FAIR AND INDUSTRIAL EXHIBIT

Will Be Held in Opera House, Friday and Saturday, October 16th and 17th.

There's no longer any question about the success of the forthcoming Clallam County Fair and Industrial Exhibit, to be held in Port Angeles, on Friday and Saturday, October 16 and 17, under the management of the Port Angeles Commercial Club. The school districts of Clallam county will participate and compete for prizes at the Fair, under the direction of County Superintendent Thomas Geisness. The Women's Auxiliary of the Commercial Club will co-operate with the executive committee in charge, which consists of E. J. Walton, H. Maurice Fisher and Thomas T. Aldwell.

The Sequim Commercial Club and the people of Dongeness have manifested the spirit to help get up thoroughly representative exhibits.

One of the most effective and important active influences at work to help make the fair a success, however, is the Sequim Woman's Club, of which Mrs. Geo. W. O'Brien is president. This organization initiated and managed the Harvest Home Fair held at Sequim last Saturday, September 19th. Those who attended this little fair, including City Engineer Chas. J. Filion and Councilman Frank Dustman of Port Angeles declare the collection of exhibits constituted a revelation of uncommon quality, wide variety of farm, garden and orchard products and extraordinary yields. Many of these exhibits will be preserved for display at the Clallam County Fair.

In fact, the chief purpose of the enterprise here is to gather as impressive a display of choice specimens of this year's crops as possible and have the best of them shipped to San Francisco and cold-storaged by the state executive commissioner for display at the Panama exposition, which opens February 20, and closes December 4, 1915. It is hoped that Clallam and Jefferson counties will exhibit and work together at San Francisco.

County Superintendent Geisness on Monday sent out letters and an interesting circular or poster to all the school districts of the county, giving all available information about the Clallam County Fair and Industrial Exhibit and its significance to the county schools. It enables him to assemble here all school exhibits intended for competition in the Second Annual Exhibition of the Washington Boys' and Girls' Agricultural and Industrial Contest to be held in Tacoma October 28, 29 and 30, 1914, and at the same time the school children exhibiting will have two chances to win prizes instead of one, while saving considerable in the cost of assembling their exhibits for shipment to Tacoma.

It is probable that the ceremonies of dedicating the new county court house and laying the corner stone will be performed by the Clallam county masons and distinguished officials of the order from other parts of the state on one of the days of the fair, and in that case the city schools at least will be expected to participate, and Mayor White will probably issue a proclamation declaring it a public holiday.

Special round-trip excursion rates will be offered by all the steamboats entering Port Angeles, and a strong effort is being made to get a particularly attractive round-trip rate for the people living in the western part of the county, who have seldom if ever been favored that way. There will be excursion rates for Port Townsend, Port Williams, Sequim and Victoria.

It is planned to have the city generally decarated for the occasion, and there will be street fair attractions, concessions for which can be arranged for by addressing Chairman Lewis Levy of the Finance Committee.

COMMITEE IN CHARGE

The entire management of the Clallam County Fair and Industrial Exhibit is in charge of the central executive committee chosen by the Port Angeles Commercial Club: E. J. Walton, chairman; H. Maurice Fisher and T. T. Aldwell, who will cooperate with County Superintendent Thomas Geisness. The subcommittes are:

Finance—Lewis Levy, chairman; S. J. Lutz, Benjamin N. Phillips.

Exhibits and Prizes—Geo. Venable Smith, chairman; Stephen Land, Emil Dermul, Cecil C. McNutt, Fred Henson.

Clallam County Exhibits and Prize Committee—W. K. Clark, chairman; James Dick, J. A. Adams, K. O. Erickson, Winfield S. Miller.

Entertainment and Booths—W. J. Ware, chairman; D. J. McCarty, D. H. Fry, F. L. Plummer, D. D. Huddleston.

"I" STREET NEXT TO BE GRADED

Improvement Will Open Up a Fine Residence District on Lincoln Heights. Hearing Oct. 20.

Resolution for grading I street was adopted at Tuesday night's council meeting. The work proposed will give a roadway from Third extended just east of the lagoon, up and over the hill, opening up a new residence tract for the benefit of the mill employes. An enlarged district will be created extending from west line of F to east line of M and from north line of Third to south line of 16th. Hearing set for Oct. 20th.

The sewer ordinance, somewhat condensed and eliminating restrictions of cesspools in the back districts, but otherwise practically the same as when first submitted, was passed. It provides that all buildings near sewers must be connected therewith and that those along the bay must be provided with private sewers running out to low tide water.

Property owners on the west side of Francis between Front and Eighth streets ordered to put in sidewalks.

Clerk ordered to call for bids for feeding prisoners the coming year.

The Knocker says he has "$600 in medical bills due him." It would appear that dead men pay no bills, as well as tell no tales.

JURY CASES HAVE HEARING

Pratt's Case Against Halberg Was Thrown Out of Court. Defendants Alleged Fraud.

The case of Franklin Pratt vs. E. A. Halberg and the Pt. A. Land & Dev. Co., which has been pending for a long time, was heard on Monday, and upon motion of defendants after plaintiff's case was in went out of court on a non-suit. Plaintiff alleges that he held a contract with defendants to log a 300-acre tract of land at the mouth of the Elwha on an equal division of profit basis, having until 1916 to get the timber off the land. This contract was in writing plaintiff having a copy, defendant a copy, and a copy deposited in the Citizens Bank. Deft. Halberg extracted plaintiff's copy from the safe deposit box, according to complaint, secured the bank's copy and denied the whole contract on the grounds that the parties had really never fully gotten together on the details. The contract was produced at the hearing but defendants alleged fraud in securing the draft and deposit, and alleged that plaintiff had to make good in certain other respects before the contract was effective, which he never did.

In Waddingham and White vs. Warren Morse, the jury found for the plaintiffs in the sum of $150, after several hours deliberation. Plaintiffs alleged that Morse had entered into a verbal contract with them to furnish the plans for a $12,500 building at First and Laurel streets, on a six per cent basis, and the superintendence of construction on a ten per cent basis. This was denied in toto by the defendant, who admitted having had a pencil sketch of drawings submitted, for approval, which, however, were never approved. The blue print drawings submitted at the trial, defendant alleges were made up after suit was commenced as a basis of action, and were never seen by defendant or associates.

The case of Collier vs. Kempton, on account of money alleged to have been loaned defendant at various times, was settled out of court, after two delays in the trial.

