Table showing weather data for Dec 30, Dec 31, Jan 1, Jan 2, Jan 3, Jan 4, Jan 5.

It's Been A Wet Year In Forks 145.09 Inches Third Highest Total On Record

Forks has had its share of liquid sunshine in 1968. Information compiled by volunteer observer Mrs. Olive King lists the 1968 total at 145.09 inches of rainfall.

The record high total was recorded in 1921 at 153.79 inches, approximately 12-3/4 feet of water. The all time low of 77.81 (an extremely dry year) was recorded in 1929.

People may complain about the rain once in awhile but the combination of mild climate and heavy rainfall total are the reasons behind the great Olympic Playground of green landscape and abundant rushing streams.

The following rainfall and snowfall for the past 16 years for Forks was reported by Mrs. Olive King -- cooperative observer:

Short Comings

New trooper John McCauley is now on duty in the Forks area and needs to locate housing so he can move his family here. They have four children.

Forks Marshall Phil Reibe investigated an apparent dynamite blast last week on the A road just off Highway 101. The blast occurred at approximately 9:30 in the evening and shook things up at Slathars.

It looked like an old barn raising celebration at Teh Hsing Hsu's new home site as fellow workers from the DNR came to the aide of the Teh-Hsiang Hsu family and roofed the new home Sunday.

Weather failed to cooperate with loggers and shingle weavers while they were shut down for the holidays. Usually this is the time for getting in a lot of steelhead fishing but it was either too cold or the streams running bank high.

New Trooper In Forks Area

John S. McCauley, a five year veteran with the Washington State Patrol, has been assigned to the Forks area, according to local detachment head Sgt. C. L. Gowler.

Family FINANCIAL PROTECTION

Policyholder Questions Answered by The Institute of Life Insurance, 277 Park Ave., N. Y., N. Y., 10017

Q. I was going through some family papers the other day when I came across my life insurance policy, and decided to read it through. It made me realize there may be some things I've overlooked in my personal life insurance matters. Can you help me out?

A. Now that you've read the policy, if you have any questions about its basic provisions and benefits, speak to your family insurance man. Here are some other pointers to keep in mind.

1. Keep your company informed if you change your address. And make a note of when your premiums fall due in case a notice should get lost in the mail.
2. Keep your policy in a safe place at home. It's also a good idea to have a record of your insurance policies and numbers in another place in case a duplicate is needed.
3. Make sure family members or other beneficiaries are familiar with your life insurance program and know where the policies are in case of emergency.
4. Review your life insurance program with your life insurance agent every year or two, or when major events take place, for instance marriage, the birth of a child, a promotion or a job change.

Is the American Eagle in danger of becoming "bald"? In an old fable, a bird meets a fisherman with a can of worms and asks him for one.

"Sure," says the fisherman. "All I ask in return is one of your feathers."

A feather for a worm seems reasonable to the bird, so the exchange is made. The next day the bird is hungry again. He weighs the inconvenience of searching for food against the expediency of trading with the fisherman and decides in favor of expediency. After a few days, the bird has traded off so many feathers that he cannot fly. He continues to make his daily trip to the fisherman on foot until all of his feathers are gone. At this point, the fisherman picks up the fat, naked bird and cooks him for dinner.

As we enter the New Year, leaving behind a year marked with crime and violence, we might ask ourselves if the American eagle has a full plumage or is he missing feathers because of our expediency in bartering with criminals.

A persuasive argument can be made that the law-abiding citizen's freedoms diminish in direct proportion to the increase of criminal activity in our country. His risk of becoming the victim of a serious crime increased 15 percent in 1967, and a similar rise is indicated for 1968. In many areas, fear forces the citizen to remain off the streets at night, and anxiety makes him suspicious of strangers. Some merchants are intimidated by thugs who walk away with merchandise. More and more businesses are adopting policies not to accommodate the public but to protect their property and thwart criminal assaults on their employees. The list of abuses keeps growing, and society's scope of rights and freedoms keeps shrinking.

Certainly, under the rule of law those who abide by the law should have protection equal to that of those who break the law. Many Americans feel that they do not have equal protection.

