PORT ANGELES OLYMPIC LEADER

VOL. 29. NO. 10. PORT ANGELES, CLALLAM COUNTY, WASHINGTON, FRIDAY, MARCH 13, 1914. $1.00 EER YEAR.

COUNCIL ELECTED WILCOX

Deadlock on Third Ward Councilman Broken on 25th Ballot Tuesday Evening.

All members were present at Tuesday's council meeting, and the accumulated business was gone through with in a hurry. The much-vexed Third ward councilmanic question has been settled, and a new start is in sight, with the prospects that some more readjustments will be made by the powers that be.

Dustman led off in the business of the evening in an endeavor to get the piece of sidewalk between Front and First on Francis put in at the cost of the city as far as the material therefor was concerned, the property owners to do the work of laying the walk. He failed to get a second to his motion and the matter died aborning. The rest of the council take the position that the city having broken away from building sidewalks at public expense it is a good thing to keep away from. The exception was made in the case of the Olympic Hotel simply to encourage that laudable enterprise.

Shields of ordinance committee reported favorably to passage of ordinances condemning the right to improve the down town section, a proceeding which seems to be required before the work is commenced. The ordinances were placed upon final passage and adopted by unanimous vote.

Dustman of the electric light committee reported recommending the employment of a manager for the lighting system, he to be paid $125 per month, and to have entirecharge of plant, extensions, etc., and the drafting of a power rate sheet. Employment be for 90 days and if satisfactory to be made permanent. Dustman moved the adoption of the report, second Bigelow and carried, Shields voting no, stating he thought better arrangements could be made.

Cemetery committee reported satisfactory arrangements having been made for the installing of a telephone at the cemetery.

City Electrician Church reported that he had been asked to estimate cost of extending light system up Valley 8th to 10th; he estimates at $85. Also to estimate cost of placing Third street lights on regular street circuit, which he fixed at $35, the switch at present costing $5 month to switch on and off. Dustman stated that he had asked for the information, believing it a business proposition and moved tbat the work be done. Carried.

Resident of 7th and Washington street proposed to council that he had applied to water company repeatedly but could get no service. Shields stated it was the old story and asked an explanation from the manager who was present. Mr. Brumfield stated that the reason no water was supplied was that the party was 250 feet from main; that he had suggested a method by which water could be procured, but party did not seem to want it bad enough to comply. It was a small matter, however, and he thought it could be arranged.

Bigelow of special committee reported having met with Manager Brewer of the Water Company last week, to ascertain what could be done toward getting more fire hydrants and a better rate. At first Mr. Brewer thought no better rate could be made, but he would return to Tacoma and consult his associate Mr. Seymour. This he did and had advised the committee that no better rate could be made on present hydrants, "but as the company had always had the best interests of the city at heart, they would consent to a rate of $2.50 per month for all new hydrants installed after this date." As chairman of the committee Bigelow recommended the acceptance of the agreement. Fisher moved to postpone action for one week, second Shields, who explained that the company had agreed to file with the city a sworn statement of the receipts and expenditures of the Water Company here together with the physical valuation of the plant. Dustman thought the manager of the Company could explain matters satisfactorily at once and avoid necessity of delay. Mr. Brumfield did not think that any such agreement had been made, certain he was that Mr. Brewer did not so understand. The motion to lay over prevailed, and upon motion of Shields clerk was directed to send to the Public Service Commission for a copy of the report filed by the Water Company.

C. P. Kinkaid made application for position as special electrical expert. Filed.

Amended plans for the improvement of Third street extended, Third street north, and K street were presented by Engineer Filion and adopted. They call for alternate bids for a trestle improvement and a gravel fill with a 20 foot top. Clerk ordered to call for bids to be submitted April 7th.

Two bids for meters were submitted. Westinghouse bid $6.30 and Ft. Wayne Electrical Co., $6.36 with a rebate of 2 per cent. on order of$1,000. Westinghouse bid accepted for one year.

It was reported that Attorney Thorgrimson had advised the payment of the Chas. George judgment

AUXILIARY TAKES THE FIRST STEP

The Question, "City Improvement or Cows," Now Fairly Up to the Council.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Port Angeles Commercial Club Tuesday afternoon, it was decided to give an old fashioned calico ball with box or basket luncheon, on the Friday after Easter. To carry out the real spirit of the ball all ladies must confine themselves to gowns of calico, or be subject to a fine. A tie to match the gown must be enclosed in the luncheonbox which will be raffled off to the highest bidder. Coffee will be served free with the luncheon. The Virginia reel, quadrilles, schottisches, polka and other old fashioned dances will bring back to memory the good old days "When you and I were young Maggie." In response to a request from Superintendent Geisness the Auxiliary ladies will entertain the teachers at a reception in the H. S. Auditorium the first Tuesday evening of institute. Plans for the annual flower show in June or July were talked over, but no definite arrangements made. But the ladies would like to urge everyone to raise all the roses and other flowers they can and make a grand showing this year. It is one of the best advertisements we can possibly have for our town.

A motion was made and carried that a petition be sent in to the city council asking that immediate action be taken to prohibit the cows from running at large. Said petition to be presented to council at this week's meeting.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. T. T. Aldwell for her contribution of books to the library. The librarian reported a constantly increasing number of subscribers to the library, but more are solicited. Meeting adjourned until second Tuesday in April.

NEW AUTOMOBILE FIRM

Bishop & Cowen Building a "Motor In" as Home for the Overland

H. Fred Bishop and Harry E. McCowen have purchased the double corner of Second and Peabody streets and the first of this week began the erection of their commodious and up-to-date garage. This will be known as the "Port Angeles Motor Inn."

Messrs. Bishop & McCowen, who have had over seven years experience in the automobile business, we are assured will give the motoring public that complete, courteous and all around service which the people of Port Angeles and Clallam County have so long desired. They are Clallam County agents for America's most popular car, the Overland. They also handle the Overland light delivery truck, the Willys-Utility three quarter ton truck and the Garford heavy-load truck. They will be pleased at any time to demonstrate the superior qualities of these famous motor cars to any one interested.

PASSING OF THE MOSSBACK

Protestants Withdrew Objections and Regrade Work Can Be Begun at Once.

Moo, Moo, Moo, Moo.

Did you hear them Saturday morning?

Hear who?

Why, the cows of Port Angeles!

What was the matter with the cows?

It was the passing of the Mossback and the cows knew what that would mean to them in the near future.

