City Council Refers Salary Bills for Six Extra Men to Commercial Club for Payment.

There was a full attendance at the City council on Tuesday night.

The Dann Brothers gas franchise was resusitated by the adoption of the ordinance extending the time of commencement of work until May 4.

The contract for the Front street extended improvement, including Cherry and Valley street connections, was ordered signed up, subject of course to the final approval of the assessment roll. Engineer Filion was directed to place in the hands of council the necessary roll and full data.

The electric light line was ordered extended up First street hill, Laurel to Peabody at a cost of $380. Extensions were also ordered up Valley street to 11th at a cost of $145.

City attorney reported that he could find no data with which to combat the State Industrial Insurance Commission's claim for $72 for assessments due on Young & Denio claims, and recommended its payment. Shields insisted that monthly receipts for payments made were on file. This claim was not presented until after contract had been accepted. After considerable discussion Shields moved that the claim be paid and that a warrant in the safe of the clerk drawn to the contractors for $167 be refunded to the city. Carried.

This discussion brought up the settlement of Mr. Young with the city, whereby he agreed to pay city $1250, or one-half of judgment. City attorney stated there was nothing new in the matter. Mr. Young is suing the bonding company for the release of his property and until he gets this release he cannot meet his agreement.

Engineer Filion submitted final estimate on work in District 12, east Front and First. Total cost of improvement, $25,500. Due contractors in 30 days, $5,812.50. Adopted.

E. A. Jacobs was awarded contract to place sanitary toilet in city hall at $49.

The state examiner's report on the recent checking of the city's accounts was read and filed. He finds that all officers are doing their work well, but suggests some improvements in methods. A more detailed report next week.

A request of the Western Union to use right to string wires along 3rd street tressle was read. It was explained that the wires now placed there were only temporarily awaiting council's decision. Any concessions made are subject to revocation at any time by council. Granted.

J. G. Allison was granted permit to build a six room residence on Lot 16, Block 115, to cost $1,000.

H. T. Caven was given permit to blast stumps on Lot 8, Block 293.

Request for opening alley between 11th and 12th streets and Oak and Laurel, referred to street commissioner to act.

Peoples' wharf company called attention of council to fact that light pole placed at Railroad Ave., had been removed when improvements were made. New approach and other work will shortly be done, and council's wishes for better lighting of wharf will be compiled with.

Harry Cotton was granted permit to construct new Catholic Hall on 11th street.

Postal Telegraph company stated that as soon as company could ascertain whether city was going to permit use of city poles for line thru city to do away with multiplicity of poles, they would have all poles removed from sidewalk area.

Mr. Bigelow brought up the question as to what was done relative to employment of local labor on city contracts. Attorney had no resolution in the matter but stated that he had the provision incorporated in the new contracts, namely local labor where possible, 8 hours, minimum wage $2.50. Engineer suggested that the only way could really enforce this provision satisfactorily was by day's labor, city do all work. Victoria now does this with success by making the foreman responsible for results. Mr. Fleming asked that city attorney report fully on this matter.

Engineer was given one month to report further as to I street improvement.

Messrs. Fowler and Bigelow were appointed a committee to look into matter of enlarging the city treasurer's office.

Engineer was asked to report estimate for raising walk on Oak street south to First. It was suggested that same be rebuilt on an incline so that the south end reach as far up hill as possible.

Upon motion of Mr. Fowler, health committee was instructed to investigate sanitary condition of alley in Block 53.

Upon motion of Mr. Fleming, street superintendent was directed to have 20 cords of city wood at light plant cut for city hall.

Mr. Shields started the big event of the evening by questioning the claim of Deputy Savage, special police, on ground that he had not resided in city a year as law requires. Mayor stated he was not aware of this provision when he made appointment. It was argued that bill should be paid. Later it developed that Commercial Club committee had in some manner intimated that if these special police were put on, club would pay if city refused to do so. This started an exodus, and on roll call to pay the half dozen special deputies, six councilmen answered not voting and one voted no. Later upon motion of Shields, the bills were referred to the Commercial Club for payment.

Resolution fixing heating and cooking rates of electricity at 3½c per kw. hour was adopted.

Question of cost of approach to city pound referred to engineer.

Upon motion of Dustman, committee was appointed to go over claim of Star theater for damages with a view to settlement. Electrician, Dustman and Fowler named.