As we look to the future, we must bring the matter of crime and the criminal back into balance with the safety and welfare of the public. Concern and pity for the law-breaker cannot be permitted to deprive the peaceful citizen of his rights and freedoms. Palliative policies and appeasement are producing soaring crime rates and filling our streets with criminals who should be in jail.

In 1969, let us resolve to have fair but vigorous law enforcement, prompt and decisive prosecution, and realistic punishment of criminals. In dealing with crime, expediency is a shortcut to disaster. Let us not trade our freedoms for a can of worms.

Rising Prices

The highest standard of living in the world has continuously had its effect on prices in the United States.

The logging and lumbering industry is one that has been constantly hit by rising prices.

George N. Baker, Rt. 1, Box 300, Forks, brought a wholesale lumber price list into our office. The list was dated March 11, 1961, and was from Inman Poulson & Co. of Portland, Oregon. The price list was used to compare lumber prices.

Some price examples and reasonable comparisons of today's prices for fir lumber are: Common Rough $8.00 per M in 1891, today's price $125.00 per M. Selected Common Rough $10 per M in 1891, today's price $150.00 per M. No. 1 clear finish in 1891 went for $20.00 per M and today's price runs from $250-$300 per M.

Log prices have been on a steady increase. In 1958, hemlock prices run from $40 per M for #3's to $70 per M for peelers. Today #3's run $60-$60 per M and peelers $90 to $95 per M. Cedar products, mainly shakes, are at an all-time high.

Cedar log prices have risen approximately 75% in the last year, #3's $70 per M, #2's $90 per M and #1's $115 per M.

In 1958, #3's ran $40 per M, #2's $60 per M, and #1's $85 per M.

Fir, once the giant of the Pacific Northwest forests, is not in top demand today. Hemlock and cedar have become the top market log. Export is partially credited with the demand and high prices, but cedar shakes and shingle prices are at a new high. Approximately $28 a square is the going price for shingles at this time for #1's and #1 shakes run approximately $25.00 per square.

Prices will continue to rise in a free enterprise system with supply and demand the main determining factors.

Wages are the next item in the logging and lumbering industry which are scheduled to take some drastic changes. The industry is faced with strike threats to obtain union demands for the working man. When these problems are settled, the prices will probably rise again.

The information contained here is based on average figures obtained from the following sources: Rosmond Bro. Lumber Company, M. R. Smith Shingle and the Department of Natural Resources.

Redskins Halt Spartan String

The Forks Spartans opened league play Friday night traveling to Port Townsend looking for an opening league win and an extension of the victory string to seven.

The Redskins failed to cooperate and hustled to a convincing 63-51 victory over the Spartans.

The Redskins opened a 15-6 quarter lead over the slow starting Spartans. Rick Gastfield did most of the early damage dropping three big jumpers thru the hoop and adding a pair from the line.

Port Townsend led 30-24 at the half as the Spartans began to fight back with Mike Price and John Spoelstra finding the range.

The Spartans came within two at 38-36 midway into the third period. The Redskins quickly wiped out that threat with a couple of fast breaks and the quarter closed with Port Townsend leading 48-39.

Port Townsend maintained an 8-12 point lead throughout the final quarter.

Rick Gastfield, Redskin sophomore, led all scorers with 16. Mike Price paced the Spartans with 15. John Spoelstra and Rich Liles followed with 11 and 10.

Scoring: FORKS: (51) Spoelstra 11, J. Price 4, Liles 10, M. Price 15, S. Perry, L. Baker 7, Rosmond 3, Keeley 1, Seigle, D. Perry, Gale.

PORT TOWNSEND: (63) Rondeau 4, Gastfield 10, Prill 14, Minishi 12, Peterson 2, Thompson, Sandvig 12, Smith 1, Wilde 2, Gruver, Atmooch.

Fork's junior varsity kept their string alive with a 38-26 victory.

BORED

Two Spartan starters look on in a rather boring manner as the plot came early in the first chapter of the Forks vs. Wishkah story and the remaining three chapters added no excitement except for some unsportsman-like conduct from the visitors over a call in which the referee was wrong as he usually is when you're losing. Speaking of sportsmanship, where can you find a finer sportsmanship show as you do when the Spartans take the floor home or away.

Church News

A communion service will be held this Sunday in the VFW Hall, A Street S.E.