Three railway cases were heard and judgment entered in each. In Railway vs. McGerr, for right of way across lots 3, 4 and 5, in Block 137, at the head of the bay, heard before a jury, defendant was allowed $917.50 for practically two lots taken. The price to be paid was the only issue before the jury. As in other cases the great variance of the witnesses for the plaintiff and defendant was the feature of the case. Plaintiff's witnesses fixed the value of the lots at $150 each, while defendant himself alleged their value to be $1000 per lot, and his witnesses estimated their value at from $500 to $1000 each. The other two cases covered a score or more of pieces of right of way, and were brought to clear up miscellaneous possible interests, tide lands having been granted heretofore by deeds with certain reverting clauses.

Mary Holden, a very intelligent Neah Bay Indian, was granted a di-

ANGELES PEOPLE SPENT $2,250 FOR PEACHES

F. M. Dompier, owner of the Panorama fruit ranch in the Yakima valley, has been shipping quantities of fruit into this part of the country, the Port Angeles Commission Co. handling a large percentage of what is shipped here, Mr. Dompier says he shipped in almost thirteen hundred crates of peaches and expects to ship about five hundred crates of later ones the first of the month, and about one thousand baskets of grapes. From information we gather as to the number of peaches sold by the grocers in town we conclude that not less than 5000 crates of peaches were sold in Angeles this year, which at 45 cents a crate would mean an expenditure of $2,250 for peaches in spite of the high price of sugar. Mr. Dompier tell us that the house wives in the Yakima valley had excellent results canning peaches without sugar.

COUNTY IS GRAVELING EAST FRONT STREET

Graveling of East Front Street was commenced this week under supervision of Oscar Lee—who has come to rank with Joe Pearson as the best road builder in this district—and will be continued to the extent of $750. Under state law the county commissioners may, if they deem advisable, spend 15 per cent of the amount he city pays into the general road and bridge fund, within the city limits. This amounts this year to $750 and it is believed it will be sufficient for the purpose, there being about a mile of road to be graveled.

NOBODY ESCAPES BEE'S VENOM

Mayor White Latest Victim of Irresponsible Sheet and the All-'round Failure Who Runs It.

In line with its confirmed policy of attacking everybody and everything in sight, the Knocker opened up last week on Mayor White, undoubtedly the most universally esteemed citizen of Port Angeles, charging him with responsibility for the muddy condition of a couple of blocks of city streets and asserting that they spell incompetency in seventeen different ways.

The man who secured and brought into this little town a million dollars with which to build the Olympic Power plant, the man who built the million dollar mill, the man who undertook the contract for construction of our railroad, the men who are superintending the building of the best system of macadamized roads in the state, the man who is putting in the latest thing in city telephone systems, the men who were instrumental in securing the lease of the spit on such favorable terms, the men who are responsible for the cruising of timber which added millions of dollars to the county's assessed valuation, the men who are investing several hundred thousand dollars in local bonds and building us modern streets—all these and many more have unjustly received the severest condemnation from the Knocker.

People are asking, who is this man, a stranger to the country, that he should set himself up as an arbiter in our affairs? that he should be permitted to continually assail our leading men? that he should condemn them as incompetent and their conduct of affairs, private and public, as mismanagement and worse? Who is responsible for his being here and how, in heaven's name, can we get rid of such an incubus?

The fact is, the man himself is hopelessly incompetent and has been pursuing his nefarious course in an effort to direct attention from his own shortcomings and the absolute failure he has made of the Knocker. Otherwise—

Why has the Knocker, with its boasted capital stock of $25,000, been offered at $1,500 (presumably the amount necessary to cover the the deficit in operating expenses), the purchaser to assume the mortgaged indebtedness?

Because the stockholders, their dreams of "a paper which could boost and build up the town" shattered to infinitesimal fragments, realize that they have been up against the real thing in the way of incompetency and are anxiously and hopelessly looking for relief.

Why did certain stockholders refuse to have anything to do with the Knocker as soon as they saw its first issue? They realized that mismanagement must necessarily follow incompetency.

Why has the company to pay high credit prices and continuous interest on equipment, a large part of which has not been and cannot be used?

Why does the Knocker charge less for its advertising space than the other papers (though more than the combined rates than the others, when circulation is taken into account) and still fail to get a fair representation of the business men.

Why has the Knocker's circulation only reached 225 after having been established a year?

Why do business men, when one happens to mention the Knocker, say that they never read it?

Why did its linotype operator have to quit and threaten to bring suit before being able to collect his long overdue wages?

Why did the Knocker's subscription contest prove a failure and Mr. Brown, the manager, throw up his hands and quit the field in disgust?

Why does the Knocker's present foreman, Joe Pugh, say he doesn't know what will become of the paper but there will be a big row soon if they don't pay him his back wages, which, according to hearsay reports, amount to something like $300?

The answer is incompetency and mismanagement right from the beginning.

Why must our county and city officials, our leading men who are putting forth their best efforts in the upbuilding of the community, be longer insulted and maligned from such a source?

SUPERIOR COURT PROCEEDINGS

vorce from Gilbert Holden on the grounds of cruelty, the decree being held up pending a further consideration of the property interests of each.

In the State vs. R. Dickerman, state's main witness in the saloon robbery case of last spring, sentence was deferred pending continued good behavior of defendant. All the defendants in this case have been let off through the loss and the uncertainty of witnesses, the main eye witnesses being too intoxicated to state the facts as they occurred,one of the hard things a prosecutor has to contend with.

The case of the State vs. Peter Nogich was tried Tuesday, and after a very short consideration by the jury was adjudged guilty of carnal knowledge of a female child. The defendant, while undoubtedly guilty, is also unquestionably a victim of circumstances, and seemingly thruout the trial failed to realize the enormity of his crime. He will doubtless have a full realization while serving a sentence of from five years up, sentence not yet having been pronounced. The law fixes the penalty for the crime at not less than five years. The officers had a strong case against the defendant.

Dr. F. S. Lewis was granted a decree of divorce on Friday from Ethyl M. Lewis. Defendant admitted all the allegations of plaintiff. Separate property of each before marriage went to each in the decree.