Why the passing of the Mossback? If you had been to the meeting of the City Council, which was sitting as a board of equalization Saturday morning, you would not have to ask. We are going to get action on the regrade immediately, that's why.

The meeting was called about 10:30, and Mr. Thorgimson, an attorney from Seattle, was called on to explain certain matters to the board in reference to the regrade, which he did very clearly and satisfactorily. Mr. Filion was then called upon for information regarding the assessment roll, and stated the law had been followed implicity in making the roll; his explanation was to the point and seemed to satisfy everyone.

Councilman Shields made a telling talk in favor of immediate progress, among other things saying he had property that was affected by the regrade, and that apparently there were inconsistencies in the assessment roll, but that if the board attempted to change anything it would necessitate during the whole thing over again, including the advertising and calling for bids, and closed his remarks by appealing to the patriotism of the property owners affected, hoping that no one would try to retard the city's growth. Applause.

Mr. McClinton who was next called on as one of the protestants, said neither he nor his father wished to stand in the way of the city's progress and would withdraw their objections provided all the rest of the protestants did the same, but they did not intend to lose their legal right in case there was any objections.

Mr. Lauridsen said if he could arrange satisfactory terms with the contractor for the disposal of the dirt left on his property he would withdraw his protest. Mr. Morse of the contracting firm being present, he and Mr. Lauridsen adjourned to the city engineer's room to discuss the matter. Evidently it does not take Mr. Morse long to decide a business question, for in a very short time Mr. Lauridsen returned to the council chamber and announced that he and Mr. Morse had made satisfactory arrangements and he withdrew his protest. Applause.

Mr. Stewart was present as attorney for Mr. Lonsdale, who owns property affected by the regrade. After the matter was explained to Mr. Stewart, he said he would see his client. The board then adjourned to meet at one o'clock and hear at that time what Mr. Lonsdale had to say as to the withdrawal of his protest. The board hoped to clear the matter slick and clean as Mr. Turner, the attorney for Lewis, Wiley & Morse and Mr. Thorgrimsen wished to leave for Seattle on the two o'clock boat. As Mr. Lonsdale did not show up at the afternoon session, the board decided that he had no grounds for a protest and the assessment was equitable to all concerned, and upon motion decided unanimously that the assessment roll as filed be adopted. Adjourned.

This means that we will have the dirt flying and something doing in the old town very soon.

A spectator who was present at the above meeting thinks Port Angeles ought to be very proud of her progressive city council.

Later—At the council meeting Tuesday night Mr. Lonsdale withdrew his protest, leaving everything in shipshape for the regrade.

The Senate adopted, Tuesday the conference report on the Alaska railroad law and there is no question but that the bill will become a law.

TELEPHONE CO. ASKS FOR NEW GRANT

Desires Thirty Year Franchise Before Rebuilding their Entire System

A franchise ordinance was offered by Councilman Fisher Tuesday evening granting to the Angeles Telephone & Telegraph Co., a franchise to construct and maintain a telephone and telegraph system within the city limits for a period of thirty years, same to take the place of the present grant. It is understood that the new grant is asked for at this time for the reason that the company is planning on building a new central building and reconstructing their transmission lines somewhat and do not care to go to the great expense under a franchise which has but a few years to run. The new grant follows largely the provisions of the old, but provides for 3 per cent. of the "net" revenues to be paid to the city, instead of 2 per cent of the "gross" revenues as now.

CIVIC PRIDE PROVES BIG QUESTION

Discussion Included Saloons and Cows, Shade Trees, Parks and Pretty Streets.

The Parents-Teachers meeting Monday night did not draw out as large a crowd as it should have done considering the importance of the subject for discussion—Civic Pride, in Home and School. The meeting was opened by Professor White, who reported, as chairman of the committee in choosing candidates for president and secretary, the names of Mrs. Madge Nailor for president and Miss Maude Willson for secretary. Both were unanimously elected and Mrs. Nailor was called to the chair. Most excellent papers on civic pride were then given by Miss Watson, Mrs. Ray Haynes and Judge Cochran. Each one brot out some excellent food for thought. We sincerely regretted that all the parents in Port Angeles could not have heard Miss Watson's paper in particular for, as a most successful teacher of many years experience with boys and girls of all ages, she was fully competent to discuss all sides of the civic pride question and how best to instill it in the minds of the youth.

G. V. Smith brought up the liquor question, commenting on the terrible curse it was to the country, but leaving his audience in doubt as to just where he stood. He was followed by E. E. Seevers, who was heartily applauded for the clean and concise manner in which he stated his position on the question, leaving no doubt in the minds of his audience that he would be found ready at all times to loan his assistance to the stamping out of such curse to humthe large percentage of crimes, accidents and deaths every year which are directly attributed to liquor.

The subject of civic pride naturally brought up the cow question. It being the concenus of opinion that it was hard to instill a great deal of civic pride in the boys and girls while the bovine species had full access to every part of the city, making parks and pretty streets absolutely out of question, and high fences around every home a necessity if you wanted to have flowers and a garden. Miss Watson stated she felt sure that the future citizens of Angeles would take care of the cows, as the past week her pupils had been studying the initiative law and in a test as an example to illustrate the law a goodly number of the pupils had stated that even if the mayor did veto an ordinance against cows the people could go ahead and pass a law themselves.

J. E. Beam stated that his remarks at the last meeting had been mis-rep-

JURY TERM NEXT WEEK

Judge Ralston will arrive Monday morning from Port Townsend to hear such minor matters as may come up and to clear the docket for the jury session which convenes Tuesday. If all cases set for jury hearings are heard, eight in number, it is very probable that there will be a ten days' session.

CITY HALL SET ON FIRE

City and County Should Join in Building Suitable Structure with Ample Vault Room.

Incendarism seems to be the general verdict of opinion as to the origin of the fire which almost completely destroyed the City Hall between 1:30 and 2:00 o'clock this morning.

When the fire was first discovered by the city marshal the whole front entrance was ablaze, making it almost impossible to give the alarm, hence but few people outside the fire heard the first feeble taps of the bell.

A visit to the building shows the front entrance hall a charred mass, while the council chamber was completely destroyed, the furniture being burned and the roof just ready to fall in. The office rooms remain intact except from the soaking they got from the immense quantity of water thrown on the building. as for as known at present no valuable papers or records were destroyed unless some might have lost in removal. It seems almost like a miracle, in viewing the building today, to think these valuable records were not destroyed as only a wooden partition separates the city clerk office from the hall where the indications point that the fire was started. On the interior of this partition are the cupboards containing all the clay's books of record.

