for the ministry. The theme selected for the three-day program is "Sharing Fully in Preaching the Good News," and will highlight the need to press forward in the ministry before time runs out. The Witnesses are instituting a stepped-up teaching program in order to assist as many as possible before 1975, a purportedly important date in biblical chronology.

Victor H. Brown, the circuit supervisor, announced that the chairman and main speaker for the assembly will be Harry C. Good, a special representative from Brooklyn, New York. It is expected that Mr. Good's 28 years of service with the organization will provide much mature counsel for the delegates in attendance. He will open the convention with a talk on Friday at 7 p.m., and will deliver the public discourse on Sunday at 3 p.m., entitled, "God's Way is Love." All sessions are open to the public and visitors are welcome.

Good News Club

Good News Clubs will begin Tuesday, November 12, at the VFW Hall.

The Good News Club is open to all boys and girls, kindergarten age through junior high, for an hour once each week.

The club begins with singing and memorizing of Bible verses. Then a Christian woman from the community teaches a story from the Bible, visualizing it on a flannel board.

Parents are welcome to visit the club meetings held each Tuesday. Two sessions are held, the first at 11:00 A.M. and the second at 2:30 P.M. Mrs. Wm. Rich is the director of the Good News Club.

Beaver Parents Club Beaver Parents Club will not meet Monday, Nov. 11 as scheduled, but will meet Wednesday, Nov. 13 instead.

(con't from page 8) and talk about the lack of genuine love and complain that there is not enough understanding. We must instead see where there is need and meet that need with our acts of concern. We must communicate if understanding is going to increase. In other words, it means getting involved in the nasty details of the world and exercising our own influence for good. This strategy is recommended, for this is the strategy which I believe God used in sending us His Son Jesus Christ. He did not just sit in His perfect heaven musing to Himself, "You human beings ought to be better; shame on you for being such sinners." Instead, He personally involved Himself in the nasty details of the world. He experienced the life we live, suffered from the hates, the prejudices, the injustices, the misunderstandings from which we suffer. He associated with sinners and forgave their sins; He met the sick and healed them, He lived with the distressed and comforted them. Thus God's strategy was not just remorse in heaven over the plight of men. His strategy was personal involvement in the world in Jesus Christ and action to meet the needs of people. The strategy of commitment, discipline and action is the skeleton for Christian thought, feeling and behavior.

By J. William Hawk

The feature below calls our attention to the matter of strategy. Nearly everything we do requires strategy, but often we do not give it much thought. It is frequently an unconscious procedure. For example, we are parked in front of the Forks Forum, and we want to go home. The question of strategy is: How do we get from here to our home? To us who live here, this may seem like such a simple matter that we do not need to give it any thought, and ordinarily this would be correct. Yet, if the car will not start, this simple matter develops complications. Do we walk, call a service station, or what? Suddenly, strategy becomes a very conscious matter, especially if we are already late in getting home. Regarding the matter of religious living, I would encourage you to give some thought to strategy. Before strategy is of any use to us, we have to make some decisions. We need to decide about our goals. The best strategy will fail us if we do not know what we desire or where we are going. I think it is generally conceded that life on this planet can be quite distressing and confusing. So one of our goals is to find some happiness. Thus, how are we going to become happy persons? We must realize, first of all, that no one can guarantee us that we will find happiness. It is not something which can be bought and sold or bargained for, but the Christian Church promises to help people in this endeavor. There will be different strategies which the individual churches will recommend, but there are also some general procedures upon which most agree. One is that we must commit ourselves to Jesus Christ. Whether or not we will make such a commitment is one of the decisions we have to make. Making this commitment will depend upon what we believe about him, how much we feel we need spiritual guidance and help, and if we are willing to sacrifice some things in order to accomplish our goals. Above all, the commitment must be real. If it is only half-hearted and willy-nilly, we are not likely to find that following Jesus Christ is much help in finding happiness. If we want to "have our cake and eat it, too", we are not likely to become happy persons, for we have not really made a commitment that leads away from the old sadnesses and toward some new ventures that lead to joy. A decision has not really been made. A second step in our strategy to find happiness might be called discipline. Many are the disciplines which the Christian churches offer. One is worship, the act of declaring God's honor and worth, of proclaiming God's Word and action among people, of dedicating ourselves more fully to doing His will. Another discipline is study. If we commit ourselves to Jesus Christ, we never cease to discover more about what he has taught. This means studying the Bible which tells what he and others, who were God's servants, taught. If we are going to follow Jesus, we must learn more and more about what he demands of us in this time and place. Some fellowships recommend the discipline of confession, for forgiveness is received by the penitent. And there are many other disciplines, such as prayer, receiving the sacraments, caring for the sick and lonely, and abstaining from the temptations of evil. Finally, in this matter of being Christian and finding happiness through faith, most people would probably say something in addition is required. It is not just what we believe or simply the act of attending worship or what we know. So our convictions have to get translated into action. In the book of James we read, "Faith without works is dead." Our happiness will depend upon how well we are able to get our actions to conform to our convictions. If we believe that we are to love the people around us and to promote understanding, then we cannot just join our friends for coffee (con't on page 9)

Strategy

It's Tim's move, and he is taking a long time thinking it over. In chess, if you're a good player, you don't play quickly. If you do, your opponent may outwit you.

Military strategy, they say, is based on the rules of chess. So are many of the "higher games" in business and finance. Yet, when it comes to life itself, the rules of chess apply in only a limited way. In life, you can't be totally objective. You can't exist on logic alone.

The Church teaches that though we surely need logic in order to live successfully, we also need compassion, tolerance, love, understanding, and the strength that comes with faith.

