Short Comings

Saturday evening was a big night in Forks with the large attendance at the Kettle-Frost wedding.

La Push will hold a Christmas program Sunday, December 22, at the La Push Community Center for the people of La Push.

The Community Christmas dinner sponsored by the Tribal Council begins at 5 p.m., and will be followed by the program offered by the Assembly of God Church and the La Push Shaker Church.

The big question around Forks is not will our rainfall total reach 140 inches, but how high will the total be?

Anyone calling the Forum before December 25th and guessing the total within 2 inches of what our records show, will receive a Buz Martin Loggers Album free.

Comments from local merchants next week concerning the new rules governing the sale of ammunitions. Unprintable comments can be obtained from the store owners themselves.

A big sports weekend for Bill Peterson, Frank LaGambina, Fred Cline and Frank Smiley. The fearsome foursome took in the U. W. Frosh and S. U. Frosh game, rambled over to the Seattle Center to watch the Sonics play the L. A. Lakers and the next evening they took in the Seattle Totems and San Diego Gulls hockey game.

Special Church Programs

The Assembly of God Church will have its annual Christmas emphasis on December 22. The pastor says, "this is an appropriate time to include in your seasonal plans, a visit to the church, inasmuch as we are celebrating the birth of Jesus."

The Sunday morning worship service at 11 a.m. will include special music and the sermon, "O Come Let Us Adore Him", by pastor Morlin. On Sunday evening at 7 p.m. the Sunday School Christmas program, "Come To The Saviour", will be presented. This is a Christmas tableau with a missionary emphasis. It will include recitations, songs, narration, a junior choir and other interesting sidelights by the children. Treats will be given at the end of the program.

Everyone is invited to attend these special Christmas observances.

USITA annual convention held in Miami December 9 through 12.

Mr. Hull has been in the telephone operating business for eighteen years. He has owned and operated Peninsula Telephone and Telegraph Company, headquartered in Forks, since 1950 and East Peninsula Telephone Company, headquartered in Quilcene, since 1961. Prior to his election as USITA Director he has been President of the Washington Independent Telephone Association for three years and has been a Director of the Washington Independent Telephone Association for the past seventeen years.

Mr. Hull comes from a family with a long telephone background. The family owned and operated Hull Telephone Company in Missouri and Kansas. His father, Jerome Hull, was a partner in Peninsula Telephone Company until the time of his death in 1953. Mr. Hull's brother, Jerome Hull, is now President of Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Mr. Hull was elected to a three-year term and for the first time in the history of USITA the Western Area has three Directors on the Board of Directors. The other Directors from the Western Area are John Evans of the Evans Telephone Company in Patterson, California, who also was elected to a three-year term, and Howard Woody of Union Telephone Company in Mountain View, Wyoming. Mr. Woody was elected to a one-year term.

The United States Independent Telephone Association, with headquarters in Washington, D.C., is a trade association representing the 2200 independent (non-Bell) telephone companies in the United States.

Council Acts On Parking Lot Offer

The Forks Council held its regular meeting December 9, 1968.

The council approved building permits for: Bill Haag, a new septic tank at his residence.

Jeh-Hsiag Hsu, new home, owner builder, estimated value $10,000 at Campbell's Addition.

The Masons, represented by Mr. Will Slathar, Mr. Russ Vedder and Mr. Harry Sackett, offered the organizations lot located at 1st Avenue N.E. and Division to the town as a parking lot. It has been estimated the cost of preparing the lot for parking would cost approximately $200. The lodge would let the town have use of the lot for a 5 year period (of the town will pay the cost of preparing it for a parking lot.

If the agreement is terminated before the 5 year period, the lodge would refund a pro-rated amount to the town based on the construction cost.

Perry Moody requested a dry well be installed in Calawah Park to alleviate a standing water problem. The council directed engineer Bert Maris to check the situation.

Preparations are underway to widen 1st Ave. S.E. from the school to E Street. The school buses are using that section of 1st Avenue this year and the street needs to be improved to accommodate the buses turning off of E Street.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Dear Editor Forum:

Most of the people in the Forks area, of course, know all about what I am going to express myself on, and I am confident they will agree since this is, in main, a forest and game area where timber is now regarded as a crop, and game incidentally fringe benefit, and summer recreation not to be low rated either.