Wednesday the case of Walker vs. C. T. Dover occupied the entire day and far into the night. The case went to the jury at 4 p.m. and at 5:15 a disagreement was reported with a p ssible chance of getting together. They were returned to the jury room, where it is alleged the vote stood for hours at 2 to 9 for plaintiff. The jury finally agreed at 11 p. m., finding for the plaintiff in sum of $139. In this case the facts are not all available for the reason that Mr. Dover's former counsel went away and left the case in the air, locking up the papers which made them unavailable. Plaintiff alleges that as agent for the W. U. Life Ins. Co. he sold a $2,000 policy to Dover in Mar., 1913, taking his note in part payment. The note came due in three months and just before that date Dover sent the policy back with instructions to cancel upon the grounds that it was not according to the representations of the agent Walker. Plff. scouted that a licensed agent would misrepresent a policy and denied that he had even discussed endowment policy with defendant. Dover insisted on the misrepresentation and insisted that the policy should have been cancelled, he being willing to lose his cash payment.

Yesterday the case of F. T. Hyde vs. J. A Gressman was heard, on appeal from Justice ccurt, where pltff. was victorious. The case is on account of services rendered Mr. Gressman in setting a broken leg, which defendant alleges is refused for the reason that the doctor was negligent in the treatment.

Several cases still remain to be tried, State vs. Charley Wilson, State vs. Wm. and John Dick, assault, State vs. Jos. Pellerin. The case of the State vs. J H. Stickles tried early in the term will possibly have to go over to next term for re-trial. All civil jury cases have had a hearing.

FOUR INITIATIVE BILLS SUSTAINED

The November ballot will contain ten proposed laws to be voted upon, the supreme court having ordered the secretary of state to add Nos. 7, 8, 9 and 10, in a decision holding that the secretary and the lower courts cannot go behind the returns of the precinct or the municipal certifying officer.

Seven of the proposed laws will be initiative measures, two will be measures referred back to the people by the last legislature, and one will be a constitutional amendment passed by the last session of the legislature, but required by the constitution to be submited to the people at a popular election. They are as follows:

Initiative measures:

No. 3, state wide prohibition.

No 5, so called blue sky law.

No. 7, abolition of the state bureau of inspection.

No. 8 abolition of employment agencies.

No. 9, so-called first aid.

No. 10, convict road bill.

No. 13, the eight-hour road bill.

Referendum measures.

Teachers' retirement fund bill.

Quincy valley irrigation project, $40,000,000 bond issue.

Constitutional amendment.

Prohibiting land ownership by aliens, except mineral lands, lands secured in collection of debts and land within city limits.

MONEY NOT ASSSESSED

Tweny-one county assessors of the state of Washington reported no money whatever according to a report just sent out from Olympia, and in the remainder only small amounts were listed. Thurston county assessed $620 and Douglas county $20.

Sequim has passed an ordinance prohibiting boys under eighteen from frequenting pool halls and is considering another providing for the closing of all Saturday night dances at midnight.

ASSOCIATED PRESS WAR SUMMARY

The following summary of the European war situation was issued Monday by the Associated Press:

There is no victory as yet for either side in the battle of the Aisne, which has now raged in France for ten days. Both sides claim successes and favorable positions.

The ten days of desperate battle, fierce artillery fire day and night; infantry charges in which the fighting has been hand-to-hand, and cavalry onslaughts when opportunity offered, have shown one result—the soldiers of the three nations engaged are becoming exhausted. The human machine is weakening under the frightful demands made on it. Lulls in the battling are ascribed simply to utter fatigue.

Another factor, which has had a notable effect on the conduct of the operations, has been the weather. An incessant cold rain has flooded the vally of the Aisne. The river has overflowed its banks, roads and fields are heavy, the trenches are filled with water. The men are drenched to the skin day and night, and French soldiers coming to Paris are encrusted with mud. Wornout men are succumbing to the hardships of fighting and living in the open under such weather conditions.

The transportation of all kinds, for both sides, is rendered much more difficult. It is even said the Germans can no longer move their heavy artillery with effective promptness on account of the heavy roads. The men are camping in water and the French say the Germans are suffering for the lack of food.

While neither side claims a decisive outcome, yet there appears to be good reason to believe that the battle is drawing to some definite development. Military opinion, both in London and Paris, leans to the conviction that the present lines, battered for ten days, soon will have to show noticeable changes.

THE BASIS OF ALL BUSINESS

The concern which persistently and consistently advertises brings to itself great reward in the form of increased business. Fences, rocks and trees are covered with print and paint. The shower of advertising in the shape of handbills is incessant. They are put into one's hand at every step—at the church door and in hotels, in public vehicles, thrust under private doors and sent by millions through the mails.

Glittering Advertising Maze.

The only road to commercial success leads through a glittering maze of advertising.

Great boats, bearing on their sails huge advertisements, sail up and down all season before crowded watering places, and now and then a rain of advertisements comes from a wandering aeroplane.

When daylight fails the magic electric light throws advertisements on large screens in conspicuous places in both large and small cities.

Shout From Mountain Top.

Climb to the mountain top and shout for a solution of the retail mail order evil, and back over the hills will come the answer in the echoing cry "Advertise!"

The life, the fame, the success, the hope and future of commerce lie in that one magic word.

Advertising is unquestionably the weapon which will make the community worthless for the retail catalogue houses, but it is not absolutely necessary that printed matter be the whole thing.

Personal and individual advertising is most helpful. It is such advertising that gives retail mail order houses their trade.

And through advertising the local merchants can deprive them of much of the trade that comes from their community.

Fight the Prairie Fire.

The western farmer fights the prairie fire with a little fire of his own, which, kept always under control, he so uses that the bigger fire, finding no fuel there on which to feed, sweeps by and leaves him safe.

So, in your advertising, you have your saving fire with which to fight the consuming competition of retail mail order houses.

The printed matter, of course, must continue to be the main reliance for urging people to enter your store.

Show windows, however good, are sure to be seen only by a few of those who might need to trade with you, while personal invitations cannot be given quickly enough to a sufficient number to answer everyday purposes.

It is through printed matter that the retail mail order house offerings are constantly made, and, if for no other reason than to prove the determination at least to match their efforts for trade in your community, use the local press and printed matter enough to let no one whose trade should be yours forget that you are in a position to fill his wants.

Originality Best Method.

The local merchant should dwell at length on the fact that he delivers after the goods have been seen and before the money has been paid for them, and when it comes to making good, should anything go wrong, he is right at hand, not a thousand miles away.

A reputation for originality is continually being sought by most merchants, and one can get it more easily by being natural in every move. Advertising that sounds like you is not only sure to bring the greatest results, but it is also the one kind of advertising your competitor cannot successfully imitate.

It is true that some self styled advertising experts have studied the dictionary, the grammar and the type specimen books until they are able to talk a jargon that makes advertising—by which we mean printed matter—seem very much of a mystery to the average man.