Applications for saloon licenses for 1915 were read and granted to Carl Swanson, A. A. Patterson, W. E. Wissman, John C. Clark. Dustman voted against all these grants.

Council then adjourned.

THE SPIRIT OF CHRISTMAS

Ladies of Auxiliary and Business Men Have Endeavored to Give Assistance Where Needed

When in your own home, cozy and comfortable, it is hard to realize how many there are around you who have not even the ordinary necessities of life. Many there are at this joyful time of the year who are "lookers on" and not partakers of the joy and gladness that most families know. Each year, however, there is a greater effort being made to see that at this one particular time, no needy or unfortunate person is forgotten.

The real Christmas spirit has prevaded the atmosphere in Port Angeles this year and the business men have been most generous in giving assistance where needed.

Many have been the grateful hearts who went away from the Commercial Club this week with bundles of clothing and some little Christmas gifts to cheer the hearts of the children.

Secretary F. E. Teck has been more than kind in taking such an interest in helping the Auxiliary Ladies and they feel deeply grateful to him for his kindness and assistance. Also to the Port Angeles Commission Co., who surprised them by sending to the Club room two large pails of candy to gladden the hearts of many little children to whom it will be sent to for Christmas. Such thoughtful kindness cannot be forgotten and helps to keep alive that strong faith in a Santa Claus, who is the embodiment of the love the world feels for little children; love that bursts its bonds once a year and spills over in all sorts of gay and happy little gifts.

UNKNOWN FRIEND SENDS CHEER TO BLIND IN COUNTY HOME

Port Angeles,
December 22nd.

Referring to an article we saw in the Olympic-Leader regarding the county farm, we have a phonograph and 40 records we would be glad to let them have for Christmas if some one would call for it at the brown shingled house on the corner of 7th and Oak streets. **

This letter was received by the Olympic-Leader in response to the little appeal published in last week's paper, suggesting that some organization present the old men of the county home with a talking machine for Christmas.

Mr. Getchell, superintendent of the home, came for the phonograph Thursday morning and said it would be greatly enjoyed he was sure, as most of the men were quite feeble this winter and had to stay indoors. It doubtless will pass many a pleasant hour for them.

Several pounds of candy were sent to them by the Auxiliary ladies from the generous donation they received from the Commission House. Here's hoping the old men will enjoy a right Merry Christmas and the donors of the phonograph also.

THE MAN WHO RULES THE WORLD TODAY

MRS. L. A. JONES HAS "ALWAYS" READ THE LEADER

"Wishing you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, I remain your subscriber for life. Mrs. Lenna A. Jones, Orting, Wash." These are the closing lines of a letter received from Mrs. Jones, a former resident of Port Angeles and one of the early pioneers. She had a very pleasant home up on Lincoln Heights and is well known here. She writes us that she can lay claim to being one of the oldest subscribers, if not the oldest, as she has taken the paper continuously since the second issue was published. The Olympic-Leader sends Christmas greetings to Mrs. Jones and hopes she may read the paper for many happy years to come.

FORESTER GRAVES' PLAN URGED BY DEPARTMENT

C. H. Flory, assistant district Forester of the Fourth district, embracing Oregon, Washington and Alaska, with headquarters at Portland, was an Angeles visitor Monday. He was here for the purpose of initiating a movement for the construction of urgently needed roads by the aid of the forestry department in accordance with the plans of Chief Forester Graves. The department has reached that stage in its plans where it needs volumes of data which can only be fully supplied by the citizens of each county and it feels Mr. Flory can best learn of the immediate needs of each locality by such cooperation of the commercial bodies as he is now seeking. On short notice Mr. Teck gathered together as many members of the club as he could for a meeting at 1:30 Monday afternoon, when things relative to this road building , etc. were discussed. A committee of five was appointed to confer with the county commissioners as to the most needed road or roads in the county. The committee consists of T. T. Aldwell, chairman, L. J. Leonard, G. M. Lauridsen, W. J. Ware and H. M. Fisher. A good live committee who will start the ball of action rolling at once.

COMING TO THE DREAM

The great six reel Lubin masterpiece, "The Lion and the Mouse," is coming to the Dream theater next Tuesday evening, December 29th. You can't afford to miss this wonderful attraction and, if you do—you will be in the same position as the mouse is with the lion.