The service will begin at 11 a.m., and is open to the community.

The lesson-Sermon is titled "Sacrament," and the Golden Text is from 1 Samuel: "Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice, and to hearken than the fat of rams."

Included in the readings is the following reference from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "To keep the commandments of our Master and follow his example, is our proper debt to him and the only worthy evidence of our gratitude for all that he has done. Outward worship is not of itself sufficient to express loyal and heartfelt gratitude, since he has said: 'If ye love me, keep my commandments.'"

Sunset Highlites

Big Al Genson and I cruised over to Poulso Sunday with the Nagel in his Pontiac. Stopped at Denny's in P. A. for breakfast with Herb and Jerry Beebe, Duke and Jean, Sally Agel and Avel Baker. Herb was driving and chaperoning the gals to Bainbridge to bowl in their Traveling League. They said they didn't bowl too good, but they took 9 points out of 8, so they must have bowled not too bad. They're now in fourth place.

Helen Thomas had a 598 and Jerry a 495. Us men didn't do quite so well, altho Clark's Vagabond stayed in third place. Duke had the high series of 623, Fred 539, and Claude had a 220-595 while Darrell and D.J. both bowled real steady and well over their average.

Dick Stroupe had a 223-539 for West End and John Nagel a 31-583 for Sunset Lanes team.

Thursday Jr. Mixed started again with Patty Laswell's 59-402 leading the girls. She also picked up the 3-7-10 split. Mark Henry had 171-455 for the boys and went Patty better by picking off the 6-7-10.

Duke Streeter bowled up a storm in the Early Fri. Mixed, rattling the pins for a 235-604. Back in the groove again, Duke, Nice bowling.

Sally Nagel had a nice 205 for the gals and Paula Lyda a 105.

Darrell Thomas really had his ball working in the Late Fri. Mixed, whipping out a 218-650. Billie Crist again led the women with a 180-507.

Theresa Decker topped the rest of Saturday's Mini Squad with her 1110 of 144 and 11120 of 251. Judy Rebe had a 20-213.

Well, the Big Jackpot vanished at Saturday Nite's Monte Carlo... right into Gayle Helfrich's pocket book. When she threw the ball after her number was drawn, there was no doubt about what was going to happen when it hit the 1-2 pocket. What a money bowler! She must have been in a state of shock afterwards, as she blasted out six straight strikes to start her first game, ending up with a fine 220.

Don't give up, folks, as the Pot this Sat. is well worth coming after, besides all the different money and merchandise shots you may get.

John Nagel couldn't have been more consistent as he performed the rare feat of bowling a triplicate. Three identical games of 179.

No patch for this, John, but a pat on the back from all of us. Leta Rondeau topped the gals of the Sunday Nite Mixed with a 188-499 and Ward English and Ted Kettel led the men with 483 and 507 respectively.

Some fine bowling in Monday Nite's Forks Prairie League with a real donnybrook on lanes 5 and 8 where Fitts Log. and Trager Log. were having quite a down to the wire pin falling contest. Leading by one pin going into the last game, Lawrence and Jessie's boys held off a rally by their rivals, and won the game by 14 pins. 3018 to 3003 total pins!