Operate Like Pickpockets.

The mail order house system experts in the advertising art are something like the pickpocket who, in an attempt to divert suspicion from himself, joins the throng and shouts "Stop thief!" as loudly as any one. Look through the mail order catalogues and you will find that nearly all of them will tell you that their houses are the cheapest places to buy; that they have the best facilities.

They will intimate that the other fellow is the one to avoid if you do not want to get "trimmed" and that it is the other fellow that handles the trash

When a dog bites you the first time blame the dog; if he bites you again blame yourself. If the mail order houses get the best of you once blame them; if they do it again blame yourself for being such an unthinkable chump.

CAPT. ATLEE DIED AT LOS ANGELES, THE 19th.

The many friends of Captain and Mrs. AtLee will be grieved to know that Mr. AtLee died at his residence in Los Angeles last Saturday evening, September 19. Mrs. AtLee had just returned from a trip to Port Angeles where she came to dispose of their household goods and settle up business affairs. She and Capt. AtLee went down to California the first of June, hoping the change and rest might prove beneficial to his declining health. He underwent an operation in July but little hopes were entertained of his ultimate recovery, as it was discovered he was suffering from that dreadful malady, cancer of the stomach.

The AtLee's came to Port Angeles in the fall of 1912, the Captain to take command of the revenue cutter Snohomish. He was a man of commanding presence and fine physique, with a quite, retiring disposition and a great lover of his home and family.

Mrs. AtLee, who is a very charming woman, made many friends during her short residence in Angeles, and their sympathy goes out to her now in her grief and lonliness. Mr. AtLee leaves two sons; the older one is the offspring of a former marriage and is now married and living in New York; the younger son is attending a boys' school in Boston and his mother will join him there. Mr. AtLee's people live in Washington, D. C, with the exception of one brother who is a resident of Los Angeles.

During the Spanish-American war, Captain AtLee served on the cutter McCulloch, Admiral Dewey's dispatch boat, which was used to draw Spanish fire at the Manila Bay battle. He entered the service from New York in 1896.

175 ATTEND AUXILIARY WHIST TOURNAMENT

"The Auxiliary ladies, are happy over the brilliant success of their first whist tournament this year, held at the Olympic Hotel last Friday evening and attended by about one hundred and seventy-five people, in spite of the rainy, disagreeable weather. Almost $50 was cleared, the dance after the tournament bringing in quite a number of dollars. A series of the tournaments and dances will be given during the fall and winter to assist in the payment of the heavy assessments against the lot on which the ladies hope some day to see a handsome public library erected. It is hoped the public will be as generous in its patronage of the future affairs as it was in this initial one. The auxiliary is deeply grateful to those who sold tickets or in any way assisted, and especially to Mrs. Willis Mathewson and Mrs. Maurice Fisher who had the entertainment in charge and are largely responsible for its success. Mr. John Cain comes in for a special vote of thanks for his generosity and kindness in donating the use of the hotel, an ideal place for such an entertainment. The favors for highest scores were won by Dr. Hyde and Mrs. Hernihe of the married people and Miss Suter and Mr. John Rychner of the unmarried.

ANGELES LADIES IN AUTO WRECK AT SEQUIM

Mrs. Ed Gierin most delightfully entertained the ladies of the Port Angeles Thimble Club at her beautiful country home near Sequim last Thursday. After a delicious one o'clock luncheon the guests were taken all around the farm to see the fine stock, fruit and garden. They remained until after supper, starting home about seven p. m.. Rather an exciting event of the trip out in the morning, and what seems like almost a miraculous escape, when Mr. Gierin's auto skidded on the muddy road, the front wheels giving way entirely and letting the party of ladies down. No one was hurt however and the other car soon returned and got the ladies and towed the crippled machine to Sequim.

CHANGE IN SCHEDULE

FURNITURE FACTORY NEARING COMPLETION

The furniture factory and cabinet works of Mr. W. S. Clark, situated on First street near Peabody, are rapidly nearing completion, and Mr. Clark intends to be ready for business by Oct. 1st. Outside of Seattle and Tacoma, Port Angeles will have the most up-to-date wood-working plant on the Sound.

The building contains 960 square feet of floor space, being 24x40 feet square; the front is attractive and has double strength windows. A third of the floor space will be set off by a partition and will be used as a show room .The shop will be without machinery this winter, but saws, shapers and planers will be installed next March. Mr. Clark will also use a 5 h. p. motor for power, increasing the machinery in size as business demands. He also has leased the ground in back of the factory and if an enlargement of the factory is necessary, it can be had without trouble.

Mr. Clark has a reputation behind him and the fact that 35 years of experience in carpentry and cabinet work is about all that is essential to "make good". He is also a "home products" man and says that the wood, sawed and planed, from Earles' mill, is the best he has ever seen and intends to adhere strictly to native timber. Selected slash-grained fir and Alaska cedar are the two woods he will use to the greatest extent. Mission style, is Mr. Clark's specialty, using it in office and household furniture. He is an expert designer and will have a room set aside in the factory for this purpose. Orders will be taken for holiday goods, such as mission lamps, tabourets, wall brackets, foot stools and umbrella racks.

We can but hope that Mr. Clark succeeds in his venture, this being the first factory of its kind on the peninsula should prove a success and make a substantial business.

NEVER USE YOUR NOSE FOR A BILLIARD CUE

A report is circulating that while at the Olympic Hot Springs, Lewis Levy, in order to make a dive in the pool, had to have a couple of rocks tied around his neck. Well, the first two rocks I guess were a little large, for Lewis cleared thru the water like a German submarine, striking nose first on the bottom, plowing quite a furrow in same. We suggest that Lewis should have waited until. he got home again before practicing any more fancy billiard or masse' shots.

MEN'S FURNISHINGS

Above his desk hung the familiar motto, "Do it now!"

At quiting time the desk was neat and clear; the day's litter had all disappeared.

Each morning he man sat down to it as to a clean slate.

Under the same roof were desks which looked as if they had just been flirting with a cyclone.

No mottos hung above them—the litter didn't leave the room.

Whether it was the motto or just his temperament which made the one man prompt and orderly while others seemed lax he himself didn't know.

"Oh, I just hung that there because a fellow gave it to me and I agree with the sentiment. I don't remember ever having been specially influenced by it," he said.

Thats the value of a good motto; its so insidious.

Of course, he didn't know when the motto "took". If somebody, says the boss, had come round several times a day and lectured him on the wisdom of being prompt and orderly he might not have heeded at all.