J. W. Gangler, an enthusiastic booster for Port Angeles, and a partner in the Toggery Clothing Store, paid this city a short visit the first of the week from his home at Leavenworth, Wash.

THE "PENNANT" PLEASED ALL

High School Play Went with a Vim and Spirit that Made it a Very Enjoyable Affair.

Mrs. Porter, music and art instructor of the city schools, covered herself with honors last Friday evening for the clever manner in which she staged the High School play or operetta, "The Pennant."

It certainly was one of the best, if not the best amateur performance ever given in Angeles. The whole thing went with a vim and spirit that was most enjoyable, not a preceptible hitch or drag anyplace. The honors of the splendid success are also shared by all those who took part for they had given many weeks of hard practice to attain the degree of efficiency each tain the degree of efficiency with which each one portrayed his part. Billy Welsh, as Captain Jack, was the hero, while Miss Florence Gehrke, as Doris, his sweetheart, was the charming heroine. Their songs and acting were both excellent and brot forth hearty applause. Harold Sellick, as the English Lord, Andy Severyns, as Verdant Green, and Harold Holt as the Jew, added the humorous touches to the performance, winning for themselves a storm of applause. Harold Holt's impersonation of the Jew brot forth much favorable comment, as it is unusual to find so much good talent in a young high school boy. The "Merry Widow" was charmingly characterized by Miss Vina Grabill, her clever acting and sweet voice winning the hearts of the audience if not that of "Captain Jack." Miss Leslie Jackson looked very dignified and handsome as the attractive social climber, and played her part to perfection, leading her husband, Harold Dodge, a merry chase.

The song and dancing by the Misses Marcella Schweitzer and Helen Hooker accompanied by a chorus of young ladies was one of the prettiest features of the program and they graciously responded to the hearty encore they received. The H. S. boys, Oral Freeman, Joe Harley and Ed Fitzgerald also deserve mention and Roy Anderson, the lusty foot ball player, who demonstrated his lung power as yell leader. The campus scenes were all very attractive and too much praise cannot be given the excellence of the chorus, and musical selections throughout, including the pianist, Miss Vivian Stoval, whose playing added greatly to the evening's entertainment.

Secretary Teck, or the P. A. Commercial Club is taking a few days off and has gone to spend Christmas with his sister's family in Anacortes. He will spend several days in Seattle, also, interviewing the newspapers, commercial organizations and railroad officials, telling them a few things about Port Angeles that they don't know.

WILL BE ON THE GROUND EARLY

Representative McArdle Will Make Effort to Secure More Road Funds for Peninsula

Hon. L. D. McArdle, member of the lower house, in the session of the legislature to begin early next month was in the city yesterday for a short time, conferring with local people for the hard grind of the session, says the Townsend Leader. Mr. McArdle intends to take up his residence in Olympia without delay, and will remain there continuously until after the sixty days of legislative work are over. Past experience has taught him that it is a big advantage to be on the ground early, to talk things over with the members as they drift into the state capial preparatory for the session.

Mr. McArdle intends to devote the major portion of his energies in the session to getting more money for the Olympic Highway. Incidentally if he has a little spare time left over after attending to this important matter, he will undoubtedly be a factor in the "cow county" organization which will probably have to continue the fight to keep the big counties from grabbing the state. Any citizen of the county who has views to present on the subject of legislation will be gladly listened to at all times by Mr. McArdle, whose sole idea consists of doing as much for his constituents as poosible.

W. W. Conner, of Skagit county will be the next speaker of the house, and as both the Jefferson county members were among the original supporters of that gentleman, and extended him every aid possible in securing enough pledges to make his election certain, it is more than probable that Jefferson county will be in an enviable position when the committee assignments are made. Messrs. Sims and McArdle had some of the best assignments in the legislature last session. McArdle got the chairmanship of the road committee, which was his ambition. While no pledges are likely to be made by the next speaker at this time, it is considered certain that the two Jefferson members will not be disappointed when the plums are handed around.