So far as known no suspicion is attached to anyone in connection with the fire, but its starting in the hall, away from the stoves or chimney seems conclusive proof that it was the work of an incendiary.

The greatest loss occurred upstairs in the burning of the $200 official map, but recently completed by the city engineer; fortunately Mr. Filion had made an etching of the map for his own private use. The engineers office was little damaged except by making of some new maps. etc. The boys themselves lost a number of their instruments. The more valuable papers in the treasurer's office were removed during the fire.

The City Council will hold a special meeting this afternoon to decide what had best be done about the building, whether to secure temporary quarters for the officers or to try having the old building repaired.

The near loss of the City Hall, with its records kept in non-removable cupboards and an equally unwieldly small safe, brings squarely up to the voters the necessity of a

FARMER GARAGE TO BE STARTED MONDAY

To Be Built of Sheet Steel, 110x50 Feet in size, on Laurel Street Wharf

Work will be commenced Monday morning next driving piles for the Fred Farmer automobile building on the east side of Laurel street wharf. It is to be absolutely fire proof, 110 x50 feet in size, and will contain four store rooms. Fred has been held up some little time, since announcement of his plans was first made, by the uncertainty regarding street improvements, but as he has meanwhile been actively engaged in interesting upsound automobilists in the touring possibilities of this county, the delay has not been altogether to the bad.

Mr. Farmer has the agency for the Metz and Stutz autos, the Kelly auto truck and the Ajax Tire Co. A modern machine shop will be operated in connection with his garage; also a service car will be maintained for the purpose of going to the relief of disabled cars. An accessory store, carrying automobile and marine goods, having as complete a stock as any of the Seattle stores, will be kept open day and night.

Mr. Farmer being the Union Oil Co's. agent here, will maintain a large storage tank and filter in connection.

The Ford, Reo and Maxwell agencies have leased the outer store rooms and will move in as soon as the building is completed.

BROTHERHOOD POSTPONED

The Congregational Brotherhood dinner has been postponed until Monday night, March 23, owing to the fact that Mayor Geo. F. Cotterill of Seattle, who is to make the address, turns over his office next Monday and will be unable to be present at that time. Mayor Cotterill's address will probably be the famous address given before the various civic organizations of the sound cities, "The benefits accruing to Puget Sound by the opening of the Panama Canal."

PEABODY THE COMING STREET

Work on the grounds, corner Peabody and Second streets where the Dann Bros. will build the large concrete laundry, is progressing nicely and the work on the building will be rushed to an early completion. It begins to look as tho' Peabody street would be the scene of considerable business activity this summer.

ANOTHER BUSINESS CENTER

K. O. Erickson has bought the Baptist church property on Second Oak streets.

MRS. NAILOR ELECTED

People Indignant Over Insult Offered Director Beam by Campbell's Knocker.

Saturday's election for school director resulted in an easy victory for Mrs. Nailor who had 161 votes to contrast with the Socialist vote of 44 for Mr. O'Brien. Mrs. Nailor has the honor of being the first woman director, tho Mrs. John Trumball served one or two terms as clerk. The school board will have another busy year and we hope to see Mrs. Nailor act both as an inspiration and assistant in the work. Her place is not an easy one to fill, but we are confident she will make good. J. E. Beam, the retiring director, has filled the place faithfully and well for 12 years and has won the gratitude and highest respect of those he has served. Quiet and unassuming in his manner, he has not always received the credit that was his due, but he has worked unceasingly for the advancement and best interests of the school and all his dealings has been honest, upright and just.. It is not surprising that the Knocker's insinuations of two weeks ago called forth indignant protests from both the men and women who have known Mr. Beam longest.

BOUGHT THE CRAIG PLACE

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Luppen purchased the first of the week the Craig place, where they have made their home ever since coming to Angeles and which is one of the most sightly locations in the city. There are two fine lots and a modern house.

A HAPPY THOUGHT

"Madam, the feather in your hat is getting in my eye! "exclaimed a man in a crowd.

The woman turned around, looked him over, and then inquired, "Why don't you wear glasses?"

ATTENTION BAPTISTS

We want all members of the Baptist Church and all others who are interested in the Baptist cause to meet at Samuel Orr's at three o'clock, Sunday, March 15. By order of the board.

DR. WARNER TO BUILD

Dr. Warner gave the contract this week, for the building of a garage on his property next to the Luppens and will begin the erection of his house very soon.

NOW HAS TWO STORES

Lewis Leland has bought out the Larkin- Lowry Furniture and Second Hand Store in the old Haning hall building on First street, and for the present will run both stores.

A large scow load of brick was unloaded at the City Dock Wednesday, the shipment belonging to Contractor Kuppler who will use them on his different contracts; he also has them on the market for sale.

A scow load of lumber was unloaded Wednesday for Dann Bros.

NEWS FROM THE STATE CAPITOL

Olympia, March 12. The influence of Governor Lister's administration will be thrown behind an effort to have the federal department of the interior rush work on the survey of lands selected by the Northern Pacific railroad, which are not now on the tax rolls.

There are in the state at the present time 670,000 acres of unsurveyed lands outside the forest reserves. Instead of having the survey work of the federal government proceed, as has been the case in the past, without any apparent definite purpose, the aim is to have the first surveys made of those lands which have been selected, either as lieu lands or under Northern Pacific scrip.

To this end the state tax commission has written the assessors of the counties in which unsurveyed lands lie, asking them to forward descriptions of such of these lands as have been selected. The tax commissioner's letter continues:

"Upon the receipt of the descriptions we will take this question up with the department at Washington with a view of having preferance in the matter of surveys given the lands which have been selected and are only awaiting the completion of surveys in order that they may be placed on the tax rolls, as heretofore, we understand, the government has not been giving preferance to selected lands.

"We have some assurance that the government will give our suggestion consideration and we believe that if the government will give preference in the matter of lieu land and scrip selections that during the coming year a larger area of unsurved land will be placed on the tax rolls than if the government pursues the method it has in the past."

The counties in which the unsurveyed lands lie are Kittitas, Yakima, Okanogan, Clallam, King, Skagit, Snohomish, Whatcom, Ferry, Pend Oreille, Cowlitz, Klickitat, Chelan Douglas and Stevens.

Under the workman's compensation law monthly pensions are at the present time being paid to 804 persons. The total amount paid in pensions last month was $8,392.36.