But there, on the wall, staring him in the face, in attractive type, patiently awaiting his glance, was the pithy suggestion upon which so much sucess depends; and it "got" him irresistibly.

Get one one yourself. The kind that aims straight at your worst weakness. Let the law of silent but pitiless suggestion bore its way into your very soul. It may be just what you need.

Old Cummings, the grocer, was noted for the wretched horses he kept. He employed a boy, Anthony, who was a very reckless driver. One day Anthony drove one of the grocer's worst old nags a little too hard, and the animal died.

"There!" cried the grocer. You've killed my horse, you miserable boy!"

I'm sorry, boss," the boy faltered.

"Sorry!" shouted the infurated grocer. "Sorry be hanged! What good'll that do? Who's going to pay for my horse, I'd like to know?"

"I'll make it all right, boss," replied the boy soothingly. "You can take it out of my next week's wages.

"What name are you calling?" asked the telephone girl over the wire.

"McCohen," the customer answered.

"I beg pardon?" asked the girl. McCohen,"

The wire was silent for a moment, please I think the wires are crossed."

"How many people are there here, Pat?" enquired the Englishman of an Irishman in Montreal.

"Oh, about a hundred t'ousand."

Why I thought there were over half a million?"

"Well," said Pat, there is—if yez count the French."

THE NEWSPAPER

The Bremerton Searchlight toots its horn as follows, and what it says applies to every country newspaper:

"A newspaper, as an institution, depends no more on charity than does a grocery store. No newspaper can or does continue to live, unless it renders a distinct service and gives full value received. Publishing is a profession rather fascinating in nature but down at bottom, it is a hard dollars and cents business.

For every dollar and a half this paper gets on subscription, some one gets one hundred and four copies of a paper containing a review of the happenings of this and surrounding neighborhoods.

For every 25 cents paid this paper for a want ad, more than four thousand people are told the message of the advertiser.

For every dollar this paper gets for a displayed advertisement, these same thousands of people are reminded that the advertiser has something to sell, and is not afraid to come out before his competitors and say so.

A train advertises its approach by a whistle. Toot your horn! Let people know you want their business!

THOUGHTS ON DRESS

The present styles may demonstrate that women have no knowledge of art, but one must admit that they show she often has an understanding of beauty.

It isn't so necessary to reform the mode as it is to reform the woman.

Modistes say that skirts are going to be full, but if they are to be any fuller than now, something is bound to give way.

The men who roar if their wives evince any visible means of support are the kind that prefer a visible typewriter.

The reason that so many women adopt the twenty-seven inch waistband is so that they can tell how their waist measure is only nineteen.

If hoop skirts and crinolines come in style again as prophesied, there will be an awful panic among the owners of the apartmentettes.—Clara Thomas, in Judge.

"The lovely girl, having lingered a minute in her room to make sure that her skirt fitted her to her entire satisfaction, descended to the parlor to find the family pet ensconced upon the knee of the young man caller, her curly head nestled comfortably against his shoulder

"Why, Mabel," the young lady exclaimed, " aren't you ashamed of yourself? Get right down."

"Shan't do it," retorted the child. "I got here first."

"Conducter," inquired the nervous old lady, " which end of the car do I get off?"

"Either end, madam," replied the polite conductor; both ends stop."

THE COUNTY SCHOOLS

Teachers and Pupils Urged to Prepare Exhibits for County Fair and State Exhibit.

A circular announcing the Clallam County Fair and Exhibit, October 16, and 17, and the Second Annual Exhibition of the Washington Boys' Girls' Agricultural and Industrial Contest at Tacoma, October 28, 29 and 30, has been mailed to teachers and schools clerks of Clallam county.

The plan of spending two days at the W. E. A., in Tacoma, as a part of the Clallam county Institute this year is meeting with favor. The teachers of the city schools of Port Angeles will attend and the indications are that a majority of the rural teachers will decide to adopt the plan. An effort will be mase to get rates to Tacoma and return from transportation companies.

At a meeting of the State Board of Education, August 4th, a few changes were made in the rules governing the eighth grade examinations. The following are the most important: A grade of 80 or above in any subject may be retained permanently, but no grade of less than 80 shall be used except at the examination when such grade was made. The subjects of Geography and Physiology may be completed in the seventh grade. (No other seventh grade papers will be graded.)

The attention of all teachers in Clallam county is called to the Governor's proclamation, setting aside Sunday, October 4th, as a "Peace Day," and especially is your attention called to the last paragraph of the proclamation which reads as follows: And I do also further recommend and urge that in all of the schools in the state of Washington, the afternoon of Friday, October second, be set aside and that exercises be held at that time for the purpose of instilling in the minds and hearts of the rising generation the great benefits that will come to humanity when all of the people of the world shall have joined together in bringing about that for which every citizen hopes and prays—Universal Peace." It is earnestly requested that all the teachers of Clallam county spend the afternoon of Friday, October 2nd, in accordance with the wishes and recommendations of the Governor of the State and that appropriate exercises be held.

A petition has been received by the County Superintendent asking for the consolidation of four districts in the west end of the county: Districts 8, 39, 21 and 30. A meeting will be held at the Beaver school house, Saturday, October 26th, for the purpose of hearing said petition. Should the people of the four districts be favorable to this move, the consolidated district thus formed will be able to build up a graded school equal in every respect to the schools in the city and might develop into a center for a West End High School.

Teachers and school officers are urged to encourage pupils in entering exhibits at our local Fair in Port Angeles, October 16th and 17th. If exhibits are sent in accordance with instructions in the prize list for the State Industrial Contest, your exhibit may be entered at Port Angeles first, and from there sent to Tacoma. Attention is called to rule six in prize list which provides that "freight bills on exhibits called for in the premium list will be paid both ways."

Until completion of new court house, the county superintendent will be found in his office, Room 207, Kuppler Block, on Saturdays and every other day.

The state department has recently sent to this office a list of Teachers' and Pupils' Reading Circle Books for the school year beginning Sept. 1st, 1914, and ending Sept. 1st, 1915, as follows:

70 DROWN WHEN STEAM SCHOONER SINKS

Foundering in a raging gale off the Oregon coast yesterday afternoon, the steam schooner Francis H. Leggett, carrying a heavy cargo and seventy-two persons, thirtyeight of whom were passengers, sank carrying all save two to death. Twenty Seattle people were aboard. One survivor is known to have been rescued by the steamship Beaver and one by the oil tanker Buck.