In making an effort to secure additional money for the Olympic Highway, McArdle takes the stand that a levy is in effect for state road purposes, sufficient to raise a sum of $2,000,000 annually. There is in existance in the state a sentiment that the present system of state roads should be completed before laying out any additional highways. In King, Pierce, Thurston and Mason counties, and in the Southwest, there is strong sentiment favorable to the completion of the Olympic Highway clear around the peninsula. With affairs in this condition, the Jefferson county member thinks it is perfectly proper to go after enough money to do a good share of the work needed in this county. Mr. McArdle proposes to make an effort to secure not less than $100,000 to continue the highway from its present ending place at Soldwald's farm south of the mouth of the Duckabush, improving the present road as far as Jackson's Cove, and continuing construction around the east side of Mount Walker mountain by a water level grade to a connection with the present county road system near Quilcene.

The latter portion of the project will require about two miles of heavy and expensive construction, but the remaining four miles would be very easy to build. Such a project would certainly give the highway around the peninsula a fine start, giving a practically water level grade from Olympia to the Pacific ocean, after the new road is finished by this county connecting with the Clallam county highway near Eagle creek.

SEATTLE AND NORTHWEST

Seattle—What is regarded as assurance of the immediate prosperity of the Pacific Northwest, and of Alaska in particular, is the news last week that the coal from Matanuska fields has been approved by the navy department for the use of its ships. Trials made a short time ago by the Cruiser Maryland have demonstrated, according to Secretary Daniels, that Matanuska coal is as good as any to be found and points the way to a tremendous supply of coal for the Pacific coast as soon as transportation facilities are provided.

City governments of the state, which have been watching with keen interest the municipality owned street railway experiments of Seattle were startled this week by figures which the utilities department of that city issued, showing that the constantly increasing deficit on the two municipal lines now amounts to nearly $6,000 a month for their six months of operation.

Much criticism of organized labor leaders has been expressed over their refusal to appear at the meeting of the commission appointed by Governor Lister to frame up a just first aid amendment to the workmen's compensation act. The commission was in session in Seattle last week and invited the labor leaders, particularly E. P. Marsh, president of the State Federation of Labor, to give testimony. They declined to appear. The attitude of these men is criticised for the reason that their organization has been responsible for the creation of many commissions and investigatng boards to save themselves from what they regarded as unfair legislation and for the first time they refuse to present their own side when a question of vital import to them comes up. The reason for their refusal to appear is thought to be the fact that they are offended because Governor Lister would not give them all the labor representation on the commission, despite the fact that they represent but a small part of the laboring populaion of the state.

As a result of a conference between Washington state officials and those of the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco, a plan has been perfected by which the state of Washington as a pioneer in the Good Roads movement will be featured by the transportation, automobile and publicity department of the Panama-Pacific Exposition. Washington's $11,000,000 appropriaion for permanent highways in the last two years will be advertised throughout the world. W. J. Williams of Spokane was appointed by the exposition special commissioner of good roads for Washington. Governor Lister gave the movement his full sanction.

FROM THE TOTEM-POLE, P.-I.

Red in the Face: Rev. George Robert Cairns preached last night on "What Constitutes a Good Husband and Wife," and only about three married people in the church didn't get red in the face.

About Harvard: It cost Harvard $25,000 to produce its champion football team this season and there's a reporter on the P-I who was educated at Harvard and he can't spell.

How Absurd: We saw a man in a silk hat and an Inverness coat going to the theater the other night in a Ford. Why will people do these things?

Certainly, Why Not?: Roy A. Siegel, of 1525½ First avenue, sends us a clipping from the P-I which reads: "In Mexico there is a 150-foot bridge over a river that is composed entirely of mahogany, worth, at the present price of the wood, almost $2,000,000." And Mr. Siegel adds that as an attraction to tourists the state of Washington might install some of these mahogany rivers.

John Bull's Calf: John Von Herberg, of the Liberty Theater, sold a bull calf to a butcher at Kent the other day and got $25 for it, and he sat right down and wrote out a check for $12.50 and sent it to K. C. B. and wrote: "I got this peddling the bull and it really belongs to you." Whatever does the man mean?

The numbers on the program were as follows: Song—"The Sleigh Ride"—School. Recitation—"Christmas Day is Coming" Frances Laurens. Dialogue—"Waiting up for Santa"—Hazel Richards and Carl Laurens. Song—"Reindeer Song"—School. Recitation—"Me fer Christmas"—Sarah Richards. Song—"Jolly Old Saint Nicholas"—School. Dialogue—"A Song, a Star and a Story"—Three girls. Recitation—"Buying Presents"—Carl Laurens. Song—"Skating Song"—School. Story—"Little Boy's Christmas. Song—"Cradle Hymn"—School.