Pensions were paid to 574 persons on account of the death of the bread winner of the family. In this list were included 147 parents of workmen, two grandparents, 215 widows and 390 children.

The department is also paying pensions to 19 persons who have sustained permanent disabilities, these 19 having 31 others dependent upon them.

By far the greatest proportion of the state's pensioners, a total of 586, live in the state of Washington. However, 115 live in other states, 82 in various European countries, 16 in Canada and five in Japan.

Although the number of the state's pensioners is increasing steadily, there is no fear that this will lead to any financial inconvenience in the future. As soon as a pension is allowed, the industrial insurance commission places in a reserve fund, at interest, an amount sufficient, with the interest, to guarantee payment of the pension during the life of the pensioner.

Thus, as the commission phase it, "The industries of today take care of the accidents of today," leaving no liability for the future. There is nearly $1,000,000 in the reserve fund now to meet these pensions.

The death of a family cat after eating "veribest" canned meat brot Will H. Adams, pure food inspector of the state department of agriculture, to a grocery store in North Yakima in a hurry last week where he seized an entire shipment of alleged adulterated food shipped from Seattle.

The packers of this meat will therefore be added to the list to be prosecuted by the department of agriculture for the sale of alleged impure foods. "For the past two years," says J. J. Higgins, head of the pure food division, "The big packers have been trying to make Washington among other states of the northwest the dumping ground for their ancient products, and we are going to stop it if it is possible."

Over 200,000 packages of food of one kind or another which is unfit for sale is now under the surveillance of the department inspectors in Tacoma and Seattle, and will be seized as soon as ownership can be established. One consignment of 150 barrels of kraut shipped from Germany is now on the dock in Seattle pending the owners claim, which will be seized within a week.

Report filed by State Oil Inspector S. P. Wilson covering the period from the organization of the department of agriculture up to February 1, shows a total of 46,506.43 collected, or as the state oil inspector puts it, only 1,500 behind the republican high water mark for an entire year.

The report sets forth that this division was never in better shape, that all large companies are furnishing the department with duplicate bills of ladings and consignments and express a belief that not more than ten gallons per month is escaping inspection.

Owing to the present unsettled labor conditions the state bureau of labor is being urged to its utmost activity in several directions. Commissioner Olson last week completed an extensive investigation of the Tacoma smelter strike, which occurred last January, approximately 300 men being involved. The report of the investigation will be made to the governor in the near future.

The department is also vigorously enforcing the women's eight-hour law. Last week proprietors of a Japanese laundry of Seattle, were brought into court and fined $50 and costs in each of six cases that were brought against them by the labor commissioner some time ago.

The state tax commission this week adopted a new procedure for the first time, that of taking advantage of the law allowing the filing of liens against real property of estates that have not paid required inheritance taxes. The presence of the lien practically insures speedy payment of the tax whenever the property is transferred and also serves a notice to possible purchasers of the encumbrance against the property.

Oyster shell bark louse and San Jose scale were officially declared insect pests injurious to the horticultural interests of the state by the department of agriculture last week. No official declaration has been considered necessary formerly as inspectators had been able to meet with the situation, but the declaration was deemed necessary in order that court proceedings may be invoked later to assist in the stamping out of these two pests.

Chairman E. W. Olson of the industrial welfare commission has issued a call for a meeting to be held March 10 and 11 to conclude the work of the state wide investigation that has been under way since last September. At this meeting it is expected a formal conference will be organized, the duty of which will be to recommend a wage for women in the mercantile industry. This conference will probably be called to meet about the first of April.

A meeting of the state factory inspectors has been called by the labor commissioner to be held at Olympia, March 14. This is the first meeting of that kind to be held this year. The object of the meeting is principally to promote the shop safety committee plan, which was recently inaugurated jointly by the commissioner of labor and the industrial insurance commission.

The annual report of the public service commission of Washington has been delivered by the public printer and copies are being mailed out to those who have applied for them and to other commissions. Copies of the amended rules of electrical construction have also been printed and more than 1,500 of them have been mailed during the past week to the companies and workers interested.

ROAD COMMITTEE REPORTS

Committee issues signed statement confirming published report that the Hood Canal road can and will be completed this year:

To the Citizens of Jefferson and Clallam Counties:

Consideraple apprehension has been manifested by those interested in former road No. 14, connecting Hoodsport with Duckabush on Hoods Canal, now a link of the Olympic Highway, as to the sufficiency of the appropriation for the completion of this road. This fear reached such a point that Hon. D. S. Troy and Hon. E. A. Sims were appointed a committee by the Jefferson County Good Roads Club to take this matter up with Governor Lister and the Highway Board.

This duty was fullfilled, the outcome of the conference being that Governor Lister expressed himself in no unmistakable language as to the road being constructed and a through connection being made. He was absolutely certain that the road could be constructed under the appropriation. At the time of this conference, the Highway Commissioner and Highway Engineer were absent in Eastern Washington. On the Highway Commissioner's return, Governor Lister instructed him to make a personal investigation of the matters placed before him, which culminated in the Highway Commissioner, Mr. W. R. Roy, notifying all parties interested to make a personal tour of the road with Highway Board.

The tour was made by Mr .W. R. Roy, Highway Commissioner, Mr. James Allen, Chief Engineer; Mr. C. W. Claussen, State Auditor and Mr. Ed Meath, State Treasurer, who comprise the Board of Highway Commissioners; also Mr. R. H. Hill, who has the contract for 9½ miles of construction, in company with the undersigned.

After a careful inspection of the road, it was the unanimous opinion that the 20 miles of this link could be built for the sum of $121,000, which has been appropriated for this purpose. However, it was found that the specifications under which the road was to have been constructed would have to be materially changed to keep within the appropriation. The Highway Board promised the undersigned that every attention would be given and a meeting would be held on their return to Olympia at which time they would take up a definite plan of action tending towards its speedy construction.

We have every confidence in the Highway Board and feel justified in stating that this road will be completed some time this fall. Under the discretion given the Highway Commissioner by the act appropriating this money, it was the general impression that the unlet portion of this road should be completed under the direction of the Highway Department by force work.

The explanation here given should quiet any uneasiness as to the outcome for the road.

Respectfully,

Signed: D. S. Troy, E. A. Sims, L. D. McArdle, F. J. Bailey.