According to the steward of the Beaver, which arrived in Astoria shortly before 1 p. m., the deckload of the Leggett shifted in a heavy gale and she turned turtle and sank.

The Beaver rescued one passenger, J. Alex. Farrell, of Seattle, while the Buck last night picked up a man who had been in the water several hours, clinging to a plank.

Of the fate of other Seattle passengers aboard the ill-fated vessel, nothing is known. The Buck reported her rescue by wireless, saying that the man was so exhausted that they are unable to give any details of the disaster.

HUNTING FOR AFFINITIES

An advertising stunt pulled off by the Key City Lighting Co. at the Townsend Fair, causing much merriment at the grounds, according to the Leader, might easily be made effective here on suitable occasions.

The electric company distributed cards bearing numbers, of which but two were duplicates. When the persons having the duplicates were found, prizes were awarded to each. The search for "affinities" begun immediately, and kept many people busy thruout both days when the game was in progress. On Friday Mrs. S. W. James and Mr. D. Hill each won an electric iron by reason of possessing the duplicate numbers, while yesterday the lucky ones were Miss Montie Hutchinson and DeWitt Hart, of Quilcene, who secured electric stoves by virtue of the fact that each had tags numbered 2323.

ANGELES TO SPOKANE ON A MOTORCYCLE

Herbert Baker returned this week from a two weeks motorcycle trip across the state to Spokane, having accompanied his stepson, Carl Marquardt, who is attending the State College at Pullman. They had quite an experience but got thru on the machine with the exception of a few miles in Snoqualmie Pass, where there was much new road work. From Cle Elum they curved over to Wenatchee, having to push the machine two miles over the pass where the rise was 500 feet to the mile. Here they took the main state road east, taking in Waterville and Davenport and going on north to Chewelah where a son, Victor, lives, being in the automobile business.. Mr. Baker returned from Spokane while Carl went on to Pullman. They had but one accident, getting a few bruises by running into the rocks to save plunging over a steep bank; over a dozen wrecked autos were passed along the way. The roads were nowhere as good as in Clallam county—in fact, Mr. Baker said that from the time he left Seattle he felt increasingly proud of our Olympic Way. In the wheat country, on the state road, the dust was thick and there were ruts so deep that the bodies of autos would almost drag on the ground; in other places the farmers had ballasted the road with wheat straw for miles, making a cushioned highway, in order to keep down the dust. In the Wenatchee country they saw peaches covering the ground, apparently two-thirds of the crop going to waste.

At the Presbyterian church Sunday morning at 10:00 o'clock, the Sunday School will have a Rally Day program. The parents are cordially invited to attend. At the 11:00 o'clock service, the subject of the sermon will be: "A Message of Assurance." In the evening: "A Sad but Hopeful Confession." The free-will offering at the Monday evening entertainment amounted to five dollars.

"I was taken with diarrhoea and Mr. Yorks, the merhant here, persuaded me to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. After taking one dose of it I was cured. An ordinary attack of diarrhoea can almost invariably be cured by one or two doses of this remedy. For sale by all dealers.

Notice to Contractors for Lighting Fixtures.

Sealed proposals will be received by R. D. McLaughlin, county auditor, Port Angeles, Washington, up to 10 o'clock a. m., October 7th, 1914, and at that time publicly opened for the furnishing and installing complete electiric lighting fixtures in the Clallam County court house.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check payable to the County Treasurer of Clallam County for the sum of $100.00.

Copies of specifications may be secured at the office of the County Auditor, at Port Angeles, or of Francis W. Grant, architect, 314 Mehlhorn Building, Seattle Washington.

Saturday, September 12, 1914, at 9:00 a. m.

The Board met pursuant to adjournment, all members being present.

The Board entered into an agreement with the Sol Duc Hot Springs Company, by which the county will have the use of said company's road from Fairholm westward, a distance of about two and one-half miles for a term of twenty years, by the payment of the sum of $1633.29, and the auditor was instructed to issue a warrant on Road Bond Fund, Dist. No. 3 in said amount in favor of said company.

The Board received a communication from Mrs. Jane Paul Ray regarding trails leading from Neah Bay to Ozette, and after consideration of same appropriated the sum of $2500 to be expended from the 1914 tax levies upon said roads and trails.

The Board rejected the claim of C. C. Bradshaw in the sum of $1338 for the burning of his dwelling house.

The Board adopted the following resolution:

"Whereas, during the past four years the county of Clallam has enjoyed a considerable increase in business and in industry, and thereby in population, and

"Whereas, in the opinion of the County Commissioners of said county it is deemed expedient to provide for raising and changing the class of said county, under the statute,

"Therefore, be it resolved, that in the opinion of this Board of County ulation of over nine thousand people, ulation of over nine thousand peple, and therefore should as a matter of right have its classification changed from the 19th class to a class not lower than the 16th class, and that the said county commissioners shall

VOTERS, ATTENTION

(From the Index.)

There is situated in Monroe, Washington, an institution that is referred to as the University of Another Chance. Officially it is the Washington State Reformatory. Its primary object is to fit the inmates, students if you please, to become efficient workmen when they leave the Institution. Most of the men attending here are first offenders. Many of the men should have been given a chance at the time they were sentenced. For instead of sending them to this institution they might have been placed on probation had there been a law in this state providing for such cases. As the laws are now constituted the judges may not use any discretion in sentencing men over 21 years of age. They must not place any man over that age upon probation no matter what the circumstances in the case might be. Many judges of the state have deplored this condition and they have expressed their intention to support a measure that will remedy it. Notably among the judges who are in favor of the California probation law are Judges J. T. Ronald and Everett Smith of Seattle. The late Judge Hauser of Skagit county was another who believed in the principle of probation.

Now you know that every man is liable to make a mistake and have the misfortune of being caught. Poverty is known to be the cause of many infractions of the law. Love of his kin and the thought of them suffering has made many a man commit an act to obtain bread for them that he would not have committed under favorable financial circumstances. After he is caught and convicted he must be sentenced to the Reformatory or the Penitentiary if he is over 21 years of age. His people for whom he may have committed the offense will still be left destitute. In many cases they are so left. The judge has no alternative. He must send the man away.

The Index believes this condition should be changed. The legislature has power to make the change. A letter from you to your senator or assemby-man will help to decide in favor of the probation law.

As a purely economic proposition this law should appeal to you.

The cost of keeping the University of Another Chance and the College of Bettermen, as the penitentiary should be, would be cut in half because as we have said about half of the men now confined would have been given another chance if the judges who sentenced them could have placed them on probation under the law.