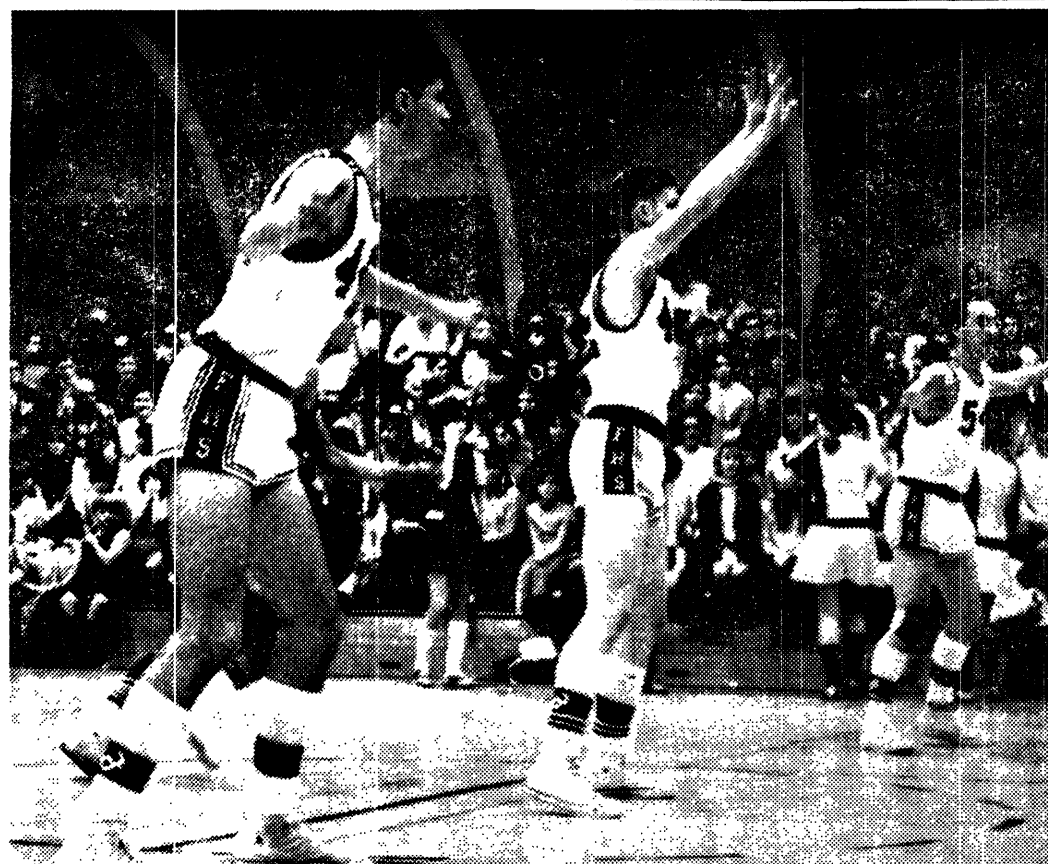

Fred Jarvis topped all bowlers for the nite 232-624. Duke Streeter had a 594, Darrell Thomas, Lee Cheek, and John Nagel all had 573's and Stan Fouts a 585. There were numerous other 570's and 550's, all in all a fine nite of bowling.

Bob Auld rolled his first 200 in league play, a pro-sized 20. With a 136 average, I'd say that was darned nice game.

Lee Cheek also picked off the 6-7-10 split. 'Bout time you started hitting, Lee. See you next week.

MacDonalds Celebrate 50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. J.L. MacDonald of Beaver were married Dec. 23, 1918, in Port Angeles, and celebrated their Golden Wedding anniversary on Sunday, Dec. 29, at a reception at Aggie's Hideaway, given by their children, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace MacDonald of Seattle, and Mr. and Mrs. Norman (Marjorie) Cowan of Beaver.

The reception had been planned for some 200 guests, but only 75 or 80 persons attended due to the inclement weather.

Mrs. MacDonald was lovely in an off-white sheer wool dress and with it she wore a single pink-centered orchid.

Mrs. Alice MacFarlane, Mrs. MacDonald's sister and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Ed Konopaski, poured, and Mrs. Philip Golan of Pullman, the MacDonald's granddaughter, cut and served the cake. She also had charge of the guest book.

Mrs. Wallace MacDonald wore a burgandy knitted suit, Mrs. Cowan wore a Kelly green wool dress and Mrs. Golan chose a dress of deep orange velvet. All three ladies had carnation corsages, as did Mrs. MacFarlane and Mrs. Konopaski.

Two interesting incidents of the reception: Mr. Konopaski served as best man at the wedding 50 years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh Konopaski of Port Angeles (Mrs. MacDonald's brother and sister-in-law) were present at the reception and disclosed that they, too, were celebrating an anniversary; their 30th as they were married Dec. 29, 1938.

The following is part of a letter received last week by Mr. and Mrs. L.J. MacDonald from Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hall of Lopez Island, residents of the West End for many years.