I here want to take up an aspect of game management that I feel could be cured, but at present must be deplored as entirely out of reason. I can remember back to the 1930's when elk and deer simply were everywhere. In 1949, when we moved onto our present home site, any day when I went out to bring in the cows, I could count from 6 to 10 deer. And as for elk, when I turned a couple of yearlings out on the unimproved and brushy rest of our holdings, it took me days to find them, so beat up was the place with elk tracks that stomped out the trails of the two cattle. In fact, I never did find them until I hired some expert help.

The loggers who came to get some cottonwood and alder about that time complained bitterly because the elk upset grease cans and tangled rigging on the landing and licked oil off the gears (cattle do that, too). Eventually by "spooking" the superstitious elk with a big black umbrella and some outlandish sound effects, I did keep the animals out of the door and barnyard areas. Elk are very suspicious and one might say superstitious of the unknown.

The west part of the Olympic Park at this time was equally populated with wildlife. By 1965 the cougars, having had no control in the Olympic Park and practically none outside, had reduced all wildlife in the park area to only 10% or so, and moving out were doing the same in the Forks area and scaring various of the adjacent populace into fits. In the summer of 1966, there were 7 deer in our pasture every evening that rested in the logged Rayonier tree farm, densely regrown, during the day. We knew them all; a doe and her two fawns, a yearling buck, a calico doe—probably a 2 year old, a normal colored buck with extra large antlers, and what we called the razzle dazzle buck with a peculiar and startling uniform pattern of white on his face and breast.

In December some cougars moved in and in 10 days, when we finally realized that some varmints must be around (cattle and goats said so), six of those seven deer were gone. The one old doe still around had two fawns in 1967 and a large coyote got them before they were a week old. This spring Mrs. Doe moved right in with us, raised her two fawns and hopefully survived that stupid doe season.

We listed 50 cougars as taken in the Forks area in the last two years. Of course a number must have been taken but not listed as the count was entirely voluntary.

Game management should be subject to local check. Our local sportsmen have objected to a doe season in this area and have advocated control of predation until wildlife can multiply to full feed utilization. A harvest of excess bucks is always in the picture and I know of no one who does not advocate it as one way to more game.

Now, what am I also mad about? The present "sport" of tag jumping or game hijacking, unheard of in my day, is almost entirely the result of tagging regulations. It should be unlawful to tag game until a certain reasonable time after it was taken to allow any hunter who might have a claim to come up and assert his right.

It should be a misdemeanor for any licensed hunter to fail to field dress any accidentally killed out-of-season game and immediately report the same. It should also be his duty to dispatch any crippled or wounded wild animal and proceed as above. It should be the duty of the Game Department to immediately examine such an animal and, if fit for human food, to care for it and auction it on the spot; such funds to go to the Department of Game.

My Neighbors

"Watch it!—You can be replaced by a Human!"

Why Taxes And Prices Go Up

An AP dispatch reports that a top Treasury Department official expects spending by the federal government in the current fiscal year to total about $185 billion—thus nearly wiping out the $6 billion cut in federal spending ordered by Congress. No one should be too greatly surprised at the apparent inability of Congress to control federal spending. Candidates for public office in every state in the Union prior to the recent election, ran on platforms of "bringing home the bacon" to constituents.

A senatorial candidate from a western state listed as his prime qualification for re-election to office the hundreds of millions of dollars he had succeeded in getting from the federal treasury for various projects in his state. Now that the election is over, and the people have indicated a desire to curb inflation and restore some semblance of law and order, the question remains of whether the political habits of decades can be curbed. Have we learned that inflation and soaring federal taxes are the price that must be paid when we support those whose principal goal in public life is the monetary favors they can do for the folks back home. The winning candidates have yet to prove that they are any different than the spenders of the past.

There is hardly a one of us who has not been sickened by the waste of accidentally killed game or the slow death of animals crippled that escaped a hunter, all because there was no responsibility attached for those who knew or saw, and further, no protection for them through legal procedures from nipping or eager-beaver enforcement officers, nor any real responsibility of Game Officials to save our resources. RED BLUFF, CALIF., NEWS: "In a little over a year the 1970 census will be upon us. Some of what it will reveal about the population of the United States can already be foretold with some confidence. . . . By 1970, it is already evident, half of all Americans will be 27 years of age or younger. In 1960 the corresponding figure was almost 29. It follows that political decisions will be made by younger people than was the case some years ago."