The Forty Year Test

An article must have exceptional merit to survive for a period of forty years. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was first offered to the public in 1872. From a small beginning it has grown in favor and popularity until it has attained a world-wide reputation. You will find nothing better for a cough or cold. Try it and you will undersand why it is a favorite after a period of more than forty years. It not only gives relief—it cures. For sale by all dealers.

LINCOLN HEIGHTS

The neighbors feel quite lonely since the Epperson family moved out to the ranch and are anxiously wondering who will occupy their house, and are sorry to hear that several of the family are having a siege of the grippe.

Mr. John Thomas has gone out to the Mount Pleasant ranch again to further improve and plant a crop. Mr. Thomas must possess a wonderful amount of ambition to do so much work with so little physical ability.

Mrs. Bushline is spending the week on Pine Hill with her friend Mrs. Jacobs.

The groundhog seeing his shadow February 2nd, did not bring us six weeks of winter. The allotted time has almost passed and we have enjoyed unusually fine weather during February and thus far in March.

Dr. Harrison had occasion to go to his new neighbor's house one morning recently and found him suffering with pneumonia and delirous. The doctor ministered to his needs and he is able to be out again. Many persons live alone, not realizing that sickness and terrible suffering may come at any time.

The Fleming children are mourning about their broken record in school attendance, occasioned by having croup and mumps, but the installation of a new piano in their home is some consolation.

There are numerous cases of illness with colds as is usual at this season. The mumps are occassionally appearing.

CHRISTOPHERSON'S

MESSAGE BLOCKED MILLION DOLLAR DEAL

The President's message to Congress urging that the exemption from tolls to American ships passing through the Panama Canal be repealed, blocked a $1,000,000 deal in timber and saw mills that had been practically concummated between eastern capitalists and Washington lumbermen, says the Seattle Times.

The deal had been arranged by Michael Earles, president of the Puget Sound Mills & Timber Co. The money was available and cash would have been paid last month for vast timber holdings in the northwest and saw mills located on Puget Sound. Just as the deal was to have been consummated the President's message demanding that Congress withdraw the exemption from tolls given American shipping was published and the Eastern syndicate abandoned the project.

American lumber placed on the free list and American vessels compelled to pay tolls in passing through the canal means granting to British Columbia mills a premium to compete for the trade of the Atlantic coast, according to such well known lumber authorities as Michael Earles, E. G. Griggs, E. G. Ames, C. D. Stimson and others.

There is a margin of $3.25 per ton in favor of British vessels plying between British Columbia ports and New York, as compared with American vessels running from Seattle to the same point.

ANGELES PROMOTER GONE TO HIS LAST REWARD

E. B. Mastick, Jr., formerly of this city, died in Tacoma Monday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Moore. The funeral took place Wednesday, interment being had at Tacoma, after cremation.

Deceased was 62 years of age, a native of Ohio. A wifeand daughter survive him. He was well known in Port Angeles, where he resided for many years, and where he was interested in business and property interests, at one time being a member of the Smith-Mastick Construction Co., which built the first railroad up Tumwater Canyon to the stone quarry and beyond. Mr. Mastick came to Angeles as a Colonist in the latter 80's and was associated with F. S. Lewis in the publication of the Commonwealth, later the Times and Tribune-Times. He was a man of pronounced humane ideals, generous in the extreme and a friend to all mankind, which combination sometimes does not redound to large financial credits.

Mr. Mastick had been ailing for some months past, but up to Sunday last when he suffered a stroke of paralysis, he had been up and around. Quickly following the stroke on Monday came a hemorrage, from which he passed to the great beyond at 2:30 p. m. Peace to his ashes.

THE LEADER DEPARTMENT STORE

Ladies Hat Department

If we tell you, that we sell you an up-to-date hat for less money than any one else does, you would not believe it, for you don't know. But that is just what we intend to say to you. All Millinery Stores have an idea that they must make a big profit on Hats. The Milliners once thought that they must make it. But one Manager says, sell Hats on the same margin as any other goods. Whether we do or not, is up to you to find out. Go to all other stores either in Port Angeles or Seattle, and you will soon know that the Leader Department Store saves you from 50 to 100 per cent on Hats all on account of the difference of an idea. We do not force a sale.

THE CITY COUNCIL

against the city to pay the judgment against the Chase Eng. Co. The clerk was directed to draw a warrant on the lighting fund for $498 for the purpose, and to charge the amount against the account of the Chase Co.

Attention was called to the unsanitarycondition of property in vicinity of old Nailor building on Front street. Referred to health committee with power to act.

A communication signed the Ladies Auxiliary was read asking that council take some action at an early date looking to the elimination of the cows from the streets of the city. Filed.

The new manager of the Star Theatre protested that they were charged straight 10c k. w. for juice, paying $32.20 for February, while others were paying but 5c over the first 50 k. w. It was explained this was the old rate when the overtaxed condition of the old plant made this necessary. There was no reason for discrimination now and a rebate of $13 was allowed.

State made formal demand for $131.70 to be paid into the employees' accident fund under the Workmen's Compensation act. Referred to the city attorney.

Ordinances were presented by Shields approving the assessment rolls of Imp. Dists. No. 11 and 13, for the improvements in the business section, and provided that the benefits to the property abutting thereto are deemed equal at least to the amounts assessed against the same. The ordinances further provide that special funds be created in these districts and that the rolls be immediately placed in the hands of the city treasurer for collection. Read twice and referred to ordinance committee and the city attorney. These ordinances will undoubtedly be adopted next Tuesday night and as arrangements have been completed for the withdrawal of protests, work will begin shortly in actual construction work on the improvements.

An ordinance was presented by Dustman ordering the work on C street from 5th to Broadway. Read twice and referred to ordinance committee and attorney.

Voting for counciman Third ward was then taken up, upon motion of Dustman.

The first six ballots gave Finch 3, other 3 scattering between Leonard, Andresen and Van Brunt, each of whom received two votes at various times. On the 7th ballot the signal was seemingly given to switch, and three votes went to Wilcox. 1 to Finch and 2 to Schweitzer. Wilcox got 2 and 3 on up to the 17th ballot, when the vote dwindled to 4, and Fisher moved to adjourn. Lost. The voting proceeded up to the 25th ballot, the Finch vote occasionally going to Andreson. On the 25th ballot Wilcox received 4 votes and Andreson 1.

Dustman moved that the clerk notify Wilcox of his election. Council then adjourned.

resented, that he had no objections whatever, to reading the minutes of the meeting of the board ofdirectors, and would be glad to do so if those assembled cared to have him. It was put to a vote, but the motion to have them read lost.