If you are a humanitarian you will support this law. If you wish to save money in taxes you will also support this law.

Write the letter now.

MOTHER

"All that I am or hope to be," said Lincoln after he had become president, "I owe to my aged mother."

"My mother was the making of me," said Thomas Edison, recently. "She was so true, so sure of me and I felt that I had someone to live for, someone I must not disappoint.

"All that I have ever accomplished in life," declared Dwight L. Moody, the great evangelist, "I owe to my mother."

"To the man who has had a good mother, all women are sacred for her sake," said Jean Paul Richte.

The testimony of great men in acknowledgement of the boundless debt they owe to their mothers would make a record stretching from the dawn of history to today. Few men, indeed, become great who do not owe their greatness to a mother's love and inspiration.

How often we hear people in every walk of life say "I never could have done this thing but for my mother. She believed in me, encouraged me, when others saw nothing in me."

"A kiss from my mother made me a painter," said Benjamin West.

A distinguished man of today says: "I never could have reached my present position had I not known that my mother expected me to reach it. From a child she made me feel that this was the position she expected me to fill, and her faith spurred me on and gave me a power to attain it."

Many a man is enjoying a fame which is really due to a self-effacing, sacrificing mother. People hurrah for the governor or mayor or congressman, but the real secret of his success is often tucked away in that little unknown, unappreciaed, unheralded mother. His education and his chance to rise may be due to her sacrifice.

It is a strange fact that our mothers, the moulders of the world, should get so little credit and should be so seldom mentioned among the world's achievers. The world sees only the successful son, the mother is but a round in the ladder upon which he has climbed. Her fame or face is seldom seen in the papers, only her son is lauded and held up to our admiration. Yet it was that sweet pathetic figure in the background that made his success possible.

There is no one in the average family, the value of whose services begins to compare with those of the mother, and yet there is no one who is more generally neglected or taken advantage of. She must remain at home evenings and look after the children when the others are out having a good time. Her cares never cease. She is responsible for the housework, for the preparation of meals; she has the children's clothes to make or mend, there is company to be entertained, darning to be done and a score of little duties which must often be attended to at odd moments, snatched from her busy days and she is often up working at night long after everyone else in the house is asleep.

PARABLES IN PIFFLICUS

1. Now it came to pass that one Chester, firstborn of Ephraim Nutt, went up out of the land of tall grass and entered the temples of learning in search of wisdom.

2. And he abode at a place called Yale-Vard and sat daily at the feet of the doctors, acquiring knowledge.

3. And he applied himself diligently unto wisdom, searching many scrolls without ceasing and inquiring many things.

4. Now after many months it came to pass that Chester, surnamed Nutt, arose in the temple before all the doctors and astounded them with his great learning; and they said, Verily, he taketh the scholarship prize in a walk.

5. But none acclaimed him among his fellows, and the maidens knew not his name.

6. When the third year of his sojourn was ended, it so befell that Chester harangued with the assembled heralds of many lands.

7. And his speech astonished the wise ones who had come to judge, and they proclaimed him winner of the joint debate and bestowed on him a breastpin of fine gold.

8. But his fellows heeded not his fame, and the maidens gave him the once over and passed away.

9. And Chester was sore distressed, and spake unto one who knew not a parallelo-piped from a differential calculus, but was wise to his day and generation, saying,

10. Why do they know me not, I who have astonished the elders with my learning and copped the gold medal for plain and fancy orating? And why do the maidens pass me by unseen?

11. And the wise one smiled and answered him, saying,

12. This is a college. If thou wouldst make thy head serve thee for fame's sake, encumber it with hair and make the team.

13. Whereupon Chester went upon his way rejoicing. And he grew much hair and waxed strong and cast his books into the flames and made the team.

14. And in the first game he smote the enemy sorely and bit many into fragments, and even made a goal all by his lone.

15. Whereupon they called him Old Ches Nutt and greeted him with hosannas day and night. And the maidens vied with one another greatly for his favor.

16. And in due season he took to wife the daughter of an exceeding rich man and lived at ease all his days.

17. And Ephraim, father of Chester, pondered, saying, Verily, this higher education payeth well. Selah.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

secure and consider evidence for the purpose of determining the class of said county;

"And be it further resolved that competent reports and evidence of the present population of the said county be secured and heard on October 7th, 1914, and for that purpose the County Superintendent of Schools, and the other officers of this county are hereby instructed and required to secure and produce all available authority and facts tending to show the present population of the said county and submit the same to the commissioners on said date."

The Board deeming the following claims for damages on account of road construction, to be just and reasonable, instructed the auditor to issue warrants on Road Bond Fund, Dist. No. 1, as follows for same:

Geo. & P. B.Gedelman, $52.00.

Antone Silva, $50.00.

The Board then adjourned until Monday, October 5, 1914, at 9:00 a. m.

NEWS FROM THE CAPITOL

Labor Commissioner Demanding Installation of Cedar Dust Blowers.

Olympia, September 21.—Throat and lung troubles, which have been found to affect 58 per cent of the workers in shingle mills, constitute the worst example of occupational disease in Washington industries State Labor Commissioner E.W.Olson states, as a result of a thorough survey of the industries of this state for occupational diseases.

Commissioner Olson already has taken steps to remedy the situation in the shingle industry. Cedar dust is given as the cause of disease in this industry and to eliminate this danger the labor department is urging the installation of "blower" ventilation systems by which the dust is drawn off through vents in the floor. Much success already has attended the efforts of the department to have owners use these systems. The system also being adopted with success in mattress factories, asphalt plants, paint grinding establishments and in other industries where dust is a menace.

The cost of installation of the blower system ranges from $300 to $500,but the Seattle insurance rating bureau, which is cooperating with Mr. Olson, is now able to show mill owners in most cases that they will save the cost in reduction of their insurance premiums, as the cedar dust also constitutes a serious fire menace, many mills being burned as the result of dust explosions.

Sharply increased prices on supplies of flour and sugar for state institutions for the next six months, the result of the European war, were paid by the state board of control last week in making semi-annual purchases.. The state bough 91 tons of chases. The state bought 91 tons of sugar at prices approximately $2 for 100 pounds above those paid for sugar six months ago. On account of the competitive bidding, however, the state was able to purchase its sugar supply at a rate nearly $1 per 100 pounds below the market price, as the lowest bidder, awarded the contract, was heavily overstocked.