ABOVE ALL

CHRISTMAS 1968

In a world where trips to the moon are in the offing, where the spoken word may be transmitted instantly to every nook and cranny of the earth, where genetic science is unlocking the mysteries of man's existence, the awesome simplicity of the Christmas story seems a striking contrast to the restless spirit of today.

Yet, with all our man-made advances, the spiritual leadership of Christ Jesus—its message of hope and peace—makes man's material accomplishments but a pause in the passing parade of humanity.

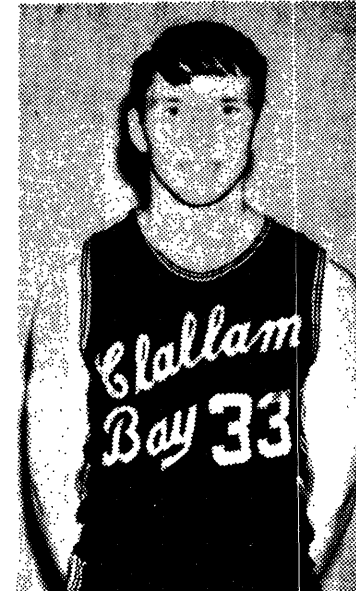

In the love and companionship of family and friends, let us ponder the Christ spirit and seek to reflect its inspiration in our daily lives. While the physical wants of Jesus were limited, his compassion and love for his fellow-man were boundless. Isn't there a lesson in the life of the Man from Nazareth for us, too?

The Coming Of Winter

The changing of the seasons since time immemorial has lent its rhythm to the pattern of human life. Winter will come officially on December 21. To much of the nation, it will bring a time of icicles and snow, of whistling winds and frosty cheeks, of lamplight and the comfort of a warm fire on the hearth. For most of us, these will be some of the experiences and pleasures of winter. For others who live in sections of the nation where winter never really comes, this will be one of the busiest times of the year, with millions of people visiting on winter vacations in search of the sun. On the shortest day of December this year, when winter arrives in the land, let us welcome it. It brings its challenges and its joys, but most of all, it brings the change that lends the spark and the spice to life.

Forks Spartans Win Number 4 Beat Cowboys 57-35, Bruins 58-51

The Chimacum Cow boys were looking for win number one Saturday at the expense of the Forks Spartans and the Spartans walked away with a 57-35 victory to extend their record to 4-0 for the season.

Forks opened fast and held a 26-23 halftime advantage. Rich Liles was the big difference in the first half as he scored 15 of his 20 points and pulled down 13 rebounds.

The Spartans pulled steadily ahead after intermission, outscoring Chimacum 13-7 in the third quarter and 18-9 in the final quarter.

Coach Roy Mohondro went to his bench early in the second half. The spirited play of Jim Rosmond, Steve Perry, Ed Rondeau, Russ Gale and Chuck Keeley in the final quarter gave the Forks crowd something to get excited about with the final outcome already decided.

Rich Liles paced the Spartan attack with 20 points and 17 rebounds for the night. Mike Price added 11 to the Spartan total.

Rocky Brecht paced Chimacum with 12 points. The Forks junior varsity won a cliff hanger as Dave Beebe walked to the free throw line and dropped two through the hoop with 7 seconds left in the game to give the Forks squad a 33-31 victory.

Ed Jackson had high scoring honors with 10.

Sunset Highlites

Traveled to P.A. Sunday to bowl in the Olympic Traveling League with Claude's Vagabond Cafe team. Won 6 of 8 points as did the Sunset Lanes bunch. Not sure how the West Enders made out.

Big Al Genson tipped out a 595 for the Sunset team in the first shift while Fred Jarvis had a 241-616 for the Vagabonds. D.J. Caulkins got back in the groove in the second shift with a fine 225-615.

No sports from the women on how they did at P.A. Lanes. Allen Logging won the first half of the Tuesday afternoon League with Windle Bros, taking second. Kay Sundberg had hi 10 of 188 and Patsi Hodges a 496 for hi 30.

Glen Gilmore and Fred Jarvis both had 213 in the Sunset League and Ed Dancus a 551.

Phyllis Queen led the Powder Puffs with a 201 and Sally Nagel had an even 500 for hi 30.

In the Wed. Boys Bantams, Jim Blair rolled a 150 and Jim Rondeau a 289.

JoAnne Hjelmeneth tossed a 211 in Wed. night's Hoot Owls and Lotus Huling had a hi 30 of 475.