S. E. stakemiller then stated that, as he supposed, it was the financial condition of affairs that mostly interested people, he would, if so desired, prepare a paper giving a detailed account of the handling of all monies, etc., for the past two years. He was appointed by the president to prepare such a paper to read at the next meeting in April.

The proposed subject for discussion at the next meeting was what steps the school board had better take to meet the requirements necessary to accommodate the rapidly increasing number of pupils in our schools, which are already well crowded. These meetings are open to all parschool and we hope to see a crowded house at the next meeting.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

The fellowship meeting at the Congregational church on Tuesday was one of interest and helpfulness. Revs. Burgers and Nicholas of Seattle, spoke in the afternoon and evening. Mr. Burgers, who at one time supplied the church for a few Sundays, was greatly surprised at the changed conditions of the city as well as the church. About fifty of the Church people were present in the evening.

Instead of the regular sermon Sunday evening, Mrs Smith will give a review of Churchill's great book, "The Inside of the Cup."

The Glendale Creamery company of Chimacum, of which Hon. D. S. Troy is the head, will improve its branch plant at Dungeness by the expenditure of $7,000 and when the work is completed the creamery will be the largest and best plant operated by that company. The contract for the rebuilding and enlarging the plant has been awarded to William F. Sehrs and work will be started as soon as the material can be assembled. The Glendale operates a number of creameries on the Olympic peninsula and is one of the largest dairy concerns of the state.—Townsend Leader.

The state weights and measure inspector will shortly issue a statement regulating the sale of berries of all kinds, cherries and other small fruit. Chronic Stomach Trouble Cured

There is nothing more discouraging than a chronic disorder of the stomach. It is not surprising that many suffer for years with such an ailment when they don't know that a permanent cure is within their reach and may be had for a trifle. "About one year ago, says P. H. Beck of Wakelee, Mich., I bought a package of Chamberlain's Tablets, and since using them I have felt perfectly well. I had previously used any number of different medicines, but none of them were of any lasting benefit." For sale by all druggists.

D. D. D. In Hospitals; Standard Skin Cure

How many hospital patients, suffering the frightful itch, the raw scorching pain of skin disease, have been soothed to sleep by a soothing fluid washed in by the nurse's hands?

That fluid is the famous D. D. D. prescription for eczema.

THE SUPERVISING NURSE of one of our prominent Catholic institutions (name of nurse and institute on application), writes regarding a patient. "The disease had eaten her eyebrows away. Her nose and lips had become disfigured. Since the use of D. D. D. her eyebrows are growing, her nose and face have assumed their natural expression."

How many eczema sufferers are paying their doctors for regular treatment and are being treated with this same soothing, healing fluid?

DR. GEO. T. RICHARDSON frankly writes "D. D. D. is superior to anything I have ever found. Soft and soothing, yet a powerful agent."

To do the work, D. D. D. Prescription must be applied according to directions given in the pamphlet around every bottle. Follow these directions—and see!

And it certainly takes away the itch at once—the moment the liquid is applied. The skin is soothed—calmed—so thoroughly refreshed—delightfully cooled.

All druggists of standing have the famous specific as well as the efficient D. D. D. Skin Soap.

But we are so confident of the merits of this prescription that we will refund the purchase price of the first full size bottle if it fails to reach your case. You alone are to judge.

The petition for a road beginning at Groveland Avenue and Fourth Street in th etown of Dungeness, and running in a generally northeasterly direction and ending at the beach, was taken up, and Messrs. Henry McAlmond and Chas. Wood were heard as to the desirability of building said road.

Thursday, March 5, 1914 at 9:00 a. m.

The Board met pursuant to adjournment, all members being pressent.

The Board instructed the Auditor to send a copy of the following letter to the Sol Duc Mineral Water Co., and to all other parties connected with the transportation of their product in Clallam county:

"Information having been given to this Board of County Commissioners that it is the intention of the Sol Duc Mineral Water Co. to enter into a contract with Eagle to haul the bottled Hot Springs water over the East Beach and Port Angeles road, and as it has been necessary, in order to build this road, to expend nearly all the road taxes for District No. 2 for the past ten years, and same being in such a condition now whereby it has become a first automobile road, and so advertised to tourists, and in case a contract entered into by the above mentioned parties this road will be ruined on account of such heavy hauling during the rainy season, which last year lasted until July 1st; therefore notice is given you that, if such hauling is done, it will be impossible to repair the road, as the present year's taxes have been agreed upon to use for the purpose of giving the settlers west of the Elwha and settlers from Pine Hill to Little River a better wagon road.

"The East Beach-Port Angeles road is a gravel road and during the rainy season will not stand up under heavy hauling, and when once ground up, cannot be gotten into shape again until July on account of late rains."

The Board approved the final estimate due Sloan Bros. on their contract from Morse Creek to Siebert's Creek, amounting to $6632.42, and ordered the Auditor to issue warrant for same.

Nels Nelson, Supervisor of Road and Bridge District No. 3.

Cliff Wilson, Supervisor of Road and Bridge District No. 4.

N. O. McKee, Contractor for the gravelling of road from Morse Creek to the Long Prairie Road.

The Board then sent a letter to Brownrigg & Denio notifying them that they would be held responsible under their contract and bond for the payment of all just debts and dues incurred by them up to date, but that they are relieved from all further responsibility and obligation as to the finishing of said contract.

The Board then, with the consent of the United States Fidelity & Guaranty Company, entered into a contract with David Govan for the completion of the Brownrigg & Denio contract, forthe sum of $7000.00.

CHAPTER XI.

Chiquita.

THE next day Kirk borrowed a shotgun and went hunting. He wanted to get away somewhere and collect his thoughts. For the present, at least, he wished to avoid an interview with Mrs. Cortlandt.

At midday he paused in an open glade against a hillside to eat his lunch. Back of him the rising ground was heavily timbered; beneath him a confusion of thickets and groves and cleared fields led out of a green plain as clean as any golf links, upon which were scattered dwellings.

Evidently this was the Savannas of which he had heard so much, and these foreign looking bungalows were the country homes of the rich Panamanians.

"You must look where you go," she admonished.

The wood was crowded with plant life utterly strange to him. Vines and creepers abounded, from the tiny honeysuckle that reared itself with feeble filaments, to the giant liana creeping through the forest like a python, throttling full grown trees in its embrace. On every side was the never ceasing battle for light and the struggle of the weak against the strong.