At the close of the program the tree was lighted and, as a surprise, a dainty lunch was served by the ladies. The main attraction of the evening was the tiny Santa Claus, (Master Carl Laurens in disguise.)

The skating is fine down in Heuhslein's field, but the ice is awfully hard. The writer knows from experience.

THE ADVANTAGES OF HAVING COLD STORAGE

Frank M. Meisner, an experienced builder of cold storage plants, who is now in San Bernardino, California, has written a very interesting letter to the Port Angeles Commercial Club relative to his impressions while on a visit here the first week in October last.

Mr. Meisner has made a specialty of cold storage construction for the last twenty years and has brought to completion three of the largest storage plants in the Unied Sates. As the question of the advisibility of creating a port district in Clallam county and building a deep water dock and cold storage plant here is now up for discussion, this letter is valuable and noteworthy as the voice of real authority on the subject. The letter follows:

San Bernardino, Cal., Dec. 7, 1914
Port Angeles Commercial Club:
Gentlemen:—

Some weeks ago it was my pleasure to pass a few days in your promising little city, and I was greatly inpressed by the many natural advantages your city possesses, and by the business opportunities which the resources in and around the city offer for investment.

Having been associated with the cold storage work for a number of years, the possibilities in this line appealed to me more especially. The natural resources that you possess and the products of your rapidly growing rural districts are all that could be desired for an enterprise of this kind.

The two most valuable products of the farms—namely, butter and eggs—are sold on the market when produced; you are compelled to accept whatever is offered, and the man at the other end enjoys the profits of the product and other communities benefit from the circulation of these surplus earnings, whereas, if there were a storage plant available, in time when prices are low and products most plentiful, they could be stored and held until the markets were more favorable.

There is always a time in each year when the prices increase from 50 to 100 per cent. over the early season prices, and the cost of storage is very low. Butter can be stored at a maximum of four cents a pound, and eggs at 35 cents per case. During the summer time butter and eggs sell as low as 25 cents. In the fall months just passed butter sold at 50 cents and eggs at 55 cents in Seattle—and you are within six hours of that market and have the cheapest means of transportation.

The same conditions prevail with poultry. A freezer enables producers to store dressed fowls for months, and the prices in the cities are always highest during the winter months. The freezer also makes it possible for the local butcher to buy large quantities of meat at an opportune time on the market and freeze it for future use.

For potatoes, cabbage, onions, and in fact all vegetables that are handled on the market, the cold storage plant is the great factor. These products can be stored in the late fall and be available for market at any time. The experience of some of your producers in the past with the growing and handling of spuds has been anything but satisfactory. Your damp and warm climate does not make it possible to pit this product successfully, the result being a partial and sometimes total loss of crop. With dry cold storage this loss is overcome and the spud can be held until spring if necessary without loss except from shrinkage in weight, with an approximate cost of only five cents per sack.

The staples referred to are but a few of the many that can be handled in storage at a satisfactory profit. Indeed, one can readily see the opportunities that a cold storage plant develops for lucrative investments and speculations in time when fruits and other staples can be bought at a low price and held for the advance prices later on in the season. This is especially true in the fresh fruit line.

There are always times when fruit can be purchased in carload lots at a very low price. Early in the season when it can be shipped direct from the orchards, the fruit is in the best condition to store and the prices are the lowest, thus offering extraordinary inducements for profitable investment. I will cover other phases of the subject in another letter.

DAY AFTER CHRISTMAS PROCLAIMED HOLIDAY

Olympia, Dec. 19.—In response to appeals coming from various parts of the state, including business concerns as well as individuals, Gov. Lister this afternoon issued a proclamation making Saturday, December 26, the day after Christmas, a legal holiday.

In connection with his proclamation the governor stated that the following Saturday, January 2, would not be proclaimed a legal holiday, notwithstanding petitions that may be made.

The fact that December 26 comes between two holidays and follows Christmas day, when hundreds of people will be away from their business visiting with friends and relatives, and when business will be considerably disorganized anyway, figured in convincing the governor that the day should be made a legal holiday.

Our CHRISTMAS THANKS for YOUR PATRONAGE THE PAST YEAR

"LOOK WELL TO YOUR EYES that they may be a guide to your footsteps in your old age."