Port Angeles Dear Mac and Midge: Congratulations on your 50th anniversary! Seeing your pictures of 1918 and 1968, and being snowbound here takes me back to the Big Snow of 1916, and to the Fairservice, Keel-auver, Rudisile era, with the dance hall attached to the hotel where we'd go to the big dances that were real hoe downs. The Midholland, Langie orchestra would come up on the steamer for a two or three day stay. On Saturday, dance night, the West End population would assemble for the dance. At midnight we stopped for the big feed and took your girl, if you had one, or ate with the bachelor bums. After supper we'd take up another collection and fire the orchestra for the rest of the night. At 6 in the morning, Rudisile would ring the breakfast bell and we'd go through the door into the dining room for ham and eggs or bacon and hot cakes, take your choice. Maybe I'm getting old when I look back to those wonderful days and maybe they were wonderful days because I can feel the thrill of being young and carefree. And I can't forget to mention the transportation to and from the dances. Coming from Pysht it was the good old Model T, through mud roads. If we got stuck, we'd take the ax, always carried, cut a pole and pry old Tin Lizzie out of the hole and go to the next one. Sometimes we had enough man power to pick up one end at a time and move it over. It was kind of hard on dance floors with muddy shoes, but the heat and the bouncing around took care of the mud in a short time. (A couple of paragraphs follow, which have not much of a connection to Mr. Hall's reminiscences.) Sincerely, Harry and Eve Hall

Mrs. MacDonald put in a few notes which add to the interest of the letter. She says: Mrs. Harry Hall was Miss Eva Rhodes, teacher at East Clallam School 50 years ago. Sekiu was then called West Clallam.

The old steamer was either the old Rosalie or the Alice Gertrude Passengers, also freight and mail came from outside ports. "Stops" were the Clallam area, then to Neah Bay and return to Port Angeles and Seattle.

The MacDonald family wants to thank most sincerely, all, for the flowers, greetings and best wishes on such a wonderful occasion.

Valliant-Sexton Wed

Our Redeemer's Lutheran Church in Arcata was the setting on December 21 for the wedding of Miss Phyllis Diane Valliant of McKinleyville and Vester Lee Sexton, Jr., of Arcata.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. Robert Ledford of 685 School Road and L.O. Valliant of Everett, Wash., was given in marriage by her father and the couple pledged their vows before the Rev. Donald Claassen.

The bridegroom's parents, are Mr. and Mrs. Vester Sexton, Sr., of Forks, Washington.

The bride's formal gown of ivory satin and pearl d'ange lace, was styled with an empire bodice, a soft A-line skirt, long lace sleeves and a high neckline. The detachable wattleau train was of lace. Her elbow-length veil was held by a cluster of satin flowers and she carried a French bouquet of white roses.

Miss Alyce Valliant was her sister's honor attendant and the bridesmaids were Miss Sharon Valliant and Miss Trudy Hunter. Their skimmer-style gowns were of velvet, designed with long sleeves and empire bodices. The maid of honor was in moss green and the bridesmaids in hot pink. Velvet bow headpieces matched their gowns and they carried small French bouquets.

Greg Munson of Beaver, Washington, served as best man and the ushers were Scott Baker and David Dosey of Arcata.

The altar was flanked by baskets of white mums and the altar arrangements were of the same flowers.

For her daughter's marriage, Mrs. Ledford chose a grey knit dress and coat ensemble and the bridegroom's mother wore a two-piece dress of pink silk. Their corsages were white roses accented with the color of their costumes.

A reception was held in the church social hall. The new Mrs. Sexton was graduated from McKinleyville High School in 1967 and is a sophomore at Humboldt State College where she is a nursing major.

She is a recipient of the All-state Nursing Scholarship and has been on the president's list of scholars each quarter. She also works in the curriculum department in the college library.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Forks High School, 1965. He is attending the College of Redwoods and works for Humboldt Flakeboard.

For their wedding trip and skiing outing, they went to Ashland, Oregon. The new Mrs. Sexton changed to a white knit dress, tortoise shell accessories and white wool coat.

The newly weds have returned to Arcata and are living at 926 A. Street.

Well, What Do You Know? fun, games and knowledge

by MARTHA GLAUBER SHAPP, Editor, The New Book of Knowledge

Can you tell temperature by touch?

You can tell whether something is warm or cold simply by feeling it. But this is not always a good way. About 300 years ago an Englishman named John Locke performed an experiment. He showed that our sense of touch is a poor way to tell temperature. Locke took three pans and filled one of them with water that was about as hot as he could stand. He filled another pan with lukewarm water. And he filled a third with very cold water. He

Is there such a thing as red snow?