Tiring of the scene at last, Kirk stumbled out into a cleared space, where he paused with an exclamation of surprise.

A brook had been dammed and widened into a deep, limpid pool to which the clean, white sand of its bottom lent a golden hue. At the lower end it overflowed in a waterfall, the purling music of which filled the glade.

To step suddenly out of an uncut wilderness into such a scene was bewildering and made the American gasp with delight. The place had an air of strictest privacy. A spring board mirrored in the depths below invited one to plunge, a pair of iron gymnasium rings were swung by chains to a massive limb, a flight of stone steps led up the bank and into a hut artistically thatched and walled with palm leaves to harmonize with its setting.

After staring about him for a long time he took a lingering, farewell look and turned to retrace his steps, whereupon some one laughed at him softly. He paused abruptly, then turned around. Then with the sweetest foreign accent imaginable he heard some one say:

"You had better cross upon the waterfall, sir. There is no bridge above." After an instant, during which he strained his eyes to find the owner of the voice, she laughed again.

"Here I am in the tree across the pond."

"Oh!" Looking over the fork of a tree trunk, perhaps twice the height of his head above the ground, Anthony beheld a ravishing face and two very bright eyes. Without removing his gaze he leaned his gun carefully against a bush—firearms have an abominable effect upon hamadryads—and said, "How did you get up there?"

"I climbed up."

"Why didn't you hide under the waterfall?"

"I did not hide, senor. I am trying to reach my orchid."

A little hand appeared beside the face, and a finger pointed to one of the big air plants above her. Kirk beheld a marvelous white, dove shaped flower nodding upon a slender stalk.

"Do you wish to cross the stream?" she asked.

"If you please."

"Wait." The face disappeared. There was a sound from behind the twisted tree trunk; a twig fell, then a piece of bark, and the next instant the girl herself stepped into view.

"I was afraid you'd gone for good," acknowledged the young man gravely. He took up his gun and stepped out upon the crest of the dam.

"You must look where you go," she admonished, "or you will fall—splash!" She laughed delightedly at the thought.

"Will you promise not to whisk yourself away if I look down?" he asked.

"Yes."

But even with this assurance he found it difficult to remove his eyes from her even for the brief instant necessary for a safe passage, and when at last he stood beside her he felt an irresistible desire to seize her gently so that she could not escape.

"Well?" she said at length, and he found he had been standing stock still staring at her for several seconds.

"Excuse me! I really took you for a wood nymph. I'm not sure yet. You see, the place is so well suited. It—it was a natural mistake."

She dropped her eyes shyly and turned away at his look.

"It is only our swimming pool. There have been no fairies here since I was a very little girl. But once upon a time there were many—oh, a great many!" It was impossible to describe the odd, sweet sound her tongue gave to the English words. It was not a dialect, hardly an accent, just a delicious, hesitating mannerism born of unfamiliarity.

"Did you ever see them?"

"N-no! I arrived always a little too late. But there are such things."

She pointed to a path, saying:

"This way will bring you to the road, sir, if you wish."

"But—I don't wish—not yet." He sought wildly for an excuse to stay, and exclaimed: "Oh, the orchid. I must get it for you."

"That will be very nice of you, sir. For two years I have awaited its blooming. If you had not arrived I would have got it anyhow."

"Girls shouldn't climb trees," he said severely. "It tears their dresses."

"Oh, one cannot tear a dress like this." She glanced down at her skirt. Allowing his eyes to leave her face for a moment, Kirk saw that she was clad, oddly enough, in a suit of denim which was buttoned snugly clear to her neck.

He broke his gun and removed the shells; then, leaving it beside the bathhouse, went to the tree where he had first seen her. With one hand resting upon the trunk, he turned to say:

"Promise you won't disappear while I'm up there or change into a squirrel or a bird or anything like that."

"Yes, yes."

Then instead of beginning his climb the young man lounged idly against the tree.

"Funny how I found you, wasn't it?" he remarked. "I mean it's funny I should have stumbled right on you this way. There's only one of you and one of me, and—er—this country is so big!"

"But the orchid, senor. Do you fear to climb so high?" she inquired, with the faintest gleam of amusement at his obvious effort to prolong the conversation.

"Oh, no!"

When he had reached the first fork he turned and seated himself comfortably, peering downward through the leaves for a sight of her.

"Not gone yet!" he exclaimed. "That's good."

"Are you out of breath that you stop so soon?"

He nodded. "I need to rest a minute. Say, my name is Anthony—Kirk Anthony." Then, after a pause, "I'm an American."

"So am I, at least I am almost. My mother was an American."

"You don't say!" The young man's face lighted up with interest, and he started eagerly down the tree trunk, but she checked him promptly.

"The orchid!"

"Oh, yes!" He reseated himself. "Well, well, I suppose your mother taught you to speak English?"

"I also attended school in Baltimore."

Now that the first surprise of meeting was over, Kirk began a really attentive scrutiny of this delightful young person. His first glimpse had told him she was ravishingly pretty, but it had failed to show how dainty and small she was. Her chief charm lay in a certain winsome vivacity. Even now pure mischief looked out of her eyes as she asked:

"Have you rested enough to attack the orchid?"

"Yes." He roused himself from his trance, and with a strangely leaping heart proceeded carefully to detach the big air plant from its resting place.

"Don't break it," she cautioned as he came gingerly down the tree. "It is what we call 'Espiritu Santa,' the 'holy spirit' flower. See, it is like a white bird."

"May I rest a moment? I'm awfully tired."

"Certainly. You may stay as long as you wish. When you are rested the little path will bring you out."

"But you mustn't go!" he exclaimed in a panic as she turned away. "Oh, I say, please! You wouldn't do a thing like that?"

"I cannot speak to you this way, sir." The young lady blushed prettily.

"Why not, I'd like to know?"

"Oh!" She raised her hand and shook her head to express the absolute impossibility of such a thing. "Already I have been terrible. What will Stephanie say?"

"You've been nothing of the sort, and who is Stephanie?"

"She is a big black woman—very fierce. It is because of Stephanie that the fairies have gone away from here."

"I'm so tired that I must sit down. I thought these country places were unoccupied at this season."

"So they are. But, you see, I am doing a penance. I am a bad girl. I am disobedient. Otherwise I would not allow you to speak to me alone like this. You are the first gentleman I have ever been so long in the company with, Senor Antonio. For six months I must wear these garments—no pretty ones. I must not go out in public also, and I have been sent here away from the city for a time to cure my rebellious spirit."