The hand of Time cannot be stayed. People grow old, as years advance, the eyes grow weaker; to preserve the sight means to help the eyes to do their work, to help the eyes means to wear glasses — not any glasses but scientifically fitted glasses. I believe that I am fully qualified in this particular line, having made it a life study, and would appreciate your patronage.

Exceptionally low prices for the Holidays. Eye glasses and spectacles one dollar up.

PORT ANGELES NOW HAS A CITY BARBER SHOP

Port Angeles welcomes to her growing and prosperous business section a new barber shop. It is located in the basement of the Shields building on Front street. The red and white striped barber pole that whirls around in its encasement of glass is the first thing noticeable at the entrance of the shop. As you walk down the cement steps and enter the "shavery" you are greeted with the sparkling whiteness and brightness of the chairs, walls, wash bowls, shelves and other articles necessary to accomplish a real shave or hair cut. Everything is enameled white. Each separate chair, of which tnere are five, has its own wash bowl, mirror, towel rack and electric lights. If you wish a bath, there are five bath tubs also, and a shower bath to make you shiver or sweat. A manicurist is preparing to handle the finger trade and the bootblack is on the job with a brush. If you go into this place to get a shave or haircut—don't come out until you have talked with the jolly barbers who give guaranteed satisfaction. Mr. Pettit, proprietor, has named it "The Sanitary Barber Shop."

Fred Farmer, premier automobile man of Port Angeles, has started the removal of dirt from the site of his new garage on the Farmer property on First street. He expects to put up a concrete garage with all modern equipment.

Have you lost a dog lately? Yes? Don't blame it onto Rudolph Beck. He is using the best and freshest of meats.

Did you know that a graphonola places the best music in the world in your home? Winfield Harris has received some very beautiful talking machines of late. He has records on sale that are sung by Paderewski and on down the line to 'coon' songs.

Mr. Halberg of the Bungalow Inn, says his wife is improving. She has been sick in bed for some time past in Chicago.

You are not allowed to talk to the Santa that stands in the door of the Toggery.

Window decorating is a fad these days.

Architect Jackson says his new apartment on Valley street is ready for occupancy.

You have one more week to take advantage of the Olympic-Leader's $1.00 rate. If down town leave your subscription at Mathewson's, Beetle & Simmonds' or Harrington's.

The city would welcome a gas plant. Hot air is the substitute at present.

If you have any resolutions to make—make 'em and don't tell anybody.

The Dream and Star theaters have an exceptionally fine lot of films this week. Christmas day the two competitors expect to have unusually large houses.

The Star theater has recently installed a Simplex moving picture machine. The machine is of the latest style and will run 2500 feet of film without stopping a minute. The clearness of the pictures is noticeable.

If Port Angeles had no Women's Auxiliary—then the poor would go hungry—and the city would use the jail for a soup house.

LINCOLN HEIGHTS

Christmas work and entertainments keep the women and children quite busy. Sometimes we think the little ones are overworked at this season.

Mrs. John McLord and daughter Lillie arrived home last week from a five months' visit with friends in Michigan and other places.

Everett McNay, of Oak Hill, Kansas, and Chauncy, formerly of Angeles, but now located at Sultan, Wash., visited with friends here and on Pine Hill, from Sunday morning until Monday noon.

Mr. Coleman is now living in the Peterson house, formerly occupied by the Geo. Ristine family.

Another family of old timers has returned to Angeles. This time it is Mr. Doty. They left this place twelve years ago and have tried numerous places; now are living in Mrs. N. L. Harding's house, the first one west of where they lived before.

Miss Anna Ferguson was obliged to leave the telephone work some time ago on account of throat trouble. She had an operation last week and is recovering nicely while taking a much needed rest.

Mrs. Ketzenberg, who was so ill last week, is recovering. The family came here strangers and unable to procure work were in a destitute condition but had received some assistance. When the mother was taken sick, the three children were taken into the houses of kind people. Garments were taken in and made to fit, also new material donated by business houses. The sick woman's needs were supplied and so the husband now has work. It is hoped that their darkest hour has passed. Those who helped them will better enjoy living, knowing they have done what was right.

Mr. Walter Belt arrived Wednesday to spend Christmas with his wife at Mr. Esters.