Terris Genson swept all honors for the girls of the Thur. Jr. Mixed with 148-410 and Chuck Rondeau had hi 10 for the boys with a 172 while Mark Henry came in with a 410 hi 30.

Gladys Allen had the best of everything in the Thur. night Women's League with her 199-546.

Darrell Thomas and Duke Streeter topped the rest of the West Enders with a 206 and a 560 respectively. Peninsula Luggers captured the first half.

Early Fri. Mixed League saw Paula Lyda grab both high game and high series from the women with her 181-489.

Duke Streeter and John Nagel shared hi 10 for the men with 225, while John took hi 30 with his 560. Pretty fair bowling, John.

Thomas, Maher, Jarvis lead the Late Fri. Mixed first half by 3-1/2 points with one week to go.

Billie Crut blasted out a 197-552 for the women and Owen Genson beat out Big Al with a 192. Harold Kennedy had his ball whirling "Dixie" as he tickled the pins to the tune of 212-583.

Saturday's Mini Squad had Darlene Engeseth on top again with her 141 hi 10 and a 289 hi 20.

Same old story at Saturday night Monte Carlo, but with a little comedy and hard luck mixed in. Jean Keeney had the big shot at the Jackpot. It rolled gently down the alley and hooked nicely into the pocket but left one pesky pin standing. Almost had the money spent, didn't you Jean? Jody Foster repeated the performance for half the pot and left that one stubborn pin. And so the Jackpot finally has reached the century mark. Who's going to be the lucky winner? And when? Come down Saturday night at 8 p.m. and see if you will be the one to break the bank.

Hank and Lou Bigelow, celebrating their anniversary with champagne at Clark's, were a few minutes late, and wouldn't you know it! Lou's name was drawn for a shot at the money.

Sunday night Mixed saw the women almost outgun the men as Yvonne Kettel and Ken Keeney tied for hi 10 at 205 and Ken just barely beating out Yvonne by 545 to 545.

Larry Keeney shot his first 500 series this same evening.

Art Ritch finally tore loose, Texas style, as he rolled a 221-586 to lead the Lions Club to a four point win over second place Fitts Log. Duke Streeter led the losers with a 218 and a 597.

See you next week.

Clones, the original back-country craft, are natural carpoppers. Easy to handle, they're ideal for fishing rivers or small lakes. Aluminum canoes are especially light, won't soak up a directional pond and take a beating. Choose a square stern model, hitch on a small outboard, and you seldom have to pick up a paddle.

Small skills are handy, too, and they offer more freedom of movement by occupants. The flat-bottom, square end John boats are the best fishing platforms in calm water. However, they can be tough to maneuver when a strong wind starts kicking up whitecaps.

Select your fishing rig with an eye toward the type of waters you'll be fishing most often and keep it light, advise the Mercury lads, then start looking for those lonely spots bypassed by the less adventurous. You'll discover a lot of action that's reserved exclusively for carpoppers.

These compact, lightweight floating packages provide the only solution to fishing streams too deep for wading and small inaccessible backwoods lakes seldom visited by most anglers.

While most of the emphasis these days is on glamorous larger runabouts and cruisers, by no means has the small fishing craft left the outdoors scene. They are available in a wide variety of designs and sizes to fit a multitude of tasks, say the authorities at Mercury outboards, who offer a few pointers in selecting the proper hull.

Since portability is the basic requirement, confine your search to boats weighing under 120 pounds. You'll be compensated by lifting and carrying, so the lighter the better. Aluminum construction seems to be the best all-around choice, but strip-canoe designs that will accommodate an outboard and certain fiberglass hulls are suitable.

DEAR JANE

DEAR JANE:

We have been invited to a party around the holidays at a couples home with whom we are casually acquainted. The last time we went to one of their parties, we sat the entire evening playing pencil games--they ask you questions and you answer on your paper and the winner gets a surprise. Toward the end of the evening we has something to eat. That was it! No adult conversation, no standing or walking just sitting and writing. We felt somewhat like we were in grade school! Should we endure another evening of the quiz kids or should we hurt their feelings by refusing their invitation, as they know that we are not occupied that evening.

Party Poopers

Dear Party:

Kindly decline the invitation; it is best to be honest with everyone involved.