Flour was purchased at an average advance of $1.13 per barrel over prices of six months ago, approximately 3800 barrels being purchased The increased prices on these two items over prices of six months ago meant the payment of approximately $7,600 by the state above prices under normal conditions. In spite of these increased prices the board of control expects to be able to show substantial savings in the maintenance expense at state institutions and will return a considerable proportion of the biennial appropriations to the state treasury.

All departments of the state government under Governor Ernest Lister have been called upon to furnish careful estimates of the needs of their departments for the next biennium, in order that the plan of preparing a state budget for presentation to the next legislature, may be carried out.

As a result of the reduced freight rates on coal from Roslyn to all parts of the state, ordered recently by the public service commission, the board of control found, in ordering coal for the two Medical Lake institutions, that it would be able to make a saving of more than $2,000 on its six months fuel supply, the freight reduction amounting to 55 cents per ton.

This is contingent, however, upon the courts upholding the order of the public service commission. The Northern Pacific railroad and western Washington coal operators have both appealed to the Thurston county superior court from the rate order. The board of control,however, has purchased the coal at the mines at Roslyn and will undertake to make its own deliveries in order to get full advantage of the rate reduction if it is upheld by the courts.

The pure food exhibit made by the state department of agriculture is attracting attention this year at the series of fairs at which it is being shown under direction of J. J. Higgins in charge of the food division of the department.

The seven sisters initiative measures cases were reargued before the supreme court en banc last Friday, the rehearing being ordered on account of the importance of the cases, which were presented a week earlier before only five judges.

Severe criticism of second choice provision of the primary laws on account of the numerous mistakes evidently made in all parts of the state in counting votes and making returns, is heard and it is probable that efforts will be made to repeal this feature at the next session of the legislature.

Counties have no authority to make horticulture levies the supreme court decided last week, the last legislature having inadvertently repealed the horticulture levy law by passing the agriculture commission bill.

A vigorous protest against the proposed plan of taxing freight bills was forwarded to congress last week by the state public service commission, it being pointed out that this method of raising revenue would be unjust discrimination against Pacific coast consumers. The proposal of taxing freight bills subsequently was abandoned.

The state board of equalization is expected to complete its annual session by the end of this week, announcing a state tax levy that will mark a reduction from the 1913 high record levy of 8.81 mills. Reductions in the general fund and public highway fund levies are anticipated, but it is likely that a small increase may have to be made in the state school fund to care for the 10,000 additional children of school age shown by the 1914 school census.

The $16,500,000 joint railroad terminals of the O. W. R. & N. and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul was dedicated at Spokane on the 15th.

The Yakima Valley Fruit Inspector estimates the blight loss in that valley at $250,000, approximately 8,500 trees having been removed from this district.

The Ellensburg woolen mill expects to be working a full crew within thirty days.

Inquiries from England and other foreign markets for lumber within the last few days indicate good prospects for an increased demand.

The large railroads of the state have asked for a reduced tax valuation stating that they would be unable to do business at the present rates without it.

A meeting was held in Chehalis Monday, the 14th, to discuss the proposition of using the by-products of the stumps on logged off land for commercial purposes and thereby save a big expense bill in clearing the land.

News has reached Seattle that the end of the survey work on the government railroad in Alaska is in sight —good news for Washington.

Puyallup city taxes are to be reduced $12,000.

Assessed valuation of Anacortes increased by $1,571,327.

Seattle willl have a sub-post office to cost $30,000.

P. M Troy of Olympia, Wash., has let the contract for a $30,000 bank building.

The Bridle Belt Railway & Navigation Co. will ask Seattle for a franchise to construct a tunnel under the city. The tunnel will probably be 20x25 feet in diameter, lined with concrete and cost $800,000 a mile. It will be three miles long.

Spokane is to have a new Catholic school on Cannon hill.

Winlock is to have a new city hall.

The new traffic rates from Roslyn to Medical Lake save 60c a ton on coal or $2040 on the annual fuel bill of the state at the Medical Lake institutions.

The Inland Portland Cement Co. has sold 10,000 barrels of cement to be used on the government irrigation project at Umatilla.

Ritzville banks are bulging with coins, the three largest banks showing a total of $1,211,000.

Tacoma is shipping their big cargoes of wheat to England this week.

On July 4 next year a big celebration is planned at the summit of the Cascades on the line between King and Chelan counties in observance of the completion of the new highway across the Cascade mountains from Wenatchee to Seattle.

MR.DOOLEY'S PHILOSOPHY

"King alcohol no longer rules th' sea or th' land. The ladies have got that binivolent ol' dishpot on his knees beggin' f'r mercy an' they're sayin' to him, 'Did ye have mercy on us?' an ar're gitting ready to chop off his wicked ol' head. Take a drink ma boy, whether ye need it or not. Take it now. It may be ye'er last.

"I used to laugh at th' pro-hybitionists; I used to laugh them to scorn. But I laugh no more;they've got us on th' run. I wudunt be surprised at any minyit if I had to turn this emporyum into an exchange f'r women's wurruk. Whether ye like it or not, in a few years there won't be anny saloons to lure the marri'd man fr'm his home,furnish guests for our great asylums an' jails, an' brighten up th' dark streets with their cheerful glow. I don't care. I wudden't mind if all th' liquor in th' wurruld was poored into the lake. It wud make people pay their wather tax with a light heart."

"I don't believe in this here prohybition," said Mr. Hennessy. Th' man who drinks moderately ought to be allowed to have what he wants."

"What is his name"? asked Mr. Dooley. "What novel is he in?"

SUBMARINES SINK BRITISH CRUISERS

London, Sept. 22.—German submarines have sunk three British armored cruisers in the North Sea, the official war information bureau announced today.

The lost vessels were the Aboukir, the Hogue and the Cressy.

The Aboukir, on patrol duty, was the first ship struck. As the German torpedo exploded under its hull, the Hague and Cressy started to the rescue of the survivors floating in the water. They were lowering their boats when fresh torpedoes, launched by the German submarines, reached them and sent both to the bottom.

The three cruisers were blown almost to pieces, the war information bureau stated, but there were many destroyers and trawlers in the vicinity and the work of rescue was prompt.

The cruisers cost approximately $4,000,000 each.

GEN. VILLA STARTS NEW REVOLUTION

Nogales, Sonora, Mexico, Wednesday, Sept. 23.—Notices were posted here today that Gen. Villa had proclaimed a revolution against Carranza. Governor Maytorena of Sonora, supported by Villa, is in command here, and is reported to be preparing to march against General Benjamin Hill, Carranza's military commander in the state.