Miss Mabel Whitmore is coming home from Seattle Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Harding will spend Christmas with old Oklahoma neighbors in Tacoma.

Twenty three days of December have passed without any rain and enough snow to whiten the ground one morning.

An "End-of-the-Year" Resolution

As December draws to a close, close your eyes to the temptation of careless spending and resolve that because it's the little extravagances that create big deficiencies, hereafter you'll think twice before spending once. Resolve, too, that "money out of sight is out of mind" and that therefore you will put it in the bank where you cannot see, touch or feel it.

Start with as little as you like—but start. Draw out the interest your money earns if you wish, but if you leave it, it draws interest on interest and thus its earning capacity doubles up. 4 per cent per annum is what that "end-of-the-year resolution" will win for you here.

INVESTORS TO PROBE FOR OIL

With George H. Cann, district manager at San Francisco for the California National Supply Company, J. W. Kelly yesterday closed the preliminary machinery and supply contracts, the cost of which ran into a considerable sum, says the Seattle Times. It is stated these machines and supplies will be hurried forward from San Francisco. Associated with Cann in the deal was Edward Double, a prominent manufacturer, of Los Angeles, and an officer in the Union Oil Well Supply Company of that city.

When an effort was made at the Washington, where Kelley and the others named are guests, to obtain from the first a statement of his plans, the attempt proved futile. Kelley said:

"I am not ready to make any announcement concerning my plans for boring for oil in this state. For reasons of my own I must decline to make any further statement."

From other and thoroughly reliable sources, however. The Times learned that the Kelley syndicate is prepared to go to a depth of 5,000 feet in search of oil, although it is confidently predicted by the oil men who have visited the Olympic Peninsula fields that the pools will be found at a less depth, if found at all.

The Kelley boring outfit will be of the most modern and efficient design. The first well will be driven to a depth of 2,500 with 20 inch casing, an exploit never before attempted in the Pacific Northwest, but approved by Kelley himself as very likely to insure the drillers against trouble at a later depth which could not be otherwise overcome.

Close mouthed to the point of being taciturn, Kelley has a record behind him of successful achievements in his line of work. Years ago he located and developed the natural gas wells in Alberta, which proved a source of great industrial wealth to the people of that part of Canada. Among the few businessmen and bankers of Seattle who have known Kelley well for some years, he is spoken of as a thoroughly competent and responsible man.

It is told to the Times that all the money for the Kelley enterprise has been subscribed, the subscribers, however, remaining in the background. It is further declared that no stock will be offered for sale or sold.

Undoubtedly, it is admitted, there will be much speculation as to the financiers backing the new oil enterprise, and already the suggestion has been offered that the Standard Oil Company may have taken an interest in it more than friendly. This probably will be denied.

At the same time it has long been known that Michael Earles, the timber man, whose holdings on the peninsula are very extensive, has frequently sought the cooperation of interests allied to the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad in a plan to develop the oil fields of that section of the state. Every one knows the close relations between the Milwaukee system and the Rockefeller interests, and as the Milwaukee road itself is a large holder of acreage on the peninsula, there will arise seemingly well informed persons who wil assert that it is Milwaukee money which is invested in the Kelley syndicate.

In the meantime Kelley himself knows and perhaps one or two of his local associates, but they will say nothing.—Seattle Times.

NEWS FROM THE CAPITOL

Olympia, Dec. 24.—Nearly 6,000 wards of the state of Washington eat Christmas dinner in the state's twelve institutions, this year. For the Christmas celebrations special arrangements of one form or another were made by the superintendents of all institutions in addition to the early provision by the board of control for special fare, with all the essentials of an old time Christmas dinner. At the hospitals for the insane were received, in response to an appeal issued early in the month, numerous gifts from the public and friends of inmates, which helped to brighten the day for the patients. At most of the other institutions Christmas programs were feaures of the day's celebration.

The state's newest institution, the school for girls, near Grand Mound, Thurston county, was formally opened Christmas day by Miss Mary Campbell, who has the distinction of being the first woman appointed superintendent of a state institution. Boys from the state training school a Chehalis, earlier in the year, had worked on the grounds of the girls' school and had put in a crop of potatoes. The Chehalis training school hereafter will be operated as a boys' school.