DEAR JANE:

What would you do in this situation? The other day while I was doing shopping, my two girls ages 10 and 12 got all dressed up in my clothes. They stuffed nylons in my bras and pulled their own shirts on over. They had old skirts of mine on, heels, hats the works. While I was gone, our out of town company arrived, my husbands parents and his brother and sister-in-law. Well guess who answered the door! Mr girls! Oh, when I got home and found them looking like that and our company here I almost fainted. The girls did not expect to get caught with my things on and after their grandparents arrived they couldn't get away to change back into their things. My mother-in-law told my husband that I allowed our girls to wear stuffed bras etc. There was so much confusion I could not correct the girls. What do I do now?

Mad Mother

Dear Mad:

If your girls want to dress grown up, then you just give them lots of good old grown up jobs around the house. Dishes, cleaning, etc., etc., etc.

DEAR JANE:

This year for Christmas I think I'm going to get my fiancée something very unusual for Christmas. She is a little on the chubby side. In fact she has to have her clothes custom made. She is always complaining about her weight; in fact she wears things too small because she cannot bend over to tie her shoes. She is not very active and loves to eat. I am a little lighter than she is by about 75 pounds and I do not see how I am going to get her over the threshold so I'm planning to give her a case of Metrecal from Santa. I happened to mentioned this to mother and she flipped. Who is right?

Frail Fiance'

Dear Frail:

You did say you wanted to get married!! There is an old Chinese proverb that says, "you can lead an obese to diet but you can't make them drink!"

Family FINANCIAL PROTECTION

Policyholder Question Answered by the Health Insurance Institute, 277 Park Ave., N. Y., N. Y., 10017

Q. Our family has been plagued with injuries and illness this year and we've filed more health insurance claims than ever before. In fact, we've received a great deal of help from these benefits. But now I'm worried. Is it possible for us to lose our policy if we make too many claims against it?

A. This depends on whether your insurance is set up on a group or individual basis. It isn't possible in a group plan even if claims related to the same ailment are repeatedly submitted.

It could be possible, however, if you have an individual policy of the "optionally renewable" type. This means the company retains the option of renewing the policy when it expires (usually at the end of each policy year). Or, the company might, upon renewal, exclude benefits for a particular illness. Or your premium could be increased. Many people today have policies that cannot be terminated. They are called either "guaranteed renewable" or "non-cancelable guaranteed renewable". These policies would protect you against these actions. Both cost somewhat more than a policy that may be cancelled.

Q. I was recently released from a mental hospital after spending two years there. During that time I let my health insurance expire. Will it be possible for me to get coverage again?

A. If you have returned to work and your company has a group plan, you will automatically be covered under it. If you are considering individual health insurance, it would be a good idea to talk to one or two insurance agents about special policies available for people with a medical history of disability, including mental illness. However, the insurance company will require a certain "recovery" period before issuing the insurance. Most people today are insurable, regardless of an earlier health problem.

Santa's Workshop isn't the only place in which the old gentleman is busy this season. He has a Kitchen, too, and he's been buzzing around in it fixing a batch of Jolly Holiday recipes and ideas for your table. They're all displayed in a 16-page, pull-out-and-keep section in the December Reader's Digest. Included are such treats as orange cranberry glaze, mini fruit cakes, instant pizza party rolls, sunny orange syrup, festive rice ring, holiday egg nog, cheddar cheese spread with sherry, and quick candied popcorn mixture. Above are some of the recipes.

bol of all that is good, wholesome, and bountiful in our land, the holiday turkey is a homemaker's pride and joy.

"I cook a 16-to-20-pound bird for 5 1/2 to 6 1/2 hours at 325 degrees," says one homemaker. "What to do? First, remember that some people like poultry more "done" than others. Then there is the shape and quality of the bird; the method used for cooking (dry vs. moist heat); the type of roasting pan, and even the temperature of the bird when it is placed in the oven are variables.

When available always follow the instructions on the turkey wrapper. If at all possible use a roast meat thermometer inserted into the center of the thigh muscle next to the body cavity. When it registers 180 to 185 degrees, it is most apt to please your taste.

Build Your Own Transistor Radio Set

LECTRON TRANSISTOR RADIO, built in two minutes from coded magnetic blocks, gets five or six stations in most locations. No experience is necessary. With the same all-purpose blocks, the experimenter can make dozens of fascinating devices — a burglar alarm, a Morse code transmitter, a night light, a basic electronic organ, and many more.