Although life is not a game, we must have the help and strength of the Church to discover those rules that will determine our ultimate destiny.

Wasted Game

Pictured on this page are examples of illegal game kills. The spike and bull calf were shot October 13 in the Goodman Creek area. The two animals were dressed and ready to be removed by the poachers. They didn't return for the animals--perhaps because they got scared. The meat spoiled as a result and was of no value to anyone.

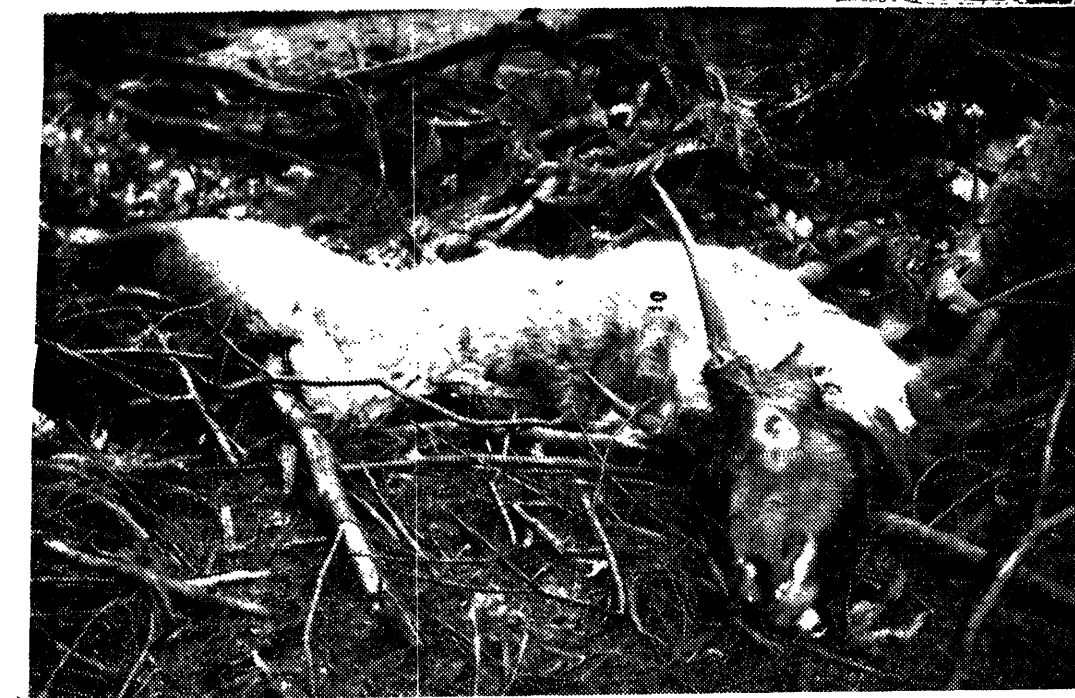

Some hunter could have been the happiest hunter around if he had killed the spike opening day of elk season, but someone has spoiled that.

The deer pictured were kills located east of Sappho on Highway 101. They are both two-points and were shot at night from the road. The bucks were shot around October 22. They were legal animals if killed during legal hunting hours.

People are continually complaining about the lack of game in the area or the fact that game animals are fewer in number today than a few years ago. Incidents such as the pictures on this page give you an indication of what the Washington Department of Game and Wildlife has to cope with in protecting your hunting future.

The idea of illegal killing of game animals is bad enough, but the wholesale waste of game animals fighting for existence is a severe crime in the eyes of everyone.

Those responsible for the waste surely cannot call themselves sportsmen. The slaughter of four male game animals will result in the loss of an uncountable number of offspring to continue game for the future.

Could Have Been One Of Yours

You know why? It is already dead, that's why! The above pictures could be the deer or elk you could have bagged this year. You say you have hunted them for many years and your son has been hunting for the past two years and hasn't killed one either! "Poachers" could be the reason you two have been unsuccessful.

I have no way of knowing how many more animals have had the same fate as the ones pictured above, but I'm sure there are many. Since my being here at Forks, I've had the sad experience of personally viewing some I poached deer or evidence of the same, and at least 6 elk have been left in the woods as the result of poachers. This I have experienced while stationed at Forks since the 17th of January, 1968. You say you know who did some of this poaching but you won't tell because he's a friend of yours? If the public doesn't care, why should the officers enforcing these laws? As State Wildlife Agents or Game Wardens (sometimes commonly called) has it ever occurred to you as sportsmen that we, the wildlife agents, don't care about poachers either, because you don't care? Fortunately, my fellow officers and I do care. Do you?

I'm happy to say there are a few people that live in this area who are interested and willing to help with this problem. I personally give them a special thanks for their help! Do you know who they are? I doubt it, because for one thing, all information I receive is confidential. If the situation is such that the violator cannot be caught without tipping off who gave the information, the case is carried no further.

Have you as a sportsman ever wondered what type of individual it takes to be a poacher? He is, first of all, a THIEF. Yes, a thief, because he is stealing from you. As you probably realize, he has killed a game animal which may have been yours. He is SELFISH and GREEDY! He is taking more than his share. He is untrustworthy for he can't be trusted to obey the laws. He is also the same person in many cases who disobeys all laws and that is always in trouble no matter where he is or what he is doing. But surprising as it may be, once in a while a seemingly law-abiding citizen is involved because he can't resist the temptation. But actually, can this type of person be trusted any further than the other guy, in a given situation? Think about this for awhile. Good luck and good hunting. I hope these animals pictured above aren't the ones meant for you and your son this hunting season.