The girls school at present consists of two cottage buildings, built to accommodate 60 girls. As the number of girls transferred from Chehalis was greater than the total number of buildings were planned to accommodate the board of control will ask the coming legislature to provide an additional cottage and an administration building.

In another decision rendered last week the supreme court upheld the right of a county game commission to establish a game preserve within the boundaries of which all hunting is prohibited. The Skagit county game commission, in the case appealed, had turned the private hunting preserve of a gun club of Seattle men into a preserve.

The seventh biennial report of the board of control, just issued, shows that the past two years have seen the per capita cost of maintenance reduced at nine of the state's eleven insitutions. The average maintenance cost in previous years rose steadily, nearly doubling in the case of some institutions. While an economical building program is outlined by the board for the coming biennium, it is pointed out that the increase in population at the institutions makes some new construction work absolutely necessary to relieve already crowded conditons.

The Angeles Music House (Lange's) is now located in Fry's Drug store on First near Laurel, with an assorted stock of the best in pianos, organs, and small musical instruments, sheet music and musical merchandise, Victrolas and Edison Phonographs and supplies.

THE COUNTY SCHOOLS

At the hearing in Blyn last Saturday, on the petition for the consolidation of Districts 11, 32 and 26, the great majority of those present were opposed to consolidation at this time and the petition was accordingly denied. The chief grounds for the objection to consolidation were that the center of population of these two districts was by no means yet established; that changes were liable to occur because of the building of railroad and county road so as to shift the center of population of these districts considerable and it was thot better to wait until a more permanent condition prevailed.

Go to Baker & Co. for Rocking Chairs.

MIGHT SCRATCH OFF THE NAME?

Strange, isn't it, how people will talk about things without taking the trouble to inform themselves in regard to the matter in hand. Bro. Boomer, in his paper last week, criticizes the ladies who sent to the primary grades of Central school a record for their Victrola of the two lively patriotic marches, "Boy Scouts" and "Shoulder to Arms." He thought something in keeping with the Christmas spirit should have been sent. Of course, he didn't take the trouble to find out that by special request of the teachers, march music was ordered, as the old marching records were nearly worn out and the children had grown very tired of them. The ladies selected something that would be a pleasure to the children all the year round, and really, Mr. Boomer, they feel their judgment in such matters is quite as good as yours, as their interest in the schools is such that they try to keep informed of its needs and to loan assistance whenever they can.

H. N. BONNETT DIED OF HEART FAILURE

H. W. Bonnett, not long since a partner with D. W. Morse of Angeles, in the Gate City Grocery, and a prominent worker in the Congregational church while here, died at Seattle last Friday of heart failure. He had but recently sold out his grocery business there, as he had not been very well and he started that morning to walk over to his old store, but was found sitting in one of the park chairs dead. Miss MacClure received a letter from his daughter, Mrs. DuMont, saying that her mother and brother Rex were returning with her to her home in Spokane.

HARVEY LAWSON STILL ALIVE

Harvey E. Lawson, whose death was reported to the local lodge of Odd Fellows last week, is still alive and well. In a personal letter written Mr. Cooper, he says the Lawson meeting the tragic death was his cousin, having the same initials and that papers found in the dead man's pocket had been stolen from "our" Lawson in San Francisco. Missing the papers he had followed his cousin and arrived soon after his untimely death.

TREY 'O HEARTS

In order that the Olympic-Leader might be mailed Thursday forenoon, it was found absolutely necessary to limit it to eight pages, and the regular installment of the Trey 'O Hearts has necessarily been laid over until next week.

The primary teachers of the Central school wish to show their appreciation of the Christmas gifts presented to them by the Port Angeles Reading Club and the Silent Club. The march record given by the P. A. Reading Club was greatly appreciated because we had used the one march record continuously since purchasing the Victrola. The record presented by the Silent Club contained the very Christmas carols with which the children were familiar, and which they always love to hear. We thank the ladies of both clubs most heartily and we assure you that you could not have invested your money more profitably.

Lillian and Herman Swanson returned home Thursday from Tacoma Business College; they were accompanied by their sister Mabel, who went up last Friday to make them a visit in company with Margaret Porter.

Miss Mabel Whitmore, who has been attending Broadway High in Seattle, returned home yesterday morning to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Whitmore.

Miss Mae Webster arrived home Thursday morning accompanied by her sister Dorothy, who has been spending a few days with her in Seattle.