Time was when you could win a Nobel prize doing experiments in the kitchen. Or sitting under an apple tree. Or flying a kite.

But not anymore. Today's scientists require an atom smasher costing millions of dollars to do simple experiments. Or they need an orbiting telescope. Or a nuclear magnetic resonance machine.

Where can a bright youngster get a million dollars to do his first experiment with? Even in this age of government grants, it isn't easy.

Because they can't afford their own computer with which to get a start in life, today's budding geniuses are taking the do-it-yourself route like the old times.

The popular science magazines are crammed with projects you can build for a few dollars — a ball game, a people detector, electric eye burglar alarm, mine detector — you name it.

Somebody even invented a set that lets you make your own transistor radio in a couple of minutes. From scratch. Anytime you feel like listening to the ball game, you shuffle electron blocks around into a particular pattern and tune in. And no experience is necessary.

If you haven't seen a demomotion, make it a point to. The sets are called Lectron. They are sold by Raytheon Education Company of Lexington, Massachusetts, and they are available in most major department stores, and toy and hobby shops.

Air Force Needs Women

Announcement was made this week that a continuing need exists for qualified women to fill positions of importance in the United States Air Force.

In making the announcement Technical Sergeant Kenneth A. Lester, Local Air Force recruiter, stated women that qualify are signed for a four year contract, they are given unlimited opportunity to further their formal education while receiving valuable training in an important position on the Aero-Space Team.

While on active duty women in the Air Force receive the same pay and privileges as their male counterparts, including 30 days paid vacation each year and the opportunity for world travel.

Detailed information on the many programs available for women in the Air Force may be obtained by sending a card to Sgt. Ken Lester, 517 6th Street, Bremerton, Wash. 98310. Sgt. Lester may also be contacted each Thursday afternoon at the Fort Angeles Post Office.

SKIDDING FOR SAFETY

TENNESSEE SKID TEST TRAILER — one of the devices used by the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards during its annual winter test project to measure the stopping ability of various types of tires, chains and other equipment.

These findings point up the extreme hazard of driving on glare ice—showing that with regular tires it may take close to nine times as far to stop as on dry pavement. The Safe Winter Driving League cautions drivers that regardless of the type of traction device employed—even with tire chains—far slower than normal speeds are essential on icy pavements.

Bill Hawk Installed Toastmaster President

At the regular meeting of the Forks Toastmasters Club last Wednesday the officers for the new year were installed. Mr. Sid Livermore, Area Governor for the organization, was present to do the installing. J. William Hawk was installed as president, John Bredendack as educational vice president, Bob Baldwin as administrative vice president, Fred Romond as secretary-treasurer, and Ed Malmsten as sergeant at arms.

Don Nailor and Bob Kennedy were also present at the meeting as guests from the Port Angeles club.

During the usual part of the meeting, J. William Hawk won the Topic Trophy by speaking on the subject "Why I Refuse to Visit Santa Claus at the North Pole." Topic speeches are a part of each meeting. This notion of the program is to give each toastmaster practice in impromptu speaking. The winner of the Speech Trophy was Ed Malmsten who spoke on "Are You Ambidextrous?" Ed juggled oranges to illustrate his personal answer to the question. It is the customary practice to have two speeches of five-minute length at each meeting to help build skills in organization, presentation, grammar and poise before a group.

Toastmasters meet at the Antlers Cafe on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month from 7 to 9 p.m. Anyone interested in improving his speaking skills is encouraged to attend.

Meditation

By William Cross

"REVERIE": The dictionary says this word means dreamy meditation; fanciful musing. Also, a fantastic, visionary, or impractical idea... CHRISTMAS REVERIE -- To many, this Season of all seasons when we commemorate the Saviour's birth, is but a dreamy meditation or it consists of fanciful musing. To a great many others it not only is fantastic and visionary but a very impractical idea! However, to the Christian, it is a wonderful and glorious time of celebrating the birth of the One Who came to redeem a lost humanity from their sin; to pay the full price for their redemption that lost man might not only have his sins forgiven but be restored to fellowship with the Father God.

To those who have believed, the birth of the only begotten Son of God, conceived of the Holy Ghost and born of the virgin Mary, is neither dreamy meditation and fanciful musing nor is it a fantastic, visionary and impractical idea. Nor is it considered such by the one true God Who sent His Son to be born, to live and to die that sinners might be saved. To God the Father it was the quintessence of all crisis; the supreme sacrifice of all sacrifice; the only conciliatory act whereby lost men could be reconciled to God!