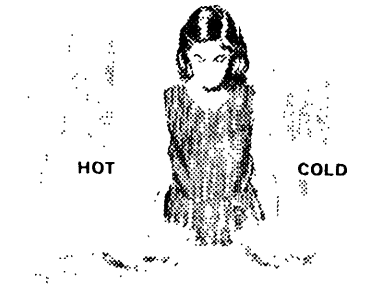

Snow or rain can be red if the air contains red dust particles. Snowflakes or raindrops forming around these dust particles take on a reddish color. Red snows and red rains occur in those parts of Europe—especially Italy—where the air is filled with dust particles from the red sands of the Sahara desert.

Why are ships christened with champagne?

In olden days ships were christened with wine or water. The Romans and Greeks used water as a sign of purification in blessing a new ship. Red wine was later adopted for launchings. At first, wine was drunk as a good-luck toast as the ship slid into the water. Champagne came into use because it was more expensive and was thought more fitting to the occasion. At first the champagne was poured on the ship. Now the champagne bottle is smashed on the prow. The bottle is enclosed in a metal mesh covering to protect against flying glass.

What makes curly hair?

Imagine that you cut across a shaft of straight hair and a shaft of curly hair, as you might cut across two tree trunks. If you were to look at the cut section of straight hair under the microscope, you would see that it is round. The cut section of curly hair is oval or flat. The flatter the hair is, the more easily it bends and the curlier it is.

DEAR JANE

DEAR JANE:

My husband is an animal lover. If you have never lived with an animal lover, you have no idea what you are missing. Anyway, throughout our marriage we have had dogs, cats, fowl of everytype and I don't know what all else. It wouldn't be so bad, but the trouble is he wants them in the HOUSE. I was tolerant of the dogs, cats and his muddy boots, but recently he acquired two pet ducks! They were so cute and fuzzy at first but they soon grew large, VERY large! These ducks just love my husband, in fact they follow him everywhere. My husband has a shop next to my house and spends the greater part of his day working in his shop. When my husband comes in the house, the ducks camp on the front steps until he comes out. The past two weeks have been hectic around our house. I've been shoveling the snow off the front porch and steps, sweeping the mail, mud, and then the rain just mixes the whole works up in a mess of slosh! Finally I began to complain to my husband about cleaning up the duck droppings off the porch, and he had a lot of nerve; he said it was good for me! He was the first to laugh, but I got the last laugh. The ducks moved into my husband's shop with him during the cold weather! Now guess who has to dig up duck droppings, and he didn't like it very well either. Well, the payoff came the other day when I walked into my husband's office next to his shop to tidy up a bit, and guess what I found under my husband's heat lamp basking themselves. You guessed it. THE DUCKS! They had obviously been there awhile, if you know what I mean. Now, I'm a very patient woman and just today I slipped again on the you-know-what as I stepped out of my front porch. I've had it. My husband has to know that either the ducks go or I GO! Actually, I'm afraid of his answer. How do I get rid of my husband's ducks?

Doesn't Dig Droppings

Dear Doesn't:

Your darling ducks need a new home. Tell your husband that you have dug your last dropping and unless he finds a new home for the ducks, he will have to dig them .... for dinner tomorrow!

DEAR JANE:

During the holidays, our family went to relatives in a distant city for the family celebrations. When we go to their house, we have to sleep in their basement, which is fine, but there are no Japes on the windows. I feel like I'm in a goldfish bowl. One evening when my husband and I retired for the night, we looked at the window and there was this face staring back at us. I screamed and pulled the covers up to my shoulders and my husband ran up the stairs, out the back door and tip-toed around the corner to catch whoever it was pecking in the window. We really thought we had a prowler, but it was Grandpa. We got mad and accused Grandpa of pecking, and Grandpa got mad and said he was chewing tobacco. I wanted to know why he had to stoop down and peck in our window in order to chew his tobacco. He gambled something and isn't talked to us since. My sister and brother-in-law, who Grandpa lives with, are also mad at us for upsetting Grandpa. I kept telling my sister that we should let Grandpa buy Playboy Magazine but none listens to me! Well, now we are in a tunc fix. The whole family is mad at us. How do we square ourselves with everyone?