"Those dresses must be hot."

"Oh, very uncomfortable! But, you see, I was bad.."

"Not very bad?"

"Indeed. I disobeyed my father, my uncle, everybody." For the first time her eyes grew bright with anger. "But I did not wish to be married."

"Now I see. They wanted you to marry some fellow you don't like? It's awful to marry somebody you don't like," he declared, with such earnest conviction that she inquired quickly:

"Ah, then are you married?"

"No! But everybody says it's positively criminal to marry without love."

"The gentleman is very handsome."

He shuddered. "Beware of handsome men. If you have any idea of marriage select a large, plain man with blue eyes and light hair."

"I do not know such a person."

"Not yet, of course—that is, not well enough to marry him."

"It is not nice to speak of such things," said the young lady primly. "And it is not nice also to speak with strange gentlemen who come out of the forest when one is doing penance."

"Will you catch it for talking to me?"

"Oh, yes. It is not allowed."

"Then I suppose I'd better leave." Anthony settled himself more comfortably upon the bench. "And yet there is nothing really wrong about it, is there? Why, it's done every day in my country. Besides, who's going to know?"

"The padre. I tell him everything."

"How does a fellow ever get acquainted with a girl down here? How does he get a chance to propose?"

"One's people attend to that, of course," she managed to say at length, then changed the subject quickly.

"What did you say is your whole name?"

"Kirk Anthony."

"Keerk! It has a fonny sound, has it not?"

"I never noticed it. And yours?"

"My name is Chiquita."

He repeated it after her. "It's pretty. What is your last name?"

"That is it. If I told you my first name you could not use it. It would not be proper."

"It ought to be something like Ariel. That means 'spirit of the air and water,' I believe. Ariel Chiquita. No, they don't go together. See here, Miss Chiquita, may I call on you?"

"Oh!" She lifted her brows in amazement. "Such ideas! Of a certainly not!"

"Why?"

"You do not onderstand. Our young men do not do those things."

"Then I'll do whatever is customary—really I will—but I'm awfully anxious to see you again—and"—

"I do not know you. My father"—

"I'll look up Mr. Chiquita and be introduced."

At this the young lady began to rock back and forth in an abandon of merriment.

"For two weeks yet I must remain here alone with Stephanie." She regarded him mournfully. "Every day I must do my penance and think of my sins and—perhaps look for orchids."

"Tomorrow?" he inquired breathlessly. "Do you intend to hunt orchids tomorrow?"

Instead of answering she started to her feet with a little cry, and he did likewise. Back of them had sounded an exclamation—it was more like the snort of a wild animal than a spoken word—and there, ten feet away, stood a tall, copper colored negress, her eyes blazing, her nostrils dilated, a look of utmost fury upon her face.

"Stephanie," exclaimed the girl, "you frightened me!"

The negress strode to her, speaking rapidly in Spanish, then turned upon Kirk.

"What do you want here?" she cried menacingly. She had thrust her charge behind her and now pierced him with her eyes.

"Miss Chiquita"— he began, at which that young lady broke into another peal of silvery laughter and chattered to her servant. But her words, instead of placating the black woman, only added to her fury. She pointed with quivering hand to the path along the creek bank and cried:

"Go! Go quick, you man!" Then to her charge: "You bad, bad! Go to the house!"

"Miss Chiquita hasn't done anything to make you huffy. I came out of the woods yonder, and she was good enough to direct me to the road."

But Stephanie was not to be appeased. She stamped her flat foot and repeated her command in so savage a tone that Kirk perceived the uselessness of trying to explain. He looked appealingly at the girl, but she merely nodded her head and motioned him to be gone.

That evening he sat for a long time alone on the gallery of his hotel, his spirit uplifted with the joy of love, a thousand whispering voices in his ears. And when at last he fell asleep it was to dream of an olive, oval face with eyes like black pansies.

How to Detect the Alum Baking Powder

"Which are the alum baking powders; how can I avoid them unless they are named?" asks a housekeeper.

Here is one way: take the can of a low-priced powder in your hand and read the ingredient clause upon the back label. The law requires that if the powder contains alum that fact must be there stated. If you find one of the ingredients named alum, or sulphate of aluminum, you have found an alum baking powder.

There is another and a better way. You don't have to know the names of the alum powders. Use Royal Baking Powder only; that assures you a cream of tartar powder, and the purest and most healthful baking powder beyond question.

Do You Wear Glasses for Reading Only?

You who need glasses only when reading, must do one of two things — either unconsciously strain your eyes every time you look away from your book or go to the bother of almost continually taking off and putting on your glasses.

To remedy this we recommend

for persons of any age who need glasses for close work only.

The lower part gives the neceessary correction for close vision while the upper part is adapted for normal far vision. Yet the two pieces of glass are so perfectly fused that KRYPTOKS looks exactly like the regular lenses. They guard against eye strain and make it unnecessary to remove your glasses except when convenient.

fireproof vault. Only a short time insaaaag ailcerta r&ict rsebor to ago the sale of certain city bonds, it was found at the last moment, would depend upon the city's being able to furnish a complete record, and the city lacked a copy of the official paper published twenty years ago, containing the particular notice wanted. Luckily the Olympic-Leader was able to furnish the copy needed. The progress of the past few months toward regrades and improvements would all be lost if the city's records were destroyed and this would be the smallest feature of what would soon be found an almost irrepairable calamity. Whether or not the present city hall can be advisably repaired, and raised to grade, which is also questioned—the city, in view of its present and future activities, must have a vault for its valuable records.

The county, as well as the city, and the city's merchants, has its little problem to face in the very near future. The great bulk of the records are kept in the big vault connected with the auditor's office, which was built out across the street. The regrade, which starts within a week or so, will cut that street down some twenty feet. Not only is there no space on which to build another vault, but the court house building itself will be undermined by the first slides. The commissioners are face to face with a real emergency. An emergency which lies not in the securing of a suitable site, for the county has a splendid location across the ravine near the High School, nor in lack of authority for the necessary expenditure, for the law makes provisions for that in cases of emergency, but the great difficulty the board will have to face is the providing of suitable offices, with vault room, while the new court house is in course of construction. That problem must be solved, and at once.

It is suggested that the City could not do better than to join with the County in the planning of a new administration and office building that would answer the duel purpose until such time in the future as a monumental structure, such as most of the counties built in the old boom days, may be demanded.