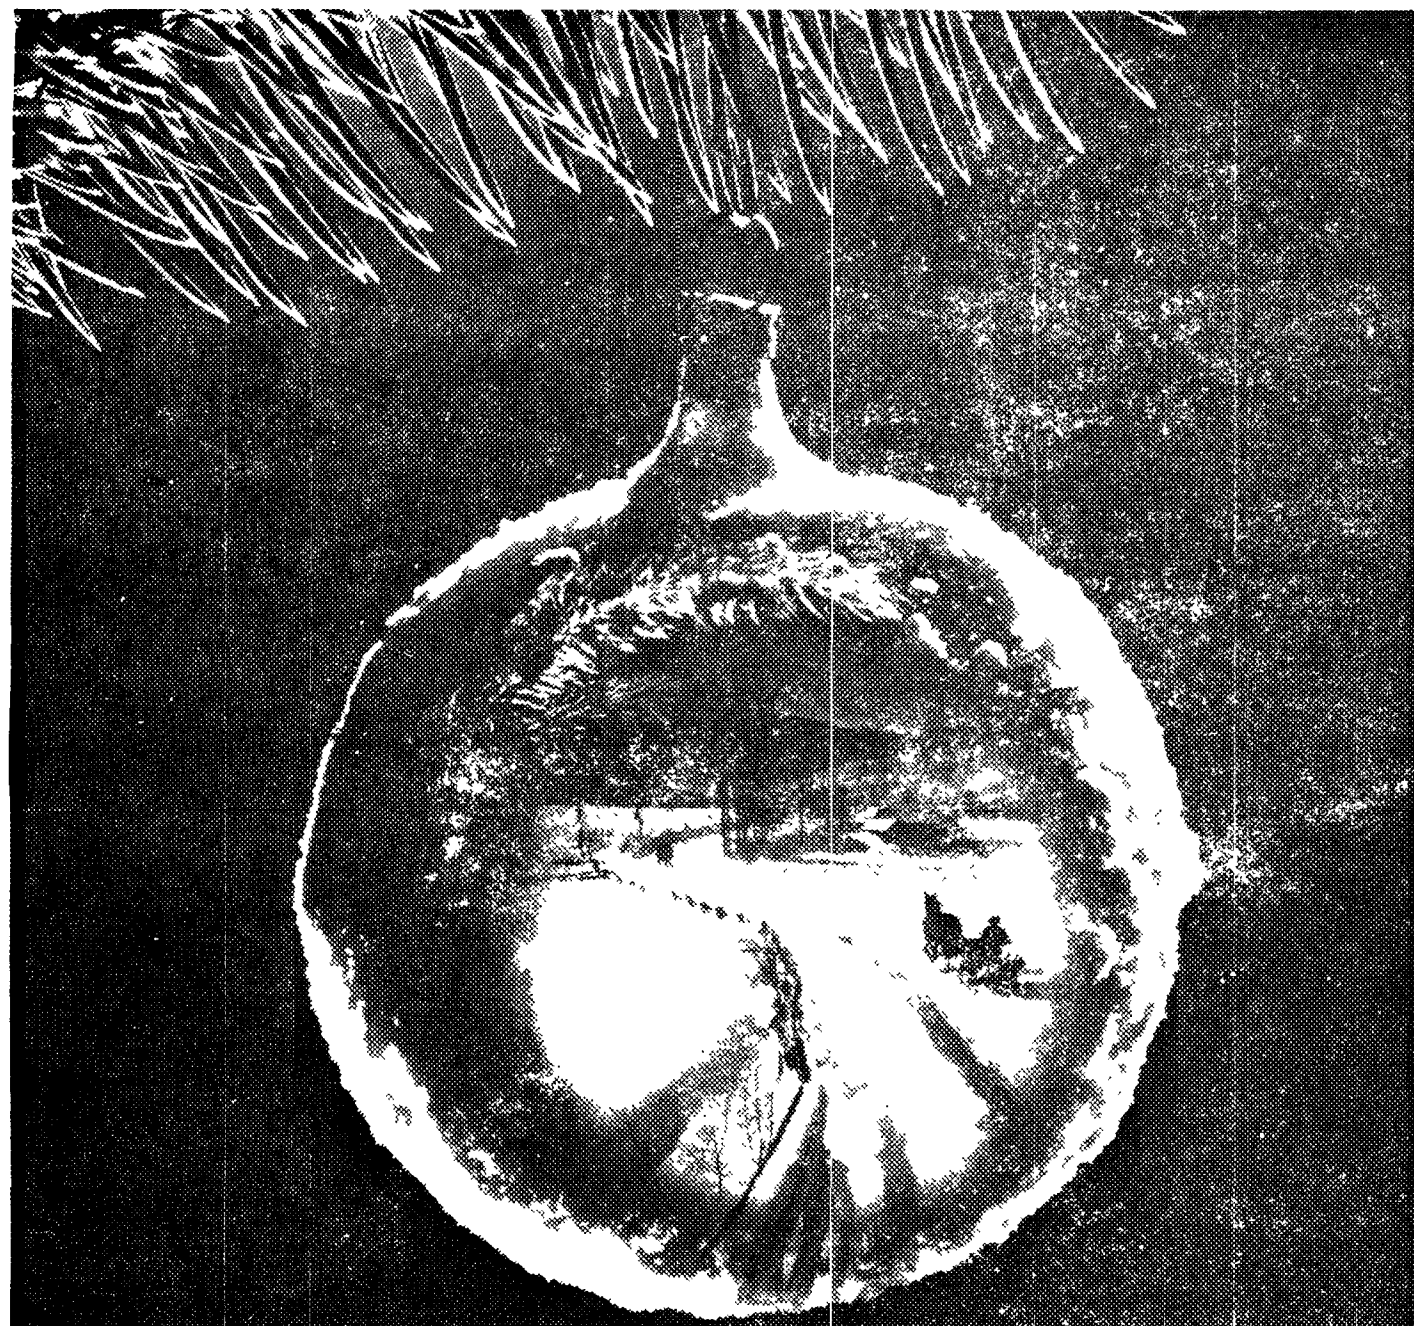

God speaks prior to the birth of Jesus in Bethlehem and says "Thou shalt call His name Jesus, for He shall save His people from their sin." John the Baptist pointed to Him and said: "Behold, the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world." At His baptism in the River Jordan, God spoke again and said: "This is my beloved Son in Whom I am well pleased." Fantastic! Visionary! Impractical! that this "Babe in a lowly manger" could be so related to the Almighty God and have such a destiny!

In John 14:6, we read, "Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth and the life: no man cometh unto the Father but by Me." Peter said of Him, "Neither is there salvation in any other, for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved."

As we gather around our Christmas scenes, sing our Christmas carols and exchange our gifts, may we remember Him who came to die that men "might have life and have it more abundantly." Not fanciful, visionary or impractical is the Saviour's birth; rather it is the most glorious fact and the most blessed hope for all who, by faith, have come to know Him as both Saviour and Lord!

The Apostle Paul, in II Cor. 9:15, gives thanks unto God for His "Unspeakable Gift" - God's "Unspeakable Gift"! If He has expressed Himself in it, how can the contents of the gift be put into human thought and language? Yet the glorious reality remains that Christ has made Himself knowable to man. We can know Him, when to know aught is life eternal. How much of ourselves are we willing to give to God who has given unto us His "Unspeakable Gift"?

Christmas--and we come along the cotton lane to the house where Gamba sits, a lone man. "Here is the candle-light, to show open the way before the manger in a child's face seen."

Christmas--and I cry as I watch the carolers' manger scene I made as a child, that Mother had set up every year 'till now.

Christmas--and our little girl kneels to her beside a homemade manger. Two brothers flank her, their shepherd hats askew, as Daddy reads by flashlight. "And there you are in the same country shepherd's."

Christmas--and in a world that knows war, fire, and pain, I praise God for the Babe who "grew in grace" and demonstrated perfect Love.

Christmas--and candlelight gleams on the altar of your church and mine as we thank God for the birthday of a King.

Three, O Lord, is the greatness, and the power, and the glory, and the victory, and the majesty for all that is in the heaven and on the earth is thine; thine is the kingdom, O Lord, and thou art exalted as head above all. These words from the first book of Chronicles are part of the bible lesson-Sermon titled "In His Universe, Including Man, I Involved My Atomic Force" to be read in all Christian Science churches this Sunday. At VFW Hall, A Street S. E., services will begin at 11 a.m. The community is invited to attend.