Basement Arcade

Dear Basement:

Be tolerant with Grandpa. Someday you may need the favor returned.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hull had with them on Christmas Eve all their children and their families, with the exception of their oldest son Rev. Ray Hull and his family of Winthrop, who were visiting in Seattle, but found it impossible to come on over, as they had to return home on Thursday. They did, however, call that evening. The Hulls received a letter early last week telling of conditions at Winthrop over the Christmas week. Rev. Hull's parishioners had kept the snow cleared from his driveway until the day the family returned home when the snowplow blocked it with a huge pile of snow cleared from the highway. And cold! The mercury stood at -59 degrees. However, that did not last too long.

Mrs. Hull also heard, last week, from her brother-in-law and sister, Rev. and Mrs. R. A. Kenney at Willpinit, Stevens Co., and the temperature there was only slightly warmer, being -35 degrees.

Meditation

by Eldon Iverson

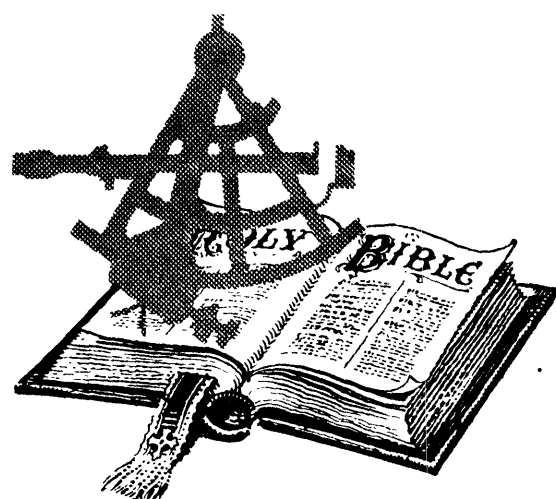

Contentment, satisfaction, peace, happiness are things every individual the world over seeks. It is quite evident, as we look at the turmoil and unrest in the world today, that few ever arrive at finding these things.

We hope to find it in things. A new bicycle, dress, horse, shoes, car, etc., are things we seek as youth. As we go out on our own, we work hard and long to accumulate things and yet we have a vacuum in our lives. It is like trying to fill Grand Coulee Dam with a teaspoon. Sophia Loren writes in January Reader's Digest, "I have learned what nearly everyone learns at some time in life. It is simply that 'prospects is better than possession' and that of all possessions, the material ones are the least in value and most transient." Many try to find it in success and yet many successful say, "I am not happy! I do not have peace, but worry!" Some try to find satisfaction, happiness and peace in religion. Yet as we observe "religious" people we come to the conclusion that they are, of all men, most miserable. Where then can we find happiness? It is only in Christ. He alone can make your life full and complete. There is no complete happiness or contentment apart from Him, but in Him there is perfect peace! Jesus said, "I am come that they might have life and that they might have it more abundantly." John 10:10. We CAN have an abundant life!

Too close for comfort

Here's a photograph taken from a kayak. You don't bring a ship this close to an iceberg! For underwater the tentacles of this cruel, cold monster may reach out a mile or more.

Life for some folks is a succession of narrow escapes. But these are adventures we can do without. They don't prove us bold sailors. They simply prove us poor navigators.

Frightened men sometimes turn to religion as a refuge when dangers—moral, spiritual and physical—loom too close for comfort. God does not fail us in crisis.

But the every-day function of faith is to pilot men on a true course through the sea of life. The Church cannot sweep away icebergs. It warns us of their whereabouts and helps us give them a wide berth.

WORK OF THE MASTER'S HAND

Walk the beach at early morn
 Hear the Eagle and Sea Gull scream
 Watch their flight in the morning breeze
 With grace and style above the trees.

Walk this beach across rock and sand
 Observe the work of the master's hand
 He has shaped the driftwood tossed about
 And painted the rocks along the route.

Watch to Deer tracks along the way
 Watch the tide pools where Raccoons play
 Feel the spray against your face
 Cease the Urchins with their prickly lace.

No, these sights are not out of reach
 They're found right here on Rafto Beach
 This is not a dream or fantasyland
 It is all the work of the master's hand.
